199. Curious extracts from the Heralds' Partition-Books, (marked 1, 2, and 3,) concerning fees and largesses received on various grand occasions, from 19 Hen. VIII. to 1638. f. 158—167^b.

Here may be found many particulars about the Order of the Garter, and interesting notices of the Heralds themselves.

The following quires or portions of this volume are of different sizes and kinds, bound together; and not being uniform as the others, are here separately distinguished by this mark ¶.

¶200. "Th'installation at Wind[s]ore y^e 14 of Aprile A^o 1585, of Edw: Earle of Rutland, the Lord Cobham, and y^e Lord Scroope;" and other proceedings of the Order of the Garter at that time. 170—2^b.

"Extracted out of Sr William Segars booke, sometymes Clarcieux Lees, fol. 91." The two sheets thus headed are in the hand writing of Dean Ryves.

¶201. "A forme of y^e installacōn wth y^e ceremonies thereto belonging, anno Dⁿⁱ 1634, the 21th day of Aprill being munday, the Knights then to bee installed by comission beeing the right hon^{ble} the Erle of Danby and y^e Earle Morton formerly elected." 174—6.

Prepared "At a chapter holden the 14th of Aprill at y^e Office of Armes." The 3 last pages of these two sheets are vacant: it seems to be an original paper.

¶202. Observations made* at the election of the Earl of Northumberland "The morrow after St Georges day, at Whitehall, 1635." 178—9.

* They are in the hand-writing of Sir Edw. Bysshe: compare art. 199.

204. Another, dated 26 Apr. anno 22. f. 180^b.

*205. Letter of JAMES I. (in Latin) containing an "Exemplificacōn of the election and death of Julyan de Medicis," from the Black Book of the Order, made at the request of Cosmo Medicis. (Grenew. 26 Maij, anno 17.) 181.

206. Eight articles proposed in a Chapter of the Order, 27 Apr. 1624, with the resolutions thereon. 181^b.

207. "Petition of the Dean and chapter [of Windsor, to the King], for the offerings" made in the chapel. 182.

208. Proposals "For the Order of the Garter," designed to restore and improve its discipline. 182^b—3^b.

209. Letter from Sir FRANCIS CRANE to Sir George More, Chancellor of the Order, requesting that he would send his robe for the King to see. (26 Nov. 1626.) 183^b.

The first of these articles (203) is thus noted by Ashmole—"Ex autographo penes Jacobum Gresham de Haslemore in com^u Surr^r ar. Aprill 1673," which probably may be applied to all of them: they were very fairly transcribed by the same hand as No. 1097, on four leaves of three sheets, with ruled margins.

- ¶210. Ashmoli excerpta brevissima "Ex Libro Nigro Orulinis." (ff. 13—272.) 186—190^b.
211. Nomina Commilitonum, ubi in Libro Nigro memorantur. 192—4.
212. Memoranda varia de Libro Nigro Ordinisque Statutis. 195.
213. Indiculus capitulorum et contentorum in Statutis Henrici VIII. 195^b.
214. "Anno R: Hen: 8: xx^o. hi memorantur Socij Ordinis, [in Libro Nigro, f.] 257, 258." 195^b.
- ¶215. "Certaine annotations and chapters collected forth of the Black and Blew Bookes of the Order of the Garter, touching what hath in the same (materially) bin remembred, for the government of the said Order, from King Edw: 3 to the full raigne of Q. Elizabeth:" dedicated to James I. by Sir "WILL'M SEGAR Garter." 200—207^b, 196—9^b.
- The last four leaves of this article are transposed before the first: it was "Transcribed from a 4^o: MS: bound in blew Turkey leather belongs to Sr Wm Le Neve, 1660;" which is now No. 779 of this collection, ff. 1—8.
- ¶216. The "Institution of y^e most noble Order of y^e Gartar: a breife of y^e statuts: and acts and ceremonies since y^e foundation: collected out of divers bookes rolls and records: by S^r Tito: ROWE Chanceler of y^e Order 1637." 208—211^b.
- Written by the hand of Dr. Brune Ryves; also the following sheet, which is thus indorsed—
- ¶217. "Notes out of an old booke or Journall of y^e Order," 5 Hen. V.—3 Edw. VI. 212—3.
218. "An ordinance for the King the Queene and y^e Knightes of the Garter, at Windesor, for Saturday soper and Soday dyner, 28th and 29 days of May a^o 11 reg: Henr. 8^{vi}." 214—5^b.
219. "Creditor pro festo sancti Georgij tento apud WyndSOR, incipiente ♀^{is} 27^{mo}: die Maij post prandium et abiunde usque [ad diem] lune penultimo die ejusdem" (etc.) 11 Hen. VIII. 216.
- The sums total only of this account are given.
220. Note of warrants for bucks out of the parks of Windsor and Swallowfield, 15 Hen. VIII. 216.
221. Regulations for the dinners and suppers, on Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, at Windsor. 216^b.
222. "Here followeth thapurtenaunce of the installation of the Prince." 217.
- These five curious articles were "Transcribed from a booke of the Lord Bruce, 6 May 1628."
223. A list of "Other things in the s^d booke." 217.
- The two next articles are entered by the hand of Philipps. (No. 826, art. 117.)
224. Narratiuncula quomodo Maximilianus imperator Ordinem S. Georgij recepit, apud Neustat, 25 Dec. anno 1491. f. 217^b.
- *225. "Coppie des lettres escrittes au Roy d'Angleterre Escosse France Ireland etc. par monseigneur le Duc de Wurtemberg, touchant le sieur Roy d'Armes de sa majeste, en date Stutgard ce 15. 9^{bre} 1603." 218.

This title is subscribed to a copy of the letter acknowledging the receipt of the Order of the Garter, which (as Ashmole hath noted in the margin) was "Inserted at the beginning of Erhardus Cellius his Eques Auratus Anglo-Wirtembergicus, in his Maties: Library at St James." See also No. 1111, f. 6^b. The last 7 pages of this paper are vacant.

¶226. "A [book of] faire served to the Heralds on St Georges day," at different times, both for dinner and for supper. 222—8^b.

The last page only is dated, having this note written on the margin by Ashmole—"Indorsed thus—St: Geo: feast kept at Windsor 3 July 1603, kept by the King." This article was written by some boy's hand; the next by Ashmole.

227. "A bill of the fare service to the Heralds on St Georges eve, supper," 20 and 21 Jac. I. 229.

¶228. "A bill of faire for the Heralds at St Georges feast held at Windsor, a^o 7 Car. I. 1631;"* also other bills dated 23 Apr. 1632, 1607, 1633, 1615. f. 230—1^b.

* "Transcribed from the original bill in the hands of Geo: Owen Yorke Herald." Six vacant leaves of this paper follow.

¶229. Book of fare provided for "The feast of St: George held at Whitehall on Munday the 22th and Tuesday the 23th daies of Aprill, the ninetenth yeare of the reigne of — Charles the second, Anno Dnⁱ 1667:" with the whole ordinance of the tables. 239—242*.

* On this last page is a note that it was designed to insert the order of the banquet when holden at Windsor, but that a copy could not be got. After 9 blank pages this neat MS. is resumed.

230. Ordinance of "The feast of St George held at Windsor on Sunday and Munday the 28th and 29th dayes of May," 23 Car. II. 1671. f. 247—252^b.

¶232. "The banquet for St: Georges feast, May y^e 28th and 29th 1671." 254^a.

The two other leaves of these two sheets (255—6) are vacant: they were written at different times by the same hand as art. 229. Ff. 257—272 are vacant leaves of ruled paper.

No. 1110.

VOLUME XIV. contains 196 leaves of fair paper, beside 10 at the beginning (ruled in the same manner) which are vacant, as are also the last 21: it is partly written by ASHMOLE, and partly by others, with his corrections and notes.

I. "Collections from S^r: WILLIAM LE NEVE's papers;" written by ASHMOLE, "June 5th. 1661." ff. 1—34^b.

*11. Letters credential (in French) to Lord Hunsdon, Sir Th. Smith, and Garter Dethick, for the investment of Charles IX. King of France; dated 28 May, 1564. (f. 112.) 55^b.

"See Mr Owens booke marked ☐ fo: 127." Ashmole notes also—"Orig: in Museo meo," viz. No. 1132, f. 156.

12. De installatione Regis Franciæ, 22 Jan. 1565. (f. 113^b.) 56.

"Transcribed out of the Blew Booke p: 50."

*13. Commission to the Earl of Leicester to install Lord Willoughby of Eresby and Sir Ph. Sydney, as proxies of the King of Denmark and Duke John Casimir Count Pal. of the Rhine: dated 30 Jan. 1582. (f. 122.) 56^b.

*14, 15. "Sequentur literæ procuratoriæ tam Danorum Regis quam Ducis Casimiri prædicti, quibus suffulti qui eorum vices obtinebant, ad loca et sedes præfatorum Principum introducti" sunt, etc. datæ Croneburgæ 19 Aug. 1582, et 12 Feb. 1579. (f. 124—6.) 57, 57^b.

The latter is in French: most of these articles have long titles in Latin, as the next, though in English.

*16. "Juramentum, præfatorum Principum nomine, per procuratores suos præstitum." (f. 126^b.) 58.

*17. "Juramentum Henrici tertii Gallorum regis christianissimi, in sacello Augustinorum præstitum—[etc. atque] manu regia consignatum, Parisiis 1585." Gallice. (f. 127^b.) 58^b.

Ashmole has noted that "The same in Engl' [was] in Sr E: W[alker's] colle: Q. 1." and added a note about the oath taken by Henry IV. in 1596.

*18. "Lettres du Due de Burgoigne, de certification comment il eut et receut la jarretiere," 4 Feb. 1469. (f. 128^b.) 59.

"Vide Vinc's coll: Q. 6."

*19. "La maniera dell' installatione del illnstrissimo principe Henrico 4^{to} Re de Francia et di Navarra, par il suo ambasciatore Monsignor de Chaste." (f.) 59.

*20. Commission to the Lords Pagett and Hastings, for installing Walter Viscount Hereford as the proxy of Adolph Duke of Holstein: dated 13 Dec. 3 Eliz. (f. 107.) 60^b.

*21. "Commission de la Regne souverain" au Comte de Shrewsbury et a Guil. Dethick, Garter, pour presenter la jartiere au Roy de France: donnee 6 Sept. 1596. (f.) 61.

*23. "Certificate del Sovereain" touchant l'installation du dit procureur: donne 3 Mai, 1600. f. 62^b.

*24. "Le serment del procureur." 63^b.

The signature 'M. Chaste' is thus explained by Ashmole—"vel Marius a Chasta."

25. "A coppie of a warrant to the M^r of the wardrobe for a liverie of the garter for the King of France and others. H. 3." (22 Apr. 1582.) 64.

See also f. 69.

*26. "A com: for presenting the Order of the Garter to y^e Emperour" Maximilian II., by the hands of Thomas Earl of Sussex, and Sir Gilb. Dethick: in Latin. (20 Maij, 1567.) 65.

*27. Commission from Philip and Mary, to Lord Clinton and Say, and Garter King of Arms, to convey the Order of the Garter to Philibert Duke of Savoy: in French. (17 Oct. 1554.) 66.

28. "Garterii equestris Ordo quando et a quibus initium sumpsit." 66^b.

A short preface to some Latin book; beg. Edwardus tertius Angliæ ei Franciæ rex invictissimus; and ending—propalabunt.

The 16 leaves containing these 28 articles were written by the hand of Edward Philipps: compare the marginal notes to No. 1128, iii.

IV. 1. "Duties to be paid by ever[y] K^t: of the Garter, after their estates and degrees, as hereafter followeth, unto the Colledge of Windsor" and to the Officers of the Order; also "Duties to be paid for the soules health of every of the noble K^{ts}: of the noble Order of the Garter, after their degrees." 67^{ab}.

A note subscribed shows that Ashmole transcribed this from a copy made (5 Feb. 1634) by W. Le Neve, Norroy, and Edward Whitley, from a MS. written by Sir Tho. Wriothesley, Garter, in the custody of the Earl Marshal.

2. "Com' to a Leift^t: to prorogue the feast" of St. George. (5 Apr. 1603.) 68.

This and the 5 following articles were copied by a different hand "Out of a 4: MS: of Sr W: Neves."

3. "Com' of lieftenauney to hold the feast of St George 3 July, 1 Jac. R." (2 Jul. 1603.) 68^b.

4. "A coppie of a warrant" etc. 69.

This article and its title are the same as art. iii. 25, which Ashmole hath observed in this note—"Ex eod' MS. see the Q[ui]re before." namely f. 64.

5. "The othe of Garter principall King of Armes, at the chapter holden att Greenwich in the xxvij yere of the reigne of King Henry the vijth." Also "The othe of the Register of the honorable Order of the Garter, and of the Husher named the Blacke Roode, in keeping of the secrets of y^e s^d Order." 70^{ab}.

Subscribed by the same persons as art. 1, and as taken from the same MS.

6. "Registratores tempore regum H: vij. et H: vij." 71.

Subscribed in like manner.

7. "Ceremonies to be observed by the Knights and Officers of the Order throughout the feast of St. George." 71^b—3^b.

*8. Oath of Emanuel Philibert Duke of Savoy; and certificate from his Secretary, Francois Roffier, that he had received the Order of the Garter, according to the royal letters in that behalf; both in French, and dated 6 Nov. 1554. f. 73^b, 74.

Written by the same hand as part iii. of this MS. "Ex autogr' pen' W. Le Neve mil' nuper Clar."

9. Two notes—"How the K^{ts}: of the Order shall proceede throughout the whole festivity"*—and "The order observed among the K^{ts}: at ye table." 74^b.

Imperfect at the beginning, thus—Be from henceforth rec[k]-oned vyle and of no accompte. At the end is added by Ashmole's hand an other ordinance made at Windsor, 8 Hen. VIII.

37. "Annotations out of the Blew Booke of the Order of the Garter," touching transactions from 16 June 8 Eliz. to . . . Apr. 26 Eliz., and in the four first years of Q. Mary. 115.
- *38. Narrative of "King Philip's arrivall in Engl^d:" and receiving of the Order of the Garter. 118.
- *39. "S^r WILLIAM SEGAR's account of the delivery of the Garter to Christian the 4th: K^g of Denmarke." 120.
40. Form of "The installment of a King or any other foreign Prince, Duke or great estate, by his Ambassador at Windsor, w^{ch} commonly is performed by y^e souveraignes Leivt." 121.
- On a vacant half-page at the end Ashmole has written a—41. Warrant for twenty pounds for taking the garter to the Earl of Westmoreland. (10 May, 1552.) 122^b.
- *VI. 1. An account of the King's keeping of his Easter at Greenwich, 1504; and of the ceremony of receiving the leg of S. George, sent to the King by the Card. of 'Rowen,' then legate. (p. 2—4.) 123—4.

This and the six following articles were "Transcribed out of an old MS: of THO: WRIOTHESLEYS, intitled King II: the 7ths: Proceedings: penes W: Le Neve mil' nuper Claren." by the same hand as the foregoing part, and corrected by Ashmole.

2. Proceedings of the Knights of the Garter in "The chapitre holden the iiij day of May the xx^e yere of our sovereign lord King Henry the vijthe." (p. 7.) 124^b—5.
3. "The yere of our Lord 1506, and xxj. yeere of the most victor' and Christian prince King H. the vij. on the xxiiijth. day of May was solempnised the fest of saint George within the castell of Windsor" in the manner following. ("pag: 8. b" —9.) 125^b.
4. "Le chapitre de tresnoble Ordre de la Jartiere

- 175.] William Earl of Strafford.

No. 1111.

VOLUME XV. consists of many quires or lots of paper, (the first of which, 8 leaves, is as usual vacant,) written by various hands, under the direction and correction of ASHMOLÉ: the contents divide themselves into 12 parts.

*I. 1. "Electio regis Henr. 8^{vi} in Ordinem sancti Michaelis, facta per FRANCISCUM R. Francie apud Compeigne, [decimo] quinto die Septembris, 1527:" per literas Gallice scriptas. f. 1—2.

"Transcribed out of Mr: Fawconbridge his office in the Excheqr. Nov: 1660. Penes Camerarios Seaccarij." Whence also some of the 7 next articles seem to have been taken.

*2. "A commission [in French, of the same date, from FRANCIS I.] to his great Master for the making of the King's highness Compaignon de l'Ordre n're seigneur saint Mychel." 2^b.

*3. "L'res patentes where in the French King declareth himself not only to have y^e Order of saint George called y^e Gartier, but also made his oath for th'observeing garding and interteyning of the statutes of the same; y^e xth of November 1527." 3.

See also f. 29.

4. "The promulgation of the Knight which shall be removed or deposed from the noble Order of the Gartyr:" also "The manner of deposing and throweing downe such a traytors armes." 4.

5. Letter from W. FRANKELYN, Dean of Windsor, certifying to the Earl of Essex, Lord Privy-seal, the proceedings of the Order of the Garter in keeping S. George's feast, with a copy of an 'act' then passed. (11 May, 32 Hen. VIII.) 4^b.

*6. "The copie of the K^{es} oth for y^e observeing garding and interteyning of the statutes and order of saint Michell," in French. 5.

7. "The forme of the oathe, which in plaine chapter holden and kept at the Gray Fryers in London," (3 June, anno 31 Hen. VIII.) "all th'Officers at armes being present and besworne to observe, first to the Duke of Norff. grace, now Lord Marshall, and in his absence to Gartier as chiefe and principall King at armes of all English men." 5.

8. List of "The double feastes in the yeare," in 4 classes, 'principall, more, lesse' and 'inferiour' double; also of the "Single feastes." 5^b, 6.

This far is written by Ashmole: the next article is by the hand of Edw. Philipps.

*9. "The cobby of a letter written to the King of England Scotland France and Ireland, etc. by my lord DUKE of WIRTEMBERG, concerning his majesty's King of Arms; dated at Stutgard, the 15 of Novemb. 1603." Also an account of the investiture of the Emp. Maximilian, at Newstat 25 Dec. 6 Hen. VII., and his installation by proxy at Windsor. 6^b, 7^a.

"Incerted at the begining of Erhard: Celius his Eques Auranus Anglo-Wirtembergicus, in his Maties Library in St James." This note is written by Ashmole in the margin of the former part of this article, (which is the same as No. 1109, art. 225,) to which alone it probably belongs.

10. Notices and extracts from the Patent Rolls, from Edw. V. to 12 Car. I. concerning grants of offices in the castle of Windsor. 7^b—9^b.

The abstract on 10^a is the same as that at foot of 8^a. This article is neatly written, by Ashmole's hand.

II. *1. "Instructions given by the Kings highnes to the right honorable Lord William Howard, and Garter principall King of Armes, concerning the forme and manner how they shall use themselves in deliverance of the garter and the whole habite with all things thereunto belonging, to the Kings good brother and nephew, the King of Scotts." 11—12^b.

"Ex autogr' in Bibl' Hatton. Vide [librum] N. p. 267."

2. "Dispensacōn for attendance at St Georges feast dur^s lyfe," granted by Hen. VIII. to Lord Darcy. (28 Oct. anno 26.) 13.

"Ex lib. II. 12. in Officio Armorum. Ex autogr' in ibidem Bibl."

*3. "This patent was given by the King of Sweden [GUSTAVUS ADOLPHUS] to Henry St George when he was sent over with the robes and garter, where he received honorable usage and royall reward." (26 Sept. 1627.) 13^b—15.

"Ex autogr' in ib'm Bibl. See Selden's Tit[les] of Honr: p: 409." This copy hath trickings of all the escutcheons that adorned the original patent.

4. Ordinance enacted 23 Apr. 19 Hen. VIII. that the King's Lieutenant for keeping the feast of S. George, and the assistants, should be always excused from attendance in the next year. 15.

Copied by Ashmole from the end of "an old MS booke of the Orders made by Hen: 8, in the 8th: of his raigne, wch was the proper booke of Henry Grey the 3d: Marquess Dorset, and after Duke of Suffolke." "See also Mr Owens black booke fol. 4."

5. Note of the chapter wherein the Marquis of Dorset and three others were chosen Knights of the Garter, 17 Feb. 1 Edw. VI. 15.

"Out of a large MS: of Sr Wm Le Neves."

6. Narrative of "The manner of the D: of Norff: and E: of Leic: receipt of the Order of St Michaell," 24 Jan. 7 Eliz. 15^b.

Copied by Ashmole "Out of Mr Owens booke of Presid^{ts} fol: 192."

7. "The manner of the installation of the right Christian King Francis the first," 25—6 Jan. 19 Hen. VIII. 16^b.

"Ex autograph: in Bibl' Cotton." The index to the Cottonian Catalogue affords no reference to the MS.

8. Form of "An admittance of a Brother into the Guild of St: George, and his duty." 18^b.

Copied also by Ashmole "Ex autogr^{is} in Bibl' Cottoniana:" but it does not appear in the Cottonian catalogues. An account of this company may be found in the Gentleman's Mag. Feb. 1832, p. 115.

- III. 1. Narrative of the abode of Philip King of Castile in England, in 1506, and his being made a Knight of the Garter. 19—22^b.

"Ex libro N. pag: 181"—5. Translated by Edw. Philipps, from the Black Book; as also is the next article. In substance it is the same as the old English story in No. 1110, vi. art. 8.

2. The celebration of the feast of S. George, at Windsor, by Henry VII. in the third year of his reign. 23—4.

Translated and written by the same hand as the foregoing article, and from p. 165—7 of the same book.

3. "Allegacōns for King Edward the 3^d, for his right and title to the crowne of France, descended to him by his mother the heire generall of France." 24^b.

The same as No. 1105, art. 10; written also by Ashmole's hand. The 2 next leaves are vacant.

- IV. 1. "The styles of the Knights of the moste honarabyll order of the Garter, a^o regni regine Marie primo:" in French. 27—8.

Copied from "L. 7, fol. 76, at Heralds' Office," by the same hand as No. 1098—9.

2. De festo S. Georgii celebrato Cadomi, an. 1418; et de Imp. Sigismundo honorifice recepto et Equite Garterij constituto, an. 1416; c Wal-singhamii historia. (p. 400.) 28^a.

- *3. "Certificacōn de recept de l'Ordre" de la Jartiere, par Francoys I. (Paris, 10 Nov. 1527.) 29.

Copied by the same hand as art. 1, from the Heralds MS. "Lib. L. 12, fol. 39." It is the same as the third article in this volume.

4. "In what stalles, strangers and forein princes have sat in at Wyndesore: whereby is proved that they had not alwayes the preheminance of the highest stalles, but came into those stalls out of which there one lately dyed, were he duke earle or bachelor knight, according to the ordi-nances." Also a list of "The stalles wherein the Kings children have satt, and princes of the blood." 30—1^b—2^b.

Copied by Ashmole "Ex collect' Nich: Charles, penes Guil' Ryley Clarenceux."

5. "A note [of the reception of the garter by Gustavus Adolphus,] out of Mr: Hen: St: George's l're written from Sweden, . . . May 1669." 32^b.

6. Dr. CHR. WREN's note of having received the late Earl of Kelly's garter and George. 33.

This and the two next articles were copied by Ashmole "Ex orig: penes Ph: Palmer, barr^t." Now in No. 1132, artt. 56, 53, and 43.

7. Receipt of money for removing hatchments and plates, by Sir John Borough, Garter. (28 May, 1638.) 33.

8. Bill of plate weighed and delivered in chapter at Windsor, 3 July, 1637, to Sir Tho. Rowe and others. 33^b.

9. "Coppyes of Mr Van Vianen's acquittances" and other documents relating to the King's gift of plate to the chapel of Windsor. 34—7.

Copied also "all from y^e originalls, penes Ph: Palmer barr^t:" which now are artt. 49, 45, 42, 47, 48, 50—52, of No. 1132.

10. "The particular [values of the diamonds] of the chaine George and garter of the King of Sweden, left wth the Deane of Windsor*, 24 May 1638." 37^b—9.

* Dr. Chr. Wren. Copied by Ashmole "Ex orig: penes Ph. Palmer barr^t; all written wth S^r James Palmers hand, but mistaken in the severall totalls." That paper is in No. 1132, art. 37.

11. EDMUND HARRISON's bill for imbroidering a rich pursc for the seal of the Order, in July, 1637; with allowance thereof and receipt. 39^b.

See Ashmole's Institution, p. 250. The originals of this and the next are in No. 1132, artt. 33, 36.

12. Another, for a rich book-cover, done at the same time by the same. 40.

13. Warrant of CHARLES I. granting to Sir James Palmer, as Chancellor of the Order, the privilege of wearing a jewel therein described, as the badge of his office. (Oxford, 16 Dec. 1645.) 40^b.

Copied by Ashmole "Ex orig: penes Ph: Palmer barr^t." (now in No. 1132, art. 8.), and printed in his Institution, p. 244—245.

- V. 1. Proceedings "At a chapter held in White-hall, the 26th day of February 1640." 41.

All the articles of this part were "Transcribed from papers in S^r Philip Palmer's hands, 1661," in August (see f. 49), by the same hand as the fifth and sixth parts of No. 1110; except ff. 67^b—73^b, containing art. 45. Those original documents are now bound together, with others, in No. 1132; in the description of which volume their titles may easily be found.

2. List of the Knights as they were placed 17 Apr. 1637; with observations on the removal of Knights from the stalls, and some of the ceremonies of the Order. 41^b—3^b.

- 3—9. Seven warrants of CHARLES I. for dispensing with the due number of Knights on occasions, and for proroguing the feast of S. George; dated 18 Apr. 1642—Feb. 1644. f. 44—7.
10. "Warrant for money for escotcheons" set up at Windsor, to be payed yearly out of the Exchequer to Garter. (7 Feb. 2 Car. I.) 49.
11. "Coype of the warrt to Mr Attorney for drawing a grant for 1200^l per an. for ye expence of ye Ord^r of ye Gart^r. 23 Apr. 1635." 49^b.
12. Warrant to Sir Tho. Rowe, Chancellor, to pay 600 pounds to Sir James Palmer his deputy. (4 May, 1638.) 50.
- 13, 14. Two warrants to Sir Ja. Palmer, Chancellor, for the payment of money to Peter Ricott for velvet, and to [Edm.] Harrison for an imbroidered purse. (10 June, 1638.) 50^b.
15. Warrant to the same, to pay to Christian Van Viana, goldsmith, for Prince Charles-es offering at his installation. (20 Nov. 1638.) 51.
- 16, 17. PETER RICHAUT's petition to the King to order the disposal of velvet that he had been commanded to procure from Genoa; with the order thereon, 3 Jan. 1637: also Sir J. PALMER's letter, ordering him to send velvet to the Earl of Kelly, and his receipt for the payment. 51^b—2.
- 18—20. Three petitions to the King from the Poor Knights of Windsor, for the payment of arrears. 51^b—2^b.
- In the third they complain bitterly of the troubles brought on them by the civil wars, and it is subscribed with eleven names.
21. The order passed in the House of Lords, 22 Mar. 1641—2, that the Chamberlain and others who had been summoned to keep S. George's feast at York, should attend the Parliament. 54.
- 22—5. Letters from the Earls of NORTHUMBERLAND, SALISBURY, PEMBROKE, and DANBY; all addressed to Sir James Palmer, Deputy Chancellor of the Order, excusing themselves by reason of the said order of the Lords. (23, 28, 28, 29 Mar. 1642.) 54^b—5^b.
26. The Lords' order that their Usher of the black rod should likewise attend the House. (29 Mar. 1642.) 55^b.
27. Letter from the Usher, JAMES MAXWELL, to Sir J. Palmer, excusing himself thereupon. (1 Apr. 1642.) 56.
- 28—30. Letters to the same from the Earls of BARKSHIRE and HOLLAND and the Duke of HAMILTON, excusing themselves from the feast; the two by reason of the Lords' order, the other by reason of sickness. (1, 7, 12 Apr. 1642.) 56^b, 57^{ab}.
31. "Remembrances concerning the Order, d^d in by the Register," Dr. WREN; namely, suggestions for keeping the stalls clear of disorderly persons, for reviving the order for supplying the altar with plate, and for the better custody of the records of the Order: with the orders thereon made, in 1628. f. 58.

Different from No. 1113, x. art. 3. This was "Transcribed from Dr Chr. WREN's hand" writing: it was indorsed by Sir F. Crane, as were also the six following.

32. Letter to Sir Tho. Rowe, Chancellor of the Order, "From the D: of Windsor [Dr. WREN] concerning the monies due by the K^{ts}: of ye Garter, and his acc^t: for all rec^d." (24 May, 1637.) 59.
33. To the same. "Another account of the Deane of W. for monyes rec^d: and paid." (14 Jan. 1637.) 59^b.
34. To the same. "The Deane and Chanons' grateful acknowledgm^t: for the Sovereignes acceptacōn of their organ." (Westm. 4 Nov. 1637.) 60^b.
35. Another of Dr. WREN's to the same, "Concerning abuses in the stalls" by disorderly persons, and recommending that removable gates should be set before the stalls. (22 Nov. 1637.) 61.
36. Another, containing "Reasons why ladyes and weomen of quality ought to be admitted into the stalles;" with a plan of the buildings, showing where a wall ought to be built for the protection of the painted windows. (n. d.) 62^{ab}, 63^a.
37. "The excuse and desire of dispensacōn, of the E: of EXETER." (S. John's, 9 Mar. 1637.) 63^b.
38. "Peticōn from the E: of DARBY for a dispensacōn during lyfe." (Chester, 15 Mar. 1637.) 63^b.
39. "Excuse of the E: of SUFF: for 1638." (16 Mar. 1637.) 64.
40. "E: of MOLGRAVE's pet: for dispensation." (Kensington, 29 Mar. 1638.) 64.
41. Petition of the Poor Knights of Windsor, to be relieved from the journeys, delays, and exactions which they undergo in receiving their money at the Exchequer. 64^b.
- Subscribed by "Henry Browne, governor," and nine others, 21 Mar. 1637.
42. Letter of JOHN [DAVENANT] Bishop of Salisbury, about the progress of his suit to the Order, that the Chancellorship might be reunited to his see. (28 Aug. 1637.) 65.
- Addressed (as are all the five foregoing articles) to Sir Tho. Rowe, Chancellor of the Order.
43. "A list of monies due and owing by some K^{ts} of the — Garter, to the Threary at Windsor for pious uses," etc. 65.
- The latter part is noted, "Cast up thus by Sr James Palmer." See No. 1132, art. 39; and 38 for the original of the next.
44. "An accompt of such monies as I Sr JAMES PALMER knight have received from Sr Thomas Rowe knight and Chancellor of the — Garter, and from Mr Rylie, Collector of the obietts of the Garter, according to a noate delivered unto me, as appears for the payment of plate for his Ma^{ties} chappell at Windsor, May 8th 1638." 66—7.

* * * Thus far the articles of this part are copied from original papers in No. 1132.

The last 13 pages of this third quire of this part of the volume, having been left vacant, were many years after filled up by Ashmole's own hand, and contain the following curious article largely written, ff. 67^b—73^b.

45. Libellus in quo memorata sunt Acta in capitulo Ordinis Georgiani, 24 Nov. 1625, 24 Sept. 1628, 6 Oct. 1630, et 13 Feb. 1630—1, (cum literis regiis datis 7 Oct. 1630,) de apparatu sacro in usum altaris Capellæ regiae Windesoriensis conferendo, et nomina Commilitonum cum donis quæ fuerunt a quoque collata: hac inscriptione præmissa:—

“ΣΤΝ ΘΕΩ. Memoria, Veritati, Virtuti, sacrum. Altare liberæ Capellæ regiae S^{ti} Georgij Martyris, infra Castrum regale Windesoriense, amplissimis donarijs Deo Opt: Max: per augustissimum Supremum et honoratissimos Com[m]ilitones nobilissimi Ordinis a Periscelide dicatis, recenter adanctum, describit humil-[l]imus Ordinis illius servus et Scriba C: WREN Decanus Windesoriensis A: Dⁿⁱ 1637.” 67^b.

46. Proceedings in the two first chapters of the Order of the Garter, holden after the restoration of Charles II. (14 and 17 Jan. 1660—1), being a “Coppie of that booke w^{ch} Sr Rich: Fanshaw [Chancellor] delivered to [the Register] Dr Ryves Deane of Windsor. 23 Mar. 1660”—1. f. 74—80.

It ends with the Chancellor's oath, and a list of the “Sovereigne and Companions” as they then were: a note subscribed (by Ashmole's hand) attests the said delivery.

VI. *1. “A remonstrance [or report] made by Sr WILLIAM SEGAR K^t Garter principall King of Armes, joined in commission with the right honourable the Lord Carleton, embassadour to the high and mighty prince Henry Prince of Orange, for presenting him with the noble Order of the Garter, 1626†.” 82—5.

† “Mistaken for the yeare 1627.” Copied “Ex Officio Ar-morum, L: 18: about the middle of the booke,” by the hand of Edw. Philipps.

2. Historical notes of matters chiefly relating to the Order of the Garter, (in Latin,) “Excerpted out of the Annals of W^m CAMBDEN ab a^o 1603 ad annum 1623, written with his owne hand, and in the custody of Dr: Hackett BP: of Lichfield and Coventry 1668.” 85^b—6^b.

This article and the next one were written by Ashmole.

3. CAROLI II. literæ patentés, quibus confirmata est concessio 1200^{li} annuatim solvendarum Cancellerario Ordinis Georgiani, olim a Car. I. 23 Jan. an. 13 facta. (9 Apr. an. 13.) 87^{ab}.

“Vere extract' per Rich: Lyndon un' clericorum in officio th'i Beale auditoris” in Scaccario.

VII. 1. List of things needful for the installation of the Dukes of Wirtemberg and Holstein, the King of Denmark, the Earl of Salisbury, and the Viscount Bindon. 90.

“Ex autogr' penes Will'm Knight:” as also the two following articles.

2. “Warrt: to pay for escocheons” 7*l.* yearly to Garter. (7 Feb. 2 Ch. I.) 90^b.

3. Garter Sir WILL. SEGAR's appointment of Thomas Knight to do all his painting work, (20 May, 1633,) with a renewal of the same by Sir John Borough, Garter. (22 Aug. 1640.) 91^{ab}.

4. “A warrant to pay Garter for escotchions used on St Georges day.” (2 & 3 Ph. & M.) 91^b.

5. Patent of JAMES I. appointing Thomas “Dommill a Poore Knight of Windsor.” (5 Jun. anno 10.) 92.

6. Warrant of CHARLES II. appointing John Beton to be one of the Poor Knights. (4 July, 1660.) 92^b.

7. Proceedings in the chapter holden 7 Nov. 1633, when the payments for charitable uses on the death of a K. G. were revived. 93.

Bill of moneys to be received accordingly. 94^a.

8. “Fees due for the installacō of a Duke, and so paid by the Duke of Lennox being installed 6^o Nov: 1633.” 94.

9. Q. ELIZABETH's “Warrt: to admit David Price to be governour of the Poore Knightes.” (anno 30.) 95^b.

10. How soon a K. G. is to have notice of his election, and how he is to receive his garter and George. 96^a.

11. Order in chapter holden 13—15 Sept. 1617, for the increase of Garter's fees from the Knights; with a list of the fees then payed, and fac-similes of their signatures. 96^b—7.

“Ex rot' pergam' penes Guil: Ryley ar. 14 June 1660.”

*12. “President of the surrender and recepō of the order of the Garter, sent back by the Baron Sekytt extraordinary ambassador of the Queene and crowne of Suede, after the death of Gustavus Adolphus the great king: performed the 18 of Aprill 1635.” 98—101^b, 102^b—3.

Of this curious article, the Ambassador's Latin speech to Charles I. occupiēs 6½ pages, written by a different hand, the beginning and end being written by Ashmole: the Chancellor's speech is in French. Compare No. 1112, i. 8.

The three lots of paper (90—1, 92—7, 98—103) composing this part, contain Ashmole's handwriting: the next consists of 3 sheets of small paper, (mostly blank,) indorsed—“Doctor WREN's papers: Ord^r [of] y^e garter,” (100^b), being written with his own hand. See art. 4 of the ninth part.

of ye Order of ye Garter, touchinge ye ornaments of ye Knights," and chiefly those of the King of Sweden, deposited at Windsor, and taken thence in 1645. f. 104^a, 105^a, 106^a.

Subscribed thus by an other hand—"Doctor Wren was sworne to ye truth of ye contents of these pap^{rs} ye 22 March 1651. Tho. Beauchampe Cle. Register."

IX. 1. Notabilia quædam excerpta "Ex Registro Nigro Ordinis." 110—1.

"Transcribed from the hand writing of THO: FRYTH Canon of Windsor, who wrote the Catalogue of the Deanes and Canons of Windsor. Ex [ejus] autogr^o penes D: Chr: Wren."

2. Qualiter in aula quatuor Officiariis Ordinis (Prælato, Cancellario, Gartero, et Hostiario) vietus ministraretur, in festo Georgiano. 111^b.

"From Dr: Math: Wrens hand: penes præfat' D: Chr: Wren."

3. Estimate of the proportionate fees to the Register, from Knights of different degrees. 111^b.

"Transer: from Dr: CHR: WREN's hand:" as also the two next articles.

4. Dr. WREN's statement concerning the jewels of the Order. 112—4.

Copied from ff. 104—6, except the notices of the four Register-books at the beginning, which are here omitted.

5. The Register's oath. 114.

6. Account of the installation of Francis Earl of Bedford (by proxy) and Sir Henry Sydney, 14 May, 1564; with a list of the Knights as then placed. 114^b.

"Ex lib: H. 12, in Officio Armorum, [f.] 143."

7. Acts of the Order "On St Georges day, at Windsor, 1564." 115.

"Ex lib: H. 12, in Officio Armorum, 142^a."

8. Warrant of Q. ELIZ. dispensing with the attendance of Lord Burghley at the next feast of S. George. (20 Apr. 1598.) 115^b.

"Ex origin' sub sigillo Ordinis penes Com' Salish." The seal is tricked, and the sign manual imitated: but not in the following article.

9. Warrant of Q. ELIZ. appointing the Earl of Lincoln her Lieutenant at the feast of S. George. (22 Apr. 1577.) 115^b.

"Ex origin' sub sigillo Ordinis penes eundem Com." The variations of two others (dated 1595 and 1587) are noted, also the dates of two other deputations in 1578 and 1596.

10. Letters of HUMFRED Duke of GLOUCESTER and other Knights of the Garter, ordaining pensions and fees for the support of Garter King of Arms. (Windsor, 23 Apr. 1422*.) 116^b—7^b.

* "Or rather 1423." (etc.) Ashmole's note at the end: he copied this translation "Ex collect: Nich: Charles penes Guil: Ryley Clarenceaux. See this in French in the quat' coll: out of the Office of Armes, q. vi." viz. No. 1109, art. 185.

11. "Accoumpts of the revenew of the most noble Order of the Garter, beginning upon or Lady day 1638;" continued to March, 1641, by Sir THO. ROWE, and thence to 1644 by Sir JA. PALMER. 118—122^b.

"23 Dec. 1639. Transcribed from ye Booke of accompt written wth Sr Ja: Palmers hand."

12. Dr. MATTHEW WREN's petition to the King, for "Restitucōn of ye Register's fees at the instalmentes of ye Knightes of the Order:" with the answer certified by Sir FR. CRANE, Chancellor. (6 May, 1634.) 123.

"Ex originali penes D: Chr: Wren:" as also the two next.

13. Dr. CHR. WREN's petition to the King for remedy against infringements on his office and authority as Dean of Windsor: with the answer certified by Sir FR. WINDEBANK. (26 Nov. 1639.) 123^b.

14. "Reasons of the Deane of Windsors peticōn, Nov: 26. 1639." 124.

See artt. 35, 36, on this subject.

15. Petition of the Dean and Canons of Windsor to the King, for the continuance of their present maintenance and estate; presented 26 June, 1641. f. 125^b.

"Copied from Dr Christopher Wren's handwriting."

16. Statement made in "1617. How the 20^l: chantric pay is imployed, and what the Deane and Cannons have added thereunto. To give satisfaccōn to the Lord Rosse, chalenging a right to present." 126.

"Ex autogr^o penes Doctorem Chr: Wren." Also the next.

17. Proofs "That the mantle of every Knight of the — Garter, after his death, doth of right belong unto the Deane and Canons of his Ma^{ties}: free chappell of Windsor." 126^b.

18. Bill of rich stuffs assigned out of the Wardrobe "For the Register's* robe (at his entrance) by warrant from the Lord Chamberlaine." 127.

* "Dr. Chr. Wren:" from whose handwriting this was copied."

19. "Deane and Chapt' peticōn to the L: of the Order, concerning the Heralds precedence, hatchm^{ts} etc." praying for redress of their grievances. 127^b.

"Ex autogr^o penes eundem D: Chr: Wren," (as also the two next articles,) indorsed as above.

20. Proofs "That all oblaecōns in the Kings free chappell of Windsor, both of the King himselfe and of all oth^r, as well at St Georges feast as at other tymes, do of right belong to the Deane and Channons." 128.

It appears that Bps. Montague and Andrews had appropriated them to themselves, as Prelates of the Order. Indorsed, if not written, by Dr. C. Wren: it was composed by Mr. FRITH; compare No. 1112, vi. 26.

21. "Priviledges concerning Windsor Colledge" and the tenants of its estates. 129.

22. Note by Dr. C. WREN that "The embroidery of the Red Booke" was payed for by Sir T. Rowe, but the writing by himself. 129^b.

23. "The humble peticōn of WILLIAM RYLEY Lancaster Herald," to the Lords of Parliament, for permission and encouragement to copy the arms and inscriptions on the plates in Windsor chapel, and the registers there, into a book, to be preserved in the Office of Arms. 130.

"Ex autogr' penes Will'm Ryley."

24. "The forme of the oath w^{ch} the Register administrators to all the Princes and Peers of the Order, before they ascend their stalls." 130^b.

"Entred at th'end of ye MS: booke of Stat: of K^s Ed: ye 6; in ye custody of Sr: Rich: Fanshaw."

25. "Monyes rec^d: at severall tymes by Christiaen van Vianen, for plate w^{ch} he made of ye chapell." 130^b.

"Extracted from ye originall acquitt: in Sr Ph: Palmers hands." See art. 9.

26, 27. Two "Letters from Sr THO: ROWE Chancellor of the Garter, to Dr Christopher Wren, Register." (Cranford, 9 Jan. and 1 May, 1637.) 131, 131^b.

From the originals in Dr. Wren's possession, as also the 9 following articles. With art. 27 was sent the next paper, transcribed by Sir Thomas from Lord Burleigh's writing: it is in Latin.

28. "The office of the Register of the Garter, described by Sr W^m Cecil Chancellor of the Order, as it was established in a chapter held at Westminster, 28 Sept. an^o Dⁿⁱ 1552." 132.

29. Letter from Dr. C. WREN to Sir Tho. Rowe. (24 May, 1637.) 133.

Same as that copied at f. 59 by another hand.

30. Sir T. ROWE's answer, wherein is an account of the negligent proceedings of the Knights commissioned to review the records of the Order. (Cranford, 4 June, 1637.) 133^b.

31. Another letter from the same to the same, about affairs of the Order. (S. Martin's lane, 24 Nov. 1637.) 134^b.

32. Letter to the same from Sir JOHN BOROUGH, Garter, promising his "Memorials concerning my Lord Marshalls voyage" to the Prince Elector, and mentioning that a book on the subject by M. Rosdorfe was suppressed. (Harmesworth, 1 May, 1637.) 135.

33. Dr. C. WREN's petition to the Lords of the Order, requesting them to appoint a meeting under the Commission*, that he may represent some matters to them. 135^b.

* Dated 17 May, 1637. It was presented in the Parliament House, 23 Jan. 1647.

34. "Copp of my* Pre sent to the Deputy Chancellor, for removall of some scruples w^{ch} arose among the Knights of the Order, before the tyme of their meeting in councell." 136.

* "From Dr: CHR: WRENS hand." It is not dated.

35. "The Kings comands touching the power of the Lieuetenant in the Deanes absence; and where he shall have his seate:" certified to the Dean and Canons by Rich. Steward. (19 Dec. 1639.) 136.

The seal is here tricked.

36. Dr. C. WREN's letter (to the Abp. of Cant.)

stating that one cause of his late complaint had been removed by the death of Dr. Sheafe, the other by the King's expression of his will*. 136^b.

* The foregoing article, and artt. 13, 14. This letter is dated "In obitu anni 1639," i. e. 24 Mar. 1640.

*37. ADOLPHI DUCIS HOLSATIE ad R. Elizabetham epistola, de ordine Georgiano sibi per Dominum Hunsdomium allato. (Cantilbergæ, die S. Petri et Pauli, 1560.) 137.

He apologizes for meam militure Latinam! "Ex origin' penes Com' Salisb."

38. Sir JA. PALMER's notice to the Earl of Somerset, that the feast of S. George was prorogued to 2—4 Oct. next. (18 Apr. 1641.) 137^b.

39. Letter from PETER NEWTON to John Ayton, Gent. Usher, about Mr. Maxwell's place as Usher of the black rod. (n. d.) 137^b—8.

40. Petition of the four Gentlemen Ushers, to the King, complaining of the patent obtained by Mr. Maxwell for a grant of the office of Usher of the black rod unto himself and Alex. Thayne in reversion. 138^b.

"Penes Phil: Palmer barr:" as probably were the two foregoing articles.

41. Letter from Dr. C. WREN to Sir Ja. Palmer, communicating the King's orders in chapter, that none should sit in the stalls of the Order, and that the Dean's lieutenant only might sit in the first stall on the left. (n. d.) 139.

42. Letter from Sir GILBERT DETHICK, Garter, to "Harry Ree alias Barwicke pursivant at armes," giving directions for the private celebration of S. George's feast by some noblemen, and requesting him to buy some salmon. (London, 3 Apr. 1565.) 140^a, 147^b.

The original: it is curious.

43. "Memoriall of the goodes and monumentes belonging to the Kings chappell and treasury at Windsor, till Octob' 23, 1642," when the plate was taken away by Capt. Fog. 141.

"Ex autogr' penes D: Chr: Wren."

44. "Memorial of ye goods and monum^{ts} belonging to ye K^s chappell, and ye college of Windsor, 1643:" and a note of Col. Ven's taking the keys from the Dean, in May, 1643. f. 143^{ab}, 142^b.

The original by Dr. C. WREN's hand: the first leaf is half cut off: the second is indorsed "Doctr Wrenns pap^r concerning ye K^s of ye garter." 142^b.

45. "An inventory taken by William Shephard, of goodes left in Dr Wrens house, when he left Windsor castle, for the preservation and restitution whereof Colonell Ven promised to be accountable." 144—5.

46. "Knights of the — Garter employed in the late expedicoⁿ for defence of the kingdome. 1639." 145^b.

"Transcribed from Sr Jo: Borough's hand."

47. Notes of the precedency assigned to Knights of the Garter, from various documents ancient and modern. 148.

Selected "Ex collect' Nich: Charles, Lancaster [Herald,] penes W: Ryley Clarenceaux, fol' 9" etc. All this part (except artt. 4, 44 is by Ashmole's hand.

X. Collections out of the Records of the King's Wardrobe, chiefly concerning robes and ornaments allowed to the Knights of the Garter and for the use of the Order: viz.—

1. "Extracted out of a large velome booke in the Wardrobe, wherein are entred the provisions for King Ric: the 3^d: his coronacōn." 149, 151—152.
2. Extracted out of an other, "called Cotom, wherein are entred provisions for the use of K. Henry the 6th." 149^b—150^b, 159.
3. "Liber computi de liberationibus pannorum pellium etc. anno regni regis Ricardi 2^{di} 14^o." 158—162.
4. "Liberaciones draperie peluræ merimonij et aliarum rerum diversarum, officium magne Garderobe d'ni regis Edwardi tercij post conquestum tangentes, facte per Joannem Coke clericum et provisorem ejusdem magne Garderobe, a festo sancti Michaelis" anno 21, ad 31 Jan. anno 23. (1347—1349.) 165—178.

The copious extracts contained in this article are fairly transcribed, chiefly by Ashmole, and partly by the same hand as the foregoing articles (and part i. art. 9), except the first 4 pages, which are written in a much neater hand, the same as the next part of this volume.

- XI. 1. Alia excerpta "Ex [eodem] compoto Joh'is Coke" etc. (m. 9, 13, 23.) 181—3.
2. "Ex compoto Joh'is Neubury custodis magne Garderobe de a^o. 34^o Edw. III. 184—5.
 3. "Ex rot: compoti Henrici de Snaith, custodis magne Garderobe regis. a^o. 37^o. E. 3." 186^{ab}.
 4. "Ex rot: compoti Alani de Stoke, custodis magne Garderobe regis. a^o. 7^o. R. 2." 188—9^b.
 5. "Ex rot: compoti magistri sive custodis Garderobe regis, de anno primo R' Edwardi 3^{ui}: penes Rememoratorem Regis in Scaccario remanente." 191—6^b.
 6. "Ex cod: MS: de compot: magne Garderobe regis, a^o regni regis Ricardi 2^{di}: 11^o." 197^{ab}.
 7. "Liberatio pannorum in magna Garderoba d'ni regis, erga coronationem d'ni Henrici nuper regis Anglie 4^u." 198.
 8. "Liberacōnes de magna Garderoba, tempore R' Henrici sexti." 198^b—9.
 9. "Ex alio cod: MS: penes custodem magne Garderobe R. [viz.] Robes for divers great officers and others at the coronation of K. Henry the 8th." 199^b.
 10. Tria brevia ad Rad. de Stokes clericum Garderobæ, de apparatu novis militibus præbendo, Ph. de Nevill, Pet. de la Foye, et Joh. de Felton, anno 31 Edw. I. 200.

"Ex ipsis autographis penes Rememoratorem Regis in Scacco: suo apud Westmonast." See also f. 201^a.

11. Breve "De veniendo London' ad apparatus militie capiendos de Garderoba regis." (6 Apr. 1306.) 200^b.

"Claus: 34 E. 1. in dorso m' 16 et 5."

12. "Ex rotulis compot[or]um magistrorum sive custodum magne Garderobe regis, penes Rememoratorem" etc. (31 et 33 Edw. I) 201.
13. Brevia duo ad Joh. de Drogenesford et ad R. de Stoke, de apparatu pro Tho. de Veer et Tho. Bardolf, militibus novis. (34 Edw. I.) 201^b.
"Ex ipso brevi—penes Rememoratorem" etc.
14. "Ex ipso rotulo compoti Johannis de Drogenesford custodis dictæ Garderobæ a^o: 34 E. I." 202—4.
- 15, 16. "Ex rot: compoti Thom' de Usefflete clerici provisoris magnæ Garderobæ 16^o [et 18^o] E. 2." 204.
17. "Ex alio rot:" (etc.) ejusdem, anno 19 et anno 20 Edw. II. 205^a, 205^b—6^b.
18. "Ex compoto Wil: la Zouche clerici et provisoris magnæ Garderobæ, anno regni R. E. 3. 3^o. m' 2." et m' 9—10. f. 206^b—7.
19. "Ex rot: compoti præfati Will'i la Zouche, de anno 4^o R. Edwardi 3^{ui}." 207^b—9^b.
- 20—3. "Ex rot: compoti" ejusdem, de annis 5, 6, 7, et 12 Edw. III. 209^b—10^b.

This part is very fairly written in a round hand not unlike Ashmole's.

XII. 1. "A copie of y^e presidents of y^e most honourable liverie of y^e Garter, founded in the castle of Windsore by y^e most excellent prince King Edward y^e third" etc. 213.

Copied "Out of an old vellam book in the Wardrob Office, in folio, beginning with certain warrants." p. 12, 46, 47.

2. Account of "A rich garter mended." 214.

"Out of an old vellam book in y^e Ward[r]obe Office, call'd the president of the coronation of King Edward the 6th."

- 3—11. Numerous warrants for the delivery of robes and ornaments, to and for the Knights and Officers of the Order of the Garter, out of the King's Wardrobe: viz.—

- XI. 1. "A warrant for the hatchm^{ts}: for the Prince of Denmarke." (12 Feb. 1662.) 120.

(This is another part of the papers borrowed on 4 Feb. 1669.) Compare the article last but one foregoing: a note subjoined introduces the following article, and most of those in this part are in like manner connected.

2. Garter WALKER's petition to the Sovereign and Companions, requesting an annuity of 100^l. out of the revenues of the Order, in the stead of his 18 years' arrears, and the yearly allowance antiently payed by every Knight. 120^b.
3. Sir H. DE VIC's note of the order made in chapter 10 Jan. 1662, concerning the meeting and business of a committee of Knights, and the reception of Garter's petition. (3 Mar.) 121.

The two next articles were "Papers annexed to the s^d peti^on."

4. "The pentions antiently rated by the statutes, payable unto Garter"—by every K. G., as they were settled 15 Ja. I. 121^b.
5. "Yearely pentions from the Companions of the — Garter, as they now are, 1661." 122.
6. "Warr^t: to Sr H: de Vic to deliver the habit belong^s to the Marq: of Brandenburg to Sr Ed: Walker." (. . March, 1662.) 122^b.

The cause of this is explained in an introductory note.

7. "An other warr^t: [to Sir Gilb. Talbot, Master of the Jewel-house] to deliver to Sr: Ed: Walker the collar of the Order, for the s^d Marquis." 123.
8. Proceedings "At a chapter of the — Order, held in the withdrawing roome at Whitehall, upon saturday the 28 of March 1663." 123.

Ibidem, f. 42.

37. The Sovereign's "Warrt: for the removeall of stalls." (29 Mar. 1673.) 203.

"Ibid: fol. 42."

38. Ceremony of the "Installacōn of the E: of Southampton." (1 Apr. 1673.) 203^b—4.

39. "A new modell of Statutes prepared by Sr E: W[ALKER]: Garter,"* intitled, "The Statutes and ordinancees of y^e most noble Order of St George named y^e Garter, reformed explained declared and renewed by the most high most mighty and most excellent prince CHARLES, the Second of that name, by y^e grace of God King of England Scotland France and Ireland, Defender of the faith, and Sovereigne of the said most noble Order, a^o 1662, in y^e 14th yeare of his raigne." 204^b—219.

* Thus intitled in the margin, where Ashmole has added this note,—“but never presented to the consideracōn of the Sov' and K^{ts}.” This is a compilation from old Statutes and orders of chapter, and consists of a preface and the following general heads:—“Touching y^e Sovereigne” (205^h), “Articles relateing to the election and installation of a K^t: of y^e Order” (206^b), “Celebration of St George's feast” (212^b), “Officers of y^e Order” (216^b), and “Miscelania” (218).

40. “Considerations in order to the celebrating of St: George's feast,” 1661; with an introductory note stating that this paper was prepared for a chapter holden 20 Feb. 1661; by Sir EDWARD WALKER. 219^a, 219^b—220^b.

See also part x. art. 3.

41. Proceedings “At a chapter of the — Garter held in y^e red roome at White Hall, the 23^d: of Aprill 1674;” when the Earl of Mulgrave was elected: together with other solemnities of the Order, and the installation of the Earl. 221—2.

42. Order of “The stalls at Windsor 29 May 1674, that being the grand feast.” 222^b.

43. “Stiles proclaimed at the grand feast, 1674.” 223—4^b.

46. Proceedings “At a chapter of the — Garter held in the red roome in Whitehall the 17th of February 167⁶”; when Henry Duke of Newcastle was elected. 225^b—6.

These last eight articles are in a hand-writing resembling Walker's own, being the same as f. 124^b; and are corrected by Ashmole.

No. 1113.

VOLUME XVII. consists of a large assemblage of original papers, written by different hands (chiefly of Heralds), and at different times, to the number of 272 leaves, whereof only ff. 51, 71, 93, 212, and 234 were written by Ashmole. Only one fly-leaf has been left at the beginning, and 13 at the end.

I. *1. “The landinge of my lordes Cardynall[es] grace at Caleys the seconde of August” [1520]; with the names of the “Frenche Embassadors” and “of our noble men of Englande,” and the manner of the meeting. f. 1—3.

2. Note of three descents in the male line from Thomas Skelton of Braiceforde. 3.

*3. “The creation of Thomas Percy Erle of Northumberland, and others.” (24 Apr. and 2 May, 1557.) 3^b—4.

*4. A full account of the celebration of S. George's feast at Windsor, “Anno 1519. on a frydaie the xxvijth of Maye the xjth yere of the reigne of K. Henry the vijth.” and two next days. 4^b—8.

5. “The enterement of the right noble and excellent princessse Lady Katherine*, late wyff unto Prince Arthur Prince of Wales.” (1538.) 8^b—9.

* Of Arragon, divorced Queen of Henry VIII. This article ends imperfectly, some leaves of the MS. having been lost: it is fairly written in a running hand of the time of Q. Elizabeth.

II. 1. “The maner of makyng of Knyghtis of the B[athe] after the custome of England, in tyme of pease, and at the erounacion of the Kyng. When a esquire comethe in to courtie.” (f. 2.) 10^{ba}.

Unfinished, ending—wthoute colour and cortayens And whan No. 764, art. 13, contains the French text. See also No. 862, art. 53.

*2. Account of the celebration of S. George's feast in the cathedral church of S. Paul, in 1505; by Henry VII. and the Knights of the Garter. (f. 4.) 11^{ba}.

*3. “The names of the noble men that attended upon the King at Wyndesore, when the King of Castille was installede and reeevede thordre of the garter, and aftirwardes beyng at the same eastelle.” (f. 20.) 13^a.

*4. Account of the King's visit at Cambridge, on his “pilgremage towards our lady of Walsingham,” after keeping easter at Greenwich, in 1506. (f. 21.) 12^b.

Imperfect at the end, as the next is at the beginning.

*5. The entertainment of the King of Castile, 2—5 Feb. [1506] by Henry VII. (f. 22.) 14^{ab}.
See No. 1110, vi. art. 8.

*6. Note of the King's celebration of S. George's day at Richmond, 22 Hen. VII. 1507. (f. 26.) 15^a.

*7. Account of the chapter of the Order, holden at Windsor, 8 May, 1507. f. 15^b.

*8. “The remembrauns of all the Lordes Barons

Banerets and Knyghtes wyche be depertyd w^t howt issue male, in the countez of Norffolke and Suffolke, sens the cronacion of the noble Kyng Edward tierce." (f. 36.) 22^b.

9. "The Emperor and Kinges of Cristen royalmes."—"The names of the emperors and kyng[es] under the great Turke," and of those "that be under the Soldon." 22^b.
10. Commission of lieutenantancy granted to the Marquis of Dorset, for keeping the feast of S. George at Windsor, 5 May: dated 4 May, 19 Hen. VII. 1504. (f. 51.) 17^a.
11. Letters proroguing the feast of S. George to 24 May: dated at Cambridge, 25 Apr. [1506.] (f. 52.) 16^b.
- *12. Solemnization of S. George's feast at Windsor, 7 May, 1503; with 'a lettre myssyve' excusing the absence of the Earl of Shrewsbury and others. 16^a, 18^a.
13. Warrant for velvet and sarcenet for a K. G., dated 10 June, 20 Hen. VII. (f. 53.) 18^b.
14. "Commyssyon" to install Sir Balthasar de Castilione, proxy of the Duke of Urbin; (7 Nov. an. 22); with a note of the installation in Latin, 10 Nov. 1506. (f. 54.) 18^b—9.
15. "Chargis belongyng to the installacion of a Knight of the Gartier:" mantle, collar, helm, etc. 19^b.
16. Knights who assisted at "The offring for the King of Castille" and for Sir Rich. Guilford, "10 May A^o 2 H. 7." (f. 55.) 20^b.
17. Oath of Philip King of Castile, in French. (f. 56.) 21^a.

Seemingly the original draught: it is thus noted—"thys othe ys in his ryght place afore:" i. e. in the lost parts of this MS.

18. Note how the King was attended on, in his chamber, by his great officers; dateless. (f. 57.) 23^a.
19. Sums "paid by Garter on new yeres day A^o R' H. [vij.] xxiiij^o." 23^a.

Thus of this very curious MS. only 14 leaves (ff. 10—23) remain out of at least 57; namely—ff. 2, 4^b, 21, 20, 22, 26, 52^b, 51^b, 53, 54, 55, 56^b, 36, 57^b; which are bound in this irregular order, and such as are here marked (b) are reversed. It is in the distinct handwriting of Sir THOMAS WROTHESLEY, Garter King of Arms; and forms a good supplement to that very valuable MS. of his (though generally considered anonymous) in the Cottonian collection, Julius B. XII. Two more leaves are at ff. 72, 73.

III. Papers, chiefly relating to the Investiture of the Order of the Garter:—

1. The names of nine pairs of noblemen and gentlemen; probably a Tilting-list. 24^{ab}.
The same names are written on each side of this 4to. paper: the two first are—"The lord Robert—therle of Northumberland."
2. Warrant to the Earl of Denbigh, for a robe like to that of Sir W. Segar, Garter. (3 July 1627.) 25^a.
3. The names of Scottish noblemen and others, who were slain (?) "on saynt Katherynes daye"

4 Nov. 34 Hen. VIII.*; also a note of the election of Sir Edm. Dudley, 'Lord Sayn Jonys,' and Lord Bray, . . Nov. 35 Hen. VIII. 26^{ab}, 25^a.

* Subjoined to an account of the battle, of which only a fragment is preserved, this being the remaining half of a sheet; written in a Scottish hand.

4. The numerous titles of 'themperour' Charles V. 27^a.

In a contemporary hand, (Sir G. Dethick's?) as also probably the three next.

5. "Instructiones seu potius informationes, a regia majestate vel a quibus ei visum fuerit contradende Legatis sive Oratoribus ad Cesarem, regem externum, [etc.] emittendis: quando subligae' insigne cum habitu insuper ordinario redent eidem. Principio commendationes appositae." 28^a.

An extract from the Black Book, inaccurately written on two open sheets, about the time of Q. Mary. See No. 1112, vii. art. 7.

6. Charges given at the investiture of a Knight with the garter, 'kyrtill,' mantle, and collar. 30^a.

Different from art. 8.

7. Two draughts of the oath of a Herald, administered in the chapter of the Office of Arms. 31^{ba}.
8. "The wordes ancientlye spoken at putting on the ensignes and robes of the Garter. Latine and English." 33^a, 32^b.

Fairly written on opposite pages of a sheet thus indorsed, in Ashmole's time, as also the next.

9. Charges given "At the puttinge on of the garter by the Kinge" and "At the puttinge onn of the blew ribon or chayne wth the George." 34^a.

IV. A collection of old yearly Lists of the Knights of the Garter, for the marshalling of the Stalls at Windsor, etc.:—

1. Knights present "Ann' xxiiij^{to} RR' H. viij. the feste [being] kepte at Windsour, the vij day of maij by therle of Shrewesbury and others." 35^b.

By Sir Gilbert Dethick's hand?

2. A list of the stalls, headed, "The Kinges higheenes appointement for the stall of the King of Scottes A^o R' sui xxviij. xxiiij^o Aprillis, 1535," and subscribed "HENRY R." 37^a.
3. List of Knights, beginning with "Kynge Edward" [VI.], and ending with "Sr Will'm Lo. Gray of Willon." 37^a.

Written in the time of Q. Eliz. Part of this paper is pasted down on the leaf to which these papers are attached. The three following papers are likewise pasted on one leaf.

4. "What the Kinge geveth to every Knight of the Garter." 38.

A small paper, by the hand of LEE? Compare No. 818, f. 43^b.

5. Style and titles of George Duke of Buckingham, in English, 1625. f. 38^a.

6. "Obitus militum Garterij, tentus ibidem iiii. die mensis Marcij anno r. r. [Henrici] vij^{mi} xvij^o. In quo presentes fuerunt canonici ix. videlicet Stokys, Bowde, Surlonde, Cretyng, Payne, Cokkys, Esterfelde, Lupton, and Hobbys, cuilibet xx. d." etc. 38^a.

This original Obit-ticket is on paper. A collection of others on parchment is described at No. 1296.

7. List of stalls, "An^o. 5. E. 6." 39^a.

So superscribed by Ashmole: but the whole paper seems to be by DETHICK's hand.

Copy of two letters from a person at court, in favor of Garter, for the renewal of his lease of a house holden of the Salters' Company. (Palace at Westm. 11 and 14 Mar. 1551.) 39^{ab}.

8. List of stalls, "A^o. 3. Eliz." 40^a.

Thus dated by Ashmole.

9. Styles (in French) of the Earl of Essex, lieutenant, and of the Counts of Beaumont and Neublanc, installed 15 May 1533, with a note thereof. 41^b.

See also No. 1109, art. 163.

10. Ordo militum anno "1 & 2 Ph: & M. viz^t 20 Maij." 42.

Handsomely written by Sir W. CECIL, then chancellor of the Order; and thus dated by Ashmole. See also art. 21.

11. List of hatchments supplied for a Knight, and form of the warrant for his robes. 43^{ab}.

12. Short account of Gaillard Lord of Duras; and notes of Sir R. Tunstall, Walter Devereux, and Sir John Cheynye. 43^{ab}.

By Garter DETHICK's hand.

13. The style of Frederic Duke of Wurtemberg, in Latin and French. 43^a.

By a foreign hand.

14, 15. Two lists of the stalls, "31 Jan: 1 & 2 P. & M." 44^a.

Dated by Ashmole.

16. Record of the election of Charles IX. King of France, the Earl of Bedford, and Sir Henry Sydney, "Anno sexto R. Elizabethæ. At a chapter holden at Windsore the xxiiij daye of Aprill." 45^a.

This leaf of vellum seems to have been taken out of the end of a Knight's copy of the Statutes; the names of Knights present on a different occasion being at the top of the page.

17. "These noble men have bin Lecftennautes in the Quenes Mat^{is} absence as hereafter followeth, at St Georges feaste in y^e courte." (16—25 Eliz.) 46^a.

18. "The names of them that have benne Leventannants synce the eighte yere of her Mat^{es} raigne." 46^a.

Two old papers pasted on the back of the following.

19. Order of the stalls "L'an 1584;" and another list "For the removinge of the stalls at Wyndesore, l'an 1585." 46^b.

By the hand of Sir W. DETHICK.

20. List of the stalls "Anno 6 Eliz." 47.

Written by Sir G. Dethick (?) and dated by Ashmole. On the back is a note of the virtues of the herb Serpentyne.

21. Ordo militum, tempore R. Philippi. 49.

By CECIL's hand. On the back DETHICK has written—

The styles of the Sovereign (Philip and Mary)*, Emanuel Philibert Duke of Savoy, Henry Earl of Sussex, and William Lord Howard of Effingham, the lord admiral; in French. 49^b.

* See also 50^b, also by DETHICK as it seems.

22. Styles of the Knights and Officers of the Order, as addressed by the Sovereign. 50^a.

The following notes:—

"The xv. daye of may was maryed therle of Surres sone to the erle of Derbys daughter." "The vth yere of Kyng Henry the eight, therl of Surrey created Duke of Norff." etc. 50^b.

23. "Feb. 7. An^o. Dⁿⁱ 1612.—A remove made in the chapell of Wyndesore of the stalls and atchievem^{ts}: of the Knights—, at the installation of — Frederick Prince Palatine of the Rhine, and Maurice Earle of Nassau." 51^a.

"Copied from Sr: George Moores papers in the handes of James Gresham of Haselmore in Com' Surrey esqr. 3 Apr. 1673." by Ashmole.

V. A collection of old papers, containing the Styles of Knights of the Garter:—

1. Letter from "WILL^{AM} GRENE, usher of Eton," informing Garter* that "the commons are rayased ij^d weeklye in every commensall;" and desiring the payment of 27s. 7d. for his son Nicolas. (No date.) 54^b.

* Sir GILBERT DETHICK; who wrote, on the vacant part of the paper, a—

Note that William Lord Howard was installed 31 January 1554—5, and gave to Garter "a gownd of damaske." 54^b.

The style of Em. Phil. Duke of Savoy, (in French,) and a note of his installation on the same day. 54^b.

The letter was communicated to the Gentleman's Magazine in June 1838.

2. Styles of Henry Duke of Suffolk, John Duke of Northumberland, William Marquis of Winchester, and William Earl of Pembroke; in French, 55^a.

Both this and the next seems to be by DETHICK.

3. Blazon of the arms of the Sovereign and Companions; list of the stalls on "St Georges day 1555, A^o primo et secundo Ph. et Mar. at Hampton;" short account of the celebration of that feast; and styles of the Sovereign and Companions, in French; by Sir GILBERT DETHICK. 56—7^b.

4. Styles of William Lord Burghley, Thomas Earl of Ormond, Gilbert Earl of Shrewsbury, Henry Earl of Northumberland, Thomas Lord Howard of Walden, and Robert Earl of Essex; also those of Charles Lord Howard of Effingham*, and Charles Earl of Nottingham; in French. 58^{ab}.

* This one is superscribed (perhaps for all) "For the plate at Wyndesore. 1598."

5. Tituli quibus Carolus Rex Suecorum appellabatur. 59^a.

In a hand of Ashmole's time.

6. Tituli Regis Henrici VIII. et Commilitonum Ordinis, eo regnante, ordine temporis; cum epigrammate ac dedicatione ad R. Elizabetham, cui nomen subscripsit "WILL'M'S DETHECK, Garterus principalis Rex armorum Anglicorum." 60—1.

The corrected draught of a book in which the arms of those 55 Knights were painted, for a gift to the Queen.

7. Ad R. Edwardum VI. (uti videtur) carmen, quod inscripsit "ROGERUS COXUS Reginalis" Collegii alumnus. 62^a.

Inc. Flagitium dueunt. Luges quem mors gemibunda. (20 versus hexam.)

8. Exhortation to a Knight at his investiture with the insignia of the Order: viz. "La Jarretiere. La Souveraigne, et l'amiable compaignie." 62^b.

In a fair Italian hand of the time of Q. Elizabeth. This paper is pasted to the back of the foregoing. Compare Ashmole's Appendix to his Institution, num. xxxvi.

9. Order made at a chapter 24 Apr. 1575, concerning the manner of the Lieutenant's offering for the Sovereign and for himself. 63^a.

A paper pasted on a vacant part of the next.

10. "The copyc of the styles of the Knights of the Garter. 1575." In French. 63^{ba}.

Only those on the Sovereign's side. By Sir W. DETHICK.

11. "Les Chevaliers du tresnoble Ordre de la Jarretiere. 1606." 64—5.

Indorsed by an old hand,—“The names of ye Knights of ye Garter extant this day, given me by Mr. SEGAR alias Garter King at armes.” Dated by ASHMOLE “9 July 1606.”

12. "The stiles of his Matie: of the Prince, and of the residewe of the Compagnions of the most hoble: Order of the Garter, at the feaste of St: George holden at Whitehall 1604." In French. 66—7.

13. "The titles [in French] of the Knights of the — Garter, as they were set up by Sr John Borrough Garter, in the chappell at Whitehall, at the feast of St George holden there ye 22th. 23th. and 24th. of Aprill, A^o Dⁿⁱ 1635." 68—9^b.

Written and certified by "WILLIAM LE NEVE, Norroy."

14. Tituli Christiani V. Suecorum Regis, et Joh. Georgii II. Saxonie Ducis. 70^a.

By Sir E. WALKER'S hand.

15. Tituli Friderici Wilhelmi Mareb. Brandenburgensis, et Car. Ludov. Comitis Palatini. 71.

By ASHMOLE.

- VI. Heralds' lists of necessaries provided on various occasions for Knights of the Order, and bills of various expenses, duties, and fees:—

1. "Charges of the Knygtes at the installacion at Wyndesor of the Garter. In primis to the charyns." 72^a.

- Style of [Henry] Earl of Essex, in French and English. 72^b.

This page is written vertically.

- Short account of the installation of Lord Mountjoy, [Sir W.] Fitzwyllyam, and Sir Henry Gylford, 6 May, 1526. f. 73^a.

- List of the stalls on that occasion. 73^b.

These two papers are in the handwriting of Sir THOMAS WRIOTHESLEY, and may have been part of the second MS. in this volume: but they bear no mark of foliation.

2. "A^o Dⁿⁱ 1552. Thes parcells here after folowng maed and wrought for the — Erle of Westmerlond, for his stallacion — to be set up at Wyndsor in the Kynges chappell." 74^a.

On the back is written, invertedly, (by Sir G. Dethick?)—

- "Dueties to be payd by Sir Androw Dudley, Knight of the noble Order of the Garter, as hereafter follet." 74^b.

See also art. 9.

3. Sir GILBERT DETHYKE'S copy of a warrant for the delivery of a buck to him, out of Beddyngton Park in Surrey. (Petworth, 26 July 1552.) 75^a.

- Bill for hatchments provided for "Sr Andrew Dudley." 75^b.

4. "These things following to be prepared by the paynter," for the funeral of a nobleman. 76^a.

5. Account of the election of Sir Andrew Dudley and Sir William Pa[u]llett, 24 Apr. 35 Hen. VIII., and of their installation. 78^a.

- "A^o RR. Henrici viij. xxxv^{to}. Partission maied at Westmenster palece, for St Georges day," among the Officers of Arms, including "Lyon of Scotteland." 78^b.

A contemporary paper, in a rude hand.

6. "Particion mad att Westmester palae of the criacion monaye of ij erles [of Wiltshire and Bedford,] and of their ij gowannes." (19 Jan. 1549, 3 Edw. VI.) 79^a.

- Original agreement relative to partitions, then made; and signed by THO. HAWLAY, Clar., WILL. HERVE, Norroy, CHARLES WRIOTHESLEY*, Windsor, and by York. 79^b.

* This memorandum was written by him.

7. Sir G. DETHICK'S Bill "for my lord admyraull." 80^a.

Indorsed, "The chardges of the enstallacion of the L. W. Howard." It is noted as paid at Windsor, 31 Jan. 1554. Some memoranda are written on the back, where also appears the direction of a letter to Garter's wife at his house in Frydaystrete.

8. Bill "For the making of hatchementes* for th'erle of Rutland, the Lo. Cobham, the Lo. Scrope." 81^a.

* The latter part of this indorsement is by Ley's hand. It is noted by Clarendieux COOKE as paid 20 Apr. 1585.

9. "Dewtyes to be payde by Sr Androwe Dudeley, Knight of the noble Ordre of the Garter as hereafter folowethe." 82^a.

A more exact copy of art. 2, (f. 74^b.) on a small paper to which the next is attached.

10. Bill and receipt for fees, paid by the Earl of Rutland and Lords Cobham and Scroope, and received of Clar. Cooke by WILLIAM DAVE, Dean of Windsor; with COOKE'S note thereto. (15 Apr. 1585.) 82^a.

11. Clar. COOKE'S account of fees "Paid by the Duke of Norff. at his instalation at Windsor the thierd of June 1559;" also by the Marquis of Northampton, the Earl of Rutland, and Lord Robert Dudley. 84^{ab}.

With the following note by COOKE:—"This bill was thus payed by the Lord Cobham and the Lord Scrope at Wynsor where they were instalated the xvth of Aprill 1585." (84^b.) It is indorsed by Ley. (85^b.)

12. "Thesse parcelles foloing prepared for therle of Sussex. Knight of the — Garter, and was payd." 86^a.

"Thes thinges prepared for the Kinges Matie." 86^b.

Some other notes are on the back of this paper; seemingly written by COOKE.

13. "Dewties to be paid by a Knight of the Garter at his enstallacion." 87^a.

Hatchments provided "For the Viscounte Montague." 87^b.

Corrected by COOKE.

14. "Fees payde by the Erle of Rutland at the tyme of his installation at Windesore, the 15 of Aprill, 1585." Also, "The charges of his hachementes prepared for the said installation, and payd at the same tyme." 88^a.

Written by GLOVER, and corrected by Cooke, who thus indorsed it,—“Fyes payd at Wynsor by the Erle of Rutland the Lord Cobham and the Lord Scrope 1585.”

15. "Fees to be payde by the Lord Cobham at his installation at Windesore." 89^a.

"The charges of the Lord Scroopes hachementes provyded for his installation at Windesore. 1585." 89^a.

Written by GLOVER, and corrected by Cooke. This art. and the next are indorsed by Ley.

16. "Fees payde at Wynsor by the Erle of Rutland the Lord Cobham [and] the Lord Scrope by his deputye, the xvth of Aprill A^o 1585." Also, "Charges for hachementes." 90^b.

By Clar. COOKE'S hand, as also the next article.

17. Two accounts for hatchments provided by COOKE. 91^a.

18. "The ordinarye fees of the Garter," payable to the Officers of the Order. 92^a.

Written about the time of Charles I.

19. ASHMOLE'S account of "The Registers fees for the Knights installed since [Charles II.] the Soveraignes retorne." 93^a.

"Fees due to the Register of the Garter at the installacōn of Knights, according to their degrees." 93^b.

20. "Account of monies received and payed for plate" for Windsor chapel. 94^a.

Partly written by Dr. BRUNE RYVES, and thus indorsed on f. 95^b.

21. "The bill of M^r Clarencieux and Somersettes charges defrayed in transportacions cariages and posthorses, in his iourney to France, wayting on the Erle of Derby." 96^a.

23. GLOVER'S copy of a bill for Clarencieux Cooke's wages and diet, and his own, in attending the Earl of Derby to present the Order to Henry III. King of France. 98^a.

VII. Copies and draughts of Patents, Warrants, and other Letters Royal, granted on behalf of the Order of the Garter, to heralds and others:—

1. "The copie of the privie seale for the diettes and transportacōns of Clarencieux [Cooke] and Somerset [Glover,] into France, anno 1584." (Greenwich, 28 Jan. 27 Eliz.) 100^a.

Written by a different hand, and thus indorsed by GLOVER on f. 101^b.

2. (1.) Account, subscribed "R. GLOVER, Somerset," for allowanees for Sir Gilbert Dethicke, Garter, and himself, attending Lord Willoughby of Eresby to Frederic King of Denmark with the Order. 102^a.

(3.) GLOVER'S separate account for his own allowances. 104^a.

All neatly written by GLOVER.

3. Warrant for the supplying of Glover with "fowre goode and hable post horses," in his journey with the Earl of Derby. (Greenwich, 20 Jan. 1584.) 108^a.

Fair copy by GLOVER.

*4. Letters of EMANUEL PHILIBERT Duke of Savoy, testifying his oath to keep the statutes of the Garter; and of his Secretary, JEAN FRA. ROFFIER, attesting the delivery of the insignia of the Order by Lord Clinton and Say; both in French. (6 Nov. 1554.) 110^a, 110^b.

A contemporary copy.

5. Commission of EDWARD IV. to Henry Earl of Essex and the Lords Berners and Wenlok, for the installation of John Earl of Worcester, William Lord Hastings, John Lord Montagu, William Lord Herbert, and Sir John Asley, by proxy. (Lincoln, 21 Mar. anno 2.) 112^{ab}.

In French. "Extracted out of [fol. 100. b. of] one of ye Registers of the Colledge of Windesore, (wch booke was reduced into forme by James Denton, steward of the sd Colledge,) July, 1627, par moy LE NEVE, York."

"Litere regis Hen: quinti ad Decanum et Canonicos, pro hospitacione magnatum et aliorum venientium ad castrum suum de Windesore cum Imperatore Sigismundo." (Lambeth, 18 Maii, anno 7.) 112^b.

From "fol. 70." In French. See also No. 1125, vi. art. 4.

Notes of a charter of Edward IV. for calling the Warden 'Dean' of Windsor (an. 19.), and of his exemplification of an act of parliament relating to the Poor Knights, (21 Feb. an. 22.) 113^a.

At "fol. 84" and "74" of the same register.

6. Commission of Q. ELIZABETH, appointing [George] Earl of Shrewsbury and William Dethick, Garter, ambassadors to bear the insignia of the Order to Henry [IV.] King of France; in French. (Greenwich, 6 Sept. 1596, an. 38.) 114^a.

Printed in Ashmole's Institution, App. lxi.

Another commission appointing the same Earl the Queen's lieutenant for the celebration of S. George's feast. (22 Apr. 1585, an. 27.) 114^b.

"Eyther of these instruments had a seale, the portrature [w]hereof is heare described" in a neat tricking, by an old hand.

- 7, 8. Draught of circular letters requiring the attendance of the Knights at the installation of [Adolphus] Duke of Holstein, and of [Charles IX.] King of France; dated respectively 12 Sept. an. 3, and ... Jan. an. 8 Eliz. 116^a, 117^a.
9. "A note or instrum^t to declare how the difference was desided touching the subscription of the title under the armes of her Mat^{ie} etc. and the King of France," Henry III., subscribed by the Earl of Derby, Sir Edw. Stafford, and "R. Clarensieulx." (Paris, 3 Mar. 1584.) 118^a.

The title is indorsed on f. 119^b.

10. CAROLI I. Commissio, qua Guil. Boswell et Joh. Philipot, Somersettus, legati facti sunt ad Carolum Comitem Palatinum, Ordinis insigniis decorandum. (Ebor. 28 Maii, 1633.)* Una cum certificatione per eosdem, de rei gestæ veritate, 25 Julii, eodem anno. 120^{ab}.

* Printed in Ashmole's Institution, App. lxxiv. This copy is subscribed with a note of the Count's installation by proxy; and indorsed "For Sr Thomas Row chancelor of the Garter."

VIII. Papers relating to Investitures and Installations of Knights of the Garter; and to proceedings in Chapters of the Order:—

1. "Her folouthe the orther and the maner of the stalacion of the lord Henry Fitz Roy to be Knight of the Garter. M^d the yere of ourc Lorde God a M^l. v^c. xxv. the xxv day of Junc." 122.

* Sir W. Paulet, Lord Saint-John; Sir John Russell, Lord Russell; "Maister Wiliam a Pare, Lord Par." This paper is by a contemporary hand: a different narrative is in No. 862, art. 25.

2. Characteristic notes of Sir Robert Knolles, Ralph Earl of Westmoreland, the Emperor Sigismund, and Sir Reynold Bray; etc. by Sir G. DETHICK. 123^a.

Written on the back of a—

Letter signed by "G. COBHAM," authorizing Thomas Alston to admit the bearer as farmer of his land at Wycroft. (Calais, 20 Feb. 1546.) 123^b.

3. Description of the ceremonies "At the enstala-cion of S^r John Rowssell, Lord Rowssell, and S^r Thomas Chene, tresowrer of the Kynges onora-byll howssold and lord wardene of the v. porttes, and S^r Will^m Kyngsston controwler of the Kynges honorable howsse, whyche whas in Wyndessore the 17 day of May 1539, and the xxxjth of the Kynges rayn Henry the 8." etc. 124—5.

Written by a contemporary hand. On the back are written by the same hand as f. 78^b—

List of the Knights' stalls "As the saith* in Wyn-sowr castell the 17 day of Maye the xxxj yere of the rayn of Kyng Henry the viij^o." 125^b.

* That is, As they sat.

Notes of fees shared by the Officers of arms, "Att the partyssion in Wynssowr." 125^b.

4. Notes of the election of a Knight of the Garter at A chapter holdync at Hamptone corte, one myghellmas eve, 5 Edw. VI.,—of the celebra-tion of "the order of the Frenche Kyng" on the next day,—of the Lord Darcy's installation on 9 Oct., and the creations of peers on 11 Oct. in the same year. 126^a.

A contemporary paper.

5. Fragment of a narrative of the celebration of "S. Georges feaste, kept at Windsor, A^o. 1563." 128^{ab}.

The sheet thus indorsed contains the latter part of a rough draught, by Clar. COOKE? On the second leaf is the draught of—

A lover's ditty, who conceals the name of his mis-tress: beg. If onchly sight suffycc. (8 st. of 4.) 129.

By a different hand, of the same age.

6. Pedigree showing the descent of "Guido Ubaldo Duke of Urbin, [who] resigned y^e dukdom of Camarin unto pope Paulus 3. 1579." 130^b.

A contemporary paper, bound invertedly.

7. Account of a "Chapitre holden at Grenewyche on saterday the xxiiijth day of Apryll being seynt Georges day, by the Sovereigne of the Ordre of the Garter:" and of one "holden at Westmester palice upon sonday the viijth of September," 1 Edw. VI. 131^a, 131^b.

8. Lists of Knights present at chapters of the Order, 23 April, 1 Edw. VI., on 23 Apr. and 8 Dec. anno 3, on 23 Apr. anno 4, 22 and 24 Apr. anno 5, 28 Sept. anno 5, and 22 Apr. 6 Edw. VI. f. 132—3.

9. Notes of proceedings at divers chapters of the Order, annis 3—6 Edw. VI. f. 134—5.

Articles 7—9 seem to be in the handwriting of Clarencieux COOKE.

- *10. Narrative of the investiture of King Philip with the insignia of the Order, (beg. On Fryday the iij^d daye of August in the first [and second] year of the reign of our sovereigne queene Mary,) with a short journal of court affairs from 4 Aug. to 23 Dec. 1552. f. 136—7.

A contemporary paper, seemingly written by Sir GILBERT DETHICK: part of each leaf has been eaten away.

IX. Papers relating to the Officers of the Order:—

1. "The petition of [JOHN DAVENANT] y^e Ld. Bishop of Salisbury," requesting the restoration of the office of Chancellor of the Order to his episcopal see of Salisbury; read "In chapter held at Whitehall by y^e Souverayne, 18 Ap: 1637." 138^a.

The original: very neatly written in a small hand, but not by the Bishop (compare art. 11); and thus indorsed by Sir Thomas Rowe.

2. Letters patent of EDWARD IV., in French, whereby he granted the office of Chancellor of the Garter to Richard Beauchamp, Bishop of Salisbury, and his successors. (10 Oct. anno 15.) 139^a.

"Extract. e confirmacione diversarum cartarum Episcopi Sarum facta sexto die Martij anno quarto regni domini Caroli Regis Anglie, sub magno sigillo Anglie, et penes nunc dominum Episcopum Sarum remanen." Certified by Francis Roberts, notary public. It is indorsed by H^p. DAVENANT, as containing "Proof of y^e 1. branch" of his petition; and by ASHMOLE, with this reference to the introlment, "Pat. 15 E. 4. par. 3, m. 18."

This paper and those which follow are the vouchers belonging to art. 10.

3. De officiis dignitatibus et privilegiis Prælati et Cancellarii quædam excerpta. 140^a.

Antient authorities "Concerninge the Chancellors wearinge the badge." 140^b.

This sheet is not indorsed; but it appears to have been used in relation to Davenant's claim.

4. "In Registro Nigro* Ordinis Garterij, inter alia sic &c. Statut' et ordinat' per Henricum octavum Regem Anglie, supremum Ordinis, anno regni decimo-quarto. Officium cancellarij." 142^{ab}.

* "Ex Lib: Nigro p: 234." (Ashmole's note.) This extract is certified by Gre: Baker, notary public; and is indorsed by DAVENANT thus:—"Proof of y^e 4 branch. A new order about y^e office, made by Henrye the eighth."

5. "Ex [eodem] Libro Nigro Ordinis &c." parecbolæ duæ, sub annis 19 Edw. IV. et 22 Hen. VII. de officio Cancellarii. 144^a.

Severally attested by the same notary; and indorsed by DAVENANT—"Proof of y^e 2 branch. Bishops of Salisburie mentioned Chancellors of y^e Order."

6. Instrumentum, quo Thomas Shuter not. pub. attestatus est se vidisse chartam Edwardi IV. de concessione off. Canc. Episcopo Sar. sub magno sigillo R. Eliz. et R. Caroli I. confirmatam. 146^a.

Indorsed by DAVENANT—"Proof of y^e 3 branch. The letters patents of Edw. 4th confirmed."

7. De præcedentia stipendioque D. Franciseo Crane, Cane. concessis, 22 Apr. et 5 Nov. 1629, prout "In actis honoratissimi Ordinis &c. inter alia, habetur." 148^a.

Extracted from p. 49 and p. 54 of the Liber Ruber, (compare No. 1129, pp. 42, 47,) by the same excellent hand as No. 814. Indorsed, "Copie of acts concerning the Chancelrs place."

8. "Reasons and authorities, drawn from the antient statuts, for the Prelate and Chancellor" to wear the robes and other insignia antiently used. 160^{ab}.

9. Statement "Concerning the Prelate and Chancellor, for wearing the eschechon of St George, and of the robes of the Chancellor." 161^a.

Written and indorsed by the same hand as art. 8.

10. "Verification of y^e petiçōn"* of Bishop DAVENANT, summing up and proving the allegations contained therein, by the Sovereign's desire. 164^{ab}.

* So indorsed.

11. "Letter from Jo: [DAVENANT Bishop of] Sarum," to Sir Thomas Roe, Chancellor of the Garter, desiring to know whether any more evidence were required beyond what he had sent to the King in support of his claim, and whether his presence were required at the next chapter of the Order. (Salisbury, 28 Aug. 1637.) 166^a.

Original, with the Bishop's signet at f. 167^b.

12. "Matter concerninge the place and precedency of the Chauncellor of the Order of the Garter." 169.

"President for a commission for an installacōn:" that of the Earls of Derby and Pembroke. (17 May, 1574.) 169.

"President of a commission for sendinge the Garter to a sovraigne prince:"—

(2.) To Gustavus Adolphus King of Sweden. (24 June, 1627.) 170^a.

"Observations out of the Statutes of the Order, of the Chauncellor." 171^{ab}.

"President for a commission for a leiftenant of the Order, for keeping St George's feast." (22 Apr. 1590.) 171^b.

"President of a letter signifying the election of a K^t of the Garter." 172^a.

"President of a letter from the Sovereigne to a leiftenant of the Order, to accept y^e excuses of Knights absent dispensed by y^e King;" and of one "to a nobleman appointed to be leiftenant of the Order." 172^b.

These three sheets seem to have been written by Sir W. LE NEVE.

13. List of stalls at Windsor, with remarks on the duties of Garter and various ceremonies of the Order; by Sir W. LE NEVE. 174—5^b.

14. "Humble remembrances and propositions presented to the consideration of his Matie: Sovereigne of the most noble Ordre of the Garter, in chapter held at Whitehall 17, 18, and 19th Appril, 1637;" by Sir W. LE NEVE. 176—7.

Fairly written by another hand, but with additions by him.

15. "Coype of y^e warrant to M^r: Atturnye for drawing a grant for 1200^l. per an: for y^e expence of ye Order of ye Gatar: 23 Ap: 1635." 178^a.

By the same hand as the foregoing article, and thus indorsed on f. 179^b.

16. "A vindication of his Mat^{ie}: in the matter off the Black Rodd;" including the proceedings "At a chapter held at Oxford, Jan^y: 17th: 1644;" by Sir W. LE NEVE. 180—1^b.

Only the additions at the end are written by his own hand.

17. Table of "Unlawfull fees demaunded and taken by M^r Garter, of ye Knyghtes of ye most noble Order of the Garter, at their installacōns at Wyndsore;" together with the lawful fees, set down by RALPH BROOKE, York. 182^a.

Neatly written by his hand, and indorsed "To the right ho^y ye Knyghtes of ye most noble Ordere of the Garter."

X. Miscellaneous papers relating to the Order of the Garter:—

1. Orders made in chapter of the Knights, that Sam. Hull should be restored to his place as one of the Poor Knights, that Henry Browne should be admitted as one, and that the Knights Commissioners should fill up vacancies among the Poor Knights. (24 June, 16 Jac. I.) 184^a.

By the same hand as ff. 166—9.

2. Report unto Charles II. from BRUNE RYVES*, appointed by the King "to find out what ensignes and ornaments yo^r sacred Mat^{ie} is to give to every Knight of the Order." 186^{ab}.

* Dean of Windsor and Register, whose autograph is subscribed to this fairly written copy.

3. Decees in "C[h]apiter of ye Order, [24] Sept. 1628," about preventing disorder in S. George's chapel, contributing money to supply books and plate, and the oblations of the Knights. 188^{ba}.

Seemingly by Dr. CHR. WREN's hand, with his observations: see also No. 1111, v. art. 31.

4. "Chapter decree of ye King and Lords, for wearing ye armes of ye Order upon their cloaks. Apr: 27. Car: 2^o." 189^a.

Fairly written: indorsed by Sir Tho. Rowe.

5. The order passed in the House of Lords, that the Lords who had been summoned to keep S. George's feast at York should attend the House. (22 Mar. 1641—2.) 190^a.

An original copy, signed by "Jo: Browne Cleric' Parliamentum," as also is art. 18. It belongs to No. 1132, art. 16.

6. "Order for installation of ye Prince, [received] from ye E: Marashall, 1637." 192^a.

Thus indorsed by Sir Tho. Rowe. (194^b). Between the two leaves of this sheet is fixed a 4^o. leaf containing—

Memoranda and queries about this ceremony, by Sir THO. ROWE, Chancellor. 193^a.

7. "Orders to bee observed att the Court on the even of St George, the day of the feast of St George, and the morrowe after." 195^a, 196^a.

A fair copy, of the time of Charles I.

8. Proofs from antient records that the manor of Shawe, in Berkshire, 'was parcell of the receiptes of the Castle of Windesore, and answered by the Connestable.' 197^{ba}.

Written in the time of Q. Eliz.: it is bound upside-down, as also the next leaf.

9. Notes, of the abuses committed by one 'Barker tenant to ye L^dship of Aunesty in ye county of Coventry' (Warwick), of leases of some of the Colleges' estates, and of the prebends; also references to many names of places in an old lease-book. 198^{ba}.

10. "Breve instruction for the Installacō." of the Earls of Essex, and Ormond, and Sir Chr. Hatton; by Sir W. SEGAR, Garter. 199^a.

On one of the folds of this sheet, at the end, is more fairly written (invertedly)—

The oath administered to a K. G. 200^b.

11. "The first robes of ye Order, and ye allowances." 201^a.

Order in chapter for the abolition of Edward the Sixth's Statutes. '1 Mar.' 201^b.

This sheet is written by Sir THO. ROWE, and thus indorsed by him:—"Notes out of other bookes concerning ye Order."

12. Sir JAMES PALMER's arguments for the propriety of dispensing with the installation of the Duke of York and Prince Rupert. 203—4.

13. "Humble remembrances and propositions presented to the consideration of his Mat^{ie}: Sovereigne of the — Order of the Garter, in chapter held at Whitehall, 17, 18, and 19th Apr: 1637." 205—6.

14. Sir THOMAS ROWE's minutes of "A chapter held at Yorke, upon ye 12 Sept. 1640;" and draught of a dispensation then ordered. 207^a.

15. Proceedings "At a chapter held in Whitehall, the 26 day of Febru: 1640." 209^{ab}.

A draught, corrected by Rowe, and written by the same hand as his letter in No. 1132, art. 6.

16. "A list of those Lords that attended his Mat^y. at St. Georges feast, October the 8th. 1639." 211^a.

17. Letter sent by the Earl of PEMBROKE to the Earl of Warwick and eleven other peers, requiring their attendance on the King at the Prince's installation at Windsor. (14 May 1638.) 211^b.

Copied by Ashmole from the "Lord Chamberlaines Booke of Warrants, ex anno 1634 ad an: 1641, pag. 252."

18. Order of the House of Lords, 22 Mar. 1641. 213^a.

Duplicate of art. 5, signed in like manner.

19, 20. "The 'Tables at Wyndsor' recording the succession of Knights of the Garter. 215—6, 217—8.

Two foul and obscure sheets, written by Sir GILBERT DETHICK: the former is much interlined, and the latter is written in columns; one headed—"Ce sont les noms des premieres founders du gartiere;" the other—"Et les noms des aultres qui sont venus en leurs lieux." They are, however, only duplicate copies of the first table: see No. 1119, vii.

21. Names of the Knights of the Garter in the reigns of Edw. III., Ric. II., Hen. IV. and V., in the order of their dignities. 219—20^b.

22. "Thesse be the names of thosse that their plates be myssinge, accordinge to the plates and stalles on the Kynges syde" (221^a), and of those whose "plates [are] lakyng on the Emperours syde." 221^b—2.

Written in the middle of the sixteenth century, as also the foregoing and following.

23. A larger list of plates wanting on "The prynces syde." 223^{ba}.

24. Letter from G. CAREW, Dean of Windsor*, for a robe to be delivered to And. Stevenson for his master the Earl of Warwick; with a note of the receipt thereof. (19—20 Apr. 1565.) 224.

* "To my verie frende Mr Alleine one of ye prebendaries of Wyndsof, and ye rest of my brethren ther."

25. A short account of the life and actions of King Edward III. and of his son Edward Prince of Wales, by Sir W. LE NEVE*. 225^a, 226^a.

* Compare f. 112.

26. Styles, and blazon of the arms*, on the plates in the second, third, and fourth Stalls on the King's side; by Sir W. LE NEVE. 227—232^b.

* Some are roughly tricked.

27. "A remonstrance [or report] made by Sr W^m SEGAR kt: Garter, joyned in com^w with the right hoble: the Lo: Carleton, Emb^r: to — Henry Prince of Orange, for present^s him with the garter, 1626." 233—4^b.

A corrected draught, containing many interlineations partly by Ashmole's hand (probably collations), who prefixed this title, and wrote the next leaf as an addition or supplement.

28. An extract from the Herald's MS. "L. 18. or parte of Sr W. SEGAR's employ^t to Hen: Pr: of Aurange." (30 May—1 June.) 235^a.

29. "A breif relacon concerning the reception of the—Order of the Garter by—Henry de Nassau Prince of Orange;" by Sir W. SEGAR. 236^{ab}.

Different from art. 27, and more fairly written by the same (his own) hand, though a draught.

30. Preface, dedicating to King James I. "the Armes and Stiles of those' Knights of the Garter who had been elected in his reign 'untill this present yeare—1619; which fyuisheth my whole woorke, or Chronology of all' etc. 237^{ab}.

Seemingly imperfect. Sir W. SEGAR's own MS. of his 'woorke' to the year 1607, (of which a supplement is here meant,) is No. 779.

31. An account of the rewards given to Sir W. SEGAR by Christian IV. King of Denmark, the Duke of Holstein, and Grave Maurice, when invested Knights of the Garter. 238^a.

Fairly written by Segar.

32. Plan of "The contents" of "The Garter Book, or booke of presidents and ceremonies concerning the noble Order." 239^{ab}.

From this rough draught it appears that Sir W. SEGAR designed to perform and establish the practice of a part of Garter's sworn duty, by recording the noble deeds of the Knights, in a large 'vellum' book: art. 34 was probably a specimen. The rest of this sheet is also in SEGAR's hasty writing.

Epitaph on John Stowe. 239^b.

Playne honest John surnamed Stowe lyes here; &c. Imperfect, consisting of 9 lines.

Form of installing a K. G. (A fragment.) 240^a.

Style of Thomas Earl of Exeter, in French. 240^b.

Fragment of the case of Sir W. Segar, appointed Garter in the stead of Sir W. Dethick, who was deprived. 240^b.

33. A short essay on the 'antiquitye of the Order,' the 'invention of the garter,' and 'the qualities of the persones' who are Knights thereof. 241—2.

Seemingly by SEGAR's hand: but the vulgar opinion concerning the lady's garter, received by him in art. 30, is here controverted.

34. The life, character, actions, and issue of Robert Earl of Salisbury, K. G.; by Sir W. SEGAR. 243—4.

This article was published in the Gentleman's Magazine for February 1833, vol. ciii. part i. p. 121—2.

35. Description of "The cote of armes of Ed. 4." and his banner, at Windsor*; observations "upon my view of Windesor Chapple, A^o D'ni 1627;" and other notes relating to the Garter and knighthood; by Sir W. LE NEVE. 245—246^b.

* Hence Ashmole copied the article at f. 3 of No. 1110.

36. Garter's duty in conveying the Order of the Garter to a foreign Prince; a draught by Sir W. LE NEVE. 247^a, 248^a.

37. Catalogue of Records (books, rolls, etc.) "In the Chamberlaynes office of the Treasury of the Exchequer, in a box concerning ye Orders of St George [and] St Michael." 249^a.

One page of a sheet, written fairly in the time of James I.

38. Fragment of a Dialogue between Eust. and Am. about S. George the Martyr; by EDMUND BOLTON. 251, 250.

A full sheet, fairly and closely written; with many corrections. The leaves are transposed.

XI. Papers relating to the College of the King's free Chapel at Windsor:—

1. "A copie of a grant that no singing men or boies are to be taken from Windesor," made by Q. Elizabeth, under the privy seal. (8 Mar. an. 2.) 252.

An open sheet thus indorsed: this copy is almost contemporary.

2. "Carta regum Ricardi et Henrici, de oblacionibus et allec' et gardino." (16 Oct. 1399.) 253^a.

This patent is in the name of Henry, though dated in the xvijo (for 22 or more properly 23) of Ric. II. and first of Hen. IV. (See also No. 1124, i. art. 6.) On the same open sheet is added—

Decretum in Ordinis capitulo, 10 Feb. 19 Edw. IV. quod Commilitones jurarent sese Collegium S. Georgii defensuros. 253^a.

"Ex Registro Nigro—pag: 146." et 312.

3. "Rents apoynted for the Kn^{ts} of Winsor, now cald the new lands." 254^b.

This small paper is indorsed—"A rent rowle of the poor knight lands:" it is by the same hand as the next.

4. A nameless letter "for Sr James Palmer" about the rents of the Poor Knights' lands, and complaining that they were received and withholden by the prebendaries. 255^a.
5. Case with "Mr Tanfeldes opinion of the adwoson of the Church of Westyldsley" in Berks. 256—7.

On the back of this sheet (so indorsed) are notes of the points in question, and of evidences received of Mr. Webb to be considered.

6. Act in a chapter of the Dean and Canons of Windsor, 3 Nov. 1587, settling to each "the severall allotmentes and balles" thenceforward to belong to his portion of the rents. 258—9^b.

A fair copy written shortly after, the third prebend being that of "Mr Reve, now Mr Nowell;" three others also had changed names.

7. "Computus Simonis Aden novæ dotationis a^o 1565. id est anno reginæ sexto usque ad annum septimum, factus coram DD: Militibus Garterij." (260^a*) scilicet de solutionibus, et allocationibus. 261—2^b.

* Indorsement written on a half leaf prefixed to this sheet, which is a fragment of the draught.

- XII. "Liber recept' GODFRIDI GOODMAN senescalli novæ dotationis liberæ Capellæ regiæ de Winsor pro uno anno integro, viz. a festo annunciationis b. Mariæ virginis anno 1624 ad idem festum proxime sequens anno 1625." 264^a—7^a.

Occupying only 4 (alternate) pages of the 10 leaves which compose this book: on the fifth page are—

- Sundry memoranda about money, with the autographs of Tho. Frith and Jo. Elby. 263^a.

At the end are written invertedly—

- "Our lady day quarter rents received by Mr Frith," with a receipt signed by Thomas Some. 272^b.

Pecuniæ illo anno solutæ. 271^b.

No. 1114.

VOLUME XVIII. consists of eleven MSS. of different descriptions, bound together; beside fair blank paper at each end.

The first consists of 42 leaves, very fairly written, probably for the use of the Chancellor of the Order, Sir RICHARD FANSHAW, by whom ff. 11^b and 15^{ab} seem to have been written, as also the note "For Mr. Ashmole" on the first leaf.

- I. 1. "Copie of the Register's* patent" of office, dated 20 Jan. 1660—1. f. 2^a.

* Brune 'Reeves' D. D. or Ryves.

2. "Copie of the Poore Kn^{ts}: patent;" or the form with blanks. 3^a.

3. Letter to Knights elect (namely, to the Marquis of Ormond and seven others), signifying their election, and appointing the celebration of the feast of S. George. (19 Feb. 1660—1.) 4^a.

4. "Warrant for 17 collars of the Order;" to Sir Gilb. Talbot. 5^a.

This title is written by Ashmole: this and the three next are of the same date as art. 3.

5. Warrant to the Earl of Sandwich, for the Pre-late's and Chancellor's robes. 6^a.

6. Another, for 17 robes and as many garters. 7^a.

7. Warrant to Sir G. Talbot, for "five spare G[e]orges with as many Garters." 8^a.

8. Letter from Sir RICH. FANSHAW, Chancellor, to the Earls of Berkshire, Salisbury, and Northumberland, giving notice of the feast of S. George and their installation. (13 Mar. 1660—1661.) 9^a.

9. Warrant to John Viscount Mordant, Constable of Windsor Castle, to deliver the house therein appointed for the Chancellor of the Order, to Sir R. Fanshaw. (24 Feb. 1660—1.) 10^a.

10. Warrant to the Earl of Sandwich, for the delivery of cloth of gold, velvet, etc. to Garter for banners and hatchments. (18 Feb. 1660—1.) 11^a.

11. Proceedings "At a chapter held in the Sovereigne's bedchamber at Whitehall, the 20th of Feb: 1660, and in the 13th yeare of his Ma^{ties} reigne." 11^b—12, 13^a, 14^a, 15^{ab}.

Including the answer of Alex. Thaine, suitor for the office of the Black Rod, against the petition of the Gentlemen-ushers, (12^a) and the petition of Capt. Ro. Cave, one of the Poor Knights, 15^b.

12. "Copie of the Chancellor his patent," of office; namely, Sir Rich. Fanshaw. (20 Jan. 1660—1.) 16^a, 17^a, 18^b.

13. "Copie of ye patent for ye Black Rodd," granted to Sir John Ayton. (23 Feb. 1660—1.) 19^a, 20^a.

14. Warrant to the Earl of Sandwich, for a robe and garter to the Earl of Bristol. (14 Mar. 1660—1.) 21^a.

15. Warrant to Sir G. Talbot, for a collar for the same Earl. 22^a.

16. Letter from the Countess of Bristol, requesting Sir R. Fanshaw to be installed as proxy for her husband, then beyond the sea. ("Queene Street, March the 13th 1660.") 23^b.

17. Commission granted to Sir R. Fanshaw, to act as the Earl of Bristol's proxy. (16 Mar. 1661.) 24^a, 25^a.

18. Dispensation for want of a sufficient number of Knights to make a full chapter on 16 January, and for want of mantles. (10 Jan. 1660—1.) 26^a.

19. Another, for 19 February. (18 Feb. 1660—1.) 27^a.

*II. Mary "The Quenes Ma^{te} pro grace to Wynchester, from her manner of Rychemond, untyll her retorne w^t her highnes husband [Philip] the Kings Ma^{te} after the maryage solempnyed at Wynchester to London, and through to there palleyes of Westmester." ff. 43^a, (pp. 16) 44—51^b.

Fairly written, by the hand of one of the Heralds (as it seems), but not by Garter, because the name of the Duke of Savoy, K. G. elect, was omitted at p. 14 until it was inserted by Ashmole. At the end is a half page, written by an other contemporary hand, containing—

"The names [of the] Lords that comme in wth the Prynce of Spayne an^o 1554." 52^a.

III. 1. A full narrative of the celebration of S. George's feast, and all other Ceremonies of the Order of the Garter, from 22 Apr. 1564 to 24 Apr. 1567. ff. 54—69^b.

This MS. is closely written in a hand much like that of the foregoing MS.: it has been foliated '17—32' partly by Ashmole; who superscribed this title—"St Georges Feast, held at Windsor." The first words are—Saint Georges eve saterday in A^o 6 Eliz. Regine 1564, aboute iij of the cloke in the afternoone.

IV. "Somme of y^e legacies of King Henry ye Eight his will." 70—1^b, 74—5.

The two sheets thus indorsed (on 73^b) are fairly written in a large old hand, as that of Sir G. Dethick: between them is an other sheet containing some of the—"Articles of K. Henry the viij. will" relating to Windsor College. 72^a.

In a more running character, by the same hand.

*V. R. EDWARDI IV. literæ testimoniales pro Roberto Champlayn milite, quibus ipsum in R. Matthiæ bellis contra 'teucros' vel Turcas multa vulnura damnaque diu passum, et jam reversurum in Hungariam, omnibus commendat. (23 Apr. anno 19, 1479.) 76^a.

A folding sheet of vellum, with a large illuminated capital. It seems to have been the original under the privy seal (which is lost), but that the lower half, which is unusual, is occupied by—

Written in Latin, along the side of the translation, but hardly legible. At the foot is—

Benedictio brevis benefactoribus ejus dicenda. ibid.

Half of the border turned up for the seal, has been cut off, and the signature is under the other part. This document is very much worn.

VI. Fragmentum indulgentiæ alicujus eidem Roberto Champlayn concessæ. 77^a.

The upper half of this parchment has been cut off.

VII. JOHANNIS Episcopi Lincolnensis literæ credentiales, ipsum Robertum Champlayn et indulgentias papales ei concessas, commendantes. (Londini, 23 Nov. 1482.) 78^a.

P. SIXTI IV. indulgentiæ bulla, quod qui pecuniam alicui militi pro Matthia Rege Hungariæ contra Turcas pugnaturus dederit, suum eligendi confessorem haberet licentiam. ibid.

Benedictio in tales benefactores eorum pronuntianda. ibid.

Written in a very small character on a folding sheet of vellum; and attested by the subscription of RICHARD GRENE, N.P. registrar of the archdeaconry of Northampton.

VIII. FRIDERICI III. Imperatoris Romani literæ de credentia et salvo conducto, eidem R. Champlayn concessa. ('Greiz in Karinthie,' 30 Nov. 1479.) 79^a.

The original, on a folding sheet of vellum, without the seal. A copy of an earlier safe conduct, by the same Emperor, is at f. 82.

The other credentials and other documents, collected by this mendicant Knight, are fairly written in a book consisting of 19 leaves of vellum, whereof ff. 88, 91, and 93 were not numbered by the old hand which numbered the others, they being blank. viz.—

IX. 1. Carmen ad Regem Henricum, quo illius favorem senex et supplex miles petit, ROBERTUS CHAMPLAYN: inc. Argus open prestat divine claveger aule. (46 vv.) 80.

2. RENATI Regis Jerusalem, Siciliae, Arragoniæ etc. literæ credentiales pro eodem milite, cum 3 servitoribus et 4 equis. (Andegaviæ, 6 Jan. 1463.) 80^b.

3. MATTHIE Regis Hungariæ literæ de salvo conducto eidem concessæ, ipsumque commendantes. ('Bachije' 26 Jan. 1465.) 81.

4. JERONOMI Archiep. Cretensis, et legati, amplæ literæ, eundem contra Turcas propugnatores commendantes. ('Bodare' 20 Jan. an. 1 Pauli II. Papæ.) 81^b.

5. FRIDERICI III. Imperatoris Romani literæ de salvo conducto, pro eodem. (Newstate, 31 Jan. 1465.) 82.

6. FRIDERICI et LODOVICI Comitum Pal. Rheni, literæ pro ejusdem salvo conducto. (Nuremberge, 20 Mar. 1465.) 82^b.

7. KAROLI Ducis Burgundiæ similes literæ. (5 Oct. 1466.) 83.

8. Judicum generalium ab Adulpho Archiep. Magunt. deputatorum, literæ, eundem commendantes, et ejus acta per septennium præteritum celebrantes; (Erfordiae, 10 Dec. 1481: f. 83^b—4, 85^a) atque recitantes—

9. P. PAULI II. bullam de commendatione militiæ sub Matthia Rege Hungariæ belligerantis, ac indulgentia benefactoribus eorum concessa. (Romæ, 1466.) 84—5.

10. MATTHIE Regis Hungariæ literæ testimoniales de eodem milite. 85^b.

Unfinished: different from art. 3. The rest of this page, and the three following, are vacant.

11. R. HENRICI [VII.] literæ patentes per quas Robertus Champlayn, miles, "unus Militum elemosine nostre infra Collegium nostrum sancti Georgii infra castrum nostrum de Wyndesore" constitutus est. (8 Dec. an. 1.) 87^b.

12. Ejusdem literæ ad Decanum et Capitulum de Windesore, quod ipsum admittant. (9 Dec. an. 1.) 87^b.
13. "Here aft^r folowithe þe fyrst fundacione of þe College of Wyndesore for Chanones and almes Knyghtes:" sc. R. EDWARDI III. literæ patentes, datæ 6 Aug. anno 22. (1348.) 88.
14. "Here folowith in Lateyne þe Statutes and Ordinaunce of þe Garter by the said most noble prince of blisset memory, EDWARD the thryde, of the fundacione of his said College of Wyndesore accordyng aft^r þe forsaide his noble l^rs patentes, the which fundacione was auctoriset and confermed by þe Pope of Rome Clement þe sixt for þe perpetuelle sustentacione of his said chanones and almes Knyghtes:" scil. Statutorum a WILLIELMO Ep. Winton. ordinatum, quædam capitula præcipua. 88^b—90^b.
- See complete copies in No. 778, 814, and 1124.
15. "In Memorandis Scaccarij de anno xlix^{no} E. iij^{ej} post conquestum, videlicet inter recorda de termino sancti Mich^{is} ro^{lo} tercio ex parte Remem^r Thes^r continetur sic. Will^m's Mugge Custos Capelle dⁿⁱ Regis de Windesore venit coram Baronibus xvij die Octobris" etc. 90^b.
- The record exhibited and recited, is thus intitled in the margin by a fair modern hand (by which also are the paragraphs of the foregoing art. intitled)—"Copia Cartæ, perfectæ fundacionis et confirmacionis Edw. 3^{ij}. pro canonicis et militibus de Wyndesore." It is incomplete, ending thus—favente D^{no} proponimus in futurum. Et qui et c^r.
16. "Here folowithe a decre zevens by þe Chancellor of England for þe said almes Knyghtes and othere of þe said College A^o secundo r^r R. secundi:" scilicet literæ ADAMI Menevensis Episcopi et Cancellarij Angliæ, datæ apud Westm. 8 Oct. 1378. f. 92^{ab}.
17. "Supplicacio d^{no} Regi ac suppremo concilio d^{norum} spiritualium et temporalium, ac comunitatum* sui Parliamenti, pro militibus de Wyndesore. Most high and moost excellent Prince chosen of God and owre redoubted souveraine lord." 93—4.
- * Sic pro communitatis. Ending thus—for the prosperous continuance and gracious reigne of youre most noble and royalle persone, their lyffe tymes duryng.
18. "Heere folowithe in English þe Statutes and ordinaunce of þe fulle highe and honorable Order of þe Garter for þer saide almez Knyghtes at W^{or}. Hit is to be remenbrid That the fulle noble and famous xp^{en} prince of blessid memoire kynge Edward þe ij^{de} the Kynnges noble progenitor and fyrst founder of the honorable ordre of the Gartere." 94—5.
- Ending thus—for the holle sustentacione of þe Custos or Deane Chanones Vicaries Clerkes Querestreis and xxvj^e. Knyghtes aforsaide et c^r
19. "Here folowith þe replicacōns made by þe said Knyghtes against þe forsaide inordinate acte. hoc dico partibus non vocatis. And where it is fulle ungodly surmitted by the said Chanones that þe forsaide pouere knyghtes—have agreed them selfe to be separate and divided." 95—6.

Ending thus—aforetymes made provided or ordeyned not withstandyng.

20. "Here folowithe particularly þe livelode of þe fyrst fundacōn" of the College of Windsor by Edward III. (with a short preface), and a list of the estates given by other benefactors, especially Edward IV.; with the sum total of all the 'yeerly resseytes and revenues.' 96—7.
21. "Here folowith the yeerly charges of þe said College of Wyndesow[r]e." 97^b.

These two articles were designed to show that there was enough provided to support the Poor Knights as well as the Canons, who had surreptitiously procured an act of Parliament to turn them out.

- X. 1. Lettre pretendue de Jesu Christ au Roy de France, "Esript au chasteau de charite de plus^{rs} environne et asseige en la sainte cite de Jh^l'rm le jour de conversion saint Pol, que ceulx qui la liront se convertissent seellees de n^re seel de la passion." 99—102.

Reg. imperfectly thus—de la quelle est Ja lecture prest de la porte toutesfois elle est gardee par les sains martirs Oxpiens. [Sic.]

- *2. "Coppie des l^rs envoiees par mons^r le Sen^{al}. [de Henault] au Roy D'angleterre," par son herault Werchun, pour requester license d'accomplir 'faiz d'armes' avec aucun chevalier de l'Ordre de la Jarretiere, le 4 jour de Fev. prochain venant, (22 Nov. 1408.) 102—4.
- *3. "Coppie des l^rs envoiees par le Roy D'angleterre [Henry IV.] a mons^r le Seneschal," s'excusant de ce propos. (Londres, 20 Feb. 1408—9.) 104^b—6^b.

But see the safe conduct of 23 Feb. in the Fœdera, VIII. 570—1.

4. "Responce par Mons^r le Sen^{al}. sur la lettre cy devant dictt." 106^b.

The ninth line is—moult de belles et gracieuses parolles tendans A These 8 leaves are a fragment of a MS. written in a fair French running hand of the time, with ample margins.

- XI. "Opus collectum et compilatum per venerabilem patrem THOMAM [DE BEKINTON] Bathon' et Wellen' Episcopum, ex literis, allegationibus, conclusionibus, convencionibus et tractatibus, nonnullisque alijs negotijs et materijs, concernentibus jus et titulum Regis Angliæ ad regnum et coronam Francie, cum alijs multis quæ ea occasione secuta sunt, incipit feliciter." ff. 107—180^b.

The first article in this collection of documents, is—"Epistola domini Benedicti Pape xij. Edwardo Regi Anglie tercio directa, dehortatoria, ne utatur nomine et armis Regis Francie" (3 non. Mar. an. 6.); and the sixteenth title (which is the first that is later than the time of Edward III.), is—"Sequuntur ea que inter excellentissimum principem dominum Henricum Dei gratia Regem Francie et Anglie, et Charolum consanguineum suum de Francia, pro bono pacis — [174^b] feliciter concludenda appunctuata sunt et communiter concordanda" etc. which ends abruptly thus, the MS. being defective at the end,—Item concordatum est quod omnes et singule persone—prestabant juramentum and with these catchwords—quod erga. Of this fair transcript (about the time of James I.) the first 31 leaves are in a good Italian hand; the rest (138—180) in small secretary-hand. It was copied (probably) either from the Cottonian MS. Tiberius B. XII. or from the Harleian 4763: see Sir H. Nicolases Journal of Beckington's embassy, p. lv—lvi; and No. 789.

No. 1115.

VOLUME XIX. of ASHMOLE'S Collections for the History of the Order of the Garter consists of a great number of papers, mostly single sheets, (to the number of 274 leaves) nearly all of which were written (at different times) with his own hand, except such as are here described otherwise, and ff. 43—52, 57—65, 102, which are printed.

1. Indentura inter Willielmum Wykeham Wintoniensem Episcopum, et Tho. Butiller Decanum cum capitulo Windesorensi, de ejusdem episcopi memoria in capella regia S. Georgii perpetuo facienda. (29 Maji 1402.) f. 1—2.

“Out of Arundell's Register in Windsor Coll:”

- * “Decretum Decani et capituli Collegij beate Marie et sancti Georgij de Wyndesore, factum ad perpetuam memoriam domini Cristoferi Urswyke quondam ejusdem collegij Decani.” (16 Apr. 1507.) 2—4.

“Ex eodem Regist: fo. 156. b.”

2. Answer to the inquiry “Whether St George's day be festum duplex,” containing curious observations on the celebration of that day in various places, collected from ancient Rituals; written by ASHMOLE, “16 Mar. 1668.” 5—6^b.

3. The legend of S. George, part of that of S. Mark, and those on the ‘Letanye,’ S. Chad, and the moveable feasts; extracted from ROBERT OF GLOUCESTER'S Metrical Legends. 7—11^b.

The references to the leaves of the MS. from which these were transcribed, show that it was No. 43 of this collection.

4. JAMES PACE'S balade to S. George, ‘myne only avower,’ celebrating the valiant acts of three of the Willoughbys: beg. O holy St George, O very champion. (8 st. of 7.) 13^{ab}.

At first copied “Out of an old roll in parchment;” and by Ashmole “Ex collectan: R: Glover Som' p. 42:” probably the Harleian MS. 245, where this curious poem is written at f. 107^b, by Glover's hand, who says that the roll was lent unto him by R. Lea, Portcullis, in Nov. 1583. It has been printed by Dugdale in his Baronage, II. 85—6; but without the author's name, which in both MSS. is subscribed with the usual prefix Quod.

5. “A memoriall of what the — King of England is to doe when he shall be sent for to the generall chapters of the Order of the Golden Fleece, whereof hee is a brother and companion.” 15^{ab}.

Containing the form of letters of proxy. Transcribed “Ex amplo codice MS. penes Joh'em Vinct: gen' pag: 177.” by the hand of Edw. Philipps. King Henry VII. was chosen a Knight of that Order, at Pentecost 1491.

6. Account of the variations in many successive grants of the Dukedom of Aquitain, and the Earldoms of Ponthieu and Monstroile, to Prince Edward, by his father Edward III. (?) 17—18^b.

A former sheet seems to be wanting: this is dated in short-hand, 29 Nov. 1659.

7. Account of the family and arms of Wrottesley, from “Sampson Erdsricks view of Staffordshire.” 19^a.

8. Draught of “A seutcheon hangg in the greate chamber in the Ship at Greenew^{ch},” with a copy of the Latin inscription recording the descent of Antonius de Almada, a Portuguese nobleman, in 1641. f. 20^a.

9. Acts in a chapter of the Order of the Garter, 27 Feb. 16 Edw. IV. f. 21^a.

Translated probably from the Black Book: but not by Ashmole's hand.

10. Sir W. DETHICK, Garter's, two dedications (in Latin) to Queen Elizabeth, prefixed to the names and arms of the 13 Knights of the Garter made by Edward VI. and of the 26 Founders of the Order; dated in 1596 and 1594. f. 23^a.

11. De torque quem de SS. vocant, excerpta ex Harpsfeild sæc. vii. cap. 24, e Geo. Wicelio* (ibi citato) in vita Simplicii et Faustini, et “Ex vet. Legend. MS: in bibl' Cotton.” 24^a.

* Historia de divis (sanctis?) tam vet. quam novi test. Basil. 1557, 8°. p. 254.

12. Annotationes, de etymo vocis Oure, qua ‘mons castri de Windsor’ appellatur. 25^a.

See also f. 80^b.

The oath of a K. G.; and the decree in chapter holden 22 Apr. 2 & 3 Ph. and M. that the hood and the cross should be worn on the left side. ib.

This latter was extracted from a copy of the “Statutes, now in the Earle of Rutlandes handes, in the front whereof is the coate and name of Francis Manners.”

13. The two “Obit-Prayers” used at Windsor. 26^a.

Not written by Ashmole. Here is this note—“A Chorister's pay is 12^s a month.”

14. “The west end of St George's Chapell at Windsor, measured by Capt: Burghe and Mr: Addington.” 27^a.

Passed on this leaf is a paper neatly written by an other hand; containing—

“The Dimensions of Windsor Chappell.” ib.

15. “A note of such monnyes as are due at o' lady day last, to evry Officer of the Order, and to the Poor Knightes.” 28^a.

Seemingly written by Sir Ja. Palmer, and indorsed—“Remembrances at the next chapter, 18 of Aprill 1642, at Yorke.”

16. Notes out of a Black Book “in the Reg'ry of Deanes and Chapt' landes at the Excise-office,” relating to Windsor; with notes of moneys for obits and robes; and description of the beautiful book from which ‘I transcribed the Ind're* concerning II. 7. obits.’ 29^{ab}.

* The indenture in No. 1123, iv.

17. Names of “The severall hundredes mannors and liberties of Windore Castle in the county of Berks. Buck. Surry and Wilts.” 31^a.

Heading of the record of the Court of the Honor, holden before Will. Taylor esq. deputy constable, 19 Jan. 12 Ch. II. Placita Cur' d'ni n'ri Caroli etc. 31^b.

18. Inscription to the memory of Humfrey Michell esq. Surveyor of Windsor castle, who died 18 Oct. 1590, aged 71. 32^a.
By a different hand.
19. Abstracts of the patents granting the offices of Clerk of the Constable or of the works of Windsor Castle, and of Steward, to Humfry Michell (16 May, 11 Eliz.), Sir John Trevor (6 June, 1 Ja. I.), Tho. Trevor in reversion (1 Mar. 2 Ja. I.), W. Taylour (16 June, 12 Ch. II.); with several notes of the office of Steward, as granted to Sir Ch. Howard by Ch. Earl of Nottingham, Constable of Windsor (1 Dec. 31 Eliz.) etc. 33—4.
20. Letter from W. [LAUD] Archbp. of Canterbury and Tho.* Bp. of Coventry, to the Provost and fellows of Eton College, commanding, in the King's name, that the next vacant fellowship should be bestowed on John Clever M. A. and so for ever annexed unto the Vicarage of New Windsor, in augmentation thereof. (Whitehall, 3 Nov. 1634.) 35^{ab}.
* Thomas Morton was translated from Coventry to Durham two years before, 2 July 1632.
From the copy "Entred in the Booke of Fines from 1597, called Liber Recordorum burgi ville de nova Wyndsore," attested by Fra. Jones, Mayor.
21. Notes "Out of the Booke of entryes of Actes and Orders, beginning 17 Car. R." relating to the appointments of Jo. Woodson, gent. to be Town-Clerk of Windsor (7 Aug. 1657), the election of burgesses for Parliament (30 Dec. 1658), submission of the Sherrif's officers for breach of privilege, and the opinions of three counsellors on the refusal of Hercules True to be sworn Mayor, and two others to be members of the corporation. 37^{ab}.
Benefactions to the poor of Windsor, by the wills of Tho. Needham and others. 38^a.
The last is out of the aforesaid book, f. 4; the others were found "In a booke wherein some leases are entred, fo. 10."
Names of the Steward and Bailifs of Windsor, 1 Hen. V. f. 38^b.
"Ex evidencijs penes Dec: et Chan: de Windsor." All these are on one sheet.
22. Notes of various Records, chiefly patents, in the possession of the corporation of Windsor. 39^a.
"Gardiani sive Magistri fraternitatis sive Gilde sancte Trinitatis de Nova Wyndsore," ab 11 Hen. VII. ad 1 Edw. VI. f. 40^a.
From their yearly accounts, of which here are two or three notes.
Names of various officers, and other notes "Out of the large parchm^t booke" of the town of Windsor. 40^b.
23. Curious notes "Extracted out of the first Booke of Accountes of the charges of the building and ereccōn of the Almes Knightes lodgings wth in the honor and castle of Windsor" etc. 41^{ab}.
"I extracted these particulars to observe whence the materials were fetchd, [Reading Abbey,] and what things may be taken notice of in the building and partes thereof." More copious extracts are in No. 1125, iv.
24. "Juramentum Dom: [Henrici] Ramellij, legati Regis* Danorum." 42^a.
* Christian IV. The leaf thus indorsed is fairly written in an old Italian hand.
25. "An Hymn to be sung in the procession at St George's feast instead of the Letany; composed by an order of the Sovereign, and the Companions of the — Garter, in a chapter held at Windsor April the xvii. 1661." 43^a, 44—6^b.
One quarto sheet, fairly printed.
26. "The Service that is performed in the Kings Free Chappel of S. George in the castle of Windsor, upon Obiit Sunday in the morning: (that is the sunday before every quarter-day) and at the offering up of the achievements of the deceased Knights of the Garter." (pp. 10.) 47—51^b.
Three folio sheets, printed in black-letter: the last leaf (52) is vacant.
27. Decree of the Lords Commissioners, for the settlement of Sir Francis Crane's charity to the Poor Knights of Windsor, whereby the yearly sum of 200*l*. was charged on the manor of Carbrook in Norfolk. (27 Jan. 1659—60.) 53—4.
"Will. Crane esq^r exceptant, Ralph Mabb and others prosecutors." This sheet was not written by Ashmole. Beside the two next articles, see No. 1123, v. artt. 2—5, and xii.
28. "Breife.—Crane ag^t Poore Knights. For the Knights." 55^a, 56^a.
The two folding sheets thus indorsed, contain an abstract of the proceedings in this matter from 19 July 1655 to 7 Dec. 1660, prepared when the exceptant was required to show cause why he had not assured the manor according to the foregoing decree.
29. "A short narrative of the long and tedious suite in the many years prosecution of a charitable guift of Sir Francis Crane to the Poor Knights of Windsor; and the reasons for the placing of three* of the surviving prosecutors therein for their lives, humbly tendered to consideration." 57^a.
* Benj. Burges, William Cary, John Grosvenor. A printed broadside.
30. Eight printed numbers of "The London Gazette," containing advertisements relating to the Order of the Garter. 58—65^b.

All apparently copied from some other MS., by Simon Martyn's hand (see No. 842, f. 9); except the three last extracts, of which the first is added by the same hand as No. 1097, and corrected by Ashmole; the other two were added by Ashmole himself.

94. (1.) Charta A. Abbatis et conventus Eveshamensis, de Wrotteslegia et Livintuna, Simoni filio Willielmi de Coctuna concessis. (s. a.) 207^a.

Copied by Ashmole more fairly and on a sheet of larger paper than three other sheets inclosed within it, to the contents of which also the following head-note refers:—"Ex ipsis autographis penes Walterum Wrottesleye de Wrottesleye in com' Staff: baronetum 9^o Aprilis a^o 1663." The following antient charters are copied in abstract only.

The seal of the last is tricked.

(3.) Chartæ Aliciæ filiæ Will. quondam domini de Wrotteslega, Willielmi filii Steph. de Elmedone domini de Pylahale, et Hugonis de Wrotteslewe (s. a.); cum notis genealogicis inde sumptis. (s. a.) 208^b—9.

The seals of the first and last are tricked.

(4.) Chartæ Ricardi filii Will. domini quondam de

Wrottesley, Hugonis filii Henrici le Fremon de Wrottesley, et Katerinæ quondam ux. Will. de Wrottesley, breviter excerptæ. (s. a.) 209^a.

The seal of the last is described.

- (5.) Charta Margeriæ filiæ Hen. de Wrottesle, Hugonis domini de Wrotteslega, Rogcri Sprengshore domini de Longenobre, et Willielmi filii Joh. de Perton. (s. a.) 209^b.

The seal of the first is tricked.

- (6.) Charta Aliciæ filiæ Will. de Wrotteslee; conventio inter Will. dominum de Wrottesleye et Will. fil. Marg. de Boturdone, anno 1305; et scriptum Ricardi de Werdon, fil. Roberti de Werdon de la Wyke. 210^a.

With a tricking of the last seal.

- (7.) Conventio inter Will. fil. domini Will. de Wrottesley, et dominam Katerinam relictam prædicti domini W. (7 Edw. II.); charta Roberti fil. Henr. de Wybaston, et Sibillæ ux. ejus (7 Edw. II.); et charta Ricardi Levesone de Wolverhampton, Rob. de Barnehurst capell. et Will. de la Lane de Hampton, Hugoni de Wrottesley, chiv. (23 Edw. III.) 210^b.

- (8.) Descents of the Wrottesley family, both detached and connected, with seals of arms, taken from their charters, from 7 Edw. III. to 1609. f. 211^{ab}.

- (9.) Pedigree showing the descendants of Walter Wrottesley esq. (42 Eliz.) who were living in 1633. f. 212^a.

- (10.) Charta Willielmi Bagod, domini de Pateshul, et Roberti Bagod rectoris ecclesiæ de Alrewych, Willielmo domino de Wrottesley. (s. a.) 212^b.

All these documents and notes were afterward transcribed into No. 833, pp. 77—91, and have been briefly described as artt. 25—26 of that MS.

Transcribed from a copy certified by the signatures of Garter and other Officers of Arms: it is by a different hand, and written vertically. Here it may be observed that this grant is printed by Anstis, at the end of his preface to the Register of the Garter (1724, fol. I. p. xxiv—xxvii.), from the original, in a more complete and accurate state than what is given in the Fœdera, (XV. 187—9) from the Patent Roll.
83. "Anno R. E. vj^{ti} primo. Knightes Fees paid" to the Officers of Arms, by the Earl of Oxford and nine others; and notes of the fees paid for knighthood, by the Lords Fitzwalter and Hastings, 30 Sept. 36 Hen. See the note on art. 79.

II. Documents relative to Honor and Chivalry, and some affairs of State, collected by RALPH BROOKE, York Herald. (ff. 73—134.)

This curious MS. is very fairly written, and adorned with titles ingrossed in letters of various colors, some red, some blue, some green, others black. It is all written in the secretary hand, except the first article, and the Latin part of art. 6, which are in a fair Italian character.

1. "Sequuntur Constitutiones ad Officiales hujus Ordinis peculiariter attinentes, qui sunt quinque: Prælati, Cancellarius, Scriba, Rex Armorum a subligari nuncupatus, et Hostiarius, hoc est nigræ virgæ seu clave gestator. Ubi manifestatur quos sumptus Supremus per horum unumquemque fieri voluerit, et quæ debeant horum esse privilegia, quæ vestes, qualia stipendia, dum administrant hæc officia. Adjicientur itaque libertates ac privilegia que concedenda sunt Pauperibus Militibus." 77—9.

These are the 'Constitutions' of the Order, recorded in the Black Book: see No. 1129, pp. 184—9. They are printed in Ashmole's Appendix to his Institution of the Order, next after the English Statutes; but without the long title here given, which properly belongs to them in the Black Book. There is a translation in No. 1127, xii.

2. [H] "ere after foloweth many and divers thinges belonging to an Usher of the Kinges chamber to knowe and note. And first what they ought to do at the crownacōn of a kinge. Remembrance to the Usshers of the Kinges chambr that they must do their offices in the day" etc. 83—93^b.

The other titles of this very curious old book are:—

- "For the mariage of a pryncis daughter." 83^b.
- "For the receaving of a quene out of a strang land, and the coronacōn of her, as ensueth." 84^b.
- "The ordinance for the deliverance of a queene." 85^b.
- "For the christening of a kinges childe." 86.
- "The maner of the creacōn of a prince." 86^b.
- "The buryall of a prince." 87.
- "The ordering of all estates in their degrees at a voyde." 88.
- "Who should sitt at the kinges bourd in the daie off estate." 89.
- "For laying of the surnape." ib.
- "The order of setting of the kinges table." 89^b.
- "How the kinges sonnes or bretheren should be served." 90.
- "The setting of estates in order at the table." 90^b.
- "For sitting in the great chamber." ib.
- "The setting of the chappeleyens." 91.
- "For the kinges sewar." ib.
- "The first question, the king going in procession" etc. (16 Questions.) 91^b.
- "What the kyng and the queene should do on new yeares day." 92.
- "Who ought to bere the kinges taper on candelmasse daye." 92^b.
- "What the squires for the bodie ought for to doe." ib.
- "As for the making of the kinges bedd." 93.
- "Thinges used by kinges Henry the iiijth and vth." 93^b.

At the end of this chapter is the following colophon:—"Here endeth the thinges apperteyning unto the Squires for the bodie and Sewars and gentlemen Usshers of the Kinges chambers, wch they ought to knowe and diligentlie note." By comparison with the "Articles ordained by King Henry VII. for the regulation of his Household, 21 Dec. 1494," printed from the Harl. MS. 642, in the Collection of Ordinances published by the Society of Antiquaries in 1790, (4to. pp. 107—133) it will be seen that there is much in common between those articles and this MS. See also Wogan's Treatise on the Duty of a Gentleman Usher, in the Arundel MS. 50.

3. Short description of "The trappours of King Henry the vijth" which were given to Westminster Abbey. 94^a.

- *4. "The appointment for the King and the Queene to Canterburie, and so to Callis and Guysnes to the meeting of the Frenche King, 1520." 95—99^b.

A long and curious list of all their numerous retinue.

*5. Narrative of "The meating of the King of England [and] the Emperour at Canterburie, and the meating of the said King and the French King at Guysnes, Anno D'ni 1520, A^o. xijth of his raigne. Mondaie the xxj daie of Maye." 100—3^b.

Ending thus—God save King Henry the viijth.

6. "The posies and writings that were in the rownd howse made at Callais for the feasting and banqueting of the Emperour Charles the vth of that name, a^o D'ni 1520 and the xij yeare of the raigne of King Henry the viijth King of England and of France etc^a." 103^b—5.

There are numerous verses and moral sentences in Latin.

*7. "The proclamacōn in Frenche of the articles of the Justes and other feates of armes at the meeting of the aforesaid Kinges at Guisnes, proclaimed through the realme of France by THOMAS BENOLT al's Clarenceix King of Arms. Comme ainsi soit louange." 105—7^b.

"Finis. Vive le Roy Henry viij^{me}."

8. "The lettres of savegarde given by the said King of England unto Thomas Walle al's Norrey King of Armes, for the proclamacōn of the same Joustes in the parties of Almayn and the contrye of Germania, w^{ch} Norrey proclaimed thē as welle in French for the lowe contreyes, as in high Dutch as hereafter followeth etc." 107^b—108^b.

"The cōpye of the saufegarde: [108^a] Henricus Dei gratia" etc. Data Grenevicij, 2 Apr. 1520.

*9. "The manner how the price shall be given at Joustes of peace royall, and for what considerations it should be forfeited and lost. First who so breaketh most speeres." 108^b.

This title is written small with ink: the next is ingrossed with ink.

*10. "Justes houlden at Westminster the xijth daie of February by the Kinges grace [Henry VIII.] called Cœur Loyal, the Lord William of Devon Bon Voloir, S^r Thomas Knivet Valiant Desire, and Edward Nevell Joyous Penser, wth the articles and courses of the said Justes etc^a." 109—110^b.

The articles begin thus—The noble lady Renowne considering the good and gracious fortune: the 'courses' are tilting lists for the two days (Wednesday and Thursday 12—13 Feb. 1511), marked with strokes, and accounts of the 'best jousters.'

*11. "A demonstracōn by JOHN WRITH alias Garter, to King Edward the Fourth, touching three Knyghtes of high Almayn w^{ch} came to do arms in England, wth the instruccōns by them geven unto the saide Gart^r and the articles of their feates and enterprise." 111—3^b.

Reg. Most dreade souveraigne lord. Their names were "Wladislaus of Bodua, Fredericus of Wardina, and Lancelagus of Tressalwen," courtiers of the King of Hungary. Their articles (translated from Latin) are dated at Canterbury, 19 June; and, as they were going to the 'pardon' at S. James in Spain, the year must have been 1473.

12. "Le sommacion de la ville de Dorlans, faict par THOMAS WALL dit Rougecrois pursuyvant, pour et au nom du Roy D'angleterre et du Duc de Suff. estant son lieutenant generall de pardela, l'an 1523 le 12 Octobre; Mons^r de Rumeny estant capp^{ne} pour le Roy Francoys de France, en i celle ville." 114^a.

Reg. Seigneur Capp^{ne} et vous toutes gardeurs. This title is written with ink, in small hand; as are the two next.

* Read La sommouition.

*13. "Coment ung Herault se doit presenter quant il a legacion de son Souverain, soit par l're ou par bouche: et coment il doit faire ses salutations, selon que les personaiges soyent en dignites ou offices. Quant un Roy donne au Herault." 114^b—5.

Ending thus—comme a leur estat appartient.

"Premierement lentre et reverence fut—dune grande velleur et estimacion etc. Explicit." This quatrain is subjoined:—

"Qui ne peut fraindre sa veue
Sa langue aussi tenir mene
Pour garder ce ou est commys
Garde quil ne soit ton amys."

*15. "Informacions baylle a Thomas Wall dti Lancaster Herault, pere de lavant dit Thomas Wall dit Rougecroys, au Roy Loys xij^{me} de France, pour le diffiement de la partie du Roy Dangleterre, lan 1513, le dit Roy Loys estant a Paris." 116—7.

"Après les recommandacions—vous plaira fuise. Signe au dessoubz HENRY R." This title and those which follow are ingrossed with ink, none being in rubric after art. 11.

*16. "Instruccōns yeven by the Kinges highnes to his trustie and welbeloved servant Thomas Wall al's Norrey King at arms, contayning suche matters as he on the Kinges behalfe shall declare and shew to the Lady Margaret Archduches and Dowager of Savoye: the yeare of our Lord God 1519, [and] in y^e xj yeare of — Henry viij." 117—119^b.

"First after the Kinges right affectuous—HENRY R. [119^b] After the signature—And this article was signed T. Carlis, Ebor."

The articles included under this general title, are—

(1.) Short report of his mission into Flanders, by THOMAS WALL, Windsor Herald, from 17 Feb. to 21 Mar. 1527—8. f. 120^a.

(2.) "A memoriall geven by the — Lord Legat Cardinal Archbischopp of Yorke, Primat and Chancelor of England, on the behalf of the Kinges highnes, unto his trustie Windesore Herault at arms, sent at this tyme w^t his graces l'pres to the lady Margarett Dowager of Savoye." 120^b.

- (3.) "Ce sont les articles quil dist a lad' Dame. Cest ce que offroyt le Roy tresxp'ien bailler a Lempere^r sil eust vollen plustost acceper la paix et luy rendre mess^{rs} ses enfans que mettre toute la xp'iennete en guerre." 121^b.
- (4.) "The copie of the Kinges l're to y^e said Ladie Margarett. Treshault et excellent princesse." (Hampton-court, 14 Feb. 1527.) 122^b.
- (5.) "The copie of the Lord Cardinall his l'res translated out of Englishe into Frenche, w^{ch} he sent to thembassadeur John Hackett resident in the same court at y^t tyme." (Westm. 14 Feb. 1527.) 123^b.
- (6.) "The coppie of the l're sent by Wyndesore unto the sayd Lord Car^{ls} grace, from Meghlyne, by John Fuller, Englishman, the vth daie of March 1527." 124^b.

Referred to in §. (1) as containing an account of his transactions: it is subscribed thus:—"And thus endeth the hole affaire of this my voyage w^{ch} was the first y^t ever I had, I being of the age of xxij yeares x monethes and xvj daies. Finis."

126^{ab},

Beg. thus—Le Meeredi jour de feste saint Vincent axijme jour du mois de Janvier l'an xvc xxvij selon la computacion de Romme. It ends with the first words of Guienne's reply—Sire le Roy tresxp'ien mon souverain Thirteen blank pages follow: then the last article, written in larger pages, and less fairly than the rest of the MS.

19. RR. PHILIPPI et MARIE literæ patentis, per quas Reges et Officiarii armorum incorporati sunt, et hospitio communi privilegiisque dotati. (18 Jul. annis 1 et 3, 1555.) 133^b—4.

Printed in the Fœdera, XV. 423—5.

- III. The Names and Arms of the Sovereigns and Knights of the Order of the Golden Fleece, from its institution in 1429 to the twenty-third festival of the Order, which was holden by Philip King of Spain, 12 Aug. 1559; with historical accounts of the celebration of the feasts, in French: beginning with this title or exordium:—"La premiere creation et institution de l'ordre du Thoyson d'or en la ville de Bruges le xe iour de Januier Mil. cccc. xix. furent denommes tres-hault tres-excellent et trespuissant prince, monseigneur le Duc Ph'le de Bourgne Chief et souverain dudict Ordre, seulement xviii. ch'rs: combien que ladiete institution en cust deu auoir sans ledict Chief, desquels les noms, surnoms, et blasons cy apres sensuyvent." ff. 137^b—186.

This MS. is beautifully written, with the arms tricked (four on each page), by ROBERT GLOVER Somerset Herald, who seems to have copied it from a richly illuminated MS. On the first page (135^a) is tricked a full-length portrait of the Founder, with this note:—"Note that all the Sovereignes wer from the first founder of this order to King Philip now lyving, portraicted in the robes of the same order, and that according to the lyf. And all the healnes over the armes [here omitted] wer all gold." Ff. 186^b—200^b are blank.

No. 1117.

VOLUME XXI. contains 272 leaves with ruled margins, whereof the last 57 are blank, as are also 17 leaves at the beginning.

The first part of Memorials of all the Knights of the Order of the Garter, by Sir WILLIAM SEGAR, Garter King of Arms; namely, from its foundation to the end of the reign of Edward IV. ff. 1—213^b, 215^b.

This is a transcript of the second part of No. 779 (ff. 22—114^a), which is continued in the next volume; including the introductory part of the reign of Henry VII. at f. 215^b. At each opening of this book is entered a short account of one Knight, occupying part of the lefthand page: but there do not appear any additions made in the great spaces left in this volume.

No. 1118.

VOLUME XXII. contains 315 leaves, whereof the first 8 and the last 30 are blank.

The second part of Sir WILLIAM SEGAR'S Memorials of the Knights of the Garter; namely, from the beginning of the reign of Henry VII. to the end of the reign of Edward VI.; with a continuation by ASHMOLE, to Laurence Earl of Rochester K. G. 1685. ff. 9^b—111^b, 113^b—285^b.

The former part of this volume is a continuation of the foregoing work, transcribed from No. 779, ff. 114^b—145, interspersed with some few additions: the latter part is very scanty, consisting chiefly of dates and styles in French, taken from Garter Walker's MSS. and others.

The following articles are on papers inserted in different parts of this book:—

- (1.) Copy of a long biographical inscription "Written under the picture of S^r Anthony Browne K. G. now hanging in the parlour at Betsworth Castle in com' Surr. 3 Sept: 1666." f. 91^a.
- (2.) Copy of an inscription formerly on the tomb of Sir W. Kyngston K. G. (ob. 13 May? 1540) in the church of Painswick in Gloucestershire. f. 97^a.

The plate, having been torn off in 1644, came into the possession of Mr. John Theyer of Cooper's Hill near Gloucester, whose wife was descended from the Knight. It is in ANTH. WOOD'S handwriting, and thus indorsed by Ashmole—"Reed from Mr. Wood of Oxford, 15 Feb. 1679^a."

- (3.) The styles of Charles Duke of Richmond, William Duke of Hamilton, and George Prince of Denmark; in French. f. 278^b, 279^b, 280^b.

These three small papers were written by DUGDALE'S hand.

No. 1119.

VOLUME XXIII. contains fifteen MSS. on paper, written by different hands; beside 14 leaves at the end, the first page of which is written on by Ashmole: there are also 8 blank leaves at the beginning.

- I. The Succession and History of the Knights of the Garter, from the foundation of the Order to Sir Henry Sydney, in 1564; by ROBERT COOKE, Clarencieux. ff. 1—18.

This is the original MS. closely written in columns: compare his handwriting in No. 1113, f. 82. The introductory statement begins thus—Kyng Edward the 3, son to Edward the 2. and of Isabel the only daughter of Phelyppe La Beau. The last three pages (18^b—19^b) are vacant.

II. "A Booke of all the Knights of the most noble Order of the Garter, aswell those which have bin installed as those which have bin elect and not installed, since the foundation thereof, which was first founded and erected by that most noble and prosperous prince King Edward the Third, in February in the 19th yere of his reigne, 1344. And first it beginneth wth the xxvjth Founders thereof, as they were placed; and after those which followed in the said Kings tyme; and afterwards every other Kings tyme, every estate by them self according to their degree; and hee was borne at Wyndesore the xiiijth day of November, anno 5^{to} of his father King Edward the Second 1311," etc. ff. 1—29^b.

"Transcribed [by Ashmole] from a booke of Mr Vincents: Jan: 1664." It ends with the same name as the foregoing work; than which it contains more of ceremonial, but less of historical and biographical matter. The last leaf (f. 30) is vacant.

III. "A Booke contēnyng the names and styles of all the Knightes of the most honourable Ordre of the Garter, aswell of those that have ben enstalled, as of those that have ben elect onely and not enstalled, since the first foundation of y^e same Ordre. The which Ordre was first founded and erected by the noble happy and victorouse prince Kinge Edward the Third, in the yere of our Lord God. 1344. and in the 19. yere of his reigne.* The sayd first founder Kinge Edward the Third was borne at Wyndesore the 13 day of Novembre in the fift yere of the reigne of his father King Edward the Second, in anno Domini 1311. He beganne his administration and regiment of the kingdome, the 25 day of January, anno 1326; and was crowned on the day of the purification of our lady, vidz. the 2 day of February. He departed fourth of this lyf at Shene, now called Richmond, the 21 day of June in anno 1377, when he had reigned 50 yeres, 4 monethes and 27 dayes, beinge of the age of 65 yeres, and was buryed very honourably in the chaple of St Edward at Westminster, in the south syde of the shryne of the sayd Kinge Edward there. The which booke beginnith with the first 26. Knightes founders of the sayd Ordre; in such sorte and ordre as they wer first playcd in the tyme of the sayd Kinge Edward the Third, and so do follow successively all other Kinges of this realme Souveraignes of the same Ordre, as also with them the Knightes that lyved and wer electyd and enstalled in their severall reignes, every one placed in his degre accordinge as it was apoynted by the Souveregnes in every severall age, and in such order contynued to these happy yeres of y^e reigne of our most dread souvereigne lady Queene Elizabeth. 1570." Written by ROBERT GLOVER, Somerset Herald; and continued by him to "Henry Lord Scrop of Bolton," 1584. ff. 1—31^b.

* "Seu potius anno 23 E. 3." (Glover's own note.) Two leaves at the beginning of this MS., and f. 32, are blank: it is very neatly written, and is much better arranged than the two foregoing MSS. The Knights in the reigns of Henry VII. and VIII. are the most copiously treated of.

IV. "The names of all the [Souveraignes,*] Emperours, Kinges, [Prynces,†] Dukes, Marquesses, Erles, Vicountes, Lordes and Knightes of the most noble Ordre of the Garter, that hath bynence the tyme of Edward the Third, firste foundour of the said Ordre." f. 1^a, 2—4^b.

* † The former word is taken from the title immediately prefixed, (beg. Here followethe the names,) the latter from the lists. The last name in the tenth list, is "Sr Andrew Duddelley," who was the last knight elected in the reign of Edw. VI.: the MS. is contemporary: its two last leaves (5—6) are vacant.

V. "De forma et modo Regine sole* coronande. Die quo Regina sola coronanda est conveniant." pp. 4.

* See the note on No. 863, art. 24: but the last word in this copy is poterit.

VI. 1. Statuta Ordinis Georgiani de Periselide, ut ab HENRICO VIII. sancita fuerunt, Latine versa: inc. Principio statutum et decretum est, regem Angliæ et ejus heredes. ff. 1—10^b.

Different from the text of the Black Book, which is printed in Ashmole's Appendix; being evidently a free and elegant translation from the common English copies of the Statutes set forth by Henry VIII. in 1522, and altered in 1540 (see the 19th article), omitting the preface. The last words are—"quocunque de causa aut necessitate dari oportet. Finis."

2. "The names of all the Knightes of the Garter" in alphabetical order, with the reigns in which they were elected. ff. 12—18.

The last name is—"Wyllm Cycell, L. Burghlye high Tresorerer of Englande. Eliz." added by another hand. This part of the MS. is written in secretary hand, the former in the Italian hand; both neatly, and early in the time of Queen Elizabeth. It is in large quarto: the last page is vacant. From Ashmole's note on his transcript, in No. 1128, iv. (f. 25), it appears that this manuscript formerly belonged to the State Paper Office.

VII. "Ces sont les noms des premiers fondeurs du Gartier. Et les noms des autres qui sont venus en leurs lieux. De tresnoble Roy Edward tiers et premier fondeur." ff. 1—4.

These successions of the Knights according to their stalls, to the time of Henry VII., were by Ashmole "Coppied from 2 Tables web hang in the Chapt^r house at Windsor;" and were (according to his subscription) "Examined also by 2 old large skins of vellam, wherein all that are before scored under, apper to be added since these 2 skins wer written, they being in Sr Wm Le Neve's col." The additions show that the lists were first made in the time of Edward IV.: they are distinguished by brackets in the copy printed in Ashmole's Appendix, in which it is the eighth article of the series not numbered, but wants the above title.

VIII. 1. "Catalogue of the Founders, as they are in the Lord Hatton's booke, transcribed from an old roll." f. 2^a.

With a note from "Mr Ryley's roll." The next article seems to be from the same MS.

2. "A catalogue of Knight[s] made by E. 3. after y^e Founders." 2^b.

3. Alphabetical list of such "Knightes" as have been also Knights of the Garter; by ASHMOLE. 3^{ab}.

4. "Knightes of the Garter alphabetically disposed," by ASHMOLE. ff. 4^{ab}, 6^{ab}, 9^{ab}; 11^{ab}.

The last leaf containeth supplemental entries: ff. 1, 5, 7, 8, 10, 12, are interleaves of larger paper, on the first of which is this title—"A Catalogue of the Knights of the Garter alphabetically disposed."

IX. "Knights of the Garter as they succeeded one another; transcribed out of a vellome booke made in H: 7: tyme, in Biblioth: Hattou." with additions and variations from "Mr. Vincent's large vellome booke." ff. 1—5^b.

By Ashmole's hand: the three last leaves (6—8) are vacant.

X. "A catalogue of the Knights of the Garter, delivered by Mr. Tho: Milles," in chronological order; with notes and additions by Ashmole. ff. 1—8.

XI. 1. Particulars of "The painters chardge for a Knyght of Thorder:" amounting to 'xviij^{li}. iij^s. viij^d.' p. 1.

2. "L'res of dyspensacōn geven unto James Kinge of Scottes, by the Lord Will'm [Howard,] and Garter" Thomas Walle. (21 Feb. 1534.) p. 1—2.

This single leaf seems to have been written by Sir GILBERT DETHICK.

XII. "This Statutes and ordinaunces of the mooste noble Order of Sainte George, named the Garter, reformed explained and declared, and renewed by the moost high, moost excellent, and moost puissant prince, HENRY the viijth." etc. ff. 1—15.

In this copy are the 19th and 38th articles, as they were altered or added in 32 and 36 Hen. VIII. (1540, 1544:) than which this copy can scarcely be considered later. Subjoined are the following additional articles:—

(1.) An ordinance made 23 Apr. 19 Hen. VIII. (1527) "for the assistentes to the Lieutenauntes." 15.

(2.) "This order to be observed and kepte by the seid Knightes beinge absent from the K' royall matie uppone seynt Georges even and daye and the next daye at the masse of Requiem. Fyrste everye of the seid Knightes." 15^b.

This folio MS. is well written on paper, in a large running hand, seemingly by Sir GILBERT DETHICK, Garter.

XIII. Second draught of the Statutes of the Garter, as reformed by EDWARD VI. with the corrections of Sir WILLIAM CECIL, Chancellor of the Order. ff. 1—11^b.

The first draught is No. 820, i. This, the second draught, contains the names of the Knights and Ministers (or Officers) present, written by Cecil at the end; as doth also No. 812, the third successive draught, which embodies the corrections made in this copy. The twelfth leaf is vacant.

XIV. Acta Ordinis Georgiani, ab Anno primo regni Edwardi sexti, ad 23 Apr. anno ejusdem sexto; a Domino GUIL. CECILIO Cancellario conscripta. ff. 1—7.

"Transcribed from a MS: written wth the Lo: Burghleys hand, in ye Lo: Bruce's poss'ion,"—by the hand of Edw. Phillips, and corrected by Ashmole. The three last pages (7^b—8^b) are vacant.

XV. Les Statuts de l'Ordre de S. Michael, establi en l'an 1469, par LOUIS XI. Roy de France. ff. 2—21^b.

A fair copy on paper (the first leaf and the last being vacant) in a French secretary hand; probably made for Lord Burleigh, by whose hand the notes on the two first pages were written; it agrees with the ingrossed copy in No. 775, except that the Index of chapters is omitted.

XVI. "Here followen the names of the Ordre of Knightes of the Garter made at Wyndesore the yeare that Sigismonde Kyng of Rome and Emperour of Almayne was in Englonde, the [fourth*] yeere of Kyng Henry the fyffte." f. 1a.

"Transcribed out of an old MS: called the Abstract Brevary compiled of divers balades etc. penes E: A:." namely, No. 59, art. 29.

* See the remarks made by Anstis, and an old Latin list of the Knights on that occasion, published in his Register of the Garter, 1724, fol. 1. 16.

No. 1120.

VOLUME XXIV. contains five old MSS. on paper, whereof the first is the largest, consisting of 111 leaves numbered by the writer. The edges of the leaves are much worn and broken at the beginning: the first has the neat autograph of "Ra. Brooke, Yorke Herald. 1600."

I. "A note wch ys wrytten for the pface of Therle of Hertfordes booke:" (f. 2a.) viz.—

"A Booke of all the Knightes of the most noble Ordre of the Garter aswell those wch have ben installed, as suche wch have ben elect and not installed, syns the foundacōn therof, wch was fyrst founded and erected by — Kyng Edward the iijde Sovereigne of the same Ordre in February A^o 19 E. 3. 1344, or rather A^o 23. 1348. And fyrst hyt begynneth wth the Kallender therof, † all estates all Sovereignes together, and then the xxvj^{tie} Founders — And so aftre followinge all other Kinges and Quenes of thys most noble realme — wth suche Knightes next followinge every of them wch were elect or installed in theyre tyme, placed lykewise accordinge to theyre estates and degrees, untill that thys boke was made wch was made A^o secundo Elizabeth Regine, Decembre 1559."

After six blank pages, begins a transcript of the said book, neatly tricked, (but crammed with bad writing,) by the hand of Sir GILBERT DETHICK, Garter King of Arms, who added or altered much of the historical matter, and added the last knight:—

The Succession of the Knights of the Garter, from the foundation of the Order, to Henry Baron Hunsdon in 1561; showing their Arms in trick, and the times of their election, death, etc. ff. 5^b—65^b. "A Kalender of all the Knightes afore namyd," ranked according to their dignities. 67—76.

"Thes cyphres afore the lynes, be the Knightes as they be placed in Therle of Hertfordes booke, and aftre the lynes as they be placed in this booke. And the Sovereigne alwaies begynneth the leafe of his owne tyme, and vij more of theade estates w^t lym, and so forthe viij in a leafe tyll his tyme be ended." (Sir G. DETHICK's note.) The rest of this book (ff. 76^b—111^b) is vacant.

II. The Arms of the Knights of the Garter, from Sir W. Kingston temp. Hen. VIII. to Philip Earle of Montgomery in 1608; with the styles of some of them. ff. 112—125.

Each page of this little quarto MS. contains 6 shields tricked with the quarterings: those on the last 7 or 8 pages are not filled up. On the last page is—

The style of Q. Elizabeth, in Latin, French, and English; as "proclaymed on St Georges daye." 125^b.

III. "Nomina, insignia, etymologiæ et insignium descriptiones, viginti sex nobilissimorum Equitum honoratissimi Ordinis aurati S^{cti} Georgij fundatorum. Quæ quidem ordo erat erectus [etc.]—1344." ff. 126—131^b.

† Which is at the end of this MS. The words in Italics were interlined or added afterward by the writer.

This quarto MS. was written, partly in Italian hand and partly in secretary-hand, about the time of Queen Elizabeth or James I. Ashmole's transcript of it is No. 786. See also No. 1121, vii. art. 7.

IV. The Arms of ancient Knights of the Garter, beginning with "Frank de Hale, capitayn de Callys," and ending with "Sr Richarde Wingfeld." ff. 132—143.

They are nine on each page, tricked in the time of Queen Elizabeth. The last 13 pages of this book are vacant.

V. 1. "Hereafter foloeth the Names and Armes of ye principall Captayns aswell of Noblemen as Knyghtes which weare w^t Kinge E. 3. at ye asiege of Callys ye 20 yeare of his reigne." 150^b—62^b.

List of "The south fleet" in that expedition. 163—4^b.
List of "The north fleete." 165—6^b.

"Rates of wages of warre by the daye." 167—8^b.

"The names of ye great Princes and Noblemen estrangiers, holden in ye Kings retinwe and paye, not being emprysed in number aforesaide." 169^a.

"The some of ye said expencis" etc. (337104^l. 9s. 4d.) subscribed by the compiler and writer "R. BROOKE alias Rouge Cross, officer of armes." 170^a.

This part of the MS. (f. '21') is largely and fairly written and tricked; an other copy, written and painted by the same hand, in 1607, with one very long title prefixed, is in the Norfolk press in the Herald's College, No. 62; see the Catalogue of Arundel MSS. p. 131.

2. "A copie of an owldde Roule in ye kepinge of Mr Fitz Williams of Sprotbrughe 1563. [containing 318 coats] of Noblemen's Armes and Knyghtes as weare w^t K. R. I. at ye asiege of Acon." 171—4^b.

"Here endethe the names and armes of thoss Knyghtes as weare w^t Kinge Richard the firste at the assigge of Acon or Acres: which weare copied [in trick] owte of an owldde Rowle in kepinge and custodie of Mr Fitz Williams of Sprotbrughe 1563. R. BROOKE. al's Roug Cross." At the beginning is written this note by a modern hand:—"This Roll is in the library of Surrenden Dering, Kent."

3. "The Names and Armes of y^m that weare w^t Kinge Henry the Fyfte at the assiegge of Roane. 1419." 175—6.

Seemingly unfinished: 27 blank pages follow. The first coat is that of Henry le Roye, the last (96th) name has no coat, Monsr Peirs Bucketon. The arms in these two articles are neatly tricked in squares, with the names written above.

No. 1121.

VOLUME XXV. contains 500 pages, all (except such as are blank) neatly written and tricked by ASHMOLE. There are also 6 blank leaves at the beginning (beside the portrait) on the first of which is fixed a paper of queries in an old hand, headed "Qu? in Mr Ashmole's booke."

I. 1. Copies of "The Armes and Inscriptions of such Knights of the Garter, as were found placed in their Stalls at Windsor, the 26 day of May 1659. Collected from the Brass Plates, wherein they were enamelled and graven, by E. ASHMOLE." pp. 1—84.

This valuable collection begins with a description of the curious carvings in the Sovereign's stall; and ends with an account of the helmets, crests, and banners of the Knights who were in 1640, which were left standing in 1659. References to this book are made in No. 1139, i. which see.

2. "The names of severall Knights of the Garter, whose Plates were found stande in their Stalls an^o. 1569. yet wanting when I made the former colleccōn." With some of the arms tricked. 85.

II. The Arms, Crests, and Cognizances of the Knights of the Garter, from the foundation thereof to the time of Henry VIII. according to their succession in the several stalls; with biographical notices of many of them. p. 91—158.

From what MS. this curious article was copied, it does not appear.

III. The Arms and Crests of the first Founders of the Order of the Garter, with some of their Cognizances*. 161—173.

Tricked within garters, three on each alternate page: some are left vacant.

* Quoted at p. 305, 306, 310 of the Retrospective Review, N. S. vol. I., in the article quoted under No. 763, iv. art. 3.

IV. "A catalogue of the Plates as they stood placed in their Stalls, in the yeare 163. . . collected by Mr: Ryley." 179—190.

Some of the arms are tricked.

V. "A catalogue of severall coates of Armes of Knyghtes of the Garter, whose Plates are not to be found in the Stalls at Windsor, An^o: 1660." 191—5.

"Out of a large vellome MS: of Mr John Vincents, pag. 151." Most of the arms are tricked.

VI. "The coates of Armes etc: of severall Knyghtes wanting in my Lo: Hatton's large vellome booke (and supplied from Mr: Vincents large vellome booke*) being painted and written about H: 7th: tyme." 196—206.

* With copies of the short biographical notices. "M^d that all the Sovereignes and all the Ktes: in the 2^d stall on ye Sovereignes side from Hen: D: of Lanc: to John K^g of Portugall are wantg in Mr Vincents booke. The 4th stall is wholly wanting also."

VII. 1. The arms of Henry Brooke Lord Cobham, tricked, with his motto and style dated 6 June 1599. p. 207.

"Placed before his booke of the Statutes of the Ordre, penes — Smith gen."

2. Arms of several Knights of the Garter, chiefly foreign Princes, tricked; also the "Staffords—Bourchiers—[and] Wake's knot." 209.

Note of Heralds' ordinances dated 1420, and other contents of a book "fo. 212 in Bibl' Hatton." 210.

3. Arma "In magna aula quondam Abhatis nunc vero Episcopi Petriburgensis," et "In fenestris ecclesie cathedralis Petriburgensis." 211.

4. Arma apud "Fotheringhay, in fenestra aulæ Colleg: ib'm" et "In claustris." 212—3.

Hastily but neatly tricked.

5. Arms of "Edward Mountague Earle of Sandwich," painted within a garter. 215.*

* This elegant drawing is fixed on the blank leaf (counterpart of p. 209) so numbered.

6. Arms tricked from the windows, (probably) of S. George's chapel. p. 217.

Arms tricked from antient seals: "Ex Miscellaniorum Roberti Gloveri lib: 1. fo: 130, etc." 218—9. Names of five Founders of the Garter "from Mr Ryleys booke," also "The tytle"* thereof. 220.

* Noted by Ashmole to be the same as No. 786.

7. Five "Styles entred by Sr: WILL: SEGAR in a booke of Armes and Styles of the K^{ts}: of the Garter, A^o. 1606. and dedicated to Prince Henry; w^{ch} are not very exact with the Plates, as by comparing them together apperes, yet because some of them are wanting in the Stalls, I have entred them heere." 221.

The arms of the three first are in the margin; namely Henry IV. of France, Frederic Duke of Wirtemberg, and Thomas Earl of Ormond.

VIII. 1. "Sigillum Thomæ Hoo armigeri" cum nota chartæ ejus, 13 Edw. IV. datæ. 223.

"Ex codicē MS: collectaneorum Roberti Gloveri, lib: D. fo. 7. b." which is now No. 848 of this collection.

2. Curious heraldic collections, with trickings of the arms, crests, and badges therein mentioned; "Excerpted out of [a] booke* of Armes of the Empire etc: in Bibliotheca Hatton." 223—237.

* W^{ch} formerly belonged to Sr Hen: St George, Norrey K^s of Armes." Ashmole has added another note describing its general contents, on the other margin. The particulars follow:—

Arma Archiepiscopi Treverensis, Comitum Sabaudia, Archiepiscopi Coloniensis, et arma Barcinonæ. 223.

Arma Comitum Pontivi, et Ludovici Luxemburgici cancellarii Henr. VI. Angliæ et Franciæ Regis. 224.

The arms of "Johan de Grelli, Johan de Somery, Warein de Lylle, Harry de Grey, W[i]ll: Daudeley;" from a roll of arms of the time of Edward I. 224.

Blazon of the arms of Roger de Mortimer, Will^m Mountague, Reinauld de Moun, Thomas Greiley, Roger de Somery, and Robert de Veer, in French. 224.

"Out of another old roll of H: 3^{ds} tyme, in the s^d booke, wherein were both armes and blazon." 224.

Blazon of the arms of the Comte de Pontois, and Roger Mortimer, in French. 224.

"In another roll blazoned, and of the same time."

The badge of Edward [VI.] Prince of Wales, "which standeth over head in the walkes of the preaching place at Whitehall:" with a description of the four different plumes, belonging to the King, the Prince, and the Dukes of Lancaster and Somerset. 225.

The arms of "Rogerus Cottysford et Katerina nxor ejus," impaled within a garter. 225.

"Found in an ancient booke of Sr Walter Raleigh's."

"The armes of King Ed: the 4th: with his queene, as they stand in the north window in the abbey of Westm' with these supporters." 225.

The arms and three crests of the Duke of Brunswick. 226.

"The true copping of one of the eschocheons at the funerall of Cardinall Poole." p. 226.

"The seale of Garter Principall K^s at armes." 227.

"The match of Thomas Earle of Derby wth Margaret Countess of Richmond, mother to King H. 7." 227.

"The badge of Queene Margaret wife to King Hen: the 6." with a note of the badge of Humfrey Duke of Gloucester. 227.

Eight "badges belonging to Somerset and Herbert, from antiquity;" two only of which are drawn. 227.

"The badge of Q: Philipp[a] wife to K^s Ed: 3^d;" and that "of Elizabeth wife to K^s H: the 7th daughter to E. 4." 228.

"Armes of the 3 estrich feathers in the glass windows of Greenewich church,—set up by Humfr: Duke of Glouc." with description of the supporters, and of the Duke's other arms there. 228. Badges of Anne Queen of Richard II., and Richard Duke of York, son of Edward IV. 228.

Drawings and descriptions of the badges of the Ladies Anne Bullen, Jane Seymour, and Katharine Parr; wives of Henry VIII. 229.

Style (in French), arms, and three crests, of Ulric Duke of Holstein, K. G. 230.

A quartered shield of arms (of Walter Blount, Lord Mountjoy, K. G.?) "In an old peece of embroidery at Mr: Fortescues." 230.

Quartered arms of "Hall the chronicler." 230.

Blazon of the crest and supporters of Henry Fitzroy Duke of Richmond, K. G. 230.

The arms of Holland, Pollard of Devonshire (within a collar of SS.), Chamon, Stapilton of Wyghall, "Comes Mirandula;" and Fitz-symond. 231.

The arms and crest of "Comitatus Foxe in Aragonia," of "Sanctus George," and of Sir William Petre of Writtle: also the last coat augmented. 231.

"The crest of the Kingdome of Ireland." 231.

Funeral certificates of Mr. Symon Bowyer, usher of the black rod, buried at Windsor; Maria, wife of Thomas Pagett of Walgrave, (ob. 31 Dec. 1598.) at S. Botolph Aldersgate; and . . . wife of Sir Henry Rooe alderman of London, at Hackney; with arms. 232.

Arms and quarterings of Sir . . . Stafford. 232.

* An historical account of the armorial bearings and badges used in different ages, and on various occasions, by the Kings of England; beginning* with the fabled Arviragus and Lucius, and then proceeding from William the Conqueror to Queen Elizabeth; with some of the badges tricked. 233—7.

* Thus—Joseph of Arimathea coming into this land wth Vespasian the Emper^r in the yeare of or Lord 63, instructed Arviragus. This article was taken from ff. 364—383 of Lord Hatton's MS. above mentioned.

3. Excerptum "Ex minore historia fratris Mathæi Parisiensis," super Willielmo de Marisco; cum armis ejusdem militis. p. 237.

From f. 27 of the same MS. as art. 1.

4. Arms tricked "Out of another booke* of Glovers colleccōns, intituled Armes and Pedigrees of the North." 238.

* Now in No. 834; whereof see part v. f. 42^b etc. and 36.

IX. Coats of Arms of many Knights of the Garter, tricked or copied from various antient Rolls and MSS. (pp. 239—254.) namely:—

1. Arms of "Mons^r Will: Windsore," and twenty other Knights. 239.

The source of these is not named; but see art. 19.

2. Arms of "Robert de Stepelton" and six others. 241.

"Out of the Earle Marshalls roll."

3. Arms of "Herbert de Borgherse" and five others. 241.

"Out of Sr Ed: Derings roll."

4. Arms of "Robert de Holande" and other Knights in Lancashire, Staffordshire, Norfolk, Kent, and Sussex. 241—2.

"Out of an old booke in ye Office of Armes."

5. Arms of "Le Sr Gray de Codnore," "Le Sr Gray de Wilton," and "Sir Sansett de Abris-court." 243.

"Out of Sr W^m Le Neves roll."

6. Arms of "Barth'us de Burghersh, Hugo de Courtney" and ten others. 243.

"Out of Sr Ed: Deerings booke, tempore H. 6."

7. Arms of "Sir John de Bouch, Sr Will'm son frer, Sr Ph: Be[c]h, Sr Will: Bech." 243.

"Out of Sr Symon Dewes' roll."

8. Arms of Warin de Lysle, Reynaud de Gray, Hue Daudeley and William Dangeley. 243.

"Out of another of Sr W^m Le Neve's rolls."

9. Arms of "Le Sr: Coucy, Le Count de Bolingbroke," and six others. 244.

"Out of Sr W^m Le Neves booke."

10. Arms of "Robert de Stepulton, H'd de Mohant" and ten others. 245.

"From a roll in Sr Hen: St: George his custody."

11. Arms of the Counte de Aubrigecourt and . . . de Audeley; also those of "Sir Jon de Mon," and "Sr Piers de Douedale," with French blazon. 245.

"Out of Sr: W^m Le Neves roll," and "From another roll of his."

12. Arms of "Sr Gyles de Bouch" and seven others. 245.

"From a roll in Sr Symon Dewes' custody."

13. Arms of Hugh Bardolf, Sir John de Lysle, and Roger Mortumar, with their blazons in French. 245.

"Out of the Earle Marshalls roll."

14. Blazon (in French) of the arms of forty-eight Knights: beg. "Sire Hue de Courteney, de or a 3 rondcus de goules, c un label de azure." p. 246—7.

By comparison it appears that these have been taken from a copy of the antient Roll of Bannerets of England, which is printed (from the Cottonian MS. Caligula A. XVIII.) in Palgrave's Parliamentary Writs, I. 410—420.

15. Arms of "Robert de Isle, Adam de Gray, . . . Isle," and fourteen others. 248.

"Out of a roll in Sr Hen: St George his custody: fo: 1."

16. Arms and blazon (in French) of thirty-six Knights: beg. Mons^r Nichol de Stapelton d'argent a un leon rampant de sable en armes de goules. 249—252.

"Out of Gennings his Ordinary." This MS. of "Jennyngs" is in the Office of Arms. See the Harleian copy of it, No. 1577, and Wanley's note on the Harleian MS. 793, art. 1.

17. Arms, quarterings, and crest of Sir Richard Stapleton, 252.

"From a roll of Sr W^m Le Neve's, of the Nobility, 1557."

18. Arms of "Chausors" (Chancer), Sir John Fastolf, and ten others. 252.

"In a roll of the E: of Arundel's."

19. Arms of forty-two Knights, beginning with "Mons^r Bartelmew de Burewassh." 253—4.

By the catchwords "Mons^r Will:" it is evident that art. 1. is the continuation, and that the outer leaf of this part has been wrongly folded.

- X. 1. Arms of Sir "Har Tonk von Clux" (4 Hen. V.) Sir Will. and Sir Fouke Fitzwarren*; and of "Peirs Capitain of Buce†." 255.

* "Ex collect. R. Glover Somers." † "In an old velome role of Arms in the handes of Mr: of"

On this page are fixed an impression of the seal of a K. G. done in paper inclosing a wafer; and part of an engraving containing the arms or crests of 18 Knights of the Garter.

2. "The coppies of 6 Plates now (1673) in the custody of Mr Henry Dethick, Rouge Croix Pursuivant at armes, having been taken from the stalls in Windesor Chapell, upon account of treason." 256—8.

(1.) No inscription. (2.) Thomas Darcy, 1551. (3.) John Earl of Warwick, 1547. (4.) Henry Marques of Dorset, 1547. (5.) Tho. Earl of Northumberland, 1563. (6.) Robert Earl of Essex, 1588.

On p. 268 is an impression of the small seal of arms of a K. G. in red wax.

3. Prints of impressions from the Plates exhibiting the Arms and Style of the following Knights of the Garter, set up in 1661:—

- | | |
|---|--------------------|
| (1.) Jacques Duc d'Ormond. | } Fixed on p. 269. |
| (2.) George Duc de Buckingham. | |
| (3.) Tho. Comte de Southampton. 270. | } 275. |
| (4.) George Duc d'Albemarle. | |
| (5.) Edouard Comte de Sandwich. | } 276. |
| (6.) Charles Duc de Richmond. | |
| (7.) Guillaume Comte de Strafford. 278. | |

These were all printed from wet impressions, taken before the plates were set up, and therefore seem but faint though bold: but one which is now placed opposite to the last (being removed hither from p. 288) is much darker, being the impression from the plate itself: namely—

- (8.) "Du—Prince Charles—Comte Palatine de Rhyne — 1680." 279.

4. Arms and Styles of ten Knights*, tricked and copied from the Plates set up in 1671-2-3. p. 281-5.

* Charles XI. King of Sweden, George Duke of Saxony, Christopher Duke of Albemarle, John Duke of Lauderdale, Henry Marq. of Worcester, Henry Earl of S. Alban's, Will. Earl of Bedford, Henry Earl of Arlington, Tho. Earl of Ossory, and Charles Earl of Southampton.

5. Arms* tricked from other Plates, with blazon of the crests and supporters. 286-91.

* Of John Earl of Mulgrave, Henry Duke of Newcastle, Thomas Earl of Danby, Henry Duke of Grafton, Charles Duke of Richmond; and three others unnamed, done with pencil.

- XI. The names and arms of all the Knights of the Garter, from the foundation until 1577; in the order of their preeminencies; dedicated unto Queen Elizabeth.* 304-339.

* Whose arms and style in English are on the first page. It ends thus:—"Herein is conteyned (most excellent Sovereigne) the Armes of all such worthy personages as have byne Companions of this most hoble: Order of the Garter since the foundaçon thereof, with the tymes of their elections and deceases. Whereof there hath byne 7. Emperours .17 Kings strangers" etc. This neat copy was made by Ashmole 23-4 Mar. 1658-9, "Ex Rot' pergam' penes Sim: Archer eq: aur."

- XII. Sixty-four quartered coats of Arms, with complete blazon*, "Transcribed from a booke of the Armes and Quarterings of the Nobility of England, made in the raigne of Queene Elizabeth by RALPH BROOKE then York Herald; being all written and exquisitely painted in vellome wth his owne hand, and now in the custody of Geo: Owen, Yorke Herald, vizt: 1659." 353-417.

* Written on the left hand pages, over against the tricked coats (which are two on each leaf), and numbered: '44' occurs twice, so that the last is marked '63.'

- "A Table of all the coates and quarterings before mentioned:" being an alphabetical Index of the names. 419-25.

- XIII. "Here under folowythe the names off the Knyghts doubbed and made by the most victorieuse and crystyn King our soverain lord King Henry the VII." with their Arms tricked. 431-467.

It does not appear from what MS. this valuable transcript was made. On the first page (430) are tricked the arms, supporters and badges of Henry VII. The first title is "Knyghtes made at the Kyngs landyng att Mylford haven:" the last name is Sir John Fysher, knighted anno 19.

On the last page of this quire is written a list of—

- "Banerets and Knights made by the D: of Somerset in Scotland, 28 Sept: in the afternoone, 1548." 468.

Copied from "Will: Patten's diary of the D: of Somersets expedition into Scotland 1548."

- XIV. 1. "A draught* of the one halfe of the Emperour of Muscovies great Seale, the other halfe being like unto it. 1663." 469.

* Probably on a larger scale, it being 9 inches high; done with pencil on a leaf of paper attached to this page. (See No. 1540.) In like manner are now fixed the following drawings, which were found in sundry parts of this volume: all the leaves of this last quire being unwritten.

2. "Saint George, after the manner as he is painted in the Greek churches." p. 471.

"Copied from a draught given me by Doctor Edward Browne, as he observed it in his travells into those parts."

3. Arms of Nassau and others quartered together; with crests. 473.

4. Arms and supporters of "Lord Cobham elected 3 E. 6. set before his booke of the Stat^s of the Order." 475.

"Wch booke is (1670) in the handes of Gilb't Ld Archbp of Cant."

5. Arms etc. of Villiers, first Duke of Buckingham; with a note of the honors that he enjoyed. 477.

6. Arms with many quarterings, of 'Claude de Lorraine, Duke of Chevereuse*', K. G. 479.

* See number 422 in Ashmole's printed list and plates. Tricked by Dugdale (as it seems): it has the supporters, crest and mantling, all fairly done.

7. Arms of Burley and Sarnesfeild, "In the window of the north isle in Cashalton church." 481.

Tricked; seemingly from "Mr Moles visit: of Surrey 1623."

8. Mons. 'Fysemmond' (Fitz-Simon) armed on horseback, and the arms of 'Mons^r Keriell.' 483.

"Drawne [with pencil, by Ashmole,] from an old large fol' of Sr W. Le Neves, wherein the Gentry of severall Counties are figured in this manner, 2 & 2 fighting together, or charging each other. fol' 16." and 25. That MS. is now in the British Museum.

No. 1122.

VOLUME XXVI. consists of 257 leaves with margins ruled off, as usually, written by the hand of Simon Martyn, and corrected by Ashmole; except article 3, which is wholly by Ashmole's hand, and the last 39 leaves (which are blank, as also 10 leaves at the beginning), and the last leaf or page of some others.

No. 1123.

VOLUME XXVII. consists of sundry quires of fair paper with ruled margins, to the number of 242 leaves, (beside 10 blank leaves prefixed,) the last quire whereof (ff. 212—242) is blank: it contains fair transcripts by the hand of Ashmole and others.

I. "Catalogus Custodum sive Decanorum liberæ Capellæ Regiæ S^{ci} Georgii infra Castrum de Windsor, nec non Canonicorum sive Præbendariorum ibidem. Ex archivis ejusdem liberæ Capellæ collectus, et in ordine, juxta annorum in quibus installati sunt seriem, redactus, An^o: Domini 1618, et — Jacobi 16^o. Quo tempore, ex prædecessorum negligentia et incuria, si non improbitate quorundam, factum est, ut quam plurima ejusdem Capellæ munimenta, unde hæc et hujusmodi magis exquisite peti possent et deberent, vel deperdita sunt, vel mala fide servata, vel saltem imperfecta et mutilata habebantur. Cum continuatione ejusdem usque ad annum præsentem.* Hæc autem memorabilia, quasi e tenebris eruta et in lucem hanc nostram Windsorianam edita sunt, opera et industria THOMÆ FRITH præfatæ liberæ Capellæ Canonici. Qui hoc" (et reliqua multa.) ff. 1^a, 1^b—11, 12—22.

* The present copy of this valuable work is brought down to Dr. Christopher Wren, who was made Dean in 1634, and was deprived in 1641: Ashmole has added in the margin "Obijt 1658." The series of Canons comes no lower than 1628, where it ends with the name only of Daniel Collins. The next article seems to be a part of it, being brought down to the same time; but it is not printed with Frith's work; which was published by Dr. Rawlinson at the end of Ashmole's Antiquities of Berkshire, (London 1719, 3 vol. 8vo.) III. p. 215—281, with a separate title-page dated 1718, and is continued down to the year 1716, and enlarged with Lists of Minor Canons etc. p. 282—4. An other transcript is in Wood's MS. 121, continued by him to the year 1682; and a supplement to Frith's work was formerly preserved in Wood's MS. 105, f. 151.

12. “The Queenes Magesties ordinances for the continuall charges,” to the said Poor Knights etc. 57.

13. "Peticuler of the rents appoynted for the defraying of the charge or disbursements before mentioned." 57^b—8, 59^a.

Compare f. 79.

14. "Rentes belonging to the Church of Windsor, in the counties of Wilts Devon' Cornwall Oxon', wth the Tennants names that now* live on them." 58^b.

* "Vizt: when ye Protector made his setlem^t by ordinance."

These six articles were "Transcribed from Mr. Math: Dayes handwrit^s:" and afterward, all but the last, "Examined by ye originall indented booke bound in velvet, 27 March 1661, then being wth Mr Fawconbridge in ye Excheqr." from which also, as it seems, were copied the addition to art. 13 (on 59^a) and what follows.

15. "The order for the foure quarter obitts in the Chappell at Windsor, for the memory and commendation of the Queenes maties progenitors, Fomnders of the Order of the Garter." 59—60^b.

"Penes Camer' Seaccarij." The latter part contains some regulations for the 13 clerks, and the exhibitioners at the Universities, which are not in the copy at f. 80^b.

IV. "Fundatio [commemorationis] obitus Regis HEN: 7^{mi}: pro perpetuo celebrand' in Collegio de Wynd." (17 Dec. anno 20.) 63—8.

"26 July 1659. Transcribed from the originall indented booke left wth the Deane and Chanons of Windsor, and now with the Register for Deanes and Chapters lands at the Ex[c]ise-office in Broadstreet, London." A description of which follows, and is also in No. 1115, f. 20^b. This is an indenture quadripartite, between the King, the Abbat of Westminster, the College of Windsor, and the City of London, covenanting that certain services therein particularized should be celebrated, and that a yearly payment should be made from the Abbey to the College therefore.

V. 1. "By vertue of an ordinance of—the Lord Protector [Cromwell] — for continuance and mainteynance of the Almeshowes and Almesmen called Poore Knightes, and other charitable and pious uses, whereof the late Deane and Canons of Windsor were feoffees in trust, wee the Governours of the Almeshouses in Windsor Castle,—doe hereby appoint the ensuing Statutes Ordinances Rules and Orders, for the establishm^t: and good governm^t: of the said Almeshouses and Almesmen — and other the charitable and pious uses—to be kept and observed." 71—5.

2. Extracts from the testaments of Sir Peter Le Maire (proved 16 Jan. 1632), his brother in law Sir Francis Crane (proved 3 Oct. 1636), and his brother Sir Richard Crane (proved 12 Mar. 1655—6), with short pedigrees tricked thence. 75^b—6^b.

"Ex Registro Curie Prerogative Cant. extract."

3. Abstract of an inquisition taken at Windsor, 4 Mar. 1652, respecting the estates left by Sir Fra. Crane, for the benefit of the Poor Knights of Windsor; with a statement of the proceedings about the same, from 16 Mar. 1652 to 28 Feb. 1656. f. 76^b, 77^a.

4. Names of five "Poore K^{ts}: plaeced in this foundaēon by ye Protector," and of those 'put in their roomes' by Charles II. 77.

5. Final decision of the estates left by Sir F. Crane for the said use, made 27 Jan. 1659. f. 77^b.

An abstract of No. 1115, art. 27: compare also artt. 28—9, with this and the three foregoing articles.

VI. 1. "The landes appoynted to the Queenes free Chappell within her highnes Castell of Wyndesore, by the late Protectour and other the Kings counsellors, for the establishment and performance of certaine ordinances conteyned in the last Will and Testament of — Henry the viijth" etc. with a statement of their various disadvantages. 79—80.

This list is the same as that at f. 57^b—8, and the following article is the same as that at f. 59.

2. "Thordre for the fower quartre obits in the Chappell at Windsor for the memory — of the — Founders of the Order of the Garter." 80^b—81.

The next article was entered here (also by Ashmole) many years after.

3. Considerations and resolution of the Privy Council and the Executors of Henry VIII. in conjunction with the Judges and Law-Officers of the crown, about the manner in which estates should be conveyed and assured to the parties interested in his Will. (24 Feb. 1 Edw. VI.) 81^b—4^b.

"Transcribed out of the Councell Booke."

4. Note of the reformation of the Order of the Garter, ordered 15 Apr. 1548. 85^a.

"Copied out of the s^d Councill Booke."

VII. 1. Particulars "Collected from the Surveys made of landes belonging to the Deane and Chapter of Windesore, by appointm^t of the Parliament." 87—91.

Written by ASHMOLE '15 July 1659;' showing the old and the improved rents. The following article is on a leaf inserted.

2. "Improvem^{ts}: made in Cromwell's tyme, of the lands set forth and assigned to ye Deane &c: of Windsor, a^o 1^o Eliz." 92^a.

VIII. (A.) JACOBI DENTON "Liber Statutorum comunas* Cantariorum et Choristarum hujus Collegii [Windsorensis] concernencium." 96—103^b.

* Legendum hulecibus. Vide No. 1113, xi. art. 2.

7. "Hic incipiunt Injunctiones" a JOHANNÉ KEMPE, Archiepiscopo Eboracensi, Collegio datæ. 33—41^b.

"Expliciunt Injunctiones.—"

8. "Sequitur breve regium de eisdem observandis." (22 Feb. 10 Hen. VI.) 42.

In fine—"Require alias literas regias executorias super isto brevi, sub segneto factas, et Decano et Capitulo capellæ prædictæ transmissas, exequendas, et in omnibus perimplendas, inceptione istius libri descriptas." (Not in this book, but in the MS. from which this was copied. A copy, from the original, is in No. 1125, i. art. 14.)

9. "Tabula Injunctionum." 42—3.

10. P. CLEMENTIS VI. bulla, qua Capellam regiam Windesor. ab omni ordinaria jurisdictione ecclesiastica, liberam fecit. (Avinione, 2 id. Feb. anno 9.) 43^b—4.

11. Acta in capitulo Windesorensi, de residentia et non residentia. (15 Mar. 1478.) 44^{ab}.

All these articles, except the two last, are also contained in No. 814.

II. 1. Extracts of and observations on various Charters, Statutes, and other muniments of the College of Windsor, relating to its rights, privileges, customs and estates; entitled—"An extract of some particulars out of Mr. DENTON'S Ledger-book." 47—82^b.

At the end also is this note:—"Heere ends the extract out of Liber Denton." The leaves referred to run from 1 to 321: there is a copy of the list of all its contents in No. 1125, f. 91—9. This and the following articles were "Excerpted out of a booke of Collecōns made by Dr: EVANS Prebend[ary] of Windsor, and marked A." See his letters in No. 1131.

2. Copies and abstracts of various documents relating to the College of Windsor, with the proceedings thereon in Chapter, from 1550 to about 1562, and observations concerning them; also various matters relating to its privileges: collected by Dr. EVANS. (ff. 32^b—160^b.) 83^b—136^b.

3. "The College's exempcōns from archiepiscopall and episcopall jurisdiction." 137—8^b.

"Entred at the other end of lib' A."

4. "Chapter-acts made by ye King and ye Knts: of the Order, concerning our Coll." 139—143^b.

5. "The state and case of Resident Canons of Windsor, as also of Non-Residents:" and about the Dean's absence. 143^b—150.

6. "An account of some of ye priviledges of the Dean and Canons of Windsor, together with a plea for their non-paym^t: of taxes, pericularly the 18 moneths tax, and the tax upon hearths: this Michaelmas 1662:" with two appendices, one of which relates to "The north wall of the College." 150^b—5.

7. "The submission of an Officer* of the King's wardrobe, who had violated our priviledges by executing a writt out of the Exchequer in our Coll." 155—6.

* Henricus Este valettus guardarobæ, 33 Hen. VI.

8. Of the "Option of houses" among the Canons. 156—8^b.

9. Miscellaneous notes relating to the College, "Excerpted out of the aforesaid Liber A. collected by Dr: EVANS Chanon of Windsor." 159.

10. "The Deane and Canons answer to the Poore Knts: Pet: for annulls the Act in E. 4. reigne." 164^a.

This is an abstract of several proceedings in the dispute in the time of Henry VII.; probably from the notes of Dr. Evans. Compare No. 29 and 30, and No. 1125, i. art. 16.

11. An abstract of various matters touching the residence of the Canons, and the revenues and stipends of the Choir. 164^b.

Apparently a continuation of the same notes.

III. 1. Grants of Prebends and of the places of Poor Knights, Chapter-acts, and various other documents relating to the College of Windsor, in the reigns of Charles I. and II. "Excerpted out of an other booke of Collections made by the said Dr: EVANS Prebend[ary] of Windsor, and marked B." (ff. 5^b—101.) 165—195.

2. "Other things excerpted out of the s^d Liber B." 195^b—7^b.

3. Extracts from the same book, relating to the rents and estates of the College; 1642, 1648, and 1663. (ff. 72^b—83.) 198—201.

The contents of the latter parts of this volume are multifarious, and may be found valuable to the antiquary.

No. 1125.

VOLUME XXIX. contains 244 leaves, whereof the last 42 are vacant, as are also 10 at the beginning and many at intervals: it is fairly written by the hands of Ashmole and his amanuenses.

40. Scriptum per quod RICARDUS BEAUCHAMP miles, f. et h. Will. Beauchamp mil. domini de S. Amando, dedit Collegio Windesorensi omnia terras et ten. quæ fuerunt Prioris et conv. domus et eccl. S. Joh. Bapt. de Sandeford. (9 Mar. 17 Edw. IV.) 47b—8.

With a note that the Dean and Chapter's letter of attorney was dated 10 March.

41. Scriptum THOME Prioris S. Petri Canonicorum de Dunstaple, ecclesiam suam de Northmerston in com. Buck. concesserunt Collegio Windesorensi, in commutatione pro ecclesia de Wedenbek in com. Northampton. (30 Jan. 19 Edw. IV.) 48ab.

With a drawing of the seal.

II. Petitions, memorials, and other documents relating to the College of Windesor; copied from the originals there. ff. 49—64.

The following brief titles are for the most part noted on the margin by Ashmole. The first five articles serve to complete the series of documents, on the subject to which they relate, in No. 1124, ix. art. 3.

1. "Petición touching repair of the Castle-walls, adjoining to the Chanons' houses." 49.

2. The "Lo: Tre'rs reference to y^e Kings Attorney and Solicitor, touching the Castle-walls, and their answers to the same." 49.

With the signatures of "T. BUCHURST, EDW: COKE, THO. FLEMING," in facsimile.

3. Inquisitio facta per RIC. WARD et Jo. NORREYS mil. super decasu muri castri Windesor. (12 Apr. 3 Jac. I.) 49^b.
With facsimiles of their signatures.
4. "Pet: to the Earle of Salish: Steward of the Colledge, to recommend the Deanes &c: sute to the Lord Tr'er," for the repair of the ruined wall, at the King's cost; together with the Earle's recommendation thereof. 50.
5. The "Lord Tr'ers warr^l: for repaire of the castle wall," to Sir John Nerreis and Sir John Trevor. (22 Feb. 1606.) 50^b—1.
Signed in facsimile "To: DORSET."
6. The "Singing mens pet: to the Visitor of y^e Colledge, to be reliev'd for wages;" with his answer, subscribed* "T. ELLESMERE Canc." 51.
* In facsimile.
7. "The Lord Cheife Justice and At[t]orney Generalls answer, concerning the Clearkes of the Chapells cause, refer'd to them." (12 Jan. 1604.) 51^b—2.
Signed in facsimile "Jo: POPHAM, EDUARD COKE."
8. AMBROSE "FROSTS pet: touching his expulsion" from his clerk's place in the Colledge. 52.
9. "The answer of the Deane and Canons of Windsor to the complaint of Tho: Churchman and Ambrose Frost, singing men of his Ma^{ty}s free Chaple ther, exhibited to your Lordship." 52^b—53^b.
This is the original title. Some of Ashmole's marginal notes appear to be the variations of an other copy.
10. "The some of all the manno^{rs} and rectories geven by King Edw: VI. to [the] Deane and Canons, accord^s to his fathers will, for recompence of clx^{li}. ijs. iiij. which before the death of his sayd father H. 8. was passed to the crowne by the Deane and Canons, of the best landes &c: is vj^e lxx^{li}. vjs. viij^d." (13 Oct. 1596.) The particulars thereof; with some proceedings in chapter, 3 Nov. 1596. f. 54.
Ashmole calls it an "Answer to the complaint of the Church Aⁿ. 1596."
11. GEORGE Earl of HUNTINGDON's letter to the Earle of Essex, in answer to his request to annex his chantry in S. George's chapel, to the office of the Divinity Reader at Windsor. (Dunnington park, 22 Jan.) 55.
12. "The copie of [the] right hono^{ble} GEORGE the Earle of HUNTINGDON's presentation of Mr: [Francis] Mason to his chauntry." (22 Jan. 1595.) 55.
It was inclosed in the letter foregoing: both are here subscribed in facsimile.
13. Note of the names of the successors in the said chantry, being the Readers in Divinity there. (22 Jan. 1609.) 55^b.
14. "Reasons to shewe why the Deane and Canons of Windsores may not admitt M^r: Briggs to the — Earle of Huntingdons chauntry in the Kinges free Chappell of Windsores." 55^b—6.

15. "The state of the chauntry of the — Earle of Huntingdon in his Majesties free Chappell of Windsores." 56.

The original heading, as also is that of art. 14, which belongs to it: but intitled by Ashmole, the "Petición of the Deane and Chanons of Windsores to the Lord Chancellor."

16. Letter from the Canons to Lord Chancellor Ellesmere, requesting that the said chantry might be annexed unto the readership. (30 May 1610.) 56^b.

Signed in facsimile—"WILL^M WILSON Leiffenant, RO: CHALONER, ERAS: WELLS, CHARLES SOMERBANCKE, HENRY BEAUMONT, MARDOCHLEUS ALDEM."

17. Letter of [HENRY] Earl of HUNTINGDON to the Dean and Canons, threatening to inforce his right of patronage, unless they peaceably admitted Mr. Briggs upon his presentation. 57.

Dated by Ashmole in the margin, '5 June 1610.'

18. The "Answer thereunto" returned, by the Dean's Lieutenant and the Canons. (12 June 1610.) 57.

19. Petition of JOHN BRIGGS, clerk, requesting the Lord Chancellor Ellesmere to interpose his authority as Visitor, for his due enjoyment of the chantry, which was hut 8^l. yearly. (22 June 1610.) With the answer, subscribed "T. E. C." 58.

20. Letter of the Dean and Canons, refusing the Earle of Huntingdon's demand for the payment of eight years' arrears, and 20 marks damages, to Mr. Briggs. 58^b.

Dated by Ashmole "22 Oct. 1610," but neither signed nor directed.

21. The Earle of HUNTINGDON's letter to the Dean and Canons, notifying his presentation of Mr. Wade, master of the Hospital of Stoke near Windsor, to his chantry, in augmentation of his maintenance. (Dunnington, 19 Sept. 1621.) 58^b.

Subscribed in facsimile, as also art. 23.

22. Their answer, declaring the opinion of their learned counsel, that the chantry was legally dissolved, and its profits annexed unto their Colledge. (4 Oct. 1621.) 59.

23. HUNTINGDON's answer, threatening to inforce his right by law. (4 July 1623.) 59.

24. Indenture between EDWARD Lord HASTINGES and Chr. Urswik, Dean of Windsor, agreeing that Sir Reynold Bray, and other sergeants at law, should recover the manors of Farmandby and Esthalgarth, with other lands and tenements in Yorkshire, for the endowment of a chantry, according to the last will of his father William Lord Hastings. (30 Nov. 15 Hen. VII.) 59^b—60.

With a facsimile of the signature, as at f. 22^b. (i. art. 17.) This was the chantry disputed with the Earle of Huntingdon.

25. R. HENRICT VII. literæ patentis, licentiam dantes Edwardo Domino Hastynges maneria

- * terrasque in com. Ebor. ad annum valorem 20 lib., Collegio Windesorensi pro cantaria fundanda concedere. (20 Oct. anno 22.) 60^b—1^b.
- *26. Petition of the Dean and Canons, supplicating the King† to confirm, by his letters patent, the title of their advowson of Olney in Buckinghamshire, which they had obtained from Richard Duke of Gloucester (afterward King) and Anne his wife, in exchange for that of Symondesburn in Durham. 61^b—2^b.
† Henry VII.?
- *27. Brief history of the parish and jurisdiction of Wolverhampton in Staffordshire, from the time of King Edgar, by Dean WREN. 62^b—3^b.
“Transcribed from Dr: CHR: WREN’s hand, sometyme Deane of Windsor;” with some references to records by Ashmole, both on the margin, and at f. 64^b.
28. “Reasons” etc.* 63^b—4^b.
* Of this last article the original paper has been left in the book; namely—
- III. “Reasons to mouve the right honourable Erle of Huntingdon, not to confer his Chauntry upon Mr: Briggs, but to continewe it in the course it is, and to annexe it to the Reader of Divinitye, whoe from time to time shall be in the King’s free Chappell of Windsor.” 65^{ab}.

5. P. CLEMENTIS VI. "Bulla pro matrimonio inter dominum Tho: de Holand et Johannam natam Com: Kanc." (Avinion. id. Nov. anno 8.) 114^b—7^b.
- Ibid. fol. 180^{ab}.
6. "Processus habitus super dispensatione contrahendi matrimonium inter [Edwardum] Principem Wall. et Comitissam Kancie," ad Papam certificatus per literas SIMONIS Archiepiscopi Cantuar. (18 Oct. 1361.) 117^b—120^b.
- Ibid. fol. 180^b—1. This document is the same in substance as that which is printed in the Fœdera, New Edition, III. part ii. p. 626—7, from the original in the Chapter House at Westminster.
7. "Confirmacio processus habitus in negotio matrimonii inter [Edwardum] Principem Wall. et uxorem suam," per bullam P. INNOCENTII VI. (Avinion. 3 id. Dec. anno 9.) 120^b—2.
- Ibid. fol. 183^a. Printed in the same work, p. 632—3, from the original bull.
- 8. "Acta pro domina Elizabetha Comitissa Canc. nuper castitatem vocente, eo quod post votum hujusmodi, cuidam militi se matrimonialiter fecit copulari." 130—3.
- * Sir Eustace de Abrichescourte. This document, (transcribed from fol. 166^b—7 of Abp. Islep's Register,) enabled Ashmole to correct an error of Ralph Brooke's, which had been 'overseen' by Vincent. (Institution, p. 707—8.) An abstract of the curious story that it contains, is given in Dugdale's Baronage (II. 95); and it is thence repeated in No. 160 of "The World."
9. "Testamentum domini BARTHOLOMEI DE BURWASHE militis, defuncti." Gallice. (4 Apr. 1369.) 133—4^b.
- "Ex Registro principali domini Archiep: Cant: vocat: Willesey. fo. 98. a" et b.

13. Passages "Excerpted out of Sr WALTER MAN[N]Y's will, dated on St Andrewes day, a^o. 1371." 139.
Ibid. fol. 121^{ab}.
14. "Copia testamenti piæ memoriæ domini EDWARDI de Wyndesore, nuper Regis Angliæ." (Havering atte Boure, 7 Oct. 1376.) 139^b—142^b.
- *"Probacio dicti testamenti. Hæc probacio non emanavit [sed] alia quæ sequitur." (25 Junii, 1377, anno 3.) 142^b—3^b.
- *"Alia probacio testamenti domini Regis" Edwardi III. per SIMONEM Archiep. Cant. (17 cal. Sept. 1377, anno 3.) 143^b—5.
Ibid. fol. 97^b—98^b. This will of Edward III. is printed (from Sudbury's Register) at the end of his reign in the New Edition of the Fœdera, (vol. III. part ii. p. 1080): but both these probates are unaccountably omitted in that work, though they are of great importance, as to the right claimed and exercised by the Archbishop of Canterbury to prove royal wills.
15. "Testamentum sive ultima voluntas *secunda, prætensa, domini WALTERI PAU[E]LY militis defuncti." Gallice. (21 Nov. 3 Ric. II.) 145^{ab}.

No. 1127.

VOLUME XXXI. contains 250 leaves of paper, written by sundry hands, except the last quire (ff. 217—50) and 10 leaves at the beginning, which are vacant.

I. Translation, by EDW. PHILIPPS, of "The Institution of the most illustrious Order denominated from the noble Garter," from the introductory part of the *Black Book of the same Order. ff. 1—25^b.

* Pages 1—26. Compare No. 1129, pp. 1—30. The marginal notes on the three first pages are by Ashmole's hand.

II. The Statutes of the Order of the Garter, "Translated from the Lord Hatton's old MS:" by EDW. PHILIPPS; with notes by Ashmole. 27—35^b.

See No. 1128. ii.

III. The Statutes of the Order, set forth by King HENRY V., "Translated [by EDW. PHILIPPS] from the old Statutes* entred at the beginning of the old Reg^r: called Registrum Cartaceum;" with notes by Ashmole. 36—46^b.

* Whereof the transcript is in No. 1128. i.: the text is the same as that of the next article.

IV. Another version of the same Statutes, translated "Out of an old booke in 4^{to} in the Herald's Office, in French." (ff. 8.) 50—7.

The transcript is in No. 1128. iii. which, as well as this translation, is by the same hand as No. 1098: they are both corrected by Edw. Philipps. An other copy of the translation is in part vii. of this volume.

V. "The Statutes of the institution of the Order of St: George," as ordained by King EDWARD IV., translated out of the *Black Book; with notes and corrections by Ashmole. 58—65^b.

* Compare No. 1129, pp. 34—41. This last page (41) is not part of the Statutes; and is omitted in Ashmole's printed copy. The handwriting is unknown.

VI. An old translation of "The Statutes of the Order of the Garter" set forth by King HENRY V.: beg. In the worshipp of God, saint Mary the glorious virgine, and scint George. 66—73^b.

"Transcribed [by Simon Martyn] from a MS: of Mr Owen's, wherein is a Visitacon of Lincolnshire and oth^r matters."

VII. An other translation of the same Statutes of HENRY V. ff. 74—81^b.

Copied, by an unknown hand, from part iv. above described.

VIII. Translation of an other text of the same Statutes; by EDW. PHILIPPS. 82—91^b.

"Translated from an ancient French MS: written in vellome, in Bibl' Hat[on]: having this coate† painted in the margent wth in a garter; the crest an eagle and child, wth a cressant gules on the eagles brest. This body of Statutes agrees in all thing[s] wth that of II. 5. only here is an a[ddition] of the 25. 26. 27. 28. & 41. Articles." These notes, and a long one about the obscurity of punctuation in the Founders' names, (see also No. 1128, f. 17.) are by Ashmole's hand.

† The arms of Stanley quartering those of the kingdom of Man, &c. (Sir William Stanley, temp. Hen. VII. Compare No. 1120, f. 26^b.)

IX. "The Statutes of the Order of the Garter, reformed and explained annis { ⁸ } * HEN. 8:" with the oath of a Knight of the Garter, and additional Statutes to the first year of Queen ELIZABETH. 94^a, 95—107^b.

* Anstis, in his Register of the Order, (II. 293,) hath blamed Ashmole for a remarkable error in his printed copy of the English Statutes of Henry VIII., where, in the preface, it is said that they were made "by their [the Knights' Companions'] advyse, counsell, and assent, the xxiii. day of April, in the year of grace M. D. XXII. and of his moost noble reign the viii. yere." The year 1522 was the fourteenth, (xiiiij.) not the 'eighth' year of Henry VIII.; and it is not a little strange that Ashmole should have permitted such an error to pass in print, after correcting it in the present MS. (f. 95^b) by putting "14^o" in the margin, for "8th: yeaere" which is in the text. Strange, however, as it may appear, every MS. copy in this collection has the same error, even the oldest of them No. 773 (written before 32 Hen. VIII.), and No. 777, No. 1119, xii., and part x. of the present MS., read "vijth," and No. 771 has expressly "the eyght yeaere." Dugdale's MS. 44, which is of the time of Philip and Mary, and on vellum, reads "the viij yere." No. 777 also represents the year as '1523.' But the Black Book gives the true date in words at length, in Latin, with a difference only in the day, namely, 24 April 1522, anno 14 Hen. VIII.

The present copy was neatly and carefully "Transcribed [by Ashmole] from a large quarto vellome booke, fairely written in a text-letter; having at the beginning the armes of the Order, and King James his armes impaled, wth in the garter, and crowned; and underneath the King of Denmarke's coate, crowned wth a Princes coronet, and surrounded with the Garter; without which [are] his mantle helme and creast. Febr. 1655." (94^a.)

On the back of the brief title given above (f. 94^b.) Ashmole hath written some notes concerning his marginal collation with Lord Henry Cobham's copy, (see also 106^a.) and the variations from the Latin text of the Black Book (94^b); and at the end he hath inserted a leaf, containing—

"The variaunce betweene the K^g of Denmarke booke of the Order of the Garter, and the Duke of Suff: (the 3^d Marques Dorset) his booke," of these Statutes. 108^a.

The former copy is that which precedes this paper, and the latter that which next follows.

X. "Thes Statutes and Ordinances of the most noble Order of Saint George named the Gartier, reformed explained and declared and renewed by the moost high moost excellent and moost puissant prince, HENRY the Eight" etc. 110—120^b.

Ending with the ordinance "For ye assistants to ye Lieutenante" 19 Hen. VIII.; the last words being—then it be at his pleasour. (See No. 1111, ii. art. 4.) This is a fair transcript made by Ashmole from the copy belonging to "Henry Gray, the third Marquess Dorset and Duke of Suffolke, father to Queen Jane; beheaded 23 of Febr. 1553:" whose arms (with a facsimile of his signature "H. Suffolk.") and those of S. George impaling England, are severally tricked within garters, as a frontispiece, on f. 109^b.

Here it may be added that a French version of these Statutes, intitled "Estatutz et Ordonnances du tres noble Ordre" etc. (beg. Comme le tres fameux tres victorieux, and ending—pour aucun besoign ou necessite que ce soit.) was published, from a MS., in the Mantissa of Leibnitz, pp. 7—17; which is different from the French version in No. 776, and seems more likely than that one to be the translation said to have been made by Garter Wriothsley.

XI. "Liber Ordinis Garterij reformatus ab Edwardo Sexto:" or, the Statutes of the Order, in English, as reformed by King EDWARD VI. 121^a, 122—130^b.

"Transcribed from a faire velome MS: in St: Rich: Fan.

shawes custody, † 20 Apr: 1660," by S. Martyn's hand; but the first page, containing the title and a note about the repealing of these Statutes by Queen Mary, was written by Ashmole. Two vellum copies of these Statutes are at No. 772 and 774, beside the draughts noticed in No. 1119, xiii. There are also two Latin versions in No. 1128, v. and vii. (C.)

XII. "The Constitutions peculiarly belonging to the Officers of the said Order, who are five, viz. [etc.] Wherein is declared what charges the Sovereign willeth to be expended by each of the said Officers, what their priviledges are, with what vesture they are clad, what wages they have for executing their offices, together with the liberties and priviledges to be granted to the Poor Knights:" translated from the Black Book of the Order (pp. 232—8)* by EDW. PHILIPPS. 131—5^b.

* No. 1129, pp. 184—9. See No. 1116, ii. 1.

XIII. "The Statutes of the Order of the Golden Fleuret," (27 Nov. 1431); and "The Ordinances for the Officers of the Order;" translated into English by EDW. PHILIPPS. 139—166, 167—175^b.

The text from which this translation was made is in No. 1128, ix.

XIV. I. Extracts translated and abridged "Out of PETER BOITEL'S Historical Relations of ye pomps and ceremonies at ye reception of ye Knights of ye Holy Ghost by K. Lewis the 13th A^o 1620, printed at Paris ye same year" (p. 18—233); containing an account of the pompous institution of the Order 1 Jan. 1579, and the charter and other instruments of its foundation. 179—197^b.

2. Account of the 'Tournament of the Knight of the Royal Amaranthus' "Extracted [and translated] out of P. BOITEL'S Generall History of all that hapned most remarkable, as well in France as in other forrain countrys, in the yeares 1618, 1619, 1620. Printed at Paris in the year 1620." (p. 87—95, 85.) 198—9^b.

3. "A discours of the ceremony observed in the last creation of the Knights of the Order of the Holy Ghost, by K. Lewis the 13th. [Translated] Out of a French book in his Majesties Library at St James's, intituled, Les noms, surnoms, qualites, armes et blasons, des Chevaliers de l'Ordre du St Esprit, 1633. Collected by the Sieur D'HOSIER, and printed at Paris, 1634." 200—214.

These three translations were made and written by EDW. PHILIPPS, for Ashmole's use: they are on smaller paper than the rest of the volume.

+ If such 'custody' be understood to have been the same as that mentioned in No. 1128, i. and iv., the State Paper Office, it may be observed that no such volume is now preserved in that repository.

No. 1128.

VOLUME XXXII. contains 210 leaves of paper, the last quire whereof, and 10 unnumbered leaves at the beginning, are vacant. The greater part of it (namely, parts i. iii. and vi.) was written by the same hand as No. 1098—9 etc.

I. Statutorum Ordinis Georgiani, prout a Rege EDUARDO III. ejusdem Ordinis Fundatore sunt ordinata, exemplar, in REGISTRO CHARTACEO exhibitum: inc. Ad honorem omnipotentis Dei. ff. 1—8.

"This was copied from an old French Register of ye Order (written in different handes of the tyme) being lent me out of the Paper Office at Whitehall, by Sr: Rich: Fanshaw in Dec: 1660." (ff. 1—3^b.) Another note of Ashmole's, written at the end, says "M^d that these Statutes were writ in a sett hand of the tyme," namely in the reign of Henry V. From this transcript, the first text of the Statutes printed in Ashmole's Appendix, was taken †; which has been reprinted by Leibnitz, in his Mantissa Codicis Juris Gentium Diplomatici, (1747, fol. part ii. pp. 1—7, and preface p. 7.) An English translation of this text is in No. 1127, i.

The remainder of the "French Register" is copied in part vi. of this volume.

II. Eorundem aliud exemplar: inc. Ad honorem Dei, sanctæ Mariæ virginis gloriosæ. ff. 9—16.

Intituled by Ashmole the "Originall Statutes of the Garter:" which were by him "Copied from Sr: Wm Le Neve's collect: and, by the eitacons in the BP: of Norwiches notes upon II: 8: systeme †, appers to be a copy of the Statts of Foundaçon written in Denton's booke. This cobby also agrees exactly wth the Lord Hatton's old MS: 40." from which MS. the second text printed in Ashmole's Appendix, was taken. An English translation is in No. 1127, ii.

III. Les Statutes de l'Ordre de la Jartiere, ordonnés par le Roi HENRI V.: com. A louneur de Dieu sainte Marie la gloreuse vierge. (ff. 8.) 17—24.

"Ex codice antiquo in principio ejusdem. In Officio Armo- rum." viz. that now marked No. 63 among the Arundel MSS. See the Catalogue, p. 95, and 37, where for 'first ordained by Edward III.' read as reformed by Henry V. An English translation, by the same hand as this transcript, is in No. 1127, iv. Ashmole remarks that "The emendacõs wth EDW: PHILIPPS hand, were by an old MS: cobby belonging to Sr: Seymer Shirley, of Stanton Harold in com' Leic: Bart." Beside an other note on the first page, by Ashmole, from the Cottonian copies in Domitianus A. XVIII. and Nero D. II., he hath subjoined—

An addition to the 14th statute, from the Cottonian MS. Julius C. IX.; and a description of Lord Hatton's French copy of the Statutes. 24^b.

+ "The original of these was ordained to be safely kept within the Treasury of the College of Windsor, but hath long since wholly perished: yet there is a transcript of them recorded in the reign of King Henry the Fifth, at the beginning of the old book called Registrum Ordinis Chartaccum; a copy whereof we have placed first in rank of the insections and autographs in the Appendix" &c. Ashmole's Institution, p. 191.

IV. Regis HENRICI VIII. Statuta Ordinis Georgiani, Latine versa. 25—34^b.

"Transcribed [by Simon Martyn] from an old MS: authentically belonging to the Lord Burgliley, & written about H. ye 8. tyme, and lent me out of the Paper Office at Whitehall, by Sr Rich: Fanshaw in Decemb' 1660." From the heading,—“Orders and Names of Knights of the Garter” altered to Statutes, and from the exact correspondence of this unique text with No. 1119, vi., it is evident that the said ‘old MS.’ is now in this Library, in vol. xxiii. of these Collections.

V. “The Statutes of the Order of the Garter, made by King EDWARD the Sixth:” in Latin: beg. Edwardus Scatus Dei gratia Angliæ etc. 36—9.

This version is not so full as the English text in No. 1127, xi. etc. The last words are—que cum hijs pugnent abolerent. Statuta vero quecunque antehac sancita, istis non repugnantia pristina vim robur ac momentum obtinente. [sic.] See part vii. (C.) of this volume.

*VI. Nobilissimi Ordinisi a Garterio dicti REGISTRUM CHARTACEUM, in quo (præter Statuta,) scripta sunt Acta Commilitonum ab anno 6 Regis Henrici V. usque ad festum S. Georgii anno 31 Regis Henrici VIII.; lingua plerumque Gallica. ff. 41^b—116^b.

The following account of this important record is given by Ashmole, in that part of his great work which treats “Of the Annals of the Order.” (Chap. vi. §. 4.) “The first of these, in order of time, [Registrum Ordinisi Chartaceum,] is an old paper book, written in French, (hitherto fortunately preserved in the Paper-Office at Whitehall,) which in all probability was begun by JOHN CORINGHAM: for we find him 1414. (which was a little before the Annals therein entred do commence,) made Canon of Windsor, and constituted Register of the Order. And in regard that one and the same kind of handwriting is continued from the beginning of this book, until anno 16 H. 6. inclusive, where follows an hiatus till anno 23 H. 6. that the Annals begin to be entred with an other hand, and that he shortly after died, viz. anno Dom. 1445,—’tis very probable, [that] the book so far was writ by himself. Hence forward these Annals are entred with several hands, and those generally in use about the times wherein the transactions passed; whence may well enough be presumed, that these were the proper handwritings of each Register of the Order, and that this book was transmitted from one Register to another, wherein, after their death or other removal, the Annals and Acts were continued by the hand of the next successor; and from this conjecture may some light be also given how long each Register or Scribe enjoyed his office. After RICHARD SIDNOR was made Register, to wit, anno 16 H. 8. (who subscribed his name to the foot [of] almost every leaf,) the Annals were written in one hand, until anno 26 H. 8. that ROBERT ALDBYDGE Doctor of Divinity, and one of the Canons of Windsor, succeeded him in that office; and then ’tis evident the handwriting also was changed to an old set Roman, which ran on to the end of 29 H. 8. in which year he was advanced to the bishoprick of Carlisle, and this book ends in the 31 of his reign.

“Besides this there is another book, [the Liber Niger,] wherein the Annals of the Order are recorded in Latin; concerning which there past a decree, anno 3 H. 7. that it [the Registrum Chartaceum] should be fairly transcribed, and afterwards [22 H. 7.] that the Sovereign should be put in mind of it, as being then needful to be renewed: but neither of these decrees took effect, nor was this done till towards the end of the reign of King Henry the Eighth. This book agrees very nearly with the Registrum Chartaceum, for therein is nothing entred relating to the Order (except one of the exemplars of the Founder’s Statutes, and a Catalogue of the first 25 Knights Companions,) before the fourth year of King Henry the Fifth; the Annals of the Order until then being wholly lost. It hath the same hiatus or intervals, viz. from the 16 to the 23 year of King Henry the Sixth, from the 7 to the 10 of Edward the Fourth, from the 4 to the 7 of Henry the Seventh, and from the 10 to the 14 of the same King; it also runs parallel therewith for the most part, yet where there is any thing more recorded in the Registrum Chartaceum than in the Black Book, we shall note it, as we have a fitting occasion offered.” (Institution, pp. 198—9.)

which, he says, was “Copied from the original lent me out of the Paper Office.” (f. 41^a.) The Statutes of the Order, which occupied the first leaves, are copied in part i. of this volume; which ought not to have been separated from this part. The text begins abruptly thus (‘fol. 5.’) Et sur cest avise et assente en appres le xvijme jour del mois de Fevever lan suis dite: whereon Ashmole observes—“Here ye original began to be writt in a looser hand, and I take it to be of the tyme.” (41^b.) In like manner he has observed the variation of the hands throughout. The French ends at 1 Edw. V. (f. 91), where he observes that “The Annals of R. 3. and H. 7. [are] wanting here:” the record of 4 Hen. VII. is partly in French and partly in English (91^b—2^a), and the rest, beginning 8 Hen. VIII., is in Latin, ff. 93—113^b. There is on f. 114^b an ordinance in English, made 27 Apr. 3 Hen. VII., copied by Ashmole from ‘fol. 76;’ and on the next leaf are “Juramentum procuratoris Francisci Regis Francorum” (copied from f. 79^b), with a translation thereof, and a copy of “Juramentum Militum Garterij anno: 2^{do}. Hen. Svi” in English, by Ashmole; also a note of contributions toward ‘le lanterne,’ 6 May, 18 Hen. VIII. in Latin. Excepting the passages here mentioned, the whole of this transcript, as also that of the Statutes in part i., was made by the same hand as No. 1098. The original is not now extant in the State Paper Office; its existence was not known to Anstis, who (in 1724) complained of the loss of this record; nor can the existence of the original be traced at this time; and singular enough it is, that even this transcript hath escaped the notice of antiquaries. An other original Garter Book, which formerly belonged to the same Office of State, is now in this collection, No. 1119, vi.

It is evident that, from this valuable (but much injured) contemporary Register, the celebrated Black Book of the Order was compiled. It was then eclipsed by the magnificence of that costly volume: but it is yet of great use, both for supplying the defects as well as correcting the errors of that Register. Ashmole diligently compared it with his transcript of the Black Book in No. 1129, i.; and when Anstis had printed the text of it, he obtained (as he says) Ashmole’s “citations in the margin of his copy lodged in the Museum at Oxford;” which he was glad to incorporate in his Preface, (pp. iii—vi) but still was not aware that a complete transcript of the French Register itself was preserved in the very next volume of Ashmole’s Garter Collections.

It may be useful here to add a list of such documents as Ashmole hath already published, from this Registrum Chartaceum, in the Appendix to his Institution.

VII. Institutorum Ordinis Georgiani, qui a Periscelide nomen habet, codex, a D. GUILLELMO CECILIO, ejusdem Ordinis Cancellario, conscriptus, et e tribus partibus constans. Scilicet:—

(A.) 1. Regis EDWARDI IV. Statuta Ordinis Georgiani, qui in Libro Nigro scripta sunt: inc. Quisquis in Anglia regni solio potitur. 117—121^b.

Cecil hath falsely intitled them "Edwardi 3ⁱ. Statuta." Compare Ashmole's first and third Appendices.

2. Regis "HENRICI V. Statuta," e Gallico textu, Latine summam expressa; cum præcipuis quas ediderunt "Edovardus 4^{us}" et "Henricus 7^{us}" ordinationibus, et omnibus fere statutis quæ denique fecit "Henricus 8^{us}," in unam seriem collectis. 121^b—2^b—3—131^b.

3. "De officialibus, Prelato*, Cancellario, Scriba, Rege armorum, et Hostiario" Constitutiones: inc. Officium Cancellarii quoniam prænobile est. 131^b—3^b.

* So much of the Constitutions as concern the Prelate is omitted: compare the Black Book, in No. 1129, pp. 185—9; whence the contents of this MS. have been for the most part extracted.

4. "Statutum de Proditoribus. A^o 32^o regni regis [Henrici] Octavi ceptum est in concilio moveri" etc. Et aliud "De pendendis pecuniis statut' per defunctos ordinis equites. Eo tempore surrepsit addubitatio." 134.

Hactenus habentur Statuta: deinde "Appendices."

5. "Modus obviam eundi regiae Mat^e, in primis adventibus sub statu regio: sive quando ab illustri aliqua memoratuque digna victoria redit, ad Collegium suum Windesori. Primo scabellum (ut decet) ornatum." 134^b.

6. "Instructiones seu potius informationes a regia Mat^e, vel a quibus ei visum fuerit, contradendæ Legatis sive Oratoribus ad Cesarem, regem externum, principem, ducem, marchionem, comitem, aut alioqui maximatem, hujusce illustriss: Ordinis candidatum, emittendis: quando subligar[is] insigne, cum habitu insuper ordinario reddent eisdem. Principio commendationes appositæ." 135.

From the Black Book of the Order: see the note on No. 1113, iii. art. 5, and the English translation in No. 1112, vii. art. 7.

7. "Juramentum Imperatoris, aut Regum externorum, ad hunc illustriss. ordinem eligendorum:" item Procuratoris eorum; ac Principis, et cujusvis Equitis atque Procuratoris juramentum. 136.

8. "Officialium jusjurandum in ingressu præstandum, de fideliter exercendo ad quod vocatur officio." 136^b—7.

9. "Equitum in sedes suas introductio;" seu "Literæ commissariæ vel introductoriæ" (sc. earum forma, nomine Henr. VIII.) 137.

10. "Introductio per Procuratorem;" cum literarum forma. 137^b.

11. "Modus deponendi seu detrudendi ab hac Ordine. Principio Garterus." 138.

12. "Promulgacio jam amovendi seu deponendi Equitis, qui commeruit ab hoc insigni Ordine" [deturbari.] 138.

E Libro Nigro, p. 317.

13. "Regis literæ tutelares pro toga ostrea, quam Regis liberatam vocant." 138^b.

14. "Forma literarum quæ remittuntur a celebrantibus" missas. 138^b.

15. "Equitum accubatio in mensis, atque eorum incessus:" etiam de titulo Defensoris Fidei, annotationi quædam. 138^b—9.

Of this part of the MS. (ff. 1—23, all written by Cecil's hand) the three last pages are vacant: the last leaf is therefore not marked, and the next part (which is yet more neatly written) is numbered ff. 24—31.

(B.) Ordinis Georgiani Acta sub Rege Edwardo VI. a 23 Maji anno primo, usque ad 23 Apr. anno sexto (1547—1552), manu D. GUIL. CECILII, ejusdem Ordinis Cancellarii, congesta et scripta. 141—8.

By the transcript of this part in No. 1119, xiv., especially the old foliation marked on its margins, it appears that this MS. was formerly in the possession of Lord Bruce.

(C.) Statutorum quæ sub EDWARDO VI. supræmatu, ad reformationem Ordinis de Periscelide sancita erant, Latine versorum, exemplar autographum, D. GUIL. CECILII Cancellarii manu exaratum, et ab erudito quodam emendatum. 149—152^b.

These 4 handsomely written leaves do not contain the preface that is prefixed to the English Statutes. The brevity of this version will appear from the first article:—Primum itaque decretum ac sancitum est, ut hic ordo impostertum dicatur Garterij, non Georgij, ne qui soli Deo debetur honos, alteri deferatur. It ends thus:—Presentes articuli in Collegio Wyndesoriensi, pro monumentis, statutis, ac Ordinis istius legibus reconduuntur. et . . . The concluding words (lost with the outermost sheet) may be found in the note to part v. above, which is a copy of a farther corrected draught, containing the preface.

VIII. "Statuta nobilissimi Ordinis in Anglia, dicti a Periscelide. Adjunctis aliquot ad marginem Notis; in quibus videre erit, quantum Statuta hæc a prioribus discesserint, quantum et ab his Statutis recessum ex eo tempore sit, qua per novorum decretorum accessiones, qua per hodiernas consuetudines denique. Ex collectione et collatione M[ATTHEI]: W[REN]: Decani Windesoriensis, et Scribæ nobilissimi Ordinis. 1631." 153—172.

The second and third pages are occupied with "Prolegomena," describing four texts of the Statutes, and three books of Annals of the Order.

Those four texts are:—(1.) The Latin copy in Denton's Register, supposed to be the original Statutes, somewhat interpolated, of which Ashmole observes, in a marginal note, "By ye citacōns fol: it appers yt my copy of ye old Statutes out of my L: Hattons Library is the same wth this." (2.) The Latin copy in the Black Book, believed to have been set forth by Edward IV. (3.) The French Statutes, in a Roll belonging to Sir Francis Crane, Chancellor; believed to be those of the Founder, with additions made in the times of Henry V. and VI. (4.) The Statutes of Henry VIII. in Latin, beginning, "Statuta atque ordinationes illustrissimi Ordinis divi Georgii, cui Subligaris est ab eventu nomen additum; enarrata ac declarata per inclitissimum excellentem ac præpotentem principem HEN. hujus nominis Octavum, Dei gratia Regem Angliæ ac Franc. Defensorem fidei, Dominum Hyberniæ &c. Ubi clarissimus invictissimus et inter fortunatissimos hujus mundi principes." (153^b.)

The fourth text, which is represented at full length, is that of Henry VIII., which is printed as the fifth copy in Ashmole's Appendix. Wren's notes are copious and curious. This is a fair transcript, made by Ashmole from the original in No. 1131, art. 53. He has noticed the compilation, in his Institution of the Order, p. 193, saying that it was communicated to him by the author, then Bishop of Ely, in Dec. 1666. See also Anstis, II. 294, who however could not have used this MS. or he must have been acquainted with part vi.

IX. "Les Ordinnances du tresnoble Ordre de la Thoison d'Or:" (173^a.) c'est a dire—

(i.) "Sensuit la table de ce present livre des Ordinnances du tresnoble Ordre de la Thoison d'Or," en 66 titres. 174—6.

(ii.) "Sensuit la table des* Ordinnances des quatre Officiers appertennans a la ditte Ordre," en 27 titres. 176^b—7.

* MS. et. There are 28 chapters in the text.

1. Les Articles de l'institution de l'Ordre de la Thoison d'Or, par PHILIPPE Duc de Bourgogne, dans lettres sous son scel, donnees a Lille, 27 Nov. 1431. ff. 177^b—180^b.

2. "Ordnances pour les Officiers de l'Ordre. Sensuivent les Ordnances et instruction[s] que tresexcellent treshaul et trespuissant princee monseigneur le Duc Phelippe de Bourgoingne," etc. 189^b—193.

The 28th chapter ends—"loyalment et diligamment a son pouvoir. Amen." This transcript is by the hand of Simon Martyn, but it does not appear from what MS. it was taken: a translation from this copy is in No. 1127, xiii.

There are many curious MSS. extant, containing both the Statutes and the Ordinnances: they generally contain also brief Annals of the Order, of which a separate copy is contained in No. 1116, iii., brought down to 1559, illustrated with the armorial bearings of the Knights, &c. A fine copy of the Statutes, Ordinnances, and Annals to the year 1481, is at the Heralds' College, which is described in the Catalogue of the Arundel MSS. (No. 21) pp. 30—31. The whole text has been printed by Leibnitz, in his Mantissa, part ii. pp. 17—39.

No. 1129.

VOLUME XXXIII. is a thick book divided into three parts, having the edges of the leaves colored black, blue, and red respectively: it contains 610 pages, beside 12 leaves at the beginning, and 45 at the end, that are vacant: it does not seem ever to have had a portrait. Of the first part the title page, and the first 30 pages were written by Ashmole, also a few lines of the 'Statutes,' on p. 31, which were begun afresh on the next leaf by Simon Martyn, by whom the whole was finished. The second and third parts were wholly written by Ashmole.

This copy seems to have been made from the original book, of which the pages are noted in the margin. It contains the Scrutinies, which are omitted in Glover's copy, No. 809,—a transcript more fair and pleasant than this.

Various copies of parts of this book have been already noticed among these MSS.: but it is sufficient here only to notice that Ashmole has printed from it both the texts of the Statutes, the Constitutions, and many other documents, in the Appendix to his noble work. Since that time the whole volume has been published by Garter Anstis, under the title of "The Register of the most noble Order of the Garter" etc. (London, 1724, 2 vol. fol.) of which the text, with a translation beneath, occupies the first volume. In his preface he says, "The original manuscript is a very large pompous volume in folio, written in an handsome strong character on vellum, having the initial letters of each paragraph [etc.] beautifully embellished with gold." (p. 11.) Most of these decorations may be seen in Anstis's plates; and there are Ashmole's description and drawings of them in No. 1131, art. 86—89. See also his Institution, pp. 199, 200.

Ashmole's marginal notes in this copy have been already mentioned, under No. 1128, vi.

II. "Liber secundus illustrissimi Ordinis Garterij: qui et Registrum Minor, vel (a tegmine) LIBER CERULEUS appellatur:"* in quo Supremi et Commilitonum Acta seu Annales habentur, scilicet, ab anno primo Reginæ Mariæ, usque ad annum 19 Regis Jacobi Primi. (pp. 157.) pp. 319—477.

* "In Glover Somerset's copy, it hath this title," (namely No. 809, f. 149,) which is copied by Ashmole, with this note, on p. 318. That copy extends only to the 85th page of this. The paging of the original is noted in the margins; which Ashmole began to transcribe in "1657, 25 Nov: 11. 30. a. m." His description of its decorations is in No. 1131, f. 174^b.

Ashmole has given a very short account of the Blue Book, in his Institution, p. 201, and has not published any thing from it in his Appendix.

III. "LIBER RUBER:" seu tertium Registrum ejusdem Ordinis, Commilitonum Acta comprehendens, regnantibus Regibus Jacobo I. et Carolo I.; ab anno scilicet 1622, usque ad 21 Maii 1638. (pp. 113.) pp. 495—610.

This has been carefully copied by Ashmole, who noted at the end "Thus far is entred in the Register." The remainder of the volume is vacant.

This Book is described in Ashmole's Institution, p. 201; but more fully in his MS. No. 1131, f. 174^b. There is only one document printed from it, in his Appendix, namely "An order for reviving the decree for payment of obit-moneys," (num. clxxxix.) from page 86, (pp. 71—2 of this copy,) in Latin: whereof the original paper in English, which was used by the Register, is in No. 1132, art. 7.

No. 1130.

VOLUME XXXIV. contains 181 leaves of fair paper, the greater part of which is blank, as also are 7 leaves prefixed: this MS. is very fairly written by the same hand as No. 1097, to f. 36, and thenceforward (from 28—30 May 1671) by Ashmole.

“LIBER CAROLINUS :” seu Ordinis, a Periscelide nominati, Registrum quartum; in quo habentur ejus Acta, sub utroque Carolo Supremo, scilicet, ab anno 1638 (seu rectius 1640) usque ad 6 Maij 1683. ff. 1, 3—66^b.

The leaves marked 3^c and 4^c contain copies of Serutinies inserted by Ashmole. At the end are inserted a leaf and a sheet written by him, containing—

- (1.) “Mistakes to be rectified in the Liber Carolinus.” 67^{ab}.
- (2.) “Omissions &c: in Lib: Carolino.” 68^a.

Ashmole notes, that he sent a copy of both these articles “to the Deane of Windsor, 30 Dec: 1685.”

For an account of this Fourth Register, see Ashmole’s Institution, p. 201. He has only printed one document from it in his Appendix, namely “A report concerning installation fees,” 5 Mareh, 1669, in Latin (num. clvii.), from p. 84, or pp. 33–4 of this copy: an English copy is in No. 1112, xiii. art. 8. See the correspondence about this book in No. 1131, artt. 123, and 137—147.

The beginning of the Fifth Register is in vol. XXXIX. No. 1135, art. 1.

No. 1131.

VOLUME XXXV. contains a great collection of miscellaneous papers, partly original, partly transcribed, and partly draughts: such as are by ASHMOLE’S hand are here marked thus †.

1. “Copy of a warrant [of King CHARLES I. to the Treasurer of the Exchequer], to pay Mr Garter 7^{ll}: &c.” (7 Feb. anno 2.) f. 1^{ab}.

Indorsed thus by Sir T. Rowe on f. 2^b. This document is printed in Ashmole’s Appendix (num. clxx.) from the original “penes Wil. Knight.”

- †2. Acts in a chapter of the Order, 18 Apr. 1636; and a warrant of King CHARLES I.* (dated 15 Dec. 1637,) which was “Endorsed, The Kings orders concerning his royall Chappell at Windsor.” 3^a, 3^b—4.

* Copied from the original in No. 1132, art. 29.

- †3. CHARLES the First’s Letters “Patent for setting 1200^l: per [annum] upon the Order, out of the customes of London.” (23 Jan. anno 13.) 5—6^b.

Thus indorsed by Ashmole; and transcribed “Ex originali sub magno sigillo penes Phil: Palmer ar.” It is printed, from the Patent Roll, in Ashmole’s Appendix, num. xi. At the foot are notes of three other patents.

- †4. “A Commission under the seal of the Order, unto Sr R. Fanshawe* as deputed Chancellor for ye time being, to receive and pay &c. the 1200^{ll}. annuall pension granted by his late Ma^{tie} for ye uses of the Order.” (20 Jan. 12 CAR. II. 1660.) 7^{ab}, 8^a.

* Who wrote the marginal notes and this indorsement. It is a copy of the former patent (dated 3 May, 14 Car. I.) altered by him, and by Ashmole (together with a large addition on the third page), to serve as the draught of the new patent; which is copied into No. 1114, i. art. 12.

- †5. Acts “At a chapter held in Whitehall, the 26 day of Febr: 1640” (1641); about the propriety of omitting the celebration of the feast that year; with ASHMOLE’S remarks. 9^{ab}.

Thus indorsed by him on f. 10^b. “Order 26. Febr: 1640. That the feast of St: George ought to be kept within the yeare, if not upon St: George’s day.”

- †6. “The Kings Warrant: for my searching of records.” (19 July, 12 CAR. II.) 11^a.

Thus indorsed on 12^b. It was prepared by Ashmole, and bears the royal signature “CHARLES R.” and the signet impressed on the margin; also the subscription of ‘Will. Morice.’

- †7. Warrant to the Clerk of the Signet, to ‘prepare a grant of the Office of Register of the Garter, unto Dr. Brune Ryves, Deane of Wynd-sor.’ (4 Aug. 12 CAR. II.) Also a docket of the grant of the Deanery to the same, ‘dated about the end of July 1660.’ 13^a.

On the second leaf (14^a) are some references to one of the antient Wardrobe-books, ‘A.’

- †8. Warrant to John Viscount Mordant, Constable of Windsor, to admit Samuel Trumball gent. as one of the Poor Knights, and his wife also, to live with him. (5 Nov. 1660.) 15^a.

- †9. Warrant to the Chancellor De Vic, and his deputy Fanshaw, to admit Thomas Freebody as one of the Poor Knights. (6 Mar. 1660.) 16^a.

- †10. “A warrant to the Deane to collect money for plate to furnish the altar with, at Windsor.” (. . Nov. 13 Car. II.) 17—8.

The original draught, written by Ashmole; who has noted that “The King was moved by the Deane for this warrant, 18 Nov. 1661.”

- †11. Warrant from the Lords of the Treasury to the Farmers of the Customs, for the payment of 800^l. to Sir Henry de Vic, Chancellor of the Garter. (8 Dec. 1668.) 19^a.

Accounts of monies due and received out of the customs, from 1668 to 1670: from “Sr Hen: De Vic’s register, p. 198.” 20^a.

- *†12. R. CAROLI II. ad Carolum Suecorum Regem epistola, cum insigniis hujus Ordinis missa. (29 Nov. 1668.) 21^a.

An other document, of the same date, is in Ashmole’s Appendix, num. lxxv. See art. 34, (8).

13. “Dialogisticon; de mysterio emblematis militaris sacri sodalitiij Periscelidis, ter-maximi Regis Britanniarum:” carmen 28 distichorum, quod scripsit “JOHANNES GORDONIUS, Britanno-Scotus, Decanus Sarum.” 22^a.

A broad-side printed in the time of James I.

14. Acknowledgement, by HEN: ST GEORGE, of having received the ‘Ensignes for the King of Sweden’* therein specified. (31 Dec. 1668.) 23^a.

* Written at the top by Ashmole.

- †15. Proceedings at a chapter of the Order, holden at Whitehall, 19 Nov. 1669, upon the claim of the Bishop of Salisbury to be Chancellor; and concerning the due place of the Princes of Wales and foreign Kings, in the stalls at Windsor. 25—7^b.

“See Sr Edw: Walker’s Continuacōn, fol: 16. b.” This article serves to complete the documents in No. 1112, xii.

- †16. “The King’s lycence to print my Booke” of the Garter. 27^{ab}.

A fair transcript, marked for and (evidently) thumbled by the printer: so indorsed. The original is at f. 170.

- †17. Proceedings in chapters of the Order, holden 20 Feb. 1661. and 28 May 1671; also Sir EDWARD WALKER'S Petition for a yearly pension, with a report thereon by the Duke of Albe-marle and other Lords, 16 May 1663. f. 29—30^b—1^b—2^{ab}.
 “Ex lib: collect: Hen: de Vic. Bar^t: nuper hujus Ord: Cancellar: p. 22,” 158, 93. See also No. 1112, xi. art. 19, and xii. art. 14.
18. Extracts “Transcribed out of the old Leiger-Booke kept by the Towne-clearke of Ludlow” about the celebration of S. George's day; dated 10 Mar. and 18 Apr. 1581—2. f. 33^a.
 This title is subscribed by Ashmole with a—
- †Memorandum of an ‘altar-cloth imbrodered with garters’ yet kept in the vestry there. ib.
 On the back is pasted a paper containing a copy of—
- †A ‘memoriall’ of the celebration of S. George's feast, by Sir Henry Sidney, K. G. anno 24 Eliz. “In the gallery of the New-house” at Ludlow. 33^b.
 Compare No. 1112, vi. artt. 6, 7, 8.
- †19. Copious extracts of warrants, and other curious matters relating to the Order, in 1670 and 1671, from “A booke intituled S^t George's Feast, in my L^d Chamberlayns office.” 35^a—40^a.
 Written on alternate pages.
- †20. Notices of documents relating to the foundation of Chantries in Windsor Chapel, recorded in Liber Denton; also certain documents in Dr. “Evans Collect.” 41^a.
 See the extracts from those books, in No. 1123, and 1124.
- †21. Annotationes ex Ordinibus statutis et registris, de Officiariis privilegiis et juribus. 43—4^b.
 In a series of notes running from a to z, beside some marked with figures.
22. Orders made in chapter, 6 May 1634, concerning the Register's fees, “Extracted out of S^t JAMES PALMER'S large Journall* commencing in the yeare 1638.” 45^{ab}.
 * Pages 23, 24. This is a fair copy, by the same hand as No. 1097, and certified by the subscription of “E. Ashmole.”
23. A statement concerning the office of Chancellor of the Order, and the claim made by the Bishop of Salisbury for the perpetual annexation thereof to his see, in the time of Charles I.; corrected by ASHMOLÉ*. 47—8.
 * Probably drawn by him for his friend Bishop Ward, who obtained restoration of the office. It is by the same hand as No. 1097, with Ashmole's notes and corrections.
- †24. “A catalogue of the Chancellors of the most noble Order of the Garter, from the tyme [when] it was united to the see of Salisbury unto this present.” (15 Edw. IV. to . . . Car. II.) 49^a.
25. “A catalogue of the Chancellors of the Order,” from Sir W. Cecill, 7 Edw. VI. to Sir James Palmer, (Deputy to Sir T. Rowe,) 1638; with references to the Patent Rolls. 50^a.
 These two lists give the exact dates of their appointments; and are by far more valuable than the meagre list printed in Ashmole's Institution, p. 719.
- †26. “A catalogue of the Registers of the Order;” from Owen Oglethorp, 1 Ph. & Mary, to Christopher Wren, 11 Car. I.; stating their several appointments &c., and referring to records. 52^a. Names of “Registers of the Order in the reigns of H. 7. [and] H. 8.” 53^a.
 From a “MS. 40. penes W. Le Neve,” which is also copied in No. 1110, f. 71.
- “Registers of more ancient tyme;” (23 Hen. VI. —15 Hen. VIII.) collected from the Black Book and the Registrum Chartaceum. 53^a.
 From these papers Ashmole framed the list printed at pp. 719—20 of his great work.
- †27. “A catalogue of those who have possesst the office of Black Rod;” from Edward V. to Charles II.; with references to records. 54^a.
 Used in preparing the list, printed at p. 720 of the same work. See also the next article.
- †28. Extracts from the Patent Rolls, relative to the appointment of Ushers of the Black Rod, Constables, Lieutenants and other officers of Windsor Castle, Poor Knights, and Chancellors or Registers of the Order of the Garter; from 1 Edw. V. to 30 Eliz. f. 57—8^b.
29. “Memorandum of the place of the Gent: Usher of the Black Rodd;” stating the case of Mr. (afterward Sir JOHN) AYTON, first Gentleman Usher and Daily Waiter, in order to take advice on six points, in opposition to the illegal patent obtained by James Maxwell to himself and Mr. Thaine for life. 59^{ab}.
 The original draught, thus indorsed. See art. 108.
 Upon the third page Ashmole hath written a—
- †Docquet of the patent granted unto Maxwell and Thayne, dated at Nottingham, 12 Sept. 18 Car. I. f. 60^a.
 Evidently copied out of the Docquet-Book of the Clerk of the Letters Patent, in Chancery. See the “Docquets of Patents of King Charles I. at Oxford,” edited by the Compiler of this Catalogue, under the authority of the Record Commission, (London, 1837, 8vo.) p. 339.
- †30. Instrument certifying the grounds on which the royal style was omitted from the arms of England, at the presentation of the Order of the Garter to Henry III. King of France; subscribed by “H. DERBY, F. STAFFORD, R: [COOKE] Clarencieux, and R. GLOVER Somerset.” (Paris, 3 Mar. 1584.) 61^a.
 “Ex Collect: W: le Neve mil.” See also No. 1110, v. art. 27; and an ill written old copy of it in No. 1113, vii. art. 9.
- †31. “A catalogue of Chanons [of Windsor] that have been Registers of the Order” of the Garter, from 1414 to 1537; also of “Chanons that have been of the Privy Councill,” to 1548. f. 62^a.
 “Ex Collect: D: Evans lib. A. ad calcem.”
- †32. “Forma militaris Ordinis Garterij suscipiendi;” or “Instructions given to the Sovereigns Ambassadors, sent with the habit and ensigns of the Order to Juliannus de Medicis, brother to Pope Leo the Tenth.” 63^{ab}.
 Copied by Ashmole “From Sr James Wares Colleccons, voll: . . . 13 June 1658." A farther note refers to the Cottonian Library. Hence printed in the Appendix to his Institution, num. ci., under the latter title: the former is there omitted.

33. (1.) "A directyone for the observances and manor of the presentyng of the robes of the Order of the Garter to any forrene prince. Firste the letters of credence." 65^{ab}.

Transcribed (by the same hand as No. 1097) "Ex MS: penes Arthur: Com: Anglesey, 1671." fol. 63^a. From the next page of that MS. ("p. 63. b.") Ashmole hath printed Queen Elizabeth's commission for the delivery of them to Henry III. of France, (dated 20 Jan. 1584, anno 27.) in his Appendix, num. lxxviii. A list of its contents may be found in No. 835, iii.

Ibid. f. 87^a.

(3.) "Fees and rewards given by y^e Queenes Leiftenant at Windsor, on the feast and solemnity of the Order of the Garter." 66^b.
Ibid. f. 85^a.

(4.) "St: W^m Dethick's bill of charges disbursed for the ornaments of the Garter, furnished at Windsor for the Sovereign of y^e same Order, An^o: 1603;" also for the installation of Prince Henry, the King of Denmark, the Duke of Lenox, and the Earl of Marre. 66^b.
Ibid. f. 89^b.

Ibid. f. 119.

Ibid. f. 29.

* (7.) Narrative of the celebration of S. George's feast, at Windsor, by King Henry VII. an. 1488: beg. Memorandum in ye third yeare of the King's reigne he solempensed the feast of easter at Windesore. 68^b.
Ibid. f. 167. Hence the narrative recorded in the Black Book, of which there is a translation in No. 1111, iii. art. 2: but the following verses are therein professedly omitted.

* (8.) "These verses were presented at this present feaste of St. George at Windsor. [1488.] O moste famous noble king, thy fame doth spring and spreade." (5 st. of 7.) 70^b—1.
Ibid. Ending—To keepe our Sovereigne in his dignetye.

(9.) "Howe a Knighte of the Ordere of the Garter shall use himselfe, keeping the feaste of St: George, in his owne house. First he must have his chappell hanged with arras." 71^b—2.
Ibid. f. 237. Same as No. 1109, art. 8.

34. Commissions, Warrants, etc. of King CHARLES II. concerning the Order of the Garter:—

* (1.) "The Sovereign's commission to St: George Carteret, to be installed in the name of Cristian Prince of Denmarke, elect Companion of the Order:" in Latin. (22 Apr. 1663.) 73^{ab}.

Copied by the same hand as the foregoing transcripts, from "pa: 92" of a MS. not mentioned: these articles appear, however, as a continuation of the foregoing papers.

* (2.) "Credentiall letter to the Duke of Saxony" K. G. in favor of Sir Tho. Higgons and Tho. Saint-George: in Latin. (29 Nov. 1668.) 74^{ab}.
Ibid. p. 137. See also artt. (4) and (9).

* (3.) "Credentialls to the King of Sweden," Charles XI.: in Latin. (29 Nov. 1668.) 74^b—5.
Ibid. p. 138. See also artt. (7) and (8).

* (4.) "Commission of legation to the Duke of Saxony:" in Latin. (29 Nov. 1668.) 75^b—6.
Ibid. p. 143.

* (5.) "Warrant for sending the like abbreviation of the Statutes* to the K^g of Sweden and Duke of Saxony, as were sent to the Duke of Wirtemberg," in the time of James I. (29 Nov. 1668.) 78^b.

* Probably the 'Book of the Statutes' of Henry VIII. 'abbreviated' is that which occurs at No. 776 of this collection, in French. This document was copied from pp. 144—5: the pages of the three next articles are not marked; but art. (9) was from p. 140.

(6.) "Warrant for remov^s of stalls upon the death of the E: of Manchester." (29 May 1671.) 77^a.

* (7.) "Instruccōns to — Charles E: of Carlisle &c: our ambassador to our good brother the King of Sweden, and — Henry St: George esq^r: one of our Officers at armes, employed by us to present and invest him with the whole habit ensignes and ornam^{ts} of our most noble Order of the Garter." (29 Nov. 1668.) 77^b—8^b.

(8.) "Commission of legation to the King of Sweden," for that purpose. (29 Nov. 1668.) 79^{ab}.

This is the only one of these articles, printed in Ashmole's Appendix, num. lxxv. See No. 1112, f. 165^b.

* (9.) "Instructions for — St: Thomas Higgons, Kn^t: our envoye extraordinary into Germany, and Tho: St George esq^r: in the place of Garter principall K: of armes, our Com^{ts}: to our entirely beloved cosen the Electo^r: of Saxony, Kn^t: elect of our Order of the Garter, to present and invest him wth the whole habit ensignes and ornam^{ts}: of the same." 80^{ab}.

35. "Literæ ad Equites in sedibus locandos." 81^a.

A common form of the commission for installation, in Queen Elizabeth's time; copied (by S. Martyn?) "from a paper in Mr. Smith's hand."

List of the "Knights, [as] placed at Windsor, 1593;" with notes of the installation of the Earl of Northumberland. ib.

† 37. "Fees payeable at the installation of a King, and of a stranger Prince, by the Sovereigne, to the Church of Windesore, the Officers of the Order, and Officers of arms; approved and

- settled by the Lords Referrees* the 4th of March 1669." 83^a.
- "Other installation fees payable by the Prince of Wales for the tyme being, and all other his Maties: subjects of the degrees hereafter mentioned, both to the Church of Windesor, agreeable to a scheame thereof, approved by the Lords Referrees the 4th of March, according to a scheame thereof offered in chapter the 4th of February 1669." ib.
- "Fees and gratuities to others his Maties: servants." ib.

* Signed "ORMONDE, MANCHESTER, SANDWICH." This is a fair copy on a large folding sheet, by Ashmole; and is referred unto by him, in No. 1112, f. 177, at the end of a copy of their report, ib. xiii. art. 8. See also art. 51 of this MS.

- †38. List of "Fathers and sons who have been Knights of the Garter at the same tyme." 84^a.
- Notices of the Stalls of the Order of the Golden Flece, in the choir of Bois-le-Duc in Brabant; the sword of Charles V. wherewith he created the Knights of that Order; and the body of S. George at Tholouse. 84^b.

From "Dr: [EDWARD] BROWNE's Travells into Germany, printed 1677. p. 24," 35, and 81. There are two copies of the work in this Library.

- *39. List of 'necessary things to be provided' by the Sovereign's authority, after the restoration, "Before any installacōn can be celebrated, of which there is great neede, because 2 of the Knightes Companions are aged:" subscribed E. ASHMOLE. 86^{ab}.

Noted underneath, "A transcript of this I delivered to Sr Rich: Fanshaw, Deputy Chancellor of the Order, the 10th: of Aug: 1660."

- Proposals for the issuing of a new 'Commission for reformation of the statutes of the Order;' subscribed E. ASHMOLE. 87^a.

With a like note: excepting which and the signatures, this paper seems to be by Martyn's hand.

- †40. Brief proposal for such commission, subscribed EDW. WALKER Garter. 88^a.

Abstracted from Ashmole's foregoing paper; and thus noted by Ashmole, "Delivered to Sr Rich: Fanshaw 10 Aug. 1660."

- †41. Brief minutes of some proceedings in a chapter of the Order, 6 Nov. 1662, at Whitehall; with ASHMOLE's opinion on certain points of form thence arising. 89^a.

Short account of the investiture of the Earl of Bath, in a chapter holden 8 Nov. 1662. f. 89^b.

42. Petition of BRUNE RYVES, Dean of Windsor, praying the King to refer his complaint against Thomas Freebody and Captain Beton, Poor Knights, to the Duke of Ormond and the Earls of Manchester and Stafford. 90^a.

The draught, corrected by Ashmole's hand.

- †43. Short report, by ASHMOLE, on the place duly assigned, by the statutes and customs of the Order, to a foreign prince, in the stalls at Windsor. 91^a.

Superscribed thus:—"This and the two following papers [art. 44, 45] I drew up at the desire of the Earle of Arlington, Principall Secretary of State, to settle the controversy betweene the Kings of Denmarke and Sweden." They are the original draughts.

- †44. "Instances where an elect King hath been placed above another King installed before him." (18 Hen. VIII.—20 Eliz.) 92^a.

- †45. "Instance where a King hath been removed lower, to admit an elect King into his stall." (6, 7, 8 Eliz.) 93^a.

- "Instance where a forraine Duke hath beene removed lower, to advance an other foraine Duke into his stall." (3 Jac. I.) 93^a.

- *†46. ASHMOLE's Letter to James Hayes, esq. Secretary to Prince Rupert, stating the particular fees due to the College of Windsor, on the installation of a Knight, the fees paid by King Charles II. when Prince of Wales, and those paid for the Prince of Orange, in 1653; etc. (Middle Temple, 25 Nov. 1669.) 97^{ab}.

47. Letter from JA. HAYES, desiring Ashmole to send him an account of the fees paid by Knights of the Garter, in the time of Charles I. and since: not dated. 98^a.

Original: pasted on the second leaf of Ashmole's fair copy of the answer.

- †48. ASHMOLE's "Answers to some quæres made by Sr: Ed: Walker*, and sent at severall tymes to him." (29 Apr. 1670.) 99^a.

* On the following paper.

49. Questions proposed by Sir EDW. WALKER, relative to the manner of installing foreign princes. 100^a.

- *†50. ASHMOLE's account of the course taken for the admission of [Seth Ward] Bishop of Salisbury, as Chancellor of the Order, 23 Nov. 1671; on the death of Sir Henry de Vic.† 102^a.

‡ "He dyed 22 Nov: 71. about 3 a clock in the morning."

- †51. "A note of such proposalls, as are to be offered to the Comissioners, in order to the Sov's determinacōn," relative to fees, the draught of the register, etc. 104^a.

"Prepared by the Deane ag^t: the sitting of the Kn^{ts}: Com^{rs} 4 Mar. 1670." See also art. 37.

- †52. Brief catalogue of MSS. relative to the Order of the Garter, transcripts of Public Records, books of Arms, and Pedigrees, "In Bibliotheca Hattoniana." 105^a.

53. "Statuta nobilissimi Ordinis in Anglia, dicti a Periscelide. Adjectis aliquot ad marginem Notis; in quibus videre erit, Quantum Statuta hæc a prioribus discesserint, Quantum et ab his Statutis recessum ex eo tempore sit, Quâ per novorum decretorum accessiones, Quâ per hodiernas consuetudines denique. Ex collectione et collatione M: W:* Decani Windesoriensis et Scribæ nobilissimi Ordinis. 1631." (pp. 25.) 107—119^b.

* MATTHEW WREN, afterward Bishop of Ely. This is the original MS. from which Ashmole's transcript in No. 1128, viii. was taken: it is written with extreme neatness, in small folio, ff. 16. The first page (106^a) contains only the arms of S. George largely tricked within a garter. Ashmole thus mentions it in his Institution:—"In the month of December 1666, the right reverend father in God Matthew Wren, late Lord Bishop of Ely, shewed me a Manuscript, compiled by himself, about the year 1631, being at that time Register of this most noble Order: wherein by way of comment upon King Henry the Eighth's Statutes, he briefly shews (out of the Statutes and Annals of the Order) what alteration there hath been in the law of the Garter, both before and since. It is a work composed with a great deal of judgement, and exceeding useful; and had it been my good hap to have met therewith before I had so neer finished this work, the ready directions therein would have eased me of much toil, whilst I was about the composing [of] it." (p. 191.)

†54. Tabular view of the nature of "Affaires treated of in chapter held before y^e first vespers" of S. George's feast; also of the various punishments awarded to Knights making default. 122^{ab}.

A large folded sheet.

†55. Tabular arrangement of matters, in regard "Of constituting an Officer to hold the grand feast" of the Order. 123^a.

56, 57. Copies in the Russian character, and "The translation, of two of the seals of the Emperour of Muscovy, performed by M^r Frese, interpreter to the Muscovy Ambassador, at my request." 125^a, 127^a.

This title is written by Ashmole on f. 126^a. The first paper is marked "N^o 1," by the same hand as is the drawing of the seal itself, in No. 1540. The other paper, marked "No. 2," refers to the impression of the seal attached to No. 1538. See the notes on these documents, and No. 1121, xiv. art. 1.

Explanatory letter, by the Translator. 127^a.

Written at the foot of the second inscription. It is in the following words:—

"Sr. This translatione I finde upone perusal, serveth for both the Seales, for that they are one and the selfe same, word for word; the one of them being in the 31 yeare of the reighne of Borice, May the 31. 1594: the other dated at the emperiall pallace of Moskoe, June 12th 1602. wch was the 39 yeare of his reign.

Your servant

"July 4th 1663." JA. FRESE."

†58. Scrutiny at the election made 1 Mar. 1640, with a note by Ashmole. 129^a.

He refers also to "P[almers] Journ: p: 30."

"The manner of placing the Knights in their stalls, at St Georges feast a^o. 1640;" also other lists of Knights, dated 1641, 1635 and 1636. f. 129^b—130.

59—61. Facsimile of a fragment in a large old hand, (beginning alisono seracini misredenti.) and two copies of the same. 131^a, 132^a, 133^a.

The last was made and corrected by Ashmole.

†62. Translation of the same fragment, by Ashmole. 134^a.

Beginning thus, "— ali are miscreant Saracens in worship, having heard me twice a yeare, and understood my cause in the two Easters wch the Saracens keepe, the first tyme that I was before them, on their Easter moone, they did immediately judge me according to reason, and shewed mercy unto me for the Easter sake." etc.

63. Account of the origin and institution of the Order of "Knights of St Andrew" in Scotland, the religious observances thereto belonging, and illuminated figures, with descriptions, of the three badges of the Order. 135^a.

Fairly written and painted on one side of a folding sheet, by a Scottish hand, probably that of "Sr CHARLES ARESKINE Lyon Kg of Armes in Scotld;" whose name is indorsed by Ashmole; for in his Institution the present document is quoted, as "the relation which I received from Sir Charles Areskin, now Lyon king of Armes in Scotland, through the favor of the right honourable the Earl of Lauderdale." (p. 98—100.) Two of the badges are there engraved, and the third in the large plate at page 94, num. 6.

64. Report on the institution of the Venetian Order della Calza, or of the Stocking, in Italian: beg. A commandamenti di V. E. 136—7^b.

Thus superscribed by Ashmole:—"The following account of the Order De la Calza, was sent from Venice about June 1669, to the Venetian Ambassador Signior Pietro Mocenigo; Sr: Charles Cottrell, Master of the Ceremonies, having made request to him on my behalfe, to get some informacōn from Venice touching the same." The following paper is by the same hand.

65. A farther statement concerning the Venetian Order of Saint Mark: beg. L'introducne di convocare la Compagnia della Calza fu principiata l'anno 1400 a mocino dell'allegrezza per l'asconcione del Doge Michiel Steno. 138—9^b.

See art. 67.

†66. A brief account of the Venetian Orders, of the Stocking and of Saint Mark, by ASHMOLE. 140^{ab}, 141^{ab}.

In his Institution (p. 105—7) there is a more complete account, wherein he makes use of the information contained in art. 64, 65.

67. Translation of the account of the Order of Saint Mark (sc. art. 65). 142—4.

By an unknown hand.

68. "Excerpta e MSS^{tis} meis de sacri et regii Ordinis Elephantini antiquitate:" cui nomen suum auctor subscripsit, IVARUS NICOLAI HERTZ-HOLM." 146—7^b.

A quarto sheet fairly written by a foreign (but not the author's) hand. It is quoted in Ashmole's Institution, p. 120—1.

69. "Literæ OVENI BILDE Episcopi Harhusiensis et Johannis Dan. et Norv. Regis Cancellarii, ad dominum Johannem Friis, Regis Christiani III. Cancellarium, de Ordine Equestri in quem adseisci a Regibus nostris bene meriti consuevere." 148—9.

A copy by a foreign hand; indorsed by Ashmole "This letter was writ in the yeare 1537." He states in his Institution (p. 120) that it was communicated to him by M. Cristofle Lindenow, envoy from Christian V. King of Denmark; and, together with the foregoing article, it supplied the substance of his account of the Order of the Elephant, contained in his work on the Garter.

70. "The creation robe of a Knight of the Garter." 150^b.

The proof impression of a small plate, engraved by Hollar, for Ashmole's work; which ought to have been put with the others in No. 1763.

71—77. ELIE ASHMOLII operis sui de Ordine Georgiani, dedicationes peculiares, ad ejusdem Ordinis Milites quosdam: scilicet ad—Carolum Ludov. Comitem Palat. Rheni, Ducem Bavariæ. 151^a.

Fridericum Wilhelmum March. Brandenburgensem. 153^a.

Christianum V. Regem Daniæ. 154^a.
Carolus [XI.] Succorum Regem. 155^a.
Joh. Georgium Saxoniam Ducem. 156^a.

Of these the second and the last only are MS. copies: the others are duplicates of the printed leaf inserted in the copy presented to the Knights.

†78. Ashmole's notes of the death of Sir Edw. Walker, Garter, 20 Feb. 167⁶; and Dr. Brune Ryves, Register, 13 July 1677. f. 158^a.

79, 80. Two drawings of the twenty-six Founders of the Order; one representing them standing in their robes, with their names superscribed; and the other representing them kneeling before books. 159^b—160^a, 161^b—2^a.

Both neatly done in outline (by Hollar?) from ancient pictures or windows. The former was engraved by Hollar for Ashmole's work: the proof plate is in No. 1763, f. 86^b. The latter is thus intitled by him, "The portraitures of king Edward the 3d: and the first Founders."

Hastily drawn, partly in pencil only, by Ashmole.

82. Figures of five Knights bearing hawks, "In the glass windowes in Northampton church." 165^a.

Drawn by Hollar?

Ashmole says (on f. 166^b) "The draught on the other side was taken out of an old MS: intitled Severall Patentes and Grantes of Armes by Wryth and others."

89. Drawing of "the proceeding of the k^{ts}: in their sureoates of armes &c: as also their meeting and chapter and proceeding to the altar;" from pp. 194—5 of the Black Book. 176^a.

These fine decorations seem to have been drawn by Hollar for an engraving: they have been since published by Anstis.

†90. List of the quarterings in the coats of arms of Thomas Duke of Norfolk, and other Knights of the Garter; with the scutcheon of pretense of Arthur Vise. Lisle, and the arms of Philip Earl of Newblance, tricked. 177^b—8.

91. "A prospect in the upper ward of Windsor Castle towards the east." 179^a.

"A prospect in the same ward towards the west." ib.

"A prospect from the east end of the lower ward towards the west." ib.

Drawings (by Hollar?) thus intitled by Ashmole, and designed for a plate in his work; but seemingly unpublished. Ashmole says, in his Diary (p. 326, 8vo. ed.), that he employed Hollar to take views of Windsor, in 1659.

92. "A view of the rooffe of the nave of St: Georges Chapell in Windsor Castle." 180^a.

A similar drawing, accurately done.

93. "A draught of the monument of Edw: E: of Lincoln, in the south east side of St: Georges Chapell in Windsor," 181^a.

"A draught of the monument of Tho: Lord Roos, E. of Rutland, in the north chapell in St: George's Chapell." ib.

A proof of Hollar's plate; thus intitled above and below by Ashmole: an other impression is in No. 1763, f. 95^b.

Neatly done in Indian ink: 4 inches high by 2 $\frac{3}{4}$ wide; and thus superscribed by Ashmole.

†95. "The draugh[t] of a cheryston whereon St: George on y^e one side and divers heads were cut on the other, by Capt: Burgh, and given by him to M^r John Tredescant, who preserved it amongst his rarities." 183^a.

Both sides are drawn (with pen) enlarged four times the diameter of the stone itself. Unfortunately neither these curiosities, nor that mentioned in the next article, can be found in this Museum; though this is described in the Museum Tradescantianum, (No. 1007,) p. 38, and the next at p. 41.

†96. "The draught of St: George, eoppied out of a booke in M^r: Jo: Tredescants eloset, wherein are rarely lymned the windows (as is s^d) of St: Sophias church at Constantinople." 184^b.

†97. Drawing of a medal commemorating the institution of the Order of S. Michael, by Louis XI. of France; and a note of his portrait. 185^a.

In pencil. From "Histoire de France par Francois de Mezeray, tom. 2. p. 196, à Paris, 1646." This and the three foregoing are small papers.

98. "A draught of the new organ in St: George's Chapell." 186^b—7^a.

Largely done in Indian ink. It appears, in a reduced form, in Hollar's plate of the screen, at f. 100^b of No. 1763.

99. License and privilege granted to Elias Ashmole esq. for the printing of his 'Institution' of the Order of the Garter; under the signet and sign manual of CHARLES II. countersigned by Lord ARLINGTON. (Whitehall, 31 Mar. 22 Car. II. 1670.) 188^a.

The original on a large sheet of parchment; whereof the copy at f. 27 seems to have been used by the printer. (It faces the title-page of his work.) The signet is almost destroyed.

This draught is largely written, and much corrected. The signatures are on the back of the title, where also is pasted—

*A particular testimonial in favour of the work, by DUGDALE. 190^b.

†101, 102. Drawings of both sides of the seal of Henry VIII. for the Court of Augmentations; with copies of the legends; 202^a.

Finely done, by Hollar? These two papers are attached to the last leaf of the foregoing article.

Subscribed with this note by Ashmole, "7 Jan. [16]5²/₆₀}. This is the fashion of a plate of brass, wch was taken out of the Monastery of Abergeveny and now in the hands of Sr Henry Hene de Wynkefeld in com' Berks." An enlarged drawing, taken from this paper, is in No. 845, f. 137. See art. 105.

Confirmation of arms by Sir WILLIAM DETHICK, Garter, to William Hene, alias Esme, esq. (7 May, 39 Eliz.) 206^a.

105. Letter from H. HENE, requesting Ashmole to let him have a copy of the inscription above mentioned, which he had formerly taken from a plate since lost. (1 Sept. 1662.) 207^a, 208^b.

* In English: that subscribed to an other copy in 1664, (in No. 845,) is in Latin.

* * Letters, addressed to Ashmole, relative to the Order of the Garter, and to his historical collections relating to the same. (artt. 106—186, &c.)

106. "A Commemoration of George, (Peace be upon him!)" Or, the legend of S. George extracted out of EMIRCHOND, a Persian Historian, in Persian and English; with a letter thereto annexed, concerning the mention of S. George by Busbequius, and in Persian and Arabic books, by THO. HYDE. (Oxford, 18 Feb. 1671.) 209^b, 210^{ab}.

The letter relates also to Tamerlane's nativity (see also No. 243, art. 29); and sends a message to Mr. Petyt.

107. Letter from THO. HYDE, in answer to Ashmole's inquiry whether there were any orders of knighthood among eastern nations; censuring Blount's explanation of the word Timariots; † explaining the meaning of Hagi; treating of oriental 'telesms,' about which he inclosed some extracts; ‡ and inquiring whether Ashmole had finished his Catalogue of the Bodleian coins. § (Queen's Coll., Oxford, 9 July 1661.) 211^a, 212^b.

§ See No. 808.

108. Letter from Sir Jo: AVTON, Usher of the Black Rod, desiring Ashmole to correct and enlarge, for the press, the draught of a statement concerning his office, against Mr. Thaine; and proposing to meet him, Sir R. Fanshaw, and Sir Edw. Walker, about it. (Whitehall, 9 Mar. 1660—1.) 213^a, 214^b.

With seal of arms, broken. That statement is art. 29.

109. Letter from Dr. BRUNE RYVES, Dean of Windsor, asking Ashmole to let him have a 'bill' of the fees due to him as Register of the Order of the Garter. (26 Apr. 1661.) 215^a, 216^b.

110, 111. From Dr. RYVES, both on the same request. (27 Apr. 1661.) 217^a, 218^a.

The latter is the only one of these, that has a perfect seal of his crest.

112. From Dr. RYVES, urging the same request, and (in a postscript) thanking Ashmole for his letter. (Windsor, 1 May, 1661.) 219^a.

113. From Dr. RYVES, requesting a copy of a chapter-act, for gifts of plate to the altar of S. George's chapel. (11 Nov. 1661.) 220^a.

114. From NICHOLAS BURGHE, thanking Ashmole for his 'great curtesey' to him, and desiring his mediation with Sir Henry De Vic, for the payment of moneys withholden from him and the other Poor Knights. (Windsor, 28 June 1661.) 221^a.

115. From NICH. BURGHE[E], complaining of hard dealings toward him and his 'brother' Odensell, about the suit for Crane's charity; and again desiring his mediation for payment. (Windsor, 18 Dec. 1661.) 222^a.

These two letters are sealed with different seals of arms. The writer was Ashmole's old friend Captain BURGHE, who collected the old poetry in No. 38, and produced the curiosities described under artt. 94 and 95 of this volume. He was made one of the Poor Knights of Windsor in 1660; but in his warrant for that place, (No. 1112, f. 75,) he is miscalled Nicholas 'Birch.' His portrait, representing him in full habit, is in this Museum, (num. 58,) but unfortunately it has been always mis-called in the Catalogues that of 'Michael Burck.' His sickness and death, in 1670, are recorded in artt. 134 and 140 of this volume.

116. Letter from Dr. GEORGE EVANS, Canon of Windsor, full of information relative to the history of the College, and inquiring concerning the life and relics of S. Radegund. (Windsor, 27 March, 1660.) 223^a, 224^b.

117. Letter from Dr. RYVES, assuring Ashmole that he could not get from De Vic either his or Sir R. Fanshawe's materials for the Register of the Order, and therefore promising information from memory on some of his inquiries. (Windsor, 18 Apr. 1666.) 225^a.

With a seal of arms.

118. From Dr. RYVES, that De Vic had promised the papers next week, and that the King would not keep S. George's feast, "though Sr Harry pressed him in poynt of conscience." (21 Mar. 1667.) 226^a.

119. From JOHN HEVER, sending a copy of the office of S. George out of a book of Hours,* which he had given to Clare Hall, and noticing the legend of that saint in the old English 'Festivall.' (Windsor, 12 May 1666.) 227^a.
- * "Horæ beate Virginis secundum consuetudinem Anglyæ." (See the next article.) It hath a seal of arms. See also art. 124.
120. "A transcript of all that concernes St George in y^e MS. mentioned by Dr. Hever:" with references, added by Ashmole, to printed copies of the same Office. 228^a.
121. Letter from Dr. EVANS, sending extracts from the "Chanters' bookes;" noticing that 80 poor persons had two penny loaves every Sunday from the College; and desiring a perfect catalogue of the Knights of the Garter. (Windsor, 25 Sept. 1667.) 229^a.
122. From Dr. EVANS, stating, in addition to a catalogue of the canons formerly sent, that Dr. Milward, Dr. John Butler, and Mr. Henry Wootton had been since added; discoursing on various records of the College, and encouraging Ashmole to complete his list of the Knights. (Windsor, 4 Mar. 1669.) 230^a.
123. From Dr. RYVES, suffering from gout; he states that he had completed the draught of the Register from 1638, where it left off, to the chapter in June last; that De Vic would not consent to employ a good amanuensis to enter it, but urged that it should be viewed by a Committee of Knights; and instructs Ashmole to see the Abp. of Canterbury on the subject. (Windsor, 14 Dec. 1668.) 231^a, 232^b.
124. From Dr. EVANS, about the plates of Montagu and Wodfyld in the Chapel; stating that Dr. Mews, Vice-Chancellor of Oxford, was in London, and would tell him about Dr. Hever's ritual; naming the High Stewards of the College, in the time of Henry VIII.; and about Edward the Confessor's living at Windsor. ("21 Nov.") 233^b.
125. From Dr. EVANS, telling Ashmole that he 'grasps at all,' and therefore communicating to him a great quantity of curious facts about the College, the town of Windsor, &c. which he calls some 'petty things' of his own collection. (Windsor, 18 May, 1666.) 234^{ba}.
126. From Dr. RYVES, stating what he had been able to collect concerning the fees due to himself and his church, from the Knights; and desiring Ashmole to supply farther information toward making his claim. (Windsor, 28 Dec. 1669.) 235^a, 236^b.
- With his seal of arms; also in art. 132, 144.
127. From Dr. RYVES, requesting Ashmole to deliver certain papers to his son for him. (Windsor, 3 Jan. 1669.) 237^a, 238^b.
128. From Dr. RYVES, promising to bring 'the new Booke' shortly; about his success against De Vic, as to the fees for foreign princes; and desiring Ashmole's assistance in making good part of the recent petition of the Dean and Chapter to the Sovereign, which is fully stated. (6 Jan. 1669.) 239^a, 240^b.
129. From Dr. RYVES, asking for a copy of papers relating to the same business. (8 Jan. 1669.) 241^a, 242^b.
- *130. From Dr. EVANS, about certain records of the College, the fees of the Poor Knights, and the choristers' pay; with a copy of the daily prayer used in the Chapel, for the Sovereign and Knights; and promising to answer all his inquiries, if he would but let him have a perfect catalogue of the Knights. (Windsor, 14 Feb. 1669.) 243^a.
131. From Dr. RYVES; who had come to town, though in great pain; desiring Ashmole to bring his papers. (7 March 1669.) 245^a.
132. From Dr. RYVES, desiring to know when the Earls of Northumberland, Salisbury, and Berkshire* died; whether the Earl of Albemarle did not die on 3 Jan.; and stating that Dr. Evans was going to lodge at Mr. Wagstaffe's chamber in the Temple. (14 March 1669.) 246^a.
- * Ashmole notes "15 July 1669."
133. From SAM: HULL, sending, from Dr. Evans and the Dean, one of the service-books lately printed by one of the choir, containing some prayers about which Ashmole had written. (Windsor, 8 March 1671-2.) 247^{ab}.
- With his seal of arms.
134. From SAM: HULL, informing Ashmole of the state of Capt. Burgh's health, whose lodgings were got ready for the accommodation of Ashmole and his wife, in their expected visit. (Windsor, 22 Apr. 1670.) 248^{ab}.
- With a note by Ashmole, about the King of Sweden's banner, set up at Windsor.
135. From Dr. EVANS, desiring to know the age of S. Anthony's Hospital, and whether a School was there in the time of Edward IV.; and still urging for the catalogue of Knights. (14 Apr. 1670.) 249^a.
136. From Dr. EVANS, thanking Ashmole for the catalogue; saying that the royal visitation, in 1552, could not be found; that he would send Frith's Register; and that the Dean was going to 'Hazely.' (Windsor, 28 June 1670.) 250^a.
137. From Dr. RYVES, desiring a pint more of the ink which Ashmole had sent to write the 'Registrum Carolinum' with; and complaining of the uncertainty "whether a feast or no feast." (Windsor, 16 May 1670.) 251^a.
- If this letter were written with it, it must have been of a durable and excellent quality.
138. From Dr. RYVES, hoping that Ashmole had received the new Register from Dr. Durell; stating that he had left a space for a fit notice to be taken of Ashmole; discoursing about putting the King's picture in the book, which he feared De Vic would not allow money for. (Haseley, Oxon. 18 July 1670.) 252^a.

139. From Dr. EVANS, to meet Sir Charles Doe before going to Windsor in the evening; and inquiring about their manor and rectory of Old Swinford. (17 June.) 253^a.

A small paper, now fixed on the blank leaf of the next letter.

140. From Dr. EVANS, stating that "Mr. Burgh* dyed this morning," and discoursing about documents of the College.† (Windsor, 22 June 1670.) 254^a, 253^a.

* See art. 115. Hence Ashmole hath noted in his Diary, under this date, "Capt: Burgh my old acquaintance died." (No. 1136, f. 46.)

† Below are notes, by Ashmole, about such as he had copied from books lent to him by Dr. Evans; from whose collections there are extracts in No. 1124, ii. iii. He seems, from this correspondence, to have sent up many originals to London, for Ashmole's use.

141. From Dr. RYVES, discoursing on the completion of the 'Liber Carolinus,' and consulting Ashmole about having the King's portrait painted in it. (30 June 1670.) 255^a, 255^b.

142. From Dr. EVANS, stating that Dr. Durell detained the register, till he had heard from the Dean about proposed amendments. (21 July 1670.) 142^b.

143. From Dr. EVANS, about the register; sending the original indenture with the masons,* and discussing the situation of Shorne's chapel therein mentioned. (29 June 1670.) 258^b.

* Often mentioned in these letters, as not yet found: a copy is in No. 1125, i. art. 9.

144. From Dr. RYVES, desiring Ashmole to put the register into Sir Edw. Walker's hands, when he had used it; threatening to tell the King that De Vic would not allow the portrait to be inserted; and saying that he was going to Haseley again. (Windsor, 2 Sept. 1670.) 259^a.

145. From Dr. RYVES, about the same matters, earnestly charging that the written part of the book, if put into a painter's hands, should be sealed up; "miserably downe of the gout." (Haseley, 27 Sept. 1670.) 260^a.

146. From Dr. RYVES, about the same, requesting him to put the book into Sir Edw. Walker's hands, and hasten the painting. (Windsor, 28 Oct. 1670.) 261^a.

147. From Dr. RYVES, excusing himself from letting Ashmole have the rough papers from which the new register was made. (Windsor, 9 Nov. 1670.) 262^a.

148. From Dr. EVANS, informing Ashmole that Dr. Durell would be glad of his acquaintance: not dated. 263^a.

149. From THO: BROUN, Canon of Windsor, stating his willingness to contribute any information that he possessed relating to that church and castle, and his opinion that "the round table" was nothing else than the round tower of the castle. (22 Aug. [1670.]) 264^a.

With seal of arms. See art. 157.

150. From CHRISTOFFE LINDENOW, (agent for the King of Denmark,) inquiring concerning the installation of the Prince of Orange, at Windsor, on the following day. (London, 6 Dec. 1670.) 265^a.

Sealed with a curious cypher and coronets.

151. From W. B. LEYONBERGH*, requesting a copy of certain information which Ashmole had formerly given to him, concerning his "master's right to possede the place above the King of Danmark." (10 May 1671.) 266^a.

* Called "Lionberg ye Swedish Envoy" in Ashmole's Diary, (16 Mar. 1670;) and "the Chevalier Lyonberg" in the Gazette of 4 July 1670.

152. From the same, to Ashmole at Hersham; urging the same request, that he might be prepared against a memorial given in by the Danish resident. (16 May 1671.) 267^a.

153. From SETH [WARD] Bishop of SALISBURY, requesting a copy of the letters patent, whereby the Chancellor of the Garter is made treasurer of the yearly income of 1200*l.* granted to the Order. (25 Nov. 1671.) 268^b.

154. From Bishop WARD, requesting the loan of a copy of the patents, whereby the office of Chancellor was granted to Richard Beauchamp and his successors by Edward IV., and confirmed by Charles I. (8 Dec. 1671.) 269^a.

155. From Sir EDWARD WALKER, Garter, remarking on the ceremonial of the delivery of the garter to the King of Sweden, by Henry Saint-George; desiring Ashmole not to print it at full length, and to omit the plate representing the fireworks. (Whitehall, 11 Dec. 1671.) 270^a, 271^b.

But see Ashmole's Institution, pp. 422—4, and the plate there.

156. From HEN: ST GEORGE, relative to the same ceremonial, which he had left with Sir Edw. Walker for Ashmole. (11 Dec. 1671.) 272^a.

With seal of arms.

157. From Dr. EVANS, desiring Ashmole to write to Dr. Broun, to farther his own application to him for Ashmole; and giving some information concerning Oxenbridge's chantry and tenements. (Windsor, 15 Aug. 1670.) 273^a.

158. From Dr. RYVES, acknowledging his "excellent worke;" commending it; and stating that Mr. Price, secretary to the Bishop of Worcester, was recommended by the Archbishop of Canterbury, to fill "the register's place of Wolverhampton." (17 May 1672.) 274^a, 275^b.

159. From Sir EDW. WALKER, asking Ashmole's advice concerning the rectification of an error in the Duke of Ormond's plate at Windsor. Dated "Thursday 17. 8^{ber}" [1672.] 276^a, 277^b.

- †ASHMOLE's astrological figure to determine the question; set "M. 17 Oct. 1672. 3^h. 30'. p. m." 277^a.
160. Letter from Dr. RYVES, desiring Ashmole to demand a book of Statutes of the Order, from Mayerne, the stationer, who refused to deliver it. (19 Feb. 1672.) 278^a.
161. From Dr. RYVES, his "store of Statute bookes being exhausted by these frequent installations," desiring Ashmole to get two copies transcribed on vellum by Mr. Mayerne the King's bookbinder, in Little Britain. (Windsor, 21 Oct. 1672.) 279^a.
Not written by the Doctor's own hand.
162. From Dr. THOMAS BARLOW, thanking Ashmole for three copies of his "most ingenious booke," (one for the Bodleian, and one for Mr. Wood,) and commending the same. ("Q. Coll. Oxon. Jul: 11. 1672.") 280^{ab}.
163. From ANTHONY WOOD, an elegant letter, commending Ashmole for the merits of his book. (Oxford, 16 July 1672.) 281^{ab}.
With seal of arms.
164. From THOMAS BLOUNT, the Herefordshire antiquary, commending Ashmole's book, and communicating some observations on it. (Orleton, 3 Sept. 1672.) 282^{ab}, 283^b.
With curious seal.
165. From THOMAS WEEDON, expressing his great esteem and admiration of Ashmole's work, and sending some venison to him. (13 Dec. 1672.) 284^a, 285^b.
With seal of arms. On the back Ashmole has noted his abode.
166. From FABIAN PHILIPPS, an eloquent letter of commendation; in which he says that Ashmole's work ought to be translated into Latin for all nations, and communicates some critical remarks. (London, 27 Jan. 1672.) 286^{ab}, 287^b.
With seal of arms.
- †167. ASHMOLE's copy of his own letter to Thomas Henshaw, esq. Secretary to the embassy at Copenhagen, advising on the best manner of presenting a copy of his book to the King of Denmark, since the return of Mons. Lindenaw; and offering one to him, and one to the Duke of Richmond. (London, 5 Nov. 1672.) 288^a.
168. From ANNE LEVESON, an elegant letter, thanking her "honour'd brother" Ashmole for the gift of his book, commending the same, and promising to bequeath it to her daughter. (Dutton, 3 Jan. 1673.) 289^{ab}.
With seal of arms.
169. From BASILL [FIELDING, Earl of] DENBIGH, thanking Ashmole for his book, and promising to make it his principal entertainment in Rutlandshire. (Newnham, 24 May 1672.) 290^a, 291^b.
170. From the Earl of DENBIGH, informing Ashmole that he was attentively reading his book; that he had found, in some out-houses, "stars and flowers of the feild sett upp in the panes of the glass windows," as old badges of his family; and that his manor of Lutterworth was sold by Hamon fitz Memf. to Bertram de Verdun, both being his own ancestors. (5 Jan. 1673.) 292^{ab}, 293^b.
This letter only is sealed with arms.
171. From the Earl of DENBIGH, about the Saint-Lis, and other ancestors of his family; and discussing the various origins that might be assigned to the word fert, the motto of the Order of the Annuciade of Savoy. (12 Jan. 1673.) 294—5.
172. From WALTER WROTTESELEY, acknowledging the gift of Ashmole's book, stating that his former letter to that effect had miscarried, and presenting him with five pounds through Mr. Fryth. (2 Feb. 1672—3.) 296^a.
173. From B. ROCKWOOD, 'counsellor to his electoral highness, and governor of Oppenheim,' assuring Ashmole of the Elector's thanks for his book. (Heidelberg, 25 Oct. 1673.) 297^a, 298^b.
With a small seal.
174. From Sir JOSEPH WILLIAMSON, complaining of too much leisure; desiring to be, with Ashmole and Dugdale, among the rolls and records; inquiring what he was doing since the finishing of his "last great worke;" commending it, and desiring Ashmole to note such documents as were fit for his use; with compliments to Dugdale and Lilly. (Cologne, $\frac{1}{16}$ Dec. 1673.) 300^a, 299^a.
With seal of arms. On the blank pages are written—
- †ASHMOLE's copies of his own letters to the "Lord Ambassador Williamson;" the one thanking him for presenting his book to the Elector Palatine and Count Marchin; the other, in answer to Sir Joseph's letter, informing him of his own and Dugdale's literary undertakings. (London, 23 July 1673, 19 Jan. 1673.) 299^b, 300^b.
175. From THO. HENSHAW, explaining at great length the hinderances that happened in the presentation of Ashmole's book to the King of Denmark; with notices of Griffenfeld the Danish minister. (Copenhagen, 6 Sept. 1673.) 301—2.
176. From the same, offering to present Ashmole's book to the King of Denmark, suggesting various means of sending it, and informing him of M. Lindenaw's marriage to the daughter of Count Freez. (Copenhagen, 23 Nov. 1672.) 303^a, 304^b.
- †ASHMOLE's copy of his answer to the same. (13 Mar. 1672[3].) 304^a.
177. From THO. HENSHAW, stating that the King of Denmark had given him "a lusty chaine of gold," and "a stately medall of gold wth this K^{es} effigies in it," for Ashmole; stating also the difficulties of sending both them and the Duchess

- of Richmond's jewels, before the conclusion of a peace; mentioning the astronomical work of Hevelius; describing the frozen state of the Baltic; and giving some account of the Chancellor Griffenfeld, with a list of his titles. (Copenhagen, 28 Feb. 167 $\frac{3}{4}$.) 305^{ab}, 306^b.
With seal of arms.
178. From the Count DE MONROUX, K. G., thanking Ashmole for his present of a copy of his book: in French. (Turin, 24 June, 1673.) 307^a, 308^b.
179. From the Earl of CASTLEMAINE, highly complimenting Ashmole on his work; and stating that he had placed one copy in the public library of Liege, and should send the other to Cardinal Barberini for the Vatican. (Liege, 29 Oct. 1674.) 309^{ab}, 310^b.
With seal of arms. The answer is in art. 187.
- 182, 181, 180. "This is the original postscript of a letter sent from the Prince FRIDERICH WILHELM Elector of BRANDENBURGH, and signed by him, to his agent at Hamborough, upon the receipt of my booke of the Garter,"* (Collen at the Sprea, 24 Mar. 1674;) together with a fair copy of the same, and English translation thereof. 313^a, 312^a, 311^a.
* So subscribed by Ashmole: the copy and translation are both by foreign hands.
183. From Sir THOMAS BROWNE, thanking Ashmole for his book, and sending to him Dr. Dee's scheme of the nativity of his son Dr. Arthur Dee, with the judgement thereupon by one Murrerus, an astrologer at Moscow. (Norwich, 8 Oct. 1674.) 314^a, 316^b.
With broken seal of arms. This letter is published in Wilkin's edition of Browne's Works, (London, 1836, 8vo.) I. 413-4. The answer is in art. 188.
184. From SETH [WARD] Bishop of SALISBURY, stating that he was "in great confusion," by reason of the King's desire to invest the Duke of Newcastle, next day, though he had received all the insignia, except the star; and desiring Ashmole to see the Duke, and set down his own remarks in writing. (8 March, 16 . . .) 315^{ab}.
 All the following articles, to art. 200 inclusively, are either original papers stuck in after the book was bound, or draughts and copies written on the blank leaves, by Ashmole's own hand.
185. From Sir THOMAS HERBERT, (in answer to a letter from Sir W. Dugdale, of 27 March,) stating that, in consequence of the Archbishop's desire that his narrative concerning Charles I.* should be published, he had revised the same; and desiring that Ashmole, Dugdale, and Rushworth should peruse and correct it; also thanking Ashmole for the gift of his book, lamenting Hollar's death, mentioning the republication of his own Travels, and deploring the destruction of Ashmole's library and coins by fire. (York, 31 March 1680.) 317^{ab}, 318^b.
* See No. 1141, i. and ii. Dugdale has used and noted this letter.
186. From Sir THO. HERBERT, thanking Ashmole for Hollar's draught of the monument of the first Earl of Worcester at Windsor; commending his History of the Garter; advising him to print his Antiquities of Berkshire*; and mentioning Tradescant's gardens, to which Ashmole had retired away from court. (York, 1 Sept. 1680.) 319^a, 320^b.
* No. 850.
- †187. ASHMOLE'S copy of his letter to the Earl of Castlemaine, at Liege, thanking him for his present of a case of pistols and a silver sword-hilt; and offering to him an other copy of his book, in the stead of that which he had given to the public library there. (London, 21 Nov. 1674.) 321^{ab}.
- †188. ASHMOLE'S copy of his answer to Sir Thomas Browne, thanking him for Arthur Dee's nativity; desiring information relative to Dr. Dee, especially his picture; and commending Browne's son. (26 Nov. 1674.) 322^a.
189. From Sir LEOLINE JENKINS*, stating that he had presented Ashmole's book to Monsieur Christyn, the Spanish ambassador, and author of the Jurisprudentia Heroica; wishing that Ashmole's work were translated into Latin; and desiring him to correct some plates of arms, of Knights of the Golden Fleccc, for Christyn†. (Nimeguen, 20 Dec. 1677.) 323—4^b.
* English ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary. He was also President of Jesus College, Oxford.
† See the "script," art. 205.
- †190. ASHMOLE'S copy of his answer to the same, rejoicing in the acquaintance of M. Christyn, sending for him the arms, quarterings, &c. of Edward IV. and Henry VII.; and offering to Sir Leoline two more copies of his work. (London, 11 March 167 $\frac{1}{2}$.) 325^{ab}.
191. Answer to the same, from Sir L. JENKINS, thanking him on behalf both of M. Christyn and himself. (Nimeguen, 25 March 1678.) 326^{ab}, 327^b.
With seal of arms.
192. Letter from Sir WILLIAM SWANN, acknowledging Ashmole's of the 8th instant; noticing his journal, which Mr. Secretary Williamson had shown to Ashmole; and promising to send a Dutch account of the investiture of the Elector of Saxony, and some of the coins thereupon struck. (Hamburgh, 23 July 1678.) 328^{ab}.
Chiefly in a secretary's handwriting.
- †193. ASHMOLE'S copy of his letter to Count Griffinfeld, Chancellor of Denmark, thankfully acknowledging the Danish King's gift of a gold chain to him, through his friend Mr. Henshaw, and declaring that the King of England had permitted him to wear it at the festivals of the Garter. (London, 18 Sept. 1674.) 330^{ab}.

194. Letter from Sir ROBERT SOUTHWELL, informing Ashmole that he had received a gold chain "of philigrend links," with a medal, for him, from the Elector [of Brandenburg*]; and mentioning Sir W. Dugdale and Major Huntington. (Berlin, 21 May 1680.) 331^{ab}, 332^b.

* See Ashmole's account of his reception of it, 16 Nov. 1680, in his Diary, (1774. 8vo.) p. 358.

195. Letter, in French, from the Baron SCHWERIN*, complimenting Ashmole on the presentation of the chain and medal given by his master; and promising to furnish him with an account of the Elector's own Order. (Berlin, 19 May 1680.) 333^{ab}.

* He is mentioned in the foregoing letter, as the Elector's minister. A translation is at art. 208.

†196. ASHMOLE's copy of his answer to the Baron SCHWERIN, expressing his thanks for the Elector's gift, and requesting the promised account of the Order whereof the Elector was Grand Master. (London, 1 Dec. 1680.) 335^a.

†197. ASHMOLE's copy of his letter to Charles Bertie, esq. Envoy to the Elector Palatine of the Rhine, at Heidelberg, requesting him to present his thanks to the Elector, for a gold medal which he had received by the hands of Sir Charles Cottrell; and stating that he had shown it to the King. (London, 1 Dec. 1680.) 335^b.

198. Sir CHARLES COTTRELL's letter, within which he sent to Ashmole the gold medal of the Elector Palatine's father; stating the Elector's promise to send him also one of his own. (27 Sept. [1680.]*) 336^a, 337^b.

* See Ashmole's Diary, under that date.

†199. ASHMOLE's copy of his letter to Charles Bertie, esq., at Heidelberg, acknowledging his of the 17th instant, and informing him of the Elector Palatine's installation, by the Earl of Craven his proxy, 'on Saturday last,' and what services he had then rendered. (London, 28 Jan. 1680.) 338^a.

See artt. 201, 202.

200. Letter from JA: HINTON, informing Ashmole that, when he offered a copy of his book to the Earl of Salisbury, he said he had one already; and mentioning the Earl's installation 'on thursday next.' (27 Sept. 1680.) 339^a, 340^b.

* * * The following articles were found loose in this volume, and are now fixed among the blank leaves.

201. From CHARLES BERTIE, assuring Ashmole that he would make his 'compliment to the Elector Palatin' for his former gift, and endeavour to procure the Elector's own medal; stating the danger of his journey to Heidelberg, by reason of the wolves; expressing his apprehension concerning "an extraordinary comett, wth a dreadfull tayle of 50 leagues long;" announcing the publication of a heraldic work by 'one Spenerus;' and describing the desolation of war, made by the French King. (Cologne, 17 Jan. 1681.) 342—3, 343^b.

With seal of arms.

†202. ASHMOLE's draught of his answer to Bertie, giving him parliamentary news from their friend Col. Birch; describing the comet, the tail of which was about 90° in length on 21 Dec. last; desiring him to procure foreign accounts of it; and stating that the Elector Palatine was installed at Windsor, by his proctor the Earl of Craven, 'on Saturday last.' (London, 28 Jan. 1680-1.) 345—6.

Different from art. 199.

203. From CHA: BERTIE, an other elegant letter, describing his interview with the Elector, concerning Ashmole, but without the desired effect; stating that he had collected some Dutch pieces relating to the comet, that the booksellers at Frankfort were reprinting Poole's Synopsis, and that he should bring back some seeds of German plants for Ashmole's garden. (Heidelberg, 12 Apr. 1681.) 348—9, 349^b.

With seal of arms.

204. ASHMOLE's letter to Robert Rockwood, esq. envoy for the Elector Palatine at the Hague, adverting to their former correspondence, and explaining that he had but lately understood that he was the person whom he met at the Elector's table in London, when he was invested with the Garter. (London, 1 Dec. 1680.) 351, 352^b.

Before the sealing of it, Ashmole noted that "The newes of his death at the Hague stopt the sendg this letter."

205. Note, in French, desiring certain quarterings of the royal arms of England to be supplied, and others to be corrected; with the cover directed by Ashmole, and by him indorsed "Rec^d 29 Dec. 1677. 10^h. 45'. a. m." 353^b.

This is M. Christyn's "script" that was inclosed with art. 189: it appears to be by the hand of Sir LEOLINE JENKINS.

206, 207. The styles of the Marchio de Burgo-mainero, and the Comte de Wallestein, Knights of the Golden Fleece. 354^a.

Both seem to have accompanied the foregoing article, and are in the same handwriting: the former has an English note.

208. Translation of the Baron SCHWERIN's letter* to Ashmole. (Berlin, 19 May 1680.) 355^a.

* Art. 195. This paper is written by the same hand as No. 1097, as also are artt. 209—212.

209. ASHMOLE's petition to James Duke of York, thanking him for procuring "the annexed order*" at the last feast of S. George; and requesting that the sum of 70*l*. deposited in the hands of the Commissioners of Excise, by Richard Jones, as an old arrear, might be granted unto himself, as the Prince's own bounty to him. 358^a.

* The next article is another copy. This is the original petition, on a sheet folded in the usual manner.

210. "Order in a chapter of the Garter, 29 May 1674,"* that the Knights Companions should "give some honorable testimony by their bounty, of the value of his [Ashmole's] person and worke:" signed and sealed by "SETH Sarum. Prænob: Ord: Gart: Canc." 360^a.

* Thus indorsed by Ashmole. (361^b.) It has also a note subscribed by him, to acknowledge the receipt of 30*l.* from the Duke of Albemarle, "Mar: 1674." An other copy of this order is in No. 1136, art. 10: it is also entered in Latin in the Liber Carolinus, p. 114-5, No. 1130, f. 47.

211. Form of a warrant from James Duke of York, for the payment of 70*l.* to Elias Ashmole. 363^a.

"A faire copy of this was prepared for the Duke of York to signe, but he was not pleased to doe it, and so I desisted in my suite." (Ashmole's note.)

212. Copy of the Excise "Com^{rs} Report in Richard Jones his case," advising the Lords of the Treasury to accept the sum of 70*l.* in payment of certain arrears; signed "JO: JAMES, ROBERT HUNTINGTON, W^m: FOORTH." (2 Dec. 1670.) 366^{ab}.

†213. ASHMOLE'S narrative concerning the chains and medals presented unto him by the King of Denmark, the Elector of the Rhine, and the Elector of Brandenburg, respectively; with descriptions thereof. 369^{ab}.

Entered on one of the blank leaves.

214. Sir W. DUGDALE'S letter to his "good son" Ashmole, on occasion of Sir Edw. Walker's death, declining for his own part to succeed him as Garter, and assuring Ashmole that he was the fittest person; mentioning Lilly's discourse on Walker's nativity*, and other anecdotes about him, and his books and papers; desiring some garden-seeds; and prescribing for him and 'Betty' (Mrs. Ashmole), the "lemman posset drinke," from which his wife had found benefit "for her cold and coughing." (Blythe Hall, 26 Feb. 1676-7.) 370^a, 370^b.

Sealed with a crest, as also the next.

215. From DUGDALE again, at length resolving "not to decline this favour of his Maties" to make him Garter, in consequence of Ashmole's and Lord Hatton's letters; telling Ashmole to expect him at South Lambeth, "on thursday next;" and stating that he had looked over his book of the Garter, to take notes for the discharge of his new duties. (Blythe Hall, 7 Apr. 1677.) 372.

Neither of these letters has been published by Hamper.

†216. Agenda, probably prepared for Dugdale's use, by ASHMOLE. 374^a.

†217. "Fees due for a stranger Prince, upon his being made a Knight of the most noble Order of the Garter;" extracted out of the Register, pp. 88 and 92, by JOHN DUREL, Register. 374^a.

218. Letter from JOHN GIBBON, Bluemantle, repeating the arguments which he had written, to persuade Dugdale to take the place of Garter. (4 Apr. 1677.) 375^{ab}, 376^b.

219. From GIBBON, informing Ashmole of a conversation with Mr. Gregory Butler, "sisters son to Sr Thomas Higgons, now resident at Venice," relative to his missing Garter's place. (2 May 1677.) 378^a, 379^b.

220. From GIBBON, signed "B. M.," stating the substance of conversations in the Office, and proposing, in obscure terms, that Ashmole should treat with Sir E[dward] B[ysshe] for his place of Clarencieux. (11 Dec. 1679.) With a long note by ASHMOLE, explaining the circumstances, and his own reasons for not accepting it. 381^{ab}, 382^b; 382^a.

Gibbon's letters are very oddly interspersed with Latin phrases and sentences. Others are in No. 423, art. 120, and No. 436, art. 11.

No. 1132.

VOLUME XXXVI. contains a great number of miscellaneous papers and documents on vellum or paper bound together, to the number of 291 leaves; beside vacant leaves of paper at each end.

A numerous collection of original Warrants, Bills, Letters, Petitions, and other documents, relating to the Order of the Garter, and the Chapel and College of Windsor, chiefly of the reigns of Elizabeth, James I. and Charles I.

Most of these papers appear to have belonged to Sir James Palmer, Deputy Chancellor and afterward Chancellor of the Order, or to Dr. Wren, Dean of Windsor and Registrar of the Order, from the quotations of such as are copied in No. 1111.

*1. Warrant of JAMES I. (under his sign manual) to Henry Earl of Northampton, Privy-seal, and Thomas Earl of Suffolk, Chamberlain, to give order to Garter about preparing a copy of the Statutes of the Order to be sent unto the States of Holland, altered in some points from the common copies. (28 May, anno 10.) f. 1^a, 2^b.

2. Warrant from the Lords of the Council* to all municipal officers, to provide posthorses and shipping for Sir William Segar, Garter, to pass over speedily into Holland. (30 Dec. 1612.) 3^a.

* Subscribed by "H. NORTHAMPTON, T. SUFFOLKE, E. WORCESTER, E. ZOUCH, E. WOTTON, JUL. CESAR."

3. Report "As concerning the [due] place of the Duke of York" in the stalls at Windsor, by "WILL'M SEGAR Garter, WILL'M CAMDEN Clarenceux, RIC: ST. GEORGE Norroy, NICH' CHARLES Lancaster." 5-6.

4. "Constitueōns concerning the Order of St. George"* agreed by the Earls of WORCESTER, PEMBROKE, ARUNDELL and LEICESTER, commissioners of the Order, to be recommended to the Knights in chapter. (19 May 1622.) 7^{ab}.

* So indorsed on 8^b and 10^b. Their signatures are subscribed in this article and the next.

5. Other recommendations agreed to by the same Lords Commissioners. (23 Apr. 1623.) 9^{ab}.

6. Notice of a prorogation of the feast of S. George, communicated to Dr. Wrenn Dean of Windsor, in a letter from Sir Tho. Rowe, Chancellor of the Order. (27 Jan. 1640.) 11^a, 12^b.

Under the signet of the Order, impressed between paper, on the back: only the signature is Rowe's.

7. "His Maties warrant to deliver Sr James Palmer 600^{li}." directed to Sir T. Rowe, under the sign manual of CHARLES I. (4 May 1638.) 13^a, 14^b.

The signet is impressed between paper, on the margin of this article and the next.

8. Warrant of King CHARLES I. in favor of Sir James Palmer then Chancellor, declaring what badge the Chancellor of the Order should wear. (Oxford, 16 Dec. 1645.) 15^a.

See the note on a copy of this document in No. 1111. f. 40^b.

9. Friendly letter (in French) from 'FREDERIC-GUILLAUME, Electeur de BRANDENBOURG' to King Charles II., acknowledging the receipt of the Order of the Garter sent to his cousin the Prince of Nassau. (Königsberg, 4 June 1663.) 17^a, 18^b.

The whole subscription is by the Prince's own hand, and his great seal is impressed on the back. Printed hence in Ashmole's Appendix, num. cxiii.

10. "The excuse and desire of dispensation, of ye Earle of EXCETER, dat' 9 March 1637, for ye eare 1638." 19^a, 20^b.

Thus indorsed by Sir Tho. Rowe, Chancellor, to whom this letter is directed: it is signed by the Earl, and sealed with his signet.

11. "Petition from ye Earle of DERBY to his Ma^{te}: for a dispensation under seale during life." (Chester, 15 Mar. 1637.) 21^a, 22^b.

In a letter to Sir T. Rowe (who thus indorsed it), signed "Will. Derby." The small seal is broken.

12. Letter of 'THEO: Earl of 'SUFFOLKE,' excusing himself from attending S. George's feast, by reason of "indisposition of health." (16 Mar. 1637.) 23^a.

The Earls "seale at armes" is impressed on the upper part of the margin; but the wax, having been put between the two leaves, is broken away.

13. Letter "From the E: of MOLGRAVE [to Sir T. Rowe, being] his petition for dispensation." (Kensington, 29 Mar. 1638.) 25^a, 26^b.

Signed by him, and sealed with his crest: indorsed by the Chancellor. Copied in No. 1111, v. art. 40.

14. Letter from the Earl of NORTHUMBERLAND to Sir James Palmer, Deputy Chancellor, praying for a dispensation from attending the feast of S. George at York, by reason of sickness, and the Lords' vote*. ('Yorke-house, 23 Mareij, 1641.') 27^a, 28^b.

* See art. 22. This letter is signed by the Earl, and sealed with a small seal of arms. Both it and the seven following (art. 14—21) are copied in No. 1111, art. 22—25, 27—30: see also Ashmole's Institution, p. 526.

15. Letter of the Earl of SALISBURY to Sir J. Palmer, excusing himself from the same feast, by reason of the Lords' vote. (Salisbury-house, 28 Mar. 1642.) 29^a, 30^b.

All written with his own hand, and sealed with his crest.

16. Letter of the Earl of PEMBROKE and MONTGOMERY to Sir J. Palmer, inclosing the order of the House of Lords* as his reason for not attending the King at York. (Cockepitt, St James, 20 Mar. 1642.) 31^a, 32^b.

* That paper is in No. 1113, x. art. 5, as it appears by an indorsement at f. 191^b similar to "Pemb." on the back of this letter, the signature of which alone is by the Earl's hand.

17. The Earl of DANBY's letter to Sir James Palmer, desiring that "the incidents of old age" might be registered as the cause of his not attending the King at York. (S. James, 29 Mar. 1642.) 33^a, 34^b.

Signed by the Earl, and sealed with his signet.

18. Letter from JAMES MAXWELL, Usher of the Black Rod, informing Sir J. Palmer that the Lords had forbidden him to attend S. George's feast at York, desiring him to show their inclosed order* to the Sovereign, with a request that Mr. Newton might serve for him; and stating the grounds on which the Lords made their order. (Charing Cross, 1 Apr. 1642.) 35^a, 36^b.

* Art. 23.

19. The Earl of BARKSHIRE's letter to Sir J. Palmer, stating that he was prevented from attending at York, and desiring letters of dispensation. (S. James, 1 Apr. 1642.) 37^a, 38^b.

The subscription only is by his hand: the seal is defaced.

20. The Earl of HOLLANDE's letter to Sir J. Palmer, desiring him to present the Lords' order as the reason of his absence on S. George's feast, it being grounded on the King's writ. (Whitehall, 7 Apr. 1642.) 39^a, 40^b.

Subscribed by the Earl, and sealed with his signet. The order inclosed is now art. 22.

21. The Duke of HAMILTON's letter to Sir J. Palmer, excusing himself from attendance at York, by reason of sickness, being "hardly able to stirre of my bedd." (Whitehall, 12 Apr. 1642.) 41^a, 42^b.

All written by him, and sealed with his signet.

22. Order of the House of Lords, die "Martis, 22^o Martij 1641"—2, in the following words:—

54. Receipt by lady ELIENOR ROWE of 25*l.* from Sir J. Palmer, for the use of her husband. (28 June 1638.) 101^a.

A small paper pasted on the back of the next.

55. Receipt by Sir JOHN BOROUGH, Garter, for 7*l.* from Sir J. Palmer, "for eschocheons of armes of the Knights." (12 Nov. 1638.) 101^b.

56. Receipt by Dean CHR: WREN of the Garter and George belonging to the late Earl of Kelly, from John Watkins, servant of Sir J. Palmer. (22 Oct. 16 . . .) 102^a.

Copied in No. 1111, f. 33. The next article is a small paper pasted on this.

57. Dean WREN's notes relative to the Garters, Georges, and Collars of the Earl of Kelly and other Knights, (18 Apr. 1630,) referring to the "Register Booke," p. 57 &c. 102^a.

58. Receipts of money from Sir J. Palmer, dated 25 June 1638; by the Dean of Windsor*, Sir JOHN BOROUGH, Garter; and ELIZABETH MAXWELL, for Black Rod; for their quarters' allowances respectively. 103^a.

* Signed by "MA: ELIE:" that is, Bishop WREN, father of Dean Wren.

59. "Paymentes made to the officers of the — Order of the Garter, and to the Poore Knights, for the quarter endinge the 29 of Septemb^r. 1638." 105^{ab}.

Receipts, as in art. 58, written by Sir JAMES PALMER, and signed by "ELIANOR ROWE, MA: [WREN] Elie:, JOHN BOROUGH, Garter, ELIZABETH MAXWELL, HENRY BROWNE."

60. Receipts, in like form, for quarterly payments due 29 Dec. 1638, to the same persons. (2 Jan. 1638-9.) 107^{ab}.

The Dean's is signed both by HUMPHRY FRERE for him, and CHR: WREN; Black Rod's, "JAMES MAXWELL."

61. Like receipts for quarterly payments, made 27 March and 28 June 1639. f. 77^{ab}, 76^b.

Sir Thomas Rowe's was received, first by his wife, secondly by ROB. ADAMSON for him. The second leaf of this sheet has been put first by the binder.

62. Receipt of 50*l.* 6*s.* 3*d.* from Sir J. Palmer*, "Chancellor," for one quarter's fee to the Poor Knights, by HENRY BROWNE their governor. (2 July 1638.) 111^a.

* Written by him, as also part of art. 63, and all 64, 65.

63. Receipts for quarterly allowances to the Officers and Poor Knights, paid by Sir J. Palmer, 3-8 Oct. 1639. f. 112^{ab}.

The Dean's is signed by JOHN TOLLY, Rowe's by ADAMSON.

64. HENRY BROWNE's receipt for money due to the Poor Knights, at "Christmas quarter 1639." 114^a.

65. JAMES MAXWELL's receipt for 22*l.* 10*s.* being three quarters' fee for the office of Black Rod, due 25 June 1640. f. 116^a.

66. "A memoriall of [what] the rest of the plate of Windsor will come to." 117^a.

This is VAN VIANEN's estimate, in the same hand as art. 51: it amounts to 313*l.*

Other originals are in No. 1532 and 1546.

67. "A remove to be made at Windesore in the chappell, of all the stalls and hatchments of the Knightes of the Order of the Garter, at the installations of — Ulrick Duke of Holst[ein], and — Henry Howard Earle of Northampton." (1605, 3 Jac. I.) 118^a.

The original scheme or warrant, fairly written on vellum, signed "JAMES R." The seal is lost.

68. "A remove to be made at Windesore, [etc.] — at the installacōns of — Rob't Earle of Salisbury, and of Thomas Viscount Howard of Bynodon." (1606, 4 Jac. I.) 119^a.

Like warrant, signed "JAMES R." as also the next one.

69. "A remove [to be] made in the chappell of Windsor [etc.] — at the installacōns of — Frederick Prince Palatyn of the Rhein, and Maurice Earle of Nassau." (1612, 10 Jac. I.) 120^a.

70. "A remove of banners and plates, in the chappell of Windesore, at the installacōn of — James Marquis Hamilton, Earle of Cambridge and Arran." (22 Apr. 1623.) 121^a.

This warrant is signed "JAMES R." and is on paper.

71. "A remove of banners and plates, at the feast of St: George and installacōn, houlden at Windesore the 13. 14. and 15 dayes of December. an^o. 1625. At which tyme were installed the Dukes of Brunswick and Chevercus; the Earles of Salisbury, Carliell, Holand, Dorsett, and the Vicount Andover." 122^a.

72. Order of the stalls at "St Georges feast, houlden at Windesore 23. 24. 25 of September. An^o. Dⁿⁱ 1628." 123^a.

73. "A remove of banners in the chappell of Windesore, the feast of St George being there kept and solemnized the 5. 6. and 7 dayes of October 1630. At which tyme were installed Knights of the Order, — Richard Weston, Baron of Nayland, Lo: Th'ror of England, Robert Bartye Earle of Lindsey, Lo: great Chamb'len, W^m. Cecill Earle of Excester, and James Marquis Hamilton." 124^a.

These three warrants (71-73) are on paper, and are signed "CHARLES R." The last bears an indorsement (125^b) by Garter Walker's hand.

74. Order of the Knights at "St Georges feast, kept at Whitehall, the 23th of Aprill 1635." 126^a.

This is not a warrant: the names of the absent(?) Knights are written in red; and there is a note that the Earl of Northumberland was elected on the next morning.

75. Order of the Knights, showing the "Stalls assigned to the Knights Comp^s: by the Soveraignes order, 14 Apr: 1661." 128^a.

This and the next paper are in Garter WALKER's best writing: the titles are by Ashmole.

76. "The order of the stalls settled by the Soveraigne 30 March 1663." 129^a.

Indorsed by WALKER "22, 23, 24 Ap: 1663."

77. "Order of the stalls at St Georges feast, 29 May 1674." 130^b.

A smaller paper, thus indorsed by Ashmole (130^a), but seemingly written by WALKER.

¶78. Letter from the Poor Knights of Windsor, to Sir Thomas Roe, Chancellor of the Order, stating that the aggregate yearly income of all the thirteen, was but 237*l.* 5*s.*; yet part of it was lost in journeys to the Exchequer and fees paid there; and requesting him to procure payment to be made to them at Windsor. (21 Mar. 1637.) 131^a, 131^b.

Signed by HENRY BROWNE, Governor, SAM. HULL, THO. GIBBES, Sir FRA. TANFELD, AMBR. JERMEN, WILL. LONG, JOHN BRAY, ABEL BARNARD, WILL. KING, and WILL. MEYSY.

79. Proceedings "Att a Chapter held at Windsor the seaventh day of November 1633, being the day appointed by prorogacōn for the feast of St. George;" containing a decree for the revival of a constitution made in the reign of Henry VIII. and contained in the Statutes, that at the death of any Knight every companion should pay a certain sum for charitable purposes; superscribed "CHARLES R." and subscribed with the Sovereign's command that the Dean of Windsor should collect the sums, by "FR: CRANE, Canc." 133^a.

The original, thus certified as the Dean's warrant; who has noted (in red) the form in which the chapter was holden, and that these proceedings are "Registred in ye 88th page of the Red Booke." (But there in Latin: see No. 1129, pp. 567-8.) On the other half of the paper is written—

A schedule of the sums accordingly to be collected, from the Sovereign and Companions, set down by Sir FRA. CRANE, Chancellor; with notes of receipts thereof by Dean WREN. 134^a.

80. Statement, that the King had perpetually assigned the custody of the Little Park of Windsor to James Maxwell esq. Usher of the Order, and two towers in the Castle, the one to the Chancellor of the Order, and the other to Garter King of Arms; in right of their places respectively, by a decree made 5 Nov. 1629; with a memorandum that possession of "Garter Tower" was accordingly given to Sir William Segar, 2 May 1630, by Mrs. Osborne. 135^a.

Attested by WILL. SEGAR, jun., Tho. Keen, and Ric. Dockwra.

81. Warrant of CHARLES I. commanding the Dean of Windsor to "swear James Maxwell and Alexander Thayne esq^{rs} Gentlemen Ushers of ye Blacke Rodd in ordinary," and dispensing with any custom or order to the contrary. (Court at Derby, 14 Sept. 1642.) 137^a.

Apparently written by Sir Fra. Crane; signed "Charles R." and indorsed by Dr. Wren "Ks mandate to mee, to admit Mr. Thayne Usher of ye Parliament." (138^b.)

82. Order set down by one R: GOODWIN, for the allowances given by the Earl of Northampton to the Officers of Arms, at his installation; with their acknowledgment* of the receipt thereof underwritten. (20 Apr. 1629.) 139^a.

* Signed by Wm. PENSON Lanc., HEN. CHITTING Chester, JO: PHILIPOTT Som., Wm. LE NEVE York, SAMS: LENNARD Bluen., THO. THOMPSON Rougedr., GEO. OWEN Rougeroix.

At Whitehall, 23 Apr. 1607, for "the even — the daye at dyner — [and] at supper." 143^a.

On S. George's day, 13 Jac. I. (1615.) 144^a.

Dinner on S. George's day, 8 Car. I. (1631.) at Windsor. 145^b.

Supper on the same day. 145^b.

Supper on "St Georges eve, beinge kept at Windsor the 6, 7th and 8th of Novemb. 1633." 146^a.

"On xp'mas day, dinner 1633." 146^a.

"On St Georges day, supper. 1632." 147^b.

Dinner on the same day. 147^b.

"St Georges eve, supper. 1632." 148^a.

"For the Herauldes, monday 22th Aprill 1667. Supper." 148^a.

This last is by Ashmole's own hand. Art. 93 is a small paper pasted on it; and artt. 87—92 are narrow papers, pasted two and two at the edges. These papers appear to be the 'originals' possessed by Mr. Owen, from which No. 1109, artt. 226—9, were copied.

¶95. "Presentement of Knyghtes:" or the 'recordation'* made by JOHN Duke of BEDFORD, at a chapter of the Order of the Garter at S. George's feast 4 Hen. VI. (1426) setting forth the valiant and worthy conduct of Sir John Radclyff and other knights, and recommending him as a fit person to be chosen to fill a vacant stall. 149^a.

* So this interesting document is called by Ashmole, who, in his Institution (pp. 269—270), hath printed the whole of it in black letter; having found it (as he says) "among the collections made by the great industry of William Dugdale, esquire, now Norroy King of Arms." This is that original, 'in the hand of the time,' being largely written on a scroll, 22 inches long and 12 inches wide; and it bears an indorsement by Clarencieux Cooke's hand, similar to the heading of the document, "Presentmentes of Knyghtes of the order." (149^b.) Anstis hath noticed it in his life of Sir John Fastolf, K. G. who was elected in preference to Radclyff, (Register of the Order, I. 132); and, to supply what he calls the "omissions" of Ashmole's copy, he hath printed additional passages from a similar document in one of Fra. Thynne's MSS., which he refers to 7 Hen. VI. (II. 169—170.)

¶96—100. Old papers relating to Windsor College and Chapel.

96. "The godlye and upright dealyng of the right hob^l Sr Jhon Popham, lorde chiefe Justice of England, touching a controversie betwene the Deane and Canons of Windesor, and the poore Clerks there, as ensueth. Uppon the 10th daye of Janewarie 1604^{or} the Kings evidence beinge a booke of parchment indented" etc. 150^b.

A rough draught of the time, on an open sheet of paper.

97. (1.) Petition of the Dean and Canons of Windsor, praying the King to direct letters under the privy seal, in the form following:—
 (2.) Writ of privy seal, setting forth the immunities of Windsor Chapel, and commanding the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer to issue writs of supersedas upon the process instituted against the Dean and Canons, for the payment of a subsidy granted by Convocation on 1 July anno 28; (Westm. 8 June, 29 Hen. VI.) Also—
 (3.) A remembrance that the said petition was presented to the King, 8 Nov. 28 Hen. VI.; that by process in the Exchequer the College was exempted from two subsidies; and that this was done “by the labours of master John Arundell chanone and styward of the said chapell.” 131^a.

A scroll of paper, contemporary or nearly so.

98. “Solucio facta vicarijs Collegij sancti Georgij infra castrum de Wyndesor pro mense Septembris anno rⁱ rⁱ Edwardi iiii^{ti} post conquestum xj^o per manus magistri Willielmi Hermer thesaurarij.” (1471.) 132^a.

The original account, on paper: subscribed “Receptio per manus domini Radulphi Bygott.”

99. Petition of the Dean and Canons of Windsor, representing to King [James I.] the difficulties existing in their title to the rectories of S. Stephen’s, juxta Saltash in Cornwall, and Bradnynch in Devonshire; and praying for a better assurance thereof; with the King’s answer, certified by Tho: Lakes. 153^a.

A contemporary copy, in small quarto. See art. 114.

100. A list of sums of “Money promised for the vawghtyng of Wyndesor quere,” by ‘The Kyng, The prince,’ the Bishop of Winchester, and Knights of the Garter. (710^l.) 154^a.

Sums of “Mony payed of the same promes;” in two lists, acknowledged “by me THOMAS HOBBS.” 154^b—5.

This sheet of paper, of the time of Henry VII., is indorsed, as if on a scroll, “Byllys off the wantyng off quere.” (155^b.)

- ¶ 101—110. Original deeds and documents, relating to the Officers of the Order.

101. Articulus e Libro Nigro exscriptus, “inter Constitutiones ad Officiales hujus inelytissimi Ordinis peculiariter attinentes,” qui incipit Postremo debet esse unus Hostiarius; una cum ornamento ejus, virga nigra, atque veste, nitide pictis. 155^c.

This is a certificate handsomely written and painted on a folding leaf of vellum, and subscribed “Concordat cum Registr^o per WILL^M DETHICK Garter principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum, 1598.”

102. Commission de la Reine ELIZABETH, faisant le Sieur de Hunsdon, messire Thomas Smith, et messire Gilbert Dethick, Garter, ses ambassadeurs, pour presenter la jarretiere et autres enseignes de l’Ordre a Charles IX. Roy de France. (Richmond, 28 May, anno 6.) 156^a.

The original on vellum, subscribed “ELIZABETH R.” The seal of the garter is lost. Printed hence in Ashmole’s Appendix, num. lxxv.

103. Letters under the sign manual of Queen ELIZABETH, certifying the appointment of David Price to be Governor of the Poor Knights of Windsor, and commanding the Dean and Chapter to admit him to the same, after the death of William Paulmer. (Greenwich, . . . anno 30.) 157^a.

Original on vellum, but not fully dated; and the ‘signet’ does not appear to have been affixed.

- * 104. Scriptum per quod WILL. FITZWILLIAM, Ord. Gart. commilito, et thesaur. hospitii regis, concessit Thomæ Wrythesley, Garterio Regi armorum, annuum redditum 26s. et 8d. ex untem e manerio de Slade Hutton in com. Ebor. durante vita. (20 Maij, 19 Hen. VIII.) 158^a.

The original on vellum, with an illuminated capital and border, containing the Knights’ quartered shield within a garter. It is signed “Wylliam Fytzwylliam,” but the seal is gone.

- 105—8. Scripta quatuor de annuitatibus Guilelmo Dethick, Garterio, per Henricum Carey, Baronem de Hunsdon; Henricum Comitem Derbyæ; Carolum Howard, Baronem de Effingham; et Robertum Comitem Essexiæ; respective concedendis. (35 Eliz. 1593.) 159^a, 160^a, 161^a, 162^a.

These deeds are neatly written on vellum by different hands; each having the Knights’ arms painted in the corner: but they were never executed; and the blanks, for the name of the lands out of which the annuities were to issue, and for the dates, are not filled up.

109. Grant of an annuity of 40s. and one buck yearly, to Sir William Dethick, Garter King of Arms, by Henry Baron of Cobham, K. G. (London, 22 Apr. 42 Eliz. 1600.) 163^a.

This handsome deed, ingrossed on vellum, having the Knights’ quartered coat of arms and crest, the capital letter, &c. illuminated, seems never to have been executed. The tenor is somewhat different from that of the foregoing deeds; it is also in English, and much larger.

110. “L’re paten’ officij custodis parci de Potenall, infra forestam de Wyndesor” Johanni Molle, valecto de corona, concessi, per Regem RICARDUM III. (Westm. 19 Feb. anno 2.) 164^a.

The original letters patent, indorsed as above. The seal is lost, and the lower margin cut off.

- ¶ 111—122. Letters and other papers relative to the College of Windsor.

- * 111. Letter from the Dean and Canons of Windsor, to the Earl of Pembroke, informing him of the duties required by statute of the chantry-priests in the King’s chapel; and stating that they had bestowed on the teacher of the choristers, for increase of his maintenance, that chantry which he requested “for one Sr Hues vicar of Stanes.” (30 Sept. 1564.) 165^a, 166^b.

Original; the seal is lost. It is indorsed “frō ye Deane and Can. an answere touchyng ye chantrye.”

112. Letter from W. DAYE, Dean of Windsor, to the Lord Treasurer Burghley, “Towehinge Prices grawnt of ye Almes Knightes*,” and the filling up of places then void; and mentioning Pryce, Palmer, Norwaie and Inglese. (Windsor, 18 Oct. 1589.) 167^a, 168^b.

* So indorsed by Hicks, his Secretary. At the foot of the letter are—

Notes added by Lord BURGHLEY, of the salaries and fees received by the Poor Knights, and "y^t Palm^r dyed ij yeares past, last May. Norrey died ult^o Octob. 1588." 167^a.

*113. Letter from "Jo: BENNETT, Deane," and five Canons† of Windsor, to Sir Robert Cecil, Secretary of State, defending their conduct in having forcibly taken "one George Grene a tenor in the church of Westm." to sing in the choir at Windsor, by virtue of the Queen's commission "for the best furnishinge of this her standinge chapell royall." (Windsor, 18 Apr. 1599.) 169^a, 170^b.

† Ro: BROWNE, JOHN KYNGE, WM: WILSON, Ro: CHALONER, ERASMUS WEBB."

114. Report on the title of the Dean and Chapter of Windsor to the rectories of Saltash and Bradnynche, whereof they had desired farther assurance; as declared by Sir HEN: HUBERT, Sir FRA. BACON, Sir JOHN WALTER, and Sir THO. TREVOR, upon the petition's being referred unto them. 171^a.

A contemporary copy. See art. 99.

115. Letter of the Dean and Canons to Sir Edward Cooke, Attorney General, requesting him to confer with the Solicitor General on the matter of the ruined wall, which had been referred unto their opinion. (Windsor, 7 Nov. 1603.) 172^a.

A contemporary copy. Their opinion is in art. 117.

116. "A breviatē towching the castle walls of Windsor;" drawn on behalf of the Dean and Chapter. 173^a.

Fairly written, by the same hand as the next article. The titles are their indorsements, on ff. 174^b, 176^b.

117. "A copie of M^r Attorney and M^r Solicitors certificate towching the walls;" being a report to the Lord Treasurer, by Sir EDW. COKE and Sir JOHN DODDRIDGE. (30 June 1606.) 175^a.

118. Two several petitions of the Dean and Chapter, requesting the Lord Treasurer Dorset to refer the matter of the castle-walls to the Barons of the Exchequer; with the order thereupon made by him. (26 Jan. 1609.) 177^a.

119. The "Canons' petition; the L: Treasurers referment; and the certificate of the L: Ch: Baron w^t the rest of the Courte." (26 Jan. and 21 Feb. 1606.) 178^a.

The paper thus indorsed contains another copy of the latter part of the foregoing article, (by the same old hand,) with the addition of the Report signed "THO: FLEMYNG, GEO: SNYGGE, JA: ALTHAM." See the documents in No. 1123, ix. art. 3, &c.

120. "Samwell y^e und[er sherrif] his submission [for] infringing y^e libertie. 1614." 179^a.

The original, signed "per THOMAS SAMWELL Subvic." 18 March 1614; and thus indorsed on f. 180^b.

121. Letter from RIC: BAYLIE, [Dean of Salisbury,] to the Dean of Windsor (Dr. M. Wren), in answer to his letter on a dispute between their respective chapters, about "a right of jurisdiction." (Oxon. 13 Mar. 1639.) 181^a, 182^b.

122. 'Abstract, in the name of the Chapter' of Windsor*, of their title to a peculiar jurisdiction in the "churches of both y^e Okeburnes, Hungerford, Shalborne and Wantage," in right of succession to the Priors of Okeborne, who held them as part of the possessions of the Norman Abbey of Bec. 183^{ab}.

* So called in the foregoing letter, the answer to the contents of this sheet; which is the rough draught.

Two different draughts of a letter from CHRISTOPHER WREN, Dean of Windsor, to the Dean of Salisbury, renewing a claim to peculiar jurisdiction: not dated. 184^a, 184^b.

¶ 123—176. Petitions and Testimonials of suitors to be Poor Knights of Windsor, and other papers* relating to those persons.

* Excepting artt. 125, 134.

124. Sir JAMES PALMER's list of "Petitions of those that pretend to be Poore Knights;" briefly stating eighteen cases* and recommendations, in the order of their petitioning. 1634—42. f. 186^{ab}.

* Namely, Tho. Paine, Simon Winch, capt. Tho. Stafferton, capt. John Wills, Rob. Abercrommy, Tho. Browne, Geo. Bathurst, Fra. Willoughby, Geo. Lynnett, Tho. Forrester, Anth. Ferborne, Murrey Poore, Nich. Nott. Ja. Boncle, Rich. Gibbs, Chr. Harris, capt. John Fox, and John Bird. Also a note of the death of Tho. Gibbs, 8 Nov. 1641: see art. 163.

125. Indenture, whereby "RICHARDE PAYNE, President of the Kynges free chapelle of seynt George withynne the castelle of Wyndesore, and the Chanons," let, for the term of 30 years, to master THOMAS ROWTHALE*, ('secretarie' to Henry VII.) master THO. HOBBS*, clerk, and RICH. ROWTHALE, gent., the lands of Grovebury, parcel of the manor of Leighton Busard, in Bedfordshire. (10 Nov. 1505, 21 Hen. VII.) 189^a.

 Original on vellum; with the signatures of these two; but the seals are lost.

126. "Captaine [Thomas] Leigh's certificate for a Poore Knightes place," signed by RICH. HATTON. 190^a.

His petition is in art. 128.

127. Elegant recommendation of Mr. Abell Barnard for a Poor Knight's place, addressed unto the Knights of the Garter, by Sir HORACE VEARE, (Hackney, 23 Oct. 1634.) 191^a.

128. Petition to the King, from capt. THOMAS LEIGH, (who had escaped from imprisonment in Windsor Castle by the rebels,) desiring a Poor Knight's place; with a note subscribed by Sir JAMES PALMER, "Jan'y 5." 192^a.

Gilberto Dethick. (Pat. 4 Edw. VI. p. 2.) 3^{ab}.
Willielmo Dethick, (Pat. 28 Eliz. p. 1.) cum eorum cancellatione. 3^b—4^b.

"Grant to Sr W^m Dethick of 200*l.* per annum pension for lyfe, upon his surrendring his office of Garter." In Latin. (Pat. 4 Jac. I. p. 24.) 4^b—6.

Willielmo Segar. (Pat. 4 Jac. I. p. 2.) 6—7.
Johanni Burrough. (Pat. 9 Car. I. p. 13. n. 13.) 7—8.

Edwardo Walker; (Westm. 20 Oct. 14 Car. II.) per exemplificationem recitatae. (14 Dec. 18 Car. II.) 8^b—11^b.

All fairly written by Ashmole, who has omitted "the patent to John Writhe, Garter, successor to John Smert, [because it] is printed in Wever's Funeral Monuments," (1631, fol.) p. 661. Most of them are printed in the Federa.

2. CAROLI II. literarum patentium, per quas idem officium Garterii fuit Guillemo Dugdale concessum, 22 Apr. anno 29 (1677); exemplar, ejusdem DUGDALI manu scriptum. 13—14.

3. "The copy of a paper delivered to the Lord Chancellor Hyde, by Sr ED: BYSSHE Clarendieux . . . Nov: 1663," concerning Garter's power of granting arms. 15—17.

This transcript by Ashmole's hand is followed by a blank leaf not numbered.

II. A collection of papers, chiefly relating to the office of Garter King of Arms, its rights, privileges, and authority: viz.

1. The style of Philip and Mary, in Latin, French, and English. 18^a.

In a contemporary hand. On the back, by a hand somewhat more recent, is written a short—

List of certain pedigrees and heraldic documents. 18^b.

2. GILBERTI DETHICK, (ejus nomen subscriptum est "Garter principalis Rex armorum Anglicorum,") epistola de lite quadam super bonis relictæ Petri Roberti, et hæredum de Camyn; quam ad Doctorem Sotherman, Coloniae, laturus erat capitaneus Leche. (Londini, 2 Apr. 1554.) 19^a, 19^b.

This seems to be a copy, probably by Dethick's son.

3. Warrant to the Exchequer, for the payment of 1*0l.* 0*s.* 10*d.* to Sir Gilb. Dethick, "for scochyns of armes of the Knightes" of the Garter, "by hym set up wth in the chapell of o^r manner of S^t James;" and for throwing down the hatchments of the late Duke of Northumberland and others, at Windsor. (... May, 1 Mar.) 20^a.

A copy by his own hand.

4. A list of the crests or cognizances of the Sovereign and Knights of the Garter. 21^a.

Short account of the installation of "the Lord Lysle, being then lord Admirall, and the Lord Saynt John, being then lord Chamberlayn of the Kynges howsholde," on saturday 5 May, 35 Hen. VIII. 21^b.

A contemporary paper, written by Garter WALL?

5. Memorial whereby Garter complained against Clarenceux*, for illegally granting "armes wth patent to a straunger named Barnes, of the Stylyard," and for detaining "a role of Knyghtes made in the tyme of H. the 7th." &c. 23^a.
* Robert Cooke? in whose handwriting this copy seems to be.
6. "The humble remoustrance and petition of Sr JOHN BOROUGH, kn^t, Garter principall King of Armes," stating to the Earl Marshal (Thomas Earl of Arundel) various antient proofs of the rights and privileges of his office, and desiring that they might be "allowed unto him, and entred of record in the Office of Armes." 24—25^b.
A contemporary copy.
7. Garter's petition to the Sovereign and Knights of the Garter, complaining of inroachments on his office, by divers painters; and particularly desiring Lillie and Carie, painters of London, to be punished for ordering the funeral of the Earl of Devon. 26^a.
The corrected draught.
8. "The humble petition of WILLIAM SEGAR, Garter,"* to Thomas Earl of Arundel, Earl Marshal, complaining of the fees lately established by the Lords of Parliament, contrary to his right as an officer of that house, and desiring his lordship's support of his petition to the house. 27^a.
* So indorsed (on f. 28^b) apparently by himself: yet he says that he presents this by his "worthy fellowe and freind Mr [Lé] Neve, Yorke Herald, myself at this tyme being crasye, and not able to gyve yor Lp. that due attendance as I ought."
9. "A view of what fees were anciently payd G[arte]r, and the Office of Armes, upon Creations &c." wherein Sir EDWARD WALKER* shows, by precedents in the reigns of Henry VIII, Edward VI., and Q. Elizabeth, that his own perquisites were then proportionably greater. 29—30.
* By whom it is thus indorsed: it is neatly written in a clerk's hand.
10. "Considerations relating to the office of Garter Principall King of Armes," showing the necessity of better provision being made for the support thereof; by Sir "EDW: WALKER, Garter." 31^{ab}.
Fairly written by the same hand; corrected and signed by Walker. Part of the second leaf, which is briefly indorsed by him, is cut off.
11. List of "Fees to Garter principall King of Armes, for all Lords sitting in Parliamt." 33^a.
This paper seems to be by BOROUGH's hand; with additions by Walker, and this indorsement, "for introducing Peers into Parliament." (34^b.)
12. Precept of the Earl of "SUFFOLKE, Deputy Earle Marshall," commanding the Clerk of the Crown to expunge from the list of fees on creations, that of 2*o*l. to Garter, for granting supporters. (31 Oct. 1673.) 34^a.
A copy by Walker's hand, thus indorsed by Ashmole, "E. Marshalls order agt Sr Ed: Walkers recg fees for supporters."
- *13. "An accompt what every Off^r of Armes hath given towards the rebuilding [of] the Heralds Office, stated in Feb. 167 $\frac{1}{2}$," by Sir EDWARD WALKER. 35^a.
Thus indorsed by him, on f. 36^b.
- *14. "A breife narrative with what artifice Thomas Lee esq^r. Chester Herauld hath behaved himselfe in the affaire of the rebuilding [of] the Office of Armes, and with what contempt he hath pursued Sr Edward Walker, Garter, his superior Officer, and so all his fellow Officers that do not fall downe and worship his conceited great abilities and parts."—"Signed June 10th: 1674, by EDW. WALKER, Garter." 36—41.
A very fair copy, by the same hand as artt. 9, 10; here and there corrected by Walker, and subscribed by him as above.
- *15. "Draught of Garter's Report about rebuilding the Heralds Colledge, prepared 17 June [16]75," by Sir EDW. WALKER, for the Earl Marshal. 42^{ab}.
Written and thus indorsed by him.
- *16. Sir EDWARD WALKER's protestation to reserve his own rights inviolate, on consenting to grant deputations to certain Arms-Painters of London and Westminster: dated "November y^e . . . 1674." 43^a.
This is a copy by the same hand as art. 14, greatly corrected and enlarged by Walker himself, and indorsed as dated in December. (44^b.)
- *17. Warrant by the Earl of SUFFOLK, Deputy Earl Marshal, addressed "To the Register of the Colledge of Armes," appointing Francis Sandford, Rouge Dragon, to receive all fees on creations of nobility &c. and to divide and pay the same in due proportion; in the stead of Sir Edward Walker, who is stated to have inroached on the Earl Marshal's rights. (2 Nov. 1675.) 45—6.
A fair copy by the same hand as the foregoing; and briefly indorsed by Walker, on f. 46^b. See Walker's Exceptions against this unjust measure, in part vi art. 1.
- *18. "Sr EDWARD WALKER's humble proposalls and desires, in order to be joynd in commission to visit together with Sr Edward Bysb, on this side the river Trent."—"1662." 47—49.
Fairly written by the same hand: the date is taken from Walker's indorsement, at f. 50^b.
- *19. "Breife observations upon the succession, honor, and dignity of the office of E. Marshall of England." By Sir EDWARD WALKER. 51—3.
His own corrected draught. On f. 54^a is this indorsement, "Papers about the office of E. Marshall."
- *III. "A true narrative how the right honorable Henry Earle of Norwich, Earle Marshall of England, hath proceeded with his old and humble freind and servant Sr EDWARD WALKER kn^t. Garter principall King of Armes, and by what gradations and artifices he hath been prevayled upon to gratify the covetousness of Andrew Hay esq^r his Secretary, and the implacable and revengfull humor of Thomas Lec, esqr, Chester Herald, and others, to deprive Garter of severall rights never questioned before, and to impose upon him such severities as were never by any Earle Marshall put upon any of Garter's predecessors." (ff. '28.') 55—82^b.

This interesting MS. was fairly written by the same hand as art. 10 foregoing; and at the end bears the author's autograph, thus—"Signed, June 15th 1674, by EDW: WALKER Garter." (The last 6 leaves are vacant.) Compare iv. art. 2.

The papers of the next part, and of part. vi., are in the same fair hand-writing.

*IV. 1. "The present state of the case of Sr EDWARD WALKER kn^t: Garter principall King of Armes:" subscribed by him 'June the 3^d 1673.' f. 89—90.

*2. "The manner how the right hon^{ble} Henry Earle of Norwich, Earle Marshall of England, hath deprived his old freind and humble serv^t. Sr EDWARD WALKER kn^t Garter —, of a considerable part of the interest of his office and the reputation thereof; as will briefly appear by the ensueing [twelve] heads, which referre unto a full and perfect Narrative[†] thereof." 91—4^b.

† In part iii. already described. Two blank leaves follow; one has no number.

*3. "A breife state of the case of Sr EDWARD WALKER kn^t Garter —, which upon his petition by his Ma^{ty}s gracious favour is to be heard by his Ma^{ty} in Councill, the 15th of this instant January." 96^{ab}.

Also "The greivances which Sr Edward Walker Garter desires to be heard upon, and which are annexed to his petition." 97^a.

*4. "The state of the case of Sr EDWARD WALKER kn^t Garter Principall King of Armes." 98^a, 99^a, 100^a.

A brief, written on three open sheets: indorsed by himself "State of Gr^s case delivered [unto] his Councell in January 1673." (100^b.)

*V. The whole proceedings on the complaint justly laid by Sir EDWARD WALKER Garter, against the usurpations of the Earl of Suffolk, Deputy Earl Marshall, in the exercise of his office as principal King of Arms; including the representations put in on both sides, and the order of the Privy Council against the complainant, 19 Feb. 1674. ff. 101—113.

Fairly written in a running hand, by an unknown pen: the last three leaves are unnumbered and vacant.

*VI. 1. "The humble exceptions of Sr EDW: WALKER, kn^t: Garter —, unto an order signed by — James Earl of Suffolk, Deputy by his Ma^{ty}s approbation, to — Henry Earle of Norwich, Earle Marshall of England, dated the 2^d of November 1675, which deprives the said Garter of his right and trust, to receive and distribute all fees upon creations of nobility." Corrected and subscribed † by himself, 24 Feb. 1675—6. ff. 114—5^b.

† Indorsed also with a like title, on 115^b. The following title is also his indorsement on 117^b.

*2. "Copy of this paper about the manner of receiving all fees upon creations etc. delivered the E. M. at Arundell house, Feb. 24. 1675⁶ per E. W. Gr." being the result of his 'having perused y^e bookes in the Office of Armes' on that subject; subscribed by WALKER. 116—7^b.

*3. "Copy of an additionall paper about the receipt of fees, sent [to] Mr: Hay the E: Marshalls Secretary to present to his L^{op}: March 7th. [16]75⁶." 118—9.

Subscribed (and thus indorsed on 119^b) by Sir E. WALKER.

*4. "The present unhappy condition of Sr EDWARD WALKER kn^t. Garter principall King of Armes, in relation unto that office:" subscribed by himself, 20 March 1675—6. f. 120—1^b.

Indorsed also by him in like manner, on f. 121^b. These papers are by the same hand as parts iii. and iv.

VII. A large draught, exactly showing the positions of the Plates affixed within all the Stalls of the Knights of the Garter in Windsor Chapel, with all the arms very neatly tricked out. f. 122.

This very interesting and valuable plan is drawn on two large sheets, each 30½ inches wide and 19½ inches deep; so joined together that the narrow space between them represents the area of the choir, and the stalls rising on each side. The hand of the draughtsman is not recognized.

VIII. 1. "An account of the Order of the Garter, written by Mr: ROGERS, incerted into a booke* intituled Davidis Chytræi silva chronici Saxonice et vicini orbis arctoi, ab a^o: Christi 1580 usque ad 1591; and lent me by my Lord's grace of Canterbury, 2 Aug. 1679." ff. 123—6.

* Printed at "Argentina 1581." This is a transcript of the Latin text, from pp. 81—7, about the King of Denmark's investiture &c. largely written by Ashmole's hand, as likewise the following article.

2. "The Ceremonies belonging to the most noble Order of the Garter*, with the Armes and Styles of the same Order, an^o: 1606." Collected by Sir WILLIAM SEGAR, Garter King of Arms. 126^b—136^b.

* These only are here copied by Ashmole, (omitting the arms and styles,) namely—

- (1.) Segar's dedication to Prince Henry, K. G. 126^b.
- (2.) "Orders to be observed at the Court on the even of St: George, the day of St: George, and the morrow after." 127^b—131^b.
- (3.) "The installation of Knights of y^e Order of the Garter at Windsor, by Commissioners, when there is noe Lieutenant." 132^b.
- (4.) "The installation of new made Knights of the Garter, being Kings and Princes, by their Ambassadors." 135.

IX. "A short view of what hath been donne at severall chapters held by the Sovereaigne of the most noble Order of the G[arte]r, since the first of January 1660; touching the installation of the noble Companions thereof." By Sir EDWARD WALKER, Garter. 137^a.

A paper in his handwriting, found loose in one of the books, and now attached to this leaf. On the back is written, by an unknown hand,—

"A note of the bookes and papers wch I received of Sr Edward Walkers." 137^b.

No. 1134.

VOLUME XXXVIII. contains many original MSS. and papers, of different ages, bound up with (partly before and partly after) 154 leaves of fair paper, a great proportion of which is vacant, and the rest is written by Ashmole's own hand;—namely (part iv.) ff. 65—234, excepting ff. 69, 70, 75—77, 82, 141—9, which are papers of different sizes, inserted in the volume. F. 258 is of vellum, having been formerly a scroll, and the four last articles are papers found loose in the volume.

I. 1. Sir GILBERT DETHICK's narrative of "The manner for the installacōn of the right Chrysten King Franceys" the First of France, K. G. in 1528: beg. Furst the saterday xxvth yere of or said souveraigne lorde the King, all the Lordes and Knightes of the Ordre wech weare in com-mission. 1^{ab}.

The original, indorsed by Dethick "Stallacion of Frances the Frenche King" (f. 2^b); and noted with a similiar title, by Dugdale, at the top.

The next leaf has been misplaced by the binder: it ought to follow f. 18. F. 7 is likewise misplaced.

2. Sir GILBERT DETHICK's narrative of the feasts and ceremonies of the Knights of the Garter, in the first three years of Queen Elizabeth's reign; under the following titles:—

(1.) "Knightes of Thordre, as they were placyd the 17 daye of Novembre 1559, a^o 5 et 6 Phⁱ et Marie, et a^o primo Regine Elizabethhe, for that Quene Marye dyed the same daye." 4^a.

Against this title is the following note:—"1546 a^o 38 II. 8. St Georges day fell on good fryday, corpus cristi day on mydsomer day."

(2.) "St Georges daye a^o primo Elizabeth. Regine 1559, holden at Westm. sondaye." List of the Knights; their styles, with minute blazon of their hatchments, and their mottos; and the manner of keeping the feast. 4—6^b, 8—9.

(3.) "St Georges feast holden at WyndSOR, the 3, 4, and 5 of June, a^o primo Elizabeth. Regine;" narrated. 9^b—11.

(4.) "St Georges daye, being tuesdaye, holden at Westm' a^o ij^{do} Elizabethhe Regine, 1560." List of Knights, their styles, hatchments, &c. and the ceremonies. 11^b—14^b.

(5.) "The feast at WyndSOR, holden the xjth xijth and xiiijth of Maye 1560, a^o secundo Elizabeth. Regine." The ceremonies. 15—17.

(6.) "The Quenes takinge of her stalle at WyndSOR as followeth, a^o 2. 1560. Item in the returnynge to London ovet of her progresse fro Portsmouth and Sorwthampton on fryday the 30^e of August, she came to WyndSOR," etc. 17^b.

(7.) "Thenstallacōn of the Duke of Holsten,

* Adolphus Duke of Sleswick, Holstein &c. Fol. 3 is the original from which the fragment in No. 1110, i. art. 29 was copied.

(8.) "Thordre as the Knightes were placed and remayned at and afre the sayd installacōn, a^o 3, 1560." 3^b.

3. Fragment of a continuation of the same narrative, relative to "The morowe afre St Georges day a^o 4 E. Regine, 24 Aprell;" with a short account of the feast at Windsor, on sunday 10 May (1562); by Sir GILBERT DETHICK, Garter. 7^a.

4. List of "Knightes of the Garter deceassid sythen the coronacōn of K. Henrye the vijth untill a^o 7^{mo} et viij. II. Oct." 19^a.

The matches and quartered arms of the Kings of England from the conquest; together with the arms of the "Sancta Trinitas, Sancta Maria," and S. George; also eight coats of arms of the Princes of Wales; rudely set down and tricked by DETHICK. 20^{ab}.

5. The arms of 153 Knights of the Garter, hastily tricked by Garter DETHICK, from Edward the Black Prince to Sir Henry Guildford; with the matches of the earliest noted down. 21—6^b.

II. 1. "Instructions for the provision for an Erle*, and his charges, being Knight of the — Garter, at his installacōn;" list of fees or "Charges at the Castle and Colledge of Wynsor," both for an earl and for a baron; note concerning the "charge of dietts;" bill of "These parcelles to be prepared by Garter principall Kinge of Arms, to be sett up at WyndSOR wth the charges thereof;" with a note that the fees abovementioned were paid for Lord Buckhurst, 13 Jan. 1589, signed "Henry Bridges." 27^a.

* "Henry Co. Sussex, Tho. Baro Buckhurst. 1589." On the other side of this sheet (which is briefly indorsed by Sir Edw. Walker) is written by the same hand (Sir William Dethick's?)—

Copy of the Queen's warrant for Sir John Fortescue, to deliver robes out of the wardrobe to the Earl of Sussex, the Lord Buckhurst, and John Wolley, Chancellor of the Order. (Richmond, 12 Dec. 1589.) 27^b.

2. Sir EDW. WALKER's bill of "Fees and gratuities due and payable by the — Earle of Arlington &c. for his installation at Windesor, w^{ch} was performed by his proxy Sir Robert Car, Chanc^r of the Dutchy, 22 June 1672." 28^a.

Fairly written on an open sheet, and corrected and enlarged by Garter.

3. Statement of "The King of Armes his Parliamentary fees," for the introduction of new Peers

- temporal and spiritual; as certified by Sir John Borough, Garter, and other Officers of arms. 29^a.
- A contemporaneous paper, so indorsed on f. 30^b.
4. Sir EDW. WALKER's table of "Particulars for the installacōn of a K^t of the Garter, when provided out of the great wardrobe, and fo[r] the painters bill." 31^a.
- Fairly written by his clerk; corrected and so indorsed (on f. 32^b) by him.
- *5. Account of "The certeyne fees belonging to the office of Garter, as it was in the yeare 1633." 33^a.
- A contemporary paper, stating (inter alia) the names of those persons by whom the Knights' yearly fees were paid.
6. "For his grace [John] the Duke of Louderdall. The painter's bill for his atcheivem^{ts} hung up at Windesor, the day of his installation early in the morning;" corrected and certified by Sir EDW. WALKER, Garter. (6 June 1672.) 34^a.
- So indorsed (partly) by him, on f. 35^b.
7. ASHMOLE's "Breife directions for the installation of the Earle of Southampton at Windesor, the first of Aprill 1673." 36^{ab}.
- Fairly written by him; with a note by Garter WALKER.
8. SIR EDWARD WALKER's "Memorials, and queres thereupon;" relative to the offering up of hatchments at installations; including precedents from 1612 to 1671. (16 May 1674.) 38^{ab}.
- Fairly written (as also artt. 2, 4, and 12) by the same hand as No. 1133, iii.; and corrected, signed, and thus indorsed by Walker: "Memoriall drawne up but not presented to his Maty 16 May 1674; when I delivered him the Ceremoniall for the feast 28, 29, 30 of May following." (39^b.)

8. Relation of the ceremonies at the "Installacōn of the Duke of Newcastle and [the] E: of Danby, 19 Ap: 1677. Transcribed from Sr: WILLIAM DUGDALE's Continuation of Sr: Edw: Walker's historical account of Elections &c: relating to the Garter.* fol. 54. a." 125-7^b.
 * The whole of which is transcribed in art. 26, except this and the two following articles.
9. "The forme of the stalls as they stood" on that occasion. 128^a.
 Ibid. f. 55.
10. "The forme of the warrant for [the] removing of the stalls." (13 Apr. 1677.) 128^b.
 These three (and the four next) articles, were not written by Ashmole: but he has subscribed this reference—"What follows see 34 leaves hence," namely at f. 163^b.
11. "The formality of the creation of Will^m Dugdale, Garter principall King of Armes; Henry St George, Norroy; Henry Dethicke, Richmond Herald; Thomas May, Chester Herald; Henry Ball, Rouge-crosse, and Gregory King, Rouge-dragon, Pursivants of armes; as it was performed in the library of the Office of Armes, in London, upon thursday the xxiiith. of May" etc. (1677.) 133-4.
12. "The forme of introducing Lewis L^d Duras into his seat in Parliament, as Earle of Feversham. 21^o Maij a^o. 1677." 134^b-5.
13. "Copie of the Chancelour of the Garter's letter to the Kn^{ts} Companions, to give them notice of a chapter" (30 May 1677): with the forms of the superscriptions. 135^a.
14. Acts in the said "Chapter, held for taking Sr: W^m Dugdale Garter's oath, 1 June 1677." 135^b.
15. Letters of the Earl of Peterborough, Deputy Earl Marshal, authorizing Fra. Sandford, Lancaster, and 'Receiver of all fees of honor,' to pay to Dugdale and the other newly created Officers of arms, their due share of fees received in the vacancy after the death of Sir E. Walker. (8 May 1677.) 139^a.
 Entered here by Sir W. DUGDALE's own hand.
16. Form of an acknowledgement of 25*l*. received of the Chancellor of the Garter, as part of fees due to the Officers of the Order, etc. 141.
- *17. Letter to his 'good son' Ashmole, from Sir "W^m. DUGDALE, Garter," stating that he had that day been sworn in chapter of the Order, and advising about the due form of a warrant, for a deputy to act 'in case of sicknesse or other impediment.' (1 Junij 1677.) 143^a, 143^b.
 The original, here inserted. Neither this, nor art. 23, is printed in Hamper's Correspondence of Dugdale.
18. "Draught of a warr^t, for John Dugdale to be Deputy Garter." 144^b.
 "But it was not offered to his Matie." So Ashmole hath indorsed this paper, which is not the draught inclosed in the foregoing letter, but was written and corrected by Ashmole. See also the next article.
19. Copy of the same proposed warrant; with Ashmole's note that it was opposed by the Earl Marshal, and so dropt. 145^a.
20. Copy of the Lord Treasurer DANBY's warrant, for allowing Dugdale to have two tuns of wine imported free of impost. (11 Jan. 1678.) 146^a.
21. Sir EDWARD WALKER's draught of his appointment of Sir Thomas Saint-George, Somerset, to be his deputy to serve at funerals, in his absence, particularly at that of the Duke of Richmond. (1 July 1673.) 147^a.
 Original, here inserted; as also the next article, which is a copy, not written, but only indorsed by him on f. 148^b.
22. "G^{rs} deputacōn to Sr E. Bysh, Clarenceux, and Sr Tho: St George and M^r Dethick, June 26: 1676," to attend funerals of the nobility in his absence. 148^a.
- *23. DUGDALE's letter to his 'good son' Ashmole, hoping to see him at Whitehall 'tomorrow;' and informing him that Sir John Werden had come to him about painting the arms of the Prince of Orange, and the lady Mary his wife, differently from those at Windsor, and that the supporters were not correctly ascertained. (Heralds' Office, 8 Nov. 1677.) 149^a, 149^b.
 Original, here inserted, sealed with crest.
- *24. "Sir WILLIAM SWAN[N]'s narrative of his journey† to Dresden, Aprill and May 1678;" intitled "A breife narrative of my journey to Dresden, my reception, treatment and dismission there, and what else has been observed at that court, and in my way." 150-5.
 † From Hanburgh and back again thither, to celebrate the feast of S. George with the Elector Palatine. This journal is noticed in his letter to Ashmole, No. 1131, art. 192; and the next article is an appendix to it.

25. Translation of the Elector's Chancellor "MONSIEUR VAN OPPELN's speech on St George's day, 23 Aprill 1678." 156—9^b.

26. Transactions and documents "Transcribed from Sr: WILLIAM DUGDALE'S Continuation of Sr: Edward Walker's Historiell Account of Elections, Installacōns, Orders, &c: relating to the most noble Order of the Garter," 1677—1686. viz.—

27. "A table to Sr: WILLIAM DUGDALE'S Continuacōn of Sr: Edward Walker's Historicall Account of Elections, Installations, Orders &c: relating to the — Order of the Garter, and to be found dispersed in severall places of the Bookes marked"* 204^b—8^b.

* That is Ashmole's own Collections: but the references are to Garter's own MS., from which this alphabetical Index seems to have been copied.

28. ASHMOLE'S draught of "Deputy Garter's oath, taken in chapter 9 Dec: 1684." 208^a.

See the ceremony at f. 188.

29. "A scheme of the stalls of the Knights —, as they now are at the installation of his grace James Duke of Ormond, the 5th of April 1689." 210^a.

A fairly written paper, by the same hand as No. 1097; and badly indorsed by an other hand, on f. 211^b. These two articles were found loose, and are here inserted among the blank leaves, which extend to f. 234.

V. 1. Declaration of the account made by William Frankeleyn, Dean of Windsor, concerning his receipts from the Knights of the Garter; with the order thereupon set down by Sir John Gage and Sir William Pagett, that he should make out a book of the arrears, within three months. (22 May, 1 Edw. VI.) 235.

Note of the delivery of the said book to Garter King of arms, by the Protector Somerset's order, for the collection of arrears. (13 July.) ib.

Garter's account of moneys received from the Sovereign and Knights, "For Sr Anthonye Browne." (1 May, 2 Edw. VI.) 235^b.

Statement of "Monye owing for [Henry VIII. and other deceased] Knightes of the most noble Ordre of the Garter," from each of the Knights who had not paid arrears. 236—7^b.

"Also monye owing for Therle of Westmorlande." 237^b.

Divers memoranda relative to Garter's account. 238^a.

Three sheets, containing a fairly written copy of these curious accounts, in a hand of the time.

2. Statement concerning the manor of Shawe, in Berkshire, drawn from public records; showing the title which WILLIAM HARVEY, Norroy King of Arms, had to the tenure thereof, by assignment of a lease from the Court of Augmentations; and desiring that a lease, since procured by one Englysshe, might be "adnichilated." 241—2.

A draught, on a foolscap sheet; written (or at least corrected) by his own hand. See art 4; also No. 1113, x. art. 8.

3. Exemplification of a process and decree in the court of Exchequer*, whereby it was adjudged that the parish of Sandleford in Berkshire should be a parish of itself: yet that the inhabitants of the priory-house, by paying 8*l.* yearly for tithes to the parson of Newbury, and keeping their own church in repair, should have the privilege of parishioners of Newbury; and that it should be perpetually discharged from firstfruits and tenths. (13 July, 12 Jac. I)

* Trinity term, 10 Jac. 1. This is an old copy on two open sheets, damaged.

4. R. HENRICI VIII. literæ patentis, per quas de novo dimisit ad firmam, Nicholao Good, manerium de Shawe cum pertin. in Veteri Wyndsora, in com. Berk., ad terminum 21 annorum; quod antea concesserat (sed minuerat interim) per literas patentis, datas 8 Mar. anno 12. f. 245^a—8^a.

A contemporary office-copy, on four sheets; the last of which having lost its lower half, the date does not appear. This is the "lease" mentioned in art. 2.

5. Extract of a "Charter of y^e privileges concerning the Coll: of Windsore, against purveyors; prohibiting them for ever to take any goods belonging to y^e College, upon pænalty of y^e full valew, and also y^e pænalty of a treble value partly to y^e King and partly to y^e Coll. for y^e wronge &c." 249^a.

A large clause of the great charter of Edward III. (see No. 1122, f. 96), copied on a sheet, thus indorsed by Dean Chr. Wren.

6. "Clameum Dec. et Can. [Windsoræ] pro libertatibus in foresta, [19 Dec. anno R.] Eliz. 7." coram Thoma Comite Sussex, Capitali Justitiaro Forestarum, exhibitum. 250^a—3^a.

An office-copy of the time, on four sheets, thus indorsed.

VI. "Registrum omnium librorum, vestimentorum, reliquiarum, calicum, [etc.] liberæ Capellæ regiæ intra castrum de Windesore &c: anno [8 Ricardi II.] tempore domini WALTERI ALMALY tunc ibidem Custodis factum &c." 254—9^b.

"Ex Rot: vet: penes Joh'em Vincent gen:" Another copy is in No. 1123, x., from the original, No. 16; which was in Ashmole's possession in 1673, when it was published by Dugdale, in the Monasticon, vol. III. part 2, pp. 79—87.

VII. Schema prosapiæ 'Sancti Ludovici veri et indubitati Francorum Regis,' hæredum ejus (usque ad quartum gradum) consanguinitatem ostendens, cum multis argumentis, et præmio quod sic ineipit: Presens pagina per figuras plane declarat proximitatem generis atque genealogiam quam EDWARDUS DE WYNDESORE Francorum et Angliæ Rex, qui inter Reges Angliæ primus habuit jus in corona et ad regnum Franciæ, per suos oratores atque nuncios summo Pontifici pluribusque principibus catholicis articulatim exponi et demonstrari fecit, suam querelam in hac parte prosequendo. (etc.) 258^a.

This is a curious historical Pedigree, showing the right of Edward III. to the crown of France: it is fairly written, and adorned with red lines and circles, on vellum, by a hand of the XVth century. It seems to have been formerly kept as a scroll, 26 inches long, and 20 wide; and, by one of the indorsements ("pro Ed. 30."), to have belonged to Lord Burghley, who probably filled up with ink those places where the blue writing had faded.

VIII. 1. De vita et martyrio sancti Georgii, Capadocis, ac de miraculis ejus libellus, Græco sermone; quem ad Ashmolum inscripsit auctor, 'Γερεμίας ἱερεύς, τῆς ἀνατολικῆς ἐκκλησίας διδασκαλός. (pp. 22.) 262—272^b.

The original MS. neatly written on paper, in quarto.

2. Idem HIEREMIE Sacerdotis libellus, a quodam erudito Latine redditus. 275^a—289^a.

Neatly written, on alternate pages of gilt quarto paper, by an unknown hand. At p. 276 is a Latin note by the translator: and opposite to the tenth page is an English—

Note by Bishop BARLOW, censuring the story of the magician Athanasius, who is said to have given poison to S. George. 283^b.

Subscribed "Ita est, Tho: Barlow."

3. The life, martyrdom, and miracles of saint George, written in Greek, at Ashmole's request, by "JEREMY Priest and Dr of the Eastern Church;" and translated into English, by W. LLOYD. (pp. 23.) 290—301.

The Translator's original MS. which was accompanied by the annexed letter.

4. Letter to Ashmole from W. LLOYD, returning the Life of S. George, with his translation; and desiring that his name should not be mentioned, if Ashmole published it. (16 Feb. 1671.) 302^a, 303^b.

With seal of arms.

5. Historiola "De S^{to} Georgio propheta, secundum opinionem orientalium;" e codicibus Arabicis, Latine reddita per THOMAM HYDE, Bibliothecarium Bodleianum. 304—5.

This article is also in quarto. There is an English note at the end, concerning some variations. Dr. Hyde's name does not occur: but compare his other translations, in No. 1131.

IX. 1. Short legend of saint George, in Anglo-Saxon*, beg. On ðone ðreo ȝ tpenetegðan dæg þær monðer bið ȝcē georȝunȝ tīð ðær æþelan wæreȝ. With a translation by Sir W. DUGDALE. 307^a.

* Fairly copied by Dugdale "Ex codice MS. in bibl: Cottoniana, sub effigie Julij A. n^o 11."

2. ASHMOLE's note concerning the cancellation of the Chancellor De Vic's speech (20 Feb.) in the Register of the Order, by the Sovereign's command; the Chancellor (Bishop Ward) having represented that it was injurious to Ashmole. (29 May 1674.) 310^a.

Cut off from the bottom of a leaf, of the same kind of ruled paper as No. 1130, but not out of that MS.: for at f. 14 of that copy of the Register, (p. 35,) Ashmole has left a large blank where the cancellation was made, under the date of 20 Feb. 1661.

3. Exact copy of an almost unintelligible "Inscription found cut on a stone in the wall of a room on the south side of Windsor Castle, where the magazine was kept, 1683." etc. 310^a.

Twenty Gothic capital letters, of the XIIIth century?

4. Title of "Di Matteo Donia, il Georgio poema sacro et heroico." 310^a.

Palermo, 1600, 4to. Shown to Ashmole by the Abp. of Canterbury, 9 Nov. 1679.

No. 1135.

VOLUME XXXIX. consists of various transcripts and papers written by ASHMOLE, to the number of 94 leaves, beside printed papers; all formerly loose within a cover, but now bound together. The first 17 leaves have ruled margins, and are very fairly written; having this title in large letters:—

1. "REGISTRUM FLAVUM nobilissimæ Ordinis PERISCELIDIS. 1684. Anno 36: Car: 2." Capitula iv. prima, Acta comprehendens a 9 Dec. 1684 ad 25 Aug. 1685. f. 1^a, 2—8^b.

A continuation of the four Registers in No. 1129, 1130.

2. "Scruteny upon the election of Henry Duke of Norfolk, Earle Marshall, into the Order of the Garter, — 6 May 1685." 11—12^b.
- "Scruteny upon the election of Laurence E: of Rochester, — 29 June 1685." 13.
- Scrutiny upon the election of Lewis Earl of Feversham, 30 July 1685. f. 13^b—14.
3. ASHMOLE'S "Observation made at the installation of Charles Fitz Roy Earle of Southampton, at Windesor, the first of Aprill 1673." 19—20.
4. ASHMOLE'S "Observations taken at the feast of St George, celebrated at Windesor, 28, 29, and 30 of May 1674." 21—2^b.
5. ASHMOLE'S "Observations at the Earle of Arlington's installation, 22 June 1672." 23—4.
6. ASHMOLE'S "Observations taken at the feast of installation held at Windesor, the 3^d of June 1672." (pp. 6.) 25—7^b.
7. "Stalls of the soveraigne and companions of the most noble Order of the Garter, as they were 18 Apr. 72: when the E. of Lauderdale was elected." 29^a.
- So indorsed by Sir E. WALKER on f. 30^b; this page being written by the same clerk as No. 1133, iii., except a few names added by him, and the alteration of the date to '3 of June,' by Ashmole, who wrote on the other leaf the names of the Knights—"Stalls as they were placed the 22 of June 1672." 30^a.
8. ASHMOLE'S "Observations made at the installation of the Earle of Ossory, at Windesor the 25 of October a^o. 24. Car. 2. 1672." 31—2.
- Note of an occurrence at the installation of the Earls of Danby and Moreton. 32^b.
- "See the order of their installacōn, in my xiiith: booke of Collecōns" No. 1109(?) Vide f. 57^b infra.
9. "Some few Observations made [by ASHMOLE] at the feast of St: George, held at Windsor the 28, 29, & 30 of May 1671." 33^{ab}, 35—7^b.
10. "The order of the stalls, on the 30 of May 1671." 34^a.
- On a leaf inserted out of place.
11. "Observacōns made at St George's feast, held at Windsor 22, 23, & 24 Aprill A^o: 1663; by E. ASHMOLE Windsor Herald." 38—41^b.
12. ASHMOLE'S "Observacōns made at the feast of St George held at Whitehall, the 22^d. 23^d. & 24th of Apr: 1667." 42—5.
13. "This is the order of stalls at the feast of St George held at Whitehall, the 22, 23, 24 of Apr. 1667." 46^a.
- Written and indorsed by Sir E. Walker's clerk (see art. 7), but thus subscribed by Ashmole.
14. Ceremony of the "Installation of Lewis Earle of Feversham, 25 Aug: 1685;"* with 'a scheme of y^e stalls as they stand at this present installation;' written by Sir W. DUGDALE, Garter. 49—51^b.
- * Thus intitled by Ashmole.

Sundry points of ceremony observed in past installations, by DUGDALE. 53^a.

Compare f. 58^a.

The style of the Earl of Feversham, (as then proclaimed,) in English and French. 53^b, 54^b.

The latter is written (also by Dugdale) on a paper pasted on the leaf. These 10 leaves, 47—56, are of half width, the sheets being folded down the middle.

15. Draught of the note on f. 32^b; also three notes, the first of which is copied at f. 53, and two others are about the proclamation of styles. 57^b, 58^a.

ASHMOLE'S notes of the Earl of Feversham's installation, chiefly about the dinner. 58^b.

All written on a leaf folded in quarto, on the back of which (57^a) are written accounts of paper bought of Mr. Macock; of which this kind cost 13s. per ream.

16. Warrant of JAMES II. to Garter Dugdale, for the taking down of the Earl of Arlington's achievements. (1 Aug. 1685.) 59^a.

Order of the stalls, as approved by the King on the same occasion, certified by SETH [WARD] Bishop of SALISBURY, Chancellor. 59^b.

Commission of JAMES II. appointing Henry Duke of Grafton and Lau. Earl of Rochester, to install the Earl of Feversham. (1 Aug. 1685.) 60^a.

Copied by Ashmole.

17. The King's order about the attendance of the officer of the Horse-guards, at the knighthood of a K. G. elect; made in chapter, 30 July 1685: communicated to Ashmole in a letter from GREG. HASCARD, Register. ('Dec. 22. 85.') 61^a, 62^b.

With his crest on the seal.

18. Proceedings in a chapter of the Order, holden at Whitehall, 9 Dec. 1684, 'for swearing three officers, viz: the Prelate, Register, and Deputy-Garter.' 63—4^b.

Namely—Peter Mew, Bp. of Winchester; Dr. Gregory Hascard, Dean of Windsor; and John Dugdale, Garter's son. Largely written by Ashmole, from the next sheet.

19. Proceedings on that occasion: JOHN DUGDALE'S draught(?), corrected by ASHMOLE. 65—6^b.

20. Notes concerning the antiquity of the office of Earl Marshal, "In a MSS. book in the Library of Ch: Church of Canterbury." 67^a.

Written on the first page of a quarto sheet, by Dr. Plot.

21. Ashmole's draught of art. 23. ff. 69—71.

Largely and fairly written, with corrections and the marginal notes.

22. ASHMOLE'S animadversions on the "King's declaration of the E: Marshall's rights, after the L^d Privy-Scale's report:" written '16 June 1673.' 73^{ab}.

On the back are two old stanzas, the first imperfect, beg. . . . ees that the Lord our God, (74^b.) written invertedly.

23. ASHMOLE'S brief of arguments to prove that the right of appointing Garter principal King of Arms, belongs to the King, and not to the Earl Marshal. (ff. 4.) 75—8.

Four open sheets, written on both sides, except the last: the draught is art. 21. This matter was pleaded in Council, 30 Mar. 1677. An other leaf is f. 88, which see. See also No. 1134, f. 83.

24. Notices of Henry V. and VI., the founder and the benefactor of Garter's office, "In a booke of Sr E. Walker's, in rough leather." 79^a.

Copied by Ashmole from 'fol. 247.'

25. Notices of the creation of various Kings of Arms, chiefly of the Garter. 81^{ab}.

Copied by Ashmole from "A booke of Sr E. W. clasped" (collected by Glover), "Marginall notes in Sr Ed: W. booke of Wever's Monts." and from an other of Walker's MSS.

Note of Garter's preeminence as King of Arms, from the "Duke of Norff. orders, art. 5." 82^a.

Note of the institution of the Knights of the blessed Virgin, 1637. f. 82^b.

Written invertedly on the back of this sheet.

26. "Some account why I was not willing to sue for Garter's place, voyd by the death of Sr Ed: Walker." (ff. 5.) 83^a—7^a.

Written largely on open sheets of paper on one side, in the form of a brief. This interesting memorial has been printed in the memoir of ASHMOLE (p. xiv—xx.) prefixed to "The Antiquities of Berkshire" published under his name, in 1719, 3 vol. 8vo. See also the Bishop of Salisbury's letter, etc. No. 1134, ii. artt. 3—6, and No. 1131, artt. 214—220.

27. Additional objection and answer, "Entred in ye Breviate." 88^a.

An other large sheet, supplemental to art. 23, the indorsement of which it bears thus, "Breife concerning the King's right to nominate Garter. March 1677." 88^b.

28. Replication, or farther arguments, by ASHMOLE, against the Earl Marshal's nomination of Garter. (ff. 5.) 89—93.

Corrected draught, written on open sheets.

29. The following extract, by Ashmole, from the Register of the Order*. 94^a.

"Junij primo 1677. in Capitulo Albæ Aulae, hora decima ante-meridiana coeato, D: GULIELMUS DUGDALE, eques aur: vir in antiquitatibus Britan[icis] insigniter eruditus, ad munus Patris Patrati, seu Armorum Angliæ Regis primarij, titulo Garteri admissus est. Ad quod quidem munus a Supremo antea designatus fuerat, scilicet, ut decedente D: Edwardo Walker, de cuius obitu supradicitur, illi in eo munere sufficeretur."

* The Liber Carolinus, p. 124. See No. 1130, f. 52^b, by which the extract is here corrected.

* * At the end are the following printed articles, in folio.

I. "The order of the installation of Henry Duke of Norfolk, Henry Earl of Peterborow, and Lawrence Earl of Rochester, Knights and companions of the — Garter, — July 22, 1685." London, 1685. (pp. 12.) 95—102.

II. "The order of the installation of Prince George of Denmark, Charles Duke of Somerset, and George Duke of Northumberland, — April the 8th. 1684." London, 1684. (pp. 14.) 103—109.

III. "The order of the installation" etc. (Duplicate of art. I.) 110—7.

IV. The King's recommendation of Ashmole's book of the Garter, declared in a chapter of the Order, 29 May 1674; certified by "Seth Sarum. prænob. Ord. Gart. Canc." 118^a.

The original MS. of this printed sheet is in No. 1131. See also No. 1136, art. 9.

V. "Errata" quæ in libro suo corrigenda postulavit ASHMOLIUS. 119^a.

* * No 1139 seems to have been intended to form VOLUME XL. of these Collections; but (like the foregoing) it is not uniformly bound, and it has been misplaced asunder from the other volumes.

No. 1136.

This volume and the six volumes next following, consist of MSS. and papers collected into portfolios covered with parchment; within which they formerly lay loose, but are now bound and fixed.

Original MSS. and papers, relating to the Life and Correspondence of ELIAS ASHMOLE, esq. Windsor Herald.

I. ASHMOLE's Memoirs of his early life, and select notes of occurrences and transactions from the time of his leaving Lichfield (2 July 1633) to 9 Oct. 1687. ff. 2—3^b, 5—98.

The former part of this Journal was copied out fairly in the same manner as art. 25 (see also art. 37), probably toward the end of the year 1680: in what follows (f. 62) a page is set apart for each month. It has been printed (from a transcript made by Dr. Plot and collated by David Parry), with some other articles from this volume, under this title:—"Memoirs of the life of that learned antiquary, ELIAS ASHMOLE, esq: drawn up by himself by way of Diary; with an appendix of original Letters: publish'd by CHARLES BURMAN, esq. London," 1717, 12°; and a second edition was published by Thomas Davies, bookseller, in 1774, 8vo. together with Lilly's Life.

The following papers are inserted in this MS.

(1.) Brief certificate that Elias Ashmole was sworn an attorney, 16 Car. I., subscribed "Farmer." f. 9^b.

(2.) "The Benchers thanks for 5 voll: of Mr: Dugdales workes" given by Ashmole to the Library of the Middle Temple, 17 June 1664. f. 39^b.

(3.) Fair copy of the monumental inscription, set up by Ashmole to the memory of John Booker. f. 45^c.

Of these articles, the first only is not inserted in the printed Memoirs: the others are at pp. 40, 44, of the 12mo. edition, and pp. 331, 336, of the 8vo.

*II. 1. ASHMOLE's short account of his own Life, drawn up for the information of Anthony Wood, in compiling his Athenæ Oxonienses. 99^{ab}, 101^b.

The original draught: it was composed in answer to the following letter, which is inserted between the leaves of this sheet. A copy of it will be found in the Preface to this Catalogue.

*2. Letter to Ashmole from ANTHONY WOOD, requesting the knowledge of some particulars of his life†; and about Arthur Dec. (Oxford, "25 Aug. 83.") 100.

† In consequence of errors pointed out by Mr. Blount, in the account of authors sprung from Brazen-nose College, in Wood's Historia et Antiquitates Universitatis Oxoniensis, (1674, fol.) II. 224.

3. Names and descriptions of Foreigners* who visited Ashmole in 1683 and 1684. f. 102^a.

* Christ. Furer, Fritz Dntrick Spiegel Von Pickelsheim, Job Ludolfus, and Jean Schielderay.

4. Directions given by JOHANNES SERENIUS, for letters to himself, at Dantzic and Berlin; with Ashmole's note that he promised to give some account of Albert de Lasky. (4 July 1684.) 103^a.
5. Letter of thanks to Ashmole, from JOHN BARNES*, and HEN. BAKER, Bailiffs of the city of Lichfield, for a piece of plate which he had given to them. (Lichfield, 26 Jan. 1666.) 104^{ab}, 105^b.

* It is written by him, in a very bombastic style. It is printed in the Appendix to Ashmole's Memoirs, pp. 84-7, or 8vo. ed. pp. 382-6. Ashmole has thus noticed the gift in his Diary, "1666. Jan: 17. I bestowed on the Bailiffs of Lichfield a large chased silver bowle and cover, [which] cost me 23l. 8s. 6d." (f. 41, supra.)

6. AUBREY's copy of a letter to himself from E. BERNARD, Professor of Astronomy, about the weight of antient coins, inquiring what help Ashmole's collections could afford, and thanking Ashmole on the behalf of Mr. Wase for the use of a MS. of Terence*. (Oxford, 12 Nov. 1678.) 106^a.

* No. 56 in this collection. The original of this letter is not contained in Aubrey's volumes of letters, No. 11, 12.

- *7. Letter from JOB LUDOLF to Ashmole, thanking him for his former civilities; stating that he had safely arrived at Paris, and how he was occupied; and inquiring about his own and his son's nativity. (Paris, $\frac{3}{4}$ Dec. 1683.) 108^{ab}, 109^b.

See Ashmole's Diary, under that year; also No. 243, art. 139.

8. Memoriale quatuor juvenum nobilium Saxonum*, ob Ashmolii humanitatem apud eum relictum, 13 Junij 1683. f. 110^a.

* C. G. Lewenhaupt, Comes de Raseborg et Falckenstein, G. G. Kurck, Er. A. Sparre, et W. Zonetschebergh.

9. The Sovereign's "Order in a chapter of the Garter, 29 May 1674," that the Knights should 'give [to Ashmole] some honorable testimony, by their bounty, of the value of his person and worke.' 111^a.

This is a fair copy of the minutes in Ashmole's hand; which is printed in No. 1135, f. 118. The lower corner of the first leaf has been torn off, where it seems that there were a signature and seal, as in the copy in No. 1131, art. 210.

10. Letter from J. EVELYN to Ashmole, introducing and recommending Dr. Plot unto him. (Whitehall, 7 Dec. 1677.) 114^a, 115^b.

Printed in the Appendix to Ashmole's Memoirs, p. 94, or 8vo. ed. p. 393.

- 11, 12. Two letters from the Earl of DANBY to Lord (abroad) about his own conferences with the French agents, on political matters, for settling the war. (London, 17 Jan. and 25 Mar. 1678.) 116^{ab}, 118-9.

Transcripts, neither directed nor indorsed.

13. Letter from THEODORE HAACK, about a foreign nobleman wishing to see Ashmole's curiosities 'on monday next.' (London, 14 July 1683.) 120^a, 121^b.

14. Letter from the same, inclosing a paper received for Ashmole from M. Ludolf. (. . . June 1683.) 123^a, 122^a.

15. Diary-notes in short hand, for the last three months of 1687, and first four months of 1688. f. 124-5^b.

- 16, 17, 18. Three letters from T. RAMSAY to Ashmole, (1) presenting a book, and promising to visit him for the last time before going to his own country, Lithuania; (2) more fully describing his necessities, and requesting aid; (3) on the same subjects, in Latin, with two Latin epigrams. 126^a, 129^b; 128-9; 130^{ab}, 131^b.

The second and third seem to have been sent together, and the first was probably the last. In one of Ashmole's volumes are two tracts by this writer; one (art. iii. probably the one here mentioned) intitled "Elgium felicis fati Britanniae, sub auspiciis serenissimi ac potentissimi Gulielmi III. — concinnatum a Thomâ Ramseo Lituano Theol." (Londini, 1689, pp. 20.); the other (art. ix. Lond. 1685, pp. 12.)—"Apostrophe ad Idaliam Matrem de redivivo Caesare, serenissimo invictissimoque Carolo II. Britanniarum Monarcha, &c. occasione statue in Regio Londinatum Excambio positæ. Auctore T. Ramseo Lituano." To the latter is prefixed the autograph paper of verses described at No. 1021.

- *19. Letter from JOB LUDOLF, thanking Ashmole for his 'curious work,' and bidding him farewell before going through France into Germany. (24 Oct. 1683.) 132^{ab}.

20. Letter of apology of JOSHUA BARNES to Ashmole, for having treated him disrespectfully in 'several passages in his history' of Edward III. (Cambridge, 15 Oct. 1688.) 133^a, 137^a.

Printed in the Appendix to Ashmole's Memoirs, p. 95-6, as also art. 22, at p. 96-7. (Octavo edition, pp. 394-5, 396-7.)

21. GEORGH SMALRIDGE disticha quatuor, Ashmolio Mæcenati suo gratias agentia, qui, patre mortuo, ipsius curam susceperat. 134^a.

He was a Westminster scholar; and was elected unto Christ-church, Oxford, 17 May 1682 (see Ashmole's Diary); he afterward became Dean of Christ-church, and was Bishop of Bristol from 1714 to 1719. (See No. 243, art. 149.) This exercise (written on a small quarto sheet) is printed in the Athenæ Oxon. by Dr. Bliss, II. 363.

22. ASHMOLE's answer to Barnes, desiring him to acknowledge his error to others, and to rectify his book in a future edition. (23 Oct. 1688.) 136^a.

See art. 20.

23. J. DOLBENI ad Ashmolium epistola, gratias agens pro liberalitate qua studia fovit ejus. (Oxon. 8 cal. Feb. 16 . . .) 138^a, 137^a.

24. Memoranda in short hand, by Ashmole, relating to the years 1646-7, and 1656, also to the birth of Mr. Rich. Warren (14 Apr. 1649) and to Dr. and Capt. Wharton. 139^a.

- *25. "Historicall Notes [from 16 Sept. 1633, to 23 July 1679,] taken out of some of my loose papers." 140^a, 141--164^b.

A valuable supplement to the Diary (art. 1), and fairly written out in the same manner, with spaces for additional notes. Ff. 143-4 are small papers fixed on f. 145. See also art. 32.

26. Testimonial of Ashmole's Catalogue of the Bodleian Coins, "Entred in the Booke of Benefactors to the Oxford Library." 166^a.

In Latin; copied by his own hand in "1666." This document is inserted by the Editor of Ashmole's Diary, under an entry made in June that year, (12mo. ed. p. 41, 8vo. p. 332;) and in the Appendix he has published Ashmole's Preface to his Catalogue, which is mentioned in the description of the MS. No. 808, as well as Dr. Barlow's letter about it.

28. ASHMOLE's notes about brazen ax-heads, found in Derbyshire, in 1662 and 1658. f. 169^a.

*29. Letter from Sir H. CHAUNCEY, in expectation that Ashmole should be chosen a Bencher of the Middle Temple, and inviting him to dinner. (29 Oct. 1686.) 170^a, 172^b.

*30. ASHMOLE's copy of his answer to the same, declining the proposed honor. (South Lambeth, 29 Oct.) 171^a.

*31. "Museum Ashmolianum:" carmen academicum. (vv. 137.) 173—4^b.

The first and last lines of this neatly written copy, are—Secretos ignota diu Natura recessus — Et cum Bodleio socios partiris honores.

*32. Some historical notes of the years 1683 and 1684. f. 176^a, 176^b.

33. ASHMOLE's figure on his own nativity, with the principal accidents of his life to the year 1666. f. 177^{ab}.

This sheet is indorsed—"Nativitas arnigeri Ashmole per se," (178^b;) in the handwriting of Lilly, for whom it was probably drawn up, as the theme of the larger astrological calculation in No. 421, i.

34. Figure set by ASHMOLE about "Mr. Wm. Yearwell;" with notes in short hand. (16 Oct. 1684.) 179^a.

*35. Letter to Ashmole from W. Y[earwell] an alchemist, commending his love of science, and offering to communicate unto him his own proficiency in the hermetic philosophy. (15 Oct. 1684.) 180—1.

37. ASHMOLE's original Diaries, or shorthand notes of daily or occasional occurrences, from 1645 to 1649. ff. 184—217.

These papers are in small 8^o or 12^o, and seem to have been the interleaves of Almanacs. They are in great disorder, and ought to have been bound in the following manner:—

1645, f. 209^a.
1646, ff. 203^{ab}, 209^b—217^b.
1647, ff. 191—202^b, 204—7.
1648, ff. 184—8, 208.
1649, ff. 189^b, 207^b.

38. An astrological figure, with notes in short hand; also the names of some persons and books. 218.

Written by Ashmole on half of a letter-wrapper.

39. ASHMOLE's figure on his own nativity; with extensive notes in short hand, and judgements for the years 1646—7. f. 219—20^b.

The figure is on the second page. The following leaf is also written by his hand.

40. Figure set on 10 June 1646, with notes in short hand; also the draughts of two other figures. 221^{ba}.

41. Draught of ASHMOLE's letter to the new Bishop of Winchester*, Prelate of the Garter, presenting a copy of his book on that Order. (South Lambeth, 5 Dec. 1684.) 222^a.

* Peter Mew, translated from Bath and Wells, 22 Nov. 1684.

No. 1137.

This volume consists of 147 leaves of various sizes; of which ff. 7—34, 44—52, 54, 62—3, 69—77, 79, 88—90, 93—4, 97—107, 111—4, 137—40, 142, 145—51, are chiefly in quarto, some being smaller. F. 143 is a large folding leaf of vellum. Most of the papers are written (hastily) by Ashmole: such as are not by his hand, are here marked thus ‡.

Heraldic Church-Notes taken in the counties of Surrey, Northampton, Hertford, and Berkshire, and copies of monumental and other Inscriptions in various parts of England, by ELIAS ASHMOLE esq. Windsor Herald; interspersed with Pedigrees and other curious matter.

1. "Sheere church in com: Surrey, 5 April 1659." 1^{ab}.

Fair copy in large folio, corresponding with the Berkshire Antiquities in No. 850.

2. Draught of the same. 2^a.
Pedigree of Bray, "Ex relacōne Guil' Oughtred;" and an inscription in "Albury church." 2^b.

Births of twelve children and two grandchildren of "Mr. William Oughtred, Pastor of Albury." 3^b.

The last part of this sheet is a half-page written with pencil, as if the sheet were folded in quarto. See art. 60. There is a memoir of this person in Aubrey's Lives.

3. "Est Horsley church in com' Surr'. 8 Sept. 1659." 5^{ab}.

The foregoing leaf (f. 4^a) bears the same title, and seems to have been designed to contain a fair copy of these notes. See also art. 5.

4. Notes of the great age of Thomas Moreton, Bishop of Durham, taken down from the mouth of Capt. Wharton, and of Mr. Greene of Windsor. 6^a.

5. "Est Horsley church in Surrey, 24 July 1665." 7^{ab}.

See also No. 826, art. 83.

* Of Rich. Drake esq., who died 11 July 1603: his arms are tricked with pencil on the other side, 15^a.
11. "In Mekylham church in Surrey. May 20. 1665." 17^{ab}, 20^{ab}.
The two leaves of this sheet that are written on, are paged 1, 3, 4, 2.
12. "Guildford church. 7 Ap. 1666." 21^a, 22^b—23^b, 24^b—6^b.
These pages are respectively numbered 1—3, 5, 4, 3, 4, 1—2.
13. "Camberwell church. Aug. 16. 1676." (pp. 15.) 27—34.
- 14, 15. Inscriptions and arms in "Bookeham church in com: Surrey. 15 Oct: 1659." 37—8^b, 39—42.
The last three leaves contain Ashmole's fair copy of the foregoing notes.
16. Inscriptions "In Horton church in Northamp-toushire." 43^a.
Copied from notes "Taken by Capt: Pugh." At the foot of this page is the following note—"Marq: of Dorchester dyed 10 Oct: 1677." He is usually said to have died in 1680.
17. Notes taken partly by ASHMOLE, and partly by DUGDALE, "15. Ap. [1657*, at] Dodford church in com' North'ton." 44^{ab}, 46^a, 47^{ab}.
* See No. 784.
18. "In St. Peters church at St. Albans." 45^{ab}.
19. "St. Albons church" (i. e. the Abbey) by ASHMOLE, DUGDALE, and an other. 48—9, 50^{ab}.
20. Remembrances of the state of the Abbey of S. Alban before its dissolution, taken "26 Aug. 68, from y^e relacōn of M^{rs}: Simpson," grand-daughter of Rob. Shrimpton, four times Mayor of the town. 51^{ba}.
Written vertically. This interesting article has been lately communicated to the Gentleman's Magazine (vol. CII. part ii. p. 204—5) by the writer of this Catalogue.
- ‡21. Inscription* "Written on a pillar in St Albans church over ag^t: St John Mandevills armes." 52^a.
* Beg. Flee the falsked of the fecnd: the five complets, thus intided by Ashmole, are written on a slip of paper fixed vertically on this leaf.
22. "The monument of Humfry Duke of Gloucester, set in the south arch over ag^t: St: Albons shrine, beyond the high alter, in St: Albons church." 53^a.
Drawing of the right-hand half, done with a pen.
23. Figures of three of the Priors, and inscriptions taken (with pencil) at "Peterborough." 54^{ab}.
24. "Insignia Jacobi Bourehier de Stambridge in comitatu Essexiæ, equitis aurati." 55^a.
Tricked, and blazoned in English.
- Pedigree showing the children and grand-children of the said knight. 55^b.
Set down by Ashmole "24 July 1658, from the relacōn of Mr. John Lee parson of Little Stanbridge in Essex, where Sr James Bourgher lived."
Ff. 57—8 are part of art. 29.
25. "In Dunstaple church. 27 Sept. 1659." 59^{ab}.
26. "16 Aug. 1675. Watford church." in Hertfordshire. 60—1^b.
See also art. 29.
27. "Walton upon Thames. 31 Mar. 68." in Surrey. 62—3.
- ‡28. Arms in the church of "Walpoole St. Peter," and sketeh of the head of a lady there; by DUGDALE. 64^{ab}.
Done chiefly with pencil.
29. Inscriptions and arms "In the north chapell siding the chancell, in Watford church in com' Hertford." 65—6^b, 57—8^b.
"Armes in the east window of this chapell." 67^{ab}.
30. Inscriptions for Sir James Altham, Baron of the Exchequer, and Hellen his wife, (ob. 21 Feb. 1616, and 21 Apr. 1638,) "In the chappell belonging to Oxley Place in com' Hartford:" also other inscriptions and arms there. 69^{ab}.
31. "Islington church in com' Midd. 9 Oct: 63." 71—2^b.

"An other monument against the same wall."

40. Epitaphium Thomæ Chiffinch, qui obiit 6 id. Apr. 1666. f. 87^a.

"Ingraved in a marble layd in the south cross in Westminster Abbey."

41. Notes of Henry Tylson*, Bishop of Elphin, for "The monumt: to bee erected by Nathan Tylson his son." 88^a.

* Born 30 Nov. 1576, died 31 Mar. 1655. These are written by Ashmole, as also the following fair copy in capitals:—

42. Epitaphium Henrici Tylson, Episcopi Elphinensis. 89^a.

43. Arms of Pakenham*, and of Thomas and John de Metham from their seals. 90^a.

* "Garnished in a cloth web hanged in Yorke minster." They were all "Coppied from a copy of Glover Somersets Visitation of Yorkeshire, 1584, now in Mr. Morgans hand, fol: 257. This copy † was made by Mr Price, servt to Sr Rich. St George."

44. Monumental inscription for Sir Richard Dyott, Chancellor of the county palatine of Durham. (Ob. 8 Mar. 1659.) 91^a, 92^b.

Ashmole's own corrected draught: see also art. 66.

†45. Inscription commemorating the building of the bridges at Burford and Culhamford, "On a tablet hanging in the hall of the Hospitall of X^t at Abingdon." 93^a.

An imperfect copy of the Latin verses and the very curious piece of alliterative poetry, which are printed, but incorrectly, in the book called Ashmole's Antiquities of Berkshire, (London, 1719, 8vo.) l. 127—134.

47. Arms etc. in the windows of "Ansley church in com^y Warr." 96^a.

Described, and some tricked: here is a reference to "Dugd. Antiq: War: p. 748."

48. "7 July 1663. In Beaconsfield church" in Buckinghamshire. 97^{ab}.

49. "St. Georges church at Stamford [in Lincolnshire,] 31 July 1666." 99^a.

50. Arms "In the dying-roome window at Toddington manor," and "Cut in stone upon ye parlour dore." 101^a.

"28 July 1658. [Monumental inscriptions and arms] In the picture-house at Todington." 102—103^b.

Notes of Roman roads observed 28 July 1658. f. 104^b.

Astrological figure set 7 Apr. 1675. f. 105^b.

54. Epitaphium Rolandi Jewkes, unius executorum magni Scleni. (Ob. 1665, æt. 77.) 108^a.

55. Tablets with representations* of Greg. Stonyng and Ric. Watwode, masters of the Guild of Lichfield, 28 and 30 Hen. VIII., and inscriptions to their memory. 109^a.

* One is a portrait, the other an emblem: they are done with pencil on the back of a fragment of some office-copy.

56. Inscriptio in laudem Tobiae Rustat armigeri, eximii benefactoris, in bibliotheca Cantabrigiensi posita*. 110^a.

* Vel ponenda. Vide No. 865, artt. 18—23.

57. Inscription on "The head of Venetia Stanley set up in Gothurst hall ag^t: ye entrance;" and an other 'at the upper end of the hall.' 111^a.

58. "The names of the K^{ts} of the religion of St Johns, being at Rhodes a^o. 23 R. H: 7. 4 die Augusti. Inglysmen." 113^a.

"Out of the Visitaçõn of London, taken by Robert Cooke alias Clarencieux King of armes, 1568. 10 Eliz. at ye end." The following pedigrees, with arms (except the last), were copied from the same book.

Pedigree of Isham, "15 May 1568." (f. . .) 113^b.

— Adalmar of Truro (f. 116^b), and Leigh of Stoneley. (f. 4.) 114.

Pedigree of Leveson (f. 24) and Gresham. (f. 127.) 114^b.

59. Inscriptions and arms in the chapel of Eaton College. 115—7, 118—9.

The first on the third sheet (118^a) is a copy of the inscription "Written on a table under a large painting of the city of Venice, hanging on the right side towards the upper end of Eaton dining-hall, 1636."

60. Arms and inscriptions "In Albury church. 22 Aug. 1659." 120—1.

Pedigree, taken "Ex relacõe Guil' Oughtred," stating the descendants of Sergeant Carrell, his wife's grandfather. 121^b.

See also art. 2.

61. Arms of Scott, with quarterings of Beckwell, Bridinghurst, Skynner, Colcock, Quech, Robins, Chery and Stokesley; also arms "In the parlour windowes." 122^a.

Descent of John Scott, Baron of the Exchequer, from Henry de Beckwell, "Out of a pleading, ter. Mich: a^o 2 H. 7. ro. Dxxxj." 122^b.

Descents of William Appulton from Sir Henry de Beckwell (10 Hen. VI.), and of John Worsted from . . . Doshill (8 Hen. IV.); out of the Inquisitions. 123^a.

62. Arms and devices "In the dyning-roome windowes at Mr. Scotts house." 124^a.

Three descents* from William Scott of London, 10 Hen. VI. f. 125^a—4^b.

* Written vertically.

63. Pedigree of Scott, from 10 Hen. VI. to Peter Scott D. D. prebendary of Windsor (1676) and his children; by Ashmole. 126^a.

A large folding leaf, being the fair copy drawn from the two foregoing articles, and that next following.

64. Draught of the same pedigree of Scott, from 1532. f. 127^a.

This is different from art. 44, and by an other hand.

66. Arms "In Mr. Palmers parlour-window;" and other parts of his house; also arms and effigies in Luddington church. 130^a.

An extract from Rot. Parl. 17 Edw. III. by Dugdale, and other notes of records by Ashmole. 130^b.

Monumental inscriptions of William and Joan Palmer (ob. 24 May, and 7 Mar. 1507), and Sir Robert Palmer (ob. 1550), with arms; "In Carleton church." 130^b.

Charta Will. de Aubeney tertii, facta Thomæ de Hottot militi, de terra in Carleton; cum armis Jacobi de Hottot, e sigillo. 130^b.

67. Arms of Monst Richard Perreres and seven other knights, tricked, and blazoned in French; from Lord Hatton's MSS. and Rolls. 131^a.

See also No. 1121, ix.

68. Epitaphium Edvardi Fisher armigeri, et Edvardi Fisher militis. (1654.) 132^a.

69. Church-notes taken at "Hamstall Ridware. 6 Aug: 1658." 133^{1a}.

The original draught from which the first article in No. 833 (ff. 1—3^b) was copied.

70. "These [ten] seales were taken from divers deedes belonging to Sr Rich: Astley of Patishull in com' Staff: 24: Sept: 1663." 134^a.

This is the original draught of No. 833, art. 10.

71. Descents of Hyde and Daveport, with seals; "Collected out of Mr: Hydes evidences of Norbury." 135^a.

Notes and descents "Taken out of a pedigree of the Hides, signed by Sr R: St: George 1620." 135^b.

Charta Roberti filii Rob. de Hyde, facta Stephano de Bretburi, de terra in Bothecliff: "Ex evidencijs Jo: Arden mil." 135.

This whole leaf is fairly entered in No. 833, artt. 11, 12.

72. Chartæ duæ II. et Rann. Comitum Cestriæ, per quas concessa sunt libera batella ad piscandum in aqua de De. 136^a.

Copies by Ashmole, with sketches of the seals in pencil. They are more fairly entered in No. 833, pp. 42, 43. Hence it is probable that the first document only of the four described as art. 6 of that MS. (which is a writ of privy seal of John Duke of Lancaster, allowing certain hereditary customs relative to the minstrels and bearbaiting at the fair of Newcastle under Lyme, to Will. de Brompton and Margery his wife, 26 Nov. 40 Edw. III., p. 41,) alone was in Bagnall's hands. The second and third are the charters of the Earls of Cheshire; and the fourth is an other copy of the inquisition in No. 1125, i. art. 7, which was copied from the archives of Windsor College.

Note of a charter of 'Beatrix Domina Talbot et de Blakemere.' (5 Hen. V.) 136^b.

With a tricking of the seal. "Taken out of Mr: Cholmeleys pedigree, of Vale Royall;" and hence fairly copied in No. 833, p. 40. (art. 5.)

73. Note that the arms of Sir Symon Chamberleyn, Thomas Middleton, Philip Lord Bardolph, and . . . Massey, were set quarterly in one shield of arms. 137^a.

74. Two shields of quartered arms "In Mr. Hyliards bedchamber-window at Horsley." 138^a.

75. Monumental inscription of James Pigott esq. Baron of the Exchequer. (Ob. 1658.) 139^{ab}.

77. "Inscripçõn of the plate fixt upon the brest of Sr: Christopher Hatton's* leaden coffin." 141^a.

* K. G. ob. 20 Nov. 1591. This is in French; the next in Latin.

"Inscripçõn upon a leaden plate laid on the coffin of Deane Colet:" with a draught of the coffin's proportions. 141^a.

78. Arms of an officer of the Order of the Garter, "In a window at the Crown Inn in Oxford." 142.

Gules, between two escallops argent, a bend or, charged with a mardet sable between two cinquefoils azure: in chief or, a rose gules between two semi-fleurs de lis: with a chain and the motto beneath.

79. Elegant drawing of a large emblematical monument, with a portrait in relievo: on vellum. 143^a.

80. Adjudgement of the arms lozengé dor et d'azur, by Henry Earl of Lancaster, William de Clynton Earl of Huntingdon, and other commissioners, to Tibaud son of Tibaud Russel, alias Gorges, against John de Warbeltone. (Calais, 19 July 1347.) 144ⁿ.

This is a beautiful facsimile of the document and seals, printed from an oblong folio plate, engraved by VERTUE; inscribed thus—"G. V. exvndebat ab autographo penes Petr. Le Neve armigerum Norroy Regem Armarum." How or when it came among these older papers, is not known.

81. "Noates in my Peake Journey 1652;" being ASHMOLE's notices of remarkable words, customs, and things in Trerbyshire: with two astrological figures, one of which was set for Francis Heathcot. 145—7.

82. Church-notes of "St Lawrence in Reding."* 148^{ab}.

Inscriptions "In the body of the church of Newelme." 149.

Inscriptions at Little Witnam.* 149.

Other inscriptions at Newelme. 149^b—150^b, 151^b.

Arms and inscriptions at "St Maries in Wallingford. 14 Mar. [16]64."* 151^a.

 These are crossed through, as copied into Ashmole's fair MS. of the Antiquities of Berkshire, No. 850, pp. 210—1, 55, and 37—8 respectively. This quarto sheet is paged thus—1, 2, 8, 5, 6, 7, 3, 4. The following leaf was found loose in an other book.

83. Inscriptions on the monuments of John Longland, Bishop of Lincoln, (ob. 7 Maij 1547.) and Sir Edward Awdley (ob. 15 Aug. 1481?), with sketches of their effigies etc. 152^a, 152^b.

By the former the copy in Godwin (p. 300, folio edition) may be corrected, and the 'carmina' therein mentioned may be supplied.

No. 1138.

A folio volume consisting of 144 leaves, most of which (except the 23 last, which are all blank, as are also 5 at the beginning), are occupied with impressions of coins, gems and seals, made in red wax on alternate pages, by ASHMOLÉ.

1. "The impressions of severall pieces of Gold [Coin, both antient and modern,] belonging to his Ma^{ties} Cabinet, King Charles the 2^d:" ff. 1—32.*

* The pages occupied are 1^a, 2^a, 5^a, 9^a, 13^a, 17^a, 20^a, 23^a, 27^a, 31^a, 32^a.

2. Impressions of antient Gems, from rings and other antiquities in "The King's Cabinet;" namely in—

"The 2^d: drawer on the right hand." 35^a.

"First drawer on the right hand." 39^a, 40^a.

3. Impressions of the Seals of arms of Sir George Beanyon knight, Francis Finch, Edward Wingate, and Nathanael Manton esquires; and from four pieces of gold inscribed with eastern characters, belonging to the King.* 43^a.

Three of which were brought by Capt. Homes from Guinea, in Jan. 1664—5.

4. Impressions of foreign gold Coins, some of which are eastern. 47^a.

5. "S. Fratr^{is} Jordani abbatis de monasterii de Dora." 50^a.

A bad impression of the seal bearing this barbarous legend.

6. Impressio et epigraphæ nummi, de Belgia a tyrannide liberata anno 1586, cusi. 51^a.

7. Impression of a five-shilling piece of Charles I. f. 51^a.

8. Impressions and descriptions of many "Stones and Rings shewed [unto] me by Mr. Talbot, 28 Dec: 1672." 55^a.

9. Impressions of the Seals of arms of the Knights and Gentry of Derbyshire, with their names written. 58^a, 62^a, 65^a.

There is also one on 59^a, but nameless.

10. The like of the Gentry of Nottinghamshire. 69^a.

11. ————— Staffordshire. 72^a, 75^a.*

* Some names here are in Dugdale's hand-writing.

12. Impressions of the Seals of the corporate Towns in Shropshire. 76^b.

That of Bridgenorth is broken into fragments yet lying in the book.

13. Other "Seales taken in the Visitacōn of Shropshire, [11—28 Aug.] 1663." 78^a, 81^a, 82^a, 85^a, 86^a.

14. "Seales taken in the Visitacōn of Cheshire, 1663." 86^a, 89^a, 91^a.

15. Seals of the city of Chester. 95^a.

16. Seals of the corporate Towns of Berkshire. 99^a, 102^a.

That of 'Rading,' on the second leaf, is alone, on a smaller sheet of paper.

17. Other "Seales taken in my Visitacōn of Berkshire. a^o 1665." 105^a, 108^a, 110^a, 112^a, 114^a.

These are valuable illustrations of the pedigrees and arms then recorded, which are in No. 851.

18. Impressions of seventeen Seals of arms, crests, and devices. 116^a, 117^a.

This and the two following titles describe the impressions on small papers, found loose among the leaves at the end of this volume, but now arranged and pasted down. The principal are—the official seal of Sir W. Dugdale Norroy King of arms,—“S. W. Sacheverell de Barton et Morley arm.”—“The distillers' armes” (see also No. 840, art. 31).—the seals of the towns of Stafford (prints of two sides) and Petersfield,—of “Adolphus Johannes Comes Palatinus Rheni,”—and Sir Rob. Murrey (1662). See the note on No. 1542.

19. Impressions of two Saxōn Coins, one of Charles II., and five foreign Coins. 118^a, 119^a.

20. Various impressions of antient Gems; two of which were “Mr: Tho: Henshaw's,” and one was taken from a ring of Mr. Fleshire in 1678. f. 120^a, 121^a.

Ff. 116—144 were of blank paper designed to hold additional impressions.

No. 1139.

This cover contains two MSS. of Ashmole's ordinary folio size, and several other folio MSS. on sheets of different sizes, to the amount of 111 leaves: it properly belongs to the set of Garter Collections, and may have been designed to be the fortieth volume, though not marked as such.

I. "Catalogue of the Knights of the Garter. The tymes of their Eleccōn Installacōn and Death: by ELIAS ASHMOLÉ, Windsor Herald. 1672." ff. 1^a, 6^b—38^a.

On the pages between this title and the work, are the following articles:—

(1.) Copy of "The title of a booke printed in a large folio, in the Earle of Bridgewater's handes 1671;" namely, a List of the Knights, published at Paris in 1647; also a note thereof. 2^b.

(2.) Explanation of the abbreviated references in this MS.* 3^b.

* It is here noted that "The page and figures in the first colome on the right hand, refer to Lib: XI. of my Collections," which is a mistake for vol. XXV., namely No. 1121.

It does not appear what is meant by a list of numbers on a slip of paper fixed on the back of this leaf. (3^b.)

(3.) Extracts from the Patent Rolls, relating to Knights of the Garter; a note from one of Stow's MSS., about the arms assigned to the young Duke of York, by Edward IV. (anno 7); and two notes from Hollinshed. 4^{ab}.

Every left-hand page of this book contains the names and some historical particulars of the Knights, in their order; and those on the right-hand contain (in four columns) the references, dates etc. before mentioned. The last three pages contain a continuation to 26 Aug. 1685, and five blank pages follow. (38^b—40^b. Ashmole's List of the Knights, printed at the end of his Institution of the Order, pp. 708—717, is but an abstract of the present compilation; which is important, as showing the sources from which that valuable and (for the most part) accurate list was drawn.

*II. I. ASHMOLE'S Letter "To the right noble: Edw: E: of Clarendon, lord high Chancellor of England," representing how the passing of his patent for the office of Historiographer and Remembrancer of the Order of the Garter, had been stopped by the Chancellor of the Order, in a chapter holden 20 Feb. (10 Dec. 1662.) 41^b—2.

Serving as the dedication of the following tract.

2. ASHMOLE'S Apology for the office of Historiographer and Remembrancer, bestowed on him by the Sovereign, yet set aside by the Knights; stated in answers to six objections against the said grant. 42^b—52.

This MS. of 12 leaves is a fairly written but corrected draught. The fair copy, by Ashmole's own hand, is preserved in the Harleian Library, in a volume of MS. tracts formerly belonging to Garter Walker, who had prefixed this title:—"Arguments for establishing an Historiographer and also a Remembrancer to the most noble Order of the Garter; in answer to the pretences that those offices are included in the duty of any other Officer already constituted. By Elias Ashmole, Windsor Herald. The original. 1662." (MS. Harl. 6272, art. 6.)

III. "EXTRACT out of ERHARDUS CELLIUS, his Equus auratus Anglo-Wirtembergicus;" or translations from the introduction and pp. 3—265, by EDW. PHILIPPS. 53—4, 55—68^b.

This MS. contains a curious history of the investiture of Frederic Duke of Wirtemberg, K. G., in 1603; it is here and there corrected by Ashmole. The latter part of it supplied the "relation of that pompous ceremony," printed in Ashmole's Institution, pp. 411—6; and in the Appendix to that work (num. lix. and clv.) are contained copies of the letter of James I. to the Duke, and the Duke's oath, from pp. 120, 153, of the same book. See also No. 1109, art. 226, and No. 1111, l. 9.

IV. Ashmole's gleanings from English Historians, &c. chiefly concerning the origin of the Order of the Garter:—

1. Abstract of the contents of FROISSART'S Chronicles, chapters 14—143, from 1326 to 1346. ff. 72—5.

2. Extracts from FROISSART, relating to the origin of the Order; also from FABIAN, ISAACKSON, and a "MS. Hist: Will's de regibus."* 80^a, 80^b.

* No. 791, f. 50, is the MS. here quoted.

3. Historical and biographical "Noates out of Sr RIC: BAKER'S Chronicle." 82^a, 84—5^b, 86—93, 94—5^b.

This title is the heading of f. 86^a.

4. Translated extracts and notes from "PANCT-ROLLUS" concerning knighthood, triumphs, and burials, also military vestments and ornaments. 96—9, 100—3^b.

5. Locus e "POLID: VIRGIL: lib: 19. pag: 378," de institutione Ordinis Garterii. 104—5.

He was the first author of the ridiculous story about the Countess of Salisbury's garter, which was exploded by Ashmole. See his Institution, pp. 179, 180.

6. Notes of historical matters, relating to the reign of Edward III., contained in "FOXES Aetes and Monumentes." 106^{ab}.

7. Extracts from "CAMB[DEN'S]: Brit: 494. c." etc. relating to the families of Lisle, Burghersh, Holland, Grey of Codnor, Chandos, and Audley. 108^{ab}.

8. Notes from SAMUEL DANIELL'S History of K. Edward III. 110^{ab}.

No. 1140.

A folio MS. consisting of 300 leaves of fair paper, with margins ruled off with red, as No. 808; also several sheets of paper of different sizes, to the number of 40 leaves;—all written by ASHMOLE'S own hand. This short general title is inscribed on the first leaf,—

"The King's Coynes and Medalls described."

The second leaf is a spoiled leaf of the Bodleian counterpart of No. 808 (compare f. 39—40^a) reversed, and inscribed "Catalogue of the Coynes in Oxford Library;" (f. 1*) which title might cause a mistake of the true contents of this volume. The work begins on the reverse of the first ruled leaf; and is—

I. A classified Catalogue of the Roman Coins in the Royal Cabinet, made at the command of King Charles II. by ELIAS ASHMOLE esq.: in two parts;—first, Imperial, from 'C. Julius Cæsar' to 'Fl. Val: Justinus Junior'; second, Consular, arranged alphabetically under the names of families. ff. 2^b—199^b, 200—294, 295^b—9^b.

The last nine pages contain "Incerta:" a blank leaf follows. This valuable work is in Latin, composed and written uniformly with the Catalogue of the Bodleian Coins in No. 808. Ashmole's appointment to this work is thus noticed in his 'Diary,' under the date of 18 June, 1660: "About this time the King appointed me to make a description of his Medals, and I had them delivered into my hands, and Henry the Eighth's closet assigned for my use." (Page 36, or 8vo. ed. p. 327.)

II. Descriptive Catalogues of various parts of the Royal Cabinet of Coins and Medals, both antient and modern; fully showing their inscriptions, figures, and weight: namely—

1. Medals in the "First Drawer." 301^a, 302^a, 303^a.
2. ————— "2. Drawer." 305^a—311^a.

Written on alternate pages, as all these papers are.

3. Eight "Consular brass Coynes;" with family names, and seven "Incerta." 313^a, 313^b.

Not contained in the classified catalogue.

4. Antient Greek Coins. 315^a—8^a.
 5. Coins of Constantine and other late Emperors, with Roman and Greek inscriptions. 319^a, 320^a.
 6. Various Roman Imperial Coins, from Claudius to Justinian. 323^a—6^{ab}.
 7. Draught of a descriptive list of antient Coins without inscriptions; in Latin. 327^{ab}.
 8. Various Roman Imperial Coins, from Julius Caesar to Focas and Marcianus; and a Greek Coin of Heliogabalus. 329—334, 334^b.
 9. A list of the kinds and numbers of Coins in the first six drawers. 335^a.
 10. A short list of Roman gold "Incerta." 337^a.
- Consular Coins. 338^a.

Not in the arranged Catalogue.

The last sheet of this volume, bearing the following indorsement, is the only one not written by Ashmole:—

11. "An account of y^e Meddalls heretofore in y^e King's Clossett." 339^{ab}, 340^b.

No. 1141.

This volume consists of six MSS. fairly written by different hands; whereof the third and fifth are on smaller paper, and the fourth is a single leaf.

- I. "THRENODIA CAROLINA. (Veritas odium parit.) Court Passages in the two last yeares of the reign of King Charles the First, during the tyme of his affliction." by Sir THOMAS HERBERT Baronet. ff. 1^a, 2—36.

This MS. is written within wide margins, partly by Ashmole (see also No. 1158), and partly by the same hand as No. 1097, (namely ff. 8^b—10, 12^b—15^b, 20—4, 31—6.) it is a fair transcript of the next MS., except the long title and the last paragraph.

- II. 1. "A true copie of the Answer to a Letter sent by me Sr WILLIAM DUGDALE Knt, Garter principall King of armes, unto Sr THOMAS HERBERT Baronet, now residing in the city of Yorke: by w^{ch} Letter I did desire him to inform me of such materiall passages as he had observed, touching the late K. Charles of blessed memory, during the time he did attend upon his person; (viz^t for the two last yeares of his life) w^{ch} have not as yet been so exactly made publique by the presse.

"The original of w^{ch} Answer (written wth the proper hand of the said Sr Thomas Herbert*) I did thinke fitt (for the better preservation of so excellent a memoriall) to deposite amongst those choyse manuscripts at Westminster, belonging to Sr John Cotton of Conington in the county of Huntingdon Bart, grandson and heire to Sr Robert Cotton, Bart, the worthy founder of that incomparable Librarie." pp. 1—37.

* It is now in the Harleian (not the Cottonian) Collection, No. 7399; and is a folio MS. with a title prefixed by Dugdale's hand, and having the year '1678' noted on the first page by Ashmole. There is a transcript made by Wood, among his MSS. in this Museum, No. 98, art. 8.

This interesting tract was published at London in 1702, in pp. 1—120 of a volume thus intitled:—"Memoirs of the two last yeares of the reign of that unparalleled Prince, of ever blessed memory, King Charles I." (Bodl. 8vo. A. 24. Jur.) The copy from which it was taken had belonged to the Bishop of Ely, then lately deceased.

This MS. is in Dugdale's own handwriting; except the last five pages, which contain the following article by Sir John Dugdale's hand.

2. "The copie of a Letter written to me Sr WILLIAM DUGDALE Knt, (Garter principall K. of armes) by Sr THO: HERBERT Bart. y^e author of y^e preceding narrative, bearing date at Yorke 3^o Nov. 1681." p. 37—40.

An other letter of his, to Ashmole, relating to the same subject, is in No. 1131, art. 185.

- III. 1. "The Relation w^{ch} Major HUNTINGDON made to me Sr WILLIAM DUGDALE Knt, (Garter principall King of armes) in the month of June a^o 1679, of sundry particulars relating to King Charles the First of blessed memory." ff. 1—4.

Printed in the volume before mentioned, pp. 151—163.

2. "A Narrative made by Mr. EDWARD COOKE of Highnam in y^e countie of Gloucester, who was colonell of a regiment of under Oliver Cromwell then called Protector, containing certain passages relating to our late Sovereigne King Charles the First (of blessed memorie) w^{ch} happened at Newport in the isle of Wight, upon y^e 29th of Novemb' 1648." 4^b—8^b.

Printed also in that volume, pp. 165—183.

3. "The copie of a Letter to Sr George Lane, Knt, Secretary to y^e Du: of Ormond, written by Mr HENRY FIREBRACE, clerke of y^e kitchen to his Ma^{tie}. King Charles the Second; containing a narrative of certaine particulars relating to his late Ma^{tie}. King Charles the First, during the tyme that he attended on his Ma^{tie} at Newport in the isle of Wight, a^o 1648, w^{ch} letter beares date at White Hall 21 July 1675." 8^b—12^b.

Printed therein also, pp. 185—200: but not the following short article.

4. "The names of those persons w^{ch} did privately correspond wth King Charles the First, by letters, during his imprisonment in the isle of Wight." 12^b.

Both this MS. and the latter article of the foregoing MS. were written by Sir W. Dugdale's son John; compare the papers in No. 1135. The four last of these 16 leaves are vacant.

- IV. Letter from HEN: COLEY to Ashmole, communicating through him, to Dugdale, an account of "y^e motion of y^e old King — from Holmby to Hampton Court" in 1647, from Sir George Wharton's Gesta Britannorum. (10 Dec. 1678.)

A single page. See Wharton's Works, edited by Galburly, (1683, 8vo.) p. 453—4, at No. 306 of this Collection.

- V. Vetusta 'Historia Familiae de Sharnburn, cum pramisso II. SPELMANNI disticho. ff. 1^b, 2—16.

* Under which title it was published from this MS. by Bishop Gibson, in the Reliquiae Spelmanianae. (Oxford, 1698, fol.) p. 187—200: in the preface to which collection he says that it was "a piece of antiquity that was exceedingly valu'd by Sir Henry Spelman." This note at p. 198—"Albinc manu recentiore continuatur codex MS." does not apply to the present MS. (which is uniformly written in a fair secretary-hand); but was occasioned by a note of Ashmole's at f. 14 (against Johannes Sharnburne primus filius, not where a star is put by Gibson), "from hence to the end is written by a late hand:" whence it is probable that the original compilation extended so far, and that the rest was added by a succeeding writer. This MS. is in large quarto, having wide margins ruled with red lines. Lloyd's copy of the printed book, which was given to him by the editor, is in this Library.

VI. 1. "January 20th: 1645." Articles conceded unto the confederate Roman Catholics of Ireland, by the Earl of GLAMORGAN, by virtue of a warrant* from the King, dated at Oxford, 12 Mar. 1644. ff. 1—5.

* Recited in the preamble.

2. Farther "Articles of agreem^t: made and concluded upon by and between the right noble: EDWARD Earle of GLAMORGAN, and in pursuance and by vertue of his Ma^{ties}: authority under his signet and royall signature bearing date [etc.—] and the right noble: Richard L^d: Visc: Mountgarett, [and others], for and on behalfe of his Ma^{ties}: Roman Catholique subiectes and the Catholique Clergie of Ireland, of the other part." (25 Aug. 1645.) 5—6^b.
3. The Earl of GLAMORGAN'S oath truly to acquaint the King with the proceedings in Ireland, and not permit the army to act until the conditions be performed by the King. (3 Sept. 1645.) 7.

Each of these three articles is subscribed by Arthur Annesley and Rob. King, as a true copy of the original, found in the carriage of the titular Archbishop of Tuam, who was killed in October 1645. See the next article.

4. Letter from GEORGE Lord DIGBY "To Secretary Nicholas," relating the proceedings of the Earl of Glamorgan, and his arrest for high treason by the Lord Lieutenant and himself. (Dublin, 4 Jan. 1645—6.) 7^b—10^b.
5. Letter from the same (of the same date) "To Sir Edward Hyde, Chancell^r: of the Exchequer," relating his 'adventures' in the civil wars in England, and his affairs in Ireland; and recommending to his friendship the Marquess of Ormond. 10^b—13.
6. The "Earle of GLAMORGAN'S letter to his Lady," comforting her during his imprisonment in Dublin Castle: not dated. 13^b—14^b.
7. "Die Veneris, 17 Aprill. 1646. A Declaration of the Com[m]ions of England assembled in Parliament, of their true intentions concerning the aneient and fundamentall governm^t: of the kingdom, the government of the church, the present peace, securing the people against all arbitrary government, and mainteyning a right understanding betweene the two kingdomes of England and Scotland according to the covenant and treaties." 16—19.
8. "By the King. His Ma^{ties}: Proclamation concerning the booke of Comon Prayer and the Directory for publique worship." 20—1^b.

In consequence of the ordinance of Parliament, dated 3 Jan. 1644.

9. Order of the House of Commons, for the discovery of bribery among its members. (Die "Lunæ 1 Decemb: 1645.") 21^b.

These 21 leaves are fairly written by Ashmole's hand.

* * Sir W. DUGDALE'S Autobiography, which was formerly contained in this portfolio, is described in Lhuyd's Catalogue, num. 7501, and was noticed in the last edition of Dugdale's Life, by Mr. Hamper, in 1827, (prefatory note, and p. 25.) has not been found in the Library for many years. But a duplicate original is in Wood's Collection of MSS., No. 30, art. 1.

No. 1142.

This folio volume contains one small quarto MS. of 12 leaves, and a large folio MS. of 76 leaves, the foliation of which is continued (to f. 147) through various other MSS. and papers in folio, written by different hands, which are bound up with them.

- I. "A Discourse touching the auncient mention conjunctions or division of the two greate offices of state, the Chancellorship and Keeper of the Greate Seale of England. Written by Mr. JOHN SELDEN of the Middle Temple, dedicated to Sr Francis Bacon, Knight, Lo: Keeper of the Greate Seale of England, anno Domini 1627^o." ff. 1^b, 1—8.

This neat transcript was probably made in '1635,' which was at first written for the true year in the title. The dedication, which is on the back of the first leaf, is not unlike Selden's hand. This tract was published from a MS. belonging to Saint-Læ Kniveton, esq. in 1672, folio, by Sir William Dugdale, together with his Catalogue of the Chancellors: it may be found also in the collection of Selden's Works, (1726, fol.) III. ed. 1463—70, with a shorter title; and in the folio edition of Dugdale's book, by Banks.

- II. "Catalogus librorum Bibliothecæ (externæ) Mortlakensis. D. JOH. DEE. a^o 1583. 6. Sept." ff. 1—74.

The printed books are arranged as Compacti and Non compacti (f. 44), and accordingly to their sizes. The Libri Manuscripti (the most valuable part of this curious catalogue) are very numerous, occupying ff. 60—74. Such books as were stolen are noted in the margin, with the names of the plunderers. The original MS., from which this was fairly transcribed by Ashmole, is now in the Harleian Library, No. 1879, artt. 5, 6; and another copy, in Dee's handwriting, is among Gale's MSS. at Trinity College, Cambridge. The latter part of this Catalogue is about to be published by the Editor of the Rara Mathematica at Cambridge.

This MS. properly belongs to the collections concerning Dr. Dee, in the MSS. No. 1788—1790: see especially art. 13 of the last mentioned MS.

- III. "Post nubila Phæbus:" ASHMOLÉ'S first draught of the following tract. (pp. 14.) 77—83^b.

Found among loose papers, and lately inserted here.

- IV. "Mane, or the full morning. Post nubila Phæbus." A rhetorical effusion on the restoration of King Charles II., by ELIAS ASHMOLÉ. 85—90.

At the end of the former copy (iii.) is this line—For now the nights dire tragedies are done; which, being the first line of Ashmole's printed poem on the same occasion, suggests that he had designed this tract to be a prose introduction to it. See No. 36, art. 11.

- V. 1. "The Commons declaracōn and ympeachment against the Duke of Buckingham." 91—103^b.
2. "Grants and gifts to the Duke himselfe and to his imediate use." 105^b—8.
3. "Divers grants to y^e Dukes brother and others of his kindred." 108^b—9.

This MS. (consisting of 26 leaves) was written by a contemporary hand: the two latter parts are written vertically. An other copy of the whole is in No. 800, artt. 37, 38; but it does not seem to have been taken from this MS.

- VI. 1. Regis EDWARDI III. literæ patentes, per quas domum conversorum Willielmo de Burstall clerico Custodi Rotulorum Cancellariæ, et successoribus ejus, propter sumptus ejus in ea reparanda, concessit. (11 Apr. anno 51.) 117—9.

From the Patent Roll of that year, part 1, m. 20.

2. Act of Parliament (in French) confirming the grant of the Rolls House. (1 Ric. II.) 120—1.

Printed in Rot. Parl. III. 31.

These are office-copies from the records in the Tower of London, attested by "Will'us Colet deputat' Joh'is Borough milit."

VII. Letter from the Duke of "MONMOUTH" to the Vice-chancellor [of Cambridge?] communicating the King's orders, that Clergymen should neither wear long hair nor read their sermons. (New-Market, 8 Oct. 1674.) 122^a.

Printed in the Concilia Magnæ Britannia, (1737) IV. 594—5, from the original in the hands of the Bishop of S. Asaph. This is a fair copy on the first page of a sheet; as are also the two following articles, by different hands: the next is written very small.

VIII. "The Lord LUCAS speech in the House of Peeres: the King present, 22 Febr: 167^o." 124^{ab}.

Complaining of the oppressedness and poverty of the nation, and the extravagant liberality of the Commons, on a bill of supply being sent up from that House.

IX. "The Speaker's [invective] speech to Sr Robt: Payton," on expelling him from the House of Commons. 126^a.

X. "The copy of the Lords of the Privy Counsell's letters concerning ship-money." (Whitehall, 12 Aug. 1635.) 128^a, 129^a.

Written vertically on two open sheets, and thus indorsed.

XI. "Mr. ASHMOLE's letter concerning Watlingstrete, [20] Apr: 1657," addressed unto Dugdale. 130—1.

The original, thus indorsed by Dugdale. It has been printed in 'Miscellanies on several curious subjects,' (London, 1714, 8vo. see the life of Ashmole prefixed to his 'Antiquities of Berkshire,' p. ix.) and in Hamper's Correspondence of Sir W. Dugdale, 1827, 4to. p. 323—7, num. cxv. See No. 781, art. 3.

XII. 1. "The peticoñ of the Covenantors to the Kinge, presented by the Earle of Danferre, in June 1639." 132^a.

2. "The Marquess of Huntley his oath to the Covenanters." 133^{ab}.

The same as No. 800, artt. 12 and 10.

XIII. "Commission to [Thomas] the Earle of Arrundell and Surry, Lord Martiall of England, whereby yo^r Matie doth appointe him Generall of yo^r Maties armie, Robert Earle of Essex and Ewe to be Lieutenant-generall, and Henry Earle of Holland — Generall of yo^r troops of horse." 135—8.

This title is taken out of the docquet at the end: it is an old transcript of the signed bill, or immediate warrant, (sent to the Lord Keeper 7 Mar. 14 Car. I.), written on two sheets inserted within an other, on the front of which is badly written a note of the commission and its design to go against the Scots.

XIV. "The Earle of Northumberland his comission" to raise forces, for keeping the peace while the King should be absent on his northern expedition. (30 Mar. 15 Car. I.) 140^a, 141^a, 142^a.

*XV. "An essay, or some serious considerations, to be proposed to the wisdom of the Parliament, for an Act to quiet the mindes of his Maties Protestant subjects, to abate the increase and growth of popery [and] sectaries, and for the more effectually reliefe of the poore of this kingdome, quite to take away vagrancy w^{ch} ye law abhors, and for the great advantage of trade and usefull manufactories, for shipping and other employments w^{ch} costs many thousands of pounds yearly and may be had on better termes at home. (Or what title thought fitt.) Reasons for y^e great advantages by such an Act to all England, and especially to the county of Stafford, set as a specimen for other countyes." 143^a, 144^a, 145^a.

Written vertically on three open sheets, by an old hand.

XVI. A table showing the "Shippes' burthens and men, to be levied by the 1 of March 1635," on each county of England. 146^a.

See also Dodsworth's MS. 79, f. 35.

No. 1143.

A vast folio volume, consisting of two thick books bound together; the one shorn, the other rough at the edges: it contains 800 leaves fairly written on one side only; beside 23 leaves at the beginning, which contain only 24 pages of dedication, and three notes for a "Preface" written on a sheet of smaller paper inserted. (ff. 3—4.)

History of "The Life and Raigne of K: Henry the VIIIth. together with which is brieflie represented a generall historie of the times:" dedicated unto King Charles I. by EDWARD HERBERT, Baron of Cherbury. ff. 8^o—10^o*, 1—456—800.

Prefixed (on f 2^o) are three folded papers containing the Pedigrees of Charles V., Francis I., and Henry VIII. On the last leaf (802^a) is a Statement of the military expenses of the reigns of Henry VIII. and Edw. VI., written by an other hand.

This work was first published in 1649, in folio; and has been printed several times since. Lord Herbert's original collections for it are preserved in the Library of Jesus College, in four folio volumes, described at No. 2096—9 in the general Catalogue of MSS. (1697), part ii. p. 69. See the account of this work in Wood's Athenæ Oxonienses, Nicolson's English Historical Library, and Park's edition of Walpole's Royal and Noble Authors, III. 16—17.

No. 1144.

A folio volume paged throughout, containing (beside several smaller MSS. and papers, and a fragment of an antient printed book) a MS. of 112 leaves of paper, distinctly written and with wide margins, but by a bad hand of the time of James I.

I. Copiosa transcripta e ROTULIS CLAUSARUM de annis 34^o et 36^o Regis HENRICI III.; sed non iuxta rectam membranarum seriem. pp. 1—68, 73—223.

II. "A Viewe of all the fower famous Colledges or Innes of Courte, and other inferior howses or halls of learning commonly called Innes of Chancery, and other Hostells* of name and noate wth in and neare the City of London, justly challenging the name of an Academye, wherein and from whence are sent famous learned and profound persons into the common wealth. Together with the antyent and moderne tokens or signs armoreall appropriate to y^e said Colledges, or to the more part of them." p. 225, (pp. 25.) 227—251.

* Namely—"The Colledge called now Doctors Commons" p. 19, "The College of the Heraulds" ib., "Gresham's Colledge" p. 22, "The Office of the Remembrancer of his Maties; Exchequer at West." p. 23, and "Ste Katherines Hospitall which is situated not farr of from ye Tower of London," p. 24. This MS. seems to be a copy, of the time of James I.

III. Historical notes of the jurisdiction of Ireland. p. 253, 256.

Written in a very small and difficult hand of the time of Queen Elizabeth.

IV. Seven cases wherein it was considered criminal for a noble person to pass beyond the sea secretly, without the King's permission; noted down for the use of a nobleman. p. 257—8.

The original draught, by Sir ROBERT COTTON's hand?

V. ASHMOLE's notes of four records relating to the name of Chaucer. 259.

The first is a writ of King John, stating that W. de Carreu had paid a fine for not being impleaded about his land claimed by Gaufr. de Chause. The others relate to Thomas Chaucer.

VI. ASHMOLE's extracts from four records, relating to Swallowfield in Berkshire, and Southwarnburn in Hampshire. p. 261.

VII. ASHMOLE's short notes of many records, abstracted or copied in a book (of Lord Hatton's?) marked "A A H." p. 263—4.

VIII. Abstracts of records relating to lands possessed by religious persons, 18 and 19 Edw. III. p. 267—8.

Written by a hand of the time of Queen Elizabeth: the second leaf is inverted.

IX. I. R. JACOBI I. litteræ patentes, per quas Nicholaus Fortescue unus Camerariorum Scaccarii constitutus est. (26 Feb. anno 15.) p. 273.

On a leaf set in the midst of this sheet, is written, by a hand of the time of Charles II. (though seeming to be much older)—

2. "A note of the two upper Chamberleines of the Exchequer and receipt of Exchequer." p. 275.

Containing the names of several successive officers.

X. Inquisitio capta coram R. Lusser, J. Gunter, et J. Westbrook, specialiter commissis ad inquirendum de terris quas impareaverat Rex Edwardus IV., ad augendum parcum de Guldeford in com. Surriæ. (17 Apr. 8 Hen. VII.) p. 279.

XI. "Pontagia:" seu de pontagiis ampla notitia, e Rotulis Patentium de tempore Regum Edwardi II. et III., ab ASHMOLIO collecta. p. 289; 290, 291—6, 281—7.

XII. Excerpta de signis in armis Regum Angliæ depictis, e NICHOLAI UPTONI libro iii. p. 297—299.

By a hand of the time of Queen Elizabeth. Compare No. 806, f. 46—9.

XIII. Four notes of records relating to the manor of Bradfield in Berkshire, and the monastery of Bustlesham in Buckinghamshire. p. 301.

XIV. Notes of the appointment of some "Greate Officers," from records and Stowe's chronicle. p. 303.

Two other inconsiderable notes are on the last page of this sheet, written by the same old hand.

XV. 1. "Capita Parliamenti a^o r. R. Ed. filij Regis Henrici 18^o." p. 307.

On the back are rude notes of records, crossed out.

2. "Liber Parliamentorum. Placita coram ipso domino Rege" etc. (18 Edw. I.) excerpta. p. 309—310.

3. "Parliamentum tentum apud Westm^r a^o r. R. H. 8. 6^o." et 7^o, et tempore Edw. VI. p. 311—2.

4. Abstract of Acts of Parliament granting a subsidy "A^o quinto H. 8. the yeere after the King's return from Tournay;" and notes of some other Acts of that year. p. 315—7, 313—4.

5. Anno "7 H. 8. An Act concerning the King's generall Surveiors of his revenewes," abstracted. p. 317—8.

Hastily written in the time of Queen Elizabeth. See also xvii.

XVI. R. EDWARDI IV. litteræ patentes, per quas 50 marcæ per annum concessæ sunt Olivero Kyng, A. M., principali Secretario in lingua Gallica. (20 Jul. 1477.) p. 319—321.

A fair transcript from "Pat. 17 Ed. 4. part. 1. m. 3."

XVII. Four notes from records, concerning the privileges of Parliament. p. 323.

By the same hand as part xv.

XVIII. De Parliamenti duplici prorogatione, anno 2 Edw. VI.; una cum literis regis. p. 325, 327—8.

Copied from the Lords' Journals in old secretary-hand: see the printed copy, vol. I. pp. 314—5.

XIX. "Congeries diversorum Casu[um] in diversis Curis et diversis terminis actorum, et per incertos Relatores scriptis com[m]issorum; quibus fidem adhibeas velim, prout ex relatione constare poterit [quod] sint fide digni." (ff. 14.) p. 331—358.

This collection of short Reports, of the time of Queen Elizabeth, is written in Law French, as also is the following alphabetical—

Index of matters and points of law, handled in the foregoing Reports. p. 359—63.

This MS. of 19 leaves (beside the first one blank) is neatly written in a law-hand of the time of James I.

XX. Calendarium Institutionum ad beneficia ecclesiastica in Diocesi Cicestr. per RICHARDUM MONTAGUE, Episcopum Cicestrensem, factarum; a 7 Martii anno Domini 1628-9, usque ad 30 Apr. 1634. (pp. 26.) p. 367-392.

This valuable MS. is contemporary and well written, but stained with wet: each page contains three complete records. It seems to have been an official book. On the second leaf (the first being blank) begins a series of paging, which was continued by Ashmole to the end of this volume.

XXI. Abstracts of many antient evidences relating to the Abbey of S. Bennet of Holm. p. 393-6.

Made probably from the originals, by a skilful hand, in the time of James I. The documents are thus marked, in series, A-Z, aa-zz, a-ω, aa-θθ.

XXII. Excerpta historica e Rotulis Patentium Clausarum et Liberatarum, de annis 42, 43, et 51 Regis HENRICI III. p. 397, 399, 401.

The first page of each of these three sheets is written on by a hand of the time of Queen Elizabeth. At the end are two notes of records, written invertedly.

XXIII. 1. Figure of a shield bearing a Hebrew inscription. p. 410.

2. Itinerary from Wentbryge, through London, to S. Michael's mount in Cornwall; stating that the length of 'this emperyall regyon' (by that way) was "fyve honder myles save or except ij myles." 411-2.

This curious paper (2 leaves in quarto) is written in a hand resembling Leland's.

XXIV. Short abstracts of records relating to the manors of Fleete, Holbech, and Whaplode, in Lincolnshire: namely—

Inqq. post mortem in Turri Lond. a 10 Ric. II. ad 16 Eliz. p. 413.

Inqq. post mortem in Cancellaria, 31-38 Eliz. p. 413-4.

Pat. 29-30 Hen. VIII. p. 414.

Licene. 13-36 Eliz. p. 415.

Rot. de Scacc. 37 et 6 Eliz. et 33 Edw. IV. p. 415.

XXV. A fragment of BONAVENTURE'S Speculum Vite Christi, or The Aprourc of the blessyd Apf of Ihesu Criste, (part iv. ch. 27-31;) printed in black letter, by CAXTON, with two wood-cuts. p. 417-32.

See Herbert's Ames, I. 86-7, and Dibdin's edition, I. 320-2, where the facsimile differs considerably from the appearance of the typography. Of these eight beautiful folio leaves, four bear these signatures, i. ij, iij, j, iiij. The same woodcuts are used in Wynkyn de Worde's quarto edition, of which Mr. Douce's copy is in the Bodleian.

XXVI. Letters patent of King JAMES I. granting, to the Company of Stationers of Loudon, the privilege of printing primers, psalters, and almanacs; and the power of ordaining laws for their good government. (29 Oct. 1603.) p. 433-445.

A contemporary copy, fairly written on seven open sheets.

No. 1145.

A folio MS. on paper, consisting of 117 leaves, very fairly written in the time of Charles I. The following title (with the autograph of "E. Ashmole," who was not the writer of the MS.) is written on the first page of two unnumbered leaves at the beginning: f. 118 is blank, as are also several bound up with the MS. at each end.

"The Customary of Mansfeild in Sherewood, and to the same Forrest belonging, certaine boundaries of the whole Forrest, and of the pertieuler keepings thereof, wth the charter of the Forrest, and generall lawes and ordinances of Forrestes, Chases, Warreyns, and Parkes, in England and Wales, together wth the priviledges and customes observed in the same. [Also—]

"Measure of land. Fol. 43.

"The old and new assertes. 32.

"The old and new purprestures. 37.

"Waistes of the kings laies. 40.

"Oysells arrentmentes of assertes. 47.

"Townes of ancient demeanse. 55.

"Arnall charter. 58.

"A plea betweene the men of Edwinstow and thabbott of Rufford. 58.

"The Sheriffes accompt of assert rentes. 48.

"Boundaries of Mansfeild Woodhouse. 14.

"Keepers fees. 91." ff. *1, 1-117^b.

This curious work (some of the chief contents of which are thus noticed in the title of the MS.) begins by stating that the town of Mansfield Woodhouse was burnt in 1304, and then records the customs of the lordship. At f. 5 is the Charter of the Forest, followed by other antient charters, inquisitions, and perambulations, (all in English,) among which at f. 17, "Heere followeth the evidences of the foundaçon of the house or the Abley of Rufford" etc. The statutes of the Forest and various pleadings follow, the last of which is in Latin, being—Placita Forestæ tenta apud Mansfeild in Sherwood in com' Nott. 21 Hen. VII. (f. 68-70.) The rest of the book is a kind of Treatise on Forest Laws and Customs; which, as well as the foregoing, is divided into many chapters, with proper headiogs.

The Harleian MS. 4954 contains many transcripts of Placita in the same Forest.

No. 1146.

LIBER CIOESTRENSIS.

This valuable MS. in small folio, was fairly written in the latter part of the reign of Edward III.; it now consists of 124 leaves of vellum (numbered by the antient hand), but formerly of at least 229, as it appears from a catalogue or table of the contents written on two supernumerary leaves at the beginning, to which is prefixed a preface or general title.

On the vacant pages of this MS. have been written some short articles at other times, or by various antient hands, which are also entered in the table: such articles are, in the following enumeration of them, marked thus † (or thus ‡ if not noticed in the table), and are not numbered with the primary contents.

The following is the title beforementioned.

"Presens volumen in quatuor partes generaliter est distinctum. Prima pars tractat de generalibus constitucionibus Legatorum sedis apostolice et Archiepiscoporum per CANTUAR' provinciam generaliter observandis. Secunda: de statutis seu constitucionibus scriptis et non scriptis in Curia Cantuar' de Arcubus usitatis. Tercia: de cartis et statutis Regum Anglie de libertatibus et liberis consuetudinibus ecclesie Anglicane concessis. Et Quarta: de cartis regalibus, bullis papalibus, constitucionibus sinodalibus, compositionibus, ecclesiarum taxacionibus, et alijs munimentis diversis, ecclesiam et diocesim CICESTR' concernentibus. Quorum omnium et singulorum principia, per quotacionem foliorum de Algorismo in summitate cujuscunque folij factam, quotacioni Tabule sequentis in omnibus concordantem: poterit quisque faciliter invenire." pp. 1—4.

[PARS PRIMA.]

†“Forma Juramenti Vicecomitis. Vous jurrez que bien.” f. 1^a.

At the foot is subscribed the return to a writ, whereby it appears that R. Bishop of Chichester administered the said oath to one Robert.

†“Cedula pro ordinibus faciendis.” 1^a.

A short form of the notice of ordination, circulated by ROBERT [READE] Bishop of Chichester in 1407.

1. “Kalendarium commune, cum diebus non sessionis in Curia de Arcubus, et obitibus Episcoporum Cicestr.” 1^b—7.

The title of this interesting Calendar is taken from the table of contents. Some of the Obits are noticed in Richardson's edition of Godwin De Præsulibus, (Lond. 1743, fol. p. 502—8,) from Browne Willis's notes of this MS. It was evidently written for the use of the celebrated astronomer WILLIAM READE, Bishop of Chichester from 1369 to 1385, or one of his confidential officers.

2. “Tabula Compoti principalis” ad festa mobilia, ab anno 513 usque ad 1549, discenda. 7^b.

“Contra Tabula Compoti:” seu ejusdem pars altera. 8^a.

3. Tabula ostendens literam dominicalem, bissexum, aureum numerum, indictionem, et diem paschalem, in unoquoque anno, a 1349 ad 1500. f. 8^b—9.

†Numerus tenementorum militum, etc. in Anglia. 9^b.

†“Edictum sumptum ex Registro G' G' Pape, missum eidam Episcopo ad legendum in mensa episcopali, omni die anniversario consecracionis sue. Amodo, frater carissime te magnum pondus suscepisse laboris.” 10^{ab}.

These two pages are fairly written, by the same hand as the table of contents, but after it was first made. Fol. 11 is cut out: the table shows that it contained these two articles:—“Regula Episcopalis et Militaris,” and “Juramentum Episcoporum domino Pape et Regi prestandum.”

4. “Cause exilij et martirij beati Thome. F F decreti C Consuetudines videlicet ille regie apud Clarendoniam promulgate.” 12—13.

Part of the title, and all the introductory words, are erased; also the first and fifth words of the following title.

5. “F[eralia] mandata et Constituciones que constituit HENR' Rex Secundus in Normannia et mandavit Justiciarijs suis R. de Lucy et omnibus principibus et populis Angl' juranda et servanda, contra Papam Alexandrum. iij. et beatum Thomam Cantuar' Archiepiscopum.” 13^{ab}.

Ff. 14—16 are cut out: their contents are set down thus in the table, over erasures:—“De honis ecclesie ad manum Regis non ponendis propter delictum persone. 14. Quare bona sancti Thome erant confiscata. 15. Quod redempcionem facere. 15. De insinuacione Episcopi Herfordensis. 16.” These articles were evidently added afterward on blank leaves, as are the two following, which have the same appearance.

†“Quod celebracio missarum absque magna necessitate non debet fieri nisi in locis sacris. de con. di. s' i. et ca. Sicut.” 17^a.

Inc. Et sanctius est missa carere.

†Constitutio quædam de proficiis primi anni quo aliquis beneficiatus existat, non ab eo retinendis: inc. Suscepti regiminis nos cura sollicitat, ut, que in ecclesiis.* 17^{ab}.

* By these first words alone it is described in the table.

6. “Constituciones ven' patris domini OTTONIS, sancti Nicholai in Carcere Tull[i]ano diaconi Cardinalis, apostolice sedis in Anglia que legati.” 18—24.

Published in the second volume of Spelman's Concilia, (London, 1664, fol.) pp. 221—9, out of Matthew Paris; and again by Wilkins, Concilia Magnæ Britanniæ et Hiberniæ, (London, 1737, fol.) I. 649—656, collated with three MSS.

7. “Constituciones ven' patris domini OTTOBONI sancti Adriani diaconi Cardinalis, apostolice sedis in Anglia que legati.” 24^b—42.

Published in Spelman, II. 263—289, (by mistake under the year 1248;) and in Wilkins, II. 1—19. At the end of the 53d chapter are the following note and colophon. “Require capitulum de institucionibus seu collacionibus, et alia vij. capitula sequentia, que in aliquibus libris hic ponuntur, supra, capitulo xxix^o, et sic consequenter.”—“Explicunt Constituciones domini Ottoboni sancti Adriani Diaconi Cardinalis, apostolice sedis Legati, in Concilio Londoni promulgate, A^o” [1268.] (Vide No. 1280, f. 111.) The list of chapters at the beginning is wrongly numbered to 56. On the next page is an appendix, thus headed—

“Item idem OTTOBONUS De modo decimandi. Quoniam ut audivimus.” 42^b.

Des.—“valeat impdire. Explicuit.” This article does not appear in a separate form in the collections of Councils, but may be found verbatim in the Constitutions of Robertus de Insula, Bishop of Durham, (A. D. 1276,) divided into two chapters, intitled “De decimis pecorum in diversis parochiis pascentibus,” and “De rarioribus pecorum decimis.” Spelman, II. 318; Wilkins, II. 29.

8. “Constituciones domini STEPHANI Cantuar' Archiepiscopi, de libertatibus ecclesiarum, in Concilio Oxon' promulgate.” Inc. Ex auctoritate Dei patris omnipotentis. 43—9^b.

A space for the titles of the chapters is left at the beginning; and they are not inserted in their proper places. This copy ends with a colophon like the title—“Explicunt Constituciones [etc.] promulgate anno Domini Millesimo” [ducesimo vigesimo secundo.] This MS. copy is noticed in Tanner's Bibliotheca Britannica, p. 468, where he refers to Wilkins, Concilia, I. 531; but the document there is quite different, this article being reprinted by him, (after Spelman, II. 181—9,) at pp. 585—593, from the Cottonian MS. Otho A. XV., with which Wilkins collated several other MSS.: but this has not been collated, and affords considerable variations from the printed text.

* 9. “Constituciones domini BONEFACII Cantuar' Archiepiscopi, in Concilio generali Westm' promulgate anno Domini Millesimo. CC^{mo}. quinquagesimo octavo.” 50—4^b.

The titles of the chapters are not inserted, as before. The acts of this Council at Westminster are not noticed in Spelman or Wilkins: they begin thus. Universis Christi fidelibus ad quos presens pagina pervenerit, Bonifac. permissione divina Cant. Archiepiscopus et totius Anglie Primas, et sui Suffraganei, in vero Salutaris salutem. Cum ecclesia Anglie non solum etc. The conclusion is in these words:—"Nec predicta communiter et concorditer ordinaverunt, retenta sibi potestate addendi subtrahendi mutandi et corrigendi prout viderit expedire. Dat. apud Westm. in solemnem conventionem prelatorum et cleri Anglicane ecclesie. vj. idus Junij, anno Domini Millesimo CC. lviij^o. In quorum omnium robur et testimonium, nos dicti Archiepiscopi [sic] et Suffraganei nostri, cum quibusdam aliis vice universitatis religiosorum et cleri, huic scripto sigilla nostra durimus apponenda. Explicunt Constitutiones domini Bonifacij Cant. Archiepiscopi in Concilio Westm. promulgate, anno Domini Millesimo CC^{mo}. lviij^o." The text of these Constitutions seems however to have been adopted in the Council of Merton in the same year; in the acts of which they may be found in Wilkins, (I. 736—740), copied from the Burton Annals, after the words, Cum ecclesia Anglicana.

10. "Constitutiones domini BONIFACIJ Cant' Archiepiscopi predicti in Concilio de Lambeth promulgate anno Domini Millesimo. CC. lxj^o." 55—62^a.

Published from the Cottonian MS. Otho A. X, in Spelman, II. 305—315, and in Wilkins, I. 746—755; but the text given from other MS. by Wilkins concludes differently from this copy; which, in the stead of the words "Prædicta denique remedia," reads "Hec autem nostra statuta tam ad pendency negotia" (etc. as in Spelman.)—Anno pont. domini Alex. pape iij^{ti}. vij^o. Anno regni illustris domini nostri Henrici Regis Anglie quadragesimo quarto. Explicunt Constitutiones domini Bonifacij Cant. Archiepiscopi, in Concilio de Lambeth' promulgate, anno Domini M^o. CC^o. lxj^o."

*11. "Constitutiones domini JOHANNIS DE PECCHAM Archiepiscopi Cantuar' apud Redyng' promulgate, et que[dam] adjectiones et declarationes ejusdem super quibusdam capitulis in Constitutionibus Oxon' Lambethe Otton' et Ottobon' et Lugdun'. anno Domini Millesimo CC^{mo}. lxxix^{no}. et consecr. sue anno primo." 63—7^b.

The long preface, beginning Cum recolende memorie patres sanctissimi Otto et Ottobonus, (f. 63^{ab}.) which is properly introductory to the two first 'Declarations,' is omitted in Spelman's printed text of the Conciliium Radigense, (II. 320—4,) from the Cottonian MS. Otho A. XV., and in that of Wilkins (II. 33—6,) from that and other MSS., and seems to be unpublished. Those chapters are thus intitled in the present MS. "Declaracio super Constituc. Ottob. de baptismo, t. Ingrredientibus hoc." (f. 63^b) and "Declaracio super Constituc. Ottob. de concubinariis, t. Quam indecorum." (f. 64^a) but they are placed at the end of the printed texts, under the titles De pueris baptizandis, and De concubinariis puniendis. The next title in the MS. is "Declaracio super Constitucione domini Ottoboni de institutionibus, t. Christiane religionis," (f. 64^a) beginning Audistis fratres karissimi; with which words the printed texts (excepting a short preface in Wilkins) begins; and there are other variations in this important copy, which ends thus,—nova recensque bene scripta substituitur eidem.

12. "Constitutiones domini JOHANNIS DE PECCHAM Archiepiscopi Cantuar' in Concilio apud Lambethe promulgate. vj. idus Novembr' anno Domini Millesimo CC lxxx^o primo, et cons' sue a^o tercio." 68—78.

In fine cap. 27—"Explicunt Constitutiones [etc.] promulgate anno Domini M^o. CC. lxxxj^{mo}." Published in Spelman, II. 328—341, and in Wilkins, II. 51—61.

*13. "Item alia Constitucio edita apud Lambeth. anno Domini Millesimo CC lxxxij^{do}." sub his titulis, "Quando rescribitur ad querelam," et "De causis tractandis in Curia de Arcubus." 78^{ab}.

Inc. Anno Domini M^o CC lxxx^{mo} secundo, vij. idus Maii, videlicet die Sabbati etc. In fine—"ut hujusmodi perplexitas evi-teatur. Explicit." This article is not published in Spelman or Wilkins: but it is important, as being the very constitution promised in the document dated at Mortlake 7 cal. May, 1282, in Spelman II. 346—7, and in Wilkins II. 77.

13. "Constitucio JOHANNIS DE PECCHAM Archiepiscopi Cant' super ornamentis ecclesie." 78^b—9.

Inc. Ad doctrinam presencium et memoriam futurorum. In fine—"et vicarijs reparari. Explicit." This article is part of the fourth of "Statuta quædam," published in Wilkins, II. 48—49, from a MS. in Balliol College.

14. "Constitucio de modo petendi decimas, edita apud Merton' per omnes Episcopos Anglie, et secundum quosdam per dominum ROBERTUM DE WYNCHELSEE Archiepiscopum Cantuar. Quoniam propter diversas consuetudines." 79^{ab}.

This is part of the Concilium Mertonense, published under the year "1300 vel circa," in Spelman, II. 431—3, and in Wilkins, II. 278—280; consisting of the text under the first title as far as the word perseverant, (so omitting the references to the canon law,) and of the chapter "De mortuariis," with an addition beginning Quod si duo tantum. It has no titles or headings, and ends thus,—"robimus coartari. Explicit." As a separate ordinance this article does not seem to have been published.

These Constitutions seem to be unpublished. They conclude with a repetition of the "Articuli sententie de Oxon. Concilio extracti," and "Nec igitur volumus et precipimus [etc.]—canonice punituros. Explicunt Constit."

16. "Execucio sentencie late in transgressores contra magnam cartam et cartam de foresta, scripta Gilberto Ciestrensi Episcopo" per ROBERTUM (DE WYNCHELSEE) Archiepiscopum Cantuariensem. (Otteford, id. Jul. 1298.) 83—4^b.

Published in Spelman (II. 428—431) and Wilkins (II. 240—242), from a Cottonian MS., where it is recited in letters of the Bishop of London; this copy was doubtless taken from the original document which had been sent to the Bishop of Chichester.

"Declaracio execucionis sentencie predictæ. Deununciatis excommunicatos." 84^b.

In fine—"et eorum complices etc. Explicit." This seems to be a short summary of instruction to the clergy of Chichester, by comparing it with the conclusion of the Bishop of London's letter, quoted above.

17. "Constitutiones domini SIMONIS DE MEFHAM Cant' Archiepiscopi, London' promulgate anno Domini Millesi[mo] CCC^{mo}. vicesimo nono." 85—87^a.

In fine cap. 9—"Explicunt Constitutiones [etc.] Millesimo CCC^{mo}. xxxix^{no}." Published in Spelman (II. 493—6) and in Wilkins (II. 552—4), under the year 1328.

18. "Constitutiones domini JOHANNIS DE STRATFORD Cant' Archiepiscopi, in ecclesia sancti Pauli London' promulgate anno Domini Millesimo CCC^{mo}." [xlii., die Mercurii proximo post festum S. Edwardi Regis et martyris.*] 88—95.

* These words are supplied from the title of the copy printed in Spelman (II. 581—591) from a Cottonian MS., and in Wilkins (II. 702—9) from that and other MSS. Not only the title, but the colophon at the end of this copy is defective, the lower part of the last leaf having been cut off—"Explicunt Constitutiones domini Johannis de Stratford Archiepiscopi Cantuar. in ecclesia sancti Pauli London. promulgate anno Domini" . . .

19. "Constitutio domini SIMONIS DE ISLEPE Cantuar' Archiepiscopi, de festis per annum observandis, apud Lambethe promulgata, anno Domini Millesimo CCC." [lxii.] 96^{ab}.

This article is printed in Spelman (II. 500—1) from the Cottonian MS., Otho A. XV., under the title of "Constitutio venerabilis patris domini SIMONIS DE MEPHAM [etc.] edita apud Maghfeld xvi. kalend. Augusti, A. D. MCCCXXXII." That copy is in the form of letters patent in the name of "Simon" only, as is usual; and the date at the end is as expressed in the title, with the addition, "et nostræ consecrationis anno xiii." But as Simon de Mepham was not made Archbishop until Dec. 1327, Wilkins, in republishing the document (II. 561) under the same year 1332, altered the date to quinto, contrary to the reading of the MS.; while at the same time he shew, in a note, that the copy which he collated in Magdalen College, gives only this date, "Lambeth, 18 cal. Decemb. M. CCC. lxii.," which perfectly accords with the thirteenth year of SIMON DE ISLIP, whose name it bears in this MS. Wilkins has gone farther into error, respecting this document, giving to it the title of Concilium Maghfeldense, without any other authority than that it was really published at Maghfeld, 17 cal. Aug. 1362, in the 13th year of Abp. Islip; as it appears afterward, in Spelman's Collection (II. 609—610), where it is published from Islip's own Register: but the document is omitted by Wilkins, under that year.

20. "Constitutio ejusdem de taxacione stipendij sacerdotum, edita apud Lambethe, anno Domini Millesimo CCC^{mo} lxxij^{do}." 96^b—7.

Published in Spelman (II. 610—1) in the form of letters patent, dated at Lambeth, 5 id. Nov. 1362, from Islip's Register; and again (p. 611—2), with little variation except the date, 16 cal. Dec. 1362, from the Cottonian MS. Otho A. XV. The latter copy only is injudiciously printed by Wilkins, II. 50—1.

21. "Constitutio SIMONIS DE SUTHEBURY Cantuar' Archiepiscopi, modificans constitutionem super stipendijs sacerdotum supradictam, edita anno Domini 1378." 97^{ab}.

This article seems to have been added on the vacant part of this leaf, at the time when it was promulgated, by the same hand as the rest of the MS. It begins Effrenata generis humani, and ends ligari volumus et involvi; together with this note—"Que quidem Constitutio predicta immediate fuit per provinciam Cantuar' promulgata." It is published in the form of letters patent, dated at Lambeth 6 cal. Dec. 1378, from Abp. Sudbury's Register, in Spelman, II. 626, and Wilkins, II. 135—6.

Two blank leaves here follow; and on a third is written a bull by a hand somewhat later: this appears as the first document, in the table of contents, under the title of—

"PARS SECUNDA."

- *†Bulla Papæ JOHANNIS [XXIII.] statuens quod nullus, nisi cardinales et Regum filii, plura habeant beneficia ecclesiastica. (Avinion. 13 cal. Dec. anno 2. 1411.) 100^{ab}.

In the table it is called (in allusion to its first word 'Execrabilis')—"Execrabilis extravagans Johannis." Not in the collections of Spelman, Wilkins, Rymer, Labbé, Mansi, Raynaldus, and Cherubini.

22. "Statuta Curie Cantuar' observata in Curia de Arcubus, London' edita per ROBERTUM DE WYNHELSEE Archiepiscopum Cantuar', anno Domini Millesimo. CC^{mo}. xc^{mo}. quinto." 101—110^b.

These "Statuta de Arcubus" (as they are headed) are divided into 46 chapters, the titles of which follow the preface. They are published in Spelman (II. 413—427) and in Wilkins (II. 204—213), from Cottonian and other MSS.

- *23. "Statutum Officialis Curie Cantuar. Officialis Curie Cant' discreto viro Decano de Arcubus London Commissario nostro ac ven' cetui advocatorum et procuratorum ejusdem curie salutem." (1280.) 110^b—1.

In fine—"Dat. in pleno cons. Cur. de Arcubus London. die Sabbati post festum inventionis sancte crucis, anno Domini Millesimo CC^{mo}. lxxv^{mo}." Not in the Concilia.

24. "Declaracio quorundam statutorum de Arcubus." per ROBERTUM (DE WINCHELSEE) Archiepiscopum Cantuar. (Wrotham, 16 cal. Jul. 1309.) 111^a.

Printed in Spelman (II. 435) under the year '1300' by mistake; but in Wilkins (II. 393—4) with the date corrected, though only by conjecture, as it seems: the source is not stated, in either edition.

25. "Consuetudines et observancie non scripte, apud Curiam de Arcubus London' diucius observate." 111^b—5^b.

The first chapter is intitled—"De modo procedendi in tutorio, In tutorio si pars appellans habeat literam certificariorum suggestionis." The sixth ends imperfectly thus—Et si appellatum sit in judicialibus: mittitur pro; the 116th leaf having been cut out. This article does not appear to be contained in the Concilia.

26. "Constitutiones Curie de Arcubus London' edite per venerabilem patrem dominum JOHANNEM DE STRATFORDE Cantuar' Archiepiscopum, et in eadem Curia promulgatae anno Domini M^o CCC^o xliij^{do}." 117—124^b.

The titles of fifty-six chapters are set down after the preface: and this copy originally extended to f. 130: but the MS. being now defective, it ends imperfectly in the chapter intitled, "Capm. 29. De informacionibus et allegacionibus advocatorum," thus—in quo dicit motiva sua si velit, et ubi rationes advocatorum movent, and with these catchwords at the foot of the page—vel non movent. These Constitutions are published in the Concilia of Spelman (II. 550—562—571), and Wilkins (II. 681—689—695); dated at Lambeth, 5 id. May, 1342. Tanner seems to refer to this article when, having mentioned art. 18 in his account of Abp. Stratford (Bibl. Brit. p. 696), he says that this and other MSS. have contents "præter ea quæ in Conciliis annotata sunt:" perhaps he was not aware that it had been published.

The loss of more than a hundred leaves from the end of this volume, is to be deplored; for the fourth part contained a great number of ecclesiastical documents relating to churches and monasteries in the diocese of Chichester, and various matters concerning the bishopric; which might have been much more interesting than the contents that are yet preserved here, and may be nearly all found in print. The only other article in the second part, was "Ordinacio domini Willielmi Curtenay Archiepiscopi Cantuar' inter dominum Willielmum Episcopum Cicestren. Decanum et Capitulum Cicestren. decanatu ejusdem vacante." Its title was entered in the table, after the book had been completed. The titles of the ancient contents of the third and fourth parts may be read at pp. 2—4, at the beginning of the MS.

At the end of this volume is a leaf of vellum, fairly written and painted in the XIIIth century, being—Fragmentum Breviarj antiqui. f. 125^{ba}.

It seems from the scrawled names of Anth. Dorington and Anth. Dickinson etc. on f. 124^b. that this fly-leaf stood formerly at the beginning of the volume. The same names are scrawled at f. 67^b, with an alphabet and several couplets (partly erased), one of which is—

"He that in youth noe vertue will learne Shall goe like a lubber and throshe in the bearne."

By the same hand also are written, an Epigram on one Butler, at f. 62^b, (beg. When nowe the Fates gan wonder that their thrives, 8 lines,) and the names of "Will. B. Butler," "Tho. Spencer," and "Anthonius de D'no." On the first page of the MS. is this note—"Mr Smyth at my Ld Denbigh."

No. 1147.

A folio volume containing seven MSS. fairly written on paper by different hands; the two first of which were paged together by Ashmole, also the fourth and following MSS. to the end. There are two blank sheets between each MS. and the next.

I. 1. "A Speech to the Serjeants at law, when they are to be created." pp. 1—17.

"The manner of their* Creation." 17—33.

* Namely—Fitz-James, Brown, and Englefyld. These titles were superscribed by Sir William Dugdale. The other part of this MS. is written in a smaller hand.

2. "Hereafter followeth the manner or order of the makeinge of newe Serjaunts, creat and made in Michaelmas tearme anno xix. et vicesimo regni Elizabethæ Regine; the names of them hereafter be rehearsed: ss. Mr Francys Gawdy, and Mr. Anderson, of the Inner Temple; Mr Shorte of Grayes Inne; Mr. Aylofe, Mr. Baker and Mr. Wyndham, of Lyncolnes Inne; and Mr. Fenner of the Midle Temple: and their feaste was kept in the halle of the Midle Temple." 37—46.

A fair copy of the same tract as No. 804, ii. art. 1, and written about the same time.

II. 1. "The clayme and title of MARGARET FENYS,* wife to Samson Lennard esquier, to the Barony of Daeres, together wth the opinions of the right honorable the Lords high Thresorer and high Admirall of England, unto whome the examinaçõn and relacõn thereof was by her Matie specially comitted." p. 57—61.

* Addressed by her to Queen Elizabeth. The report of Lords Burghley and Howard is dated the last of Feb. 39 Eliz. 1596—7. This whole article has been published in Collins on Baronies by Writ, pp. 24—26, from Gregory King's Collections.

2. "Proofs and presedents that the Lawe of England ever was and yet is, that where the dignitie of an Earldome or Barony is actuallie descended to an heire female, that the husband after he hath had issue by her, is, de jure et consuetudine regni Angliæ, to enjoy the said dignitie duringe his life." 62—5.

Printed in Collins, pp. 27—28: but this MS. contains seven lines more at the end, "Mr. Bertie beinge" &c.

3. Lady MARGARET's second petition for the said Barony, to King James; with the opinion of the Peers thereupon, to whom it was referred. (8 Dec. 2 Jac. I.) 65—7.

Printed in Collins, pp. 28—30.

4. SAMPSON LENNARD's petition to enjoy the stile, title, and dignity of a Baron, in right of his wife Margaret Lady Daere; with the King's order of reference to the "Commissioners Marshall," for their opinion. p. 68.

Printed in Collins, p. 30.

5. Letters patent of JAMES I. granting to Sampson Lennard, for life, the precedency which he should have enjoyed, if the Barony of Daere had not, by the death of his wife, descended unto her son. (2 Apr. anno 10, 1612.) p. 68—9.

Printed in Collins, p. 30—1.

6. "Certayne presidents and examples to prove that such as have bynne Barrons of Parliam^t in their wyves right, have soe contynewed unto their lives end, although their wyves were dead longe before; w^{ch} are perfectly to be proved by record." 70—2.

Printed in Collins, pp. 31—34. The "Declaration," which follows next in Collins, is omitted in this MS., but may be found in No. 862, art. 69.

7. Copies of other records relating to the aforesaid precedents and examples. 73—7.

Namely, those which are contained in Collins, pp. 52—7, beginning, "Rotulo Franc. de a^o 38 E. 3. m. 16."

8. "Certayne other presidents, besides those that are inserted in the beginning of this booke, declareinge that the heires females of Barons have enjoyed y^e dignities of their auncestors, and, being married, that their husbands in regard thereof have bene sommoned and cal[^l]ed lyke-wise to Parliam^t, and to have continewed that dignitie to their next heires." p. 79—93.

Collins, pp. 35—45. See also No. 862, p. 465.

9. "Reasons to prove that dignities of honor, not otherwise restrayned by the princes l^res patents, be descendable to females as well as to males." p. 93—5.

Collins, pp. 45—7. Also No. 862, art. 73.

10. Extracts from records, touching the descent of the barony of Daere of Gillesland. p. 95—6.

Collins, p. 47. The other descents and records, in pp. 48—52 of Collins, are not contained in this MS.

11. "An olde writinge in parchement, found in the closet of the Lord Daere after his death, great grandfather to Margaret Lady Daere wife to Samson Lennard esquier;" &c. p. 96.

Collins, p. 57.

12. "Brevia diversorum Regum Angliæ, directa fuerunt antecessoribus Willielmi Fitz Hugh militis, de veniendo ad parlamenta sua, prout patet inferius." p. 97—100.

Collins, pp. 57—60.

The next page of the MS. is headed "Pedegree from John Lord Hastings:" but it is not filled up.

III. 1. "Ordinances touching the Kinges Household, made in the tyme of Kinge Edwarde the Seconde, translated out of an old French copy 13 Martii 1601, by FRA. TATE.—Hostel le Roy Edw. 2." p. 113, 114; and pp. 1—56.

The words "at Yorke in June y^e xvijth yeare" are struck through, by the Translator's own hand, in the general title prefixed to this original MS. These ordinances consist of 93 articles, a list of which (as far as p. 46) is written on the back of the title, p. 114. They are printed in the Rolls of Parliament, I. 281—6, in French: see the note in the Catalogue of Arundel MSS. (1829, 8vo.) p. 80.

2. "The Ordinance for the state of the Warderobe and the account of the Houshold, made and assented to in the presence of our sovereign lord the Kinge, and by the honorable fathers W^m de Melton, Archbishop of Yorke, Walt^r de Stapleton, Bishop of Excester, Thresurer, Walter de Norwich, Roger de Belers, and other Barons of the cheker, being of the Kings counsel, at Yorke in the moneth of June in the yere of the raigne of Kinge Edwarde sonne of Kinge Edwarde, the xvjth." (16 Edw. II.) Translated by FRANCIS TATE. 56—62.

Neither of these articles is contained in the "Collection of Ordinances and Regulations for the government of the Royal Household," &c. published by the Society of Antiquaries in 1790, 4to; or is mentioned in the Liber Quotidianus Contrarotulatus Garderobe, 1787, 4to.

At the end—"Hitherto the old parchem^t booke."

IV. "Domus Regis Angl. t. E. 4:" or, The Black Book of the Household of King EDWARD the Fourth. pp. 1—62.

The former part of this MS. is closely written in a small secretary-hand (to p. 46), the rest by Francis Tate, as the foregoing MS. This book has been published (from a copy among the Harleian MSS. No. 642,) in the aforementioned Collection of Ordinances, pp. 15—86, as mentioned under certain extracts from it in No. 856, art. 3, §. (6): but the original can not be found.

- V. 1. "The Othe of the Kings highnesse att everie Coronation." p. 63.
 2. "The Othe of the Chauncelo^r of England." 64.
 3. "Thesaurer of England." 65.
 "Sacramentum Subthess." 65.

This is written in English at the foot of the page, by a different hand, but the same as in No. 749, iii. iv.

4. "The Oth of the Barons of Thexchequier." 66—7.
 5. "The Oth of the Justices." 67—9.
 6. "Justice of weights and measures." 70—1.
 7. "The Othe of the Sheriff." 71—3.
 (With large additions by the same old hand as under art. 3.)
 8. "The Othe of the Sheriff of Oxfordsheir and Berk." 74—5.
 9. "The Oth of Thexchetor." 75—7.
 10. "the Comptrol^r of the customes." 77.
 11. "The Othe of the Weyer of wolles." 78.
 12. "Customer." 79.
 13. "Justices of Oyer and Terminer." 79—80.
 14. "The Othe of the Justice in Itinere." 80.
 15. "Clerke of Thestatute." 81.
 16. "Chauncelo^r of Thexchequier." 82.
 (Corrected and largely added unto, by the other hand.)
 17. "De fidelitate:" or the Oath of allegiance on receiving seisin of lands holden in chief. 82.
 18. "The Othe of the Senesshall of the Duchie of Gyenne." 83.
 19. "The Othe of the Metter of cloth." 83—4.
 20. "Maire of the Staple, and of the Constables, mutatis mutandis." 84.
 21. "The Othe of the Bearer of the rolles in the Chauncerye." 85.

22. "The renountiacōn of the Busshop" on suing the restitution of his temporalties. 86.
 23. "De fidelitate Episcopi;" or his allegiance to the King. 86.
 24. "De fidelitate Dominorum Spiritualium:" the Oath of a Prelate. 87.
 25. "The Oth of the Clerke of the Chauncerie." (18 Edw. III.) 87—9.
 26. "The Othe of the Kings servants yoven by the Vizchamberleyn." 89—90.
 27. "The Oth of the Herauld when he is made before our souverain lord the Kinge." 95—7.
 28. "The Oth of Garter principall Kinge of Armes." 99—101.

This MS. was fairly written in the time of James I. or Charles I.; and seems to have been transcribed from some careful compilation. Most of the Oaths may be found among those remaining on record in the Courts of Chancery and Exchequer, which are printed in the First Report of the Select Committee on Public Records, 1800, pp. 216—237.

VI. 1. Liber "De Magno Cancellario Anglie, et Cancellaria ac consuetudinibus ejus, et auctoritate eorundem;" sub his capitibus,—

- (1.) Articuli quidam de officio juribus et auctoritate Cancellarii: inc. Antiquitus ordinatum est et usu receptum quod Cancellarius Anglie. p. 111—3.
 (2.) "Forma juramenti" Cancellarii, Anglice. p. 113.
 (3.) Memoranda (e Rotulis desumpta) de traditione Magni Sigilli Angliæ, diversis Custodibus seu Cancellariis; sc. anno 7 Edw. IV., et anno 1 Hen. VII. p. 113—5.

The former of these may be found in the Fœdera, XI. 578—9.

- (4.) "Ordinaciones Cancellar' domini Regis, fact' anno duodecimo regni Regis Ricardi Secundi, et Henrici Quinti. Ordinatum est per dominum Cancellarium Angl. et duodecim Clericos prima forma ad robas in Cancellar." p. 116—122.
 (5.) "Breve directum Vicecomitibus London. quod Clerici de Cancellar' non debeant placitari extra Cancellariam. Rotulo centesimo anno xvij^o E. iij. in prima parte." p. 122, 123.

The two forms of Distringas, to which this title relates, are separated from it by the next article.

- (6.) Petitiō in Parlamento contra clericos minus idoneos in Cancellaria et aliis curiis, quod amoveantur; cum Regis assensu. Gallice. p. 122.
 See the Parliament Rolls, 11 Ric. II., vol. III. p. 250.
 (7.) "De finibus tam brevium quam pardonacionum, concessionum, ac aliarum literarum patentium, ad usum Regis solvendis." Anglice. p. 123—5.

An old table of fees payable in the Hanaper.

This MS. seems to have been copied, about the time of Queen Elizabeth or James I., from an older book, compiled probably in the reign of Henry VIII.

2. A book of Reports (made to Queen Elizabeth?) on the "Offices of the Exchequer:" containing—

- (1.) A statement of the titles of Officers antiently sitting in the Receipt of the Exchequer, and their duties, abstracted from the Black and Red Books. p. 127—8.
- (2.) "Herafter followe in order all sutch Officers as are nowe ymployed in her Maties service," in the Receipt of the Exchequer; viz. their titles, names, and duties. 129—130.
- (3.) "A brife collection of the principall Under-Officers and Clarkes appertayning to your Maties [Court of] Eschequer, comonly kept at Westminster, with a lyke decla[ra]tion, aswell of their severall functions, fees, rewardes, and allowances of ancient tyme accustomed, as also with in whose guift the same byne when they become voide." 131—143.

This last part is divided into fifteen chapters, of which there is a "Table" at the beginning. The first is "Yo^r Maties Remembrancer," and the last "Som abuses occasioning both yo^r Maties detriment and yo^r highnes subjectes, as also incitinge some infamy of the honorable Courte," which are reduced into twelve articles of no small curiosity. (See also No. 846, xxii. and No. 857, art. 18.) This MS. is a transcript of the time of Elizabeth or James I.

VII. "Patents and Instructions for Virginia:"—

1. Letters patent of King JAMES I. granting farther* privileges to the Company of Adventurers for the settlement and planting of Virginia, and appointing a Council at home for its government. (23 May, anno 7, 1609.) p. 155—171.
* Beyond what were granted 10 April, anno 4.
2. "Instruccōns orders and constitucōns by way of advise, sett downe, declared and propounded to Sr Thomas Gates knight, Governo^r of Virginia and of the Colony there planted and to be planted, and of all the inhabitants thereof, by us his majesties Counsell for the direccōn of the affaires of that countrey, for his better disposing and proceedinge in the governement thereof, accordinge to the authority and power given unto us by virtue of his Maties: l^res patents." 175—191.
3. "The copie of the Commission granted to the right ho^ble. Sr Thomas West knight, Lo: La Warr," by the Council for the Company of Adventurers. (28 Feb. 1609.) 191—201.
4. "Instructions orders and constitucōns by way of advise, — to the right ho^ble: Sr Thomas West knight, Lo: La Warr, Lo: Governor and Capten generall of Virginea and of the colouyes there planted — by us his Maties: Counsell for the Companie of Adventurers and planters in Virginea, resident in England — with a copie of certaine of the cheifest instruccōns w^{ch} have been formerlye given to Sr Thomas Gates knight" etc. 201—6.
5. Relation of a voyage to Virginia, and the state of the Colony, addressed unto the Council, by Sir THOMAS DALE the Governor. (James Town, 25 May 1611.) 207—210.

On one of four vacant leaves between this and the next article, is written a list of the "Contenta hujus libri" by a later hand.

6. Letter from ALEXANDER WHITAKER to Mr. Crashaw, about the state of the colony, and two expeditions made by Governor Dale among the Indians. (James Town, 9 Aug. 1611.) 219—21.

These articles are all fair transcripts, and seem to be contemporary with the transactions to which they relate.

No. 1148.

A folio volume containing eight MSS. and a collection of original papers, paged together by Ashmole; also two other MSS. separately paged. On three pages of the blank paper bound in at the beginning, is a list of the contents written by Lhuyd. The first MS. was written by the same transcriber as No. 824, vii.—ix.

- I. "A true Report concerning the worthy accompt of Tobacco, approved in experience (optima rerum magistra) by the Party and Reporter himselfe; most rarely performed to the praise of God, and with the wonderfull admiracōn to many eye-witnesses of the same:" addressed unto the Bishop of Durham, by R. B.* pp. 1, 3—42.

* Probably "Master RICHARD BROWNE, Esquire, Clarke of the Grene-cloth," to whom, with Sir Henry Cocke, was dedicated an anonymous tract, intitled "A Defence of Tabacco, with a friendly answer to the late printed booke called Worke for Chimney-Sweepers, &c." London, 1602, 4to. pp. 70. (Wood's Collection, D. 30, num. ii.) That tract, and the book which it professes to answer, were probably what are thus mentioned on the third page of this MS.—"two severall discourses lately put [forth] by two singuler exquisite learned Phisicōns, con et pro."

- II. "Speeches made upon severall occasions by the Lord FINCH:" (p. 43) namely—

1. "My Lord's speech to the King at his coming to Canterbury, on tuesday 3 May 1625." 45.
 2. "My Lord's speech to the King and Queene at their coming to Canterbury (he being there Recorder) on monday 13 July 1625." 48.
 3. "My Lord's speech when he was Speaker of the Parliam^t: 162[7.*]" 51.
- * See Dugdale's Baronage, in the account of John Baron Finch of Fordwich, II. 448.
4. "My Lord's speech at the Chancery barr, when he was sworne Sergeant, 9 Octob. 1634." 59.
 5. "My Lord's speech in Grayes Inn, when he tooke leave of the house, 1 Oct: 1634." 62.
 6. "My Lord's speech at the Comon Pleas to the Lord Keeper, when he was sworne Cheife Justice, 16 Octob: 1634." 64, 67—71.
 7. "My Lord's speech in the presence at Whitehall, when he was created Baron, 7 Ap: 1640. being easter tuesday." 72—6.

This MS. is neatly written by Ashmole's hand, except the last speech. The leaf paged 65—6 is vacant.

- III. Short Hydrostatical Tracts, relating to Shipbuilding and Navigation: namely—

1. That "Every thing in the water is lighter then his owne proper weight by y^e quantitie of y^e water in weight that itt occupieth, and out of y^e water itt weigheth his owne proper weight." 79—80.
2. "By arte staticall to knowe the true measure in inches or feete of any strange forme, such as geometry canne give noe order for the measuring thereof" etc. 81—3.

3. "To knowe by y^e art staticall the true weight of any shipp etc: wth all her lading and all y^e rest of her furniture or implem^{ts} in her" etc. 83—6.
4. "To knowe the weight of any thing being suncke in the water, and howe much itt weigheth more then the weight of the water proportionably." 87—9.
5. "How to bring over a shipp on th' one side, w^{ch} is called to carrene her, thereby to come unto the keele wth out grounding her thorowe want of y^e tyde ebbing and floweing as in y^e Levant seas, to cauke a shippe, or to stop a leake, and to make her thlight downe unto the keele." 89—90.

The two next articles were written on three sheets of paper separate from the three foregoing, and they are each subscribed Exr as at the end of the fifth part of this volume.

6. A short tract on the ebb and flow, and the depth or shallowness of the sea. 91—100.

The discovery of America is spoken of (at p. 96) as "within little more then 100 yeares since."

7. "Of what manner of forme the mould of a shipp should be, to have good qualities, as a good steering and sayle-bearing shipp." 101—2.

They were all fairly transcribed by Ashmole.

- IV. 1. "Of the Revelation" and the Number of the Beast; also "Of Calvins judgment on the Revelation." 103—6.

In the work from which these extracts were made (partly by Ashmole's hand) there are collections from a book of Thomas Elmham, Prior of Lenton, relating to the said number 666, which are censured as futile.

2. "Of my purpose and end in writing the History of Tithes:" by JOHN SELDEN. 107—122.

Printed in his Works, vol. III. col. 1451—8. The last leaf of this article was written by Ashmole, and the rest of this MS. by the same hand as No. 1098 etc.

- V. A discourse "Of the praise of Honour" in seven chapters, by R. A.* pp. 131—170.

* This neat MS. is subscribed with these initials at the word Finis: it is also subscribed with Ashmole's Exr.

- VI. "Μεγαλοψυχια. [A discourse of] Magnanimitie or height of courage," in two chapters. pp. 179, 181—3.

Written by the same hand as the foregoing, and seemingly unfinished: seven blank pages follow.

- VII. Memoir touching "The legue [laboryd for to be concludyd] betwixt the Pope, Themprour, the Kinges of Spayne and Portingale, the Duke[s] of [Sweway,] Bavier and others their [wth there] confederates wth the Duke of Savoye wherunto should also be adjoynd [also they sowght to wynne] the Frenche King for the destruction of all Christian men [sectis aswell] called Lutheranes and Hugonotes [Calvanists, Hugonotes as all others the] ennimies of the Church of Rome. And also to subvert and oppresse certayne common wealthes and to ruine divers princes and potentates [that held not of the church of Rome] and to sette in their places others, according to the wille of the above-sayd. w^{ch}e being brought to passe they wille make against the Turkes." p. 191—200.

These three sheets are fairly written (as it seems) by the hand of Lord BURLEIGH, and corrected, chiefly in the title, by an other hand: the words struck out are here printed in Italics, and the additions are put within brackets.

- VIII. An argumentative and apologetical discourse, written by RICHARD NAPIER, M. A. Rector of Linford, against the Minister of Newport,* on the following question:—

"Questio. Wheather the Lordes prophet may borrowe the learning of the Gentils, as there storyes, apothegmes, philosophy, pnetes testimonyes, there mythologicall and mysticall fictions, though never soe aptly and fitly applied; or wheather to allude upon any of these, but specially upon there fictions howe advisedly soever, be to be counted of godly sober wise-harted Christians, noe better then the palpable dishonour of God, and plainly to blaspheme, to raile upon, to obscure the glorious name of the Lorde our God, and as it were wth crocodiles fome to defile the pure fountaine of God's worde and fearfully to couple Baal-peor with the mighty Jehova." pp. 203—228.

* Formerly at Olney; where Napier, in one of his sermons having quoted Horace, was rebuked by a friend of his opponent "in the presence of a knight and his ladye at dinner-time." (See p. 211.) There is much theological learning in this tract.

- IX. A collection of original State Papers, chiefly relating to the King's Forests and Woods, and to the Mint and Coinage.

1. Notes set down "Touching Woodwardes fees upon woodsales." p. 231.

Fairly written in the time of James I.: the sheet is indorsed in like manner, at p. 234.

2. "Considerations to be had in sellinge and fellinge the K' Ma^{ts} woodes." 235.

Thus indorsed on p. 238—"A project concerninge the sale of some of his Maties woodes."

3. "Certaine necessarie considerations towching the raysing and mayntayning of copices within his Ma^{tes} Forestes, Chaces, Parkes and other wastes, and the increasing of younge storsers for timber, for future ages." Subscribed—"JO: NORDEN." 239—42.

The next sheet is written by the same hand.

4. "Considerations towching the preservation of olde, and raysing of new copices, within his Ma^{tes} Forestes, Chaces, Parkes and wastes." 243—4.

5. "Touching the ferming of all kindes of wind-falls,* woodes wthin his Ma^{ts}: Forrests, Chaces Parkes etc'. and wastes in England." 247.

* So in the original. It is indorsed by an other hand "Wind-falls."

6. Statement of "Reasons of y^e decay" of timber in England, and "Remedyes" to prevent the same; addressed "To the right hono^{ble}: the Earle of Salisbury Lo. high Th^{rer} of England," by JOHN STANTON of Buers in Suffolk. 253—2.

Written on one side of an open sheet, now bound as two leaves. It is indorsed on p. 251—"A project for encrease of woods."

7. "A summary relation of the proceedings upon the Commission concerning New Forest,"* addressed by J. NORDEN "To the moste honorable the lorde highe Treasurer of Englande." 255—7, 258.

* This is the indorsement of a long and beautifully written letter.

*8. Letter from HENRY YELVERTON, reporting his opinion on "the petico[n] of his Ma^{tes} tenantes of Kingsthorpe in the county of Northampton," to be incorporated; which had been referred to him by Lord on the 22d of July last. (29 Jan. 1615.) 259.

The back of this letter is wanting: it contains an account of the antient state of the town.

9. "An exemplificacion of a plea in the Exchequer, before the Th^{er}er and Barons, de termino Mich^{is} anno Ed: fil: regis Hen: 30. finiente et 31. incipiente." 261.

This is indorsed (at p. 264) an abstract of a pleading relative to Henry de Screvin's right of common in the Forest of Knaresborough, in 1302: it is fairly written in a hand of the time of James I., as all or most of these papers are. See also No. 837, xi.

10. "A declaration of all the Forest[s], Chases, and Parkes, out of the w^{ch} the Chan[c]e[lor], Attorney Generall, Receivor, and the two Auditor^s are to have fee decre, winter and sommer." 265—6.

Indorsed in like manner at p. 268. (See also No. 1157, art. 19.) The following title is the indorsement of the next sheet, at p. 272.

11. "A note of all y^e Parks, Forrests, and Chases, in England." 269.

The kinds of deer, belonging to some, are noted.

12. Particulars of "Needwood Forest in com^o Staff." with a view to its being disafforested. 273.

13. Particulars of the improvements to be effected in "Whittlewood Forest in the countie of Northampton," under the new demise thereof. 277.

This page is written in very neat secretary hand.

14. "A note of the number of timber and wood trees in the severall walkes wthin the Newe Forest in the countie of Southt' 1609:" with a view to the sale of timber. 281.

15. "A^o Dⁿⁱ 1609. An estimate of the number of acres of woodground in the Forrest of Windsor fitt to be enclosed and divided into copyces: wth the yearly rent to be made of them: as followeth." 285.

"The names of those that desire to be tenantes to y^e sayed Copyces." ib.

This page is subscribed by "F. STONOR;" but the sheet is indorsed (on p. 288) by the same hand as the text.

16. "A note delyvered mee in Aug. 1618 by Sr Julius Cesar, Master of the Rolles, then commission^r for y^e Threasurye;" concerning the office of the fourth Baron of the Exchequer. 289—90.

Thus indorsed at p. 292. See art. 18.

17. "X^o Martij 1630. Interrogatories exhibited by his Ma^{ts}. Attorney generall* Howe Informers are to certifie their proceedings upon their informacōns and other accōns, upon oathe." 293.

* So much of this heading was added by an other hand. This page is subscribed "R. HEATH."

18. "A note of the yearly fees belonging to the fourth Baron of Thexchequier." 297—8.

This sheet seems older than art. 16: it is thus indorsed (among other words at p. 300)—"Baron Sotherton's fees."

19. The Oath of a Sherrif on making his account unto the Exchequer; also of the Gauger and Escheator (deputies to the Lord Mayor) of London, and of a Bailif. 301, 303—4.

This sheet is written by a hand of the time of James I., but the following is closely written by Ashmole's hand.

20. The Oaths administered to the Escheator, Gauger, Common Sergeants, Cryer and Sergeant at arms, Sherrif, and Bailif, of the city of London; also to a Collector, Comptroller, and Customer of the Customs; and to the Comptroller of the Kings household;—in rendering account unto the Exchequer. 305—8.

21. "Comptrollers orders for his Clearkes" concerning their duty in the Exchequer. 303—5.

A sheet written in an old hand, and indorsed thus by Ashmole.

22. An account of divers Writs of Privy-Seal authorizing certain transactions relating to moneys and goods. 317—321.

These two small sheets seem to have been written by Ashmole, who has indorsed "Privy Seales" on p. 324.

23, 24. "Nobiles qui sunt in comitatu serenissi: Regis Daniae, etc." 325—8, 329.

This sheet and leaf are alike indorsed by the same hand, in English—"Rewardes [given] to y^e K: of Denmarkes servants." The former contains their names, and an account of gold chains, money, and plate given, to the amount of 4655*l.*: the latter is only an other copy of the foregoing page, 328.

25. "The names of such as are now livinge in England, and did serve the Kinges Ma^{ts} Mother* in England." 331.

* "The Queen of Scotts" as she is called in the indorsement, p. 334.

26. A 'bill indented' containing an account of pearls, given in charge by Queen Elizabeth to the Lady Cobham 28 Feb. 1570, and examined and attested by John Louyson goldsmith, and William Neale one of the Queen's auditors, 30 June 1577. p. 337—6.

The original, occupying one side of an open sheet; to which is attached a folded leaf of paper, containing (beside an indorsement)—

The following autograph memorandum:—

"Carrets. 13. dim. Geven to me one neue yeres morninge a perle by the Q. ma^ti pear fashion as yt semed owt of this paper, being of y^e weygt above named. 1574. R. LEYCESTER." p. 376^b.

27. Extract from "An Act for encouragement of Shipping and Navigation." (18 Car. II. cap. 18.) 338.

A printed leaf in small quarto: it relates to a duty laid on French ships, by way of reprisal.

28. "A Remonstrance agaynst the currance of forreine coyns in generall: particularly agaynst that of Spanish sylver aboue y^{er} rate." 339—40, 345, 341—3.

The second of these sheets is wrongly placed within the first.

29. "Considerations touching a new making of eertayne smale [silver] moneys." 347—8.

Half of the second leaf is torn off, but the indorsement is left.

30. "His Maties P^{res} mandatory to y^e offic^{rs} of y^e Mynt, touching his Exehanger" Henry Earl of Holland. 351—2.

Thus indorsed at p. 354: it is a hasty copy, of the time of Charles I.

31. Letter from [the Privy Council?] "To the L. Cheife Justice of the common pleas, the L. Cheife Baron, and Mr. Attorney generall," referring to them a proiect of Lord Knollys relating to the post-fines, granted to him in farm by the King. 355.

Indorsed "Mynnt. 1606."

32. "An estimate of the equall vallowing of English and Scottish monyes. 1^o Februarij. 1601." 360—1.

In a note on the foot of this fairly written open sheet, it is stated that 'Mr. Lepton is deceived' in his estimate.

33. Petition from the company of Monyers to Sir Robert Cceill, secretary to the Queen, complaining that they were forced to work for 'two gentlemen called the Hayes' in making the new Irish money, although those persons 'have made a challenge bothe to plate and coyne the monies — by meanes of their owne invention." 363.

The original, written (vertically) on the first page of a sheet.

34. "To the Kinge his most excellent Ma^{tie}. The humble petition of Sr THOMAS KNYVETT, Warden of y^{or} Ma^{tes} Mynt," against the Master-workers. 367.

The original thus indorsed on p. 370.

35. "A breviat of all Sr RICHARD MARTINS instructions and moeions to my lorde Thresorer concerning the Mint, and his suites to her Ma^{tie}." 371.

To the same title, indorsed, is added this note by another hand:—"Sr Water Cope had the principal paper of y^e sute, 10 June 1605."

36. "Certeine poyntes wherein the Warden [of the Mint] doth humbly require the M^r workers of his Ma^{tes} monyes may certify their best knowledge and judgem^t." 375.

37. "A breviat of some services done by Sr RICHARD MARTIN, Warden of her Ma^{tes} Mynte." 379.

The sheet thus indorsed (on p. 382) is headed—"The better to shoue my desertes of her Matie for your private instruccōn I have here under particularized some of my services." The Harleian MS. 6364 contains a book on the Mint, addressed, by the same person, to King James I.

38. "Decemb^r 1592. Sr R. MARTYNE'S Request. Concerning proportion of bullion." 383.

The latter part of this indorsement is by a different hand from the document.

39. Estimate of a proiect "To deery the testons to 3^d. and the twopens into pens, and to convert the same into moneys of 11. oz' fine at 5^s. the oz." 387.

In an indorsement of this very neatly written sheet, it appears to belong to the year '1559.'

40. "M* of y^e Proelamacōn for the abating [of] y^e price of Frenehe crownes" to 5^s. 4^d. of English money. 391—2.

* Probably Minute: though this sheet (thus indorsed on p. 394) contains what seems to be the original fair draught of the proclamation, with one interlineation. It is of the reign of Edward VI.; but not in the Fœdera.

41. Q. ELIZABETH'S "Proelamacōn for the abassment of coynes" to the standard in use before 16 Hen. VIII. (Westm. . . March 1561.) 395.

Fairly written on one side of a large sheet folded as one leaf, and thus indorsed by an old hand: it seems to be original. Not in the Fœdera.

X. Nummorum Romanorum Consularium eatalogus, sub familiarum nominibus alphabetice distributorum. pp. 86.

This MS. is fairly written by Ashmole, uniformly with No. 808 and No. 1140, (though in a smaller character,) and bears the following title on the first leaf:—"Transcribed from ABRAHAM GORLEUS his Thesaurus Numismatum Romanorum, printed 1605." (p. 397.); of which work there is a copy in this Library. The last five pages contain "Incerta;" and two blank leaves follow.

*XI. A Copy-book of Letters Missive, from King HENRY VIII., on various occasions; with some other letters on the same affairs; written in 1517, by a clerik named SYGYR.† pp. 12.

† At the end is this subscription "finis quod Sygyr:" at the end of the fifth letter is this note—"In mense Maij anno Henrici Octavi mono." Only the thirteenth letter is dated. This MS. is written in a fair secretary hand of the time: it consists of 8 leaves, the two last of which were left vacant, and the last has been partly torn off, and is scribbled on by the same hand. The contents are—

1. Letter royal "To M'es Coward" of Southampton, in favor of 'William Symonds oone of the Sewers of o^r ehamber' desirous of marrying her. p. 1.

2. Letter royal "To Sr John Dawtry," thanking him for his good service in the said matter, and encouraging him to proceed. 1—2.

3. Secretary's letter to recommending the same person in his suit to the same lady. 3.

4. From the same to his 'good ostesse' Mrs. Coward, recommending him to her. 3.

5. Letter royal "To the Justices of assise," for proceeding in a trial for lands, between Richard Asshetone esq. and John Hardman tenant to John Rateclyff. 4.

6. Letter royal to the Borough of for the choice of two or more persons to make inquiry on the articles annexed to a commission* for discovering inclosures of arable lands. 5—6.

* John Veysy Dean of the King's chapel, Sir Andr. Windsour Master of the wardrobe, and Roger Wigstone Usher of the King's chamber, the commissioners, were appointed to meet at Abingdon, 3 Aug. next.

7. Letter royal to for impanneling a jury on the same occasion. 6.
8. Letter royal to Mrs. Vernon, widow, in favor of William Coffyn desirous of marrying her. 7.
9. Letter royal "To þe baillif and inhabitauntes of the toune of Kinges toune [or] of Kyngistone," recommending N. Carewe esq. to be Steward of the said town, in the stead of the Earl of Worcester who was 'mynded' to resign in his favor. 7—8.
10. Secretary's letter on the same occasion. 8—9.
11. Letter royal "To Godfry Fuljambe," to aid William Coffyn (one of the King's Sewers) in his suit to Mrs. Vernon. 9.
12. Letter royal to the Captain of the isle of Jersey, authorizing him to admit John Carvanelle to the "Priori of saint Hillaryes," and to cause John Brehault late Prior, and Thomas Janvaryne collector for the same, to give up all documents thereto belonging. 9—10.
13. "A l'er from M' CAREW squyer for the Kynges body, to my lord Stuard," thanking him for his influence on behalf of 'my loving felowe William Coffyne' in his suit to Mrs. Vernon, assuring him of the King's approbation thereof, and requesting continuance. (London, 19 Dec.) 11.
14. "A l'er from M' COFFYNE squyer, to my lord Stuard," thanking him for the same kind offices. 11—12.

All these letters are very curious and interesting.

No. 1149.

A folio volume containing nine MSS. on paper. The paging of the first MS. (done by Ashmole) includes 12 blank leaves bound at the beginning, and two sheets that follow it, as usually between the MSS. The others are paged separately. On the two first pages is a list of the contents, which seems to have been written by Lhuysd.

- I. "A true presentation of forepast Parliam^{ts} to the viewe of present tymes and posteritie." In seven chapters; (pp. 25, 27—220.) viz.—

- "Chap. 1. The name, etymologie and signification of Parliam^{ts}, together with the substance and essence thereof.
- "Chap. 2. Of the quantety of Parliam^{ts}.
- "Chap. 3. Of the qualities of Parliam^{ts}.
- "Chap. 4. Of the relation of Parliam^{ts}.
- "Chap. 5. Of the action of Parliam^{ts}.
- "Chap. 6. Of the passion of Parliam^{ts}.
- "Chap. 7. Of the quando, ubi, situs, and habitus of Parliam^{ts}."

The seventh chapter and part of the sixth are lost from the end of this MS., which is fairly written with wide margins. From "The Preface" (pp. 27—35) it appears that the author was a Member of Parliament, and wrote the treatise chiefly to fill up the defects and correct the statements of a nameless book, on "The privileges and practices of Parliaments in England," published in 1628.

- II. "De Sepultura:" a treatise of Burials, by Sir HENRY SPELMAN. ff. 2—11.

A fair transcript (made in the time of Charles I.) occupying 19 pages out of 16 leaves. This tract was printed in 1641, 4^o. pp. 38; (of which a copy is in Wood's Collection, B. 32. num. iv.) and reprinted in Spelman's English Works, 1723, fol. pp. 173—190.

- III. "A treatise of the Soule, by Sr: WALTER RAWLEIGH knight." pp. 87.

A very fair transcript by Ashmole, largely written, with wide margins. It is noticed in the Biographia Britannica, p. 3485.

- IV. A large discourse of the King's Prerogative, as to the tenure of lands; partly by way of Commentary on the Statute De prerogativa regis. ff. 4—53.

The first three leaves of this MS. (which is closely written in a law-hand of the time of Q. Elizabeth or James I.) are lost; they contained the first chapter. The second begins thus:—"Caput 2. Item Rex habebit maritagium heredum infra etatem [etc.] All that ys contained in this chapter was the Kynges prerogatyf by thorder of the comen lawe." The 16th chapter is the last on this statute: those in the latter part (beginning at f. 29) are not numbered. They are all briefly noticed in the list of contents, at page 1, in the following manner:—

"A treatise of the King's Prerogative in several cases. Marriage of heirs within age; primer seisin post mort.; marriage of widows; homage of heirs in capite; custody of the women till age of consent to marry; of churches void; custody of idiots, non compos mentis; wrecks at sea; escheat of land of Normans; entry of wards before they sued out livery; escheat; terra archiepiscoporum; advowsons passed by the King's grant; felons' goods; process to be sued after the death of the King's tenant in chief; what things shall be in the King, without office or service; interpleader; monstrance de droit; petition to the Queen's prerogative; where a scire facias must be sued before a livery or ouster le main; ouster le main to the King's prerogative; livery; rescisor; issues mesne."

- V. "Responsio et Cynosura, sive vera Prophetarum proba PHILIPPI ZIEGLERI exulis Christi Herbipolensis et ss. regni Origenici Heraldii, opposita Matthiæ Ehingeri cujusdam scioli, falsi et iniqui censoris, nimis maturo et præcoci præjudicio. De fundamentis quibus in prædictionibus suis utuntur novi Prophetæ in Germania, Nagelius, Zieglerus, Geigerus, Plaustrius, Prætorius, Stüfelius, Faulhaberus, Wilhelmus Eo, alij. Primum Germanicè Groningæ A. C. 1624. descriptæ, eodemque anno Amsterodami Latinè versa, et demum Lond. Angl. A. C. 1626. ab auctore recognita et aucta." pp. *1, 1—91.

This MS. is fairly written, in a foreign hand; probably by the author himself, as also the next.

- VI. "Argumentum Origenicum, de statu præsentis et futuro usque ad extremum Judicium. I Joh. 4. 1. Probate spiritus an ex Deo sint. Esai. 8. 20. [etc.] I Thess. 5. 21. [etc.] I Cor. 14. 29. [etc.] Auctore PHILIPPO ZI[E]GLERO Helvetiorum Josepho, exule Christi Herbipolensi: regni Origenici Heraldii." pp. *1, *2, 1—34.

Written by the same hand as the foregoing MS., but on only half of the page's width, leaving a wide outer margin with some notes.

- VII. Propositions and syllogisms, pretending—"That Luther is an hæretick, is thus proved." pp. 6.

Five leaves: the two outermost are blank. The handwriting seems to be of the time of Charles I.

VIII. "Descriptio brevis status Hungariæ, una cum adjunctis rationibus præsentis ejusdem loci tumultus." pp. 1, 3—10.

"Charis[1]erion serenissimo Transilvaniæ Principi Gabrieli Comiti Siculorum, et part: regn: Hung: domino etc. Cassoviam secundissimis auspiciis ingredienti. Die 21 Septemb." xix. versibus, quibus nomen suum subscripsit "JOAN: BOCATIUS consularis R. P. Cassov. laur. poet." p. 11.

This poem seems to have been transcribed from a copy printed at Caschow by Joan. Festus. The handwriting of this MS. resembles that of MSS. v. vi. On the back of the last leaf (on the outermost fold) is written—"To my father in law Mr. Brakin."

IX. 1. Translated extracts "EX ANTONII DE SOUSA Lusitania liberata," pp. 110—191: by EDWARD PHILIPPS. (pp. 4.) ff. 1—2^b.

2. "The form of election of the Master of the Knights Hospitallers of Jerusalem:" translated by the same, from "Statut: Hospital. Hierusalem. p. 137." (pp. 4.) 7—8^b.

3. "The manner of the election of the President generall of y^e Society of Jesus:" translated by the same, from "Decreta Congr. Gen. Societ. Jesu. p. 22"—7. (pp. 3.) 9—10.

4. Extracts, relating to orders of Knighthood, from "S. Jeronymo Romano L. de la repub: Christiana. Tom. 1. Republicas del Mondo:" (pp. 3.) 11—12.

These sheets are all written by the hand of EDW. PHILIPPS: but the last page was written by ASHMOLÉ, containing—

5. Notes concerning the military Orders of Spain, and a 'Knight of the collar*.' 12^b.

* Or halter: in the old interlude of Youth. This part of the volume ought to have been bound up in Ashmole's Garter Collections, among the papers in No. 1125 or 1131.

No. 1150.

A folio volume containing three MSS. fairly written on paper, by Ashmole (as it seems), except the latter part of the first MS. pp. 64—83. Lhuyd has written a short list of the contents, on one of the blank leaves at the beginning.

I. "Lectura JACOBI WHITLOCK armigeri, in Medio Templo 2^o Augusti. 1619, super Statuto 21^o H. 8.* capitulo 13^o, de facultatibus beneficiorum;" una cum aliis Prælectionibus, 6^o 9^o et 11^o Augusti habitis ibidem. ff. 1—83.

* The Statute against Pluralities.

II. A collection of Acts and Ordinances of the Common Council of the city of London, declaring and explaining the customs of the city, respecting the orphans and widows of citizens; with various cases adjudged by the Mayor and Aldermen, and recorded in their Journals. ff. 1—28^b, 1—35^b.

This MS. is well written, by Ashmole's own hand, as it seems. The first leaf (as also the last) is vacant, and on it is fixed a printed ticket thus inscribed—"Elias Ashmole oweth, this Booke. 1635."

III. "A little treatise of Baile and Mainprise, written at y^e request of Sr: W^m: Heydon knight, by Sr: EDWARD COKE." ff. 2—20.

This is a very fair transcript, written in Ashmole's time, if not by his own hand in his younger days.

No. 1151.

A folio volume containing six MSS. written on paper in Ashmole's time.

I. 1. "Of the name and office of Clerkes in generall." ff. 1—3.

2. "Cap. 5^{to}. Of the twofold jurisdiccōn of the Chauncellor, namely, accordinge to the lawe, and accordinge to equitie; and of the necessary use of both of them." 3^b—4^b.

3. "Ordinances made by the Lord Chauncellor, for the better and more reguler administracōn of justice in the Chauncerye, to be duly observed." ff. 1—13^b.

Written by the same hand as the next MS.

II. "A discourse of the high Court of Chauncerye, and of the Lord Chauncellor the cheefe Judge of that Courte, and of the forme of proceedinge, and of all causes properly belonginge to that Courte." ff. *1, 1—39.

III. "Instruccōns for an Attorney in the Court of Kings Bench." f. *1, pp. 21.

This MS. was fairly written by Ashmole: it contains directions for taking out various kinds of writs, and is thus headed—"Proceedings in the Court of Kings Bench."

IV. An alphabetical Index to the Penal Statntes, containing the substance of each enactment, with the penalty for every offence set in the margin. pp. 25.

Written by some young clerk; and corrected and noted both by Ashmole, and by Overton the writer of No. 826, art. 140.

V. 1. "The Replie of Mr. HOLBORNE of Lincolne's Inn, to the argument of Mr. Solicitor, 2^o Octob: 13 Car: R^s: in Camera [de] Scaccario" concerning Ship-money. ff. 1—88^b.

Fairly and widely written, by Ashmole: but only the title following was written by him, the article seems to have been written by a boy: it hath a separate foliation, though occupying the remainder of the same quire.

2. "The Earle of STRAFFORD's Speech in replie to Mr. Pym; upon y^e preamble of his Answer.* —Wherein hee doeth breifly runne over his whole charge of high treason, and shewes his owne innocencye. 1641." f 89^a, pp. 1—24.

* The rest of this title is taken from that at the head of the text. Over p. 5 is written the name of 'Walter Howels,' and at p. 9 'Wa. Hughes.'

VI. "Judge CROOKE his argument in the Exchequer chamber, in Mr. Hambden's case." ff. 1—7^b.

This MS. seems written by the same hand as the first, but not so well: what it contains has been highly characterized by his learned representative Sir Alexander Croke, in his History of his own Family, (London, 1823, 4to.) II. 583. See also Hamper's Dugdale, p. 184.

No. 1152.

A thick quarto volume containing 292 leaves of vellum, with wide margins, neatly written in a small character, about the year 1400; and embellished with four large capitals gilt and flourished, and many painted letters. It is imperfect at the end. Of the first nine leaves, which were left vacant, the two first are foul and shrivelled. They contain many notes by former possessors, namely "Georgius Swillyngton de Swillyngton in com' Ebor." (1^a), and "Iste liber Will'mo Swillyngton in com' Ebor." (2^a); the names of whose five sons(?) are written on f. 1^b and 4^a, and again on f. 32^a (which is only a narrow slip, most of the leaf having been cut off), where their arms are rudely tricked. Here also are written, by different hands of the XVth century,—

- (1.) Copies of six Writs of Edw. III. and Henry IV. f. 2—3.
- (2.) Act of Parliament against the abuses and exertions of Sherrifs and other officers, to take effect at easter 1446. f. 4^b—6.
- (3.) 'Wo worth!' The following stanza:—
 Wo worth debate that never hathe pees,
 Wo worthe pennance that askethe no pete,
 Wo worthe vengeance whiche mercy may not see,
 Wo worthe that juggement that hathe none equite,
 Wo worthe that trowthe that hathe no charyte,
 Wo worthe that jnge that no gylt may save,
 And wo worthe ryght that may no favour have." f. 9^b.

Then follow the Tables of Contents of the volume.

"Capitula Statutorum Regis E. Tercij, anno primo" et ceteris annis. ff. 10—22.

"Explicunt Capitula omnium Statutorum in libro Statutorum predictorum, positorum prout ordo requirit, que facta fuerunt tempore domini E. nuper regis Angl. avi regis Ricardi Secundi."

"Incipiunt Statuta Regis Ricardi Secundi anno primo" et ceteris ad vigesimum. 22^b—30.

Thus far the directory of contents. On f. 30^b is a short law-case stated in French, as if to be mooted. The text of the volume consists of the following parts.

1. LIBER STATUTORUM ANGLIE sub Rege EDWARDO III. auctoritate publica sancitorum, Gallice. ff. 34—188^b.

In fine—"Explicit statutum de anno quinquagesimo."

2. LIBER STATUTORUM ANGLIE sub Rege RICARDO II., Gallice. ff. 189—283^b.

The statute of the 21st year is not entered in the Index of Chapters (at f. 30), probably because it is thus noted in the margin:—"Istud statutum est revocatum, ut patet a^o primo R' II. iijti. c. oijjo." f. 265^b.

3. STATUTUM quod fuit editum anno primo Regis HENRICI IV., Gallice. ff. 284—292^b.

The large initial H is painted in a different style from the others; and the royal arms (contained in it) are in wrong colors. The MS. ends with the first words of the xvijth chapter—Item en ease et relevacion del povere commune poeple du roial': these catchwords follow—n're dit sr, and at the foot of the page is written (by the same hand, as it seems,) "R. Shipden." The whole MS. is in French, except the titles and headings.

At the beginning of the volume is fixed a small paper, written in the time of Henry VIII. (which was found loose) containing law-notes in French, on "W. 2. ca^o 39^o. Multociens eciam vic falsum dat reversum etc."

No. 1153.

A quarto volume containing several MSS. books and papers to the quantity of 140 leaves: the foliation of the first is continued throughout the volume.

I. A discourse containing "Objeccōns by the K. of Spaine ag^t Q. El[izabeth]. for protectinge the Hollanders; [and] Reasons why Q. E. protected the Hollanders ag^t the Kinge of Spaine." ff. 1—15.

Well written by a contemporary hand. This title was written by a different hand at the foot of the last page (f. 15^b), the former part of which is also put as the heading of the first, and the latter as that of the fourth page.

II. 1. "Vox populi, or Newes from Spayne, translated according to the Spanish coppie." (ff. 13.) 17—29^b.

Relating to a convention on Gondamar's return in 1618.

2. "Considerations upon the treatie of marriage betwene England and Spaine:" with "The Answer" thereto. 30^{ab}.

This MS. is closely written by a contemporary hand: the last 11 leaves are blank.

III. A Declamation about horrible bloodsheds and fires, and concerning the divine wrath and judgement on wicked nations. ff. 42—5^b.

Miserably written: it seems to be a translation. This and the six following articles are paged together, to the number of 49 pages: they were separate papers well written by different hands, respectively contemporary.

IV. "Pigg's Coranto:" a satyirical News-Mercury, written in the time of the Council at York assembled against the Covenanters. f. 47—53.

In the Harleian MS. 4931, art. 42, is a similar paper, dated 1640, intitled "Duck's Curranto," in allusion to Duck the Bishop of London's Chancellor: this article was probably written by the same wag.

*V. 1. "The speech of [ANTHONY RUDD] the B. of St Davids, in the Convocation house, May 23. 1604, before all the Bb. and the rest of the clergie;" containing arguments in favor of those ministers who desired a farther reformation in the church, especially as to ceremonies. 54—8.

Introduced and concluded by short statements concerning the other speakers in the discussion.

2. "Hereafter followeth the recitall of the Consideracōns* to stay men from the soden yeldinge to the ceremonies." 58—9.

* Ten in number, being arguments drawn up by the non-conforming Ministers.

*VI. "Instructions for the most reverend father in God, our right truly† and right entirely beloved counsellour, George [Abbot] L. Archbishop of Canterbury, concerning certayne orders to be observed and put in execution by the severall BPPs in his province." Subscribed DORCHESTER. 60^a, 61^a.

† A mistake for trusty. This fair copy is indorsed—"Orders for ye Clergie." The document is not contained in Wilkins.

VII. I. "A letter from Mr. Dr. [SAMUEL] WARD to the Bp: of Bath and Wells, when he was appointed to goe to the nationall Council in the Low Countreys, anno 1618." (Waltham, 26 Sept.) 62^{ab}.

2. "A second P're sent from him." 62^b.

It seems that a pair of leaves has been lost from between this leaf and the next, which contains (with an imperfect preface in English) a 'Concatenation' of—

Propositions and arguments (in Latin) prepared for discussion at the Synod of Dort. 63^{ab}.

Imperfect at the end also.

VIII. "Oratio domini Doctoris CORBET ex Æde Christi, in funus Henrici Principis." 64—5^b.

Hence published in Gilchrist's edition of Bishop Corbet's Poems, (1807, 8vn.) p. 249—259. The two other leaves of this quarto sheet are blank and uncut: the next half-sheet is written by the same hand.

IX. "Oratio habita in domo Convocationis Oxon: Maij 29, anno Domini M[D]CXX. cum sereniss. Rex Jacobus opera sua Academiae dono daret." 68^{ab}.

X. "ROBERTI TURNERI, viri doctiss: Professoris in Academia Ingolstadiensis, epistolæ aliquot. Ingolstadii imprimebat David Sartorius, anno salutis CIO. IO. XXCIV." (pp. 70.) ff. 70^a, 72—104^b.

A transcript (as it seems) from the printed book, in a coarse old hand, written closely to the margin, which is ruled. Many of the letters are inscribed to the Duke of Bavaria; few to Englishmen.

XI. "The Booke of Letters for stringes, bracelets, and pointes. 1614." (ff. 7.) 105^b, 106—111^b.

On the last page but one of this odd MS. is neatly written this inscription:—"To hir kinde friend Mrs Winifred Kingscott from S. J. O." (114^a.)

XII. "Lady Pecunia, or the praise of money; also a combat betwixt Conscience and Covetousness; together with the complaint of Poetry for the death of Liberality. Newly corrected and enlarged by RICHARD BARNFIELD, Graduate in Oxford. Printed by W. J. and are to be sold by John Hodges, dwelling in Paul's church-yard, a little beneath Paul's School. 1605." f. 117^a, (ff. 19.) 118—138.

This appears to be the correct reading of the title page of a very neatly written MS., the character and language of which have long puzzled the Compiler of this work, as well as many literary persons to whom he has shown it. Fortunately, however, just as this sheet was going to press, he has been enabled to decipher it, partly by means of a paper accidentally preserved between the second and third leaves. The literal reading of the title-page is as follows:—

"Ladi Pekinnyia or
The prays of moni also
A kumbad betwised konchens and kuvetousness.
tuedier with
The kumplant of poetri for the deth of liberaliti.
Niuli korected and enlarged by ritchart barnfyld cradiuad in ocsford.

printed bey u. dg: and ar to bi sould bey dgon edgeds duelin in pols tguardyad, a litl beneath pels scuul.
1605.^a

The particular contents of this MS. are the following:—

1. A preface "To the gentlemen readers." f. 1^{ab}.
2. "Lady Pecunia, or the praise of money:" a poem, in 56 stanzas of 6 lines each. f. 2—8^b.
"The author's prayer to Pecunia." f. 9^a.
3. "The combat betwixt Conscience and Covetousness, in the mind of man:" a poem in couplets, in the form of a dialogue. f. 10—12^b.
4. "The complaint of Poetry for the death of liberality:" a poem, in 45 stanzas of 6 lines. f. 13—18^b.
5. "A comparison of the life of man:" one stanza of 7 lines. 18^b.
6. "A remembrance of some English Poets;" or, the following sonnet. f. 19^a.

A REMEMBRANCE OF SOME ENGLISH POETS.

Live Spenser ever in thy Fairy Queen:
Whose like (for deep conceit) was never seen.
Crown'd mayst thou be, unto thy more renown,
(As King of poets) with a laurel crown.

And Daniel, praised for thy sweet chaste verse,
Whose fame is grav'd on Rosamond's black hearse;
Still may'st thou live, and still be honored,
For that rare work, the White Rose and the Red.

And Drayton, whose well written Tragedies,
And sweet Epistles, soar thy fame to skies:
Thy learned name is equal with the rest,
Whose stately numbers are so well address.

And Shakspear, thou, whose honey-flowing vein,
(Pleasing the world) thy praises doth contain,
Whose Venus and whose Lucrece (sweet and chaste)
Thy name in fame's immortal book have plac'd;
Live ever you, at least in fame live ever:
Well may the body die, but fame die never.

The contents of this MS. agree, in number and order, with an imperfect copy of Barnfield's Poems, in Malone's Collection, in the Bodleian Library, No. 300; which wants the title-page and preface: it begins with the last leaf of sheet A, and runs on to G 2. The date of that edition was probably 1605, the same as this MS. The edition of 1598 hath separate title-pages for articles 2, 3, 4; and articles 5, 6, are contained in the author's "Poems in divers humers," bearing the same date: all which rare pieces are in Malone's Collection, No. 282, and were reprinted from that copy, at the Auchinleck Press, in 1816, 4to. for the Roxburgh Club. (See Martin's Bibliography of privately printed Books, pp. 350, 470.) A copy of that reprint was presented, by James Boswell esq., to the Library of Brazen-nose College, of which Barnfield had been a member. This author was unknown to Wood: but there is an account of him and his works, by Dr. Bliss, in the quarto edition of the Athene Oxon. I. 683—5.

The paper before mentioned contains—

A phrase* in English and Dutch, and six proverbs† in English and Spanish; also a copy of the Dutch and Spanish text thereof expressed in BARNFIELD'S cyphers. f. 120^a.

* "Good morrow Sir."

† "Foure eyes see more then twoe.—In a cload upp mouth a fly cannot enter.—Whosoever dallies with his enemy, dyes by his owne hand.—Hee that eats and leaves, covers his table twice.—It is a great savorinnesse, to dyne, and not to pay the reckoning.—Covetousnes breaketh the bagg."

 The paper contained in No. 826, art. 59, which has been described as in an unknown character, can now be explained; being written by the same hand. It contains a copy of the verses in art. 57 of the same volume, excepting the last three lines only.

Both these MSS. were exhibited and explained to the Ashmolean Society, 25 Feb. 1839, by the Compiler; who has inscribed on one of the fly-leaves at the end of this volume,—

A Key to Barnfield's cyphers. f. 141^a.

No. 1154.

A thick volume consisting of 303 leaves of paper, in quarto, the quires of which are marked with signatures from A to P; and ff. 12—13, 17, 24, are blank. It is roughly written, and corrected in many places. It bears this title at the beginning, and the like in other parts, where fresh years begin.

“Fines terrarum et tenementorum tot' dominiorum dominorum DEANI et CAPITULI Ecclesie Cath' sancte Andree Wellensis, a festo sancti Michaelis arch' anno rr' Henrici vijmⁱ xxiiiij^{to} usque idem festum sancti Michaelis arch' ex tunc prox. sequens etc.” Et inde usque ad 19 Januarij, anno 23 Heur. VIII.; scilicet ab anno 1508, usque ad annum 1533. ff. 2—309.

This is the original Court-Book, containing the rough entries of renewals and transfers of customary tenements or copy-holds, from which the Court-Rolls were afterward ingrossed: hence Rot' or rotulatur or irrotulatur is frequently written on the margins.

The following list contains the names of the Manors, in the order in which they occur for the first time in the MS.

Estcory, f. 1^b, 2, 5, &c.
Northcory, 2^b.
Grangia Canonicorum, 3. (See also Welles.)

There are some small papers inserted in this book, most of which contain additions by the original hand; viz. (1) between ff. 37—8, (2) between ff. 59—60, (3) marked f. 75 and f. 97, (4) between ff. 81—2, (5) marked f. 90, (6) marked f. 132 and f. 141, (7) f. 139, (8) between ff. 299—300 and 307—8. The second is curious; one side of it being a note from PETER CARSELEGH, one of the Stewards, directing his man Robert, about alterations and repairs to be done in his house, dated from “Cory, die nominis Jesu.” The names of Hody, Carselegh, Gilbert, Bowreman, written on the corners of the pages through the greater part of this volume, are those of the Stewards, as may be seen in the headings of the several years.

On the first page is the following old nnte—“Md to speke to Mr Bowreman [the last Steward named in this book] to sarche this boocke for the copie of Will'm Poocke of Nestehatche boughte to him self and to Will'm his sonne.”

No. 1155.

A folio MS. on paper, written in the XVIth century, chiefly by one Italian hand; but pp. 85—109, 345—355, are by other hands, and pp. 164—219, 339—345, are written in a small French secretary hand. On the last fly-leaf at the beginning is the autograph of “Guiliel. Griffith.”

“D. ANDREE ALCIATI Med. Jur. ad tit. De verb. oblig. lib. xlv. Pand. Comment. Προλεγόμενα. Stipulatio est verborum conceptio qua ad rogatum daturus facturusve nos congrue respondemus.” pp. 1—366.

This title is in large capital letters at the beginning of the work; and over the text at pp. 116, &c. is inscribed the following running title, “D. ANDR. ALCIAT. IVRISCONS. MEDIO-LANENS. COMMENT. IN TIT. DE VERB. OBLIGAT.” From the correction of some parts by the principal hand, but in a different ink, it may be worthy of consideration whether this MS. have not belonged to its eminent author. The last title is “Ad L. Stipulatus sum Damam. 104.” (p. 365), and the last page ends thus, with the appearance of having lost the following leaf:—“Quod si pecuniam debeat questio magis ambigua est utrum necessariam obnationem seu depositionem esse l. acceptam Cod. de Usur. Ubi pet. de bell. pert.” The five last words are added with different ink.

These lectures were delivered at Avignon, and are published in the fourth tome of the author's Works on Civil Law, (ed. Basil. 1546, fol. “G. 1. 14 Th. Seld.” in the Bodleian,) where the first words of this MS. may be found at p. 16.

No. 1156.

A folio volume in coarse old parchment covers with a flap, containing 194 leaves of paper, for the most part vacant: the MS. was chiefly written by ASHMOLE while he was an apprentice at law, and some entries seem to have been made by other hands. Ff. 1^b—3 are much scribbled on, as also the linings of the right-hand cover, where the name of Guil. Garnett is many times written.

A book of Precedents, containing copies of many Indentures and other Deeds, Writs, etc. of the time of James I., Charles I., and the Protectorate. (pp. 97.) ff. 13—61^b.

The other contents of this volume are—

1. “A Journall of all such more memorable passages as happens from the feast of St. Michael there beginninge 1637.” 103^b.
Only a short account of the expedition against Algiers, from 28 Mar. to 18 Oct., written by ASHMOLE.
2. Petition of Will. Latham to Sir Rob. Naunton, for the concealed wardship of land in Blakeley in Lancashire, belonging to the heir of John Pendleton: with the answer. (12 Apr. 1628.) 147^a.
3. Indenture between Arthur Rawehmell and Peter Beauvorie, of London, about the payment of a bond. (30 Nov. 1627.) 157^a.
4. Deed of sale of the manor of Pudlicott in Oxfordshire, from George Beckenham of the same, to his cousin Richard Beckenham of Exeter: undated. 169^b—70.

5. Form of the deed of "An annite for 10th by yeare granted for terme of life." 171.
6. Charta Guil. Kinge, qua mess. de Bosden in com. Ebor. Ultrido Hodgkinson concessit. (10 Maij 1622.) 171^{ab}.
7. Michaelis Doughty de Thornehill in com. Lanc. charta de eodem tenemento, Leonardo Haugton de Whitewell in com. Ebor. concessio: cum nota de seisina. 172^{ab}.
8. "A bill of sale" of a diamond-ring for 100l. from Robert Earl of Sussex, to Geo. Mynne of Lincoln's Inn, esq.: not dated. 180^a.
9. Copies of several Writs. 194^b.

On the fourth and fifth leaves of this volume are fixed four small papers, containing documents or law forms, and a Writ under the Protectorate written on a slip of parchment, but not sealed.

At the end are inserted 28 leaves, some of which were found within the cover of No. 1159 (see the note thereon): they are foliated by Ashmole to number '23,' and contain—

- (1.) "Articles against Cardinall Wolsey," subscribed by Sir Thomas More and others. ff. 1—7.

Written by Ashmole's first Wife (compare No. 749, vi.), except the two last half pages, which, as well as all the rest of these papers, were written by himself.

- (2.) Chapters 30—36 of Sir EDW. COKE's treatise on Courts of Judicature. 7—28^b.
- (3.) Additions to f. 16^b and f. 109 of the same manuscript treatise. 25—6, 27; 28^{ab}.

No. 1157.

A thin folio volume neatly bound in black leather with clasps, containing 7 leaves and 132 pages of paper with ruled margins, also 7 leaves of other paper (pp. *133—146) and 9 leaves printed from engraved plates, beside fly-leaves. The MS. is very fairly (though sometimes inaccurately) written, in secretary hand of the time of Charles I.

- f. A collection of Records and other Documents, antient and modern, relating to the Privileges and Jurisdiction of the Duchy of Lancaster. pp. 1, 2*, 5—128.

* The "Kalendarium hujus libri" prefixed, is an imperfect list of the contents, which is printed in the general Catalogue of MSS. (1697, fol.) p. 344, No. 7864: a particular account of them here follows. A transcript of great part of this MS. is in No. 1503, iii.

1. "Carta Regis EDWARDI Quarti, repetens cartam Edwardi Tertij de confirmatione separationis Ducatus nostri Lancastriæ a corona, autoritate Parlamenti anno 1376." (4 Nov. anno 1, 1461.) p. 5—31.

This patent of insperimus includes an other of Henry IV. dated 4 Oct. anno 1 (pp. 5—30), in which are recited charters of—

- (1.) Edward III. 28 Feb. an. 5, p. 5.
- (2.) Richard II. 16 Feb. an. 13, p. 7.
- (3.) Richard II. 14 Sept. an. 1, (pp. 10—15) reciting—
Edward III. 12 May, an. 36, p. 10.
14 July, an. 38, p. 12.
- (4.) Richard II. 29 June, an. 20, (pp. 15—28) reciting—
Charter indented between Edward III. and John Duke of Lanc. (25 June, an. 46.) p. 16.
Pat. of Edward III. 4 June, an. 51, p. 19—24.

These are somewhat confused in the MS.; the dates in figures are wrong, and the beginning of the charter of Edw. IV. is prefixed to his confirmation at the close. Pp. 22—3 are blank.

2. "Statutum Parlamenti anno tertio Henrici Quinti, sigillum Ducatus Lanc. tangens. 1415." 31.
3. "Proviso fact' a^o. 1^o. Hen. 7. tangens libertates concessas tenentibus in Duc' Lancastr." 33.

This title is taken from the 'Kalendarium.'

4. "A Statute made in anno xxij^o R' Edwardi iij^{ti} for the wardes and releifes of the tenantes of the Dutchie of Lancaster." 33.
5. "A Statute for inclosing of woodes, in anno vicesimo secundo regis Edwardi quarti." 36.
6. "A Statute made for the Kinges houshold," (etc.) eodem anno, 1482. p. 36.
7. "A Statute made in anno [etc. eodem] howe noe persoun shall have any game or marke of swannes, but if hee have freehold fyve markes by the yere." 40.
8. "Quod Princeps Angliæ appelletur per nomen Ducis Lancastriæ. Anno 2^o. Hen: 4." 41.

An extract from the Parliament Roll, in French, thus intitled in the 'Kalendarium.'

9. "A feofmte made by Kinge Edward the Fourthe, of certaine landes and tenementes of the Dutchie of Lancaster, by auctoritie of Parliament, for the performance of his last will, anno duodecimo regni sui." 41.
10. "Actus incorporacionis nec non confiscacionis inter alia ad coronam Angliæ imperpetuum de Ducatu Lancastriæ, in Parlamento domini R' Edwardi Quarti, quarto die Novembris anno regni sui primo apud Westm^r tento editus." 47.

11. "De unione jurium et possessionum Comitiss Hereff' Essex' et North' Ducatui Lanc. a^o. 2^o. Hen. 5. per Parliamentum." 49.

In French, with a long patent in Latin; thus intitled in the 'Kalendarium.' The whole is printed in the Rot. Parl. IV. 46—49.

12. "Particio hereditatis Comitiss Hereff' facta per Henricum nuper Regem Angliæ Quintum, et Ducatui Lanc' unitæ et annexæ." 58.

Beg. Fait a remembr' que lonorable dame, dame Ann[e] Countesse de Stafford. It recites her petition to Parliament, 1 Hen. VI. (Rotuli Parl. IV. 176—7), and seems to be the ordinance thereupon directed to be made by the King's Council, of which there is no notice in the Proceedings of the Privy Council, published by the Record Commission.

13. A book of Oaths to be administered to the Officers of the Duchy, and standing Orders for the regulation of their duty. Containing—
"The copie of the othe of the Attorney of the Dutchie of Lancaster." 65.

- "The oathe of everie persoun that shalbe sworne to be of the Councell of the said Duchie." 65.
- "The oath of the Clarke of the Councell of the said Dutchie, and all other Officers serving the same." 67.

- "Whoe soe houldethe of the Kinge by knightes service of his Dutchie of Lanc' shall make his homage in maner followinge." 67.

- "The oath of for ever [read foreign] officers, and other persons to be sworne." 68.

- Directions for the "Chauncellor." 69.

- "The oathe of all Accomptantes." 70.

Orders for the "Attorneyes." 70.
 "Stewards." 71.
 "Chamberlaine." 76.
 "Receivors." 77.
 "Feodaries and Balliffs of franchises." 79.

Orders for the "Auditors." 81.
 "Generall articles." 85.

14. "Here followeth appoyntm^{tes} necessarie, of the good and polliticke rule of the County Palatyne of Lancaster," for the holding of sessions and assizes. 86.

*15. "Ducatus Lancastrie. The definition of the word Lancaster, and when it came firste to be [a] county:" being a short tract on the origin and continuance of this Duchy, addressed "To the righte honorable; Sr Thomas Heneage, knight, Vice-chamberlaine of her Mat^{ie}: etc." 87, 89—102.

The epistle is dated "from the Serjeantes Inn in Fleetstreet, May 16" 1596; and states that it was written at the request of Sir Francis Walsingham, late Chancellor of the Duchy, a year and a half before: it mentions "a verie greate Societe [of Antiquaries] sprung upp, the President" whereof was John [Whitgift] Archbishop of Canterbury, and says that Archbishop Parker was its founder. The tract is dated anno 32 Eliz. at the end.

16. "A declaracōn of the remembrances delivered to Sr Ambrose Cave, K^t, sometymes Chancellor of the Dutchie of Lancaster, for the better answeringe of the Queens Mat^{es} renewes and debtes, and for certaine orders to be taken amongste the officers and ministers of the courte." 103.

17. "A declaracōn of all the Officers and their feēs, w^{ch} are to be attendante upon the Courtes of the Dutchie of Lancaster." 106.

18. "An estimate of the revenues of the Dutchie of Lancaster, collected by the particuler Receiv^{rs} of the Honors belonginge to the said Dutchie, and yeerely paid by the Receiv^r Generall." 107.

19. "A declaracōn of all the Forrestes Chaces and Parkes, out of w^{ch} the Chancellor, Attorney Generall, Receiv^r, and the two Audit^{rs} are to have deere, winter and summer." 109.

Same as No. 1148, ix. art. 10.

20. "A declaracōn of all the Stewards, Balliffes, Cunstables, Masters of Forrestes, Recev^{rs}, Audit^{rs}, and Escheato^{rs} etc. wth in the circuite of North-Wales, of the Dutchie of Lancaster; and all the fees incidente and belonginge unto everie of them." 111.

21. "A note of all the benefices and spirituall livings belonginge to the Dutchie of Lancaster:" in various counties, with their yearly values. 126—8.

On p. 131 is written this note, in the manner of a title:—"The valuacōn of some parsonages and vicaridges wth in the Dutchie appeareth not in the recordes remayninge in the Dutchie Office, but maie be lerned in the Office of Firste Fruits, where the same are best knownen."

II. Arms and Pedigrees (written narratively) of five Lancashire families, namely—Barlow, Scarsbreck, Prestwiche, Mollineux, and Starky. *133—7.

Seemingly taken from the Visitation of 1567. Eight other pages were ruled for other pedigrees, the arms of which are tricked with pencil at the top. The handwriting of this part of the volume is different from the foregoing MS.

III. "Armes in Cheshire after the maner of the alphabet." 147^a—163^a.

These nine leaves are impressions of the plates which form pages 100, 104—111, of King's 'Vale Royal of England' (1656, fol.); the second third and fourth of the series are wanting. They are inscribed (in Latin) to Peter Venables, Baron of Kinderton, who caused them to be engraved at his own costs.

No. 1158.

A folio MS. consisting of 71 leaves of paper (whereof 3^a, 21^b, 24^b, 48^b, and the last 5 pages are blank) fairly written by ASHMOLÉ, with wide margins, uniformly with No. 1141, i.

"A Journall of the Proceedings of the high Court of Justice, erected by Act of the Commons of England, intituled An Act of the Commons of England assembled in Parliament, for [the] erecting of a high Court of Justice for the trying and judging of Charles Steward King of England, the tenor whereof followeth, vizt." etc. ff. 1—69.

A small paper is fixed on f. 2^b at the end of the names of the Commissioners, headed—"Names of such as are in the Comiss: that is printed 1684, but omitted in this catalogue." At f. 65 it is noted in the margin that "This sitting is omitted by Dr. Nalson," namely that next after the sentence.

No. 1159.

A closely written MS. in large quarto, in a thin parchment cover fastened with thongs, consisting of a whole alphabet of 12 leaves each, to the number of 279 numbered leaves (the two first of which are lost, and the 7 last pages are blank), and 8 leaves at the beginning now separately paged, on one of which is written this note:—

"I made the following transcript from the original manuscript, in the yeare 1640 it being then in the handles of the right hoble; the Lord Keeper Finch, Baron of Fordwich. E. ASHMOLÉ." p. 11.

A large Treatise on all Courts of Judicature in England, in eighty chapters, by Sir EDWARD COKE, Lord Chief Justice; being considerably different from the fourth part of his Institutes: with "The Table" of contents prefixed. pp. 13—16, ff. 276.

Ff. 1—2, being the inmost sheet of 'A,' are lost, and therefore only the last leaf of the Preface is preserved. The latter parts of the 8th, 11th, and 35th chapters, are referred to respectively as in 'the printed booke;' and the 12th, 30th, 31st, 33rd, 34th and 36th chapters are omitted, being the same as in the printed copy: thus ff. 90^b—5^b, 108—9, 142—151, 152—3^b, 156^b—167^b, are left vacant. Copies of these omitted chapters, written by Ashmole on folio paper, were lately found in loose sheets doubled up, partly within the cover of this volume, and partly elsewhere: they are now fixed at the end of No. 1156, and are there described.

No. 1160.

A roll consisting of three membranes of vellum, forming two parts, written by three different hands in the XVth century: the second membrane belonging to the former part, is the smallest.

I. r. Article* "agreid and acordid be twene the most highe and myghty prynce Kynge HENRY the Sixthe Kynge of England and of Fraunce and Lord of Irland, on that on party, and the righte highe and mighty prynce RICHARD PLANTAGENET Duc of York, on that other party, upon certayne matiers of variauncez movid be twene them, and in especialle upone the clayme and title unto the crownes of England and of Fraunce and roialle power estate and dignite apperteynyng to the same and lordshippe of Irland, opened shewid and declared by the seide Duc a fore alle the Lordes spu'alle and temporalle beyng in this present Parlement, the seide agreement appoyntment and accorde to be auctorised by the same Parlement." m. 1^a, 2^a.

* The first words are—"Blessid be ih'u in whoos hande and bonnte restithe and is in, the pees and unite be twix Prynces, and the rule † of every Reame; thorough whoos direccioun it is" etc. (as above). The last words are—be prejudised or hurte by this present acte. The whole is printed in the Rotuli Parl. V. 378^a—9^b. That which is written on the back of this part of the roll, begins at the foot of the second membrane; it is by a different hand, but strictly contemporary.

*2. Letters missive, of "The Duc of CLARANCE, tharchebishope of YORKE, and Therle of WARWYK," "Wretyn undre oure signettis and signe manuelle, the xijth day of Juylle A^o. 1469." announcing that they should be at Canterbury on the next sunday, to go to the King; summoning attendants; and sending the following—

*Articles against "the disceyvable covetous rule and gydyng of certeyne ceducious persones, that is to say, the Lorde Ryvers, the Duchesse of Bedforde his wyf, s' William Herbert Erle of Penbroke, Humfrey S[t]afforde Erle of Devenshire, the Lordis Sealis and Audeley, s' Johne Wydevile and his bretherne, s' Johne Fogge, and other of theyre myschevous rule opinion and assent." m. 2^b, 1^b.

These important documents appear to be inedited.

II. Exemplaria et transcripta Brevium quorundam Regis HENRICI VI., scilicet—

- 1—5. "Ne exeat regnum, parti.—Aliter.—De securitate capiendi ne exeat regnum.—Supersedeas inde.—De securitate inde mittenda in Canc." m. 3^a.
- 6—7. "De appellatione in Curia Admirallitatis discutienda audienda.—Aliter" inter Johannem Boef et Will. Mays.
8. "De inquirendo de forstallatoribus et regratoribus."
9. Ad H. Archiepiscopum Cantuar. "De Convocacione facienda" in ecclesia S. Pauli Londini, in crastino S. Leonardi. (1 Oct. 12 H. VI.) Non apud Wilkins.
10. Præmunire facias: ad Vic. Ebor. pro J. de B. præbendario de Masham in eccl. cath. Ebor. de decimis præbendæ suæ detentis per Rob. Burley abbatem de Fontibus, colore bullæ papalis ordinis Cisterc. concessæ. m. 3^b.

† Rot. Parl. welc.

11. "Aliter" pro H. Heyworth persona ecclesiæ de Blake-done, contra Willielmum abbatem S. Mariæ de Gracijs juxta Turrim London.
12. Ad comitatus et civitates Angliæ, quod solvantur expensæ Militum et Burgensium qui Parlamento aderant apud Westm. 15 Maij ult. convocato. (9 Junij, anno 1.)

No. 1161.

A thin quarto MS., written in the time of James I. or Charles I., on 41 leaves of paper, (beside two at the end that are vacant,) which are much stained, and the two first are partly rotten.

A treatise explaining and discoursing on old Words and Terms used in the Common Law and English Antiquities; arranged in alphabetical order. ff. 1—41^b.

The first words are Abbas, Advent, and Afferours; the last White-hart-silver, Wreck, and Yoman: to which (after 'Finis') is added a page on the word Parliament. Camden and Coke (among others) are quoted in this book.

No. 1162.

A tall and narrow folio MS. consisting of 16 sheets opened and then folded lengthwise: it is unbound; and is kept doubled across the middle, in a parchment cover of the same size as the foregoing MS. The first leaf is blank and unnumbered.

Analysis of the royal grants passed by Letters Patent, in the first and second years of JAMES I. showing the yearly value of each grant; under the following titles:—

1. "Offyces graunted in possession" from 17 May 1603, to 24 July 1604. ff. 1—7^b.
2. "Offices in revercōn" from 11 May 1603, to 16 July 1604. f. 9—12^b.
3. "Fee simple" from 16 May 1603, to 23 July 1604. f. 18^a, 13—17^b.
4. "Fee farmes" from 6 May 1603, to 27 July 1604. f. 18^b—21^b.
5. "Leases in possession" from 23 May 1603, to 11 July 1604. f. 23—5.
6. "Leases in revercōn" dated 30 June, 26 July, and 30 July, 1600. f. 25^b.
7. Releases, from ... to 21 July 1604. f. 26^a.

The greater part of this leaf has been torn off.

8. Annuities, from ... to 14 July 1604. f. 26^b—7^b.
9. Money and goods, from 26 Nov. 1603, to 24 July 1604. f. 28^b.
10. "Lycenses" from 8 Sept. to 17 July. f. 29^{ab}.
11. Commissions, 9 Feb. (and earlier) to 24 July 1604. f. 30^a.
12. Two Warrants, dated 31 May and 25 June. 31^a.

This book, probably compiled by the Clerk Comptroller of the Hanaper, contains a short docket of each grant, with the date in the margin on the left hand, and the yearly value in money on the right. On the last leaf is stuck a paper written by a different old hand, containing a note of a pension out of the tithes of Thenford, granted unto Brazen-nose College.

No. 1163.

A long parchment roll, consisting of six membranes, largely written in a common hand of the time.

1. "The Ren[t]roll off the Y^rears Chorall of the Cath[ed]rall Church of Lych^{*} in the tyme of the collectyone of JOHNE WALL late beyng Baylyff in the thyrde yeare of the raynge of Elyzabeth by the grace of God of England Fraunce and Yrelande Quene, defender of the fayth &c' and in the yeare of o^r Lorde .1561. & 1566."

* Lichfield. The figures '& 1566' were added by an other hand: it is a mistake for 1556, if it refer to the following article.

On the back of the two last membranes, beginning at the foot of the roll, is written, in running court-hand, a copy of—

2. "Rentale Hospitalis sancti Johannis in Lych^{*} 3 et 4 Philippi et Marie." A. D. 1556-7.

No. 1164.

One leaf of parchment of the folio size, formerly rolled up with the next roll, but now fixed in the large portfolio No. 1763, (F.) f. 40. It has not had seals affixed, and therefore is not an original, but a contemporary transcript.

Inquisitio capta apud Newport-Paynell, 6 Junii, 5 Edw. IV. (1465,) coram Joh. Hulecote, Escatore, virtute brevis, post mortem JOHANNIS TERYNGHAM arm. qui tenuit maneria de Teryng-ham, Fylgrave, et Emberton, cum aliis terris et tenementis in com. Buck.; cujus filius et hæres fuit Johannes Teryngham^{*}, ætatis 30 annorum et amplius.

* Indorsed thus by him—"Inquisicio A^o v E. iijti. post mortem Julii patris mei."

No. 1165.

A roll consisting of 6½ sheets of paper, the first of which is half torn away: it contains a widely written and contemporary copy of—

Inquisitio capta post mortem THOMÆ TIRYNGHAM arm., qui tenuit maneria^{*} terras et tenementa diversa in com. Buck., ac obiit 28 Sept. ult.; cujus filius et hæres fuit Robertus Tiryngham, † ætatis 15 annorum et amplius: in qua multa habentur de feoffatis, testamento, et pro-priquis ejus.

* The same as in the foregoing inquest: he held also lands in Great Lynford, which manor came to the Napiers, who were connected by marriage with this family; and thus probably these documents were given to Ashmole by his friend Thomas Napier. The date of this inquest is lost; it seems to be of the time of Henry VIII.

† See No. 1763, (F.) art. 2.

No. 1166.

A roll consisting of 3½ sheets of paper, very neatly written about the time of Henry VII.

Articles exhibited by the POOR KNIGHTS of WINDSOR, impugning the 'Declaration' of the Canons; stating their various misappropriations of the revenues of the College, and seeking redress from their intolerable oppression.

It seems to want the preamble, and thus begins—The said chanons embesill and withdrawe yerely a last of heryng: the last words are—And this for the love of God and in way of charite. These articles seem to have been addressed to the Privy Council; they are very curious, and earlier than the rolls No. 29 and 30. See also No. 1124, ii. art. 10, and No. 1125, i. art. 16; also Ashmole's Institution, p. 160.

No. 1167.

A large vellum roll, consisting of 6 membranes tacked together at the head with a thong of parchment, after the Exchequer fashion; all fairly written and ingrossed on both sides, except the last, which is longer than the rest, and forms a wrapper.

"Libera Capella Regia sancti Georgij infra Castrum suum de Windsor in Comitatu Berk: Computus Magistri Joh^{is} KINGE Seneschalli ac Receptoris Generalis omnium et singulorum dominiorum, maneriorum, rectoriarum, terrarum, possessionum, ac hereditamentorum quorumcumque, predictæ libere Capelle ab antiquo pertinentium sive spectantium, computan' a festo sancti Mathei apostoli et evangeliste, anno regni domine nostre Elizabeth Dei gratia Anglie Francie et Hibernie Regine fidei defensoris etc' Tricesimo octavo, usque ad idem festum sancti Mathei apostoli et evangeliste anno regni predictæ domine Regine Elizabeth Tricesimo nono. Scilicet per unum annum integrum prout hic inferius patet.*"

* From 21 Sept. 1596, to 21 Sept. 1597. The Steward's quietus is certified "Per auditores ROBERTUM BENNETT Decanum, PAULUM FRENCHÉ, W^m WILSON," by their signatures at the end.

No. 1216.

A thick volume, in small quarto, printed in black letter, being an edition of the Latin Vulgate Bible, curious (among other things) for having a mistake, in the imprint, of '1019' for '1519.' The following is a copy of the colophon.

"Explicit biblia diligentissime emendata: cum concordantiis non solum ejusdem: sed et juris canonici: summaris omnium capitum divisionibus: quattuor repertoriis prepositis: numerique foliorum distinctione: una cum compendiolo totius biblie per rythmos descripto* cumque vera nominum Hebraicorum interpretatione e novo emendatorum Lugduni in officina Jacobi Mareschal. Anno Domini decimo nono supra millesimum. Decimoseptimo kalendas Novembris."

* This is a very curious appendix, occupying the last 15 leaves of the volume, thus intitled:—"Tota biblia compendiosissime per rythmos descripta hoc (quem cernis) libello habetur per magistrum FRANCISCUM GOTTHI, ordinis minorum, sacre theologie professorem. Ante sit lux producitur."

At the beginning is inserted a—

Note from THO: BIRSLY, presenting this book (to Ashmole?) and supposing it to be '635' years old in 1654, and to "challenge a venerable place among" his antiquities.

On six leaves of old paper preceding the title, are written the following short articles by a learned hand of the XVIth century.

1. Verba CHRYSOSTOMI, ad lectionem scripturarum hortantis: inc. Ακροατε ὅσοι εσε κοσμικοι. f. 1^a.
2. "Testimon: JOSEPHI de Christo Servatore, Antiquit: Juda: lib: 18. cap: 4. Erat autem." Ex Eusebio. 1.
3. "Exemplar epistolæ AGBARI ad Servatorem nostrum: ex Euseb. Hist. Eccles. lib: 1. cap: 13." Item "Exemplar literarum quas Servator Agbaro rescripserit." 1^b—2.
4. HERMETIS sententia, inc. Εν θρανω. 2^b.
5. BASILII sententia, Græce et Latine, Δει ἡμας. 2^b.
6. "Ecclesiæ Græcæ hymnus. Φως ἰλαρον." Latine quoque. 3.
7. De pietate, LACTANTII sententia, Græce et Lat. Φυλακη ευσεβων. 3^b.
8. "PLATO in 2. Politic. Κακων ἐε αιτιον." Græce et Lat. 3^b.
9. GREG. NAZIANZI epigramma, Αλλοιμεν χρυσον, (6 vv.) cum versione Latina. 4.
10. "De unione hypostatica, verba JUSTINI digna memoria;" item ATHANASII sententia; Græce et Latine. 4^b.

On a leaf at the end of the book, is the following article by the same hand.

11. "Catalogus annorum Pauli" apostoli, seu ejus vitæ chronologia. 7^{ab}.

No. 1276.

A very small but thick volume in 12mo, consisting of 212 leaves of vellum; beside a fly-leaf at each end, both which are fragments of a Rent-Roll of the time of Queen Elizabeth. The first 6 leaves are written in blue and red letters, and adorned with capitals of gold: the Statutes are written in a small law-text-hand of the time of Edward II., having the first page (13^a) illuminated, and all the capitals painted; and the tract (art. 3) is in a running law-hand of the time of Edward II. or III.

1. Calendarium ecclesiasticum. ff. 1—6^b.
2. STATUTORUM ANGLIÆ antiquorum collectio; cum præmissa tabula, sex* primorum capitula docente: (ff. 8—11^b, 13—15⁸.) scilicet—

* (Not including the Charter of the Forest, and the Sentence on the charters.)

"Magna Carta" Regis HENRICI III. a Rege EDUARDO I. confirmata. (28 Mar. anno 28.) f. 13.

"Explicit magna carta de libertatibus Anglie." 22^b.

"Sequitur Carta de libertatibus Foreste," eodem tempore ab EDUARDO I. confirmata. 22^b.

"Explicit carta de Foresta." 27^a.

"Sententia lata super cartas. Anno Domini Mo. CC^o. quinquagesimo tertio. *Idus Maij," per Episcopos Angliæ. 27.

* The word Tertio is omitted: see also the note on the other copy at f. 212. "Explicit sententia lata super cartas." 28^b.

"Incipiunt Provisiones de Mertone." (20 Hen. III.) 28^b.

"Incipiunt Provisiones de Marleberge." (1267.) 34.

"Incipiunt Statuta Westm' primi." (3 Edw. I.) 45.

"Incipit Statutum Westm' secundum." (6 Edw. I.) 65^b.

"Explicit statuta Westm' secundi." 103^b.

"Incipiunt districtiones Scaccarij." Gallice. 103^b.

"Sequitur Statutum de religiosis." 105.

mercatoribus." Gallice. 106.

A leaf seems to be wanting after f. 108^b, to complete this statute.

"Statutum de emptoribus terrarum." 109.

"Explicit statutum quia emptores terrarum." 109^b.

"Communes dies in Banco." 110^{ab}.

"Explicit communes dies in Banco. Incipit statut'.... (110^b.) The two following leaves are vacant, and the following part of the statutes is written somewhat smaller and closer. See the note on ff. 207, 212.

"Statuta Gloucestr." Gallice. 113.

"Explicit stat' Gloucestr." 118.

"Incipiunt Explanationes eorumdem. Postmodum per dominum Regem." (6 Edw. I.) 118.

"Incipit Assisa panis et cervisie." 119.

"Explicit assisa panis." 120^b.

"Sequitur de mensuris et ponderibus." 120^b.

"Explicit statutum de mensuris et ponderibus." 120^b.

"Incipit Statutum quia fines terrarum." (2 Apr. 7 Edw. I.) 121.

"Explicit statutum de finibus." 123^b.

"Incipit Statutum Wintonie." Gallice. (8 Oct. 13 Edw. I.) 123^b.

"Explicit statutum Wynton." 127^b.

"Incipit Statutum circumspecte agutis." 127^b.

"Explicit circumspecte agutis." 128^b. The colophons of the three next are like the titles.

"Incipit Statutum de Rageman." Gallice. 128^b.

———— Visus francij plegij." Gallice. 130.

———— Modus mensurandi terram." 131^b.

———— faciendi homagium." Gallice. 132.

———— fidelitatem." Gallice. 132^b.

———— Statutum de vasto facto in custodia." 133.

———— conjunctis ffeoffatis." (27

Maij, 34 Edw. I.) 134.

"Incipit Statutum de defensis juris." 137.

———— protectionibus." Gallice. (6 Nov. 34 Edw. I.) 138.

"Incipiunt Statuta de bygamis." (4 Edw. I.) 139.

"Incipit Statutum de conspiratoribus." Gallice. (20 Edw. I.) 141.

"Explicit statuta de conspir." 141^b.

"Incipiunt dies communes in placito dotis."

141^b.

"Incipit Statutum de regia prohibicione impetranda." (14 Edw. I.) 142.

"Incipiunt Articuli eorumdem." 143.

"Incipit Statutum de juratoribus et assisis." (21-2 Edw. I.) 144.

"Incipit Statutum de respectu milicie habendo." 145.

"Incipit Statutum Hibernie." 146.
 ——— de Foresta." (27 Maij, 34 Edw. I.) 147.

"Incipit Statutum de finibus et attornatis." (35 Edw. I.) 150^b.

"Incipit Statutum super vicecomites et clericos suos male retornantes brevia." (14 Feb. 26 Edw. I.) 151^b.

"Incipit Statutum Lincolnie." (29 Edw. I.) 153.
 ——— Modus calumpniandi essonia." 154^b.

"Incipiunt Expositiones Vocabulorum. Soka, hoc est secta de hominibus" etc. 155-8.

Post Averpeny—"Expliciunt expositiones vocabulorum:" eorum nempe, que in chartis regiis et legibus Anglie occurrunt.

The following article was added by a different hand, in the time of Edward III. or Richard II.

"Usag' de Kent. [F]ait asavoir que toutz les corps de Kent." 158^b-9.

The last words are—la partie serra entre femele come entre frerez.

Four of the eleven blank pages which followed, were written on in the XVIIth century, and contain—

Regulæ quædam juris communis, Gallice: inc. Si mon ancester. 159^b-161^b.

These Rules concern cases in which there may be obtained a recovery, in which a man must warrant, and in which a woman shall have appeal, and shall lose her dower; also concerning guardians, a woman's capability of inheritance according to her age, and the forfeiture of goods. 159^b-161^b.

3. Tractatus de forma placitandi in jure communi, Gallice: inc. Chescunc manere de trespas pust estre plede en deux maneres, nomement par brief ou par pleynte. 165-205^b.

The last words are (concerning the debts of orphans)—il ne li liverer ne voloit ne nul homme pur li eynz les detient et unqore fel atort etc.

After one blank leaf, are added three pairs of leaves, all vacant but the outermost, which is a fragment of an other small MS. of the Statutes, written and embellished in the same character and by the same hand as the latter part of them in this volume. The second of these two leaves ought to be first: they contain—

(1.) "Sententia lata super cartas." 212^{ab}, 207^a.

"Explicit sententia super cartas." This copy differs from that at f. 27, by reading quarto in the date of the year. But the copy printed in the authentic edition of the Statutes of the Realm (l. 6-7), from the Red Book of the Exchequer, and that in the new edition of the Fœdera (l. 289), from an original instrument in Wells Cathedral, are dated 3 id. Maij, 1253.

(2.) "Incipit Statutum de vocatis ad warantum." (20 Edw. I.) 207^{ab}.

The latter article is not contained elsewhere in this volume. The second page of these two leaves (212^b) is almost illegible.

No. 1277.

This MS. was fairly written, on 18 leaves of paper, in the time of James I. or Charles I.; and forms, with the two following numbers, one thin quarto volume.

"A comfortable Meditation drawn from the assurance of God's mercy. Doe thie synnes represent them selves in most fearfull manner unto thee, as the giant Goliathe did in complett harnes?" ff. 1-18^a.

No. 1278.

Under this number are contained (in the same volume as the foregoing MS.) two thin MSS. closely written on paper, in the time of James I. The former consists of 8 leaves (the wrapper whereof is the two vacant leaves ff. 1, 10), and the latter of 15 leaves, the 13th of which (f. 23) is almost all torn out: this is more neatly written than the other.

I. 1. "A moderate examination of sundry controversies in religion; tending to reconciliation and pacification of Papists and Protestants." ff. 2-9.

2. Verses intitled "The counsel of a charitable Catholick. Why for opinions interkill we thus?" (42 l.) 9^b.

II. 1. A Sermon on this text—"Surge qui dormis, et exurge a mortuis, et illuminabit te Christus." (Ephes. v. 14.) with a Prayer at the end. 11-23^a.

2. Parodia carminis Goliardi, ecclesie catholice dissidium per Reformatores factum, deflens: inc. Cur mundus militat? cur secte seviunt? (14 tetrastichis.) 24^{ab}.

* The verses of Walter Mapes 'De contemptu mundi,' which are extant in the Cottonian MS. Titus A. XX. f. 68, and elsewhere. Vide Leyseri Hist. Poet. p. 786.

"Planetarum facies" etc. Tabula astrologica. 25^a.

This last leaf is not by the same hand as either of the foregoing MSS.

No. 1279.

The first of the two quarto MSS. now under this number, was formerly marked '1278. c' (the two others under that number being marked a and b): the second is smaller, and its two parts have been transposed by the binder.

I. A discourse against a Roman Catholic 'challengedger*,' defending the sixth article of the Church of England, which renounceth doctrines not grounded on the holy scriptures; by RICHARD NAPIER, Rector of Linford. ff. 2-15^b.

* An "author, a principall favourite of the church of Rome."

II. Eiusdem RICARDI NAPERI "Tractatus de processione Spiritus Sancti; in quo reexaminiantur responsiones Authoris valde peracutæ, ad ea omnia quæ proferuntur a scholasticis et pontificijs, ex scripturis, concilijs, patribus, tam Græcis quam Latinis: in quo tandem ostenditur, quid sentiendum sit de controversia ista famosissima inter Græcos et Latinos." ff. 29—37^b, 17—28^b.

Both these MSS. are closely and badly written, being the author's draught: they show that he was not less versed in theology than he was in medicine.

No. 1280.

A MS. of the XIIIth century, consisting of 194 leaves of vellum, in very small quarto, or square octavo. It may be divided into seven distinct parts, whereof the third is most fairly written: they are all in a neat text-hand, and in columns; except the fourth, which is more inclined to the cursive character, and, with the fifth and the latter part of the sixth, is in long lines. It hath some painted letters, but no rubrics, and very few titles: it is discolored at both ends, and mutilated at the beginning.

I. Dialogus inter Magistrum et Discipulum, de animarum statu post mortem, de antichristo, resurrectione, iudicio extremo, et felicitate cœlesti. ff. 1—10^d.

The first words of this imperfect copy are—et hii qui in tenebris sunt revelamini. It ends thus—ne ad gaudia eeli pervenerint.

II. 1. Tractatus de sacramento altaris, seu septem 'ordinibus' missæ celebrandæ: inc. In virtute sancte crucis et in sacramento altaris magna est efficacia. 11—17^d.

The last words are—Qui ergo in tempore peregrinationis. With which are immediately connected (to fill up the page)—

2. Excerpta theologica et moralia, partim ex ISIDORO, et verborum quorundam explicationes: inc. Nota septem sunt gradus sapientie etc. 17^d—18^d.

III. 1. Symbolum apostolicum Latine; cum paraphrasi ejusdem in homilia brevi, Gallice scripta, quæ inc. Nus creans la sainte trinite. 19.

2. Oratione Dominica, simili more explicata, Gallice. 19^d.

3. Homilia Gallica, inc. Ore dirrurs la primerc peticiun que nus requiruns a Deu quant nus diuns la pater noster. 20^b.

4—9. Sex aliæ homiliæ, de petitionibus in Oratione Dominica comprehensis, Gallicè. 21.

The last words are—Veraiment nus deliveres de mal. libera nos a malo. Pater da nobis bonum anime. bonum corporis in hoc seculo. bonum in futuro. bonum quoad est iusticia. bonum quod est gloria. 22^c.

10. Homilia pia super Oratione Dominica, inc. Ecce karissimè singuli[s] fere diebus clerus et populus. viri et mulieres set precipue diebus sollempnitatibus congregati ad basilicas. 22^c.

Desinit sic—committatur furor in eterne dilectionis. (imperfecte?) 26^c.

11. Catechismus, seu dialogus de Symbolo apostolico: inc. Credo in Deum. quo nomine vocatur hec doctrina apostolica? Symbolum. 26^c.

Des. Amen. Hebreus sermo est. Latine dicitur vere. fideliter sive fiat. 29^a.

12. Homilia de triplici Christi adventu, super illud—Benedictus qui venit in nomine Domini. 29.

Des. ut semper parati simus contra adventum ejus. 29^c.

13. Homilia super illud—Confitemini Domino quoniam bonus; quasi catena sententiarum ex Augustino, Gregorio, et Hieronymo, selectarum. 29^c.

Des. utrique parti questionis probati favent doctores. 32^c.

14. Homilia super illud—Tu mandasti mandata tua custodiri nimis. 33.

Des.—Hos [octo] gradus lingue ad vitam pertinentes, vel alios [octo] supra dictos ad mortem pertinentes eligit, electos firmiter tenete.

15—23. Excerpta e Patrum quodam (quasi homiliæ brevissimæ) de sacerdotum officiis et moribus: inc. In quadam omelia ait Si aliqua dedicatio vel festivitas nuntiata esset, omnes accurremus, omnes festinaremus—Ecce festivitas celestis curie. 37^c, 39^c, 40, 42, 42^b, 42^c, 43^a bis, 43^c.

24. "Ex dictis beati AUGUSTINI, que sunt virtutes Psalmorum et quam utilitatem conferant. Canticum psalmorum animas decorat" etc. 47.

25. "Ex dictis beati IERONIMI quod in Psalmi[s] reperiri possint decreta novi et veteris testamenti. Si te volueris." 47^c.

26. Excerpta varia, theologica et pia. 47^d—9^a.

Crammed together so closely that it was difficult to find that the first words are—De relinquendis temporalibus bonis. In one Latin passage is this couplet of antient English:—

Over al ich finde tho be sori:
Over al ich finde mi lef blodri.

27—73. Homiliæ super Evangeliorum Lectiones per totum annum, Gallice: quarum prima sic inc. Postquam completi sunt dies octo ut circumcideretur puer, vocatum est nomen ejus Jesus. Seignurs cist jour de hui est le premier jor de an. qui est apcle an renof. 49^a—100^d.

The text of the last is one of the church-prayers, heg. thus—Adesto Deus unus Pater Filius et Spiritus sanctus. Bones [100^c] gens nus fesos hui lu feste del per et del fiz et del saint esprit. It ends imperfectly thus—et dunt il regarda sainte Marie; the other leaf or leaves being lost.

IV. Acta 'Synodi' cujusdam, in qua constitutiones quedam de sacramentis factæ sunt, post Concilium Lateranense: inc. In Malachia legitur. Et purgabit Dominus filios Levi. Tempus est etenim ut a domo Domini iudicium incipiatur. 101—5^b.

Thus headed, by a hand of the XVth century,—"De constitutionibus vij. sacramentorum ecclesie". It ends imperfectly at the foot of the tenth page (in the paragraph beginning In confessione habeat) thus—Invisitata autem: non nisi a longe et per circumstanti. . . . This article does not appear to be contained in Spelman or Wilkins; and probably the synod was foreign.

V. Narratiunculæ quædam legendariæ, historica quædam, et theologica: scilicet—

1. De milite adultero cujus crimen, post pœnitentiam, a dæmoniaco fuit oblitum: inc. Comes quidam suspectum habuit militem. 106.
2. De eo qui homagium fecerat diabolo. ib.
3. De clerico qui peccata sua in scriptis confessori tradidit. ib.
4. De causidico improbo. ib.
5. De milite Hispano, cujus nepos a cornicibus necatus est. ib.
6. De paupere ingrato quem rex summis honoribus affecerat. 106^b.
7. De Baldwino Archiepiscopo Cantuar. ib.
8. De celebrante missam, qui vidit diabolum vaniloquia populi scribentem. 107.
9. "De sita Jerusalem. Ab oriente est introitus Jer'lm per portam David." 107^{ab}.
10. "De .xv^{im}, signis ante diem judicij. *Rer' autem in unalibus Hebreorum invenit." 107^b.
* Leg. Jer', i. e. Hieronymus.
11. "De .iiij^{or}. Christi vestium depositionibus." 108.
12. "Quociens fusus est sanguis Christi." 108.
13. De quatuor excubiis in castris. 108^b.
14. De voce Osanna, et de templo Hierosolymæ quod Bethel dicitur. 108^b—9.
15. "De .1^a. vocatione discipulorum." 109.
16. "De .iiij^a. vocatione discipulorum." 109^b.
17. "De electione .xii. apostolorum," et de Christi consanguineis. 109^b—110.
18. De rege Abgaro. 110.
19. "De conceptione precursoris," sc. Johannis Baptistæ. 110.
20. "De conceptione Salvatoris." 110^b.
21. "De ortu præcursoris," et de canticis Zachariæ et Mariæ, quæ a stantibus cantantur. 110^b.

VI. 1. "Constitutiones domini OCTOBONI legati, facte in concilio London. a^o Domini M^o. cc^o. lx^o. vij^o. Octobonus miscratione divina sancti Adriani diaconus cardinalis." 111—130^b.

Ending thus—"restitua cultui christiano. Amen. Explicunt nove constitutiones." These words are the end of the 35th chapter in No. 1146, art. 7, f. 38^b; it is preceded by chapters 28, 34, and 36; and the intermediate and concluding chapters are omitted.

*2. "Articuli domini OCTOBONI legati. Queratur si forma baptismi a sacerdotibus observetur." 130^b—1^b.

These articles are not printed in Spelman and Wilkins; nor are they given in the latest collections of Councils, as that of Cardinal Passioneus (Venice, 1779, fol.), wherein the foregoing Constitutions are printed in tom. XXIII. col. 1213—58. (Bodl. 2. 4.)

3. Homilia "De purificatione sancte Marie. [P]ostquam impleti sunt dies purgationis." 131^b.
4. Homilia "A diabolo quomodo Deus temptatur. [A]udistis fratres karissimi quod in lectione sancti evangelij." 133^d.

5. ALCUINI Libellus Manualis* de virtutibus et vitiis: "Incipit capitulum de sapiencia. [P]rimo omnium querendum est homini Que sit vera sapientia. veraque sciencia. 134^d—150.

* The last chapter (which is the 38th, though they are not numbered, but have marginal titles to direct the rubricator) begins thus:—"Hec tibi fili dilectissime brevi sermone sicut petisti dictavi, ut habeas ea cotidie quasi manuale in conspectu libellum, in quo possis te ipsum considerare, quid cavere vel agere debeas." (149^d.) The last words are these at the top of the next page—meritum boni operis perpetua coronabitur gloria. Compare the more complete copy in No. 1281, art. 12.

6. Libellus de ordine missæ celebrandæ: inc. Missa dicitur ab emittendo. Tempore enim quo sacerdos incipit consecrare corpus dominicum, dicendum est a diacono post evangelium videlicet, si quis cathecuminus est: procedat foras. 150—160.

Desinit sic—Et post missam finitam dicit [160a] diaconus ad populum. Ite missa est. Diaconus grece—omnes respondeant Deo gratias. Vide et part. vii. art. 1.

7. 'Templum Dei' seu liber de Templo Spirituali, i. e. de vita et virtutibus quæ sacerdoti conveniunt: inc. Templum Dei sanctum quod estis vos ad Cor^{os}. sa. iiij. sermo iste omnes tangat. 160—171.

Only the first page of this tract is written in columns, it being mostly composed in a tabular or analytical form: it ends thus—"Actuale. horum aliud maximum. aliud medium. aliud minimum. Explicit liber qui vocatur Templum Dei." Over the second page is written this couplet, by an antient hand;—

*Investis sine veste vir est: investis habetur
Virgo vel mulier, non sossiatia [i. e. sociata] viro.*

8. Versus undecim de cruce: inc. Monstras Hebrorum zelus hec crux impia quorum. 171^{ab}.

9. Prognostica inepta; scil. Tres sunt dies et iiij noctes in anno—corpus ejus integrum permanebit etc. Sanctus Beda dicit quod tres sunt dies in quibus si aliquis homo se flebotomaverit etc. 171^b.

*10. 'Traditio Patrum in historiam de Adam et ejus posteris:' inc. Post peccatum Ade eodem expulso de paradiso. 172—5^b.

The last words are—Qui sane factus obediens usque ad mortem. Cui est laus honor et imperium in secula seculorum. Amen. tu autem Domine miserere nostri. This copy is more accurate than that in the Heralds' Arundel MS. 24, art. 7, (see the Catalogue, p. 34), from which the title is given above. Other copies are in the Royal MSS. 8 D. IV. art. 5, and 8 E. XVII. art. 18. This apocryphal piece was unknown to Fabricius, and is believed to be unpublished.

11. De virginis Mariæ consanguineis: inc. Anna et Emeria fuerunt sorores Elysbet. 175^b.

See also the Catalogue of Arundel MSS. p. 35; and No. 1281, art. 10. It is also imbodyed in the antient genealogical work in No. 1524, ii. f. 8^a.

12. Quinque "Utilita[tes] misse. Prima utilitas est. Quod quantum terre ambulat homo." 176.

The nine last pages of this part of the volume, are written with paler ink, and in a running hand.

(13.) "Isti omnes mittendi sunt ad Episcopum vel ad ejus penitentiarium. Eum qui sustinet heresim" etc. 176^b.

- (14.) "Quando quis mittendus est ad dominum Papam. Primo quando quis verberat clericum." 178.
- (15.) Sententiæ e sacris Scripturis et e Patribus, de pœnitentiâ etc. 178^{ab}.
- (16.) Homilia paschalis, in quo animalibus diversis comparatur Christus: inc. Hodie fratres karissimi redemptor noster resurrexit per virtutem sicut fortis sicut scriptum est de illo. 178^b—180^b.

Des. Dicente Jacobo dormiri tanquam leo. et catulus leonis qui suscitavit eum.

VII. 1. Tractatus de missa, inc. [M]issa dicitur ab emittendo. 181—190^c.

Same as part vi. art. 6, and written by the same hand.

2. Sententiæ piæ, scilicet—

Tria martiria sunt etc. Pone dorsum ad id quod cadit etc. Quomodo Septies in die cadit justus, et Septies—resurgit. 190^{cd}.

3. Disticha duo de moriente Christo; inc. Mundum primus homo. 190^d.

4. Versus xii. de tribus Mariis; inc. Nupta fuit Joachym mater prius Anna Marie. 190^d.

On the four following leaves, among much old scribbling, may be seen—

(1.) A Charm or Prayer, to be used by a woman before her delivery: beg. "✠ Haïl be yow holie crowche." 192^b.

(2.) "Iste liber constat Will'o Waldene de Honylane en Chepe, qui acomod' Joh'i Reyner." (temp. Hen. IV.) 193^b.

(3.) Prophetia de Anglia: inc. Cum fuerint anni completi mille ducenti. (6 vv.) 194^a.

No. 1281.

A small but very thick MS. in square 12°, consisting of 299 leaves of vellum, (the last two of which are vacant,) very closely written in a small hand, about the end of the XIIIth century.

Liber Manualis Theologicus, in quo comprehenduntur tractatuli sequentes:—

1. Homiliæ in epistolicas et evangelicas Lectiones, compendiose relatæ: inc. "Hora est jam nos de sompno surgere. Via brevis est vita. Job. xiiii. Breves dies hominis sunt." ff. 1—18^b.

2. 'Collectiones' *theologicæ: inc. Berhens. in Apoc. Omni tempore vite presentis. 18^b—23^b.

* See the top of f. 20^b.

3. Sermones et homiliæ in diebus festis sanctorum: inc. "Sermo. In adventu. Ego sum p. et do. In adven. do. cujus solemnitas ad presens colitur." 24—140^b.

The first 37 sermons are numbered, to f. 61^b. At f. 117 is this rubric—"CANTOR PARIISIENSIS. Sermo iiii. Ideo festivitatem omnium sanctorum celebrare expedit:" it ends at f. 121.

4. Alia collectio homiliarum, et excerptorum ex homiliis. 141—191.

5. "De vicio proprietatis. Sequitur de vicio proprietatis in viris religiosis." 191^b—3^b.

—"si hec duo pronomina tollerentur. s' meum et tuum. Expl."

6. "Incipit de summa viciorum. Quoniam non contingit vitare malum." 194.

The two last headings are—De murmure, De abstinentia: it seems that the last words are, non concupiscentie militet. f. 210^b. See also art. 11.

7. Sermo "De annuntiatione dominica. Egredietur virga de ra. Jesse." 210^b—2.

8. "Sermo de ascensione Domini. Vado parare vobis locum. Notanda sunt quatuor propter que dicit vado." Et alia "De Spiritu sancto. Ignem veni mit." et de "Nativit' Marie. Ecce odor." 213—217^b—220—2.

9. Versus quinque de tribus Mariis (Anna tribus Joachim), tres de tribus Herodibus (Occidit pueros), et tres inc. Mundat fecundat. 222.

10. De Mariæ virginis consanguinitate*, (inc. Anna et Emeria fuerunt sorores.) etc. 222^b—3.

* Vide sub No. 1280, vi. art. 11.

11. Plura* de vitis, inc. "De taciturnitate indiscreta. Notandum est quod sicuti est vitiosa loquacitas." 223—247.

* Vide art. 6.

*12. "Incipit liber ALQUINI ad Widonem Comitem. [207^b.] Dilectissimo Widoni Comiti humiliter Levita Alquinus." 247—258^b.

The first words after the preface are—"De sapientia. Primo omnium querendum est." It ends thus—"coronabitur gloria. Expl." There is an other copy in No. 1280, vi. art. 5: but they were both unknown to Bishop Tanner, who refers to eight other MSS. of this tract, under the title "De virtutibus ac vitis, et utilitate animæ, ad Guidonem Com. lib. I." Bibl. Brit. p. 22.

13. "Collectiones" e libris variis theologicis: inc. Vera obedientia in tribus consistit. 258^b—262^b.

Between this and the next article three leaves have been cut out.

14. Selectæ pauculæ sententiolæ, e LUCANO, et ex epistolis HORATII. (13 vv.) 263.

*15. Carmen elegiacum de "Forma honeste vite:" inc. "Quid deceat monachum vel qualis debeat esse. Non tonsura facit monachum, non horrida vestis." 263.

Des. Sic facis ardentis jussa premeda gula. f. 267.

*16. Aliud carmen, "De femina. Femina dulcemalium. mentem roburque virile." 267.

The verse next before that against which the following title is written, is—Sola facit miserum cetera pondus habent. (269^b.) The extent of some pieces in this volume is doubtful; the beginnings and endings being rarely marked.

*17. "Collectio" versuum leoninorum, aliorumque antiquorum et curiosorum: inc. Ante sicari poterit marc vel numerari. 269^b—272.

They are chiefly moral or religious, or relating to the histories of the Bible. The following chronological verses are at f. 270.

Anus millenus centenus septuagenus,

Primus erat primas cum ruit ense Thomas.

Annis quingentis decies iterumque ducentis,

Unus defuerat cum Deus ortus erat.

Quater millenis sex centum quatuor annis,

Nexus in inferno fuit Adam crimine primo.

Anni noni nonaginta C. quinque milia

Tempus erat quando venit, qui salvavit omnia.

Also the following excellent verses, which occur in many other books, with variations.

Non vox, sed votum; non musica cordula, sed cor;

Non clamans, sed amans, cantat in aure Dei.

At f. 270^b, among other verses, is the following imitation of Ovid, (Metam. lib. i.)

Cornua [leg. Cernua] deiciunt animalia cetera vultus,

Et pronos oculos semper in yma tenent.

Os sublimat homo, vultumque ad sydera tollit,

Et propriam sedem regna superna videt.

18. "Invectio magistri W. BOTHEWALD Canonici et Supprioris ecclesie sancte Frideswide, contra Walt' Mat.* Archidiaconum Oxonie; qui, tam in juventute quam in senectute, quedam derisoria dicere consuevit metricè et prosaice, de Monachis Albis, ad eorundem diffamacionem †." 272^b—3^b.

* The celebrated Walter Map, or Mapes, is here meant, whose extremely curious satirical poetry has never yet been collected, in print, though many pieces have been published by Mattheus Flaccius Illyricus, and by Leyser, in his Historia Poetarum. The Compiler of this Catalogue has long purposed to publish all that are known to be extant: but as few perhaps would encourage such a publication, he ventures here to insert this article, which (as well as the name of the author) has escaped the notice of our literary historians.

† The whole of this title is crowded, in rubric, within the narrow space of the inner margin of the MS.

The following is a copy of Canon Bothewald's invective against Archdeacon Mapes.

Lancea Longini, grex albus, ordo nephandus. ‡
Cum monachis albis Longini || lancea venit :
Non quoniam feriant, set feriantur ea.
Lancea sunt illis vilis cibus, aspera vestis,
Mansio deserti, nocte dieque labor. 5
Cum contempnantur, et plus aliis patiantur
Pro Christo, non est ordo nephandus eis.
Ordo quisque bonus, set non bonus ordine quivis :
Nec tamen ordo sue laudis honore caret.
Intus claustrales ardent virtutis amore ;
Ardent et lucent ; mens facit hoc et opus. 10
Exterius si sit aliquis qui non operetur,
Ut decet, interius tendat ¶ ad omne bonum.
Ergo, pro paucis ne possis perdere plures, §
* * * * * 15
Pluribus unius non debet culpa nocere ;
Debent peccata ledere quemque sua.
Set quandoque mala, que facto sunt aliena,
Consensus placito quis facit esse sua.
Set quos vel vicia, vel consensus viciorum,
Non tangit, cesset tangere sermo tuus. 20
Talia te facere facies tua facta senilis
Non sinit : has veteres discè fugare vices.
Justis parce viris, in quos tua fundere virus
Mordacis dicti lingua dolosa solet.
Tollere quos velles, auge invitus honores.
* * * * * 25
Illis dum malus es, immo dum detrahis ipsis,
Ore tuo gladius pessimus esse studes.
Tandem frange tuum gladium, quia non nocet illis, 30
Set tibi : vim gladii sermo nocivus habet.
Forsan de decimis loqueris, quas non tibi solvunt ;
Et, quia non solvunt, cur male rodis eos ?
Rodis eos ? rodis Papam : rodis quasi Christum.
Nam Christus Papam, Papa tuetur eos. 35
Ecclesie Papa pater est, pariterque patronus :
Quod decimas retinent, Papa licere facit.
Ecclesie non est per eos corrosio facta,
Ut dicis : decime sunt quasi jure sue.
Christi sunt decime : decimas illis  vice Christi 40
Confirmat Papa : jus datur ergo satis.
A Christo Pape, per Petrum, plena potestas
Est data : Papa potest, vult, facit : ergo valet.

‡ This line may be considered as a title or theme, (like the first line of art. 15,) probably borrowed from the poetry of Mapes. Against the next verse is written in the MS. "Cano⁹," which is to be read Canonicus, as the beginning of the Canon's reply to the offensive words.

|| Longinus is the legendary name of the Roman soldier, who pierced Christ with a spear.

§ The pentameter, which ought to follow this verse, is lost : two other instances also occur in this poem.

¶ Forte legendum tendit.  MS. illi.

Papa potest quod jure potest : non vult nisi justum :
Nil nisi jure facit, quod facit ergo tenet. 45
Et preter Christum, non est qui judicet illum :
Non est judicio subditus ergo tuo.
Murmuris auctores ne sint, de jure remittunt
Sepe suo. Cur hoc ? Federa pacis amant.
Illis ut faciant pacem, dat Papa licere ;
Set pro velle suo ; sicque necesse negat. 50
Cum liceat decimas ipsis omnes retinere,
Qui solvunt aliquas, lis sibi nulla datur.
Cui solvunt nullas, sibi competit actio nulla.

Pauperibus Christi sua sunt communia cunctis ;
Et sibi quid retinent, preter egere nichil ?
Est tenuis cibus, et vilis vestitus eorum ;
Et sua sufficiunt omnibus atque sibi. 65
Hospitibus largi, nonnunquam sunt sibi parci :
Hoc quia dant aliis plurima, pauca sibi.

23. Homilia super illud—Apparuit signum in celo et ecce draco magnus: item alia in die palmarum, et alia “De resurrectione Domini;” cum excerptis variis theologicis. 281—97.

The first pages of artt. 1, 3, 4, 8, 14, 19, seem to have been the beginning of separate parts, before they were formed into one volume: each of these begins in a larger and fairer character than the following pages. The poetry at ff. 263—273, is the neatest part of the MS.; where the initials of all the lines are colored, alternately red and blue.

No. 1282.

A short and thick octavo MS. well written on vellum in text-hand, in the latter part of the XIIIth century; illuminated, and adorned throughout with painted letters. It consists now of 193 leaves; but the leaves which contained the finest letters, are all cut out, (except one at Domine exaudi, f. 120,) as between ff. 6—7, 70—1 (two), 101—2, 129—30, 136—7.

1. Calendarium ecclesiasticum, cum versibus. ff. 1—6^b.
2. PSALTERIUM, initio mancum. 7—174.
3. Cantica sacra; videlicet—

No. 1283.

A square pocket volume in 12^o, bound in vellum, and consisting of 38 leaves of fine thick vellum (beside fly-leaves of paper), the last 22 of which are blank.

Private Prayers, blessings, and deprecations, written by RICHARD NAPIER, Rector of Linford: viz.—

- Allmighty and most mercifull Father, I thy pore and unworthy creature and worke*. f. 1^b—3.
O Father everlasting mercifull. 3^b.
The soule of Jesus Christ sanctify mee. [&c. Popish.] 4^a.
Any thing nove O Lord or ever hereafter that harme would doe mee. 4^b—5.
† O gracious Lord God be thou mercifull unto me a grevous sinner. 5^b—6.
“Oratio vespertina. O most gracious God, and loving father.” 6^b—7.
O eternall God and mercifull father. 8—9.
O most mercifull God and everlasting father. 10^b—11.
+ “For the desire of ye life to come. This my body.” 12^a.
† O Lord Jesu who art the only health. 13—14.
+ In the name of Jesu the Father [etc.] be with me this day. 15—6^b.

† These four prayers were written by another hand, but at the same time as the others.

No. 1284.

A quarto volume containing three MSS. written on paper in the early part of the XVIIth century: the first consists of 92 leaves; the second (which is neater) of 53; the third, which is very fairly written, of 16 leaves cut at the edges.

I. I. “A defence of the judgment of the Reformed Churches, that a man may lawfullye not only put away his wif for adulterye, but also marrye an other. Wherin both Robert Bellarmin the Jesuites Latin treatise, and an English pamphlet of a namelese auther, maintaining the contrarye, are confuted, by JOHN RAINOLDS Docter of Divinitie.” (etc.) in four chapters. ff. 2—3, 4—77^b.

Apparently copied from the printed book, (Oxford?) 1609, 4to. pp. 94; of which there is a copy in Wood’s collection, No. 636, iii. A discourse on ‘the nature and properties of an Oath;’ being an Assize Sermon on Jer. iv. 2. “Thou shalt sweare the Lord liveth, in truthth in judgment and in justice.” 78—87.

The first words are—Being deputed by publieke authority to the supplying of this place at this tyme.

II. Tractatus “De Regula theologicæ veritatis,” et consensu Patrum; seu, de controversiarum cum pontificiis et aliis, iudice et examine summo: inc. Quæsitum sane gravissimum et magni momenti. 95—139^b.

In two parts, the first containing ten, the second three chapters. Ff. 93—4, 102, 105, 118, 124—8, 140—5, and some other pages, are vacant.

III. “An appendix of Dr. [GEORGE] HACKWIL’S answer to [GODFREY GOODMAN] the BPP of Glocesters reasons” or objections against the former author’s work on Divine Providence. 148—161.

This “Appendix” consists of a series of objections and answers, numbered from ‘14’ to ‘19’; which appear not to have been copied from the fifth book of Archdeacon Hakewill’s “Apologie or demonstration of the power and providence of God,” Oxford, 1635, fol., (of which the Bodleian copy O. 2. 12, Th. hath an autograph note of presentation from the author,) and may therefore be a fragment of the controversy between those divines, before it was reduced into form for publication. See the preface to the fifth book, and Wood’s Athenæ Oxon. II. 66, folio ed.

No. 1285.

A very thick volume in small quarto or wide octavo, containing 379 leaves of vellum, and formed by the collection of fourteen books or tracts written at various times and by various hands, in the XIIIth century or earlier; which were bound together in the time of Edward I. withiu boards covered with red leather, which is yet in a good state, though the straps which fastened it are lost.

On the first page is written, in a contemporary hand, an Index, or list of the chief contents, headed thus—

“In hoc volumine continentur subscripta. videlicet.” f. 1^a.

On the other side of the leaf is written by an other hand, seeming to be equally antient, the following title—

“Liber quondam fratris HUGONIS DE WENDOUERE.” (f. 1^b.)

At the foot of f. 166^a is this note, by the same hand as the Index, “Liber ecclesie sancte Marie de Suwerke,” showing that it antiently belonged to the conventual church of S. Mary Overey, in Southwark, of which Hugh de Wendover had been a member.

I. 1. De ecclesia, septem sacramentis, et septem gradibus ecclesiasticis, tractatus: inc. Duplex est ecclesia militans scilicet et triumphans. 2—4.

In fine—"quando levavit manum suam super capita discipulorum suorum et eos [sic pro eis] benedixit. Explicit."

2. "De corpore et nomine primi hominis:" inc. Corpus Ade de octo partibus factum fuit. 4^{ab}.

It ends with four verses. This title is taken from the Index.

3. Sententiæ quædam e Patribus et sacris Scripturis collectæ: quarum prima "BERNARDUS. Euntes post te bone Jesu." etc. 5^{ab}.

These four leaves (2—5) are written in the common running hand of the time of Henry III. or Edward I.

II. "Quid sit homini præcipue querendum. Et alia notabilia: secundum auctoritates plurimorum Sanctorum." 8—19^b.

This beautiful little tract is written in text-hand, with the names of the authors quoted in rubric: it is a kind of Scintillarium, or collection of choice sentences and extracts from the Fathers, beginning thus—"Dei omnipotentis filius inter cetera sacre locutionis sue verba suis loquens discipulis ait. Primum querite regnum Dei, et iustitiam ejus. YSIDORUS. Primum scientie studium est: querere Deum." The two last rubrics are—"Incipiunt similitudines per quas Christianus fidem catholicam firmiter credere et cognoscere poterit." (Unus Deus pater.) "Item de trinitate" (Nos patrem): the last words are—"Alienus est. profanus est. adversus veritatem rebellis. Explicit."

III. "Hic incipit Liber Ymnorum [ecclesiasticorum, cum commentario inc.] Liber iste dicitur liber ymnorum: ymnus est laus Dei cum cantico facta." 20—46^d.

Intituled in the Index on f. 1^o, "Ymnarium glosatum." The stanzas of the hymns are written separately, in text-hand; and the gloss intervenes in a very small character. This MS. is written in columns: the last three leaves (47—9) which were left vacant, are almost filled with contemporary pencil-writing; at the top of the first are written these words (with ink) in a hand also of the time of Henry III. or Edward I. "Soribe and sey. Leth and beth. hold and have;"—a curious specimen of antique English.

IV. "ANNICI MALLII SEVERINI BOETHII, exconularis ordinarii patricii philosophi, [de Consolatione Philosophiæ] primus liber incipit. Carmina qui quondam studio florente peregi." 50—89.

A fine copy, well written in text-hand, before the middle of the XIIIth century. The title is written very small; and in the same character is written over it, a Scholion beginning thus—"Tria sunt quæ inferunt senectutem: one other Scholion is on the third page. The other books begin at ff. 59^b, 68, 77^b, 84; and the fifth ends thus:—"cuncta cernentis. Explicit" (five times repeated), "Deo gratias."

V. 1. De Algorismo carmen, initio mancum: inc. Juste multiplicans per cunctas inferiores. 90—1^b.

These rubrics occur:—"Hic ostendit de divisione" (90^b). "Sequitur de radicum extractione in quadratis" (90^c). "Sequitur de radicum extractione in cubicis." (90^d). It wants the first 100 verses, and the last 29, of the copy in No. 1522, art. 1; ending with the same line as in No. 360, f. 10^b;—"Si par: per medium tibi multiplicato sequentem. See also art. 5.

2. Quæstio arithmetica, cum solutione: inc. Sint 3 homines. 91^c.

3. Tractatus de temporis divisione, de duodecim signis, et de festis ecclesiasticis; cum versibus variis ad ea melius cognoscenda. 91^d—3^c.

Inc. Per veterum sagacitatem qui mira subtilitate planetarum cursus. Des.—et post festum pentecostes.

The first article of this MS. is written in a very small text-hand: the second and third, eighth and ninth, in a small running hand; and these four following in text-hand with rubrics.

4. "Hic incipit Massa Compoti," a magistro ALEXANDRO DE VILLA DEI conscripta; cum scholiis: cujus præfatio inc. Licet modo in fine temporum. 93^d—8^a.

See the note on No. 1522, art. 22.

5. Carminis de Algorismo pars; in qua "Hec sunt regule de multiplicatione. Articulum si per reliquum vis multiplicare." (35 vv.) 98^{ab}.

An other copy of the five paragraphs following the first, of art. 1. The last line is—Multiplicandorum de normis sufficient hec. An unfinished table of letters occupies the rest of this column.

6. Tabulæ ad inveniendum festa mobilia, et quot hebdomadæ sint inter ea; cum regulis. 98^b—99^b.

At the foot of 98^b is a note of the computation of years from the creation to the incarnation.

7. Cyclus paschalis, tabula rotunda. 100^a.

8. Versus quinque ad sciendum quod "Hii diebus debet dici 'credo.' Omnibus in festis." 100^a.

"Hii versus dicunt que festa habent vigiliis" et "octabas:" inc. Lux pentecostes." (vv. 6 et 7.) 100^{ab}.

"Hii versus dicunt quando debet dici 'per dominum,' quando 'per eundem' etc. Per Dominum dicas." (vv. 4.) 100^b.

9. JOHANNIS DE SACRO BOSCO de Sphæra liber: inc. Tractatus de Spera in quatuor capitula distinguitur. 101—6^d.

In fine—"machina dissolvitur. Explicit tractatus de spera." A very closely written copy, in columns. See No. 1522, art. 4.

VI. 1. JOHANNIS DE SACRO BOSCO liber de computatione temporis; inc. Computus est scientia considerans tempora distincta secundum motum solis et lune. 107—116^d.

Des. Unde Boetius. Qui tempus ab evo ire jubes stabilisque manens dans cuncta moveri. This MS. is written in a small character, in columns, with a fair margin. See No. 1522, art. 6.

Over the first page of this article is written the following chronological distich, stating that the Christian era began A. M. 5199:—

Quingentos decies, cum bis centum minus uno,
Annos die ab Adam, donec verbum caro factum. (107^a.)

To fill up the last column, "Augurium" (or the following curious riddle of the word vale) is added:—

Mitto tibi frontem Veneris, zonamque Diane,
Atque capud Liaris, cum pede Leucotue. (116^d.)

2. De metro iambico: inc. Dicit Priscianus quod in hoc metro Oracii. Nivesque deducunt Jovem. nunc mare nunc silve. 117^b.

Written in long lines on the reverse of the twelfth leaf of this part.

VII. I. "Liber medicinalis qui Tegne GALIENI dicitur,"* cum glossis marginalibus; inc. Tres sunt omnis doctrine que ordine habentur. 118—126.

* At the foot of the first page is written by the same hand as the Index, (from which this title is taken,) "Liber tegni Gal." It was translated by Constantinus Carthaginiensis. The last words are—et mortem significat. et hec nobis sufficient ad presentia.

2. "Incipit liber de negotio Urinarum, a voce THEOPHILI. De urinarum differentia negotium multi veterum medicorum aggressi sunt scribere." 126—134.

In fine—Et de urinarum quidem disciplina et secundum genera et species et differentiis convenienter exposuimus.

3. "Versus EGIDIUM de Urinis:"* inc. Dicitur urinu quoniam fit renibus una. 134^b—141.

* This title is written at the foot of the foregoing page, by the same hand as the Index. The last line is—Pleuriticis et consumptis prenuincia mortis. There is another copy in No. 399, art. 14.

By the stroke of the knife which cut out the first leaf of the next article, the last leaf of this was almost cut off.

4. "Ars Medicinæ" cum scholiis: liber initio mancus, quorum prima verba sunt—... e virtute spirituali duo procedunt. 142—166.

* This title is taken from the Index at f. 1^a. There is a chasm at f. 158^a of more than half of a page, after these words—famem adhibere conuenit. Fames enim siccat corpora. The next page begins abruptly with these words—esse egritudinis causam, and immediately a new paragraph begins thus—Curatio vero unum quidem habet modum. The last words are—in uno forsitan vel duobus libris inscriptionem habentibus Galieni de propriis conscriptionibus.

5. "Incipit liber Aphorismorum YPOCRATIS [cum scholiis]. Vita brevis. Ars vero longa. Tempus incertum." 167—174^b.

Ending thus imperfectly in part vi. aph. 26,—Quibuscunque in caussa: the concluding leaf having been lost.

6. "Incipit liber Pronosticorum YPOCRATIS. Omnia qui de medicina studio seu gloriam." 175—180^b.

Des. nostro quoque sunt exposite ordine preceptorum.

7. "Incipit liber Pulsuum a voce THEOPHILI. Intentionem habemus in presenti conscriptione de pulsuum negotio compendiosam exponere traditionem." 181—2^b.

The fourth page ends thus—Quid differt spasmosus pulsus a tumoso? Quoniam in spasmoso quidem tenditur arteria

This seventh MS. is distinctly and beautifully written, in a small text-hand, with very black ink, and adorned with rubrics and painted letters, and one letter of gold. (134^b.) The Scholia are neatly written in a column ruled for the purpose, on its fair margins. Not only is this MS. imperfect at the end, but the next is at both ends: two blank leaves of vellum (ff. 183—4, 196—7) are therefore inserted between it and the foregoing and following MS.

VIII. Regulae ejusdam Ordinis Monastici exemplar, initio et fine mancum. ff. 185—195^b.

The first words are the end of a paragraph—infra annum fieri possunt canonici. Sin autem omnino absque benedictione corone permaneant. At f. 192 begins the latter part, with this title:—Incipiunt institutiones de ordine fratrum laicorum. De jejuniis fratrum laicorum. Laici conversi jejunabunt. The last words are—conversionis sue aut The title, given in the antient Index, is—De observantia regulari generaliter. Et de diversitate culparum, et certa penitentia singularum. This MS. is written in text-hand, and in long lines; with red capitals.

IX. "Reprehensio libelli Abbatis Clare Vallis, quem ipse edidit generaliter contra monachos;" auctore Monacho quodam ordinis Benedictini: inc. Cum in claustro quadam die cum fratribus conederem, quidam e familiaribus meis prope assistens, libellum mihi porrexit. Et cia inquit, quam lectitare dudum desiderasti, en tibi abbas de clara valle epistolam conquesivi. 198—235.

This MS. is well written in text-hand of the XIIth century, on stout vellum, with wide margins: its capitals are alternately green and red. It was left unfinished at the foot of the 75th page, at these words—Tu vero per amplum terrarum orbem litteras non qualescunque set satiricas, et vicis et derisionibus The title is taken from the antient Index. All the leaves but the first six are numbered at the lower corner, with very antient numerals in pencil, from '1' to '33.'

On the reverse of the last leaf is written, invertedly, by a hand almost contemporary, a—

Chanson; com. De ma Dame iual chanter, Ke tant est bele e bloie: avec notes de musique. 235^b.

Several stanzas, very closely written like prose.

X. 1. "Epistola BERNARDI Abbatis Clarevallis, ad Ailredum Abbatem.* Est sanctorum virtus permaxima humilitas." 236^a.

* De ejus opere sequenti.

2. "Incipit prefatio Abbatis AILREDI in librum qui inscribitur de Speculo Caritatis. Vere sanctorum vera et discretu humilitas virtus est." 236^b.

"Incipit primus liber de Speculo Caritatis. Disting[ui]tur enim opus hoc in iij^{es}. libros. Et habet quelibet particula distinctionum suum capitulum." (ff. 33.*.) 237—248—256^b—269^b.

* These leaves were numbered in the XIVth century, to make the list of contents at the end. (ff. 376—7.) The three last pages contain—"Disputatio ejusdem contra ejusdam epistolam de monachorum regula et professione;" (Legi cujusdam literas sic respondentis) ending thus, "Si forte non dampnosa certe periculosa ipsa dispensatio computatur. Explicit liber [tertius] Speculi Caritatis."

3. "Decretalia" quaedam; ac e literis decretalibus, Patrum scriptis, et IVONIS Carnotensis epistolis, excerpta. 269—272^b.

4. Homilia de Symbolo apostolico: inc. Studiosi ecclesiarum magistri salutis nostre negociatores in scripturis suis majora separaverunt mentibus inscribenda. 273.

5. Homilia de sacramento altaris: inc. Magnitudo celestium beneficiorum angustias humane mentis excedit. 276.

6. Homilia de humana salute per mortem Christi parta: inc. Dies resurrectionis dominicus est ab origine mundi. 277^b.

7. Homilia super illud—"Deus erat in Christo mundum reconcilians sibi i. divinitas operabatur in corpore. Apparebat in fragilitate humanitas." 279.

8. "Sermo de sancto Stephano. Rex noster Jesus Christus eum sit altissimus." 281^a.

9. Quaedam de prophetiae modis, (inc. Revelatur prophetia vel per operationem,) et de Psalmis et psalterio; cum postillis super istos Psalmos, Beatus vir, Miserere mei, Ad Dominum eum tribularer, et Lecavi oculos. 281^b—2^b—6.

10. "Tractatus de sapientia spirituali, "De ligno vite" ac de fructibus ejus quindecim, seu perfectionis gradibus, et "De operibus conditionis et restorationis:" inc. Solicite considerandum est his qui sapientiam querunt quod non ob aliud preter se ipsam querenda est. 286^b—294^b.

Des. plene tamen nunquam hic exsiccare potest hoc diluvium. The title of this article, in the Index, is "De tribus verbis, tribus libris, et tribus linguis, et tractatus de ligno vite."

This MS. is written in long lines, in the semi-cursive character of the time of Edward I.

XI. 1. "Hec nomina fortium David" sunt, vel heroum ejus; (spiritualiter exposita, sic—) Se-dens in cathedra sapientissimus princeps viros tres etc. 295—6.

Des. septenarius ad septiformis gratiam spiritus sancti. Ter deni xxx. fiunt.

2. "De nativitate Domini sermo. Dum medium silentium." 296^{ab}.

Des. No. de regibus.

3. Homilia super illud—"Messis quidem multa, operarij autem pauci. Multi sunt operarij et pauci sunt operarij." 297—8^b.

Des. possent subditis commemorari se dissesuros.

4, 5. Homiliae duae "De Pascha:" altera inc. Audistis f. k. quia sepulto via feria Domino; altera super illud "Hec est dies quam fecit D. Dilecti fratres Christiane religionis mens asserit." 298^b—9^{ab}.

6. Quatuor sunt que carnem impellunt ad voluptatis detrimenta. etc. 299^b.

7. Quaedam bonae de accentibus observationes et regulae: inc. Accentus est regularis modulatio vocis in communi sermone usuque loquendi. 299^b—300.

Des. ut cum dicitur domum supra regis sedeo. Remigius is quoted in this short piece.

8. Inter vocabula quaedam, quae sint discrimina: inc. Differentia est inter aeternum et sempiternum. 300^{ab}.

Des. nisi velimus dicere occidit i. permisit occidere.

9. Homilia super illud—"Gaudeamus et exultemus et demus gloriam Deo, quia venerunt nuptie agni" etc.: inc. Omnia tempus habent ait sapiens. 300^b—2.

10. Tractatus de Syntaxi, inc. Ad com[m]unem literarie professionis utilitatem, de Regimine Partium, ma[j]orum sequendo vestigia, compendiosum proponimus tractatum. 302—3^b.

In fine—"Vado lectum Virgilium i. vado ad locum in quo legam Virgilium. Explicit Tractatus de Regimine Parcium." A short appendix about the gerunds followeth.

11, 12. Homiliae duae in illud—"Cum compleverentur dies pentecostes:" inc. Attendite f. k. auribus cordis; et Congruum satis est f. k. ut in hiis diebus conventum faciatis in domo Domini. 303^b, 304^{ab}.

13. "Sermo in ascensione. Ascendens Christus in altum. Verba ista ponderis gravitate sunt plena." 304^b—5.

14. Homilia de Trinitate, adversus Manichaeos: inc. Legimus secundum Mosen populo Dei precepta dantem, ubi dixit. Audi Israel etc. 305^{ab}.

15. Inania quaedam e Gregorio etc. inc. Due sunt baptismata, unum lacrimarum et monasteriale: et quaedam de Christo aquam in vinum vertente, ac de hypocritis. 305^b.

The handwriting of this MS. resembles that of the foregoing, but is smaller and closer. Two blank leaves of vellum are between it and the next.

XII. 1. Sermo super illud—"Cor. 1. Videte vocationem vestram fratres. Ad tria vocamur: ul vite sanctitatem, ad Christi societatem, ad cclestem hereditatem." 308—9^b.

Des. quam hereditatem nobis concedat qui s. f. u. et r.

2. Cur et a quibus traditus est ad mortem Christus. Nota pater. 309^b.

3. Homiliae multae dominicales et festales, in compendium redactae, seu homiliarum excerpta. 309^b—316.

The first is "In vigilia natalis Domini. In evangelium quod promiserat. Ro. 1. a. Promittit pater." The first '28' are numbered in the margin.

4. Excerptum ex "AUGUS[TINO] de mendacio. Loquitur de jocis, dicens nunquam putata sunt mendacia." 316^b.

5, 6. Homiliae quaedam dominicales abbreviatae. 317—9^a; 319^c, 320—5^d.

The first begins thus—"Delictum est in vobis quod judicia habetis inter vos. Cor. 6. b. Nota quod aliter est clerico et maxime monacho."

This MS. is written in a very small running hand, in columns, except f. 316^{ab}, 319^c, which are in long lines.

XIII. 1. Sermo super illud—"Ponam visitationem tuam pacem, et prepositos tuos justitiam, et non audietur ultra iniquitas in terra tua. Ys. 60. e. O viri audite quia de rebus magnis locuturus sum." 326—9.

2. Alius super eadem verba, sic notatus—"Expone eundem sermonem secundum idem thema compendiosius." 329^b—330.

3. Tertius sermo de eisdem verbis: inc. Ponam etc. Verba Domini sunt loquentis ad istam ecclesiam militantem. 330^b—1^b.

4. Sermo pro "Dominica .j. xl^e. [super illud—] Sapientia vincit maliciam. Sap. vii. g. Ne retineas verbum in tempus salutis." 331^b—2^b.

5. De locis quibusdam sacrae scripturae, annotationes aliquot breves. 332^b.

6. Hortatio "Ad temptatos. Nostrum autem est non assentire. Non est igitur" etc. 333^{ab}.

The three first pages of these 8 leaves are written in columns: the MS. is fairly written in a small upright running hand, and seems to have been the Author's original copy.

XIV. Homiliae super Joelis, Hoseae, Amos, et Jonae libros propheticos: inc. "De ebrietate multiplici. Experg[isc]imini cbrui et flecte etc" Joel. 1. Duo dicenda sunt. primo quot modis sunatur cbrictas." 334—375.

The last is the only other that has a title, namely—"De predicatoribus" on—"Predica in ea predicacionem quam ego loquor a[d] te. Jon' 3." (f. 373.) It ends thus—"Nunquid fit efficax constitutentis auctoritas nisi cam effectu operis cordi affixerit audientis. This MS. is fairly written in the common round hand of the thirteenth century: its last eleven pages were left blank; three of them were afterward written on by a hand of the time of Richard II., and contain an Index to part x. art. 2, thus headed—

"Ista sunt capitula Speculi Caritatis quod supra scribitur et dividitur in .3. li." ff. 376—7.

Fastened to the last leaf of this volume is a small and irregularly shaped piece of vellum, seemingly written by the same hand as part x., containing notes of—

"viii dona spiritus sancti" etc. forma tabulari. 379^b.

A longer strip is fastened by the thread under the two leaves 284—5, written by the same hand; containing—

Nota quod "Beati passio Laurentii nos ammonet: ut sanctus ille perfecte devocionis ardore" etc. 283^d, 285^c.

No. 1286.

A handsome and valuable quarto MS. consisting of 257 leaves of vellum, gilt at the edges, written about the year 1400 in a fair text hand, in columns (except the two first pages), with fair margins, and adorned with frequent rubrics, and painted capitals and borders. Three leaves of vellum also are at each end, on one of which (beside some old scribbling) is written in a hand of the time of Henry VII.—

A Charm against Fever; beg. Ante portas Jherusalem superueniens dominus noster Jhesus Christus et dixit Petro cur iuces hic ? etc. 2^a.

1. A treatise of The Love of God, and of the four degrees of Love; with this rubric.—“This schorte Pistle that folewip is dividid in sundry maners. And everi matere by hym silf in titlis: as his Calendre schewip. And þat þou mowe sone fynde what matere þee plesip: þese titlis ben here. and in þe pistle markyd wip divers lettres in manere of a table.” ff. 4^{ab}, 5—32^c.

After the titles is the following rubric: (f. 4^b) “And þus eendip þe table [and prologue] acordinge wip þe lettris of þe A. b. c. And here folewip þe sentence: and b[ig]ynneþ in þis wyse. A. Why every man schulde desyre to love God. [f. 5^a] Amonge alle creatures whiche God of his eendeles myghte made.”

The chapters of this pious and elegant book make up a whole alphabet of references, beside one supplemental chapter. The last sentence and rubric are in these words, beginning f. 32^c—“Gode broþer or syster preyre þeane for me: whiche by þe techynge of almyghti God, have written to þee: þese fewe wordis in helpe of þi soule and myn and alle cristen. amen.” (Leat in nobis divini fervor amoris. Amen.) This verse is also written (in ink) over the first rubric at the beginning.

2. “And here folewip nexte suyng a blessyd sentence [of that venerable doctor, JOHN WICLIF] þe whiche is j clepyd þe Þore Caytyf, and bigynneþ wip a prolog forþ wip suyng. This tretyse compilyd of a pore caytyf, and nedi of gostly helpe.” 32^c—108^d.

This is a very choice copy of one of the great reformer's most popular works. It has never been fully printed; but a modernized text, (from the Harleian MS. 2335) with the omission of some passages, and the last chapter, has been published by “The Religious Tract Society,” in numbers 37–38 of the series of “Select Writings of the British Reformers,” (London, 1831, 120.) pp. 49 122. The following is an abridged list of the rubrics or titles of the various chapters or tracts of which it consists.

“þe sentence of bileeve” 33^a. “þe ten comaundementis of God” 41^c. “þe pater noster” 65^b. “how þou schalt be parfyte” 77^d. “how þou schalt overcome temptacioun” 79^c. “þe chartre of oure heavenly erytage” 81^c. [The armour of heaven] 85^c. “how þou schalt love God” 90^d. “This mater folewyng biddip forsake þine owne” 96^d. “contemplatif lijf” 97^d. “This sentence nexte folewyng is j clepyd virginyte” 99^b, ending thus—þat we mowne regne wip þee in eendeles blisse amen. The next leaf is blank.

3. “Here folewyngely sueþ þe prolog of þe ziftis of þe Hooly Goost. Here aftir sueþ a compendiose mater of þe worþinesse of þe ziftis of þe hooly goost as he hym silf schal teche us firste: whiche arne þese sevene ziftis. And aftirward, zchi þei ben clepyd ziftis of þe hooly goste. And also zchi þei ben sevene in novembre. and neiper moo ne lesse, and aftirwarde of þe profitable goodis þat þei doon to us. And here bygynneþ þe ziftis folewyng.” 110—203.

It ends thus—But I wole eende my mater, to þe worschipe of oure lord to whom be [203^a] alle þe worschipe, and þat he leede us in his companyne þereas is eendeles lijf and mercy. Amen. Except these 3½ lines, ff. 203—5 are vacant.

4. “This centence nexte folewyng schewip how unkynde we beþ to God. Alle for wandryd of oure silf hauzt us to be.” 206.

End.—and þat no þing may make me sory but synne to þi displeyng. amen. 210^d.

“This mater folewyng techip þe to do þe .vij. werkis of mercy. In þe biholdyng of þis worþi passioun.” 211.

—þ for us dyed on þe crosse amen. 212^d.

“How a man schal zeve his herte [213^a] gladdely to God. And if þou wolte ben stered to love God.” 213.

—vouche saaf for to heele me and quikene me of his mercy so be it. Amen. 215^c.

“Here sueþ how a man in alle his worchynges may ben contemplatif. There nys no þing þat lettip a [215^d] man more for to love ihu crist: more þen mysruled love of him silf.” 215^c.

—þat is ihu crist. Amen. 219^c.

“Here sueþ þe stiryng wordis of love: and of what myzttie love is. And if a man were wel towchyd.” 219^c.

—To þis steryng of love he us distte: þat regneþ in hevene so ful of myghte. Amen. 222.

“How þe lovers of soulis schulen perfyteley ordeynen hem in alle her lyvyng to his plesyng. Thenne who so wole profitably love his cvieris-tene.” 222.

—for his myche mercy Amen. 223^b.

—resceyve þe sacramente. Amen. 226.

“Þhre vertuose þingis þer ben þat ledip a man to contemplacioun. And if þou coveyte to come to reste in to contemplacioun.” 226.

—as þou art sovereyne and eendeles kyng. Amen. 230^b.

“þis mater sueþ agens proude and presumituouse men of hem silf. A Thow proude synner.” 230^b.

—on þe crosse his swete body to hunge. Amen. 232^b.

“Here sueþ how þat temptaciouns ben gode and profitable [232^c] A Ful wondirful goodnesse it is of God almyghti.” 232^b.

Ending thus—To þe whiche preyte he us bryng. þat wip outen eende for us regneþ kyng. Amen. 234^b.

These short tracts seem to compose one work: only the first and second have a border round the first page. They probably were written by WICLIF. The three following pages are blank.

5. “Here bigynneþ þe tracte of Virtues: how men lernen to dye wel. Loof dieþ he þt ne haf not lernid it. lerne to dye: and þou schalt cunne lyve." 236—251^c.

From the last paragraph it seems that some other tracts were designed to follow, which are not contained in this MS. It is as following. "And it is myne entente wiþ þe helpe of þe hooly goost firste to speke of þe sevene peticionns of þe pater noster. and aftirwardes of þe sevene giftis of þe hooly goost. And aftirward of þe sevene vertues þat ben agens þe sevene deedly synnes. þe sevene peticionns ben as sevene feyre maydenes. þat ne stynten nevere more to drawe of þe sevene streemes of þe water of lijf: for to bidewe wiþ þe sevene trees. þat heren þe fruyte of eendeles lijf. To þe whiche lijf he us brynge: þat for us [251^c] on þe crosse dide hange. Amen."

6. "Here sueþ a special Confessypoun þe whiche is ful justely compilyd out of þe .vij. deedly synnes. [the ten commandments, etc.] I knowleche me to God and geelde me gulty to hym þat is almyghti." 252—260^d.

The rubric of the last paragraph is—"Here sueþ þe eende of þe confessioun:" it ends thus—and axe penaunce and absolucioine of God and hooly churche and prey þe[e] fader under God to prey for me to God of mercy wipouten dampnacoyene. Amen. Compare the form of confession, in King Edgar's Anglo-Saxon Canons in Spelman's Concilia, I. 458—60.

On the back of f. 261, are fairly written in a hand of the time of Henry VIII.—(1) The beginning of a citation of Johanna Andrew of the diocese of Rochester, by Henry [Deane?] Archbishop of Canterbury, in Latin: (2, 3) Two curious forms of notice exhibited by a lad aged 18, who could read and write "undre this manner of forme," requesting an employer. Also (4) a note about common ways, considered in a court holden 26 July 1592; with the names of these homagers, John Heward, Nyc. Fynche, Walter Peocke; written by a later hand.

No. 1287.

A quarto MS. bound in parchment, consisting of 23 leaves (now first numbered) and 508 pages; fairly written in an uncommon hand, about the time of James I. The lower part has been much damaged by damp throughout.

"Arbor virtutum, or an exact Modell in the web are represented all manner of Vertues and Graces, wth their names, natures, offices, causes, effects, subjects, objects, parts, species, connexion and dependance etc. With the beatitudes, gifts, and fruits respectively corresponding, and the vices opposed to each. Collected out of Salmanticenses, by the very R^d Father SERENUS CRESCY." f. 5^a, 6—23^b,* pp. 1—508.

* Containing "The Preface" and "Preparatory observations." On the foregoing leaves is written by another hand, a full list of "The Contents." f. 2^b—4.

No. 1288.

I. The first book contained in this broad and thick octavo volume, is a fine MS. of the latter part of the XIVth century, written in text-hand, and richly adorned with large letters of gold and with illuminated borders: it consists of 131 leaves of vellum, of which the two first, and the three last pages, were left vacant.

The Calendar of saints-days and other festivals, in English. f. 2—8^b.

"Here bigynneþ Mateyns of oure Lady modir of oure Lord ihu Crist;" with the Litany (65^b), Dirige (74^b), 'Comendacioun' (100), and 'a cristen mans confessioun to his Lord God;' (112^b) translated into English. f. 9—130.

Beginning—"Domine labia. Lord þou schalt opene my lippis." Ending,—and þou Lord to whom stretchþ al þe trespas: merci Lord God mersy. Amen.

On the last leaf are written, by a hand of the XVth century, the following verses on the Parable of the Vineyard:—

Vinea culta fuit: cultores premia querunt.
Non labor equalis: equalia dona fuerunt.
Qui venit extremo, dispensatore vocante,
Tantundem cepit, quantum qui venerat ante.
Sic Deus ostendit quod quancumque venimus,
Aggrediamur iter: certi de munere simus. (131^a.)

II. The other book is printed, and imperfect.

The Festival Book; or legends of saints for the whole year: a fragment. ff. lxxxviii—c.lxxv.

It seems to be part of the edition printed by Wynken de Worde in 1496, of which there is a perfect copy in the Bodleian Library, Douce 36. See Hearne's glossary to Robert of Gloucester, p. 739—40.

There is in this Library, No. 1218, a perfect copy of a beautiful quarto edition of this old English book, printed at Rouen in 1499, by John Richard, also in black letter and in columns.

No. 1289.

A thick, tall, and narrow quarto volume, bound in wood covered with old brown calf, and clasped; containing a MS. and a printed book, and 3 fly-leaves of vellum at each end.

I. The former was written early in the XIVth century, on 82 leaves of vellum, in a small text hand in column. Prefixed is a smaller leaf, not so large nor so old; on which is written in a larger character—

"Manus Meditationis." f. 1^b.

1. "Collectorium libri ARISTOTILIS de Secretis Secretorum, quem librum misit Alexandro regi. Alexander noli appetere." 2—5^b.

Des. sic—declina scilicet ad meliorem et probabiliorem partem.

2. "Signa boni stomachi sunt hec: levitas corporis" etc. 5^{ed}.

Written in a larger hand.

3. Postillæ super—Quis est homo qui vult vitam [et] diligit dies videre bonos? et super septem alia loca sacræ scripturæ. 6^{ab}.

On the back of this leaf are,—a Table of the value of a pound of gold and its parts, in the current money; and some other curious notes, written 30 Aug. 1470.

4. "Explanacio turris sapiencie. Et incipitur legi a fundamento, ascendendo per seriem literarum alphabeti." 7^a.

Turris Sapientie, cum columnis, fenestris, et propugnaculis ejus, calamo depicta atque descripta; virtutibus instructissima. 7^b—8.

A very curious object of contemplation.

On the vacant parts of 7^a, are written many moral and religious sentences, by the same running hand as the following article.

5. Virtutum variæ species, cum earum explicationibus; et quedam de morte. 8^b.

6. De numero literarum Hebr. et librorum sacræ scripturæ; nominum divinarum, et vocabulorum quorundam in scripturis usitatorum, explicatio: et quedam de tribus inimicis anime. 9^a.

7. "Libri bible" in classes ordinati; cum capitulorum numeris. 9^b.

Written larger than the rest.

8. Libri Genesis et Exodus, in compendium reducti. 10^a.
 9. Liber "Tobias." 14^d.
 10. Liber "Job:" partibus quibusdam omissis. 17^d.
 11. Historia Samsonis, e capitulis libri "Judicium xiiij^o"—xvj. 23^a.
 12. Historia Absolonis, e libro "Regum ij^o. cap^o. xiiij^o"—xviii. 24—5^a.
 13. Liber "Apocalypsis." 26.

On the vacant part of the last column (31^c) are written explanations of some words occurring in the Proverbs: and, by a hand of the XVth century, a short analysis of the Decalogue, and notes about hope and death; all in Latin.

14. Liber Proverbiorum, seu "Parabole SALOMONIS." 31^d.
 15. Ejusdem liber Ecclesiastes. 38.
 16. Tractatulus de quatuor virtutibus: inc. Quatuor virtutum cardinalium species multorum sapientium diffinite sunt. 40^a—^d.
 17. Liber Sapientiae, Salomoni vulgo ascriptus; quibusdam partibus omissis. 42—7^b.
 18. "Incipit opusculum cujusdam magistri quod vocatur Elucidarium,"* tribus libris: inc. Sepe rogatus a condiscipulis quasdam questiuunculas enodare. 49—55^d—61^a—3^d.

* This title follows the preface, the first words of which are given above: the first book begins thus—Gloriosissime magister; and the last ends—sine fine in Domino Deo jucundabuntur. This treatise is often, but erroneously, ascribed to Anselm. There is another copy, more antient, in No. 1524, i. art. 4; and in the Royal MS. 19 C. XI. art. 7, is a French translation, of the fifteenth century.

19. Schema, vocabula consanguinitatis explicans. 64^b.

Written within circles, and in the form of a tree.

20. Legenda "De sancto Andrea. Quidam juvenis nobilis." 65.
 21. Historia legendaria "De nativitate Domini nostri Jhū Xpi. Nativitas domini nostri." 65^c.
 22. "De sancto Stephano require in epistola et in legenda. De sancto Johanne evangelista. Johannes apostolus." 67.
 23. Legenda "De innocentibus. Innocentes ab Herode." 68.
 24. Legenda "De sancto Thoma Cant. Per aliquot dies ante ejus martirium juvenis." 68.
 25. Legenda "De epiphania Domini. Epiphania domini quadruplici." 68^c.
 26. Legenda "De sancta Juliana. Juliana dum eulogio." 69.
 27. Legenda "De sancto Patricio. Cum beatus Patricius per Hiberniam." 69^c.
 28. Legenda, seu ANSELMI epistola "De conceptione sancte Marie. Anselmus Cantuariensis archiepiscopus et pastor Anglorum: coepiscopis suis salutem et benedictionem." 69^c—70^b.

Des. alacri animo predicavit. This does not appear among Anselm's printed works; it mentions Helmsus Abbat of Ramsey.

29. Legenda "De assumptione sancte Marie. Post ascensionem Domini." 71.

30. Legenda "De apparicione Jhū Xpi post suam resurrectionem," (Primo apparuit) et de descensu ad inferos, prout "In evangelio Nichomedi legitur: quod Carinus*" etc. 72^a, 72^b.

35. "Incipit prefacio in Vita[m] beatissimi Cadoei Episcopi et martyris Beneventane civitatis. Quondam in quibusdam finibus Britannie regionis que Demetia vocabatur." 75—9^b.

Des. signo salutifere crucis se munivit atque in manus omnipotentis spiritum emisit.

36. In librum Apocalypseos postilla seu expositio. 80—3^b.

Three leaves having been cut out, this article is imperfect to the seventh chapter: the first words are—Vidi in spiritu. vij. candidabra, and the last—unde Phi. v. omnis fornicacio etc.

On the back of the last leaf is the following curious note:—"Die Sabbati vigilia sancti Martini x^o die Novembris A^o Dⁿⁱ Mil CCC^o lxx^o. liber factus fuit Stapule Calesie."

- II. The second book is fairly printed in a half-roman type of the XVth century, without signatures, date, or printer's name.

- RODORICI Zamorensis et postea Calagaritani Episcopi, Hispani, 'liber dictus Speculum Humane Vite,' ad Paulum II. Pontificem dedicatus. (ff. 164.)

A table of the contents of the two books, and an index of matters, are at the end, with the following rubric:—"Finis felix, atque optatus illius brevis tabule sive repertorii per alphabetum, in presentem librum, speculum humane vite nuncupatum." (164^b.)

No. 1290.

A tall quarto volume bound in wood newly covered with leather; containing 121 leaves of vellum (beside two blank at the beginning, one of which lines the cover), neatly written in columns, with wide margins, in a small text-hand of the XIVth century, with painted capitals.

Sermones Dominicales per totum annum, ad numerum cxiv.; quorum primus inc. "Hora est jam nos a sompno surgere. Hoc tempus dicitur tempus adventus quia cantus ecclesie sunt de adventibus Christi." ff. 1—107^c.

The last sermon begins thus—In diebus illis salvabitur Juda; and ends (imperfectly?) nisi ipsi computent coram sacerdote. primo. iiii^{or}. requirit.

Index alphabeticus rerum in eisdem sermonibus comprehensarum. ff. 109—120^a.

Written in columns, on 13 additional leaves of vellum, by a different hand, in the XVth century.

No. 1291.

A very small but thick MS. in 12^o or 24^o, containing 194 leaves of vellum, written (except the last 18, and many blank pages here and there) in a small text-hand of the XVth century, in Holland; adorned with gilded capitals and illuminated borders, and with 31 illuminated pictures, each occupying a page. This Manual of Prayers is much worn, and somewhat discolored at the beginning.

Tabula astrologica literarum, et signorum cœlestium. 1^b—2^a.

Calendarium ecclesiasticum. 3—14^b.

1. "Incipiunt Hore de Sancto Spiritu. Ad matutinas. Domine labia." 16—39^b.

 17. "Eer men dat sac'ment ontfaet. O leuende vrucht." 159—161.
 18. "Als men dat sacrament ontfaen heuet. O here Jhesu Criste." 161—2.
 19. Brevis hortatio, inc. Si vis placere Deo hec racionabiliter teneat semper. 162^{ab}.

20. Versus xxiv. ad festa sanctorum reminiscenda: inc. * Sisio ianus epi sibi vendicat oc feli mar an. 162^b—3^b.

* Sic: vide No. 342, vi. art. 2, etc.

21. Tetrastichon de morte. 163^b—4.

Same as No. 1393, iv. art. 2, printed at col. 1085.

22. "De sancto Nicholao. antiph. O per omnia." 166^a.

23. "De sancto Johanne baptista. Inter natos mulierum." 168^a.

24. "De sancta Margareta. Gloriosa virgo." 170^a.

25. "De sancto Erasmi martyris. [sic.] Sancte Erasme." 172—3.

26. "De sancta Ghertrudis. a'. Generosa virgo." 175^a.

27. "De sancto Eligij. antiph. Alme confessor." 177^a.

29. "Memoria de sancta Anna. Veni sponsa Christi." 180^a.

30. "De sancto Georgio. ant. Hic est vere martir." 182^a.

Different from No. 1131, art. 120.

31. "Memoria de sancta Dorothea. ant. Ave gemma." 184^a.

32. "De sancto Anthonio. a'. Celi terre manum." 186^a.

33. "Memoria de sancta Katherina. ant. Ave gemma." 188^a.

34. "Memoria de sancto Xpristoffore. a'. Xp'ofori collo sedeo qui erimina tollo." 190^a.

35. "De sancta Appollonia. a'. Virgo Christi." 192^{ab}.

36. "De sancta Clara. ant. O virgo clarens." 194^a.

Each of these Offices for Saints, has a picture of the saint prefixed: that of Anna (formerly opposite to f. 180) has been cut out. The last 18 leaves of the volume are of parchment, and are badly written in text hand of the XVth century, with pale ink.

Preces quædam ad D. N. Jesum Christum; inc. O Domine Jesu Christe eterna dulcedo te amancium. 196—212.

In fine—"te merear laudare cum omnibus sanctis tuis in eternum. amen. Paternoster. Ave Maria. et Credo."

In some parts of this MS. are badly written some additional prayers, by an antient hand, as at f. 40^a, 44-5, 55-6, 97^b-9, 190^{ab}. The name of William Hodson occurs at 111^b-2, and other places; and at 190^b, Theodore de Jordane.

No. 1292.

An original instrument on vellum, preserved in a closet. The seal, (impressed in red wax,) though inclosed in a box, is broken.

Almæ Academiæ OXONIENSIS Diplomata, quo testatur "consummatissimum virum ELIAM ASHMOLE, armigerum, [in] sacro Fœcialium Collegio Heraldum Windesoriensem, vectigalis regii (excisæ vulgo dictæ) per universam Angliam Walliamque, pro sacra majestate regia Contrarotulatorem," in gradum Doctoris Medicinæ cooptatum fuisse, 3 cal. Nov. 1669. Cum Sigillo Cancellarii in pixide argentea, quod appositum fuit in domo congregationis, 2 Nov. eodem anno.

A copy of this Diploma may be found in the introductory pages of this work.

No. 1293.

A small parchment document (kept with No. 1297, etc.) well preserved, with an oval seal of green wax appendent having this legend.—“Sigillum . Officialis . Buck.”

Licentia per WILL. SMITHE LL.D., commissarium et officialem archidiaconatus Buck. quod RICHARDUS SANDEY,* A.M., Rector de Linford magna, artem Medicinæ, quam diu exercuerat, deinceps legitime exerceret: data 20 Dec. 1604.

* More properly NAPIER: see No. 1298. It is indorsed “L'n'ia M'ri Sandey ad artem Medicinæ exercend.” and is signed in the corner thus, “1613. W. Styrroppe.”

No. 1294, 1295.

In an old quarto MS. Catalogue of this library, the former of these numbers is described as—

“A little Trunk with several Licenses;”

And the latter as—

“Licentia pro Gul' Lilly, ad artem Medicinæ exercendam.”

But neither can now be found. Of the latter there is a copy in No. 421, f. 223.

No. 1296—1301.

* * These numbers belong to parchments hitherto tied together in a bundle, with No. 1293: but being in a state of decay, they are now all inserted in the large portfolio No. 1763; except No. 1297, and the fragments of the Seals of No. 1299, 1300, 1301, which are still preserved in the closet.

No. 1296.

One year's file of Obit-bills, consisting of 33 small squares of parchment, heretofore fastened together with a thread of parchment, but now pasted down in No. 1763, ff. 41, 42^b.

Memoranda de Obitibus Regum, Magnatum, et aliorum, celebratis in Capella regia Windesoriensi, ab 11 Oct. anno 17 Edw. IV. ad 18 Sept. anno 18, (1477-8); et de pecuniis cuique canonico, vicario, clerico, choristæ, et campanistro propterea debitæ.

Many of these curious bills are in a rotten state, so that scarcely any part is legible: others are perfect. A like document of the time of Henry VII. is in No. 1113, f. 38, the heading of which is given in full in this Catalogue: those in the present collection have like headings.

No. 1297.

Decani et Capituli Windesoriensis, literæ, quibus Tho. Danett, David Hoptone, Tho. Passhe, Joh. Vaughan clerici, et Ric. Holt arm., eorum attorney constituti sunt, ad recipiendam seisinam maneriorum de Bentfeldbury in com. Essex, Knaptone in com. Norf., et Chellysworthe in com. Suff., et Buriles et Alsaywode, a Ricardo Duce Gloucestriæ, ejusque feoffatis Joh. Pylkyngtone mil. Joh. Hudlestone mil. W. Hopton arm. et Tho. Bare clerico: datæ 3 Mar. anno 18 Edw. IV. 1479.

The oval seal of red wax, appendant on a strip of the same vellum, is broken in pieces: the document is (as usually) fastened around with a narrow strip of the same.

No. 1298.

WILLIELMI [WICKHAM] Episcopi Lincolniensis literæ, ad admittendum RICHARDUM ‘SANDYE alias NAPERS,’ (per Edw. Kynipton presentatum,) “ad rectoriam sive ecclesiam paroch. de Linford Magna;” datæ apud Buckden, 12 Mar. anno transl. sexto. (A.D. 1590.)*

This parchment is much damaged, and the seal is lost; only one part of the signature (“Gulielmus”) is legible: it is thus indorsed, “1604. Jo: Tregon. 1608. T. Bullingham.” It is now preserved in No. 1763, f. 43^a.

* See Napier's own notes of his induction, in No. 222, f. 1^b, No. 240, f. 156, No. 243, f. 22, and No. 413, f. 230^b.

No. 1299.

Indenture between the Dean and Canons of Windsor, and Bartholomew Preston, leasing to him for one year the rectory of Eastbechworth, in Surrey, and the patronage of the vicarage thereof, for one year, at the rent of 24*l*.; dated in chapter, 20 Oct. anno. Jac. I.

This parchment is in a miserably mutilated state; much of it having quite perished with rotteness, and what is left being scarcely legible: it is therefore pasted down in No. 1763, f. 43^a, and the imperfect oval seal of red wax is preserved separately.

No. 1300.

Testamentum et ultima voluntas EMMOTÆ BURGES de Nova Wyndesore, de bonis suis domibusque distribuendis, factum 12 Oct. 1447. Probatum coram Archidiacono Barks.* 14 Dec. 1447; et postea in curia de Nova Wydesore, coram Joh. Abelyn majore, senescallo, et tribus ballivis ejusdem villæ, die lunæ ante festum S. Petri in cathedra. (18 Feb. 1448.) 26 Hen. VI.

This is the original Will, with two certificates of probate and one of account, written on the back. Being in a state of decay, it is now preserved in No. 1763, f. 44^a, and the two labels, with only a fragment of one seal remaining, are kept separately.

* This Will is almost a century older than the earliest now to be found in the Archdeacon's Office. It appears by the Returns from Ecclesiastical Courts, published by the House of Commons in 1830, that the series of original Wills there preserved begins in 1530, and that of registered and recorded copies in 1544.

No. 1301.

D. ROBERTI CECILLII, Cancellarii, et Magistrorum Scholariumque Universitatis CANTABRIGIENSIS, literæ, quibus licentia data est SIMONI FORMAN generoso, facultatem Medicinæ ubique exercendi; datæ in senatu, 26 Junii, anno I Jac. I. 1603.

This document likewise, being much decayed, is put into No. 1763, at f. 44^a. The impression of the seal, in red wax, has been broken: it is now preserved separately.

No. 1302.

This document cannot be found: it is thus described in an old quarto Catalogue of the Library;—

“W^m Lilly, y^e son of W^m Lilly, his indenture.”

A printed book now occupies this number.

No. 1352.

A small volume in 12mo. bound in boards, covered with old white leather, containing 12 leaves of parchment, the last of which has only half the width of the others, and is vacant. It seems to be imperfect at the beginning.

Tables of “Les deminutiōs des lieux par menutes a jotez,”—“Laduent” and “Alle catre tems.” 1^a.
Map of the coasts of the Bay of Biscay. 1^b.
—— the northern coast of France. 2^a.
—— England. 2^b.
—— Ireland. 3^a.

The compass appears on these maps, but is everywhere pointed in a wrong direction.

Table of the moveable feasts. 3^b—4.
Nine circular tables, shaped like the mariner’s compass. 4^b—8^b.
A calendar of saints’ days, with emblems. 9—11^b.

This most curious little book was printed from blocks; but the lines encompassing each page were drawn with a pen, and the rubric numbers and names, (and some of those in ink) were put in with a pen. From the rudeness of its work, and other tokens, it evidently belongs to the XVth century, and was done in France: it is believed to be unique. Being partly manuscript, it has been thought proper to describe it among the MSS.

No. 1374.

A quarto volume, consisting of a small printed book in 12mo., interleaved with fair paper, on which are written—

ELIE ASHMOLII ampla Additamenta ad opus impressum, (D. Chr. Hattono dedicatum,) cui titulus—

“Bibliotheca Chimica, seu Catalogus Librorum Philosophicorum Hermeticorum. In quo quatuor millia circiter, authorum chemicorum, vel de transmutatione metallorum, re minerali, et arcanis, tam manuscriptorum quam in lucem editorum, cum eorum editionibus, usque ad annum 1653, continentur. [etc.] Authore PETRO BORELLIO, Castrensi, Medico Doctore.” Parisii, 1654. 12mo ff. 6, et pp. 276.

Ashmole has noted that “Another of these catalogues was printed at Heidelberg, 1656. 8o. See the Oxf. Cat.” (Both editions are in the Bodleian Library.) He has noticed his own books at p. 34. On the first leaf is this note—“Dr: Tobias Stapelach of Hamborough; he dyed about 1658.”

No 1375.

An oblong book in large octavo, written in the time of Q. Elizabeth, and consisting of 42 leaves, the first of which is blank.

“A booke of Medicines, and other conceiptes,” in husbandry and housewifery. pp. 1—82.

This is a very curious collection, made by a medical practitioner, who has preserved many names of inventors of the receipts and medicines, and of persons on or by whom they had been tried: as for instance—the recipe for making “Mistris Kellaway her mead,” (by an other hand) 15^a, and “Doctor Stephans wauter,” with which he preserved his own life, and which he kept secret “untill y^t not longe before his death, he gave it to y^e Archib. of Canterburye in writing,” 68—9. (See also No. 1401, f. 35.)

The cover of this book is an original—

Deed of charitable forbearance toward Robert Jackson, cordwainer, by his creditors*, for one year from the date thereof, 25 Aug. 1587.

* Two of the signatures are yet visible on the outside, namely, Thomas Hooper, and Richard R.scroft.

No. 1376.

A large and thick oblong volume in octavo, containing 489 numbered leaves, beside a great number of leaves, and other papers, inserted in various places, which swell the front to a great thickness. On its wooden covers are brass bosses and a little ring; but the clasps are lost. This MS. is mostly written in columns, in a hand of the time of Q. Elizabeth or James I.

An irregularly composed book of Medicine, containing various discourses, observations, and collections, on the judgement of urines, on Anatomy, on the symptoms and treatment of diseases; with a very copious Materia Medica; for the most part arranged in analytical method, and partly in Latin, partly in English. ff. 1—438^b, 466—489.

Within the first cover are pasted two small but very neat old engravings, representing “Salvator Mundi,” (“Hi. W. f.”) and the Annunciation: here also are written 4 verses, beg. Virgo Dei genetricis, and some medical notes in Latin. On the second fly-leaf, is written by a different hand, “Dr. Threkeeld.”

No. 1377.

A thin volume in 12mo. containing 92 pages, beside two pages that line its covers of parchment; all closely and neatly written in a small hand, by “JOHN STANSBEY, 1651, May 15 day;” whose name is thus written at the foot of page *1, also at p. 67 and p. 93.

1. A 'Discourse' of 'the art of Chirurgerie,' in twelve chapters. pp. *1, 1—25.

It begins with a list of the antient authors of the art, and "A definition of Chirurgery" on the first page: a list of the chapters is at the end.

2. "The Enchirid[i]on of Chirurgerye [in four parts,] containinge the exact and perfect cure of wounds made in the similer partes by THO. GALLE;" also of the 'accidents' of wounds, 'the manner of curing fractures and luxations,' and 'the Antidotarie.' p. 26—36—44—57—67.
3. "A Catalogue of Simples conducing to the art of Physick and Chyrurgery. And first of roots." p. 68—92.
- Also two passages at the foot of p. 93.
4. "Aqua nobilis in oculorum vitijs:" the composition of an eye-water, "tried by THO. GALLE, M^r. in Chirurgerye, 1563." p. 93.

No. 1378.

A curious little book in 12^o, somewhat oblong, containing 43 leaves of parchment, or 83 numbered pages, beginning at the second page, (the first being almost obliterated,) and omitting the 29th and 30th: it consisted, at first, only of the leaves paged 4—49; the others are additional. The covers are of stiff parchment, and have writing on the inner side. This MS. is in an old hand, apparently earlier than the time of Q. Elizabeth.

A manual of Secrets, Medical and Magical; consisting of recipes for the cure of diseases, notes of the virtues of herbs, directions for magical ceremonies, and forms of Charms, for purposes of medicine, love, discovery of secrets, etc. pp. 83.

One of the Recipes is subscribed "Probatum: 1578." p. 36.

Of the Charms, the following is given as a specimen, (being in verse, and one of the most innocent,) in the stead of a description of all the contents of this strange little book.

"Agaynst thy Enemyes.

No. 1379.

A thin square octavo MS. in a parchment cover, written on paper in the time of Henry VIII. or earlier; containing 38 pages numbered by Ashmole.

1. The medical virtues of Rosemary, in prose; beg. Rosus marinus is called rose mary. the virtue of this herbe is goode. p. 1—18.

Ending thus—ne brennyng of unkynd hete be at þi stomake ne at þi hert. Immediately, at the foot of the same page, follows this title—

2. Here is vertnes and setting of Rosemary by the ij doctours of fysyk following. per Galyen and Plateri:" a poem beginning—As in a booke wretyne y fownd Of wise doctours in dyvers lond. (152 lines.) 19—28.

The last line (Also fro þe flux of a manne þt is ful stronge) has no corresponding ryme: the leaf on which it is written is loose, and one seems to have been lost between it and the next.

- *3. A Carol for Good Friday; beg. There blows a colde wynde to daye to daye. (11 st. of 4.) 32—4.

With this refrain—"To kepe þe colde wynde a waye."

On the foot of p. 3, is written invertedly in an equally old hand,—Robertus Hyckys hujus libri possessor. Robert Hyckys ys the ower of thys boke." Pasted on the last leaf is a fly-leaf which is a fragment of an account-roll, thus headed—

"[Com]potus Joh'is Colcoote et Rog' Deyer cost' instan' [fest]i Joh'is Baptyste anno D'ni. M°. CCCC°. XIX°. usque ad idem festum a°. D'ni. M°. CCCCC°. XX°." p. 38.

No. 1380.

A narrow octavo volume, bound in sheep leather, and containing 94 leaves. "Pretium vjd." The writing is clear and distinct, and many pages are left vacant.

No. 1381.

The MS. thus numbered, is now wanting; it has been described in an old Catalogue, as in 16mo, and containing—

A treatise on "The art of Linning."

No. 1382.

An octavo volume in old gilt calf binding, containing 280 pages of MS. closely written in a bad hand of the time of Charles I., also a printed book with seven other pages of MS. at the end. The contents, having been written by the same hand at several times, naturally divide themselves into three parts.

FIRST PART; THEOLOGICAL.

That the writer was a clergyman, is evident from the first page, whereon are written memoranda of three "outweddings," and this note—"Marie daughter of Henrie & Frances Harrington: bap. July: 15: 1637."

1. Prayer for saturday-night, beg. "Sat: Vesp: O almighty and allwise God, Creator of heaven and earth." p. 3.
2. Sermon on "Mat. 4. v. 1. Then was Jesus led of ye spirit into ye wilderness to bee tempted of ye devills." 5—9.
 "Conciones Commemoratoriæ," (p. 10.) or twenty-four periodical Sermons, preached in commemoration of the following persons:—

 (3) Fear. 183—3, 178—6.
 (4) Boldness. 175—4.
 (5) Anger. 173—168.

These, and the two following articles, are written vertically, and from the end-ward of the book.

29. Expositiones Psalmi exii. 6, 7. "Ab audicione mala non timebit" etc. 167—6.

30. Outline of a Sermon on Isa. liii. 5, "He was wounded for our transgressions;" preached by Dr. GILLINGHAM, on good friday, 27 Mar. 1646. p. 165.

All the rest of this volume is written larger than these Sermons, which are in an exceedingly close and small character.

SECOND PART, CHEMICAL.

1. Versiculi, et memoranda quædam. p. 1^a, 1, 2.
2. Tristitia septem, de opere lapidis philosophorum: in. Scricon in gummi versum. 4.
3. Directions "To blaueh," and "To staneh bleeding." 109.

Also this address—"A Monnsier La Forrest, a Bruxells a la post."

4. "G. R[IPLEY'S] Bosome-book. The whole worke of the composition of the st: p: of the gr't E. and of the first solution of the groste bodie. Imp: Rs: 30^{li} weight of sericon." 110—124.

Ending thus—"and proved the same; for the wch thank God. The end of the Bosom Book of G. R."

5. "Tractatus alchimie ex antiquo libro manuscripto, Anglie ab Authore scripto, et postea in Latinum verso." 125—137.

"This book I hear was found in the treasury of Glastenbury Abbey at the time of the suppression of the Abbey, the originall coppie whereof, I hear, remaineth yet written in parchment in a freinds hand whom I knowe. Proemium sic incipit. Alchimia hee est perfectio et veritas." etc. In fine sic—"ejusque nomen e libro vitæ abradatur. Finis."

6. A collection of ehemical reeipes and directions. 139—165, 196—230.

"Hic liber ab hoc loco usque ad hanc notam ≡ transcriptus ex SPENCERO." The first title is—"To make fine Azure;" the last ("Oleum benedictum compound") is subscribed thus—"Finis, laus, honor, et gloria Domino, Deo, excelso." At pp. 223—5 are some recipes for "Aqua ad dissolvendum ☉" etc. headed and subscribed—"The Craft of Mr. JOHN FRENCH."

7. Seven Chemical Receipts "Out of an old written book of Gilles." 230—5.

The first is—"Sublimatio ar: vi: communis. R' a quantitie of baye salt" etc.

8. "Incipit opus novum: Pisees inferioris Zodiaci:" or five chapters of an alehemical treatise intituled "Pisces of the inferior Zodiack, or of phylosophicall solution;"* inscribed "Unto the whole societie and fellowship of Philosophers, [by] LUCAS RODARGICUS." (13 cal. Jun. 1563.) 235—252.

* This title is at the first chapter, p. 243. At the end is this note—"The residue of this treatise, as all the former, is printed in Latine," viz. in the Theatrum Chemicum, (Argent. 1662, 8vo.) V. 806—54.

9. Recipes for various kinds of "Soders," and directions "for all manner of sodering." 253.

10. A dialogue "betwixt Son and Father," being alehemical verses said to be by an "Authore ignoto;" beg. "F. When ☉ is in Ariete and Phæbus shineth bright." (60 l.) 254—5.

The last lines are—Betoknes the virginity, A likeness hereto is the Trinity. It is an unfinished copy of GEORGE RIPLEY'S Mystery of Alehemists: compare Ashmole's Theatrum Chemicum, (No. 972,) pp. 380—2.

11. Directions for various ehemical experiments and preparations. 262—9, 271.

12. Prescription of a remedy "For the face." 273.

THIRD PART, MISCELLANEOUS.

1. "Ob [has] 14 causas possunt parentes repellere filios ab hæreditate et alimentis." 12—13.
2. Substance of a sermon or discourse on monarchy, and the mutual contract between a King and the people. 36—7.
3. Two prophecies, relating to revolutionary events in the years 1641 and 1652; the one said to have been written "200 years since," beg. Christ came to court some 7 years since (16 l.); the other "400 yeers since. When pride is in price." (16 l.) 270, 271.

The four following articles are written invertedly, beginning at the end of the volume.

4. Notes preparatory for sermons, etc. 287.
5. A discourse on supreme Power, and the causes and occasions of lawful and needful resistance thereto. 286—281, '94', 280—279.

In the latter part are some remarks of 'the Lord De la Noue.'

6. Eleven "Pa[ra]doxes and wonders" concerning various human characters. 297, 298.
7. "Thoughts;" or comparisons imagined on 'seeing' a King, a Bishop, an Ambassador, and eleven other characters. 276—3.

The printed book at the end of this volume, is a neat copy of the "Psalmes collected into English meeter by Thomas Sternhold, John Hopkins, and others," printed for the Company of Stationers in 1628, pp. 94; being that impression which was commonly bound with the octavo Bibles.

No. 1383.

"A book of Receipts, MS." which (according to the old Catalogues) occupied this number, is now either lost, or bound up by mistake with some other volume. That which now supplies its place, was heretofore marked No. 1731.

A small square octavo MS. very neatly written in a small Gothic-Italian hand, in the XVth century; consisting of 93 leaves of vellum, with fair margins.

1. Libellus in quo disputatur 'Disciplina-ne militaris an studia doctrinae essent praeferrenda:' inc. Diu inter doctissimos viros. ff. 1—18.

Des. sic—Litterarum autem studia tantum cum virtute conjuncta sunt, quod haec omnia incommoda declinare atque effugere potuerunt.

2. "LEONARDI ARETINI Oratio in ipocritas incipit feliciter. Ex omni gente hominum." 19—25^b.

Des.—In vicia autem aliena non curiosus sis sed in tua. Finis feliciter amen."

3. LEONARDI ARETINI Epistolarum libri tres, et pars quarti. 26—39^a—61—80—2.

The first leaf being cut out, it begins thus—Scripti antea tibi de contentionibus. At f. 39^b is this title in capital letters (as also elsewhere), "Leonardi Aretini Epistolarum primus liber explicit. Incipit secundus:" in like manner the other books end and begin. Only three letters of the fourth book are in this MS.; and the last of these ends imperfectly thus at the top of 82^a—italorum et iermanorum impetum si transire conentur inhibere posse. Four blank leaves follow.

In the front of the MS. (f. 1^a) is this reference to a printed copy in the Bodleian Library, written by an old hand:—"Leonardi Aretini Epist. libri octo. Bas. 1535. 8vo. A. 6. Art. Seld."

4. "MAFEI VEGIJ Laudensis de educatione liberorum et eorum claris moribus. Incipit primus liber feliciter. Si tantum nobis ingenij esset ut quod in presencia aggredimur." 84—90^b.

The 14th page of this imperfect copy ends thus—laudatur in eis omnis innocencia et admiretur Atque ut matres (Compare the edition of Paris, 1523, Boill. 40. U. 16. Th.) The three last leaves are vacant, excepting that on one page is a fragment written by an other antient hand:—

Remonstratio ad heterodoxum quendam, sic inc. Sepulture tibi permittimus mortuos tuos. 92^a.

The lining of the covers, and the fly-leaf at each end, are two fragments of Sherrifs accounts for Berkshire, particularizing the issues from several manors, lands, and tenements, in and about Oxford, especially at Cumnor; they are of the time of Queen Elizabeth, and are written on parchment, on both sides.

No. 1384.

An octavo MS. written in small text-hand, in the middle of the XIVth century, and adorned with rubric and with painted capitals. It consists of 138 leaves of vellum, whereof 64 (comprizing the first part) are numbered by the same hand with rubric; and the foliation is now continued throughout. The 75th leaf is of paper inserted: the first leaf is not foliated, and contains the titles of the chapters of art. 1, beginning thus, "Gebar Liber primus continet capitula .11^{cin}. et habet prohemium," and ending—"Explicit—

"Tabula libri subsequentis." p. 1—2.

1. GEBERI Arabis de arte alchymica libri sex, Latine: inc. "Liber primus. Totam nostram scienciam quam libris antiquorum abbreviavimus compilacione diversa in nostris voluminibus hic in summa unu re[ddi]dimus." ff. 1—11^b—16^b—33—42—57—64.

In fine sic—"Ad artis igitur excelsae perquisicionem haec dicta sufficiunt. Explicit GEBER in ultimo libro super artem Alkemie."

2. "Incipit liber [de opere lapidis philosophorum] qui vocatur Liliium. Naturam circa solem et lunam intendentibus et ceteros planetas atque circa medicinam exaltare salutem." 65—74^b.

In fine—"quid ultra plus dicam, haec que fideliter ut memoriae membranis inscripsi ut audivi et didici. et apud operantem cura pervigili [74^b] occultante operando vidi per singula—nomen lapidis et ejus operacionem, quamvis anxius diligentissime per omnia explicavi. Explicit Liliium." At the beginning is written this note by a hand of the time of Queen Elizabeth. "The authors name that wrate this booke is calld SARNE: loke in Mr Barnard Counte de la Marche Travan's folio .143."

3. Magistri cujusdam de opere lapidis versus 16 leonini: inc. Est fons in limis, cujus latet anguis in ymis. 74^b.

Prima dispositio naturarum est coitus etc. cum 6 versibus inc. Arsenicum fore. ib.

Of the first set of verses there is a copy on paper inserted (f. 75^a), interlined with a most ignorant translation, by the same hand as the note at f. 65 and other places.

6. De dictis obscuris Philosophorum de natura et opere lapidis, libellus, Discipuli ad Magistrum: inc. O venerande pater gratias ago Deo. qui istam scientiam sua bonitate. ad tuas manus pervenire concessit. aliis penitus occultam. 76—79.

In fine—"cujus utilitas est major quom arte vel ingenio poterit estimari. Explicit."

7. Breve documentum de opere lapidis: inc. Esto longanimis in regimine. 79^a.

8. Dialogus inter Magistrum et Discipulum, de 'Secretis Naturae' vel 'Occultis' Philosophorum, et deceptione multifaria in opere alchymistico: inc. "Ca^m. j^m. Scito filij. quod in hoc libro loquor de secretis nature. et post dividam librum in sex capitula. et primo dicam quid est lapis." 79^b—82^b.

In fine—"Jam igitur complevi intencionem meam Deo gratias. Explicit."

9. Libellus de inventione lapidis: inc. Volui lapidem et reholui. et sedebam super eum tristis et lugens. 83—5.

In fine—"multiplicetur multiplicatione pervalida. Explicit." At the beginning is this note:—"The authors name of this exposition wase CLAVETUS: loke in Mr Barnard Counte de la Marche Travanse; super tabulam Hermetis."

10. "Incipit liber ALFIDIJ ad filium suum [de scientia alchimiae]. Ut enucleatius intelligas, me loquente, volo ut scias de qua materia metalla ducunt originem." 85^b—90.

Cap. 13 sic desinit:—"Ecce omnia tibi demonstravi. Intellige igitur. et interdum vicia pare et invenies. Deo annuente. Explicit liber ALFIDIJ ad filium suum."

11. "Incipit [libellus alchemicus appellatus] CALID filius Ysidri. Primum est necesse in hac arte nos ignem et lucem et speluncam lapidis habere." 90^b—1^b.

In fine—"igitur est sufficientia. Deo annuente. Explicit Caid filius Ysidri." (sic.)

12. "Incipit Epistola ALLEXANDRI. Dicunt philosophi quod ars diricata sit ex creacione hominis cui omnia insunt." 91^b—3.

In fine sic—"Ecce lapidis nostra ratio atque descriptio et figuracio (etc.)—et omni specie et colore et nomine. Explicit epistola Alexandri."

13. Documentum breve alchemicum, inc. O cece peregrine ut quid flens circuens regna queris. 93^a.

In fine—"aquila aliarum avium cohibens volatun. Explicit."

14. Aliud, inc. Venenoso dracone volatili. 93^a.

Desinit cum hoc versu—"Extrancoque cave, lapide. foco. quoque vase. Explicit."

15. "Visio EDWARDI. Ego Edwardus fessus studendo et practizando in secretis philosophie majoris. quadam nocte somniano quasi mirabilem vidi visionem." 93^b—5.

In fine—"Ego vero complete perspicuus intima nature secreta. ab omnibus philosophis semper occulta. dimisi domum meam et in orientem et Indiam rediens cum desideratis ad patriam. ubi constitutus sum philosophus philosophorum. Explicit visio EDWARDI Philosophi."

16. Tractatus alchemicus, de dictis Philosophorum: inc. Omne datum optimum et omne donum perfectum. 95^b—7^b.

In fine—"Intellige ergo que dico quia ad Deum te commendo. Explicit." This line follows, at the foot of the page—"O cece peregrine. R' ad tale signum † a retro," namely, art. 13.

17. (1.) "Incipit Liber primus Mineralium, qui est de lapidibus; tractatus primus de lapidibus in communi. C. 1. de quo est intencio et que divisio et modus et ordo dicendorum. De miv-tione et coagulacione." 98.

"Secundus tractatus primi libri. de mineris que est de omnibus accidentibus lapidum." 104^b.

(2.) "Incipit Liber .2^{us}. qui est de lapidibus preciosis. tractatus .1^{us}. de causa virtutis lapidum. C^m. 1^m. de quibus est dicendum. et de redarguacione eorum qui dicunt lapides virtutes non habere." 109.

Tractatus .2^{us}. de lapidum nominibus et virtute. Ca^m. 1^m. de lapidibus ab A incipientibus." 113—135.

Sixteen chapters without rubrics follow that on letter Z; the first beginning—De ymaginibus autem lapidum et sigillorum hic est dicendum (p. 122), and the last ending imperfectly thus at the foot of 135^a—postquam calcinatus in molem. duro facto scili[et] b; magnis durissimis et per ignem adustus. adustionem. vehementi. et vi The five last pages were left vacant, and the margins of f. 135—6 are sewn together.

On f. 137^b are written explanations of some of the abbreviated words occurring in this MS., by the same hand as f. 75.

No. 1385.

A neat MS. in 12mo. containing 184 pages, of which 27—8, 121—2, and 156—162 are torn out, and some few are vacant; beside the first leaf, which is not paged: it was written at different times.

A book of Prescriptions, or select Remedies, entered alphabetically; by Sir ROBERT NAPIER, Knigh; interspersed with notes of his Medical Practice, chiefly in the year 1664. f. 1^{ab}, pp. 1—184.

It begins, as old Mr. Napier's Practice-books do, thus—"In nomine Patris et Filij et Sp'us sancti, ad pauperum solamen, agrotorum relevamen. Dei gloriam;" with a Prayer in two distichs (beg. Da pater antiquæ), and some medical verses, in Latin. (f. 1^a.) Among the prescriptions are the following:—

For "A cough of the lungs, by Sr Theodore Mayerne." 58—9.

"Mr. Kynastons diet-drinke whe he dranke all ye spring for ye scurvey." 114.

"Sr Wm Meredith died 14 April 64" etc. 182.

No. 1386.

A small volume in 12mo. containing three MSS. on paper, of which the first is very distinctly written in secretary-hand of the XVIIth century, on 214 pages, (the numbering of which is continued throughout the volume;) beside 5 leaves at the beginning, whereof the two first are blank, and the third and fourth have been cut out, leaving the index incomplete.

I. 1. Liber de usu et virtutibus Medicamentorum variorum, ordine alphabetico dispositorum, cum indice morborum premissis: inc. "De litera A. Antidotum Asyncritum dicitur, id est incomparabile." f. 5^{ab}, pp. 1—131.

2. "ARNOLDUS DE VILLA NOVA. De dolore capitis ex flegmate facto," ac de aliorum morborum curatione. 131—214.

This MS. is imperfect, though a piece of paper inscribed Finis has been pasted over the last paragraph (the last six lines), which begins thus—De lienteria distenteria.

II. A small collection of choice Remedies and Prescriptions, written by old Mr. NAPIER. pp. 215—243.

Written separately and at different times, on alternate pages of 15 very small leaves. The titles are—

"Antidotum contra malignam febrem. Octob. 11—1617." 215.

"A cordiall ponder agaynst plague [or] infectious fevers. Octob. 27. 1616." 217.

"A powder agaynst the plag, July 11—1625." 239—240.

"A playster to draw water from the backe. July 19. 1626." 241.

"A playster for the spleene. Ap. 20. 1626." 243.

III. "A [collection of] Prophecies relating to England] taken out of dyvers authors. Oh Albion of all lands pleasant to behold, to thinke of thy sorrows, it makes my harte colde." 245—296.

The latter part is in verse (with some few prose passages inserted), beginning thus:—

"The prophecie of Sir THOMAS OF ASTLEDOWN.
A chyld with a chaplett shall araye him right." 277.

The last stanza of Thomas of Ercildonn's prophecies, in this copy, is—Christ yt dranke both yesell and gall And for us dyed on a tree When it pleaseth him to call To heaven bringe you and me. It is followed by four sentences, alternately verse and prose, beginning England with ye sea compassed aboute; and then by—

"These verses [about 'The crowned babe' which] were translated out of verie olde Brittainish books into English. The crowned babe as sayth Tabison, And as it is readde in ye books of Me[r]lyne.*" 293.

* Taliessin. These are 15 irregular stanzas of four lines each; ending—as under ye heavens he shall be. p. 294.

"These be ye names of ye Kinge yt shall wyn ye holye crosse. Saynt Thomas of Conterberie calleth him the Kinge of virgins." 295—6.

The last words are—with ye dominion of Irelunde. This MS. is distinctly written in a hand of the time of Queen Elizabeth, or about 1600.

No. 1387.

A small volume in 12mo. containing two MSS. paged by Ashmole. The former consists of 254 pages, and resembles No. 1385: part of it is written invertedly, toward the end: pp. 85—96 and some others are vacant.

I. Choice Remedies for various diseases, collected by Sir ROBERT NAPIER, Knight; also miscellaneous observations, and notes of his Medical Practice in the following cases:—

After p. 52 are 6 vacant leaves: the pages which follow have no peculiar numbers, but those which belong to the whole volume.

2. Receipts for the compounding of "Syr. ☿.—The electuary of juniper berries.—The blacke cherry cordiall water.—The Napier cordiall water," and "An other" cordial. 257—261.

On the first page of this little book are notes of the price of flesh-meat and seeds (p. 255), and on the last is a receipt "For Margt Hill." (272.) Sixteen blank leaves follow.

No. 1388.

An octavo volume consisting of sundry MSS. and papers of the Napier Collection, paged throughout by Ashmole, to the number of 350 pages, many of which (at intervals) are blank.

I. "Excerpta e tractatu de occulta, magico-magica morborum quorundam curatione. De epilepsia. Radix poconia mascula filo de collo suspensa curat." etc. p. 1—32.

Fairly written in the larger hand used by THEOD. GRAVIUS, the learned successor of old Mr. Napier.

II. 1. "Conserva granata laxativa" quomodo composita sit; instructio THEOD. GRAVIL. 41.

The eight leaves paged 33—48, contain only these 6 lines.

2. Eiusdem compositiones quatuor medicamentorum cum litera 'D' inchoantium, scil. Distillat. balisticum. etc. 49—50.

3. "Extractum Nepenthicum" quomodo formetur; et alia medicamenta sub litera 'E.' 59—70.

4. Sub litera 'F.' scil. "Fæcula brionæ." 71.

5. ——— 'I.' scil. Infusiones diversæ. 73—5.

6. ——— 'L.' scil. "Lohoch: de symphito" et alia. 77—9.

7. Sub litera 'P.' scil. "Pil: Gratianæ," * et "Pil: Caryophyllat." 87.

* Hitherto this part was written by GRAVIUS; the latter of these receipts was added by ASHMOLE; who also wrote all the next article.

8. Compositio "Syr: de Tussilagine," et aliorum syruporum. 93—7.

III. 1. "The originall creation of mankynd, and wherein he was made of viij. sundry parts, as hereafter followeth." 120.

2. "These [rules] be to know good signes, the D being in them." 121.

3. "Special houres to be observed not to attempt any thing in, D being as followeth." 121.
4. Oracular answers, for each of the signs. 122.
5. "The declarations of the 12 signes when D is in them. In γ good to speake with great men." 123.
6. "Which hours be good as D passeth thorough the signes." 125.

Seemingly copied by Sir Richard Napier from an old MS. The paper of this part is paged 109—128.

IV. Medical papers of old Mr. RICHARD NAPIER: viz.—

1. Recipe "for quarteyne ague, May 17—1616." 129.
2. Recipe "for feavers of long continuance, March 22—1616." 131.
3. "Speciall purging tabulates, Aug. 27. 1614." 133.
4. "A rare and a singular water to cure all wounds" etc. 21 Dec. 1626. p. 135.
5. Remedy for "A scald hed." 137.
6. "A syrope agaynst all yellowe cholere" etc. 18 Apr. 1631. p. 139.
7. "Syr. de senna." 10 Nov. 1615. p. 141.
8. Remedy "for black or yellow jaundes and quarteynes. Decemb. 19—1626." 143.
9. Composition of hellebore and other drugs. 145.
10. A recipe, written by the hand of "Sr KENELME DIGHBIE* Aug. 28. 1625." 147.

* His name is thus written at the top of this paper, by Mr. Napier.

- V. "Directions for health" written by Sir RICHARD NAPIER; namely—"A physickall course to be observed and followed, springe and fall" (149—50), "For a dyet drinke" etc. (151—2), "Pill: stomach." (155), "The sweate" (156), Pills etc. (157), "For a gargle." 159.

- VI. 1. THEODORICI GRAVI præscriptiones quædam "pro hæmorrhoidibus aperiendis," et aliis; partim Latine, partim Germanice. 165—7.

2. "Vu Vberguldan," ab eodem. 168.

- VII. 1. A short practical discourse "Of ye small pox and measels" and their cure: written by Sir ROBERT NAPIER. 169—175.

2. Recipe by "Sr: Rich. Napier for Mr Tho: [Napier] Jan. 16. 166 $\frac{1}{2}$." 177.

3. "De Insania:" definitions of madness, extracted and translated from GALEN, by Sir ROBERT NAPIER. 183.

This MS. consists of 13 leaves gilt at the edges, (p. 169—204) partly blank.

- VIII. 1. "A sweate for the Lady Leache, Novemb: 22 die f ho: 5. 15." 205.

2. Præscriptio pro enemate quodam. 207.

These papers were written by old Mr. NAPIER.

- IX. 1. A collection of choice Remedies, ten of which are ascribed to Mr. MATTHIAS: beg. "An aqua celestis to dissolve winde, helpe digestion, to comfort the memorie, and to drive away melancholie." 213—244.

At p. 240 is "The La: Hartoys cordiall," and at p. 241 is "Dr Hnnton his dyet drinke for melancholye." Page 242 contains an account of five complaints which "I am troubled with," and "My desires." The last leaf contains two distichs in Latin, which "The Antimoniall Cupp speakes" (as it is supposed) with a translation into English, beg. Arte sick and burnest with desire? (2 st. of 4.); also "The [13] virtues of the Antimoniall Cuppe," ending thus—"oft proved by T. S. Finis." On p. 214 is a note by old Mr. Napier's hand, for whose use this MS. probably was written.

2. A collection of Receipts in cookery and confectionary; beg. "To make fine cakes Mrs Disney's waye. Take 3 porringers full of fine wheat." 245—265.

The last is—"To make stocke fritters;" ending—"and thrust out that which is in it. Finis."

3. A superstitious prayer for ghostly protection, beg. In the name of Jesu, the father etc. 283—7.

Of this book pp. 209—212, 266—282, 288—298, are vacant.

- X. 1. Libellus sententiarum de generatione animalium, conceptione, natura mulierum, et secretis quibusdam. 299—303.

This title 'De mirabilibus mundi' was at first superscribed, but afterward struck through: the first words are—Muscæ et araneæ non semper; the last—omnis avis quæ inde gustat inebriatur et perdit vires.

2. Libellus "De quorundam lapidum virtutibus," alphabeticè dispositum: inc. Abaston est coloris ferri. 305—314.

In fine—Unites lapis—et est ut ignis.

3. Carmen "De regimine sanitatis [quod edidit] Schola Salerni. Anglorum regi scripsit tota Schola Salerni." 315—326.

In fine sic—Hec opus optatur quod Flos Medicinæ vocatur. Τελος. Επι παντων δ Θεος. This transcript of a celebrated poem is closely written in a hand of the time of James I.

- XI. A collection of Medical and Magical Receipts; beg. "To make rough or chapped lipps smooth." 327—341.

Very closely written: some of these things are absurd and abominable.

- XII. Secreta quædam Magica, seu de virtutibus magicis herbarum, animalium, et lapidum, libellus: inc. "Lingua Canis. A Chaldæis Algeil." 343—9.

The last paragraph is headed "Radianus," and ends thus—et est idem quod lapis Tonarides. Very neatly written in a small hand, different from that of the foregoing MS.

No. 1389.

This octavo volume contains two MSS. paged throughout by Ashmole.

- I. The first is a miscellaneous medical book, written on paper, at different times, about the year 1500, by one hand. The last 5 leaves (pp. 257—66) are vacant.

On the first leaf (beside notes about "parsele," mastic, and myrrh), is a description of Apothecaries' weights, thus headed—

“Pondus medicinale in figuris cognoscere.” p. 1.

(Compare p. 284.) On the other side is an imperfect—

Table of some of the contents of this book. (p. 2), exhibiting the titles of only 13 receipts which are contained in the first 4 pages of the following work. Seven leaves have been left vacant to finish this index in.

1. A large collection of ancient Medical Receipts, for the composition of various medicines, and for some chemical preparations; also for the cure of various diseases; beg. “For to make þe grene salve. Take smalege wormewode.” pp. 17—37, 39—47, 49—51, 72—4, 78, 80—93, 95—154, 159, 161—235, 237, 239—40, 242—6, 249—256.

Among these the following are remarkable:—

“A medyson for the pox surely provyd and tryyd;” subscribed “probatum est per me W. ADERSTON.” p. 28.

“The playster þt s’ Wylliam Faryndun knight let a squyer þt was hys presoner to goo quyte of hys rawnsyne” for having taught unto him. 139.

“A goode experyment for þe frēche pox and well provyd by GEFFERYE BARBAR of Exeter.” 146.

“For an olde sore” subscribed “RYC BENET.” 152—3 or a kanker” subscribed “s’ J. SHAP-LEY.” 153—4.

“Aqua magistri ADE DE LONDENIJS consolidans omnia ulcera antiqua post mondificationem.” 174.

At p. 221 is a remedy for deep wounds, of which the author says—“This I have moche usid and lovyd, for w^t it I hclyd þe Scheryff of Brystowe, the w^c of þe prykyng of a [p. 222] small dageris poynte as he departyd ij men, þe leserde of þe lefte arme” etc. “and w^t this cure Gode helyd S’ Wylliam Elveden and þe Mayer of Notyngum.”

Pages 159, *183, 219—*220, 237, are papers fixed in. On p. 178 is sewn a long paper, containing recipes written on both sides, marked 179—180.

2. Astrological precepts, tables, etc. namely—

How long each planet abideth in every sign, and performeth its course: beg. Saturnus hath in every sene xxx monethys. 52.

The names and natures of the 12 signs. 53.

The natures of the planets. 54—5.

Rule “To knowe what planet rayneth every owere.” 55.

The quality of every hour in the week: beg. “Sunday. the first owre the Sunday is goode to take ony jorney.” 56—61. At the end is this note—“Thes ys the ordour of the vij planetes and ther owrys. per UNNENT.”

“If thou wylt take a jorne. Aries. If the moone be.” 65—6.

Of aspects: beg. Anonge convenientes every aspect help^t. 67.

“Triplicitates signorum:” tabula. 68.

“Tabula puteorum.” 68.

A table of days “Canicwler,” and of “hard days to take any journey” (etc.) 94.

- II. A fragment of a MS. written in a small hand in the XVth century, with red capitals: it consists of 9 leaves of parchment, much discolored and hardly legible, in small square octavo.

1. The medical uses of some herbs. 267.

Beg. imperfectly thus—boches and to brcke them etc. Nose-blede. Millefoyle. zayove and nosblede: and ending thus on the next page—wormes yat are called lembryle.

*2. A Medical Glossary, explaining in English the Latin names of herbs, drugs etc. beg. “Alphita farina ordij. a’ barley flour.” 268—79^a.

Ending thus—“Zacare. a^c sugire.” It is written in columns.

3. “Cure for separation of joyuncture is this, that if case falle that a mans lythe is smetync out of joyntc or a mans lymc be smytenc oute of lythe thurghe strykyng or fullyng” etc. 280—2.

Thus ending—serve it so tille it be knytte etc.

4. Four “Enplastra pro stomako,” in English. 283.

5. Table of the weights used by Apothecaries, and an explanation of their figures and proportions. 284.

Curious: see also the first page of the volume.

6. “For to make aqua vite perfectissima. Take the rotes of sarefrage.” 285.

7. Remedy “For alle aches in þe nekke and in þe bake and for þe sekens in þe lyvere and þe splene” etc. 285.

8. “Ad faciendam bragottam dilectabilem et medicinalem habens multas virtutes.” 286.

This is all obliterated except the title, which is written partly with rubric and partly with very black ink.

9. Carmen istud superstitiosum:—

“In Dei nomine amen.”

Ja[spar] fert mirram, thus Melchior, Balthasar aurum.

Hec tria qui secum portabit nomina regum.

Solvitur a morbo Domini pi[e]tate caduco.” 286.

No. 1390.

Two MSS. on paper, forming a small octavo volume, paged nearly throughout by Ashmole: the first is fairly written on alternate pages.

Medical Receipts collected and written by MARY VYNER*, wife of Sir RICHARD NAPIER Knight. pp. 1—165.

* Her name is written at the foot of pp. 13, 15. Pages 51—63 contain prescriptions under this general title:—“These following are the things which S^r Richard Napeir gave mee before he married mee, in which I found great good.” At p. 147, is a recipe “To make the Countes of Kent’s powder.” Pp. 166—178 are vacant.

II. Medical Prescriptions and notes, by Sir RICHARD NAPIER: namely—

Præscriptiones quædam. p. 181, 183.

A purging medicine made with 4 gallons of alewort. 195.

Advice and prescriptions “for Mr Boules, Novemb. 25. 1631.” 200—3.

De podagræ curatione quædam. 209, 211—5.

De melancholia. 219, 227—8.

De paralyti. (241) 245.

* F. 38. All the other leaves of the 72 which compose this book, are vacant: the edges are not pared as the other in this volume, and some leaves are not yet cut open.

No. 1391.

Of the 101 leaves which compose this small (but broad) octavo volume, the first 31 and the last 8 were separately paged by Ashmole; but the middle 62 leaves were foliated by the ancient hand, (ff. 32—91, 95—6) of which the two last have been transposed after pp. 1—6 (ff. 92—4) of the third part. This neat little MS. was written in the XVth century, and is adorned with some painted capitals. The articles numbered within parentheses, were written at different times on vacant pages, in a less neat manner than the text of the MS.

- (1.) Tristichon pro collyrio faciendō;* et medicinales quædam notulæ. p. 2.
 * Feniculus, vervena, rosa, celidonia, ruta;
 Ex istis fit aqua, que lumina reddit acuta.

No. 1392.

A small octavo volume containing four tracts fairly written by Ashmole, at different times: the two first and two last are paged together, to the number of 124 and 64 pages.

1. A mystical treatise of occult Philosophy, or the philosophers' stone, by CHRISTOPHER TAYLOR; addressed to a Lady. (ff. '90.') p. 7—57.

His initials are at the end: on the following leaf are, a note of the mysterious number ten, with a scheme of the planets, subscribed with his name in full, (p. 59); and a diagram (p. 60) showing a square within a triangle within a circle. At the beginning (p. 2) are two introductory sentences, the second of which are these verses—

"Reade all, or leave all;
Soe am I perfect and steadye:
To reade parte, and leave parte,
Is to plucke ye limmes from ye body."

2. "A breife treatise or hypothesis of one booke called Speculum Universi, or Universall Mirrour." (pp. '136.') p. 63—101.

It begins thus—"The first booke. It is possible that in existence there can be any more then two distinct species:" but no second book appears. The punctuation of these two wordy treatises, is peculiar: they seem to have been by the same author.

3. A translation of "ANAXAGORAS his booke of Naturall Conversions. When philosophy by dilligent studdy was employed effectually for the obteyninge of studies and knowledg." p. 1—24.

Ending—"Give God ye praise. Amen."

4. An other translation of "ANAXAGORAS his booke of Conversions Naturall. When philosophy by diligent study was employed effectuously for to obteyne knowledg." p. 35—51.

Ending—"as it chanced to me, with the helpe of God. Explicit Anagor'." At the beginning is a note partly in short hand, whence it may be conjectured that this was "Christo: Taylors" own translation.

No. 1393.

The 70 leaves contained in this 12mo. or small 8vo. volume, are nine fragments (bound up very disorderly) which seem to have been parts of five distinct MSS. of the XVth century: they are therefore here described as such.

- I. Of the first MS, which is written on paper decayed in the upper corner at the back, there are three fragments; namely—(i.) six leaves, written in a common hand of the time of Henry VII., excepting the last 5 pages, which are written or scrawled by other hands;—(vii.) three leaves roughly written by divers old hands;—and (ix.) one leaf, the back of which is coarsely written by the same hand as f. 56.

- (i.) 1. "For to make a luntary* take and gader wormys callyd glaucersses." p. 1.

* A kind of phosphoric light.

2. "For to make be semying addres and snakes for to renne alle aboute the hous as thow alle the hous [p. 2.] were fulle of cdderes" etc. ibid.

3. "For to make a medicyne for to make herre to falle away." p. 2.
4. An other receipt "For the same medysyne." ib.
5. "To make coninges to comme owt of her hollys." p. 3.
6. "To drawe coninges oute of .i. plase in to another." ib.
7. "To make coninges followe the owte of .i. warain tel another." ib.
8. "To take and make gret multitude o feoninges to comme owte of her hollis" etc. p. 4.
9. "For to make a wyghte ster in a blaak hors forhed." p. 5.
10. "To make hot baken bred whenne hit is draven alle hot—for to lepe a boutte the hous." ib.
11. "For to blanche .e. or .l. take .v. and potte hit in a pot" etc. p. 6.
12. "For to make a hors be he never so lofty in the stabelle for to falle sodenly don" etc. ib.
13. "A remedy for this hors." p. 7.
14. "For to take conys w^t thy hand and for to follue the." p. 7—8.

On pp. 8 and 10 are some attempts to write letters and sentences: on p. 9 are these lines—"Maner mesureth myghtynes. Quod Myddelton. Myrthe maketh mery myndes. Many men many myndes."

"For þe mygrym a good sou. . . . Bake anonyon and cotte of." p. 12.

(vii.) 1. Verses on the complexions of the twelve signs; beg. "Este whoot and dry. Doctores woordes þt mo^w not warry." (4 st. of 4.) f. 55^a.

A better copy is in No. 391, f. 4^b.

2. "For to make persone wel to here. Take yn somer ye whyte eyrone [i. e. eggs] of pyssemrys." 56.
3. "For a sor schyn take sauge" etc. 56.
4. "For to restore a persone þt is consumed. Take þe sede of hempe." 56^b.
5. "A gode restorytyffe. Take þe levys of borage." 56^b.
6. Remedies "for a sore, for a burnyng" etc. 57^a.

The titles of these are written on the margin, and are not all legible.

II. The third, fourth, and second fragments contain pp. 85—100, 104—135, and 136—159 of a MS. which was paged in the time of Henry VIII. The two first of these are of paper: but the first having been written in a close hand at different times, and the upper corner of its leaves being eaten or rotten off, its appearance is quite different from the two others; which are written in a large running hand with rubrics, and the third is on vellum.

(iii.) *I. Directionis for preparing various Colors; namely—"okir—visage colour—carnacōn— . . . —brasile—silvere watere." f. 19.

2. "Ad faciendum filum coloratum. Ad faciendum filum uigrum. Accipe." 19.

3. Twenty-eight receipts and directions "For goud Kokery and sotilteis and goud sawees. To make a siripe for a pestel of porke. R' þe brope of porke." 19^b—22.

The last is "To make blanche pondire" (21^b), ending thus—hys is good for appetis and peris i ro. . . .

4. Liquefac lunam et superpone 4^{lum} sui vicissim viridis greci vel es usti, etc. 22.

*5. [Here] "begynneth the manere of steynyng of lynnen clothe. Tak [a qua]utite of lynnen cloþe as moche as þu wolt." 22^b—26.

Some few of these directions for the art of Dying, are in Latin: the last words are—"and þanne kerve h^t oust on gobettes and honge it oust to drie on a þrede and þan it is Sinopre.

6. [Fo]r to mak rede threde. Tak faire water and [n]ake h^t warme. Also to dye it green. 26^b.

(iv. ii.) A numerous collection of Chemical Experiments and Preparations; beg. thus—"þis is þe preperacōn and þe purgacōn of mercurie. Tak salt and mercurie and grynd hem to gedur." (pp. 104—159.) ff. 27—42^b, 7—18^b.

The rubric at the end of the first part, is—"For to make latun in þe colour of golde;" the last title is written with ink, thus—"For to congele M^o and bryng hym in to good sylver. Tak lemayl of latyn—cast h^t yn an yngot and þan yt ys don." (18^a.) It is followed by a copy of part of a receipt for gl. by John Grene clerk of Bristol from John Compton, in Latin, by a different but antient hand. On the next page are directions "For to sublyme mercury." Many parts of this book are curious.

III. The fifth fragment consists of 9 leaves of vellum, written in a hand much resembling the second and third parts of the foregoing MS.: beside these, there were 5 leaves which have been cut out; but it seems (from a fragment of one yet left) that they were blank.

(v.) A short pious tract, showing "What thyng dispose the aman righthly to lyfe;"* in five chapters. f. 43—50^b, 53^{ab}.

* This rubric is prefixed to the following short preface:—"Werfore þat þowe be riht dysposede for þe soule. þu schalt understande fyve thynges. þe fyrst is what thyng fyles aman. þe tober is what thyng makys him elene. þe thyrd is what thyng holdys hym in clenens. þe fowrte is what thyng drawes him for to ordeyn his wylle al to Goddes wylle. þe fyfte what may make hym to wex in godenesse." The end of the fifth chapter is wanting; the last page ends with these words—"and in goddys lyfe untylle þer laste ende. for þei schal It seems to be a WICLIVIAN Tract, and is a good copy so far as it goes.

IV. The sixth fragment consists of 3 leaves, two before and one after the last leaf of the fifth fragment: they are also of vellum, but written in a different hand from that MS., though they may have belonged to it. The first page is vacant, and the last is much obscured by friction.

(vi.) 1. Oratio Dominica, hisce septem versibus expressa. 51^b.

O Pater alme tuum nomen sit sanctificatum.
Adveniatque tuum regnum per secla beatum.
Velle tuum fiat in terris sicut in altis.
Tu panem nostrum da nobis cotidianum.
Debita dimittas nobis ut nos inimicis.
Et non permittas ut nos temptacio vincat:
Sed tutela malo tua nos defendat ab omni.
Amen.

2. Tetrastichon sequens. 51^b.
Sunt tria que vere faciunt me sepe dolere.
E[s]t primum durum quia scio me moriturum:
Secundum timeo, quia tempus nescio quando:
Unde magis flebo, quia nescio quo remanebo.
3. Revelatio de aquila et ampulla, facta Thomae Beket: inc. Quando ego THOMAS Archiepiscopus exul. 52^{ab}, 54^{ab}.
Ending imperfectly thus—in quodam vase plumbeo . . . It is the same as No. 59, art. 51.
- V. This MS. is not complete: it consists of two pairs of vellum leaves, between which are four pairs of paper leaves somewhat decayed: but two other pairs have been lost from beneath the inmost pair of vellum leaves; namely, between ff. 61—2, 63—4. It is neatly but very closely written.
- (viii.) 1. "Here begynnythe þe Knowynge of Urynes, ymne Englysche, wythe þe medycynes. Whyte uryne colourd as water clere. þ^t colour scheureþ þe þ^t þe splene wasteþ." f. 58—60.
Ending thus—lete hym use it and he schalle amende.
2. "Here begynnyþ þe knowlyche of þe chefe membrys of a manne, by IROCRAAS and AVICENNE docturs of fysyk. And [they] seyne first þu schalt beaynne att þe brayne." 60.
3. Rules for the judgement of urines: beg. A leche þ^t schalle see waters þe first tyme he most loke þ^t þe urynal be clene. 60—2.
Ending—and þ^t þe mydryfe is fulle of water and colde humerys.
4. "Here begynnyþ þe .iiij. compleccyouns wt owte knowliche of þe whiche .iiij. compleccōns a leche is butt blynd. Fowre compleccyouns þer bithe." 62.
Ending—and þ^t is gode for þe canere to ete hym and h^t schal ste hym forsoþe.
5. A treatise of the description and judgement of urines. 62^b—3^b.
At the foot of 62^b are four urinals drawn, with descriptions: the text on 63^a begins thus—to be corrupt. þe forseyle uryne; and at the foot of the page is the '20th urinal. The last words are—"expulsyone of venymz mater it is signe of dethe. Explicit."
6. "Diei naturalis .4. distinguuntur quadre" etc. 63^b.
7. Tractatus de natura eujusque signi, seu 'complexiones signorum:' inc. Cum cursum lune scire volueris scias quomodo sol per signa vadit. 64—5^b.
Imperfect: much being lost between these two leaves. The last words are—cum illud signum fuerit ascendens cum luna in oriente.
8. De nativitatibus: inc. Natus in aquario negligens erit. 65^b—6.
9. De hora eligenda: inc. Cum medicinam alicui dare volueris. 66.
10. "Si vis scire tocius anni varietates. vide si prima hora Ja" . . . etc. 66.
11. "Nota illo dicitur nasci in signo qui nascitur dum suum signum est consurgens" etc. 66.

12. "Tabula ad inveniendum in quo signo sit luna quolibet die:" cum duobus regulis inc. Hec tabula docet in quo signo. 66^b—7^b.
13. The following short Song, set to Music in the treble part, with the 'Tenor' subjoined:—
"Love wolle I wt onte eny varianc
Trewly to serve wt all lovelynesse
For yn hit is triste and gentilnesse
And þ^t may manne honour and avaunce." 68^b.
14. Hymnus inc. Ecce quod natura mutat sua jura, Virgo parit pura Dei filium; tribus pentastichis, quorum primum notas habet musicas. 69^{ab}.
- *15. "Enixa est puerpera. A lady þ^t was so fayre and brizt. Velut maris stella." (7 couplets, or st. of 4.) 69^b.
- *16. "Gloria tibi Domine. Chorus—qui natus est de virgine. A litil childe þ^t is i bore" (5 st. of 3, with Gloria tibi Domine to each.) 69^b.

These are two curious antient 'Christmas-Carols.'

No. 1394.

An octavo volume containing twelve small MSS. written on paper by different hands, in the time of Queen Elizabeth, James I., and Charles I. The two first seem to be by Ashmole's hand, who has paged the first seven together, and the last three together: pages 119—122, and 165—6, have been torn out, but it seems that they were vacant.

- I. An alchemical treatise, in two parts or books; the former treating chiefly of the elixirs, in 9 chapters; and the second, about projection. pp. 1—39, 41—65.
Beg. thus—Take great baye salt. The second part is written on alternate pages, and is imperfect: a fragment of a torn leaf is left between pp. 66—7.
- II. 1. "Cantilena GEORGIJ RIPLEJ. En philosophantium in hac cantilena, Summa arcana concino voce cum amœna." 38 tetrastichis. p. 67—74.
2. Ejusdem aliud exemplar, cum isto titulo—"De lapide philosophico seu de Phenice." 75—82.
The former ends thus—Ejus fructus uberes et terdules Amen. The latter thus—Ejus fructus uberes et predulcis Amen. Terz.
- III. 1. An account of the manner in which "A certayn Copper-smith in the land of Moores" and "a certayn Moore" transmuted silver into gold; written "1576. Martij 12" by Dr. JOHN DEE*. (p. 1—3.) p. 83—5.
* The MS. is evidently by his hand: he says "The sayd Copper-smith did afterward declare it to me, and I revealed yt to a cosyn of myne being an old man," who practised the same. At the end is written—Secreta nisi secretis revelanda. Laus Deo.
2. Process of preparing a water for projection on ☉ to make it perfect silver; from "Peter Italus," by the same. (p. 4—5.) p. 86—7.
3. Another preparation for making silver, by projecting on copper; intitled "The Jewe." (p. 6—9.) p. 88—91.

IV. "The Philosophers' Stone found out;" an alchemical tract, being an exposition of these allegorical verses:—

"Let the old man drinke wine till he pisse;
The meanes to the Blest Stone this is:
And in that menstruous water drawn,
The radiant brightnes of the moone.
Then east the sunne into her lapp,
That both may perish at a clapp,
Soe shall you have your full desire,
When you receive them both by fyre." p. 95—105.

Compare Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 436.

V. The making of 'the philosopher's earth' and of the white stone therewith; the manner of projection with it, and of making the red stone: beg. Take a great quantity. 109—113.

Ending—"this is the Elixer proved, and hidden in philosophers dark words. Deo gratias."

2. Another preparation; beg. Take .i. part of pur ☉. dissolve it in aqua regis. p. 113.

3. A horoscope. p. 116.

4. Genealogical scheme of the production of stones and elixirs from the elements. p. 117.

The 3 next pages are blank and undivided.

VI. 1. A projection on ♃ to make silver; or "A perfecte meadisine of .3. thinges and one. R' ♃ and ♀ crude ana." 123—5.

2. "A description of the stone. Itt is a water drawne and separated from a bodie." p. 125—130.

3. Of the working of the stone: beg. Itt dothe explyne the true worke if it be trulye wrought. p. 130—2.

4. Four alchemical experiments, the last of which "Mr Thomas Barker did tell me." p. 132—3.

5. "To convert ♀ into meadicine. The ph'ors saythe that to mortefe ♀." p. 133—5.

6. Verses on the composition of 'a good stone' to project on ♀ or ♀; beg. In arsenicke sublymed ther is a waye straight. (14 lines.) p. 139.

Compare Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 272.

7. "To make aurum potabilie. Take of ✱." p. 139.

8. "Elixer of ☉ and ☽. Pone corpus ponderosum." p. 140.

9. "A speciall meadicine of the most yellowest brymstone calcyned" etc. p. 141.

Ending thus—"And it is meadlicable to give healthe to humayne bodies teinge in the highest degree.

10. The following charge:—

"Freend Homfrae remember yor oathe and promys to me CLEMENT DRAPER yor frend and well willer, and make not thes workes comone if yo^r love yor selfe." p. 141.

11. "S^r EDWARD KELLEYS versis. The heavenlie cope hathe in hym natures fowre." (8 st. of 6.) p. 142—3.

Ending thus—"Yet shall thes rules for ever prayse there shoulde. Finis S^r E. Kellaye." Printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 332—3.

VII. 1. The length of three kinds of glass vessels. p. 147.

2. Explanation of the apothecaries' signs of weight and measure. p. 154.

3. "Characters [to denote metals and chemicals], and their interpretations," and properties. p. 156—7.

4. Fragment of a chemical experiment. p. 167.

This MS. is in the handwriting of Sir RICHARD NAPIER: it consists of a large sheet (pp. 147, etc.) folded into 16 leaves, the 9th and 10th of which are torn out, and the last 6 are not cut open.

VIII. "Exposicio super verba HERMETIS incipientia 'Verum sine mendacio,' id est ut in conciliacionem verborum confirmaret que dixerat." pp. 2.

—"Quorum mos etc'. Id est modus supponitur. Finis. Per me ROBERTUM FRELOVE." This subscription seems to be by the same hand, but with a deeper ink: the leaf is very closely written; it is of the time of Henry VII. or perhaps later.

IX. "For turpetum minerale. R' ♀ purified a iij partes amalgamed with ☉." p. '3.'

The first page of 4 leaves uncut: neatly written in the time of Queen Elizabeth.

X. 1. A tract on "The maner [or 'seven degrees' of transmutation], and what transmutation of mettells" is. p. 1—13.

Ending thus—"and transmutes the bodie of man into perfect healthe. Finis."

2. A collection of chemical experiments and preparations, and medical receipts: "To make ♀ of ♀.—These are the foure angles of the hevenes.—If yo^w will take yor copper out of the water againe, doe as followethe" etc. p. 15, 17—39.

Two at p. 36—7, are ascribed to "Doctor SELLINGE." At the end is written Finis.

3. Three chemical receipts; and directions "To drawe y^e best menster in y^e worlde." p. 40, 41—2.

XI. 1. Questions and answers about alchemy, out of "JANUS LACINIJ. Q. How many degrees is there in the art?" p. 47—50.

2. Other "Notes collected owte of JANUS LACINIUS, folio 27. padge 1. Off forme and matter, is the compounde, wch matter is ♀ and bodies unperfecte." p. 51—4.

3. Of the composition of the philosophers' stone, out of "Magister FIROVANTO." p. 61—80.

3. Other alchemical observations on the same subject, beginning with eight couplets—"Of y^e soune take the clere light To the red stone y^t is so bright etc. p. 81—94.

Two other notes are at p. 59 and 102.

XII. 1. "Intentio summaria vel Repertorium. Aqua nostru philosophica tribus naturis componitur." p. 105—116.

It seems to end thus,—et in hoc latet practica apud phures: two or three sentences follow separately.

2. "Apertorium de veri lapidis compositione. Sapientes asserunt quod tantum sit unus lapis compositus." p. 117—148.

In fine—"eujus causam quæras in Testamento nostro. Finis Apertorij."

3. "De practica animæ transmutationis pars prima. Accipe aurum et projice ipsum in aquam vegetabilem." p. 149.
 "Practica branc. . arum de mixtione abbreviata. Prima mixtio crit." p. 151—3.

Des. sic—feces de argento.

This MS. was at first designed for a Logical Common-place-book: the leaf, therefore, torn out after p. 112 and after p. 122, did not relate to its present contents.

No. 1395.

A small octavo volume neatly written throughout by Ashmole; on the second leaf is this title:—

"The Golden Fleece, or the Flower of Treasures. In wch is succinctly and methodically handled, the stone of y^e philosophers, his excellent effectes and admirable vertues; and, the better to attaine to the originall and true meanes of perfection, enriched with Figures* representing the proper colours to lyfe as they successively appere in the practise of this blessed worke. By that greate philosopher SOLOMON TRISMOSIN, Master to Paracelsus." (f. 2^a) pp. 223.

On the first page of two leaves not paged, is the following note:—"This booke was translated out of French by WILL: BACKHOUSE of Swallowfeild in com' Berks esqr: and copied from his booke. E: ASHMOLE." (f. 1^a.) On the second, is a circle with mottos in Latin and French, for a frontispiece, with this note below—"A Paris chez Charles Seuestre, rue St Jacques 1613. Avec privilege du Roy." "The Preface" occupies the first 15 pages. At the end is "A catalogue of Authors cited in this treatise," p. 224—5. On p. 227 is Ps. xlii. 6. written in Hebrew.

No. 1396.

A thick octavo volume containing a handsome MS. written on vellum in the XIVth century, in text hand, adorned with rubrics and painted capitals: it consists of 276 leaves, beside one at the beginning (that lined its former covers) on which are written these notes in Dr. Forman's hand: "vj^s empt' penultimo februarij 1598. This booke is worth xli for thexcell' of the remedies therein conteyned:" also the autograph of 'J. Smythe.'

A treatise of the "Science of Chirurgie" (or Surgery), being an old English translation of the work of "LANKFRANK;" in five books; the last of which is called the "Antidotarie." f. 1—55—104—227^b—241^b—272^b.

It begins thus—"Sirupps melisse. Take flouris of borage and þe flouris of violet [etc.—line 7—] and drynke þis with clarified whey. The firste tretis of surgerie hatt wiþinne him general ruelis and canones, and haþ iij techingis: þe firste techinge of þe firste tretis haþ þre chapitris." After reciting the contents of the two first books, the fourth page begins thus: "Now þese chapitres of þis booke bea y ordeyned. I wote fulfille my purpos pursuyage ech chapitre bi ordre and confermyng my wordis astir þe auctorite of myn auctouris. and wiþ carperment þat I have longe tyme used wiþ þe help of God. Capm. jm. Al þing þat we wolde knowe" etc.

The conclusion of the book is interesting: it is stated to have been completed in the year 1296. The last words are—"and me to forseveues of my synnes God it graunte et imperat per omnia secula seculorum. Amen. Here endep þis booke of LANKFRANK." 269^b. This rubric is almost wiped out, but appears to be correctly read, from the following on the next page—

"Here bigynneþ a table of þe chapitris of þe booke* of LANKFRANK. The firste booke conteyneþ xv. chapitris. The i. c^o. is mud of alle universal woundis and ulcers" etc. f. 270—2^b.

* The table includes all the five books of the foregoing work.

The work, from which this was translated, is the "Practica magistri LANFRANCI DE MEDIOLANO, qua dicitur Ars completa totius Chirurgie;" it may be found under this title, (preceded by the same author's "Chirurgia parva,") in a volume of antient medical treatises, Venet. 1513. fol. (Bodl. C. 2. 18, Med.) ff. 176^c—218^d. See also Fabricius, Bibl. Lat. Medii Ævi, IV. 241. ed. 4to.

On the four following leaves, were written by a hand of the XVIth century, at different times—

Various medical recipes: beg. The makinge of yellow trect of the beste. f. 273—6.

No. 1397.

A small quarto volume containing 126 leaves of vellum, of which ff. 3—69 constitute a MS. written about the end of the XIVth century, in a common hand, adorned with blue and red capitals; and ff. 70—126 consist of five lots of leaves, (each beginning with the signature a. j.) of different sizes, closely written by a hand somewhat later (seemingly of the time of Henry IV. or V.), namely, the same as the two first leaves, which bear this title:—

"Liber WILLMI GRACE Rectoris sancte Guit' Londõ. De medicinis etc." f. 1^b.

- (1.) Disticha quedam, et alii versus, de rebus medicis: inc. Dum non sunt flores, radices sumere debes. (14 vv.) 1^b.
- (2.) Notula de atate Adami, quamdiu fuerit in inferno, etc. 1^b.

The next article is written in columns, and partly on a slip of parchment sewn over the upper part of the leaf, extending beyond the margin: as there was an other sewn below, it is likely that some part of the article is lost with it.

- (3.) Vocabularium "De passionibus humani corporis;" nomina morborum explicans, Latine et Anglice: inc. Hec Soda .i. dolor capitis. 2^a.
1. Versus miscelli xxi. (partim contra mulieres) inc. Providet et tribuit Deus et labor omnia nobis. f. 3^a.
2. Versus alii xii. inc. Dindimus est sedes mons Troge [at] que foramen. 3^a.

What follows, to the end of f. 11, is all written in columns.

3. De tempore formationis fetus in utero, e libro Catholico. 3^b.
4. De frequenti S.S. studio quæ dicit PETRUS "BLESENSIS [in epistola] 32. Semper sis in exercicio scripturarum." 3^b.
5. "Qualiter infans crescit in ventre matris sue. Primo mense." 3^c.

Here is written by an other hand, a distich beg. Metra juvat animos.

6. Vocabularium, seu glossarium, herbarum nomina Anglice exponens, ordine alphabetico: inc. "A. Amantilla, potentilla, maturella: Love-wort." 4—9^a.

Ending thus—Zedoarium radix est.

7. "þese buþ þe namus of feveres os wel symple os of ham þt buþ medled wyþ dyverse materes of dyverse humorus, os wyse doctors habbiþ yprevyd.

þe furste is yclepid cotidiana vera." 9^{abd}.

Ending thus (after the eleventh kind)—þer ys also anoþer fever þt ys yclepyd efunera þt ys felaw to every syknyss þe whyche gob awey whenne al be The rest is cut off, it being written very low. Before this article was written, the third column of this leaf was occupied by—

8. Remedie "Pro dolore ventris—Pro lumbricis in ventre—Pro febre cotidiana—Pro illo qui verba profert in dormicione." 9^c.

9. "Paralipomion liber veteris testamenti est Epitome talis ac tantus est" etc. 10^a.

In this piece about the books of Chronicles, "Matheus Wyntoniensis in tractatu de preposicionibus Grecis," is quoted.

10. GUALTERI MAPIS (?) carmen de contentu mundi, inc. Cur mundus militat sub vana gloria. (9 tetrastichis.) 10^b.

Ending thus—Felix qui poterit mundum contempnere. See the note on the English translation of this poem, in No. 59, art. 55.

At the foot of this poem (to fill the column) is written a sentence beg. Historia est antiquitatis auctoritas.

11. "Nota Doctores qui exposuerunt bibliam. Genesisim exponunt Augustinus." 10^c.

12. De bibliorum translationibus; de N. Lirensis expositione; et de Raguellis admonitione in libro Tobie. 11^d.

13. Index remediorum in Macri carmine, alphabeticus, aptatus ad scholia: inc. "Abortum. 4. 9. 15. 29." 11^{a-d}.

The second leaf is wanting, (and perhaps a third,) the last word being Infantium iussim et suspiria. The numbers refer to the chapters according to the following list, which are also numbered over the pages of the text, in rubric figures.

14. Capitulorum 76, quibus tot herbas Macer descripsit, nomina cum numeris. 12^a.

Over this page is written "hic est index verus alphabeticus hujus libri" (which is true of the foregoing article but not of this;) and by the same hand this note:—"Ego Edwardus Maius electus eram autoritate regia Professor primarius philosophie et medicine in Academia Charolinâ 4^{to} Februarij 1634. que appellata erat a Carolo Museum Minervæ." This page and the first nine pages of the next article are written in small text-hand.

15. ÆMILII MACRI Carmen de viribus medicinalibus herbarum; cum nominibus earum Anglice explicatis: inc. "Mogwort or moderwort. Herbarum quasdam dicturus carmine vires." 12^b—67^b.

In fine cap. 64 "Dictum est de herbis: Jam dicendum est de speciebus:" in calce sic—"Una diagudij sic apta solutio fiat. Explicit MACER de viribus herbarum." Confer que de altero codice, No. 1398, li. 5, notanda sunt.

To fill up this page is added, by the same antient hand as the distich at f. 3^c, a remely "For if man that may not go to prevey."

16. De virtutibus herbarum quarundam:* inc. Crocus est calidus et siccus in primo gradu. 68^{ab}.

* The names of which are thus explained in the margin, in rubric:—"Saffron, Licorys, Rose mari, Tyme, Perslye."

17. "Bona medicina pro ydropisi in ventre," et alia remedia "Pro stomacho" et diversis morbis. 68^b—9^b.

(I.) 1. "In nomine sancte trinitatis. De dicta salutis [et]c. Whoso wil governe his kynde and kepe hym fro sodcyn sekens hym be hoveþ to mesure hym in ctyng." p. 1.

It is doubtful whether the second and third passages (which are also dietetic) belong to this, or be separate pieces:—this ends (p. 2.) Moche slepe gendres reuue; and they begin "Colericus et malencolicus. A coleryk man — schul ete hote metys and moist," and A man yt haþ ye lyyk: nor is it certain that the next article does not belong to this.

2. Remedies for various ailings and diseases: beg. When ye feverous bledyt at ye nose. p. 3—24.

3. "Hic incipit tractatus qui vocatur. Quid pro Quo. yt is on Englysche be cause yt alle diverse medicynus may not be founde in dyverse countres. Here is set o þing for a[n] oþur. Pro astrologia rotunda. May be take rwe of gardcyn." p. 25—9.

Ending thus—"Pro zedoaco. herbes marow. Explicit Quid pro Quo." Copies of the Latin text are in No. 399, art. 13, and No. 1398, i. 3.

4. Herbarum et medicamentorum simplicium index alphabeticus, seu vocabularium, in quo complexiones eorum notantur, et nomina explicantur Anglice: inc. "Abrotanum. g. ameroigne. Anec. soperwode." p. 30—40.

Ending thus—"Zucarum. Sugur. ea. et lau. temperate in 2º gradu." At the end of the foregoing article (p. 29) are explained the words Ambrosia, Eupatorium, Apium, Angelica: but the 3½ lines do not seem to belong to this article.

5. The medical properties of wine: beg. Nota quod old rede vyne voydyt fleume. p. 40.

6. Medical aphorisms concerning the symptoms of various diseases: beg. Nota. When ye seke slepyþ be day it is yeyl. p. 40—3.

7. Short remedies "For alle evyl humoures in mannys hed.—For ye bloody menson.—For ye quyncie." p. 43.

8. Virtutes herbarum arborum etc. quarundam, "secundum BARTHIO" GLANVILLE: inc. Nota quod ura vitis in clibanum calidum ponitur, et ibi desiccata ura passa dicitur, Anglice re-syngges. p. 44—8.

In fine—"Hec predicta. s. Bartholemeum de proprietatibus rerum."

(III.) "Quedam notabilia secundum PETRUM DE CRESCENCIJS [de re rustica.] Primo de puteo faciundo." p. 65—82.

The last leaf of this part has been cut out, and the whole has been transposed by mistake.

(II. IV.) 1. Tractatulus vel excerptum quoddam "De Medicis et eorum Medicinis. Operanti autem in facultate ista secundum artem vel scienciam istu sequencia sunt necessaria." p. 49—55.

In fine—egrotus inde concipit nam natura deficiens con-valescit.

2. Nota secundum Aristo[te]lem quod octo al minus sunt necessaria in regimine sanitatis. Primum est discreta cleccio curum rerum, etc. p. 56.

3. "Regula YPOCRATIS. Si quis repletus vel constipatus balneum." p. 56.

4. De hominis multiplici natura seu ingenio: inc. O Alexander scias quod non creavit Deus gloriosus creaturam sapientiore. p. 57.
5. De variis morbis et remediis collectanea ex auctore incerto quodam: inc. Nota ad conservandam naturalem complexionem oculorum oportet curare. 57—64, 83—96.

At the foot of p. 64 it is noted—require in fol. sequent. with a mark that occurs at the top of p. 83, which proves the connexion of the fourth part with the second. This article ends thus: Scrofule sunt dura apostemata—Item terantur amigdale et semen raphani in oleo.

6. "Here begynnyt a tretys of diverse herbis, and furst of Bytayne:" an old English poem of 43 couplets, beg. thus—

"Bytayne. To tellyn of bytayne I have grete mynde
And sythen of othur herbys os I fynde
Furst at bytayne I wyl begynne
Yat many vertues berys wt inne." p. 96—8.

But this is the only herb treated of here: the last line is—Yche stounde whyle it mai on erthe be founde. See the note on No. 1477, iii. art. 4.

7. The medical uses of some herbs: beg. "Nota. Bytayne and wormewode is gode for woundes." p. 98—9.
8. Directions "To graven up on yren.—For to make fyn water to gilt wt al.—To giltyn yren or copur.—For to write lettures of gold." p. 99.
9. "A gode poudur for al maner sykenes in mannes body.—Sirupus assentorius.—For to make watur of lyfe.—For hym þt may no slepe.—A medecyn for þe crampe." p. 99—101.
10. De doloribus et tumoribus: inc. Dolorem tibiaram et pedum curat emplastrum de semine lini. p. 101—2.
11. Distichon de atramento faciundo: scil.—

"Uncia gallarum, mediata sit uncia gummi, Quartaque vitrioli, superaddas octo phaleri." p. 102.

A little varying from that copy inserted by W. H. B. in the Retrospective Review, N. S. (1827) vol. I. p. 519.

12. Remedies "For costi[ve]nes of þe wombe" and "For hym þt spuyt." p. 102.
13. Glossariolum nomina herbarum et medicamentorum explicans: inc. Acetosa .i. allia vel panis cuculi. p. 104—6.

Some English names are given, as the last:—Ziple. Anglice Crysel.

14. "Nota. Quatuor elementa. Item quatuor humiditates in homine:" et "Quatuor partes anni." p. 106.
15. Disticha quatuor: "Colericus—Sanguineus—Fleumaticus—Malencolicus:" inc. Hirsutus fallax. p. 106—7.
16. Excerpta quædam medica, de remediis etc. inc. Nota quod salsimenta. p. 107—110.
17. De temporibus serendi et plantandi; e PETRI DE CRESCENTIIS libro. p. 110—1.
18. Excerpta e BARTHOLO. GLANVILLE, de moderato exercitio, de coloquintida, genesta, etc. p. 112—4.

19. Nota s' BARTHOLO. in liº. xviiiº. cº. 1º. in fi. Where he seithe þt beres yen y take oute of his hede" etc. "And such þing seip PICTAG' in liº. Ro' and seithe if a ryuge is y made of þe hofe of a white assc." etc. p. 114.

On f. 3 of this curious MS. is this note, "Ex lib. Davidis Hitchins," written in the time of Charles I. or II.

No. 1398.

A small quarto volume containing four MSS. on vellum (262 pages numbered by Ashmole) the two first of which, seem, from a short list of the contents written on the last leaf but one (p. 44, of which the greater part has been cut off,) to have composed one book in the time of Edward II.: they are written in small text-hand, seemingly by different scribes, (at least pp. 145—187, which are written in columns) in the latter part of the XIIIth century, and adorned with rubrics and red capitals.

- I. 1. "Incipit Cyrurgia magistri ROGERI. Post mundi fabricam ejusque decorem de terrestri substantia Deus hominem formare." p. 1—59.

In fine—"Illud quidem divino miraculo foras extrahit. Explicit Cirurgia magistri ROGERI"

2. In idem opus 'Commentum magistri RODLANDI: inc. Sicut dicit Constantinus in pantegni. humores temperamentum excutes faciunt morbi." 60—143.

In fine—"Omnis superfluitas cibi et potus eis interdicatur. comedaat bis in die. quoniam comedere semel nocet eis. sicut asserit Avicenna. et hec de cyrurgia sufficiant. Explicit Cirurg' Mag' R'."

* This title is taken from the list of contents at p. 214.

3. Quædam de morbo lepra: inc. Accidentia lepre communia sunt ista, tubera faciei, nodi crurum. 143—4.

In fine—"et ex nullo alio sollicitentur. Finito libro reddatur gracia Xp'o. Amen."

The rest of this page was filled up in the time of Edward III. with two receipts, viz.—

- "Ut videas quod alij videre non possunt. Fel de ebttþ mbscalþ miscæ cum adipe gbllynf." † Et "Unguentum contra scabiem. R. sueci lap-pat' lib. j." 144.

† These words are disguised in cypher, and are to be read catto, masculo, galline.

- II. 1. "Synonoma Medicine," seu Vocabularium vel Glossarium, in quo nomina herbarum et medicamentorum explicantur, ordine alphabetico: inc. Alphita. farina ordei. idem. p. 145—172^a.

In fine—"Zucorarium. vel zucoraria est flos vel semen augni casti. Explicit Alphita de diversis nominibus herbarum et gummarum et nominibus Grecis, exponendo ea que sunt diversa materialiter, eadem tamen realiter."

2. "Incipit Anathomia M. RICARDI.* Gallieno attestante in tegni quicunque interiorum mem- brorum cognitor esse desiderat. ipsum in anathomia diligentem esse oportet." p. 172^a—183^a.

* Cum isto disticho interveniente:—

"Hic bene quadrifida distinguitur anathomia Singula nam membra scribantur intus et extra."

In finesic—"et inde nutrimentum omnium membrorum habent commune. Sic nichil [etc. aliud distichon.] Explicit anathom[i]a Magistri RICARDI."

3. Catalogus medicaminum cum eorum substitutis, dictus 'Quid pro Quo?' inc. Omnia ea que utilia in curationibus. p. 183^b—7^a.

In fine—"Pro antiflore: mirta. Expl[ci]t quid pro quo." Vide et No. 399, art. 13.

Early in the XVth century was written in the next column—"Hic liber constat fratri Roberto Walton. ordinis carmelitarum conventus Lenn. Ex dono et consessione fratris Rogeri Roo:" (p. 187^b) and on the rest of the page—

(1.) Remedy "For ye bone ake. Take ye water." p. 187.

(2.) "Hec est cura perfectissima noviter a WILL' O SCHARNEBURNE inventa, viz. pro adustione et spermatis replecione. R' foliorum salgie." p. 187.

4. Tabula signorum xii. per tot menses: cum regula inc. Hec tabula docet in quo signo sit luna secundum naturalem lunacionem. p. 188.

Not written with the same very black ink litherto used in this part, and in a smaller character, resembling what follows.

5. EMILII MACRI Carmen de viribus herbarum; exemplar imperfectum. p. 189—212.

The texts of this MS. and No. 1397, art. 15, are so different, that the names of the herbs are here set down as they stand in the margins of this copy, with the numbers of the chapters in the other, at f. 12.

"De artemesia." 1.	"De altea." 43.	"De feniculo." 32.
absynthio. 3.	salvia. 44.	accidula. 33.
urtica. 20.	aneto. 45.	Jovis barba.
alliis. 21.	betonica. 46.	pede pulli et plantagine. 22.	savina. 27.	portulaca. 34.
lanciolata.	porro. 28.	lactuca. 35.
ruta. 23.	camomilla. 29.	rosa. 36.
viola. 24.	nepta. 30.	lilio. 37.
cepis. 12.	pulegio. 31.	satureia. 38.
abrotano. 2.	gariofilo. 70.	litargio.
marrubio. 26.	canele. 71.	eruca. 10.
ysopo. 41.	spica nardi. 73.	nasturcia. 9.
yri. 42.	spica celtica. 74.	synapi. 14.
elua. 4.	thure. 75.

The notes showing the remedies that are noticed in the text, are fairly written out in the margins here; but in the other copy they are mostly interlined, and to them the index in art. 13 refers. The last line of this copy is—Et multis causis hec subvenit in veteratis.

6. Brevis hymnus ad V. Mariam (Gaude virgo concipiens, 6 vv.) cum oratione ad eam, inc. O Maria piissima. p. 213.

"In isto libro continentur" etc. p. 214.

7. Orationes ad V. Mariam: inc. Ave Maria gratia plena! 215—6.

The second page has been worn almost illegible: the last words are—ejus meritis et precibus pervenire valeamus. per.

III. 1. Schemata et annotationes ad gradus consanguinitatis explicandos: inc. Pater principium generis. Mater quasi materia. nam causa pater est. p. 217.

2. Liber miscellaneus de rebus theologicis et moralibus, e variis auctoribus collectus, cum versibus hic atque illic intermixtis; ordine alphabetico digestus: inc. Angelus purus est in natura, reconciliator fidelis etc. p. 218^a—241^b.

This monkish Common-place-book is very curious, and not unworthy of perusal. The last entry is—

"De ventilabro versus.

Versus ventilabri quid continet est manifestum.
Nam muscas abicit, movet aera, temperat estum."

The last sentence at the foot of this column, a quotation from Gregory, (Talis debet esse dispensacio prelati etc.) belongs to the next article.

3. Alia miscellanea, sc. versus, et ex auctoribus ecclesiasticis excerpta quedam ampliora. p. 242^a—252.

Beginning with 9 verses on Baptism (. . . . scripture baptismi flaminis almi etc.) and 5 verses "De coriandro. Frigida res herbe coriandri dicitur esse." etc. The last piece begins and ends thus—In Daniele e. ii. lapis a^c precisus de monte. Item lapis angularis in Isay.—tam despectam personam indignam esse tanto honore.

The first page and 2 last leaves are not in columns. This MS. was written in the latter part of the XIIIth century, in a small and clear hand, though close: the last article was written at different times, as the passages occurred which compose it. On the first page is written "Sancte Marie de Fontibus;" to which Abbey it therefore seems to have belonged about the year 1500.

IV. "Conflictus inter Deum et Diabolum de hominis redemptione. Antiqui hostis calliditate callide superata." p. 253—261.

In fine—"et a tua petitione vices rei agentem absolvo. Explicit." This tract is fairly written in a charter-hand of the XIIIth century. The sixth leaf has been cut off; the fifth is filled up, in a smaller character by the same hand, with the following articles:—

- (1.) Notula e Maccab. lib. ii. c. xx. p. 261.
- (2.) Pars concionis in laudem S. Benedicti: iuc. Ecce ministerium beati patris nostri. p. 261.
- (3.) Sermo brevis aut postilla, super verba—"Visitabis fratres tuos si recte agant. 1^o Regum xvii. Quibus verbis visitatoribus moraliter aptatis, possunt notari duo breviter." p. 262.

Des. Debet enim caritas visitatoris esse pura simplex et of[f]iciosa.

On the upper margins of some of the pages, are written by the same hand—

(4.) Quatuor disticha miscella, quorum primum inc. Cum semel intulerit fortuna superba dolorem. p. 256—9.

Below the pages of the Cottonian copy of Wace, (Vitell. A.X.) are distichs and other curious verses written in like manner, and in a very like hand.

No. 1399.

Two collections of MSS. and papers, now forming a quarto volume, but heretofore preserved in a bundle, within a case. The papers in the first part were written by various hands, and many of them are very small; the first one is a printed paper, in black letter.

I. A collection of old Medical Receipts, Chemical Processes, &c.

1. Advertisement declaring the 'sicknesses and infirmities' which "NICHOLAS BOWDEN, Chirurgeon, cutter of the stone, and also occulest" etc. professed to cure and help.
2. Prescription for opiate pills, "For Mr. Bowden."
Neatly written, and thus indorsed.
3. Directions for making "A very excellent oyntment for shrinkinge of synowes, or for a bruse or wrinche."

Written by a hand of the time of James I., on the back of one folio leaf of the draught of an—

Inquisition of the lands and tenements of the late Robert Nueman, taken by Thomas Steward: without date.

It states that Thomas Cademan had livery from him, of Lyngey close in Kempson, in Norfolk; who was one of Ashmole's principal clients. See No. 394, art. 23.

4. Prescriptions for certain unguents, plasters, &c.

By a hand of the time of Q. Elizabeth.

- 5, 6. Prescription for a clyster, subscribed "WILLIAM WALLEY Dr."

The second is a copy of it by Ashmole.

7. Prescriptions for "A preparative" etc., a remedy against sciatica*; also directions "To soder glasse," and for a "siment."

* The name of Joh' Fuller is written against it. This article and the three next are on long narrow papers, by different old hands; and the figures are drawn with pencil only.

8. Figures set for "Mr Howell sick," and "Goody Kensey;" and directions for a chemical process.
- 9, 10. Præscriptioes pro electuario faciendò, et emplastro.

Some of Ashmole's short-hand writing is subscribed to both articles.

11. Medicines and directions prescribed for a patient, by old Mr. NAPIER.
12. Præscriptioes duæ pro pillulis aureis.
13. "Remedie for the colick," &c.
14. Letter from THO: WHARTON, M.D. prescribing medicines and directions for Ashmole, (Basing-hall-street, 20 Sept. 1648.)

Two quarto leaves: the next six are small papers.

- 15—19. Dr. WHARTON'S prescriptions for Mrs. Ashmole (16 Dec. 1639); for Mr. Ashmole (21 Sept. 1645, and 2 Feb. 1649); for Dorothy Peirce, (10 Oct. 1649); and for "M^{rs} Andrewes childe." (8 June 1650.)

- 20—2. Three several prescriptions by Dr. WHARTON.

23. Dr. WHARTON'S prescriptions of sundry medicines "For Mr. Ashmole," dated 4 Aug. 1647.

24. "Diatartarum vitriolatum ♀^{le}.—Præparatio antiparis," and a remedy "to cur the dropsi."

- 25, 26. Remedy "for the winde," by ASHMOLE; and notes of other medicines, partly in short-hand.

27. Præscriptio pro unguento quodam, scripta per GUIL. LILLY?

- 28, 29. Two prescriptions written by Ashmole: one headed "Franc: Frizer," and the other (a diet-drink) subscribed "M^r: Wakeman, June 1649."

30. "Doctor POE'S appointm^t for the tenasmos, wch he saith my lady Knowles is troubled wth."

A long narrow paper of prescriptions, thus intitled by Ashmole.

31. "The best way of brewing for stronge waters," that is for medicines mixed up with beer, as diet-drinks; by ASHMOLE.

Two papers, closely written.

32. "Additio.—Cementatio pro ☉ non bono.—Cementatio pro ☉ et ☽ simul.—Confectio lapidis, qui si saliva aut aqua humectetur, ardebit."

Closely written in an old hand: the two next are small papers, by different old hands.

33. Directions for making an "ounce of good luna."

34. Chemical notes concerning tin: beg. "The second chapter is of tine."

35. Directions "To make coullers in ordinary oyle," and with metals: also to make divers solders, "To gild upon siliver or copper," &c.

- 36, 37. "How wth $\frac{o^o}{o}$ arænæ may in one houre bee extracted ye tincture of ☉;" and how "To project this tincture upon ☽." Also other chemical processes.

Both these papers are by the same hand.

38. Two short chemical prescriptions in cyphers.

- 39, 40. "A whit powder for profection," &c.

41. "To purge ♀ to receive albaton.—An other way to purge ♀.—A medicine to dealbate ♀;" and two other chemical processes.

42. Directions for compounding a white metal.

43. Chemical process for obtaining a metal like fine gold.

These three articles are in an old hand resembling that of art. 32.

44. "To tinck lune as fair as soll," and "To blanch venus."

II. Miscellaneous remains of THEODORICUS GRAVIUS, medical, theological, and epistolary.

The first 63 leaves are in small 8vo, consisting of one small pocket-book, a fragment of an other, and 6 loose leaves: the others are, for the most part, sheets or leaves in quarto.

1. Notes and observations on the Prophets and other parts of Scripture, in German, f. 1—42.

Ff. 28, 32, are part of a letter in German, from Adam L. von Lanigenbergh, dated 25 Nov. 1626.

2. Theological notes and observations, in Latin, German, and English. 43—54^a.

Ff. 54—5 are part of the covers, of gray paper.

3. Fragments, theological, moral, and physical, in different languages: with the draught of a friendly letter. 56—61.

4. De vivendo per fidem, aphorismi decem, seu disputatiuncula. 62—3.

Theological Notes in English. 63^b.

*5. Disputatio valde bona, super ista verba, "Rom. 9. 13, Malach. 1, 2. Jacobum dilexi, Esavum autem odio habui." 64^a, 65—7.

This is very neatly written, (in the same fair hand as No. 756,) as also are some of the following articles.

6. Orationis sive disputationis de amore proximi, (ut videtur,) pars posterior. 68^{ab}.

This is the last leaf only, written on the same sheet as the next article.

*7. A political allegory, narrating "The Duckes of Bavaria sicknesse, and what happened by his curinge." 69—71^b.

8. Notæ atque protocolla ejusdam epistolæ GRAVII, (ad Naperum, ut videtur,) de vitæ suæ, studiorumque institutis, etc. 72—7.

9. Præfatio ejusdam operis, ad Physicæ Universalis studiosos inscripta. 78—80.

At the end of this sheet are some English phrases, and calculations for the number 666.

10. Epistolæ ad dominum quendam, Londini agentem, in qua patronum suum Naperum laudibus effert. 82^{ab}.

11. Epistola ad eruditum quendam, de rebus pli-losophicis: cum additamento Germanice scripto. 84—5.

12. JOHANNIS Lincolniensis Episcopi, dispensatio pro non-residentia, in gratiam Theod. Gravii, Rectoris eccl. de Linford Magna, licentia privati Consilii regii, peregrinaturi. (15 Feb. 16...) 86^a.

A copy by the hand of Gravii: damaged at the foot, so that the date is illegible.

13. Casus viri ejusdam docti, annorum 76, amplo stylo descriptus, cum quæstione de origine morbi. 87^{ab}.

14. Theologiæ mysticæ, seu Theosophiæ JACOBI BOHEMI, compendium; ejusdem quippe libri epitome, in gratiam R. T. conscripta, per GRAVIUM. 88—93^b.

15. GRAVII disputatio "De coctione materiæ morbificæ ad maturitatem." 93—7.

16. Epistola prima ROGERI LANGFORD ad Gravium, 'stupendum istum processum' ejus commendans. (Coll. Jesu, 16 Jan. 1631.) 98^a, 99^b. GRAVII responsi protocollum, ad eundem. 99^{ab}.

17, 18. Ejusdem R. LANGFORD secunda et tertia, de rebus philosophicis, ad Gravium epistolæ. (Oxon. 11 Maii, et 9 Julii 1632.) 100^{ab}, 101^b; 102^{ab}, 103^b.

GRAVII ad easdem epistolas responsiones. 101^{ab}, 103^{ab}.

19. Letter of HENRI VOM STEENWIJCH to Graviius, (18 May 1632); with the draught of his answer; both in German. 104^{ab}.

. Collections of papers, in folio, similar to these in quarto, may be found in the volume No. 1457, 1458.

No. 1400.

This number, and the three next, are now bound together in one quarto volume: it consists of two portions, marked (A) and (B).

(A) A collection of papers and small MSS. in quarto, written chiefly about the time of James I.

1. R. NAPERI notæ seu experimenta "ut ♀ vertiginus." 1^a.

2. Directions (by NAPIER) for preparing "The oyle of gold" and "The sulphur of ☿ belonging the former work, and this is purging." 3^{ab}.

3. Prescription (by NAPIER) for composing a 'hasty pudding' as a medicine. 4^a.

4. "The true way of making the vittroll of ☾." 5^a.

5. "Here after followeth some secrets of secrets, and first of all, Lutum sapientiæ boro." 6^a.

On the back of this fragment are two astrological figures, set 23 Sept. 16. ., by Forman?

6. Directions "To make the liquor of christall, most excellent for the stone;" and "To have the perfect salt or magistric of pearle," also "To extract the balsame or tincture of sulfur." 7—8.

Two leaves of this paper have been lost; for the two that remain are paged '3, 4, 5,' and these directions are numbered '4, 5, 6.' The fourth page is thus addressed, as a letter, "To my assured good friend Mr. Richard Napper at Great Linforde."

7. Directions for making and taking "Medecyne for stone in kidnies: Gardiner's." 9^a.

The leaf is thus indorsed.

8. Receipts of cookery:—"To bake beife like red deare.—To make whit broth.—To make mince pies.—For a quince pie.—To keepe yo^r quinces.—For beif pies minced." 10^{ab}.

The 3 other leaves of this sheet were left vacant: on the 2 innermost pages are fixed the three next papers.

9. Prescription for a medicine consisting of turnips, clecampane, poppies, etc. baked. 11^b.

10. Prescription for a pill and a draught, for "W. Savill to purge [the] head. This was Dr. Wrights pill by w^{ch} hee got a great estate." 12^a.

11. Remedy "For a cold and cough." 12^a.

12. "Dr. Pascall's rare experiments of ☿ [in a tube, or the Barometer,] tryed and augmented by HENRY POWER, 1653, May 3^d" and 6th at Halifax; with 'observations' thereon. 15—21.

On the first leaf of this neatly written tract, is the following note, seemingly in the handwriting of Ashmole's friend Stansby:—"Written by John Sponge, came after to Rob't Turner, then to Mr Duggett, from him to mee ye 1 Septembr 1677." 13^a.

(B) An other small collection of papers and MSS. written in the latter part of the XVIIth century.

1. Fragment of a Dialogue on alchemical subjects. (ff. '16, 17') f. 1—2^b.

Two quarto leaves of a corrected draught in a coarse hand.

2. Receipts for the composition of ointments and medicines for the mouth. 3^a, 4—7^a.

The four last leaves of a partly rotten paper MS.; f. 3^a is a fragment containing two lines only. On the last page is an account of cloth, thus headed—

"Item dd' unto John Haspolette fuller of Totintone the iij daye of november 1568." 7^b.

3. Fragment of a book on the Pestilence. 8^{ab}.

Seemingly the last half sheet of the preface of an antient work: beg. for none of them save the pestilence rayne in their tyme save Hypocrites only; ending—and they use this water—for every evill in a mans body generalle. It is in a hand of Elizabeth's time, as are also the two following papers fixed to the second leaf.

4. "To make oyle incombustible for the fixing of all mineralls." 9^a.5. Fragmentulum tractatus alchemici. 9^a.6. (1.) The conclusion of a collection of alchemical Receipts. 10^a.

The only two perfect paragraphs, are—To make viridegrecum, and Opus solis et crociferris, ending "and hit shalbe best sol God willynge." Explicit expliciat ludere scriptor eat."

(2.) An alchemical work of amalgam, called "Flos Regalis. In Dei nomine amen. In the name of God amen Take"..... 10—11.(3.) Short alchemical pieces "De natura Saturni," Jovis, Martis, etc. "De generacione lune" etc. 11^{ab}.

These are all written in a large old hand on two folio leaves, which having been folded up, have been severed across the middle by rottenness. Over the second article is a Latin note by the hand of Theodoricus Gravius.

7. (1.) A collection of Receipts relating to alchemical and mineral works. ff. 12—19^b.

Written at different times, in a stiff hand resembling Robson's. In some of the last receipts (and at f. 20^b) are decyphered cyphers, consisting of numeral figures and astrological signs for letters.

(2.) Four astrological figures; the first of which was set 1 Apr. 1568, when "Mr. W. R. and I fall in a talke aboute the farmyng of my parsson-age." 20^a, 21^a.(3.) "Ester boke 1568." 20^b—2^b.

An account of eggs and pence given as offerings by Rob. Smythe, John Cwilverhouse. Rob. Skidmore and others; written by the same hand as the foregoing article. This MS. is a long narrow folio, now consisting of 22 leaves: at least two others have been torn off at the end, and the last is but a fragment. Part of f. 16 has been cut out.

8. (1.) An alchemical tract, beg. Christes name be blessed and called in honor of him. He that listeth to profi... in the degrees of nature. 23^b—4^b.

In the first page is drawn a large dragon.

(2.) A work of ☿ and ☉ for a red powder; and "A worke on ♀." 25^a.(3.) "Oyle of salt and his worke," and other alchemical receipts. 26^{ab}.(4.) "To dulcefy metals;" etc. 27^{ab}.(5.) Of Lutum sapientum and other lutes. 28^{ab}.

These five pieces are by the hand of THOMAS ROBSON.

No. 1401.

Under this number are comprized three thin quarto MSS. and one in small 8vo. written on paper by different hands, and bound with No. 1400.

I. A collection of Remedies, receipts in Housewifery, and other curious prescriptions. ff. 1—19, 25^a.Remedies for the diseases of Horses and Cows. 24^b—22^a.

At f. 7^b is "Mr. Horwood's receipt, a present remedie for the repelling [of] the paine of the urine caused by the stone:" none other name occurs. The two innermost pages (14^b—5), and some other places, are partly written in short hand; in which character is a memorandum on the last leaf, dated 21 Sept. 1643. The four last leaves are written invertedly.

II. "Directions for the cure of the Plauge, and for preventinge the infection therof; sett downe by the Colledge of Phesitions, by the Kings Ma^{tis}: speattiall command, and appoynted by his Ma^{tis}: Justices of peace to be delivered to the severall townes and parishes wth in this weapentake. W. COLBYE* cheefe Constable of Loveden. To the Constables of Clapolle 1636." 27^a, 28—32^b.

* Subscribed also by him: on the first page is written "Clapolle 1636." (f. 26^a.) Invertedly on the back of the title, is this note written by a different hand—"Mr. Curwin and Mr. Bowyer: att the Red Bull in Strand over ag^t St Clements church." 27^b. See the note on No. 1444, vi.

III. 1. "A medicine for the coulede in an ague" and other remedies; including the composition and virtue of "D. Stevens* water." 34—5^b.

* Compare No. 1375, p. 68. These pages were written by a different hand: the four first and four last leaves of this MS. having been left blank.

2. "A Boke of Phisike," thus beg. "For the head ache. Take wood beten and the smalest leaves of eldron that you can git." (ff. 9.) 38—45^b.

Ending—"and the last time say a creed to. Thus endeth the Booke of Phisike."

Index to the contents thereof. 46—7.

"Finis scriptum Anno Dⁿⁱ 1577."

3. "A Booke of Chirurgerie": thus beg. "For to breake a felon in hast. Take three cantharides." 48—9^b.

It contains only 11 remedies, the last of which is "For a scald head:" perhaps it is imperfect.

IV. 1. Remedies for the "Diseases which infest Oxen and Kine," also 'Sheepe' and 'Swine.' 54—6^b.2. A collection of "Medicines for Horses, from Blundeville and Markham:" collected by JOHN STANSBEY. 57—64^b.

These 8 leaves were at first the whole of this MS., which is very closely written and subscribed with the collector's name. The 3 first leaves (containing the first article), and the 2 leaves (65—6) which contain what follows, were added afterward, and written by the same hand.

3. "For the changing of the haire of horses from black to white" etc. 65^a.

No. 1402.

The first MS. bearing this number, consists of two parts; the former containing 20 leaves, and the latter 8 leaves, of thick wired paper. It was written about the year 1400, in a common hand: the capitals of the former part are red, of the latter black. On the 2d page is written by the same hand, a short—

I. (1.) Recipe for a "pouder for y^c stone." 1^a.

Also by a hand of the time of Queen Elizabeth—

(2.) A list of simples to compound a medicine. 1^a.

I. Liber de compositione Aquarum Medicinalium (inc. Aqua prima simplex, secunda composita, tertia perfectissima. Simplex est que sine aliena admixtione etc.) etiam rosini, viridis Græci, salis armoniaci, lambri, unguentorum, et aliorum medicamentorum; etiam 35 Emplastrorum quæ "PAULE fecit." ff. 2—14^b—18.

The paragraphs beginning—Contra fistulam, fistula cognoscitur eo quod habeat superius foramen (at f. 11), and Ad guttam in genibus aut in stapulis removendam (at f. 14), are respectively headed 'Capit' xxv' and 'xxxiii'; and the next (which is the last before the title of the plasters) begins—Constantini in gradibus suis. Agrimonia etc. Most part of 12^b is in French.

2. Libellus de curatione vulnerum et morborum quorundam, partim Anglice*: inc. "Assit principio sancta Maria meo. Ad fracturam nervi. R. lumbrici terrestres con..... supponantur nervis." 21—5.

* These three remedies—For hym þat hathe dronke poyson or venym (24^a)—For swelling and ache on ballokkus (24^b)—To know þe fester and þe cankyr (25^a), which is the last in the book.

Of the former part of this MS. the first page and the 5 last pages are vacant; of the latter, the 7 last pages. The next MS. is fairly written on 18 leaves of paper, of the time of James I.

II. Two books of Remedies for various diseases: the former whereof comprizes "For the consumption an excellent reliefe" (1^a), Q. Elizabeth's half-yearly potion (4^a), "Gaskins powder for the plague" (4^b), the tokens of the plague, and the manner in which M^r Anthony Heyborne cured 1506 infected persons; "Doctor Burges his medicine against the plague," and many others: the latter* contains remedies for coughs pleurisy and spleen, various waters and 'secrets,' and lastly "Doctor Owen's cure for lame members." ff. 1—11—18.

* At f. 10^b are these three subscriptions:—"Here endeth the first booke. The next shall be upon the Gout and other maladies. These that follow are annexed for the present." The writer was a medical practitioner: for he says at the end of the first remedy "Thus have I cured divers within the space of twelve daies. To God I give the praise."

No. 1403.

This MS. consists of 107 leaves, some of which are blank at intervals, as 93^b—9^b etc. The original foliation is confused, and shows that many leaves (both written and vacant) are wanting. It is bound together with No. 1400, 1401, and 1402.

Dr. SIMON FORMAN'S discourse of the causes, symptoms, and remedy of the Plague; treating also of the plagues of Egypt, and other divine scourges and pestilences. ff. 1—103^b.

"The tabel and contentes of this booke" on the first 4 pages, shows that an "Epistel to the reader" and "The testimony of the author" are wanting in this MS. The work begins with a "preamble" (f. 1^a) f. 5. The last article noticed in the table is "Of the plague of God. 212." (f. 70) f. 93; after 6 vacant leaves, are the four last, marked '250, 254, 278, 280.' Compare the more complete copy, No. 1436.

One uncut sheet follows, of which only one column is written on: it is headed "Sleep," and contains—

Two prescriptions "'To cause sleepe." 104^a.

Between ff. 105^b—6a is inserted a tattered fragment about alchemy, in Forman's handwriting.

No. 1404.

A quarto MS. neatly written on 208 leaves of parchment, in the XVth century: the first leaf is lost.

1. Directions for making red rose-water: beg. Distill rede roses in your oune manere. 2^a.
2. Uricisicæ; or three books of the judgement of urines, translated, or written in English, by HENRY DANIEL in the year 1379; with a dedication* in Latin, beg. Dilecto socio in Xpo magistro Waltero de Ketten, Frater HENRICUS DANIEL ordinis Fratrum Predicatorum servulus Jesu Xⁱ etc. ff. 3—28^b—41^b—184.

* Thus ending—"et habet 40 capitula, quorum ultimum est de regulis Ysaac quas ipse dat in ultima particula libri sui de urinis. Explicit prologus in librum Uricisiarum et incipit capitulum primum. Uryn is als mykel for to sey on English as oone in the reynes. Reyns freush, renes Latyn, lendes in Englysshe." The third book ends thus—clere and shire and byghite and þt wonderly. These yevethe Ysaac the noble Jowce nere hand worde for worde in the laste boke of urⁱ. Here follow, in alternate lines of black and red, 12 elegiac distichs (inc. Sic ergo cunctorum tradidi doctrinas eorum), wherein is given the time when the work was composed; also this colophon on 184^b—"Explicit liber Uricisiarum, ex Latino in vulgariter translatus a Fratre HENRICO DANIEL ordinis Fratrum Predicatorum, omnium doctrinarum atque scienciarum in lingua Latina traditarum yperapiste et translatoris." Vide Tanneri Bibl. Brit. p. 218—9.

*3. "Abce of Algarisme. 9. 8. 7. 6. 5. 4. 3. 2. 1. Understonde that everyche of the foresaide ix figures." Subscribed "R. T." 184^b.

This curious explanation of the modern arithmetical notation, seems to have been put here to explain the references in the following article, the rubric of which is at the foot of this page.

4. "Incipit tabula libri Uricisiarum precedentis. Abstincens venter calefacit urⁱ repletus infrigidat. I^o primo ca^o 150." 185—206.

Written continuously, without breaks, except at the end of each alphabetical division.

5. De aqua vite facienda: inc. Aqua vite trifuria est. Prima dicitur simplex, secunda composita, tertia perfectissima. 206^b—8^b.

In fine—"Ista sunt rescripta de simplici aqua vite composita et perfectissima, ad exemplar originalis, extracta ex diversorum dictis philosophorum medicine artis, que primo extraxit et scripsit Frater ТИЕРНЕР ordinis predicatorum, Episcopus Cermensis Romanole juxta Romaniam."

Two receipts follow, written by a different hand in the XVth century; viz.—"Pro reformatione stomachi debilitati ex frigiditate eparis." 208^b.

No. 1405.

A quarto MS. foliated to '63' and thenceforth paged throughout to the number of 204: it seems to have been written by several hands, or at several times, in the early part of Queen Elizabeth's reign, somewhat resembling No. 48.

1. A collection of Medical Receipts and observations. f. 1—69^b.

The last page contains two recipes prescribed by "Doctour Wendy for my selfe 30 Aprilis 1547," and by Dr. Hatcher 2 May 1551. Many names occur in this collection, as "Yong Doctour Walker" f. 44.

2. "Here foloyth the speculations of uryyns. T. HARE." 71—96.

Against the title is this note:—"Thys was tried to be trew in mother Morton, who died in September 1556." The first words are—In the fyrst yf y^e uryyn be thynne: the last—"and wchanne yt ys flat to the botom yt ys calyd sedemen. Deo gratias Explicit."

3. "To declare y^e xij. syngnes and y^t kynd what every man and woman ys ordenyd by predestinacion" etc. p. 97—8.

4. "The chapter off sharp fevers aftre the practyse off VALASSUS. A sharp and contynualle fever ys y^t wch ys calyd grate wth swyftnes off his ende." p. 99—122*, 46—65.

* "There remaynyth other xij rullcs wch yow shall fynd before, after the medic' d'stractis per" (sic).

5. "Thys treatys of Astronemye and of Philosophie contrivid and mad of the wyse[st] philosph[h]ers and astronymers y^t ever was" etc. p. 123—130.

Ending—yeldethe blacke blode malocolye and somewhat wartye. See No. 1433, art. 3.

6. "Here ys the sothefast knowynge and y^e maryvyls of Astrologye, found and provyd tru, cc. yeare of God was borne, by the greate philosopher THOLOMUS, honerabull and profytable. Also yt ys to knowe everye daye." p. 130—148.

Ending—and unlearnyd pase cleere and y^t wer agaynst all reasonc.

7. The uses of "The water of wormwood" and other plants, for various diseases. p. 149—153.

8. Tables of the government of the planets and signs; also astrological and medical observations. 163—175.

9. Vocabularium medicamentorum et materiae medicæ. p. 155—161, 177—200.

The first leaf is cut out: it begins with the word Auricula, and ends with Sal sacerdotale medicinalc. On p. 201 is written an Alphabet of secret characters or shorthand; on p. 203, two short sentences of Prayer; and on p. 204, some medical Receipts, with the name of THOMAS HARE at the top.

On the first page of this MS. is written "Thomas Bokmaster," between the lines.

No. 1406.

A quarto volume containing four MSS. on paper, bound together. The first MS. is very neatly written, for the most part in secretary-hand of the XVIIth century: it consists of 93 leaves; of which the first one is blank, the 33 following were foliated by the writer, "35—66," and the remainder, written by later hands of the time of James I., was paged 1—120 by Ashmole. The numbers of these later articles are distinguished by parentheses.

- I. I. "BERNARDI TREVIRENSIS ad Thomam de Bononia, medicum regis Caroli Octavi, Responso" de metallorum solutione, et compositione, ac de lapide philosophorum: inc. Obsequijs mihi pos[s]ibilibus tibi exhibitis venerande doctor, et domine honorande, noveris me per dominum Aldericum recepisse immensam et copiosam epistolam tuam. ff. 35—66^b.

Des. Si quid vero tibi scripulum ingerat, prudenter a quo et bono animo accipias, aut mihi literis significes, et pro virili tibi satisfaciam, largiente et docente veracissimo doctore domino Jesu Christo filio Dei benedicto in secula seculorum amen, gratie sint Christo.

2. Quod "Ingeniosissimo viro Petro Droveto medico doctiss. ROBERTUS VALLENSIS Rugl." inscripsit, Compendiolum Alchemicum: inc. Mineralia que fiunt. pp. 1—2.

3. "Antiquorum philosophorum breves sententiæ, axiomata et ænigmata, quibus elixiris seu pulveris philosophici [scientiam*] involverunt. Quod est superius, est sicut quod est inferius." p. 2—6.

* Some such word is omitted. This article consists of 51 numbered sentences.

4. "Index rerum et vocum insigniorum quæ libello resp[on]sionis Bernardi Trevirensis continentur; ejus prior numerus folium, alter paginam indicat." p. 6—8.

- (1.) "Instructione for the planeta: hours," and "Cautions for the hours." p. 11—12, 13.

- (2.) "An excellent way to gett a Fayrie; but for my selfe I call Margaret Barrance, but this will obtaine any one that is not already bownd." p. 14.

- (3.) "An ungt: to annoynt under the eyelids and upon the eyelids, evninge and morninge, but especially when you call, or finde your sight not perfect." p. 15.

- (4.) A solemn invocation of a fairy named Elaby Gathen, or Elabigathan. p. 16—19.

- (5.) "A call to call any Fayrie." 20—4.

- (6.) "The Covenant:" an impious form of solemn words, engaging (in God's name) Gabriel, and all spirits good and bad, to be at the command of one 'R. W.' p. 25—30.

- (7.) The 'Charge' to spirits (named therein) to appear. p. 31—5.

- (8.) "The Discharge" for their departure. p. 35—7.

- (9.) "The Prayer to be sayd morning and eveninge," deprecating ghostly annoyance: beg. O glorious God the creator and maker of all things. p. 37—9.

- (10.) An exorcism (to one R. N.) called "Annulus Salamonis:" beg. Christ Jesus was borne in Bethlehem. p. 39—41.

- (11.) "JOHN ISAAK his great [alchemical] worke of Saturne, translated out of Flemish into Latine, by James de Sommers of Gaunt," and again into English: beg. Know my sonne, that out of Saturne proceedeth. p. 43—83.

Ending—"least he should abuse it to the distruction of himself and his neighbour. Finis." See also No. 1407, iv. art. 1.

- (12.) "Prefatiuncula GEORGIJ RIPLEIJ Canon[i]c[i], in Pupillam Oculi:" (inc. Inprimis intellige quomodo philosophus Avicenna inquit) cum ipso opusculo.* p. 85—9, 91—102.

* Inc.—"Nunc igitur ipsam practicam aggrediamur. Sic accipe." Des.—"in secula sempiterna. Finis pupillæ secund' Georgij Ripleij." (sic.)

- (13.) "Reseat for windie colike, heart colik, stone colik, and for the stren[g]thening of the kidnijs." p. 106.
- (14.) Magical rules, viz.—"To gett favour of all men.—A generall rule to be marked, not to begin nor trye any experiment in any of these dayes.—To goe invisible." Perilous days. "Ut lucreres ad alaz.—Pro amore.—For to binde a place or ground.—An excellent defensive." p. 107—110.

The articles contained in the latter part of this MS. were written by five different hands, namely—by the first, art. 1, 10, 13; second, artt. 2—5, 14; third, artt. 6—9; fourth, art. 11; fifth, art. 12. The last 5 leaves are vacant, and the next 4 were added by the binder. Ashmole has continued the paging through the written part of the next MS.

II. A treatise of the Numbers one and two, and of Unity and Chaos. pp. 131—173.

This MS. is mostly written within ruled margins, with the lines very wide apart; it is corrected in some places by the author, probably the same whose autograph is less neatly written thus at p. 131, "Liber Christophori Taylour. 1600." On the first page (127) are some notes about the elements of created things, by the same hand. The last 20 leaves are vacant.

III. A treatise of the elixir of the philosophers' stone: beg. There bithe ij elixers, elixer vite and elixer mynerall, determenyd by theorike according to practyke. pp. 1—106.

The last 10 pages contain a supplement, for the treatise ends thus on p. 103,—“Here I make anende of this boke in Latevne, thus sayng, Omne namque bonum a Domino Deo ad erum.” This MS. is of the age of Queen Elizabeth. On the first page is written “1607. Sum liber Joh. Cooper chirurgus. 2. ix.” by whom (as it seems) were written, at the end, these articles:—

- (1.) “De generatione metallorum. Argentum vivum ☉ et ☽ et omnia metalla.” p. 107.
- (2.) “Arbor* genealogica metallorum. Per primum ramum A.” p. 111.
* A tree is drawn on p. 108, with emblematical persons sitting on the branches.
- (3.) “Ænigma de affinitate metallorum. Converunt 4^{or} persone.” p. 111—2.
- (4.) Quæstio de lapide philosophorum, responsio (distichon, inc. Quid faciet lapidem), et tres alii versus. p. 112.
- (5.) “De subjecto” et “de præfatione” ejusdam libri hermetici: inc. Unum est in mundo. p. 115.

This leaf is pasted on a fragment of an old parchment Service-book with musical notes, one of the former covers of the MS.

IV. 1. “The trewe coppie of an auneynt boke written in parchement by GEORGE MARROWE monke of Nostall Abbey in Yorke sheire anno D'ni 1437, and nowe lastly coppied the first of July 1600. Non labor sed avaritia nobis fugienda. 1600.” pp. 1, 2—34.

The last words are—“yf you are wise and knowe the use ther of.” And here ends the coppie of the manuscript of St George Marrowe.”

Verses written by a monk named “BRANDON in the prayse of this booke. O that my verse was a prayse.” (1 st. of 8, and 2 couplets.) p. 35.

2. “Liber Librorum. R' the lymell of purged.” p. 36—77.

The names of old Alchemists are subjoined to some of the alchemical receipts in this article.

3. “The coppie of an old manuscript written by Sr PETER PERCYE, channon and priest of Maydestone in Kent. (He lyved anno 1486.) Augustij die 29^o anno 1600.” p. 79, 80—105.
4. A book of chemical receipts, intituled “Opus ROGERI MERRIFOOTE monachi, quod scriptum erat in pergameno vetustissimo.” p. 106, 107—194.

The first marginal title is—“Hec est fine mixt alterius metalli.” The MS. ends thus—“wh will dissolve Y indeed.” And here ends this old munke. Septembris 1600.” This article is noticed by Tanner, Bibl. Brit. p. 522.

Two leaves were stuck in about the middle of the book, (and paged by Ashmole ‘71, 73,’) which are now fixed at the end: the first page contains a curious—

Table of chemical characters and names. p. 71.

No. 1407.

A quarto volume containing nine MSS. on paper, all neatly written by THOMAS ROBSON in the time of James I.; and bound together, with 4 blank leaves between each, and many at the beginning and end. The first is the thickest, and pared at the margins: its first 16 pages were originally left vacant, but afterward filled up by the same hand, and numbered by Ashmole.

- I. (1.) Alchemical verses and prescriptions; beg. Murs in Cato his musicke doth sound. (12. l.) p. 1.
See also art. (4.)
- (2.) “The houses of the planetts are these:” also the joys and exaltations of the planets. p. 2—3.
See also notes at the top of p. 5.
- (3.) Two notes copied from ‘Docter FOREMAN’ about the matter “In the worke followinge of ☽” etc. p. 4.
- (4.) Verses and prescriptions “Out of an old booke.” p. 4.
“This I found written in an old booke before I had the copie of the worke by 7. year.”
- (5.) “The worke of ☽. ♂. ♀. and ♀. ☉ and ☾. Take of ☽ powdered.” p. 5—10.
Ending—“But I should thinke better on luna. THOMAS ROBSON 1611.”
- (6.) “The [allegorical and alchemical] Vission of JOHN DASTINE. We thought that we were ruished before the sight of the old gods.” p. 10—16.

Ending—“and be sett in the orcharde of hime, qui sine fine vivit et requat Amen. Finis visionis Johan[n]is Dastyne 1611.” This is a translation from the Latin: an other copy is in No. 1486, iii. art. 18; and a metrical version printed in Ashmole's Theatrum p. 257—268: see also his notes at p. 472—3, and Tanner, p. 219.

1. "An hundred and 29 expositions of Geber and Lully, set downe by a[n] unknowne a[un]thour, for the better understandinge of ther bookes. Geber hath writen his bookes politiquely." ff. 1—5.

2. "The first Dialogue, unfolding the darke mysticall speches of Geber in his bookes; [between] Demogorgon and Geber." f. 5^b—162^b.

Only one long dialogue is here, thus ending—"weh shall suffice me till such tyme as I shall find convenient leasure to put thes things in practise weh have hether to bine spoken. Finis 1605. THOMAS ROBSON of Hitchine."

3. "Of the white Elixer. Pluto sayth, yf soc much as agreyne of mustard seed." f. 163.

II. *1. "The booke of our proceedinge in the workes" of Alchemy, in "1611" and 1612; by THOMAS ROBSON, with Dr. Forman's preparations. pp. 1—8, f. 1a.

The ten first pages contain loosely written notes, the first of which is called in the Index at f. 70, "A watter from Mr Willoby. 1." This article is exceedingly curious.

2. Thirteen chemical receipts:—"A blancher good and profittable.—To toughe mettalls.—To fixe mercury" etc. f. 4—5.

F. 3 has been cut out: it appears from the Index to have contained "An elixir for white and red."

3. "A decleration of certaine Preceptes or comandements to be observed in the arte of alchimy, by all practitioners herin: and also Rules necessary to be diligently noted of all young philosophers or practitioners in naturall philosophy. Bycause that in the setting forth." 6—8.

4. "The sayings of GUIDO" about the elixir: beg. Guido the great philor seyth that a body in weh is pure quicksilver. 10^a.

This title is taken from the Index.

5. A translation of "The Kye of RAYMOND LULLY called his Apertory, in weh althings that are required in ye worke of alkamy are playnly declared. We have called this worke our Kye." 10—16^b.

The 16th chapter thus ends—"it wilbe changed into moste fine ☉. Finis."

6. "A vigitable menstrue. Take of white tartar." 16^b—7.

Called RIPLEY'S in the Index.

7. "A worke weh I found in one of Mr. Forman's old books, weh as I take it, it was that for weh he had prepared his blewe powder for, weh was in the long glasse. Take ☿ well purged by 7 tymes sublymation." 17^a.

8. "Hereafter followeth Sublymation, a parte of this arte, what it is, and what parte and tymes of the worke it doth hould, and howe and after what maner the worke man ought to understand hereof, according to the meaning of the philosophers. For bycause sublymation doth occupie." 17—19^b.

9. "The ferment for ☉. Let your ☉ be first mercurized." 19^b—20.

At the foot of f. 19^b is a note by old Richard Napier.

10. "To fix amalgame." 20.

11. "The prologe to the universall stone:" (beg. Forasmuch as in the first parte of our worke of alchimy) with the tract thereof, in two parts. 20^b—2^b.

12. "To make ☿ maliable to abid the hamer." 22^b.

13. "A true tincture for ☉." 23.

14, 15. "The worke of ☉ and ☿ of ♃." 23^b.

16. "The worke of a Moore." ib.

17. "A perfiectt waye to make the philosophers medicin. Take 1 part of ☿ subly[m]d or calcind." ib.

18. "Another waye and most surest of all. Take 1 parte of the ♁ of ☿ subly." 24.

19. "To make what you will that no fier shall pi[er]ce it." ib.

Called in the Index, "A lute to make vessells of."

20. "To have a ☉ called the Philo^{rs} ☉." 24^{ab}.

Napier explains this character (in a note) "water or vineger:" but in the Index it is called sulphur.

21. "The dis[s]olving watter for potable gould."

22. "The watter of honyc, in weh gold pearle and corral calcined are to be dulcified." 25^b.

"This water is to make aurum potable." Napier's note.

23. "The aqua vitæ for the same use." ib.

24, 25. "The composition of potable gold most excelente;" and "The next making of aurum potable." 26^a, 26^b.

With many notes by Napier.

26, 27. "Now to make the oyle of gold;" and "To have the quintessence of gold." 26^b.

28. "Another way to make the quintessence of gold." 27^b.

29, 30. "An excelent potable gold wthout great coste;" and "The making of another potable gold." 27^b.

Many of Napier's notes and corrections are on f. 28^a.

31. "To make potable gold or magistery of gold." 28^b.

32. "To have the oyle or tincture of gold." ib.

33—35. "The preparation of gold;" also "of potable gold;" and "The aqua vitæ" for the same. 29.

114. "A balme to heale any wound y^t is cuerable." 69^a.
- An Index, or imperfect list of the contents of this book. 70^{abc}.
- It extends only to f. 44.
- III. 1. "A medicine taken forth of Sr EDWARD VEER's booke. Deare brother if you determine to followe the arte of alchymy." f. 76—8.

On 78^b are drawn the shapes of the furnace and retorts herein mentioned. An other copy, by the same hand, is in No. 1418, iii. art. 28.

2. Translation of an epistle of "RAYMUNDUS [LULLIUS] to Kinge Edwarde of Woodstocke. To cam to the precepts of alchymy." 79—80^b.

Compare No. 1418, iii. art. 25, written by the same hand.

3. "The philo^s matter of myght.—A menstree solative.—Of the elixer generall:" and other chemical prescriptions. 81—3^b.

IV. 1. "ISAKE HOLLANDES his great worke [or 'The Vegetable Book:'] beg.] Know thou my sonne that the stone w^{ch} men call the stone of the philo^s." p. 1—16.

Ending—least that he should abuse it to the hurte of him selfe and his neighbor. See also No. 1406, i. art. (11).

Ending—are named colorably to deceave fooles.

V. "Here begeneth a parte [namely, chapters 27—39] of the booke of Mercuries, w^{ch} I have read, of the Testament of RAYMUND LULLIY, and have made choyce thereof by it selfe for y^e better understanding of y^e rest of the works in other bookes both of his owne and other men's writings" etc. pp. *2, 1—23.

The circular table explaining the symbolical letters, occupies p. 25.

VI. 1. Select passages concerning the working of the white and red stones, from the books of DUNSTAN, RIPLEY, and S. NORTON. pp. 1—18.

The three first passages are thus headed—

"The practical part of the vigitable stone of Mr Dunstone bishope of Canterbury. Take the green lyon." p. 1.

"The first practice of this vigitable stone, by George Riplye Cannone of Bridlington. Take 30 ll of ½ calcined." p. 1.

"Mr Samiwell Norton, being George Riplyes scoller, did write unto Queene Elizabeth in the year 1578 as followeth. Take redd lead or minium." p. 2.

2. "The Elixer of lyfe, after M^r NORTON, forth of GEORGE RIPLYES bosom-booke, and forth of his great graant father his workes, who live[d] in Riplye his tyme. In this vigitable treatis." p. 18—24.

VII. 1. "To y^e glorie of allmightie God hyer followeth the phōrs ♀ and concequentlye y^e stone of increase out of Saturnus. anno 1595. December y^e six daye. Forthe of Saturnus dothe com a stone." p. 1—16.

Ending—with an intent to help the poore &c. Finis Deo gratias amen.

2. Recipe "To make strong alkaly. R' pott ashes." p. 17.

VIII. 1. "The Merrere of Philosophy of M^r. JOHN DASTIN, beinge the Rosary of ARNOLDUS. The first governance. Take ♀ sufficient for your use." p. 1—11.

Ending—and this cureth all the infruities of man's body, in the same maner as is sayd in Isacke Hollandus. See a notice of the Latin text, in Tanner, p. 219.

2. "The worke of JOHANNES BUBELLUS, Englishe-man, who lived in the ycare of our Lord 1384, [concerning the elixer.] Take ♀ sufficiente for thy worke." p. 12—17.

Ending—converting it into his nature. And here endeth the worke of Johannes Bubellus, who lived in the year 1384." He is not named in Tanner.

IX. 1. A tract of the working of the philosophers' stone, in 14 chapters: beg. "Of the first maner of practisinge in the stone rebis. In the first maner thus we proced to practise." p. 1—13.

Ending—prayse and glory evermore amen.

2. "Prefatiuncula G. RIPLEY [ejusque 'Practica'] in Pupillam Alchimie. First understand howe the notable philoso^r Auscu sayth." p. 13—20.

3. "This that followeth is taken forth of the uncutt boke of RIPLEY'S:" namely, prescriptions for "Sharpe vineger.—The purging of ♀.—Elixer" etc. p. 21—4.

No. 1408.

A quarto volume containing sundry MSS. on paper, written about the time of James I. and seemingly part of Napier's collection.

The first leaf is not numbered, and contains, on its second page, an enumeration of all the contents of ff. 1—22, by the same hand; also a receipt for "Red Incke."

I. 1. Tractatus (seu excerpta e GEBERO) "De lapide philosophico. Invenimus autem modernos." f. 1—9.

In fine—nostram scientiam quam ex antiquorum libris abbreviavimus. Finis libri de Investigatione Perfectinnis GEBERI."

2. Excerpta "Ex libro 2^o Summæ Perfectionis GEBERI. De medicinis primi ordinis Venerem dealbantibus. Ex ordinis." 9^b—13^b, 14—16.

3. "Practica Magistri ODOMARI ad discipulum. Cogis me frater Ludovice contra omnium philosophorum praecepta militare." 16—20.

The last title is "Aquaë vitæ simplicis preparatio."

4. "Liber 12^m Aquarum, ex libro EMANUEL. Accipe arg^m vivum." 20—1.

Des.—nisi D primo fixetur.

5. "Frustum de lythargirio.—Oleum album fixum philosophicum.—Oleum rubicundum fixativum." 21^b—2.

6. "Reverendi Doctoris EDOARDI CRADOOCI documentum. Lapis philosophicus est duarum martiarum." 22^b—3.

See Wood's Athenæ, 4to ed. I. 633.

7. "Modus tingendi ☿." et "Aqua ☿ialis et pennensis." 23.
 8. "Practica CARIVANTIS Hispani. R. sulphuris vivi." 23^b.

Des.—et fiet Sol optimus.

9. "Elixir," (inc. Cape ☿ vulgarem et dissolves) et alia multa experimenta chemica. 23^b—31^b.

Some in the 3 last leaves are in English: one is headed "A conceite of myne owne."

Between ff. 13—14 are inserted two leaves, written by the same hand, and intitled—

10. "A collection out of certein [chemical] notes of JOHN MAISTER gent. sent to me." *14—*15.
 11. "Notes of mine owne collection out of th' accurtacons of RAYMONDE LULLEY." *15^{ab}.

- II. 1. A charm for the stopping of blood. p. 4.

Also "This alphabet appertains to the booke followinge."

2. A collection of chemical receipts and experiments. p. 5—19.

What follows is written by an other hand, and separately paged by Ashmole.

3. "Here beginith the Antydatory of this present worke." p. 1.

A list of the titles, under these heads, Aqua, crocus, lac, oleum, sal, sublimatio, rubificatio.

- "Here beginith the makyng of the materials of this Antydatorium before sayd, written for [the work of the] elxser, by Fryer F. of th' order off the graye fryers etc. R³ mercurium in a great quantete." p. 2—17.

Ending—"Red as bloud of a dragone in the wch water of ☿ solved red and then mixe them. Finis."

- 4, 5. An alchemical testament: beg. In the name od so be itt. Exsilence by the gr. . . . God unto the sonne of Sallamone by the . . . he I make my testament. p. 17—18; 19—20.

Two copies by the same hand; the former having been damaged by fire or heat. On p. 18 is a short note called in the margin "John Mayer's judgement."

- III. An alchemical tract, beg. Nothinge can be derived or ingendrede, but of his owne propper and inveniabile beginings. p. 1—14.

Written by T. ROBSON (compare No. 1407): pages 8, 15—16 are left vacant.

- IV. 1. "Certeyne notes concerning the first matter of the philosophers' stone:" collected from various old authors by T. ROBSON: beg. Arnoldus sayth thou that desierest to search out the secretts of this arte. p. 1—13.

2. A collection of chemical operations and experiments ("To purge ☿ 2" etc.) by the same writer. p. 13—28, 33—5.

3. "Notes gathered out of Guido de Monte-majore," by the same. p. 32.

On the last page of a sheet wrongly put between p. 28, 33. Ashmole has continued the paging of this MS. to p. 385 in the tenth MS.

- V. 1. Sundry alchemical operations, translated from the Latin: * beg. R. common salt lib' 30, tartar of strong wyne lib' 30, salt of oke wood or of beech or of the ashes of a vine lib' 5. etc. p. 45—54.

* In MS. vi. Ending—"Projection is also otherwise made, but this is the easiest and profitable, wch I do use and will. Finis." The next article is written on 3 pages of the five leaves following.

2. Chemical operations, in the mixture of metals, etc. viz. "☿ into ☾.—☿ into ☽.—The water of eggs rectified" etc. p. 60—1, 64.

- VI. Operationes alchemicæ: inc. "Deo omnipotentis honor. Omnia fata. Sume salis communis lib' 30." p. 73—81.

Des.—"sed hæc est facilissima et proficua qua ego utor et utar. Fruere feliciter." Written by the same hand as the translation in MS. v. art. 1.

- VII. Another collection of alchemical operations and experiments, translated from various old authors: beg. with "Elixir album according to ROGER BACON. R. 1^h of ☿ sublymed white." p. 93—119.

At p. 103 is a recipe "To congeal argent vive according to Frier BUNGAY;" two recipes at p. 110 are taken from 'the Golden Practise' and "Arnold de Villa-nova in Rosario Philosophorum, lib. 2. cap. 3." The last is for "A perdurable red water." Seven blank pages follow.

- VIII. 1. An apology for the obscurity of alchemical books, and the secrecy observed by the professors of this art: beg. Forasmuch right worshipfull it was tolde mee that you should say you knowe butt one of my theorike. p. 135—150.

In the latter part of this curious but stupid tract, Chaucer and Norton are repeatedly quoted. The last words are—this is a token of good lucke. That it is a transcript of an older MS. is evident from the "Nota Margi:" here copied at the end.

2. "A Treatise and Journey of the most famous Mr SALOMON TRISMOSINI, together with excellent tinctures." p. 151—6—169.

The 'journey' is the former part of this book, and contains a curious autobiography of the author, who was a Dutchman: he began to travel in search of alchemical knowledge, in 1473. The title of the 'treatise' is this—"The booke is called Trismosin, wherein 3 greate tinctures are to be founde, and other pieces of worke more, as followeth." (p. 156.) It ends thus—Now praise God at thy worke, and bestow abundantly to the poore, then will thy fortune increase.

3. "Copulature, or the first beginninge of Mettalls; which Mr J. C.* hath written and ordeyned to the entrance of the universall tincture. Practica Philosophorum. What the mercury of philosophers and the beginninge of all y^e 7 mettalls." p. 169—176.

* JEROME CRINOT: see the next article, to which it relates.

4. "Universalis Tinctura, of Mr. HYERONIMI

CRINOTI, translated out of this alphabet,* and out of secrett writings, which are founde amonge the treasure of the Aegyptian bookes by the writings of TRISMOSIN. I GEORGE BILTDORFF Abbat at this time at S. Morin give witness that Hieronimus Crinot, Deuchman, which hath lived a long time in Aegypte amongst the heathen." p. 177—194.†

* Which is not here given. The preface, partly written by the translator, ends thus—"I Biltdorff have translated this preface out of secrette letters" etc. p. 178. The book ends—"for God the highest will not have us all riche. Finis. Lectori. Those three following augmentations are sett hyther, because that the auntient writing is yet to be seene, and Biltdorff giveth witness to Crinot in this Universall."

† In the paging Ashmole has passed on from 179 to 191.

5. "Three augmentations out of the wrytings of Mr. George Biltdorffer, which hath been Abbot at Sancte Morino." p. 195—204.

6. "Elixir and tincture of THEOPHRASTE*, curinge the lepric, the gout, the dropsie, apoplexie, and all other kinds of diseases. Take good wine, putt it into a cucurbit." p. 205—13.

* The same person who is named in artt. 7—9.

7. "The tinctures of PARACELSE. The manner to sow the seed in the earth." 213.

The last title is "Of the green lyon," (perhaps a separate article) 219—20.

8. "An augment with ☿ of ♃ of JOANNIS TRITHEMIJ Abbot in Spanheim, the which D. Paracelsus hath received, and this is written [and translated] out of his owne hand's writing. Joannes Trithemius—hath bestowed the—preparation of ☿ ♃ unto one of his coussens to gett his living therewithall" etc. p. 220—4.

Ending—"glasse to use to thy worke. Finis."

9. "The testamente of THEOPHRASTI PARACELSI, whearin the transmutation of the 7. metalles is declared, how they shall be turned into ☉. vide lib. pag 48." p. 224—7.

Ending—"and then his stone is rubin coloured. Finis. Hactenus Paracelsica."

10. "The spirituall Sonne*, [translated] out of the booke of Carneson BARTHOLOMEI KORNDOFFERS. A tincture with Venus, Mars, and Mercury. Dissolve 4 unces of the best steell." p. 228—30.

* Or Sun; a water so called, 'whearin ♃ is turnd into ☉ in 14 dayes.'

11. "A particular peece of worke" (beg. Take 1½ unces of good stemo) also "An other peece of worke, which I have found to be vere true," and "An other peece." p. 231—2—3.

12. "A perpetuall fier. An ancient processe wryten by a Carthusian Moncke before 100 yeares lefft, and afterward founde out, which is an mercurial water whearin luna is turned into ☉ in 8 houres." p. 234—6.

Also a direction to "Make oyle of ☿ thns."

13. "A vere ancient processe, wrytten by a Carthusian Monke [etc.] Lett flowe 2 pounce of ♃, projecte into it one pounce of crude ☿." p. 237—8.

14. "An other tincture of a Moncke named Pater GREGORIUS, a discipel of Mr. Arnoldus de Villanova, tayning one parte, 50 partes of ☿ in ☉. [p. 239] He took one unce of feyled or beaten ☉." p. 238.

15. "Two eternall unquenchable burning temporall lights of Mr. TRITTEMIO Abbat at Sponheim, described by the haude of BARTHOLOMEUS KORNDOFFER." p. 239—44.

At the end of this curious article is a reference to p. 102 of the book from which it was translated, for 'the form of the glasse.' On the last page are these words—"O thou fixed light, who is able to paye for thee? Laus Deo et gloria semper. Finis particularium tincturarum."

16. "A preface of the Aegyptian royall tincture," (beg. The great philosopher Crinot) dated in the year 1490. p. 245—6.

"The tincture of the great Aegyptian King Xophar, King at Silon, wryten by CRINOT. O Refsonila fechdans. Take a pounce of Marcasit of ☉." p. 247—50.

Ending—this tyneth ♃ to pale ☉. Amen.

17. "The booke Suforethon of SALOMON TRISMOSINE;" (etc.) about the tincture of the 'Aegyptian King Xopholat [who] hath prolonged his life 300 yeares' therewith! written by CRINOT. p. 250—3.

Beg. All great princes: ending—and the water is prepared.

18. "The booke Cangenireron of SALOMON TRISMOSIN, whearin 9 tinctures are contayned which springe all out of the roote" (etc.) beg. A salt is drawen out of all metalls. p. 254—70.

Ending—and it is a treasure surpassing all treasures.

19. "The Red Eagle of SALOMON TRISMOSINE whearwith marvellous thinges are to be done in pretious stones and mettalls. I Salomon Trismosine must needes declare and open." p. 270—278.

Ending—"the which note well. Ende of the red eagle."

20. "Moratosan. The booke [of] SALOMON TRISMOSIN of 8 tinctures. I Salomon Trismosin wryte a secrette of the astrolicke tincture unto thee, that is the Blacke springled Eagle in his spirituality." p. 278—283.

Unfinished, ending with these catch-words The third. Five pages were left vacant, but on the last is written by the same hand (invertedly)—

"A note of such bookes as I should buy at my next going to London." p. 288. Namely—Arthur Goldings true belief of a Christian, 1610; Camden's Remains, 1605; etc.

The first leaf of this MS. (which is torn) being vacant, old Mr. Napier, whose notes occur in many places, as at p. 157, 158, 196, 280,—wrote on it the prescription of "S[ir] K[enelm] D[igby's] pills for the head." p. 135.

IX. "Rudimenta Chymica, cum selectioribus quibusdam ad quamlibet partem exemplis. A DD.

F. GILLOT. Alchymicæ 7^m sunt gradus, viz. Calciniatio." p. 301—311.

In fine—"robustioribus singulis diebus. Deo sit laus in secula. Amen."

The hand-writing of this MS. is different from the others in this volume; it has many rubrics. 21 blank pages follow it. The two first leaves seem to have been its cover: on the second is written by Napier, a short—

Inscription commemorating the religious death of Mary Queen of Scots; by RICH. FLETCHER, Dean of Peterborough. p. 299.

X. 1. "A woorke of .) . M^r CARNABY of Chichester;" written "per 'TR.'" p. 343—4.

Written on the second of 4 leaves distinct from the rest of the MS. which seems, from the impression on p. 349, to have had a fragment of a large antient MS. for its cover.

2. The proportions of '20' drugs composing "Emplastrum sticticum," and the manner of making it. p. 350, 351.

3. "Vasis dispositio ad opus nostrum conveniens, secundum traditionem cujusdam Ferrarij nomine dictum. Fiat concha vitrea rotunda." p. 353.

"Turba Philosophorum. Istud igitur rotundum spirituale." ib.

"Magisterium furni et sic fiat. R' de luto magisterij." p. 354—6.

In fine—"vide mira ingenia—sæculorum sæcula amen Deo gratias. Explicit hoc opus vere aureum et divinum. amen. amen."

4. "The Italian booke translated, of the perfit woorke of Camphora practised by CHERICO Abbott of Colomenia. First to make the bodie. Prepare (in the name of God) good aqua vite." p. 359—61.

Ending—And so this particular woorke is finished:—Amen.

On the two next pages are drawn three chemical vessels. p. 364—5.

5. An alchemical tract intitled "Symplicitie ys the way to veritie. C. 1. This divine science hath only one substance." p. 367—8.

Ending—"the 4 elementes etc. Deo gratias Amen."

6. "A medicin of ♀ precipitat for y^e health of man.—An experiment of ☉ by Q. Katherin.—An elixer for ☉ or ♃." p. 370, 371—2.

7. "Opus particulare ex veris procedens principijs: cujus una pars tingit 100 partes ♀ purgatæ in ♃^{am} veram. Dominus perpetuus in Hillischem, bonæ memoriæ, homo hoc opere usus, ædificia plurima." 373.

Cum pluribus aliis operationibus et experimentis, usque p. 385.

8. "Tinctura nobilissima et vera, ad tingendum ♃^{am} in optimum ☉^{em}. ad 24 carettes, habita a quodam Saraceno, et a pluribus probatur. R' auri purissimi pulverisati." p. 387—9.

9. "Compositio aquæ fortis corrosivæ, ad dissolvendum ☉^m et ♃^m." cum multis aliis operationibus. p. 391—402.

10. "The philosophers' ⚞. Make a perfect bodie viz. ☉. into most fine filinge." 403—6.

Compare xi. art. 7.

11. "Aquæ duæ sequentes ingressione dant in qualibet mettalla aqua. Aqua ♀^y et ♃ⁱ simul sie fit." p. 407—8.

12. "The ebreivation of the philosophers stonc accordinge to Geber etc. Take the calx." 409—410.

13. "A woorke of ☉. Accipe ☉ bene calcinati." p. 411.

The remaining 7 leaves of this book (pp. 413—26) are left blank, except the last page, which contains a chemical prescription in false letters, like the next article, and (having been written invertedly), is reversed so as to be p. 419.

XI. "Tp cblekuf ☉. or ♃. Take 40z. of eknbbbrk." p. 1—2.

Written by the same hand as the foregoing MS. Three leaves preceding this page are vacant, except a few words written in this cypher; which consists in putting, for some letters, the letter next following it in the alphabet.

2. "The like Key of RAYMUND LULLY, a Spaniard of y^e Majorican isle, w^{ch} is called y^e Opener of y^e Locke wherin all things w^{ch} ar required in y^e work of alchymie, ar plainely set foorthe and declared. Wee have called this our worke y^e lyttle key." p. 3—22.

Ending—"into most true Soll for all examynacōns whatsoever. Finis."

3. "Duo bazili[s]ci cum duplici elixer, compositio bazaliscorum nostrorum, et 1^m menstruum sive menstruale separativum. Bukpf gæmk." p. 23—7.

Partly in Latin, partly in false letters in English.

4. "A perfect and most tried conclusion for ☉ and ♃. Whosoever knowethe to sutilyate." Also "Ad rubeum. 1. Take y^e best." p. 31—2—3.

5. "To tincture ♃ into ☉. Take one part of tutia." p. 35.

6. "To make aurum potabile. Take the best." p. 36.

7. "The philosophers' ⚞." p. 37—9.

Seemingly an other version of the same as x. art. 10.

On the next page is the name of "Robert Burreyngton" but not that of the writer of the MS.

XII. 1. "Dealbacio bona et fortis pro moneta Regis Neapolitani. Fiat amalgame ex una parte ♃." etc. p. 41—2.

2. "A blancher.—To purge ♀ for the medicine.—To make o-o metalline," and other experiments, by one ROBINSON.* p. 43—7.

* Whose name is in the margin against the first. These two articles were written by Ashmole on the 4 first of many blank leaves bound up at the end: there are also 4 leaves placed between all the MSS. in this volume, which he has usually included in the paging. One leaf, written by an old hand, is here inserted: containing—

3. Direction to procure mercury: beg. Take sal atcali and poure upon it the pure urine of children. p. 49.

No. 1409.

A quarto volume containing 146 numbered leaves of paper, and one at the beginning, on the back of which are written the titles of the tracts contained therein. It is fairly written in an Italian hand of the XVIIth century.

1. "Lo Specchio dell' Alchimia di RUGGIER BACCONE Inglese, tradotto della Lattina, nella lingua volgare Italiana. Proemio. Con diverse anime e adombrati modi." f. 1—14.
 2. "Breve trattato d' ARISTOTILE, sopra la pietra de filosofi. Essendo, che ogni corpo." 15—25.
 3. "Breve trattato d' AVICENA, dell' arte e scienza dell' alchimia dove si tratta de tutto quel che si ricreha nella pratica di questo magisterio, tradotto d' Latino in volgare. Questo libro nel quale trattaro della pietra de filosofi." 26—51.
 4. "Apertorio di RAIMONDO [LULLIO] della vera composition della pietra de filosofi. Affermano i dotti, che la pietra." 52—69.
 5. "Prattica d' alchimia de RAIMONDO LULLIO. La corrottione e la purificatione." 70—96^b.
 6. "Trattato de alchimia de RAIMONDO LULLO, dove si contiene tutta l'arte compitamente. Por che per un longhissimo tempo." 98—128.
 7. "Trattato de RAIMONDO LULLO de Mercurij. Principalmenti e di bisogno intendere li modi." 129—132.
- "Tavola de tutti li capitoli del presenti libro." 142—3^b.

Here is a more complete view of the contents than on the second page of this volume; showing the titles of the subdivisions, with references to the pages of the MS.

No. 1410.

A thick quarto volume consisting of vellum and paper in the proportion of 2 sheets to 4, and containing 630 written pages, beside 5 vacant leaves of vellum at the end; on one of which is the autograph of "Christopher Taylour 1585." The MS. was fairly written in the early part of the XVth century: the title on the first page is by an other antient hand.

"Incipit Liliū Medicine" a BERNARDO DE GORDONIO "in studio Montis Pessulani post annum xx^m lecture nostre" compositum, mense Julio anno 1303; in septem partes distributum: cujus prologus ita inc. Interrogatus a quodam Socrates quomodo possit optime dicere. pp. 1—630.

The prologue is followed by the titles of the 30 chapters of the first part, which begins thus—Febris est calor innaturalis. The 25th chapter of the seventh part (which begins at p. 566) ends thus—"et sine ista factum est nichil, et libellus de graduatione. Explicit."

The Harleian MS. 3698, is a copy written in the year 1304. (Catal. III. 52.) See Tanner, p. 333.

No. 1411.

A quarto MS. written on paper in the time of James I., irregularly foliated and paged to the number of 430, beside a blank leaf at the end: the first 14 leaves are wanting.

A large treatise of Medicine (by Dr. SIMON FORMAN?) in two parts; first "Of the blood" and other humors; second "Of the curing of diseases by the triplicities of the signes, accordinge to a philosophicall order:" with a collection of choicē Remedies, and an "Index." pp. 19—147—405—426; 428—30.

No. 1412.

A quarto MS. fairly written on paper in the time of James I., thus intituled on the second page:—

"A Herball of the noble and well learned maister Doctor BARTHOLOMEUS CHARICHTER, late Phisician to the Romaine Emperors majestic Lo: Maximilianus y^e Second &c. "Begun the 15th day of October 1608, to be translated out of Dutch into Englishe, and ended the 16th day of November, anno eodem." With a Preface, abridged by the translator from the preface of Michael Toxites M. D. the former editor. ff. 1^b, 2—4.

* An alphabetical index of the herbs, occupies part of p. 137 and 3 unnumbered pages that intervene, before "The seconde booke [or part, treating] of the Phisicke of the bodie."

There are nine leaves at the beginning, where Ashmole has written

- (1.) The title of the Author's Curando Ratio. (1572.) f. 5^a.
- (2.) "Nota, in gathering of herbs, roots, seedes, &c." 5^b—6.
- (3.) Remedium "Adversus epilepticum gravissimum et caducum morbum." 6^a.

No. 1413.

A quarto volume containing five MSS. of different sizes, written by different hands, and paged throughout by Ashmole: they are all on paper except the first, which consists of 12 miserably discolored leaves of parchement, written in the XVth century.

I. "Tabula de judicio Urinarum per colores et contenta, exposita per venerabilem doctorem in medicina, et medicum domini Regis illustrissimi principis Henrici Sexti a conquestu regni Anglie, cuius anime propicietur Deus. Amen. Amen." p. 1.

The last recipe is "Emplastrum cathagan' R' of letarge of gold." It is followed by one "To make dama[s]ke watnre in the best maner," by an other hand. Pages 93—116 have been transposed, yet p. 69 does not connect itself with p. 116.

3. "Heere be gynythe þe maner to mak waters ardeant. Who so wol mak water ardaunt, nym good wyne." 75—92.

The last receipts (following these waters) are—"For to make chard quynce" p. 83,—"chardewardone" 84, "For to mak gynger bredé" 84, Sperma pimperuelli sic debet fieri, et Sperma rute sic debet fieri, 85. The last words are—et facit ea sana et integra.

4. "Ad faciendum aqua[s] philosophorum, secundum libellum sancti EGIDIJ. R' ysopi pulegij garophilate." 86—92, 117—8.

In fine—"Et volo vos omnes scire, quod beatus Egidius in heremo vitam solitariam ducens, et istas predictas aquas composuit atque eorum virtutes enumeravit, hunc [p. 118] librum ad noticiam hominum conscribens; in laude quarum ait, si quis hec, omnia habet." It is followed by a paragraph beginning thus—

"Medicina probata ad curandum fistulam, sive malum sancti Egidij sanare, accipiat has .9. aquas in proporcionem" etc. 118.

Ending—curabitur per aliam. To fill up the page is written by an other hand, or at an other time,—Thys powder sine pars thus made" &c.

5. "Here begynythe to mak waters of erbyz sondry and þer vertues, and howe þei schalle be made in stillatorie. In þe fyrst of dyl*. Thys water is of gret vertue." 119—128.

The last is—"For bolnyng in þe feet."

9. De urinis observationes variæ. 139—144, 145—151.

The latter part is an imperfect tract, beginning thus at the top of the page. . . . significat crudelitatem humorum: it ends thus—per [151] talem urinam expulsio materie venose: signum est mortis. Explicit iste tract[at]us."

10. "Here þu may knowe howe þu may dyscerne and deme alle maner of seknes wt in manys body or womans by þe syght of hyre water: Fyrst. Urin whyt by þe morowe." 151—4.

Ending—"þt is most grevyde in þe body. Explicit iste tract[at]us."

This manuscript is of the XVth century; distinctly written, in a common hand.

III. A collection of remedies for the cure of various diseases; the first of which is "A medicen for the dropsey." p. 157—180; 181—3, 185, 187.

This MS. consists of 20 leaves, and was written in the time of Queen Elizabeth. The last 5 pages and p. 168, were written by a different old hand. A recipe for "A very good green oyntment for atches rednes and swellings" (at p. 165) is subscribed "probatum est THOMAS COLLETT;" and "A medicin for straightnes in the stomacke and stopping of the pipes" (at p. 174) is subscribed "Written by me GILES ALLINGTO[N]." They were (probably) copied from an older MS.

At the end are fixed two papers heretofore loose, written by different hands; they contain—

Two medical receipts. 192, 194.

IV. 1. An alphabetical list of drugs, with their prices. ff. 2—5^b; p. 197.

2. A collection of '40' remedies and miscellaneous receipts. f. 6^a—30^a.

The first section contains directions "For to strengthen ye memorie" occupying 5 pages. This MS. was written in the time of James I. or Charles I. on alternate pages.

V. 1. A collection of remedies. f. 1—6.

The first is "A watter to kill lice and scabes in childerines heades."

2. Recipes for various chemical preparations. (pp. *1, 1—14.) f. 18^b—25^b.

3. Recipes for the making of "Cinnamon-water" and four other medicines. (pp. 1, 2.) 45^a^b.

Of the same age as the foregoing MS., but by a different hand. Ff. 46—70 are vacant.

No. 1414.

A quarto volume containing three MSS. on paper, and sundry papers, bound together; all written by old Mr. Napier, and paged throughout by Ashmole. The first leaf is vacant, except having a short astrological note.

- I. 1. Prescriptions for medical and chemical preparations, written by MR. RICHARD NAPIER. pp. 1—49.

The first recipe is "Oleum camphoræ;" the last "A dyet drink of D. Case." At p. 27 is a recipe for "Lady Umpton."

2. Quædam de "Sex modis [quibus] probatur sanguis esse cor[r]uptus;" item "De venis et sanguine;" et "quibus temporibus sanguis emitti debet," cum quibusdam versibus ejusdem argumenti. 50—3.
3. "De urinis" multa; partim versibus. 54—72.
4. "De febribus" variis. 77—9, 84—5, 96—9.
5. "Incipit liber de virtutibus bestiarum" in arte medicinæ: inc. Adipe taxonis inunge febricitates et sanabitur. 101—8.

Des.—et in mane totum optime clarificat.

6. "Sereniss. regis CATENI Persarum, de virtute aquilæ, est enim aquila rex omnium avium, habens magnas operationes et virtutes. Eam ergo capias." 109—111.

In fine—"statim ut peperit tolle pennam. Explicit iste tractatus a magistro WILHELMO Anglico de lingua Arabica in Latinam trans[lat]atus." See the note on No. 345, art. 36.

7. Ad coitum et res muliebres idonea medicamenta. 114—5, 168—171.
8. "Ad faciem dealbandam" et similia multa medicamenta. 156—163.

The rest of this MS. to p. 238, is vacant.

- II. 1. A tract of the influence of the twelve signs on various parts of man's body, and of the cure of diseases subject unto the sigus; by RICHARD NAPIER. p. 239—263.

Some pages are vacant.

2. Lists of medicines useful for the cure of special diseases, and subject to the influence of the signs. 265—287.

3. Figures set on the cases of the following persons, with astrological judgements thereof:—

"An Lich 20 y. whether best to take R. R. pro marito." (8 Apr. 1601.) 290—1.

"Als Baker of 34 y. 1593 the 14 of July—utrum sit grava." 296—8.

"Allis Lest' of 38 y. 1601. Ap. 3." 299.

"Martha Shakelston, Ap. 6—1601, pro sigillo." 300.

"An Lancaster, 32 y. Ap. 6." 301.

"Utrum sit gravida" quædam. (1 Apr.) 302.

- III. 1. RICHARD NAPIER's notes of the time of his own birth, and of the birth of some of his relatives; written in 1597. p. 303.

2. Notes of the births of Gilbert, Robert, Peter, Frances, Anne, and William Venables, (1629—1644); and of Eleanor, Kath. and Tho. Mynshull; written by ASHMOLE. 305.

3. NAPIER's account of the birth of Mary Robinson (2 Feb. 15...), her marriage to Robert Naper (27 Jan. 1594), and the birth of her daughter 'Agnis or An.' (...1596.) 307.

On the back of this sheet are written some astrological notes, and the long. and lat. of Linford, London, and Oxford. p. 310.

4. Figura super nativitate "Sr Tho. Mon: [qui fuit] natus 1566. Decemb. 21" (etc.) et "Profectiones annuæ ad horoscopum x̄ 5^{tr}. 15^m." ab anno 1615 ad 1629. p. 311—2.

Very neatly written, by an unknown hand.

5. Note from PETER KAYE, giving "The age of the Lady Mary Wentworth" (b. 16 Feb. 1613?) and requesting Napier to give his opinion of her future lot. 315.

6. Note of the birth of Sir George, eldest son of Sir John Manners and Dor. Vernon. (Uffington, 7 Feb. 1568.) *315.

By an unknown hand.

7. R. NAPIER de tempore nativitatis suæ nota; et notæ de astrologis quibusdam antiquis. 317.

On the back of this sheet is a memorandum about going to 'Mr Boughton's house' 12 June p. 320.

- IV. 1. Logica quædam academica; scilicet—

De propositione, appositione, et argumentatione. p. 323—31.

"De genere" distinctiones. 340—4.

"De specie" quædam. 347—50.

De sensibili. 354—5.

These pages seem to have been written by Napier when a youth at the university: other pieces written at the same time, are at p. 376, 469. etc.; the rest were written many years after.

2. Figures set by R. NAPIER in 1597, on Nativities and horary Questions, in the cases of the under-named persons:—

Anth. Smith. 345.

Will. Greene. 353, (b. 28 Jan. 1578.) 424.

No. 1415.

A quarto volume (resembling No. 1419) consisting of 177 leaves of fair paper, whereof the last 32 and some others are vacant, as are also 10 unnumbered at the beginning. Its contents seem to have been written, at different times, by Ashmole, except ff. 77—84, (which are somewhat older, and are written in an exceedingly neat small hand,) and the last article, which is by the same hand as No. 1097. The autograph of "E. Ashmole" is immediately before the first title.

1. "This copy* was found in the Abbay of Vale-royall in Cheshire, and is called the Chemists' Cumbate, or the contention† betwene two Alchimists." ff. 1—13^b.

* Properly, the original of this copy.

† "Dialogue" in the margin.

It begins and ends thus—"A. We must begin where Nature left of—Trinity for this and all othr his unspeakable benefittes. Amen."

2. "The copy of a learned letter written to an honoble: freind," on alchemical subjects, declaring that the art is real. 14^b—18^b.

Beg. "Right hoble: you must know yt ye Almighty only is he yt maketh ☉ and ☽." Ending—"I will teach you this when I do see you next. Vale. An^o. 1603."

3. "An Epistle apologeticall to a freind, concerning the author's practise:" by JO: DONE. 19^b—25^b.

Beg. "I present to yo^r view (my freind) not Alchemieall stuff composed of Recipe and Decipe."

4. "RIPLEY his Compound of Alchimy expounded" by Sir EDWARD KELLY; with an introductory letter from the author 'E. K.' "To his sworne brother T: M." 26^b, 27—32.

At the end is a short note from "Math: Roydon" to "Mr: Flasket," written in short hand except these names.

5. "Tractatus de Lapide Philosophico, Latinis versibus conscriptus, adjectis ad marginem annotationibus quæ rem totam illustrent. Auctore EDOARDO CRADOCCO S. Theologiæ Doctore et publico Professore in Academia Oxoniensi." Regiæ Elizabethæ, cæmen elegiacum dedicatum. (ff. 8.) 33^a, 34—40.

At the end is the title of the book whence this article was copied, in English, thus—"Two severall treatises, touching the Philors: Stone, the one in English verse, the other in Latine, gathered out of the best authors, yt have written upon this arte. By Edward Cradocke" etc. See an account of the author, and of this MS. (also No. 1415, v.) in Wood's Athenæ, by Dr. Bliss, I. 632—4.

The next 20 leaves were left vacant, perhaps for the purpose of transcribing the English poem, which is in the other MS.

6. "The Glory of Light: or a short treatise shewing Urim and Thummim to be made by art, and are the same with the universall spirit corporate and fixid." 61—74^b.

Paged '58—85,' and the two following blank leaves '86—89.'

7. "Translation of a book of the transmutation of metals, written in the time of Edward III. by "CREMOR Abott of Westminster,"* a disciple of Raymond [Lully]; in five chapters: with a charge addressed to his successors, a preface, a prayer, and a Latin hymn, prefixed; and various chemical operations following. 77—8, 78^b—80, 81—4^b.

* This noted by Ashmole at the beginning, who also observes that "Dr. Dee conceiveth this was written by the Prior of Ramsey." Many other notes of his are in the margin. Beg. To my most famous brethren in this mounkelike profession of life, Alexander and Richard, to whom I do give commandment and charge. It ends thus—"and the neckes somewhat longer then ye common use and more There did want a leafe in ye copie, the copie was very ancient, and in parchlment." See Ashmole's notes to his Theatrum, p. 443, 461.

8. "The worke* of St: ROBERT GREENE. Shewerly without any falshood the worke of alkamy is true, and not to be mocked and scorned att, as many a blind asse doth." 85—96.

* Or, alchemical experience: ending thus—"And thus I end ys litle treatise, in ys my old age 71 yeares 1538, and in ye 30th yere" of Henry VIII. A large folio MS. written 5 or 6 years before by this author, is No. 1467.

9. "BLUNDEFIELDE his worke, to King Henry 8: Anglie. Feare God and followe his lawes." 96^b—100.

Ending—thus is ye elixir compleate. Three cheneical observations follow, probably written at the end in the original MS.

10. "A golden treatise of the grate elixir, or stone of the philors: [in two parts] conteyning both the Theorick and the Practick, plainely expressing ye true matter and manner of operacõs. The Philors: in auccient tymes as Hermes and others." 100^b—8^b, 109—129.

Ending—yt weh hath byne said in the first part of ys section.

11. "A chimeall treatise of the ancient and highly illuminated philosopher, devine, and physician, ARNOLDUS DE NOVA VILLA, who lived 400 yeares agoe, never scene in print before, but now by a lover of the spagirick art, made publick, for the use of learners; printed in the yeare 1611," and here translated into English. 130—144^b.

Beg. He speaks to his scholars thus, Know my deare sonne that this is a booke of the secrets of nature. Ending—And in this sublimacõn is the true separacõn of the clements, as the masters say.

No. 1416.

A quarto MS. written in a small neat hand, on paper, early in the XVth century; except the first 16 the last 11 and some other leaves, the contents of which are not so antient, and are here marked thus†. On the 8th of 9 leaves of new paper prefixed to it, Ashmole has copied some notes that had been "Written on the inside of the cover" which it formerly had: the first is—"There are in this booke, 1583, the 14 of August, 158 leaves in all, viz^t: written and unwritten." The two first and 5 last are now lost, yet the MS. is perfect.

†1. "Liber RASIS suo filio Merlino editus:" carmen alchemicum, versibus leoninis, inc. Cum per naturam mundi noseas genituram. f. 3—7^b.

In fine—"Effici majori quod feceras ante minori. Explicit liber Rasis philosophi ad Merlinum filium suum super arte sancti laudabilis in Alkimia." See the note on art. 7.

†2. Aliud carmen, elegiacum, sic inscriptum—"Liber Luminum RASIS super alkimia. Si cupis alkimicos athleta subire labores." 8—14^b.

Ending imperfectly thus—"Cum venit in nichilum quod fuit est vel erit. De natura martis et ejus linificatione." Both these poems are subdivided by such short titles as this. Three blank leaves follow, two being marked 17.

3. Liber Secretorum Alkymye ab HALY filio Salith' editus; qui Salith fuit filius Nencanso filii Eufeu philosophorum, quibus Creator indulgeat in eternum. Et ex dictis philosophorum sapientum s' Hermetis et aliorum multorum." 17—21^b.

In fine—"voluit exhibere. Explicit liber qui intitulatur Secretorum Secretorum Haly philosophi."

4. "Hic incipit Practica HALY philosophi. [Cum ergo volucris hoc magisterium honoratum facere, accipe lapidem honoratum.]" 21^b—22^b.

In fine—"ad perfectionem. et sic fuit nobile capitulum. Explicit practica Haly summi philosophi, propicietur ejus anime Deus."

5. Alchemicum quoddam, inc. Dum nubibus aier impeditur. 22^b.

6. "Responsio Inventoris juvenilis ad Peregrinum. O stulte peregrine patric perfugus." 22^b—3.

In fine—"Cum ista ave prosperabis, capturus aves fugaces quot volueris ut nullius alterius aucupis auxilio indigebis. Explicit etc." Vide et art. 22.

7. (1). "Opus Hermetis*," carmen leoninum, sic inc. Est lapis occultus secreta valde sepultus. 23—4^b.

* This general title, and some marginal notes, are added by a less antient hand: the poem contains these subordinate titles—"Inhumacio cineris et medulle—Candidi et rubei confectio—Racio confectio candidi et rubei." After the line—"In tulamo maneat ubi trina luce quiescant," is this note by the less antient hand, "vade ad finem tractatus Edwardi," (namely f. 68^b): the rest of this poem follows art. 23 and 46.

†8. "Fixatio amalgame. Take golde as moche as thowe wylte." 25—6.

Ending thus—"He that werketh of this werke, pray for the auctor of this werke."

9. Libri "De 4^{or} elementorum scientia. Cum Turba plurima Philosophorum de multimodis regionibus congregatorum." 27—35^b.

Ending thus—"postquam liquefactum fuerit felix dici merebitur et super circulos mundi exaltari. Explicit liber Deo gratias." The title is superscribed by a less antient hand.

† Six verses, beg. Candida si rubeo mulier sit nupta marito; 4 of which are quoted as the verses of 'Merlinus' in art. 24, f. 91, —as of 'Merlignus' in No. 1384, f. 96^b, —and anonymously in No. 1467, f. 88, where also at f. 92^a are quoted some verses from the other part of this poem at f. 70, as those of 'Merlinus.' The verse—Vilis et ejectus lapis vel stercore tectus, also, is ascribed to MERLIN in No. 1415, f. 16^b. This name seems not to designate the British prophet, but the (perhaps) fictitious person to whom the first article of this MS. is addressed. See the note on the second part. Nineteen verses of this article are quoted from 'MERCURIUS,' in a tract intitled Thesaurus Philosophiæ, in the Theatrum Chemicum, III. 159.

10. Præscriptiones duo chemicæ, quarum prior est "secundum FASBY." 35^b.

11. Libellus alchemicus 'de quatuor verbis,' seu expositio illorum vesicularum 'Gemma salutaris qui nascitur orbicularis*' etc. inc. Terra stat et est frigida et sicca, frigida et humida. 37—40.

In fine—"Et sic est trina res per quam fit medicina, scilicet spiritus anima et corpus, et cum 'hii tres unum sunt' tunc dicitur Trinitas, quia a trinitate et a principali unitatis omnia bona sub celo procedunt. Laudetur Deus gloriosus per intuitu seculorum secula amen. Explicit liber diversorum tractatum etc."

* They occur in the text of art. 1; see f. 4^a and 4^b.

12. Tractatus alchemicus, sic inc. "Iste liber, RUDIANI liber est, liber Divinitatis, et est liber Trinitatis, id est Trium Verborum; et hec sunt 3^a verba in lapide precioso" etc. 40—2.

In fine—"Ideo karissime 'digito compece labellum' filius existens philosophorum secreta reservans secretu eorum, ut mercaris merito esse de numero sapientum antiquorum amen. Te Deum laudamus in secula."

13. ROGERI BACONIS trium verborum libellus:* inc. "Cum ego ROGERUS rogatus a pluribus de separacione ignis ab olco, hinc est quod tibi mando unum verbum de opere alkymie, videlicet unum in 4^{or} et 4^{or} in unum, et hoc est unum." etc. 42—3.

* Vide No. 1433, iv. In fine—"Non queris plures nisi portam [sc. Avicennæ] quia omnia vera includuntur in ea. vale et valent qui te valere desiderant. Explicit magnum mendacium."

14. Ejusdem alius tractatus, seu epistola, inc. Cum promisi tibi mittere 2^{as} ceculus subsequentes, unam ut dixi mitto, et hoc de mixtione, id est modis miscendi. 43—4.

In fine—"sed nunc nec de meis operibus, nec de aliis quia sat habes, sed ea habebis cum Deo et Spiritu sancto, qui vivit in secula seculorum amen. Explicit m3jft niczabfui Rlicrh3dfu3e hldzmicui et azrht."

15. Ejusdem auctoris libellus tertius; inc. Cum de ponderibus utilis sit distincio, quia pauci veritatem de hoc dixerunt. 44—51.

At f. 47^b the author recites the contents of a work of his own, in a passage beginning thus—"Nunc libellam de necessitate accidenium dividio hic per particulas. In the next page he quotes 'Gerardus in 4^{to} methæorum' but Avicenna is named most frequently. The last words are—"Et si aliqua diela sunt penes te ligate rescribas et solvam liganter cum auxilio unius Dei in trinitate et trinitatis in unitate. vale. Explicit."

†16. The process of transmutation: beg. Take the fayrest of the 6. soncs well clensid of all fylthe, and zethe hym with his modirs mylke. 52—3^b.

Ending—"so yt albe fustned and then melt it wth more fier as ye sonne or the moone. Explicit." On the blank page 51^b were drawn two alchemical vessels, but they seem to have been half obliterated with acid. At the end of this article are 7 lines of Latin, containing a like process, beg. Caleina Jovis laminus eum sale preparato. 53^b.

17. "Liber ABOHALI. Pertractata sunt inter me et Aazen de eo quod ipse sit verba que rogavit me in parte una: iterando scriberem ut essent ei memoralia." 54—9.

In fine cap. xi.—"et hec humiditas est iair qua ergo iair indiget ac ergo intellige. Deo gratias." Ubi in margine "Explicit epistola A ad Hahasen patrem"

18. Carmen de arte alchemiæ, versibus 107*: inc. Fili doctrinam certam tibi porridge binam. 59—60^b.

* Yet from these concluding verses it would seem that the number was 100 only:—

*Panditur occulte quod habet reliquum manifeste
Ars complementum sub versibus hiis cape Centum.*

19. Libellus de faciendo amalgamate, de modo multiplicandi, de elixir, ac de operationibus chemicis, et variis aquis rectificandis: inc. “Aperi oculos et vide. Amalgama. R' Mercurii mundi et loti partes 2.” 60^b—2^b.

In fine—“Sal commune sic preparatur—cum aqua communi et congeletur et fiet fluxibile etc. Explicunt aque fortes dissolutive et corrosive. Deo gratias.”

20. Liber “Ortolanus,” seu ORTOLANI cujusdam Commentarius* in illud HERMETIS—“Quod est superius est sicut quod est inferius.” inc. Gloria laudis resonet in ore omnium creaturarum—Ego igitur Ortolanus philosophorum novissimus Johannis Cari mei dilectione motus, ad declarationem certissimam sermonis patris philosophorum Hermetis. 64—6.

* Thus intitled, after the short preface which recites the text of the Smaragdine Tablet:—“Sequitur comentum cujusdam nomine Ortolani novissimi philosophorum.” It ends thus—“Igitur sufficit hoc in lapide philosophico componendo.” Explicit Ortolanus.” An other copy is in No. 1433, ii. 5. See also No. 1418, iii. artt. 30, 31; and especially the note on Edw. Barlowe's translation, in No. 1487, ii. art. 4.

21. Fragmentum de operatione lapidis, inc. ¶ Venenoso dracone volatili vulcerato. 66^a.

Des.—multiplicat imperium uide versus, Extraneoque eare lapide, firmo quoque rase.

22. Aliud, de inventione lapidis, inc. O ecce peregrine ut quid flens circumiens regna. 66^b.

Des. quarta nature ovi completiva.

23. ‘Visio mirabilis’ EDWARDI Philosophi: inc. Ego Edwardus fessus studendo et practizando in secretis philosophic majoris, quadam nocte sompniando. 66^b—8^b.

Des.—Ego vero complete prospiciens intima natura secreta—rediens cum desideratis ad patriam ubi constitutus sum philosophorum philosophus. Explicat visio Edwardi philosophi etc.”

7. (2). Carminis Hermetici pars altera; inc. Inde quod aptatur sub divo constituitur. 68^b—70^b.

Continued from f. 24^b. In a former note it has been stated that a verse from this part had been quoted as MERLIN'S: yet it is curious that 15 verses of the same section have also been quoted as those of MORIENUS; see f. 78^b of this MS. where they are introduced thus—Unde Deo plenus sapiens dixit Morienus: (see also No. 1467, f. 71^b.) yet at the end of the same tract are nine other verses quoted under the name of MERLINUS, which are here at f. 70 and 69^b; see the note on the next article.

24. “Jo. DAUSTIN” liber de transmutatione metallorum: inc. Cum gaudeant viri brevitate moderni, verbum abbreviatum. 73—93.

The author's name is subscribed by the less antient hand. After the 9 verses at the end of the copy in No. 1467, art. 3, are 14 others in this MS. which can not be found in art. 7 as the others can (see the foregoing note): the first of which is—Nam si nature vulgo secreta paterem; and the last—Esset subjectum quod jam nunquam reperitur.

To fill up the page, here is added an alchemical puzzle (beg. R' quod vegetatur in aere) ending “Hec R. 2. in l. de R. S. et S. a silentium.”

25. “Comparatio inferioris astronomiæ ad superiorem.* Dieta BELEM secundum figuram. Cum essemus super quoddam flumen.” 93^b—4^b.

* This title is superscribed by the less antient hand. The last words are—hoc fiet in diebus 9 donec ejus consumatur et altera remaneat Et unus tanto melius.

26. Præcepta ad operationes quasdam chemicas; scilicet “Ad faciendum crocum ferri—Aqua mercurii sic fit” etc.—quorum duo sunt ‘secundum M. J. POLE.’* 94^b—6^b.

* The two last but two; and the former of them is in English. Here are some notes by the same less antient hand as part of the next page.

- † 27. Experimenta quædam chemica et medica, partim e CATONE de re rustica. 97—8^b.

28. Fragment of a collection of remedies, in old English. 99^a.

This page (the first of the lot signatred X) has been formerly pasted over, and its writing is not all legible: it begins thus. . . . be so lyke þt þu shal not know on. The second of the two that were perfect on this page, begins—For þe toþe ache take vnyegre.

29. Dialogus fabulosus, qui sic inc. Convenit Aros cum Maria prophetissa, et honorificans eam, et dixit O prophetissa. 99^b—100^b.

Des.—Ipsi docent propter vas Hermetis quod illud est divinum donum de sapientia Dei occultum a gentibus, et ipsi ignorant regimen veritatis propter eorum ignoranciam. etc. (Vid. Fabricii Codex Apogr. Vet. Test. I. 869—70.) A translation by Thomas Robson is intitled Speculum Veritatis, in No. 1418, iii. art. 10: another, by Edw. Barlowe, is in No. 1487, ii. art. 5.

30. Nota ad hoc quod fiat aliquod in arte occulta necesse est ut spiritus fiant corpora etc. 100^b.

The ‘Turba Philosophorum’ is quoted herein. The last words are—sed tinctura dat pondus perfecti magisterij in fine. Ego autem novissime dico etc. Hec sunt Secreta Philosophorum obscura.

31. Versus leonini 4, inc. Pondera quinque Jovis. 100^b.

Versus 6, inc. Arsenicum fore dic animam sed spiritus esse. ib.

Versus leonini 4, inc. Mirra ros roris. ib.

32. ROGERII BACONIS Speculum Alchemiæ, in 7 capitulis: inc. Multifariam multisque modis loquebantur olim philosophi. 101—4.

In fine—“Et sic elixir rubrum ad rubedinem perfectam. Deo gratiarum accio honor et benedictio nunc et in evum. Amen.” Printed under this title in the Theatrum Chemicum, II. 433—42.

33. Distinciones secretorum sapientum philosophorum, de aggregacione aquarum. Aqua permanens coagulat argentum vivum. 104^{ab}.

Des. et corpora in spiritibus ergo securantur ex corrupcione etc. The following fragment consists of 7 lines only.

Nichil operis emitur nec aliud est hujus artis scientia, etc. 104^b.

34. Tractatus alchemicus, inc. Libellus ureus testificatur ad credendum meditationum experimentum quoniam corporibus spiritus magis assimilantur. 105—6^b.

Des.—et illud est opus unius diei seu unius hore aut momenti vel dimidij, de qua semper Deus noster est laudandus mirabilis in eternum amen.

†35. "Brevis tractatus et utilis totum opus in paucis nucleans. Ignis azoc et leo viridis tibi sufficiunt." 107^a.

In fine—"Carissime hoc opus est tibi longum, set in toto mundo brevius eo non invenitur. Amen. Opus delectabile et intelligenti amenissimum feliciter. Explicit." The title, first line, and colophon are ingrossed.

36. "Plato de quartis" seu "Extractus de quartis PLATONIS. Dixit senior Plato in dyulogo suo tractatu septimo, Nichil deceptionis mittam ad posteros qui dicuntur ex hac arte." 109—113.

In fine—"Et qui cognovit quod quidam dicatorum meorum sunt de laqueis nature. Hec est lucerna sapientis in vita ejus lumen lucens, filij autem ner in loco tenebroso vexantur, quibus non lucebit lucerna quum ea sint vacui. Explicit Plato." The last page was supplied by the less antient hand, after the leaf had been torn out: the four last lines are ingrossed. The first title is by this same hand, as also this title over the last page—"Compendium Halehimie ex Platonis libro de quartis, id est 4 elementis," and a note at the end.

†37. Libellus apocryphus de sulphuris virtutibus alchemicis SALOMONI ascriptus: inc. Salomon rex Jhr'm inquit, Salomon rex filius Davidis. Cum sulphur. 113^b—4.

In fine—"et hec dealbatio aliquantum prolixitatis habet in compositione. Finis."

†38. Fragmentum cui titulus, "Opus SALOMONIS planetarum influencie in operis regimine. [inc. S]eptem planetarum opera et impressiones in hoc regimine nostro." 114^{ab}.

Des. "Summa omnium noctium 77. Finis." This last line is ingrossed, as well as the title of this article and the next.

†39. Liber dictus "DEMOCRITUS Philosophus. [inc. S]cito fili quod qui albificaverit animam et exaltaverit eam et rubificaverit corpus—erit medicus perfectus." 115—8^b.

Des.—"Ratiocinare ergo et intellige, et invenies Dei bene placito. Explicit Democritus."

40. "JO. DAUSTIN ROSARIUS. Sciendum itaque quod lapis philosophorum ad naturam peragendus est." 119—122^b.

In fine—"nec feruina dominari, nec coleram adhuri, nec maleoliam superexaltari et c. Explicit Rosarius secundum Johannem Daustyn Anglieum."

†41. Of the 'perilous days': beg. Sallomon saythe that ther be xxxij dayes in the year wch be perilous. 123^{ab}.

†42. An imperfect poem of the fifteen tokens before dooms-day: beg. Kynge of grace and fulle of pittie. 124.

The 18th couplet is—Then alle that byn alyve Shalle then to dust be dryve. It resembles part of the antient 'Prikke of Consciens.'

†43. How "To make a shyning water. Take glowormes globeris." 124^b.

†44. Charm "To save one from sword, or gone, or any wepen." 124^b.

45. Tractatulus de generatione, et præcipue de plantarum natura: inc. Notandum quod sensus est causa illustracionis vite. 125^{ab}.

Des.—"quod si dissenserint debilitabitur que perdetur."

46. Experimentum alehemicum. 125^b.

The two first lines are erased: the last words are—parvam pillulam et pone in testa cum Saturno.

7.(3). Carminis Hermetici pars tertia: inc. Sic infundantur res et submersa figatur. 126—8^b.

Continued from f. 70^b. The last chapter is intitled—"Aqua candida huic operi necessaria," and ends thus—"Quod si flecteris gaudens voto poeris. Explicit." The first leaf had been cut out, and was supplied by the less antient hand.

47. Remedy "for þe syetyca passio. Take j potelle of bastard." 128^b.

Written by a different hand, but almost as old as the text.

48. Carmen leoninum, docens "Quomodo fit coitus, de conceptione, de pregnacione, de ortu, de nutrimento," totidem distichis; etiam "Consu[m]macio operis" hermetici, versibus xxix. 129^{ab}.

Inc. Rerum mixturam coitus notat et genituram. Des. "Quod docti tantum dicunt laudabile sanctum. Explicit."

†49. The preparation of a 'medicine' for turning silver into gold: beg. Take of mercurye crude one weichte. 130^{ab}.

Ending—"and alle shalbe golde. Deo gratias."

50. "Liber Radicum JEBER. Totam nostram intencionem quam ex libris antiquorum abbreviavimus compilacione diversa in nostris voluminibus, hic in summa una redigimus." 131—142^b.

The last sentence ends thus—per ipsum maximo ingenio quod non pervenit ad artificem cervicis dure: but this copy seems to be imperfect, one leaf or more having been long lost here.

†51. "Completa verba tocus operis. Sumatur lapis notus." 143.

†52. "Natura operis. Medicina 2^m aliquem modum operandi erit bis nigra bis alba." 143—4.

Thus ending at the top of 144^a—debet esse sicut 4 ad 1. et tales preparant terram et adduat alia 4^{or} aque etc.

†53. Oleum sulphuris philosophici fit ex uncia una sulphuris etc. 144^b.

†54. Libellus dictus "STEPHANUS Alexandrinus Philosophus. Inicium sapiencie timor Domini." 145—6.

Des.—"quod si clarius exponerem, pueri et ideote eam intelligerent."

†55. "Differentia ejusdem, per modum dialogi inter ipsum et regem Herculem etc. Hercules rex ex Stephano interrogatum voluit." 146^b.

Des.—et facili regimine dissolvuntur.

†56. "PHITAGORE æditio. Inquit Pigtagoras, Qui non coagulat argentum." 147.

Des.—cum calido et humido.

†57. "SOCRATES Platoni. Dixit Socrates Platoni, Scire te velim si cum corpore quod liquefit." 147—148.

Des.—"in eis namque sulphur que liquefiunt et comiscuntur. Hijs igitur verbis Plato fili operari esto sollicitus."

†58. "Ad laudem Socratis. Dixit GEBER. Inspice frater quam egregius hic philosophus." 148.

Des.—"complexa namque non separantur. Telos."

†59. "EMALISSUS. [id est Merlinus*]. Omnis hic trutinatio est una." 148.

Ending thus on the next page—" Hec ille [148^b] Fuit autem hic ut fatebitur Merlinus Silvestris qui prophetiam super corona regis Anglie induxit, filius incubi."

* Added (by the same hand? but) in the same character as the numerous notes in this and some other parts of the MS. The titles of artt. 54—9 are ingrossed.

†60. A poem of the alchemist's work: beg. Of Spayne take ye clere light The reed gomme yt is so bright. (96 lines.) 148^b—150^b.

Called 'The worke of RICH: CARPENTER' in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 275—7, where for the word 'Spayne' is put 'Titan Magnesia'. It ends thus—" Or els ful tittle shall ye wyne. Explicit." Five other couplets follow in this MS. beg. " And yf ye will to this medeyn applic, ending—Do evenly i mete. Telos." This article is written in a peculiar old hand, and has many marginal and interlineary notes. It is intelligible only by comparing with the Latin prose, in No. 1420, art. 5, from which it was evidently translated.

†61. The process of transmuting into silver: beg. Take dim' unc' of sulphur ryf wele fynd and bete hym. 150^b—3^b.

Ending thus—" No more at this tyme but yt ye love God [etc.] and salvacione of soule. Amen Deo gratias."

†62. How to turn copper into silver: beg. Take ij unc' of M. and one unc' of lymayle of cooper. 153^b.

Subscribed " Probatum est ut scribitur, sed non credo."

This MS. seems to have been written originally in separate quires or lots of paper, not all filled to the end, and numbered in the upper part of the first page of each, with large black letters: these signatures yet remain:—I. f. 17, II. 27, V. 54, VI. 73, VII. 81, X. 99, XI. 101, XII. 109, XIII. 119, XIII. 131.

No. 1417.

A quarto volume containing six MSS. on paper: the first of which was all written by ASHMOLÉ, and such articles as are thus marked † are in his short-hand. There are no pp. 5—8.

I. 1. Unimportant alchemical notes and verses. p. 1—2.

2. Notes of some alchemical authors and books; namely,—M. Bloomefield, Chymische Hochzeit, T. Tymme, Corn. Drebil, Raymund Lully and Rog. Bacon. p. 3—4.

Ending thus—" And I have writen this booke wth my owne hande as I lay on my deathe bed, in the yeare of our Lord God 1432, and the 7. of Maie. Finis. per JOHANNEM SANGLIMEERS. et probatum per Johannem Sameers." All these words after 'finis,' were subscribed with other ink.

7. "The most notable devine plaister of all the world w^{ch} hathe a number of vertues. Take galbanum one oz." p. 41, 37.

Ending—yt shall knit sure for evermore by Goies grace. The leaf now last has been removed from its place after p. 36.

8. Remedies "For the collicke and stone,—To stop a laske, [and] To provoke urine." p. 37.
9. Luckless or 'bad daies' throughout the year. p. 42.

Written invertedly, and subscribed "All these are badde daies, per D'ct' Erram patrem."

III. "Narratio methodica trium Geberi medicinarum, in quibus continetur vera lapidis philosophici confectio. Medicina primi ordinis. Medicina primi ordinis est illa preparacio lapidis quæ precedit operacionem." pp. 1—95.

In fine—"Atque hæc est probata medicina philosophorum, quam omni investiganti—seculo. Amen. Atque hic finis esto explanationis trium Geberi medicinarum quæ nu[n]quam hactenus ita perspicue fuit tradita. Authore G. D."

Index capitulorum quæ "Liber primus continet," et aliorum usque ad p. 64*. p. 96.

* So far was paged by the same hand as the text, and the rest by Ashmole: this neat MS. is of the time of Q. Eliz. or James I. One leaf at each end is vacant.

IV. "Aurora Sapientia, or the Day-broke of Wisedome, written for the service of the sixt Church at Philadelphia, in the yeare 1629:" a book of mysterious theology, consisting of 'The preface, The epistle,' and 21 chapters. ff. 1—45^b.

This MS. was neatly written in the time of Charles I. ff. 46—48 are blank. It seems to have been copied from No. 358, ii.

- V. 1. Remedies against witchcraft; also how "To make an egge burne in water," and "To make aqua ardens." f. 1^b.
2. "The true manner of making the philosophers' stone. And first these principalles and grounds for this work are to be understood." f. 2—4^b.

Written in the time of Charles I. The four last leaves are vacant, and on the first page is stamped a rose and crown, as on No. 768, iii.

VI. "The I. booke. The first part of this my booke, wherein is declared the first Inventors of this noble science [of Alchemy], and those named that put the same first in practise." p. 1.

"The second part of this my booke, wherein is declared all the charges and travells that I sustayned in the searching of this science,—with my operaeōns" etc. p. 3.

"Here followeth the 3. part of this my booke, wherein I will speake of the principles and roots of mettalls" etc. p. 28.

"Here followeth the 4. part,—wherein I will speake of the practise of this noble science, and set the same out in a parable or figure." p. 43—51.

This curious book is anonymous, and ends thus—"Thus is ended my booke by the grace of God [etc.]—for thou doest not knowe the hurt and damage that may come to thee, of the straying and going out of the waye into errors. Finis." It is a MS. of the time of Eliz. or James I. closely written, and probably only a transcript.

No. 1418.

A quarto volume containing three MSS. neatly and uniformly written by THOMAS ROBSON in 1606; whereof the first has this general title prefixed, on a leaf not numbered.

I. "This booke hath the two Elixers, the elixer vite and the elixer mynerall, and the workinge thereof by distillation sett forth very learnedly, and polytiquily pend.

"This booke is taken forth of fower bookes. The first beginith in the first leafe. The second begineth in the 13 leafe. The third begineth in the 31 leafe. The fowrth begineth on the 47. One the 6 leafe the makinge of the furnas is de[s]cribed. The secrette of secretts done by the art of philosophi begineth in the 24 leafe."

1. "The elixer vite and the elixer minerall. Ther be two elixers—determinid by the thcorricke." f. 1—10^b.

Ending—"the wch is quicke sileer for it is the principal. Finis."

2. Of the origin of the elixir: beg. All bodyes as well perfect as unperfect are made first of the 4. elements. 11—13.

Ending—"fall into great errore in the wch his hevines shall abyd. Deo gracias." On the same page follow four Latin verses (Poudera quinque Joris etc. Vide No. 1416, art. 31), and an extract "De tempore ignis" (Totum tamen regnum etc.), ending "Finis 1606." See art. 7.

3. A traet of the nature, formation, and uses of the philosophers' stone, in seven chapters, translated into English; beg. Reverent Geber wittnesith in the seacond booke the xij chapter of three orders of medicines. 13^b—20^b.

Ending thus—"not for the joye of the world, but for to kepe his helth, for the worships of God and his perpetuall helth in joye everlastinge amen. Explycit breuiloquium JOHANNIS PAUPERIS de lapide philosophorum." An other translation is in this volume, iii art. 33.

4. "A sayinge of RAYMOND [LULLY, translated into English.] And we say unto thee that the sayd nature be nothing els but sharp salts." 20^b—2^b.

Ending—"wherfore some men saye that it is but one thinge or one matter. Finis."

5. "Two processes of transmuting metal into gold of 24 and of 22 'caretts fyne:' beg. R. venus j.li. lead iiij libras melt it in a test. 22^b—3.

"Finis 1606."

6. "Here followeth the Seacrettt of Seacretts done by the arte of philosophie. First you shall understand and know that all owre secretts in our mastric." 24—7.

"This is taken forth of Mr. Sandes booke," that is, a MS. of Mr. Napier's. It ends thus—"and now here is all that I can devise to saye of the innaturall fier of the bodyes metalline. Finis 1606."

7. "For the keeping of the stone or elixer. Note her of this stone, whether it be red or white, you must kepe it one a furnas in a cleane vessell." 31—2^b.

Ending—"loke thou have boulded ashes, one thy furnas about the vessell w^{ch} thy medicine in it. The first page is subscribed thus—"This is taken forth of the booke that you brought home one daye when you did ridde forth."

8. "The famous worck of M^r BLUNDEVILD," or the alchemical poem called Bloomfield's Blossoms: beg. When Phebus was entred the signe of the ram. (70 st. of 7.) 33—41^b.

Ending—"In onc glasse, one thinge, one fier and no moe, This worck is complet, da gloria Deo Finnis." It is printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 305, but the 'Practica' or fourth part, containing 16 stanzas, is here omitted. See also No. 1487, ii. art. 6.

7. A treatise of the work of the philosophers' stone, in twelve chapters: beg. "The first chapter. The bodyes of all things, beinge as well perfect as unperfect from the begineng of the creation." 47—60.

Compare art. 2: the last chapter begins like art. 3, and ends thus—"before the mixture therof be made perfect. 1605. In November. Finnis." At the beginning is this note—"This is forth of Jhon Joanes booke that he brought."

II. "This booke contayneth the uncutt booke, and the booke of Morienus and Kinge Calid: written in the yeare 1606." p. 3.

Over against this general title (on the second of two leaves not numbered) are noted some of the chief contents of the book, by the same hand. (p. 2.)

1. "In the Uncutt Booke of HERMES and ARISTOTLE, he sayth. Take anymall mynerall and vigitable stone w^{ch} is no stone." f. 1—48^b.

The latter part of this book consists of sundry small pieces mostly subscribed with Ripley's initials: some of the titles are these—

"Certen notes gathered out of the booke of Guido de Monte Majore, the greatest philosopher of all Gretia." 30^b.

"A note of our fiers w^{out} the knoldig wherof the magistry is not effected: by G. R. Cannon." 34^b.

"The drame of GEORGE RIPLYE cannone. It pleased God to present this vision." 44^b.

It ends thus—"a liqved matter or substance, w^{ch} is the higest for mans body in the world. Here endeth the uncutt bookes written by me THOMAS ROBSON in the yeare of our Lord 1606."

2. "And here followeth the booke of Kinge CALID and MORIENUS the Roman hermett. [49^a.] 'The preface of ROBERTUS CASTRENSIS. We have read in the historyes of ancient devines." 49—111.

The last words of a kind of epilogue, are—"but that these things w^{ch} I have made manifest unto you, are more true then truth it selfe. Finis 1606." The following colophon is written on the next page, (in the form of an inverted pyramid, as Robson's titles usually are)—"Thuse endeth the booke of Kinge Calid and Morienus the Roman Hermette, beinge truly written from the cōpye therof lately beinge translated out of Latyn into Englishe in Londone, and nowe agayne written by me for my very good and ashured freende. Anno Domini 1606." Also a note that it was completed by THOMAS ROBSON 20 Sept. 1606.

III. Six horoseopes set by ROBSON, in Jan. and Feb. 1611. pp. 3.

How "To prepare ☉." p. 4.

These 2 leaves seem to have been used as fly-leaves: the first page has been pasted on a cover.

¶1. An old collection of chemical receipts and experiments; beginning with "A medicine of Sol. Take copper that never was wrought, and burne it in a glassmakers furnas." ff. 1—14.

The two last are—"The making of white lead" and "Oyle of atramente," followed by a charm "For to stanche blood" (Longeus that worthy knyght wth a spere he persed the syde of our Lord) ending thus—in the name of the blissted treynge, and with this note:—"This is taken forth of the booke that was written wth yat and yen and yer of the old Englishe. By me THOMAS ROBSON." In the list of contents at p. 178 it is called "The booke taken of Mr. Tomson's." Compare No. 1443, p. 401.

¶2. "Verbis honoris primyssis, sic incipit tractatum suum de antimonio, ad Dominum Johannem Babbistam de Sepache, ALEXANDER A SUCHISTEN etc. [Anglice redditum.] Bycause you have soe great a delygth in searchinge out the secreats of nature." 17—30.

Ending—"and from the unprofitable babylings of such as [are] skylful onely in opinien. Amen: 24: Octobris 1575: finis." This is called (at p. 178) "The booke that came from John Joanes."

3. "A note taken forth of one of your bookes, but never understandinge untill now what was mente by thes wordes here spoken, w^{ch} is mentioned in the worke next before written. In triplicato vase j. in tripode atanor." 31^a.

On the next leaf is this note, "The booke of a thousen sundry things, by Thomas Lupton."

¶4. "M^r CAMPHIN'S receipt" for projecting on copper. 33^b.

Ending—"this is as much as ever I save or could here or did prove. THOMAS ROBSON."

5. Chemical operations communicated to Robson by his "freinde J. ESCOTT:" namely—"To make the ☿ of ♃. To make the ♀ and sulphur of ☿." 34—7^b.

His name is subscribed as to a letter. At the end of this MS. (p. 178) the contents between f. 34 and 43, are called "The booke that is of upritt oyl and tincture." Compare No. 1407, ii. art. 40.

6. "The note alone" of a process with amalgam, done in December 1600. f. 38^a.

7. Two ways of transmuting copper into gold, "forth of M^r BRAMALL'S booke." 38^b.

¶8. "CORNELIUS ALVETANUS ARUS RODIUS of makeinge the divine elixar, or the philosophers' stone: [inscribed] To the most excelent and moste industrious empresse Elizabetheth, of England France and Yreland, Quene, etc." 43^b, 43^b—7^b.

Dated at the end "from London, 1565."

9. "Claritas Mundi. An excelent treatise giving light to the righte understandinge and practice of this science of alehimye: etc: Open thine eyes and thou shalt see the elerences of this worlde." 48—52.

Ending—"fusion easye or harde: etc. Praise and glory be to God on hie: Finis."

10. "Speculum Veritatis. A disputation betwene Marie the sister of Moyses, and Aros kinge of the Grecians. Aros sayd unto Mary." 52^b—4^b.

The text is in No. 1416, art. 29: see also art. 24 below.

11. An alchemical riddle: beg. A riddle to you I will propose. (12 l.) 55^a.

Printed, with some variations, in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 435: but that which follows is not among the 'Fragments' there.

12. "4 shorter words.

"A thinge there is, hidd in the aire,
that bright and cleare in water is borne;
That wth his fier the earth makes fayre
most like unto a carbuncle stoue.

Finis." 55^a.

¶ 13. "The first worke" (beg. Take of ☿ beinge well mortified wth vitriall) and "The second worke." 57.

Ending—for the wch the Lord's name be blessed. 58^b.

14. "The white and red elixer, a worke upon ☉ and ☾. Take j. li. of vitriall." 58^b.

15. "Aqua perdurabilis is thus made. Rec' the whits of eggs." 61^b.

16. "A worke of the basiliske, by RAYMUND LULLY. The composycion of this stone." 62.

17. "This followeth. The body of the volatill." 63^b.

18. "Calcination of mettalls. Now will I teach you." 64^b.

19. "Certaine principall questions drawne out of RAYMUNDUS. Q. what is the forme of our stone?" 65^b.

Ending—this most exelent magistry. Here endeth thes questions and ther answers." 68^b.

20. "Of the menstrewes. 1. First it is sayd that the menstrewxe vigitable." 68^b.

21. "The philosophers' mercury. Our mercury is one thinge in on vessell." 70^b.

22. Sundry processes with the 'green lion' or vitriol. 71^b, etc.

23. "A note taken by peec[e] meile. Worke wth your ☿ simple or compowide." 75.

24. "Hic incipit MARIA Prophetissa de elixer [Anglice.] Rec' green vitriole j. li. salt peter." 76^b—7^b.

Ending—very good medicine, and so infinite without number. Explicit elixir [a] Maria prophetissa ad regem Aros scriptum. Jh'u laudes amen."

25. Translation of an apologetical tract of "RAYMUNDUS [LULLIUS, addressed] to Kinge Edward off Woodstocke. I shall gladly doe my delygence, most humbly desyeringe the Kings highnes and your honers, to be a meanes to me." 78^b.

Ending—it turneth lead into gold, and so all other is to be understood. 80^a. An other piece, with the same title, and written by the same hand, is in No. 1407, iii. 2.

26. "A worke upon the green lyon," (beg. Take a good quantity of strong) and some other short processes. 81^b, etc.

27. Alchemical processes, taken "Forth of Mr GERIEN's booke;" namely "To bring a body into his prima materia. Take a pound of the fillings of ☿ made very cleane" etc. 83^b—6^b.

By the list of contents at the end (p. 178) it appears that the foregoing 15 articles were "The last that came from Mr. Sandye," and that the following is "The worke that cam from John Joanes."

28. "A medicine take[n] forth of Sir EDWARD VERE's booke;" with the figures of the chemical vessels. 86^b—90^c, 90^d.

Same as No. 1407, iii. art. 1. Two leaves between 90—91, are not numbered: the second is vacant.

¶ 29. "ROGER BACON. Here is the second Cannan of the first boke, the w^{ch} sheweth the mastrye of quentessence, how and in what maner of wise our quentessence wth the sonne and the starres shalbe arayed, and howe it kepeth the health and lyfe of man, and how quentessence is made. Here begineth the first prologe. Trowe then nought that I lye." 91—9^b.

Ending—lett him hand [read haue] all his matters redy.

¶ 30. An alchemical poem intituled "Elixir vite, Orlon* et Rosarius," beg. In fayre mountayne our stone doth growe. (77 l.) 101^b—2^b.

* Thus for 'Ortolon,' as it is in the poem: i. e. 'Ortolanus' seu Hortulanus; vide No. 1416, art. 20. It ends thus—"Gloria by the vertue of the holy ghost. Et sic est finis, sint laudes Deo: gratias." It is not printed in Ashmole's Theatrum. This article and the next are copied from No. 1486, i. artt. 12, 13.

31. A commentary upon the "Ortolon et Rosarius. I am moved in my mind to pobblish and to shewe the interpretation of his name by open proofe." p. 103—124.

Ending—"and so yeelding to all minerall things pertayninge to Sol or Luna. Laudes Deo."

32. "Here begineth the worke of the stone. In nomine omnium sanctorum. Now take in the name of God of our sulphur pure." p. 124—134.

For the most part in Latin: ending—unde aliqui dixerunt et una res vilis et cet.

33. A translation of the 'Breviloquium:' beg. "Laudes Deo dicam per secula. Reverend Geber witneseth in the 5 booke 12 chapter, that there be 3. maner and order of medicines." p. 135—150.

Ending—"to the wch I pray Jesus of his endlese grace to bringe us all amen. Explicit breveloquus JOH: PAUPERIS de lapide philosophorum." An other translation is art. 3 in the first part of this volume.

34. The making of the quintessence: beg. Thou shalt understand the noble science of the old philosophers wch studcid. p. 151—160.

Ending—"in true working w^t your handes. Deo gratias."

35. "Here is the 4 Canon and the secret making of the mastry of the sonne to sett him in our heaven .j. quintessence. That he may shew." Also 'the 5 Canon.' p. 160—6.

36. De fixatione omnium virtutum et proprietatum omnium rerum .j. habentium virtutem rubificandi vel albificandi etc. 166—170.

Ending—"duble him wth mercury erude etc. Deo gratias. finis. 1607. By me THOMAS ROBSON September the 2."

All the leaves after '101' were numbered by Ashmole, who, after foliating a few, paged the rest alternately. The last 4 leaves are vacant, except a short list of the contents of this third MS. on p. 178, and this old note by an other hand on p. 180 (which is torn)—"At the stone house in phylpott lane, att Mr Paies house of the goulden lion in eastcheape, tournour."

No. 1419.

A quarto volume, matching with No. 1415, containing alchemical transcripts made at sundry times by Ashmole: it consists of 170 leaves, whereof the last 65 are vacant; beside 12 leaves at the beginning, on the 21st page of which he has written a list of the contents. On the title-page of the first article, are his autograph, and impressions of his seal of arms in red wax, and of his crest on a wafered paper.

1. "Avicula Hermetis catholica. De mercurio, sulphure, et sale philosophorum, in uno subiecto. Hoc est, brevis et perspicua declaratio trium omnium rerum principiorum, quorum virtute et efficacia, epilepsia, calculus, podagra, et summam omnes diuturni [etc.]—tolluntur morbi, una sola aliqua medicina: autore SALOMONE RAPHAELE in mundo R. Londini, apud Thomam Harperum, 1638." f. 1^a, 2^{ab}, pp. 18.
- "Elixir Vitæ: sive ovum aureum adversus jam dominantem luem pestilentialem, mercurialem, et sulphureas epidemias febres et cephalæas, usurpandum. Autore" eodem. Londini 1638. (p. 19—33.) f. 12—19.
- Ejusdem "Leo rubens antipodagricus fixus. Hoc est brevis et solida expositio podagræ" etc. (p. 33—42.) f. 19—23^b.

The 'imprimatur' at the end is signed by Sa. Baker, 16 Dec. 1637. This third piece is noticed in the next title, as if it should follow there.

"Canticum Canticorum quod est SCHELOMONIS, de medicina universali: additus est, Leo rubens antipodagricus fixus." Eodem auctore. (p. 43—48.) f. 24—6^b.

In pp. 44—5 is an analytical exposition of Solomon's Song as an alchemical allegory.

2. "Compendium Hermeticum de macrocosmo et microcosmo, totius philosophiæ et medicinæ cognitionem breviter et compendiose complectens. Additum est Dispensatorium chemicum novum de vera medicamentorum præparatione. Autore PHARAMUNDO RHUMELIO mathematico-medico." (pp. 36.) f. 27—44^b.

The dedication, to Augustus Duke of Anhalt, is dated 1635 at Frankfort.

3. A short alchemical and magical book, called "Manna, written (as is suppos'd) by OLDFIELD:" heg. I have proposed to my selfe to compose this short treatise, having byn not only an eye witness, but also an actor of such misteries of nature. (pp. 23.) f. 45—56.

This title is taken from the list of contents. The text is superscribed 'Oldfield' and 'Manna;' and has this marginal note by Ashmole:—"I have seen this peece under the title of the Mirroure of Alchemy, set forth by Robert Lane of Walgrave in the county of Northampton esq^r:"

4. "The epitome of the Treasure of all Welth, written by EDWARDUS Generosus Anglicus innominatus, qui vixit anno Domini 1562:" being an alchemical tract addressed to a friend. (pp. 51.) f. 57—82.

The true title is given by the author himself, at p. 47, thus—"The Abridgment or Treasure of my Harte." A fac-simile of the subscription (dated 10 Dec. 1562) is given on f. 82^b, with this note by Ashmole:—"12 May 1652. Examined by the originall of Edw: Generosus his owne hand writing; wth whose hand this following abridgmt of a letter was alsoe written."

5. "An abridgment of a letter * to a freind. Right worshipping, you said you knewe but one other of my opinion." (pp. 11.) f. 83—8.

* On the elixir; dated 21 Nov. 1586.

6. "Democritus Abderita de arte magna, sive de rebus naturalibus." Excerptum "Ex rebus naturalibus et mysticis DEMOCRITI. Natura naturâ gaudet." (p. 12—27.) 88^b—96.

Des.—cum libere in alijs etiam meis scriptis pertractarim. In hoc scripto valete. At the beginning is this note, "Vide Theatr. Chym: vol: 1. fo: 850."

7. SYNESI ad Dioscorum epistola de Democrito et ejus opere. (p. 28—45.) f. 96^b—105.

Inc. "Dioscoro sacerdoti magni Serapidis in Alexandria, Deo favente, Synesius philosophus S. P. D. Epistolam tuam ad me missam." Des.—sed ope divina commentandi initium faciam.

8. "PELAGII Philosophi de eadem magna arte. Majores nostri et sapientiæ amatores." (p. 46—57.) f. 105^b—111.

Des. et qualitate naturæ fructus edere.

No. 1420.

A quarto volume resembling the foregoing, containing 373 pages, neatly written by different hands, beside blank leaves at each end. Ashmole's autograph is at the beginning. The first article (as also the last) seems to be by Sir G. Wharton's hand; its title is cut by the binder's knife.

1. "Incipit prologus in librum ALPHIDI philosophi, qui inventus est apud Iamnum Siciliae yi... Ut enucleatius intelligas me loquentem, volo ut scias de qua materia metalla ducant originem." pp. 1—30.

Des.—"Intellige ergo ac mentis acie percipe, quia invenies si Deus voluerit. Explicit liber Alphidii philosophi ad filios."

2. "AVICENNA de origine lapidis. Est enim aurum vivum lapis philosophorum qui nascitur subtus terram." 33—9.

Des.—"ut in ictu oculi habeant potentiam supra 1000 gradus Mercurij seu Jovis, Veneris et Saturni. Explicit archanum Avicennæ."

3. "Hic incipiunt vocabula, et interpretaciones nominum Græcorum et Arabicorum in arte alchimica, secundum diversos philosophos in ea operantium, et cætera. Saturnus plumbum, Arabice Alazarub vel Usurb." 41—55.

Des.—"contrita cum lacte caprino in mscat interficit. [sic.] Explicit." An old hand, which has written marginal corrections in other parts of this MS., has noted with pencil—"Hic tractatus adeo mendis scætet ut non potest corrigi nisi una sola litura."

4. "Principium Rerum. Lege et expende. Principium est illud generalis primarii et materia." 56—61.
Des.—"et invenies materiam conversam in illud quod optasti etc. Finito libro reddatur gratia Christo." Underneath is written with pencil 'Tractatus insulsissimus.'
5. "Maria," processus alchemicus, inc. Alumen de Hispania gummu album et gummu rubrum quod est Kybryt. 62—3.
Desinit cum 6 versibus leoninis, inc. Mirria mura sonat. Hence Carpenter's Work: see No. 1416, art. 60.
7. "Hic incipit tractatus optimus in quo exponit et aperte declarat PLERUS Philosophus, quid sit lapis philosophicus, et ex qua materia debet fieri et quomodo, qui quidem lapis cum fuerit tota terra" etc. 65—70.
Des.—quosque predieti cineres inteneiores fuerint albedinis.
8. CHARNOCK'S verses, (beg. Looke you conceive my words aright, 4 l.) written in 1574. p. 70.
Letter for letter (except 'sedd' and 'redd') the same as the last of Charnock's fragments printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 426.
9. "BERNARDUS DE GORDONIA de lapide philosophico. Guydonis 12º omnis numque ordinata generatio est." 71—80.
Des.—"et hoc habet fieri virtute ignis naturalis. Explicit Bernardus de Gordonia."
10. "Hic incipit opus et practica BERNARDI magni Alkimiste in album. Hic liber trium verborum Hermetis. Lapis iste de quo fit opus philosophorum." 81—8.
Des. "Laadetur ergo Deus qui talia creavit. Explicit Bernardus."
11. D. EDWARDI KELLEI "Modus tractandi vegetabilia. Desiccetur quodeunque fuerit in sole." 89—91.
Des.—"et voluptate scientis usum ejus. Hactenus KELLEUS." Vide seq. notam.
12. Ejusdem scriptiuncula de elixire: inc. Cum autem mira quaedam sub nomine elixiris. 92—4.
In fine—"Transcripta ex [epistola] missiva D'ni EDWARDI KELLEY missa D'no Rodulpho Romanorum Imperatori, anno 1590, stil: vete: Martij xij: Prage, sed tradita erat illa charta sola quæ modum tractandi vegetabilia continebat." scil. art. 11.
13. "Ad filios veritatis, ænigma philosophicum. Jam vobis filii scientiæ." 95—6.
Des.—nec te revelabis mundo. Printed in the Theatrum Chemicum, (1613,) IV. 502—3.
14. Carmen barbarum et rhythmicum, de lapide philosophico: inc. Accipe lapidem sanctum, et ejus additamentum. (26 vv. vel distichis.) 97.
Des. Amen, amen, amen; quia complevi dictamen: (hoc disticho sequente)—
Qui querit in merdis secreta philosophorum
Expensas perdit, proprium tempusque laborum.
"Quidam vero fatui non intendentes nec intelligentes verba enigmatica philosophorum" etc. 98.
See also art. 18.
15. Schema quatuor elementorum conjunctionem ostendens; appellatum "Cathena Aurea." 99.
16. Fragmentum de utilitate lapidis marcasitæ: inc. Deus igitur gloriosus—qui duos lapides preciosos—gratis contulit nobis, quorum unus ut dicit Jeber. 101—4.
Des.—Igitur multis modis sum nituntur perficere arte marcasitam.
17. JOHANNIS DASTINI liber ad Neapoleontem Cardinalem, carptim transcriptus: inc. Summæ venerationis. 105—124.
Des.—"ne eisdem adveniat morbus in futurum. Explicit." Confer art. 24.
18. Carmen cum prosa, (ut in art. 14) repetitum. 125—6.
The last words are (as at p. 98)—ubi a natura dimittitur ab opere incipitur.
19. Liber qui Rosarius* appellatus esse videtur: inc. Desiderabile desiderium et inappreciable pretium. 128—174.
* See the notes written at the end by the collator of this (and of some other pieces in this volume) with the original. It ends thus—"Est autem alius modus, et subtilior est, ut sumatur corpus imperfectum aliquod, sicut est cuprum. Residuum istius invenies in quaterno notabilium ad tale signum."
20. "Incipit Speculum Philosophiæ magistri JOHANNIS DASTYNE Anglici, [duobus libris.] Venerabili in Christo patri domino Neopon sancti Adriani diacono Cardinali suus Johannes Dastyne se prouum ad pedum oscula beatorum." 177—197—268.
In fine—"Quoniam donum Dei est magnum, et cui vult largitur, et auferit ipsum. Explicit speculum philosophiæ magistri JOHANNIS DASTYN Anglici de compositione lapidis preciosissimi." A different copy is in No. 1507, art. 1; and an English abridgement of this, by Robson, is in No. 1424, art. 3.
On this and other tracts in this volume, are some marginal notes by Ashmole, in shorthand: on p. 270, is one line of the same, with three verses written at length from Wisd. vii. 29, 24, and Eccl. xxiv. 28.
21. D. EDWARDI KELLEI liber de scientia Hermetica, seu de elixire "Discursus amicus et non ingratus"* quem "Generoso domino Edwardo Dyero amico suo intime colendo" inscripsit. 271—2, 273—327.
* Beg. Non immerito summus et divinus ille Plato. At the end is an obscure note by Ashmole's hand, beg. 'Non sua scripsit,' (with a note in shorthand) and on the next page he has written—
22. "An abstract of the letter [from Sir E. Kelly? dated 15]95: 14 Septemb." about chemical amusements. 328.
23. "Speculum Elementorum. Gloria laus et honor perhennis omnipotenti Deo, cujus gratia cooperante Speculum Elementorum desiderabile componitur sub hac forma. Primo excluduntur alique falsitates." 333—351.
Des.—Patet ergo quod habetur aqua per se, et quod habetur terra per se.
24. JOHANNIS DASTINI liber de magisterio alchemiæ: inc. Summæ venerationis excellentissimo patri domino Neapoloneri sancti Adriani dignissimo Cardinali, sapientia amantissimo conjugi, suus Johannes Dastin rudis clericus.* 353—73.
* Sic. In fine—"Modum vero suæ operationis eo quod longiorem exigit explanationem, dicam in sequentibus. Explicit liber Johannis Dastin." Art. 17 seems to be an abridgement of this: see also art. 20.

No. 1421.

A quarto MS. on paper, written by THOMAS ROBSON, and marked 'A.'; consisting of 243 leaves, beside 6 at the beginning now first paged. On the first page are two or three notes (one, where to get the best saltpetre) by Robson, and this autograph—"Rich. Napeirs booke."

(1.) An irregular table of the chief particulars contained in this volume. p. 4—6.

(2.) "The true worke of ☉ and ☽;" also "To turne ♀ into ☉:" two alchemical pieces written by NAPIER'S hand. p. 7—11.

1. A collection of alchemical processes and experiments, "Taken forth of the litle Blacke Boke;" viz. "To precipitate mercury. —To rubefie mercurye" etc. f. 1—28^b.

At f. 5^b is the way "To drawe the salt of ♀ as my selfe did in the yeare 1607."

Those at f. 16—18^b were extracted "Ex Thoma Aquino." The two last pieces are "The greate Red worke" (ending—"become a red powder. proved Finis.") and "Another Red worke found in an abbay provid."

2. "The worke of cako,"* or a tract thus intitled—"De lapidem philosophicum, per FORMAN. 1605. Omne majus includit [in] se minus. Aristotle. The orbe of ♀ is the hiest of all the plannets." 29—34^b.

* This is the running title. Robson had free access to Formans MSS. in his lifetime.

3. "Thes [alchemical experiments, chiefly about the extracting of quintessences, were taken] forth of the old booke wth the thine parchment covers. Opus. Take strong watter" etc. 35—40.

4. "The first operation of a great worke" of alchemy, and others to the seventh: beg. First cleuse thy mercury with common salt: also five other short pieces. 40—2^b—4

Seemingly from the same MS. as art. 3: the seven next articles were copied "Forth of the old booke writt in the old hand before printe" was used.

5. "In Dei nomine amen. Aqua vitæ. The true mercury of the philosop[h]ers. Take a li. of salt comone:"—also, the composition of the "stone," "The elixer," and "Projection et augmentation." 44—5.

6. "Seven condicions. 1. The first condicion is this, that yf ther be one kinde of argentum vive." 45^b—7^b.

Ending—"and may be multiplied wth out end. Thes .7. condicions acorde very much wth Bubilous. Deo gracias Amen." Below is drawn the figure of a furnace.

7. The alchemical book of "Multiplar" in seven chapters; beg. To all that vertuosly are disposed, willinge to be the children of doctrine. 48—56.

Ending—"Chosse thes bodyes that are moste neire the same, and this is a worke of one daye, or of 1 houer or half an houer. Finis auctoris de quo nesper mirabilis etc."

8. The praises of 'Sol, luna, sulphur, mercurie,—Sulphur—Sol—Luna—Jubiter'—and 'Tyne glase' or marcasite. 56^b—7^b.

9. "The vision of JOHANIS DASTINE. We have knowne the necessary transmutation of the planctes together." 57^b—61.

Ending—"Pray to almighty God that we may be sett in the orchard of him. Amen. Finis visionis Joh'is Dastine." At the beginning is this note—"This vision doth agree wth Trapisan his worke, web is on the 68 lefe," namely art. 13.

10. Two texts of the short summary called "Five words:" beg. (1.) The first worde is, in this worke, and (2.) 'Aphebo Aphebe lumen chapter de aquavitæ sayth. The first word of this worke, is.' 61^b, 62^a.

11. "To try Gould whether it be good or not good. Take sal armoniac:" also the draught of a furnace, with directions about projection. 62^b.

"Here endeth the old book written before any printe."

12. "Off what things the tincturs are made, or mercurye philosophorum. The first chapter. Whosoever doth dessier to have the tincturs of mettalls." 63—8.

'The conclusion' following the 7th chapter ends thus—The mercifull God—graunt it soe to be. Amen.

13. A 'parable' concerning the work of the elixir, "Of the Earle of TRAVISAN, bycause his worke doth much agree with this before written*." In my travell as I passed by a towne in India." 68—72^b.

* Namely Dastin's dream, art. 9. It ends thus—for in this my parable or figurative speach, ther is all contained, the dayes, ye cullers, the regment, the way, the disposicion, the conjunction, even in the best sort that I can doe it for you.

14. A large collection of alchemical secrets, receipts, experiments, and processes; taken "Forth of the great boke:" beg. To calcine ☉. Take a pott wth a cover full of holes." 73—114^b.

In many parts Forman's name occurs, as at f. 77 where is "The judgment of FORMAN" with a note by THOMAS ROBSON. At f. 89 is "BLOMFIELD'S worke. Take 1 parte of ☉:" At f. 99 are four stanzas out of Ripley's Compend of Alchemy, (first gate, st. 9—12) see Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 131—2.

The last part of this article is "To make verdigreze:" but the three next were copied out of the same MS. of which f. '343' is quoted at 127^b.

15. "Ymago" or the nature of planetary influence, subscribed 'per FORMAN:' beg. An ymago is the force of caelestiale bodyes flowinge. 115—8^b.

16. "The best tymes for all preparations by astronomye, sett downe by D[octer] FORMAN." 119—120^b.

This title is taken from p. 6. It begins thus—"Howe the planets doe rewle the mettalls, and what mettalls the[y] cause or signifie severally in every signe."

17. Continuation of the select alchemical experiments and processes:—"To make oyle of ☿" etc. 120^b—136^b.

Chiefly by FORMAN, whose name is expressed at 131^b, 133^{ab}. The last piece is "The vigitable menstrue of Georg Replie." 135^b.

18. "The Goulden Booke of ROGER BACON the frier of Osney, of thinges wheron we worke in the worke of sublymacion pro lapide philosophico, and alchymy. Ther is a sciencce touchinge [the] changinge of mettalls into Sol and Luna." 137—146.

The last title is—"To give a thinge fixation."

19. "A treatis of the most execlent Mr DUNSTAN Bishop of Canterburie, a true philosopher, concerninge the philosophers stone. It is to be understood that the anciente philosophers have often indorcved by science." 146^b—154.

Ending—"all thy labor is but vaine. Finnis."

20. "Of the abrivation of the worke, wherin are contained almost all elixers and the maner of makinge them, out of DUNSTAN the bishop. The first abrivation. Red vitrioll calcined into ashes." 154—9^b.

Ending—"thou canst not erre in this science. Finnis. Mr Dunstan Bishop of Canterburye. 1613. By me Thomas Robson."

21. "A white worke w^{ch} RIPLEY used befor he had the great worke. Take of ♀ sublymat." 160^a.

22. "GEORGE RIPLEYES Mijter. Take ♂ calc^o j. parte." 160^b.

23. "JOHN OF LONDONS his work on vitrioll. Dis-solve vitrioll in distilled." 161—2^b.

"On the 714 leafe of Mr Forman's great booke ther is this worke sett downe after his opinion."

24. "A worke of the minercall stone. Take halfe an ounce of sulphur very well fined." 162^b—3^b.

25. "For to gilt silver, copper, or latine. First see that you have a skrate brushe of wiere." 163^b—164.

26. "The Key of Alchimie" in eight 'treatises,' by SAMUELL NORTON; with introductory verses⁶, a dedication to Q. Elizabeth (dated 'from St John's in Cambridge, the 20 of July 1577'), and 'the preamble.' 165^b—170, 171—7, 178—217.

* Six couplets, (beg. These wch your highnes here doth see) fronting the emblem on 166^a, and "The petition of the author to Alchimie. Alchimie noble Muse, of all most worthy praise" (2 st. of 6, and 1 of 8) on the next page. The author says much at f. 171 about Thomas Norton the poet, his great grandfather. The two last pages contain an estimate of the expenses needful for the whole work of alchemy, amounting to 68*l.* 6*s.* 4*d.* The vacant page 217^b is subscribed—"By me Thomas Robson. 1613." as also is the next article, which probably belongs to this. In No. 1424, (part 2) p. 20, it is said to have been dedicated in 1587: see art. 39 of that MS.

27. Drawings of six furnaces used in alchymy. 218—20^b.

(3.) "A very breefe easy and yet a very true way, as well for the white as the red worke. — Water of wormwood strong," and three other waters; written by NAPIER. 221—2.

28. "GEORGE RIPLEY'S Bosome-booke. The whole worke of the stone philosophical, of the first solution of the grose bodye. First take 30 li. of sericon." 223—9.

On 226^b, below this colophon—"The ende of the greate worke of George Ripley" are some notes by Napier. It ends thus—"accordinge to the practis I have wrought and proved the same, for the wch thanke God, and remember the poore. Explicit Ryples Bosome booke." Perhaps this is the translation of it made by S. Norton, which he mentions in his dedication, at f. 168.

29. "GEORGE RYPLEIS practis by experience of the stone. George Ripley died when he was of ripe age and he giveth thes precepts breeffly [etc.] Take Adrop." 229—31^b.

Ending—"every tincture, to witt, white and redde. Explicit."

30. "RYPLEIS vigitable watter. viz. vigitable menstrue out of his philosum. Take tartar calcined." 231^b—2.

31. "A curtation to congell and fix mercury crud, to abide all maner of examinations for ever," (beg. For to fixe ♀ perpetually); and some other alchemical processes. 234—6^b—41.

Two at f. 238 are ascribed to 'fryer BUNGOY.'

(4.) Astrologico-chemical notes, and two receipts, by NAPIER. 241^b—2.

32. Two notes of alchemical operations, by ROBSON, in 1614 and 1615. f. 243^a.

No. 1422.

A thick quarto volume containing more than 300 leaves of paper, the most of which are blank: those which are not, are written in the same neat hand as No. 756, with many vacant intervals. Of the first 8 leaves, (not numbered by the writer,) the first and last contain the title and an index.

"Excerpta quædam ex Medulla Destillatoria, Germanicè conscripta per CONRADUM KHUNRALLE: ubi præcipua quæ in isto libro diffuse tractantur, breviter collecta et in Latinam linguam translata sunt," per THEODORICUM GRAVIUM. f. 1^a, pp. 7—285.

"Index tractatum in hoc libro contentorum," xxii. scilicet, cum 'appendice'; de medicamentis variis. f. 8^{ab}.

"Index alphabeticus" medicamentorum et aliarum rerum. p. 633. ff. 10.

The numbers do not reach beyond the first page of this index, which is about the middle of the volume: the pages are numbered with alternate numbers, as though they were written in columns, but they are not.

No. 1423.

A quarto volume containing five MSS. on paper, with fresh paper at each end and between them. They are, all but the last, written by one hand; and the first three are ornamented with fanciful capital letters and title pages, flourished and colored.

I. "The trewe cobby of an ancyeute booke [of alchemical experiments and processes] written in paretment by GEORGE MARRO[w]E monke of Nostall Abeye in Yorkeshier An^o. Do. 1437. & now lastelye, and trewlye copped out by me Thomas. Anno Do. 1596, the 20th Marche. Non labor, sed avaritia a nobis fugienda." f. 3^b, pp. 1—71.

Beg. (after a short title in characters thus explained by Napier '♀ into ♀') R on pound of ♀ beinge in fylinges; and ending thus—"and knowse ye use theyrof. And hear endes the trewe cōpye of the manuscript of St George Marrowe, now most faithfully written over ageyne word for worde, this 20th of Marche Ano. 1596. per me Thomas Mountfort. preised be God."

Verses by "BRANDONNE in the preyse of this booke." p. 72.

Subscribed thus—"Brandonne monochus. Ano. Do. 1437." The same as in the other transcript, No. 1406, iv. p. 35.

II. "Opus ROGERI MERRYFOOT monachi [qui liber] scriptus erat in pergamena vetu[sti]ssima et nunc erat hic rescriptus per me Thomam tum 16 Aprilis. Anno Domini 1592." f. 2^a, pp. 64.

Beg. "Pro ☉ enm ♀ R de novo ♀ quantum vis:" the greater part is in English, and ends thus—"wech will dissolve (☉ in deed. & heare endes my old monke this 16th of Aperill Ano. 1592 per me Tho." (Mountfort's name is usually erased in these MSS.) The common characters are here printed, in the stead of those unusual ones of the MS., which are explained in—

A table of the alchemical characters used in this book; by Dr. FORMAN. p. 65.

Who wrote this note on the back of the title:—"Perlegit Forman et fecit tabulam (Indicem) in fine libri 1598. Octob."

On the next leaf (between the two MSS.) is written the following charm, as it seems, by Ashmole's hand. "Si cal ter Jason Aureafæli. Sk ragh ozxkwxfg rophpsdrwx. In ovo diaphano." He has continued one series of numbers hence to the end of the fourth MS.

III. "The cōpye of an owlde manuscripte [of 62 alchemical receipts and experiments] wryttenne by St PETER PERCY, channon and preeste of Maydenstone in Kente, he levede An^o. 1486. And nowe bye me Tho written againe. Anno. March 29. deye. 1595." pp. *10, 11—81.

Beg. "Solidatura ad Y. [i.e. ☿] R ij partes Y." and ending thus—"De isto pulvere mitte unam partem super 1000 ☉^o [i.e. ♀] ut supra. Finis."

Explanation of some of the characters herein used; by NAPIER. p. 83.

Also this note "perlegit Forman 1598."

IV. "Libr[or]um Liber. Anno 1579." A collection of '64' antient alchemical receipts, partly in Latin and partly in English; written by THOMAS MOUNTFORT. pp. 93—135.

Beginning—"1. ♀ into ☿. R of ♀ purged:" and ending thus—"64. Purgatio ☿.—et erit durum frangibile et purificatum." On the last page (136) are two notes, and a collection of characters used therein (by the same hand), for which the common ones are printed here.

V. 1. "In nomine domini Jesu Christi amen. Incipit opus commune ROGERI BACONI. R vitrioli puri Romani." p. 1—7.

Des.—"et filius flavus est aurum purum desoendens a supra-scriptis. Et sic finis est operis Rogeri Baconi de opere suo commune. Amen." Compare No. 1423, vi.

In a short list of the contents on the first leaf, written by Dr. Forman, this tract is called "Roger Bacon de conclusionibus." On the same page are a Latin passage from an alchemical book, and some alchemical characters explained. The other side of the leaf contains the following note by the same hand as the MS. (fronting p. 1)—"I hadd this booke owte of a moste owld and ancyent cōpye wrytten in parchemente by a monke of St. Albons namede JAMES GREYE who lyved an^o 1492. and I wrytt this cōpye ye 24 of maye an^o 1593."

2. "Incipit opus S. THOME DE AQUINO. Incipit tractatus S. Thome ad primoogenitum Regem Jerusalem. Sunt quidam qui operantur cum uno spiritu." p. 8—9.

Des.—super 7. partes ♀. vel ♀. purgati et firmi in ☉. obrizon convertetur.

3. "Aliud opus S. THO. DE AQUINO. Aliud [etc.] scilicet bona medicina et probata." p. 9—10.

Des.—certe mihi non bene placuit unquam.

4. "Sequitur capitulum utile bonum et probatum a quodam magistro FREDRICO BONONIE quod nullum judicium finiet, et operatur sic. [p. 11.] R stagni partes 2." Ejusdem alia quoque præcepta alchemica. p. 10—18.

Des.—"et optime valet. Med de gwaddod gwın a halen bras. Finis operis Fredrici Bononie."

5. A collection of chemical secrets, experiments, and processes, collected and abridged out of the book named 'Speculum Luminum:' beg. thus—"Gowlde mad by alkeymye is note goode to cure the leypper, and for to comforte man's hart as the natural gold. Speculum Luminum. Flos æris or verdytur. Take thinne plattes" etc. p. 19—55.

The last title is "Distillatyoune by discendinge." At the end is this chapter:—"Hear endethe ye Abridgemente of y^e noble worke called Speculum Luminum: yt was wrytten as sayethe myne auctor in ye yeare 1474."

6. "Practica auctoris incogniti. Fiat lapis de calce plumbi." p. 56—7.

In fine—"quod erit bona ☽. Teste meipso ista sunt vera."

7. "Versus magistri CONRADI DE HILDENSER. An^o. 1474. Conitur exire spiritus de corpore Jovis." (23 vv.) p. 58.

Ad finem—"Exp[er]icit secreta M. Conradi de Hildenser, an^o. 1474." A more complete copy is in the sixth MS. art. (1).

8. Prescriptions "To make most pretious oyells: the auctors name was worne out. To make oyle for cleane goulde" etc. p. 52—62.

9. "Sequitur doctrina de ponderibus elixerij. Duo pondera de igne." (i. e. sulphure.) p. 63—4.

Des.—"ne ad manus impiorum aliquo modo perveniat. Et sic habemus finem de ponderibus."

10. "Opus de limacibus. Ad faciendum ☽ ex ♀." Et "Aliud opus de limacibus ad ☉. et ad ☽." p. 65—7.

Des.—"qui expertus est inveniet veritatem his. Finis."

11. "Dicta S. THOME DE AQUINO. Est modus operandi per spiritus." p. 68.

12. "JOHANNIS DE RUPISCISSA practica, quarta die mensis Octobris an^o. Dom. 1350. Ad sublimandum maximam inopiam et paupertatem, sancti et electi Dei, quibus datum est misterium nosce[re] veritatis sine parabolis, lapidem philosophorum." 68—77.

In fine—"Igitur ex toto tuo corde et animo gratias Deo—amen. Explicit veritas hujus artis, per Johannem de Rupiscissa anno. Domini. 1350. mensis Octobris quarto die." A translation is in No. 1424, art. 7.

13. How "To purge allome. Make the a great cawlderon of lead." p. 78.

These two last pages were wrongly marked '57, 58.'

VI. "Incipit Liber Aureus. Elixir autem in hac scientia 2^{ter}. consideratur." f. 2—17^b.

Ending thus—"Satis patet quod servus fugitivus sit [17^b] lapis supradictus vel superscriptus. Nigra uxor Saturnus est, et fovea est vas. Infernus est ignis. Fluvius filius est Sol descendens a supradictis et superscriptis. Finit Liber Aureus." (Compare No. 1423, v. art. 1.) This tract occupies the chief part of the MS. and is written in a small hand of the XVth century: the other articles are written (at different times) by the less antient hand or hands that wrote numerous notes on the margins, and on f. *5^b, a small paper inserted.

(1) CONRADI DE HILDENSER carmen de secretis alchemiæ: inc. Cogitur exire spiritus de corpore Jovis. (36 vv.) f. 1^b.

The author's name is borrowed from art. 7 of the foregoing MS. his initials only are here subscribed to the last line (which is also the last line of the other copy)—"Tunc ores pro me qui talia posui pro te. C. H. Explicit." His name is not in Leyser, but a Conradus de Alzey is mentioned (p. 2046-7, from Trithemius) as the author of poems, about 1370, who may have been the same person.

(2) "Ut mercuryum fiet molliabile. Take a lityl pot of erth." 17^b.

(3) "For to brynge al sperytes and bodyys yn to water. Take alym de plume j li." 17^b.

(4) "In capitulo de modo projectionis habetur hoc verbum. Kymbare et false scribitur. debet scribi kinabar ut patet in opere pandectarum." etc. 18.

(5) Philosophi multa posuerunt artificia etc. 18^a.

(6) "Purgacio Jovis et Saturni."—"Calcinacio" corundem; et "Ad faciendum pulverem plumbi vel limaturam ferri." 18^b.

(7) "To gwilde. (Rather to tynne.) R de 4 partes tot." 18^b.

(8) The testament nuncupatory of JOHN GYBBYS, showing how to transmute ☿ into ♃: beginning—Joh'es Gybbys off Eritur in the counte of Derynshyre beyng in perylle of deth off a gret suellyng and pestlauns soer in his throet—saying oon speciale thinge and a gret secrete have I." etc. 19—23.

Ending—"cast itt into an Ingold os þu wold do oder metalle, and make off hym what þu wyll. Deo gratias. Opus inceptum det Christus finem beatum." At the mention of the magnet 'or in Englyshe a Shypman stone,' here are interpolated two long Latin extracts, one ending "Hec JOH'ES DE SANCTO AMANDO in libro meris ubi loquitur de venenis quomodo unum venenum atrahat reliquum. Explicit." The other begins thus, "Secundum MESNAY. In lapidibus preciosis." f. 20—1^b—2.

(9) "Sequitur prohibitio* lapidis precedentis. Cum succo allei." 23^a.

* Potius probatio magnetis.

(10) "Incipiunt .7. operationes lapidis majoris secundum JOHANNEM. Ita quod prima operacio est ista in humido et calido." 23^b—4.

Des.—que erat soluta et est septima clavis et ultima hujus operis. Deo gratias.

(11) Vasorum quæ in arte alchemica fuerint usui, figura et nomina. 24^a, *23.

F. *23 is a small paper inserted, written on one side.

(12) "WILLELMUS HODSON. ut spiritus solis habetur ut hic*. In Dei nomine amen. Take j lb. of vitrialle and dim. lb. sal petre." 24^b—7.

Thus the title superscribed seems to be read, and is represented on the first page of this MS. in the short list of contents written by Dr. 'Jo. Dee. A^o 1563,' whose name (as it seems) is almost blotted out there. The first page also contains some alchemical notes, less antient than the MS. * It ends thus—"and alle shalle be gold and pure sylver at alle assays by the grace off God—and þu shalt have alle þi desyer and wyll. Explicit. In Domino confido."

No. 1424.

A quarto MS. neatly written by THOMAS ROBSON; consisting of 204 leaves, whereof the two first, ff. 74—99, and 154—199 are vacant, except two pages in the last lot.

Part I.—A collection of tracts relating to the 'Mineral Stone.'

1. A treatise containing 'in 7 chapters, the full and the whole craft and also the naked truth' of alchemy; with "The prologue" in metre* (beg. The muddie mindes doe not conceight: 21 st. of 4) and 'The preface.' ff. *3—*4, *5—1—7.

* Subscribed "Finnis. 1614. Aprill 23" which is only the date of the transcript. The 7th chapter ends thus—"but rather chouse those bodies that are most neere the same, and this is a worke of one day, or of one hower, or of half an hower. Finnis." Compare No. 1416, artt. 32, 34.

2. "In Dei nomine amen. Aqua Vitæ, the true mercury after some old philosophers. Take of salt common, of rock alone." 7^{ab}.

With the figures of two furnaces.

3. "The Merrere of Philosophie, of Mr JOHN DASTINE, being the Rosary of ARNOLDUS;" abridged from the Latin*, by THO. ROBSON: beg. "The first. Take ☿ sufficient for your use." 8—11^b.

* Which is in No. 1420, art. 20. It ends thus—to make it perfiete, and infinit to rune on ☉ and ☾, and this curieth all the infirmities of the bodye, as dothe Isacke Holandus his worke.

4. "The worke of JOHN BUBELLUS Englishman, who lived in the year of our Lord 1384. Take ☿ sufficien[t] for thy worke and purg it with ☿ and salt." 12—14.

5. "The Key of RAYMUND LULLY, w^{ch} is called his Apertorye, in w^{ch} althings that are required in the worke of alkamy, are pleynty sett downe. Wee have called this worke our Key." 14—20^b.

— "and so reiterat this till all be dissolved: and thus endeth the Key of Raymund Lully, being called his Apertory. Finnis: 1614."

6. "A worke somewhat agreeing wth thes before written in this booke. Off what things the tinctures are made .i. mercury philosophorum. Chapter 1. Whosoever doth covet to have the tinctur of mettalls." 20^b—4.

'The conclusion' ends thus—The mereifull God—grauite it so to be. Amen. A drawing of a furnace follows.

7. "A worke of JOHN DE RUPES[C]IS[S]A on ☿ sublymatte. To helpe the great wante and need of Gods saintes." 24^b—6.

Ending—to whom be all honor glory powre and domenion for ever more Amen. It is a translation from the Latin, in No. 1423, v. art. 12.

8. An alchemical tract addressed "Domino Regi Martino Anragonie, a^o. 1399. Moste wise kinge, it behoveth him who wilbe entred into this secret science." 26^b—30^b.

Ending—"and it will convert all imperfect mettalls or ☿ into most true ☾ better then that w^{ch} cometh out of the mine. Finnis."

9. "A minerall worke on ☿. Take ☿ and mortifie it well wth φ." 31^{ab}.

Ending—and so thou hast an end of this shorte elixer, for the w^{ch}—ever Amen. See art. 13.

10. "The prolog to the minerall stone,"* and a tract thereof, in two parts. 31^b—4.

* Beg. For as much as in the first parte of our worke of Alchimi it is necessary. The last words are—"and not of tynn or of sall armoniacke, but as it is sayd in the vigitable stone. Finnis"

11. "The worke of Saminer [of the white and the red elixir.] Take as much good baysalt as you will or of salt peeter." 34^b—7^b.

Ending—and thus have I performed my former promise unto you, yf it be God's blessed will to give you the true understanding.

12. "A minerall worke of ☿. For bycause sublymatation doth occupie every parte." 38—41^b.

Ending—"all diseases of man's body, both within and without. Finnis."

13. "Another worke, the first parte. Take ☿ and mortifie it well wth vitrioll." 41^b—2^b.

Same as art. 9.

14. "Another worke of ☿ onely. To sublyme for the white and redd, take." 42^b—5^b.

Ending—for at every dissolving and congeilling, ipse adquiret sibi decies.

15. "A worke wrought by the philosophers watter of might. Take ij ll. of ☿ sublymed from comon salt preparate." 46—7^b.

Ending—into constant ☉ as any of the naturall mine. A long note by Napier is on the first margin.

16. "Another shorte worke of ☿ to bring it into watter, and a worke thereof. Take our stone white and cleare." 47^b—8.

Ending—medicine upon a thousand &c.

17. "An exortation of on S^r ROBERT GREENE Englisheman, concerning this minerall worke.

I wishe and advise you to note well the teastament of Raymond Lully." 48^b—9^b.

Ending—who is the giver of all good giftes. Amen.

18. "To bringe ☿ into water as S^r WALTER RALE[IGH] did. Take 4 ll. of pure minerall ☿." 49^b—50.

Subscribed—"This Joanes did revell unto master Sandy. 1612 December 27. But as I thinke in this worke yf the first glasse body do hold, one should not need to chaing it, and to take a stone pott or bodye. By me THOMAS ROBSON ali[a]s FLETCHER. 1615." See also art. 24, and No. 1407, iii. art. 66.

19. "A minerall worke of ☉ and ☿. Take of fine ☉ j oz." With Robson's additions. 50^b—1.

Earle of TRAVISON, of the philosophers stone, biginninge wth the third chapter, (leaving the first and the seconde) as followeth. To have the better understanding of this matter." 63^b—73.

The fourth ch. begins at 70^b and ends thus—and he sayd unto me, God made one and tenn, and a 100, and a 1000, and 10000.

Part II.—Tracts on the 'Vegetable Stone.'

33. "Here begineth y^e concordance between Guido and Raymond Lully, tw[o] philosophers. Raymond speaking of ye ferment of ye stone." (f. 100.) p. 1—3.

Ending—"but how it is tayened it is a secret and shall be, sayth GEORGE RYPLY whose theoricke this is. Finis."

34. "De lapide philosophi. Off the beginning of the worke when thou first goest aboute to make the philosophers stone. When thou first—or to make the ♀ of cako." p. 5—9.

This relates to astrological elections of times, and ends—and he shall not come to his dessier but in parte.

35. "A sement royall" and three other receipts. p. 9.

36. ROBSON'S preface to his abridgements* of three authors 'concerninge the vegittable stone.' p. *9—10.

* The three following articles.

37. (1) "A treatis of the most excelent Mr DUNSTONE Bishop of Canterbury, a true philosopher, concerning the philosophers stone. It is to be understood that the ancient philosophers." p. 11—36.

At the end of the 'preface' (p. 21) is a commendation of S. Norton's book, which was 'dedicated unto—Quene Elizabeth in the yeare 1587, and hapned into my hands in the yeare 1613.' Robson's transcript of it, is in No. 1421, art. 26. The colophon (after—thou canst not err in this science.) is—"Finis. Mr. Dunstan Bishop of Canterburie, thus he ends 1615."

38. (2) "GEORGE RIPLY his Bosome-booke. The wholle worke of the stone philosophicall: of the first solution. First take 30 ll. of sericon." p. 37—47.

Ending—"remember the poore. Explicit Riplies Bosome Booke. 1616. February 12." A short transition or preface is on p. 48.

39. (3) "Mr SAMEWELL NORTONS" Key of Alchemy, abridged: beg. In this my writting sayth Mr Norton, wch I heire terme Clavis Alchimie. p. 49—89.

Ending—"but in all other workes bothe the bookes doe agree in all other things. And thus endeth the vigitable worke of Isake Hollandes. Finis 1616. February 28."

41. "GEORGE RIPLEY in pupilla alchimie. Take as much fine redd lead." p. 105—7.

Ending—all the medicens in the worlde. f. 153^a.

Alchemical notes written by NAPIER. f. 153^b, 192^a. Remedy "For the greene jaundis. First take a vomel." f. 198^a.

Seemingly by Robson's hand, but very rudely done.

No. 1425.

A quarto MS. fairly written in Italian hand, of the time of Q. Elizabeth, consisting of four parts; of which the second is the largest, and consists of '98' leaves colored red on the edges: the first and third parts (ff. 37 and pp. 34) seem to have been added: the fourth is of smaller paper cut at the edges, and was (with the third) paged by Ashmole, pp. 35—74. The two titles at the beginning of the first and second parts, are in large capitals alternately green and red.

(1) 1. "Brevis et compendiosa curatio febris putridæ atque hecticae [per FRANCISCUM HUNNIADUM.*] Febris a fercore dicta est quoniam nostra corpora febriendo fercent." ff. 1—14^b.

* Added by Napier's pen.

2. Operis medici pars prior, de sex hisce morbis agens,—epilepsia, apoplexia, paralyssi, phrenesi, et melancholia. f. 15—21^b—23^b—28—31^b—5.

Inc. "De epilepsia. Cum epilepsia apud antiquos medicos et modernos duplex sit."

Morborum in utraque parte comprehensorum index. f. 36^{ab}.

(2) 3. Operis pars posterior, in xliii. capitulis de tot morbis; cui titulus—"Practica F^rISIMELICAE. Curatio asthmatis. In euratione asthmatis primo quoque tempore uteris hoc medicamento." ff. 1—98.

(3) Collectanea medica: scilicet—

4. "Experta medicamenta Montagnanæ, Savonrolæ, et aliorum medicorum, in dolore capitis vel aliarum partium ejusdem, ut aurium, oculorum," etc. p. 1—4.

"Medicamenta in affectibus gutturis, pulmonis, cordis" etc. p. 6.

"Medicamenta ad stomachum, hepar, et licnem" etc. p. 8—9.

"De renibus curandis, et vesica" etc. p. 11—12.

"De hemorrhoidibus aperiendis, et sanguine mitendo" etc. p. 14.

5. "Instrumenta traduntur diversa, quibus utitur medicina in praxi: ex authoribus" eisdem. p. 16—17.

6. "De cauteriis faciendis in singulis corporis partibus, ex Bruno, qui desumpsit ex Albutasi." p. 19—20.

7. "Observationes ex Lanfranco Mediol. med. et chi. de sanguinis missione, ventosis, et sanguisugis." p. 21—2, 20.

8. "Medicamenta sanguinem sistentia, ex Merc." aliorumque medicamentorum collectio. p. 23—32.

The following names of medical men and of patients occur in these last pages:—Dr. Smith, Mr. Carrell, Tho. Peacocke, Mr. Payne, Mr. Carrowe, Dr. Browne, Mr. Alecocke, Mrs. Fleetwood, Dr. Bailie, Dr. Gifford, Joseph Fenton, Dr. Foster, Ed. Stafford, Comitissa de Southampton, Th. Tasberge, and this note—"4 Octob. 1605. lente to Doctor Davis my Durragon"?

- (4) 9. Medicamentorum alia collectio, eodem scriptore; partim Latine, partim Anglice. pp. 35—59, 70—73.

Many more persons are named in this part, among whom is the "Comes Cumberlande" at p. 54. Page 59 seems to have been written by one of the Napiers.

No. 1426.

A quarto volume containing nine MSS. on paper, written by different hands, at different times. The first was distinctly and fairly written about the year 1500, and consists of 56 leaves numbered by the same hand, but paged by 'E. Ashmole' (whose autograph is on p. 3) who has skipped from 65 to 71, in turning from f. 33 to f. 34. The first leaf contains only the names of Ripley's 12 'gates,' (p. 1) by an old hand, and 'Job: 37: 6' in Hebrew (p. 2) by Ashmole.

- I. 1. "Incipit prologus in libro qui vocatur Rosarius Philosophorum [auctore ARNOLDO DE VILLA NOVA*.] Laus sit Deo patri qui dat sapienciam pauperibus." Post quem "Hic incipit quidam tractatus ex libris antiquorum philosophorum collectus. Desiderabile desiderium, impreciable precium." ff. 1—2—49^b.

In fine—"Et in hoc completur Secretum secretorum nature maximum, quod est super omne mundi preciosum preciosissimum. Explicit Rosarius preciosissimus, ex libris antiquorum philosophorum sub brevitate collectus, qui possidentibus sit preciosissimus, et nunquam nisi sapienti communicetur sicut in libri principio communi." There is an other copy in No. 1467, art. 8, which seems to have been transcribed from this MS. in 1532.

* See the note on No. 1408, vii.

2. "Secuntur quedam Glose super diversas sententias philosophorum, sicut scriptum est libro Novelle Margarite. In capitulo 4^o dicitur sic. Propter hoc igitur quam plures antiqui sapientes solummodo naturaliter operantes primam partem operationis et ca. Notandum est quod philosophi antiqui appellaverunt primam partem operis principium operis." f. 50—6.

This article consists of nine large paragraphs, the 7th of which belongs to 'Ca^o. 9^o,' the 8th to '3^o Ca^o' and the last to these two

"Versus MERLINI—

Ignea vis mollis, si sit moderata sub ollis

Vertitur in mundam, res aurea dulciter undam.

"Glosa. Notandum est quod generacio et corruptio" etc. p. 115.

Turning up the last leaf may be seen accounts of money paid at different times, by or to one 'M^r Pensey,' (p. 116) written by the same hand as the notes on the first page.

- II. "Magnum opus Saturni, JOANNIS ISAACI, ex Flandrico sermone in Latinum translatum, per JACOBUM DE SOMERE Gandavensem;" et "JOANNIS ISAACI tractatus de Antimonio, ex Flandrico sermone in Latinum translatus" per eundem; qui, præmissa epistola, 'Domino Æduardo Dyerio, serenissimæ, Regineæ Ma^{ti}. a cubiculis' librum dedicavit. p. 5—7, ff. 1—24, 25—31.

The dedication begins thus—"Dum prior operis mineralis Isaaci pars in dignitatis tuæ gratiam describitur, vir clarissime; ne quod mihi tempus ante perfectionem meam in Belgium periret, magnum ejusdem authoris opus Saturni, nec non tractatum quendam de Antimonio, putavi transferendum." This MS. is fairly written in the Italian hand, and seems to be the original: many notes are on the margins, and on p. 3 and f. 32^a, written perhaps by Sir E. Dyer: see also MS. viii. These two tracts are translated into English, in No. 1459, ii. art. 16, 15.

- III. "GEORGE RIPLEY his worke of breviation of the ph^lers stone. R the weight of pure fine ☉ of an old Edward noble or else an old ryull." pp. 15.

The last words are (under the title of "Water of mercury")—"and looke that it weye 6 oz. then distille it etc. Finis." Fairly written in the time of James I. in the Italian hand.

- IV. The work of "♄" (Saturn or lead) in the preparation of the philosophers' stone: beg. "♄ is better in or worke then ☉, for if you ment to draw ♀ out of ☉ you should need a year." ff. 12.

Ending—"with all the bad humors yt are wthin him. my sonne here endeth ye noblest and precioust worke yts in ye vegetable booke, dd' §: whome God hath granted ye stone, needeth nothing else in ye world therefore keepe this as close as you canne to the honor of God. Written in the time of Eliz. or James I.

- V. 1. "Here begynneth the boke conteynyng myne oppyneons in the scyence of this philozophy. Myne oppyneon in the declaracyon of the sophisticated quydites of the siens of alkemy. The scyence of alkemy is hid from the knowledg of oulnernd people." p. 1—16.

At p. 4, the author says, "In the fyrst begynnyng of this chaptre I purpos to declare the matter of the greate elixer afre the discripcyon of one George Ripla, some tyme Chanon of Bridlyngton in England. By whos wrytyng I undrestand that the matter" etc. Ripley is often quoted in this MS., which seems to have been compiled and written, about the time of Henry VIII. The last page is thus headed—"This matter foloweng declaryth the... of the dissolucyon of the inperfite body of Venus" etc. Three blank pages follow.

2. "The preparacyon of mercury is one of the... secret poyntes of aule this scyence. Mark wele that in the chapter of ceparacyon." p. 20—28.

After the first sentence are quoted 2 stanzas (of 7 lines each) beg. But wherwith thou most renew thy stone: by Ripley? It seems by a passage at p. 23, that this work was intended to contain twice seven chapters: but at p. 28, is the following note by way of colophon. "Thes viij levys on the left hand next behynd this leafe, conteyne the worthy mattyr specially extending to wor[ldly] trespere, that evyr was set owght with pen. And specially so openly (ye and that to openly) for soche an inexplicable worthy scyens."

3. "Here folow[e]th the declaracyon....wark from the inhibicyons forthe to [fermen]tacyon, which fermentacyon is sufficiently declar[ed] here before in the first part of p^{is} boke. In the fyrst part." p. 30—3.

Ending—And pryncypall treasure.

4. "Opus HENRICI CORNELII AGRIPPE de occulta philozophia liber primus, capit^o. v^o. de mirabilibus ignis" etc. A translation, beg. This chapter treateth of the marvelous power of the helementes of fyre and erthe. 37—42.

Ending—As few wise men wyll.

5. "Magisterium primum 2ⁱ. libri. In the name of owre lorde Jesu Christ, here begynneth the 2^d boke of Bacon, that treatith of the generall remedisc. Aulethough the first boke declareth" etc. p. 43—6.

Ending—of bothe umorse.

6. "The power of the helement of fiar of salendyne. [It is a wondre.]" p. 47.
7. "The proff of the power of wy.... watyr ardent uppon other mettell. Wyne or watir ardent." 48—9.
8. "Here foloweth the table of medicynall drugges. And fyrst of soche as be hot in the f[i]rst degre." Together with sundry collections touching the uses of certain medicines, the elements, the humors of the body, etc. 49—60.

The last leaf of this MS. is blank.

- VI. 1. "A treatise of the philosophers' stone, found in a Manuscript, written in y^e old English tongne:" thus beg. Praysing be to God the Father, the w^{ch} giveth wisidome or cunningg to wise men, for he is of all the first. p. 1—53.

Ending—And then followeth y^e nourishing till he be woxen (wonder much) with his owne milk that is to say mercury oft and oft ever till he have drunke that sufficeth enough.

2. Alchemistæ ejusdam antiqui Testamentum de arte sua: inc. O fili mi infans charissime ob metu[m] mortis mee, ne moriar antequam pervenias ad ætatem. p. 54—5.

Des.—quia nunquam pervenies ad perfectionem compositionis lapidis philosophorum, nisi scis facere fixum fugiens et fugiens fixum, et si hoc scis, tunc habes totum magisterium.

3. How "To sublyme arsmicke.—To make y^e calx of silver.—To calcine Mars ♀ copper.—The boyler." p. 56.

These four receipts are followed by 3 Leonine verses, beg. Primus formetur. This MS. is neatly written in an Italian hand of the time of James I.: the first leaf and the 3 last leaves are vacant.

- VII. "The Booke of Phelosophers mad by GEORGE RIPLEY of the possibilittee of this sciencie. First wee ought cheefly to inquire of the possibilittee." pp. 30.

The last chapter or section is—"A recapitulation done per mee by mee Gorge Ripley to confute the ignorance of these y^t erre" (etc. p. 26.) ending—"to whom be all prayes honour and dominion for ever Amen. Finis." Written in the time of James or Charles I.: the two first leaves are vacant.

- VIII. 1. Traité de l'œuvre de la pierre philosophique; commençant—"Preparation de cyment, a cymenter le[s] lamines metalliques. R' la matiere requisite a cymenter, que bien cognoysses." f. 1—11.

Fin—"Et le bon demourera: et le pire s'en ira, avant qu'il soit trois heures de la. Τελος."

2. "Recapitulation, et brief sommaire de tout ce, qui est escript cy devant. Pour extrayre vostre eaue ♀ elle faulx premierement cymenter." 11^b—16.

Fin—"pour la decoction [f. 16] de la pierre, preste pour estre calciné, mundifiée et multipliée. Τελος."

3. Shapes of vessels used in this work, with descriptions in French; and with Dr. DEE'S notes in English. 16—19.

An exact scale of half a foot, French measure, is in the margin of f. 16^b.

4. "La forme et facon du double vaisseau, tant de celluy de verre contenant la matiere (dict et appellé premier vaisseau) que du centre de la terre circulée, appellée second vaisseau [etc.] Fault que vostre vaisseau de verre." 19^b—21^b.

Fin—"de l'esspousour de trois bons doigts. Τελος." Subscribed thus by Dr. Dee—"Δ. 1592. Septembr. 14. Mortlaci."

Two written leaves have been torn out of this book, namely ff. 2—3, and four that were blank, two between ff. 21—2, and two between ff. 22—3, which last are vacant, except some notes on the last page by the same hand as those in MS. ii. and others on the margins of this MS. as at f. 6—6^c vid. literas, mense Martij missas An^o. 1601. concordant enim in hoc.

- IX. 1. "Le secret philosop[h]ique. Prenes de la rouge pierre tant comme vous voules." p. 1—2.

Ending—Comme temoygne tous le[s] philo[so]phes asavoyr Hermes, Moryan, Gebar, et frere Roger Bacon et les autres.

2. "The werke of St ROBERT GRIN*. Surly without ane falsed the sciencce of Alkamistic is trewe and not to be moked as many a blynd asse doth." p. 3—17.

* Or GREEN. Ending thus—"And never sythens thys acte done I labryd never more for whant off worldly goodes and for envye of y^e false world and [of] this lytyll trettyes I have made an ewl under Godes power in my old age of 71 yers Anno Dⁿⁱ M^l V^{cc} xxxviiiij, and in y^e reygne of oure moste soverayng lord and kyng Hanry the viijth xxx^{ti} yers of hows saulz Jesus have mercys Amen Deo gracyas." The title and some words of this article are written with rubric: the MS. is almost as old as the year here named.

3. "A notable elixer"* "Apon sol sayd sexes. Take ◊ in foylles or very thyne plattes." p. 17—18.

* Added by an other hand in the margin. Ending—"and it wyll be red and the projecion of thys 1 upon 10 of any metall. fynis." The next leaf is blank.

4. "The warke of NYCOLAS FLAMYNG bowke prenter in Paris, be y^e wiehe is don great good. Furst disolucyone is done after thys maner." p. 21—5.

Ending—"and it wyll be good sol to alle jugementes and sayes this is proved etc. Explicit. Furst for to begyne the sayd warke folow this reule" etc.

5. "Argus the phylo[so]pher. Ther is a vylle thyng." p. 25.

—and than trewe mayde royalle. Seemingly a translation of the often quoted verses Est lapis in mundo, in No. 1416, p. 23.

6. "A calcinacion upon Sol. Dissolve sine ☉ in the ayre of ♀." p. 26—8.

Ending—The wiehe as ordeynet alle t[h]ynges at is plesur to hom be alle honor amen.

7. "Maister ARNAUND DE* VILLA NOVA sayes in is Resayger wache or prey wysele and not fowlychely." p. 28.

Ending—but aren corruptible and subget to alle coruptyon etc.

* Thus far is in rubric. This MS. is written in an old hand of the XVIth century.

No. 1427.

A quarto MS. fairly written on 130 leaves of vellum, in columns, in the XIIIth century, or early in the XIVth, in a running hand, having rubrics and red letters. Below the first page are the autographs of "Thomas Tudder" and "Onslowe Kadwallider Tudder."

1. Liber dictus "Practica Equorum," in quo de cognitione et cura equorum, et de morbis eorum late disseritur: sic inc. Cum inter cetera animalia usui hominis deputata equ[u]s sit. ff. 1—26^c.

Ending thus—"unde ex oppressione ungule circumcirca lesionem. Explicit practica equorum." A long list of the chapters follows the preface, of which the first words are given above.

2. "Incipit Practica Canum. Ut canes pulcherrimos habeas mire audacie." 26^c—7^b.

In fine—"et fermentato bene assidue pascantur. Explicit Practica Canum."

Two leaves have been cut out between the two following vacant leaves.

3. "Incipit liber de passionibus mulierum secundum TROULAM. Cum autor universitatis Deus in prima mundi construc[ci]one rerum naturas singulas juxta genus suum distingueret." 29—38^d.

It ends imperfectly in the chapter "De vento in matrice" with these catch-words—generat ventositatem: the leaves which followed are lost.

4. "Incipit ciru[r]gia T[H]EODORICI fratris ordinis predicatorum secundum doctrinam sapientium veterum et Magistri HUG' Ciru[r]gici,* que titulatur Filia Principis. Venerabili patri et amico karissimo egregio viro d'no A. dei gratia Episcopo Valentino, frater Theodoricus ejusdem patrie Botontin' ecclesie minister indignus." 39—130^a.

* "Secundum meditationem domini Hugonis de Luca, viri in predicta scientia perfectissimi." He was the author's teacher of the healing art. A list of chapters in the four parts or books, follows the preface; in which the contents of the last 7 or 8 leaves do not seem to be noticed. It ends with an "Apostolicon contra vulnera periculosa" in these words—contra ignem in alaxando magdaleones in forma et usui.

On the last page of this MS. are written, by an antient hand, what appear to be notes of payments made by one Robert de Munby, "Anno Domini &c. xliiij" (1344?); and some medical Recipes, in a very difficult running hand. f. 130^d.

No. 1428.

A tall quarto MS. written in text-hand of the latter part of the XIIIth century, on vellum, in columns, with wide margins, and adorned with rubrics and red capitals. It consists of 144 leaves of vellum, of which the first part (except the first leaf) was foliated by an antient hand, and the second part separately by an other old hand, but both incorrectly.

- I. 1. PLATEARIJ liber de causis signis et curis ægritudinum; inc. Amicum induit: qui justis amicorum precibus condescendit: præmissis morborum nominibus. ff. 1^a, 2—68^d.

This book being known by its initial words (as also art. ii.)

the following title is prefixed by a less antient hand,—“Liber Platearij ‘Amicum Induit’ etc.” It ends thus—“et de ipso succo in fistulam injice. Explicit liber Platearij.” Fabricius observes that the true name of this author was discovered to be Matthæus Platearius. (Bibl. Lat. Mediæ ævi, V. 52, ed. 4to.) He is called “Platerj” in No. 1379.

2. Potus cujusdam propter vulnus confectio: inc. R. herbe vo. pimpinelle. 68^d.
3. De medicamento quodam cum sanguine facto: inc. Aloen mirra viride eris euforbium realgar. 69—70.
4. Versiculi octo de complexionibus humanis: inc. Largus amans hylaris. 70^{ab}.
5. [I]nguenium incisionis unguis male in forma sua et colore suo et reliquis maculis ut nascantur loco quo unguis bona, etc. 70^{cd}.

II. "Incipit [liber de simplicibus medicinis, ordine alphabetico, qui appellatur] ‘Circa Instans’ PLATEARIJ. Circa instans negocium in simplicibus medicinis nostrum versatur propositum." 71—112^b.

In fine—"optima suppositoria semper in acutis contra constipationem. Explicit liber Platearij de simplici medicina."

At the end is a curious note in the charter-hand of the same age—

De numero panium (scil. 563) e duobus tritici summis factorum. 112^b.

The 3 following pages were left vacant: on 113^b is fairly written a remedy contra pustulas in facie, in the Italic hand of Queen Elizabeth's time.

III. Ejusdem "Incipit Liber Graduum [seu de gradibus complexionum medicamentorum, ordine alphabetico: inc.] Omnem disputationem simplicis medicince universaliter prout ratio postulaverit explevimus, restat ordo de unaquaque sequatur singulariter." 115—142^d.

In fine—"Cum sevo anatis temperatum. Explicit Liber Graduum."

In a smaller text-hand are written—

Disticha duo, inc. Vas fedum et Quis moritur? Thomas. 142^d.

The lower part of the next leaf is cut off: yet it contains—

Medicamenti confectio e sanguine. 143.

Written in a small running hand, and evidently of the same nature as art. i. 3.

On the next page is prescribed a medicine "De pustulis in facie circa nasum," by the same hand as that on f. 113^b, as also on the back of the next leaf (144^b, the upper part whereof is cut off) where is a distich beg.—Quam mihi concessit fatum.

No. 1429.

A quarto MS. fairly written (about the year 1600) on 117 leaves of paper, in small secretary-hand, with red-ruled margins. Two leaves (probably vacant) been torn out, one before the table, the other after. On the fly-leaf at the beginning was written the following title by old Mr. Napier, in the same month in which Forman died.

"September 1611. Doctor FORMAN'S booke reserved for the use of Clement his sonne."

Also remedies "for the mange" and "for a ringworm." But the book is not in Forman's handwriting, and may not have been composed by him: it consists of the following parts.

"The Table" of the particular contents of this book. pp. 4.

1. "Here followeth good documentes for the preservation of the helthe of man." f. 1—2.
2. "A good plaister by Nutbrownne." 2^b.
3. "Precipitate wth golde or of golde." 3^b.
4. "In the name of God amen, and to the glory of his name. Heare have I collected out diverse good instruccōns for the utility of the reader, gathered out of the most ancient and best auctors that I could finde etc. A Warninge to beware of diverse hearbs, goms, fruites, and sedes etc." The latter part of which is an alphabetical Herbal, from A to G. f. 4—24^b, 25—34.
5. Astrological tables and tracts, applied to the weather and medicine: beginning with "The mansions of the moone." f. 35—75^b.
6. "Here followeth the tymes of the first fyndinge of phisick, and by whome as appeareth here, etc." 76—7.
7. The medical properties of certain plants. 78—89.
8. A collection of Medical Receipts, with some for making preserves and confections; beginning with "A restorative for the plague." 90—115^b.

These receipts are not all particularized in the table: but the four last therein, referred to f. '114' are not here, that leaf having been lost. On the fly-leaf at the end is written "Mr Lewis pray forget me not."

No. 1430.

A volume consisting of 234 leaves of paper, in quarto but of different sizes, with ruled margins: they were written at different times, and paged by the author from '9' to '669'; in which series of numbers are some gaps. The first of 3 unnumbered leaves at the beginning, bears this title—

"The fowerth booke noted in the booke of notes"

written by Robson: the MS. being his friend—

Dr. SIMON FORMAN'S common places of Chemistry or Alchemy, and of occult Philosophy; arranged in alphabetical order; beginning with "Agente and pacient," and ending with "Wordle, Mundus." ff. 1—234.

No. 1431.

A tall quarto MS. of great curiosity and antiquity, written on vellum in a small hand about the end of the XIth century, and rudely but curiously painted: some of the rubrics (as those on the first page) are in uncial letters. Altogether it consists of 44 leaves; whereof the first is of thick vellum bearing this title, written in the XVth century—

"Herbolarium Apuleii Platonis. de librario sancti Augustini Cantuar. D. 14. G. 2^a." f. *1^b.

Ff. 1—2 are a fragment of a Breviary of the XIVth or XVth century, put in as fly-leaves. Two leaves of the MS. have been cut out between ff. 11—12.

1. "In nomine Domini incipit Herbolarium APULEII PLATONIS quod accepit a Scolapio et Chirone centauro magistro. Lege feliciter. Pre-cantatio omnium herbarum ad singulas curas." f. 3—31.

In the middle of the first page is this rubric—"Incipit precantatio cujusdam herbe. Veniens ad herbam:" and after 6 lines—"Incipit epistola ANTONII MUSE ad Agrippam de herba Betonica. quantas virtutes habeat. [Antonius Musa: Marco Agrippæ sal. Cesari Augusto:" etc. 3^a. On the next page "Incipit virtus vel curatio herbe betonice quæ habet medicamina numero quadraginta et septem." On f. 5^b "Explic' de virtutibus herbe betonice. incipit aliud herbarium APULEII PLATONIS. Epistola cujusdam ad concives suos de herba plantagine quantas virtutes habeat. et quæ medicamina corporibus humanis præstet. Apuleius Plato ad concives suos.—Explicit epistola. nomen herbe arnoglosse." The other herbs treated of in this work have no such prefaces, and each is painted: some of the names are explained in English by antient hands. It ends with the male-mandrake, which is painted as a naked man having a bunch of leaves on his head, and led by a dog chained to his waist: in the other MS. No. 1462, f. 45^a, the dog is chained under his feet. The last words are—"Radices ejus siccæ reservantur pluribus usibus profuture; Liber medicine PLATONIS herbaricus explicit."

2. "Incipit liber DIOSCORIDIS ex herbis feminis. Nomen herbe sepliram. Nascitur in montuosis et lapidosis locis. 31^b—43.

The last herb painted is speritis at 36^b: the last title is written in capitals (with ink, not rubric)—"Nomen herbe Aperi-na:" the book ends thus—Item succus ejus dolore[m] aurium instillatus sedat et curat. (Without a rubric.) Some of the vacant part of this last leaf is cut off.

No. 1432.

A quarto volume containing nine MSS. or parts of MSS. on paper, of the XVth and XVIth centuries; all are imperfect.

- I. 1. Hymni duo: inc. Divinitas humana—Epi-phaniam Domino. p. 1—2.
2. Remedies "For the stone and the strangury-lione, per magistrum LYMSTRE Doctorem phisice Cantibrig." p. 3, 2.

Two prescriptions in Latin; and two longer in English, which begin thus—Take powdur of Alexandur seede fenkelle seede and Also boyle paritorie. The same are written on p. 2 without a title. "Herbes for a bayne" (or bath), and "Herbes for potage" follow, p. 3—4.

3. "Also for the stone a soveraigne medisine per M' J. WELLES. Take an orange." p. 4.
4. "Also a medisyne for the stone and strangvlione which M' GORGE NEVELL the archebischope of York useth. Take an erthene pott." 4.
5. "Also for hete in the bledder or in the nek of y^e bledder." 5.
6. "A soveraigne drynk to breke the stone made be maister JOHN COKKES* and proved uppone hym self. Take perspee gromelle." Also, "A powdur for the same for wynter," and "Herbes convenyent for potage for the same." 5—6.

* See No. 1475, art. 1. He is not named in Tanner.

7. "A powder for the axes or eny disease in the stomak per ROBERT' NICHOLLE probat'. Take of goode greynes." 7.
8. "For the gowt. Take a grene flyce called cantaridis." 7.

9. "For the emerodes. If they blede or wose take copwebbes." 8.

Ending—"he shalbe whole. probat' per dominum Simonem Mountford militem."

10. "To make a gely of a cokke for a restorative." 8.

11. "To make a coles of a henne or of a chekene." 8.

12. "To make a tre to bere asmoche frewt as ever she bare before. Distempir scamony." 9.

13. "For to make a drynke for þe cothe and þe fleme." 9.

14. "To make a nyntement for þi stomake." 9.

15. "A medsyne for the doth hege" (i. e. tooth ache), beg. Take torenhaw. 10.

16. "A plaistur for the ache in the arme." 10.

17. "For shortnesse off wynde or tysike." 10.

18. "A medecyn for the stomake." 11.

19. "For the pallesy in a manes hande, secundum magist' JOH'EM COKKES. Take redde sauge." 11.

20. "Thys is the maner to be gynne to kepe Haukys; but not alle maner off haukys, but Goshaukys, and Tercellys, and Sperhaukys; and in what maner thei schal be take. Now to speke of haukys." 12.

Thus ends this curious page—And fare feyre wyth hyre tyllsche wylle sytte.

(The next leaf, pp. 13—14, has been removed to its proper place, f. '16' of MS. vi. to which it belongs.)

Thus far this MS. has been written at different times or by different (antient) hands; as also pp. 17—20, the latter of which leaves is mutilated. Of the other 5 leaves, three are more uniformly written, by the same hand as No. 1444, (of which this MS. seems to have been a part,) and the second and third by various hands. The contents are similar to the foregoing, viz.

21. Various old remedies and medical receipts; (pp. 17—24.) among which are—

"A goode drynke for the dropesie, per M' J. COKKES. Take ij galones of jusce of watercresses." 17.

"Ad relaxandum fleuma, per M' J. COKKES. R' succi liquir." 17.

"For the yee sight, per magist' J. COKKES. R' ceparion." 18.

"For ache on arme or legge or eny part of man or woman.—probat' per J. SMYTHE et multos alios" etc. 19—20.

"A plastr for ache per M' J. COKKES. R' ia zokkes of egges." 20.

"To distrie a posteme. Make powdur of femore—THOMAS WESTON." 24.

See the rest of this collection in the MS. above referred unto.

II. Fragment* of a large and antient collection of Remedies for various diseases; the first title of which is "For to wyte whedir a man shalle lyve þt is wounded or deye. Take þe jus of cerfoylle or of pimpernelle:" and the last (the 69th)—"For þe cankyr in manns hed or in body. Take þe rote of dragaunce and shere it on smale peeyss." pp. 25—70.

* The first words are—... of fethirvoye and of popeler lervys:

the last—and do þer to whyt wyne and sethe it rist These 23 leaves are fairly written in a hand of the XVth century, and flourished with rubric though the titles are written with ink: 8 other leaves of the same MS. form the fourth part of this volume.

III. Fragment of an other collection of Medicines and Remedies: beginning thus,—"yt wt a cloute and late it lye þerto till it falle away it self. For the hote fester. Take þe flour of rye and elene honye." pp. 71—84.

Imperfect at the end also, the last words being this title—"For sorys þt be opyn and wille not hele and for to make drynke of Antioche." These 7 leaves are part of a MS. written in a small hand and unadorned, about the end of the XVth century.

IV. An other fragment of an antient collection of Remedies; beginning "to bedde. For a sore throte and mouth. Take cynkfoyle a good quantite." pp. 85—100.

The 38th title is "For the fallynge evylle. Take þe bloode of by tittle fyngr:" the last words are—And yf it be a chylde an innocent draw bloode of þe fyngr þt is be fore sayd and do wryte þe same The two last words are catch-words. It is a part of the same MS. as art. ii.

V. 1. A treatise of the virtues of Herbs; beginning—"Agnus castus ys Anglice herbe that men cally the tutsayne or elis parkelenus." (f. 1—15.) p. *81—109.

They are mostly in alphabetical order, and few are beyond G. (13^b.) The second and third titles are 'Smalache oyer Marche' and 'Anetimy:' the three last are 'Burneta, Bursa pastoris' and 'Dens lyony,' the account of which is very short, namely—Thys herbe ys callyd daumdyone ye wertu off y^s herbe ys yt ye more ys goode for ye fever cotidiane. Without a distinct title the MS. farther contains—

2. Remedies for sundry diseases; beg. thus—"For ye siatica. Take a potelle of dowvys donge." p. 109—132.

The last is—"For stynkyng breth at ye nosse. Take rede mynte—yer off yt commyth probatur."

3. "Here follwyth ye wertues off ye rosses marc. [133.] Take rosmare and bynd hem ynne a lynnene clothe." 132—5.

Ending—Allsso make a bathe off ye flour and yt wyll make ye yonglyche.

4. Remedies for some diseases, and the medical uses of some herbs: beg. "For ye fluxe. Take ye rottes of cammoke" (etc.) and "Parytory. Thys herbe ys hote and drye." 135—144.

The last leaf (f. 31) is torn, and is not properly the next to f. 30: it ends imperfectly with this title—"For to make here to growe." In continuing the paging from the foregoing MSS. to this one, Ashmole began with '81' for '101': the first eleven leaves are paged (except the first page) from j to xxj, by the same hand as the MS., which was distinctly written in the latter part of the XVth century.

VI. 1. Liber medicamentorum ad morbos et ægritudines complures idoneorum, ex auctoribus diversis collectorum,* qui 'Thesaurus Pauperum' appellatus est, auctore PETRO HISPANO. ff. 2—27^b.

* Chiefly Dioscorides, Galenus, Constantinus, Gilbertus, 'Gerardus in Viatico,' Avicenna, Rasis, and Plinius; the authority being set at the end of every remedy proposed under the different headings. The first leaf is wanting; so is f. 17; and the mutilated leaf f. '16' was hitherto placed between pp. 12—15 of the first MS. This copy begins . . . ¶ Item acetum in quo tartarum, and ends thus—“¶ Item cor leonis comestum quartanam medetur. ¶ Thesaurus pauperum Magistri Petri Hispani pape condam explicit.”

2. “Incipit Genicia CLEOPATRE ad Theodoram de secretis mulierum. Desideranti tibi filia carissima et habere volenti comentarium curacionis mulierum ficere laboravi, et eligens duos preclarissimos libros Theothem et Methyocum” etc. 27^b—31.

Des. aut infans grande capud habet vel omne corpus [etc.] vel mortuus, aut positus contra naturam.

3. Tractatus “De urinis. Sciendum est quod urina duarum rerum est significatoria.” 31—4^b.

The last words under the fifth title (“De contentis in urinis” 33^b) are—significant dolores ypoduri dextri vel sinistri.

4. “Materia de dosis. De dosis, Sanguis hircinus induratus temperatus [35] cum sale nitro.” 34^b—5^b.

Des. Semper ad unam libram sanguinis .²/₇ .ij. vel .iij. de pulvere.

5. “Oratio de sancta Apollonia. Deus qui beatam.” 35^b.

A short prayer used as a charm against the tooth-ache.

6. “De spolio serpentis. Pulvis spoli serpentis vulnus in capite in triduo sanat.” una eum multis remediis atque secretis anilibus. 35^b—8^b.

Among these, two are in English, though written together without divisions:—“Pro omni dolore capitis. Take a [37^b] pint of whit vinegre:” and “To slee wormes. Take southrenwoole.” The last sentence is—Item cognoscuntur vermes per urinam [38^b] quia—flavi coloris et nigri separate apparent.

7. “Tractatus de Flebotomia;” seu quædam de diebus ad sanguinem mittendum aptis, (inc. Menſe Februarij de police sanguinem minue); et de diebus nefastis, e Beda ut dicitur. 38^b—9.

Des. sinc dubio mala morte morietur.

8. Tristichon docens “Quot ossa, dentes, venas, habeat homo. Ossibus ex dentis.” 39.

9. “Incipit tractatus ab YPOCRATE de venis et earum minucione. Vena retro capitis in locis nervosis.” 39^{ab}.

In fine—“valet contra ulcera in renibus. Explicit flebotomia Ypocratis amen.”

10. Medicamenta atque remedia varia: inc. “Qualiter senex renovetur. R' serpentes quod vis.” 40—1.

This part is not uniformly written, and probably by different hands: the last piece is in French, and obscure.

11. Incantamenta tria; quorum primum inc. Per conquistar lamor de una dona. In prima mente dite queste .iij. parole. 41^d.

This MS. is neatly (except 40^b—1^a) written in a Gothic Italian hand, of the latter part of the XVth century, and foliated by the same.

- VII. 1. Remedies collected or prescribed by old RICHARD NAPIER, “Pro iliaca passione—pro flegmate—contra scabiem—for the cough—a tetter” etc. p. 1—9.

Turning up these 8 leaves, this title is read on the last page, written (with the 3 following pages) by an older hand, in the time of Queen Elizabeth—

2. “A booke of Surgery for to cure grine woundes, to make salves for olde sores, very good and profytabyll for yteche and skabes, for burnyng and skaldyng, and to take away a woman's mylke from her brest elen wⁱⁿ xxiiij owres, also to bryng a woman's mylke agen though hytt hathe lakt her vj or vij wykes on warandes.” p. 16, 15—13.

Below this Napier hath written—

3. A charm to relieve a person who hath been cursed: beg. In the name etc. p. 16.

VIII. 1. (1.) “A good vomitt for one that is poysoned” (etc.), also medicines “To drawe out a thorne” and “an arrowe,” and “To make a powder to stanche the bloud.” f. 1^{ab}.

(2.) “A precept to warne Juryes to the Assises” at Tamworth Castle, 18 Dec. 15[88]. 1^b.

(3.) “A warrant to summon a Jury” (in Latin) directed by SAMUEL NORTON Shirref of Somerset. 10^a.

(4.) Form of an agreement with the said Shirref about an arrest. (25 Jan. 31 Eliz.) 10^b.

These the first leaf and the last (seemingly the cover) of a dirty little MS. are much torn: of the last only a fragment remains: yet it suggests that the whole may be in the handwriting of the second Norton, who wrote the Key of Alchemy.

2. “A small booke of Phisicke and Surgery,” containing 40 old approved remedies, “First to heale a sore legg” etc. 2—5^b, 8—9^b.

The 23d, for an ague, is superscribed ‘John Brayfyld’ and subscribed ‘St. Ju. Monr.’

3. “A powder for watering eyes” (Take mastick etc.) and 12 other medicines for diseased eyes. 6—7^b.

The last but one “hath byn prived per EDMOND SMYTH.” These two leaves inserted, are in a set secretary-hand, though possibly by the same writer as the others.

IX. A book of Remedies for various diseases, and of medical secrets etc. collected from various books and persons† therein quoted, about the year 1608. pp. 98.

† Gerard—“Practis of Physick”—“Duch Phisicke”—“Booke of Secrets”—Dr. Lentner—Vigo—“Delites for Ladies”—Mr. Colson—Hestar—Cluar—Mr. Geninges—Master Dudly—“Alexus Serrets”—Mr. Briars, 1608, (240^b)—Father Huse—Mrs. Serle—“Mr. Colnat boke”—Richard Twine (259^b)—Mr. Done of Winſtowe, 1609, (261^a)—Mich. Ines. These are frequently cited. The following articles deserve notice.

List of “Simples and druges as I boufte them myselfe, of one Dudly a drugeste in Bucklarsbery,” with their prices. p. 29.

“A note whot Mr Aston paid for druges at London, for my lorde” (etc.) with other lists of drugs, 1608. p. 30—2.

Some of the pages of this book are blank.

† Probably the writer's initials.

No. 1433.

A quarto volume containing five MSS. on paper, with blank leaves at each end, and between them, as usually. On the first of 4 unnumbered leaves at the beginning of the first MS. is the first part of the following title.

- I. 1. "Liber DUNSTANI Episcopi de lapide philosophico, rescriptus per SI: FORMAN 1608. 12^o Aprilis 5." (f. 1^a) seu "Tractatus maximi domini Dunstani Episcopi Cantu[ar]iensis veri philosophi, de lapide philosophorum. Maxime intelligendum est antiquiores." pp. 1—26.
Des.—"Labor in nihilum ruit. Finis."
2. "De abbreviacione operis, in qua continentur omnia fere elixeria modusque conficiendi illa, ex DUNSTANO Episcopo. Prima abbreviatio. Accipe vitriolum." 27—35.
Quarta sic des.—"discrete forendus. Hoc experimentum vocatur Rustium."
3. "De lapide minerali ex DUNSTANO. Mirabilis est Deus in operibus suis." 37—42.
Des.—"naturali. De his hactenus."
4. "Calcinatio corporum de η^o et χ [et aliorum.] Nunc disces." 43—5.
5. "Recapitulatio. Docui quomodo." 45.
Des.—"secreta hæc serva sicque beatus eris. Finis Dunstani." A translation of all these articles in one piece, is in No. 1459, ii. art. 23; they are published among G. Ripley's works, (1649. 12mo.) p. 240; see Tanner, p. 240.
6. "In nomine sancte et individue trinitatis. Sequitur Practica menstrui animalis, quod a domino RAYMONDO dicitur quoque vegetabile et minerale, atque a philosophis dicitur aqua fortis. Physica menstruum simplex resolutivum, et acetum acerrimum. De hoc menstruo sive—tractat Raymondus in experimento 6" 7, 8, et 9. "Item CHRISTOPHORUS Parisiensis in Alphabeto apertoriali." etc. 46—69.
Des.—"procreantur. Finis per FORMAN of this booke of DUNSTAN."
- II. 1. Alchemical notes by Dr. FORMAN. f. *1^b, 34^b, 35.
2. "Anglorum * opus, authore HERMETE philosopho peritissimo." f. 1^a—34.
* Anglorum? Consisting of 66 circular hieroglyphics, on the right hand pages only; the first 16 are painted, the rest are in outline. At the end is this note:—"Finis per SIMONEM FORMAN 1590. That whence I had this coppi was written longe before that of the circles, but all the writinge els was notes of my owne gatheringe and of my owne judgment."
3. Excerpta e libro qui vocatur "Consilium Conjugij, fo. 159" etc. 1^b, 2^b, 13^b.
4. "Tabula smaragdina HERMETIS TRISMEGISTI $\pi\epsilon\rho\iota$ $\chi\eta\mu\iota\alpha\varsigma$, incerto interprete. Verba secretorum Hermetis que scripta crant in tabula smaragdina inter manus ejus inventa." 4^b.

Des.—"Completem est quod dixi de operatione solis. See the translation in No. 1487, ii. art. 3.

5. "HORTULANI philosophi ab hortis maritimis Commentariolus in Tabulam smaragdinam Hermeti Trismegisti $\pi\epsilon\rho\iota$ $\chi\eta\mu\iota\alpha\varsigma$. Precacio Hortulani. Laus honor virtus et gloria sit tibi Domine Deus." 4^b—10^b.
Written on alternate pages. The 13th chapter ends thus—"scilicet in solo mercurio philosophico. Finis per me Simonem Forman 1591. Septembr. 16. written truly and verbatim by the old coppie long before printed." There is an antient copy in No. 1416, art. 20, and a translation in No. 1487, ii. art. 4, which see.
6. Explanations of alchemical terms; or "Notes confirmed by all authors," Arnoldus, Geber, etc. 11^b, 12^b.
7. "De mercurio vegetabili, et de 5^a essentia." 13^b.
Five lines of rhyme, and a short extract of prose, from "Blundfild" or Bloomfields Blossoms.
8. Short account of the process "In compositione lapidis philosophicæ." 14^b.
9. "Via recta. Thy substance and ground of this work for the red elixar is." 15^b.
Also a note in Latin from "Replie in Medilla."
10. Notes of the work of the "Elixar" (partly in Latin) from Arnold and Lully. 16^b.
11. "Tempus faciendi lapidem. Scientia astronomica inter omnes alias." 17^b, 18^b.
12. "Ad faciendum ceram rubeam aut viridem. R' cere 8ⁱⁱ." 18^b.
13. "FORMAN de lapide philosophico et de transmutatione metallorum. The science of philosophi de lapide [etc.] is called ye loware astronomi." 21—32.
Ending thus—"the better will yt be. Forman 1606."
- III. 1. Collectanea de nominibus et "Natura Saturni. Saturnus est corpus molle." p. 1—4.
2. "The whole sum of the Secretes of Philosophi in brife gathered by S. FORMAN [from various authors] 1608. Aug. (Arnold.) Lapis enim philosophicus." p. 5—30.
Ending—"and yt will be a roiall stone for ever. Forman."
3. Nota e "Geber in libro lapidum;" et "Nota per FORMAN. [De] sale et vitro." p. 30, 31—2.
- IV. "Liber trium verborum magistri R. BACON et incipit prima epistola. Cum ego R. Bacon sim rogatus a pluribus." p. 1—72.
In fine sic—"et trinitas in unitate. Vale et valeant. Finit 3^a epistola Mr Roger[i] Bacon." This is a very neat transcript made in secretary-hand in the time of Queen Elizabeth, within wide margins; at p. 4—5 are some notes by old Mr. Napier. An antient copy is in No. 1416, art. 13; see also 14 and 15.
- V. "Miscellanea Chymica;" liber plerumque Latine, partim vero Hollandice scriptus, in principio et fine mutilus; (ff. 11—83^b) in quo præcipua quædam sunt hæc:—
"Capitulum de biforijs.[?] E parvo libello quem BERNARDUS mihi concessit. Ad faciendum aquam de Kybric." 11.
"Ista recepta fuit missa de monte Pessulano magistro Thomæ pro vera." 25^b.

- “Pillulæ magistri BERNARDI—quos habuit de quodam Saraceno de Hispania.” 46.
- “A domino PETRO, nota de diversitate ignis in quo tota ars consistit. s. alchimie. Nota quod artis regimen.” 69—71^b.
- “Magister monete Gandensis. Ad ☉ faciendum de ☽ quod efficitur ☉ optimum.” etc. 73^b.
- “Ad memoriam. JOHANNES DE TOLETO, doctor in sacra pagina—rogatus a peritis.” 75^b.
- “Receptum exquisitum de dono celi contra multos morbos. Audite secreti que loquar.” 79^b.

Ff. 1—10, 76, 81—2, and some after f. 83, have been lost. This curious MS. is of the XVth century; and its title was written by an old hand, seemingly before Napier possessed it.

No. 1434.

Three MSS. on paper, forming one quarto volume. The first is closely written in a common hand of the XVth century; it was foliated from 1 to 9 by the antient hand, and paged thenceforward, ('11—136') by Ashmole, whose autograph with the date of '10 May 1652' is on the first of 2 blank leaves at the beginning (also on f. 1^a), with this note—“Liber Richardj Brightonj ex dono Henricj Fowler.” Over the text also, is written “Liber mei Christopheri Taylour, 1586.”

- I. I. “Practica magistri JOHANNIS ARDERNE de Newerk, Cirurgici. Ego Joh'es predictus a prima pestilencia que fuit A^o Doⁱ M^o ccc^{mo} xlvi^o usque ad” etc. ff. 9, pp. 11—107.

The unfinished copy of this curious work in No. 829, iii. (f. 97) ends with the 3 first words on p. 25 of this MS. (viz. “sepius valere vidi ☿ Confectio pulveris sine pare Gallie saunz pere” etc.) which is mentioned by Tanner, p. 48: but the exact ending of it can not be ascertained, for the last two or three pages contain miscellaneous prescriptions and remedies, partly in old English, which do not seem to belong to the work.

The 2 leaves paged '17, 19,' are of vellum, and contain only 8 lines of the text (with a reference to the mark at p. 21) and are filled up with—

- (1.) “Instrumenta partium ad fistulam in ano,” calamo delineata. p. 17, 18.
- (2.) “Cum volueris scire ut non lateat aliquid ex rebus temporis. Scito utrum sint signa planetarum etc. 18.
- (3.) “Tabula ad inveniendum signum in quo sit luna quovis die; cum cautionibus de sanguine mittendo; et regula tabulæ, inc. Siquis scire et invenire voluerit. 19—20.
- (4.) “Nomina ventorum”: seu tabula complexionum ventis quatuor assignatarum. 20.

2. “De sanitate conservanda, per magistrum JOHANNEM DE THOLETO, et primo de recipiendo cibo. Scribitur ab Ysaac in libro Viatici quod quicumque vult continuam conservare sanitatem.” p. 107—116.

Des. medius cortex sambuci vel succus ebuli vel pulvis laureoli etc.

3. Libellus de medicamentorum quorundam et herbarum usibus atque virtutibus: inc. Attramentorum .i. vitriolorum multa sunt genera, et quod veridius est melius. p. 117—131.

The second is Alumen, where is prescribed a way of making alum-water “secundum Johannem Welan Barbour de Norwico.”

Under the title of Pastinace, is given the case of ‘quedam mulier juxta Dancaster,’ and John de Gaddesdene is quoted. The last words (about Argentum vivum) are—Nota secundum B^o de Gordon [etc.] Oleum de costo remonet scabiem et prurimum velociter enim materiam extrahit de profundo. Is this tract by JOHN ARDERN?

On the first of five blank pages following, has been neatly written, in the time of Elizabeth or James I.—

Index medicamentorum in superiori tractatu descriptorum. p. 132.

- II. I. The Manner of Medicynnyng, translated from GERARD OF CREMONA; in five ‘parts’ or books: beg. “þe first capitle of þe manere of trefinge houe [a man] schal be purget. Therefore first it is [to*] considere wheþer þe pacient have nede to be purgede or no For whie as Ypocras techthe.*” p. 137—252.

 Supplied, as also the title, from the copy in No. 1498, art. 1.

Between pp. 150—1, some leaves have been lost, containing chapters xliij—vij. of the fifth part. The last words are—and also it tretes of oymementys and emplastres in þe same manere.

Titles of the chapters of this work: beg. The firste partie of þis tretis conteynes xv. capitles. p. 252—256.

Omitting the third part. It ends thus:—“þe .xlvij. is of diverse emplastres. Explicit.”

- “þe prologe of þis boke. Sethen þ^t everecche science be cause of is ende and of is profite.” p. 256—8.

Ending—“and wiche dissolvinge. Explicit prologus hujus libri.”

2. “Here beginneþ medicines for turment and ache of þe heved. Who so haveþ ache” etc. p. 258—262.

The last words are—Anoper for ache of þe tēþ and for to sle þe wormes. Nym þe rote of heunbelle and kerve to þinne and do it to þe þre nigthe and it shal sle þe wormes and do away þe ache. This title follows in large letters by the same hand,—“For þe pokke in þe eye:” but very few words accompany it, partly scribbled over; and the following short pieces are added by less antient hands.

An eye water for weakness of sight: beg. Tak celidonie. p. 262.

Remedy “For alle maner fevers of the body, save on the hede, for canker nor fester. Take a pynte of oyle dolybe.” p. 262—3.

“Ungewntum fiscum. Take comyne oyle j li. and ane alf and comyne wex.” p. 263.

After 3 vacant pages, is a mutilated leaf, formerly fixed on the cover (as it seems) whereon are written by the same hand as the MS.—

Five medical receipts, some in Latin; the last of which is—“For a blaste in þe eyen. Tak pinpernel.” p. 207.

Below is written “Scole maystre of Suthwerk.”

This MS. is of the XIVth century, without any ornament: it is much stained with oil toward the end.

III. “A discourse of the wholle arte of Chirurgie,” in questions and answers; beg. What is Chirurgerie? It is a science or art, y^t sheweth ye manner how to worke on mans body etc.

(p. 269.) ff. 30.

The last leaf begins with this title—"Of the causes, signes, prognostickes, and cure of wounds, in generall." Some leaves have been lost from the end of this MS. which is closely written in a common hand of the time of James I.

No. 1435.

A quarto MS. consisting of 162 leaves of paper, whereof the first 4 (which with some of the next are mutilated) are foliated and the rest paged by Ashmole, and one vacant leaf before p. 307 is without a number: it was written in the time of Henry VII. by one hand, but with various degrees of care, being for the most part very coarsely done.

1. Secreta magica et medica, aliæque nugæ. ff. 1—4, p. 5—28.

Among these many are in English, as at p. 10, 15—6, 18—20, 26, 28.

2. AVICENNÆ operis quantum de Anatomia tractat, in epitomen redactum, xii. capitulis: inc. Quoniam valde sumptuosum est et grave cuilibet cyrurgico librum habere quem de medicina edidit Avic' in cujus principio ipse satis diffuse de anathomia pertractavit. p. 29—59, 67—103.

Des. "sicut ossa cerusorum que si cum predictis ossibus addantur adhuc erit dictus numerus augmentatus. Deo gratias." Capitulum tituli sequuntur.

3. Tractatulus de salute conservanda contra pestilentiam: inc. "In nomine patris et filij et spiritus sancti amen. Tempore quo regnat iste morbus pestilentialis homo debet vitare porros."* 60—4.

* Many articles in this volume begin with a like charm or invocation. The last words are—"hanc medicinam observet quam descripsi. Deo gratias."

4. Remedium "Pro dolore capitis. — Medicina laxativa," etc. 104.
5. Collectanea de re medicinali, ex auctoribus diversis antiquis, præsertim AVICENNA: inc. Sicut dicit Calceidius in Themco quod eciam auctoritate aliorum philosophorum comprobatur Omne compositum resolubile est. 105—115, 117—120, 125—140, 142—6* (147) 151—180, 181—237, 238—252, 253—272.

* The two leaves paged '147, 149' have been wrongly inserted here: the first page contains a part of these collections, but not immediately connected with the text.

6. Traetatulus de medicinis necessariis et substitutivis: inc. "In nomine [etc.] In regionibus ubi sit defectus specierum, hijs contentus sit medicus que necessaria sunt ad digestionem." 273—5.

In fine—"et inde unguantur loca pulsuum et narium etc. Explicit etc."

7. "Incipit traetatus utilis de diversis medicinis conferentibus eorpori humano, in ejus prima serie ponuntur electuaria calida, in 2^a electuaria frigida, sicut videbitur in prosequendo per ordinem. Electuaria calida sunt hec. Diamargariton." 275—280.

In fine—"Unguentum citrinum. Explicit Tabula Tholosana."

8. "Incipit Compendium Falarie de medicinis, quibus membris valent aut nocent. Cerebro conferunt ista. Odorare mustum." 281—4.

In fine—"et omne quod est ventosum etc. Explicit." Between these 2 leaves, one is wanting, or more.

9. "Capitulum de preservatione eujuslibet membri debilis," (inc. Secundum intencionem Galieni in [libro] de morbo et accidente,) et alia xx. capitula, de cura membrorum diversorum. 284—302.

The last is—"Si autem pectus non posset purgari," (p. 300) ending—"Et cum sunt qui consueverunt accipere farinaciam frequenter multis vicibus et si dimittant multum leduntur."

On the back of the next leaf (p. 304) are four lines of doggerel verse, beg. Al lac glun laropos.

10. Willelmi Cryspe, Majoris Leieestrensis, et Thomæ Kynkyntun arm. literæ testimoniales, pro Johanna uxore Joh. Pet' nuper de eadem villa, quod fuit mulier bonæ famæ, contra defamationem Beatricis uxoris Rogeri Joyner, de Coventria. (13 Feb. an... Henr...) 305.

11. Various medical receipts, in old English. 307—317.

The first only is in Latin—Pro reumate in capite.

No. 1436.

A quarto MS. on paper, consisting of 156 leaves (including the first four which are not numbered, and only contain the title) written, and irregularly foliated by the author, except some that are vacant.

A treatise "Of the Plague generally and of his sortes," also "Of those things that moste commonly forshowe a plague;" by Dr. SIMON FORMAN; with his preface "To the reader" and "The testimony of the author," (dated in January 1607;) also an index of contents. ff. *1^a, 1^{ab}, 2—3; 5—145^b; 147—150^b.

This copy is very much like to the less complete one in No. 1403, which see: it ends with the discourse of 'The tokens,' (f. 130) pp. '186—219.' Some leaves are much damaged by damp; especially ff. 1—4, the inner halves of which have been restored by Ashmole's pen on fresh paper. See also No. 208, art. 8.

No. 1437.

A quarto MS. of the XVth century, now consisting of 133 leaves of paper, written (by the author of art. 15) in a very small hand; whereof the first 34 (ff. 1—14, *8, *9, *13, *14, 15—30) and the next 20, are separately foliated by the antient hand, and the rest were paged by Ashmole '21—184.' Four leaves of vellum are at the beginning and three at the end, described hereafter.

1. "De quereu et ejus virtutibus, tractatus magistri ARNOLDI Doctoris artis medicine. Reverend in No patri et domino, domino Ric^o divina providentia Episcopo Cantuar^o magister ARNOLDUS DE NOVA VILLA medice artis verus professor." f. 1—2.

In fine—"Suscipiat igitur vestra reverencia hujus tractatus veritatem et verissimam experientiam credentes pro certo omnia que in eo scripta sunt esse vera. Finit tractatus de quereu et ejus virtutibus secundum M^rm Arnoldum de Nova Villa."

2. "Modus graduandi medicinas receptas. Modus graduandi receptas secundum mentem JACOBI ALKINDI vel poeius sui translatoris prout innuit Rog^o BACHON in 'de tribus dictionibus' in fine, ac juxta ejus sequacem JOHANNEM DE SANCTO AMANDO. Dicunt predicti viri" etc. f. 2—3.

Des. "satis concordans cum translate qui dicit eam esse calidam in medio 2ⁱ gra. et c. Finit quod A." The writer's name (Argentein) hath been erased.

3. Quædam "De corio serpentis" (inc. Cum luna fuerit in Augusto in primo gradu arietis); et de electuariis unguentisque quibusdam. f. 3^b—4.

The two last are superscribed—"Lemster pro M. Lynnyng."

4. Carmen "De Urinis" cum multis glossis et scholiis: inc. Quale, quid, aut quid in hoc quantum, quociens, ubi, quando. f. 4^b—12.

Des. "Aut parit arth[r]eticam et ptisim et cacochiam. Finis."

5. Libellus "De Pulsu. Pulsus est motio cordis et arteriarum." f. 12^b—14.

Des. Pulsus formicans—sed si deficiat in vermiculosum est desperandum etc.

On the next page (14^b) is a recipe "Ad faciem dealbandum" by a less antient hand.

6. Medicamenta diversa secundum complexionem et gradus eorum distributa: inc. "Calida in 2^o gradu. De seminibus. Semen apij." f. *8—9^b, 13—20.

Des. "Humida in 4^o g^u.—De potibus. Nix et leptonia."

7. Medicamenta secundum qualitates eorum activas, distributa: inc. "Res temperatissime et equate" etc. "Attractiva ut extrahant ferrum a vulnere." f. 20^b—7^b.

Des. "Preservativa—diptamnus."

8. De generibus medicamentorum, "Notandum secundum AVEROYS in libro suo quem nominavit colliget^o libro. Maturatio est" etc. f. 28^{ab}.

9. "Doses medicinarum solutarum. Solutiva colere." f. 29^{ab}.

10. "De digestivis.—De evacuativis.—De confortativis et alterativis male complexionis in quocunque membro." f. 30^{ab}, et f. 1—2^b—4^b.

11. "De curis chirurgie et qualiter te habebis in illis secundum RAYMUNDUM. Doctrina generalis in curis chirurgie. hoc est qualiter possunt curari cum nostra 5^a essentia." f. 5—6.

Des. "carnem. Et ista est regula generalis in cura chirurg^o. Ista sufficiant causa brevitat^{is}." At the end are—

- "Unguentum in fractura cranei mirabilissimum." f. 6^a.

"Aurea aqua valens fere ut 5^a essentia. R^o j potell^o bone aque ardentis." 6^a.

12. "Contra febres pestilenciales, et cura perfecta earum. Da pacienci bibere 5^{am} essentiam nostram." Et alia contra pestem remedia. f. 7—8^b.

13. "Cura vera in spasmo. Quisdam spasmus." f. 9^a.

14. "Cura ciatice podagre et omnis generis gutte. Quinta essentia nostra." Et alia ejus remedia. 10^a.

15. JOHANNIS ARGENTEIN,* Medici Cantabrigiensis, Loci Communes; seu liber de morbis et medicinis, ordine alphabetico dispositis: inc. "Abstinencia. Abstinencia est medicina perfectissima." ff. 11—30^b, 1—20^b, et pp. 21—181.

The last headings are—Fomitus, For (p. 176), Urina (177), Ura sive Urcula (178), Fubus (179—80), Ulcus (180), Fulra (181). On some of the vacant spaces left in the pages for the insertion of other medicines, are entries by later hands, especially in pp. 170—184, probably by "X^pOFERUS LASSSELS" whose name is at f. 20; and there is one by Napier at f. 16^b. The two last pages (p. 182—3) contain a supplement headed 'Melancolia', referred to from p. 79.

* Or Argentine, as he is called by Tanner, p. 48. His name thus occurs at p. 107:—"Nota si quis paciatur pleuresin in dextro latere, et in die non critico supervenit apostema vel tumor cum dolore in dextro pede, licet sibi melioratur in sequenti critico die, morietur eadem hora in qua invasit eum egritudo. experto crede. Pe. Perob^o. Idem est in periplema^o. Sicut Joh^o Argentein expertus est Cantabrigie." That this was the name of the writer, is clear from the only other passage in which the name is found; where the names of the medical attendants are interlined by the same hand:—"Item ego (Arg) novi exper[imen]tum juxta Cantabrig^o super uno Rectore in quadagesima, quem omnes dicebant non posse curari. Medicus (Ordeu) sumpsit unum senem gallum et posuit in distillatorio, et accepit aquam" etc. (p. 115.) There is another mention of Cambridge, at p. 172, where it is said that a certain remedy "expertum est Cantabrig^o a Teutonico."

The age of the work appears by the following passages. At f. 10, is inserted a story of a friar being cured of the gout, by a woman at Ware, "et adhuc sanus est, s^o anno Xⁱ. 1476." At p. 120, is given the case of a scorbutic person who was cured with the medicine there prescribed, "et fuit anno Xⁱ 1477." At p. 175, is related the cure of a gentleman at London, who was relieved of constant vomiting, by a syrup, "et sanatus est anno Domini 1471."

The following is a list of the Authors quoted in this curious MS., which, beside its general contents, affords some additional notices for Tanner's Bibliotheca. Such as have no references, are of frequent occurrence.

16. "Oleum secretum ALBERTI Magni, secretum et preciosissimum. et valet ad omnia que sunt contraria humane nature. R' terebentine." p. 183—4.

The parchment leaves, at the beginning and end of this MS., are three fragments:—(1.) two leaves of a folio MS. of the XVth century, written in long lines, folded in quarto;—(2.) two leaves of a quarto MS. of the latter part of the XIVth, written in columns;—(3.) part of a roll, written in the XVth century.

(1.) Fragment of a book of remedies for the diseases of Horses, partly in the form of a dialogue: beg. þe quytoure was and holde þe wonde as longe opyn as þou maist. ff. 1—4.

The first question is "Maister how may men knowe þe maladye?" It ends thus at f. 3^a.—"A playster to do aweye wykkid fleshe. Tak þe whyte of an ey and quyke soonde and temprē yt to gadre tylle þt yt be thykke amen & c' [With these verses:—

"Seynt Archeclayne in soun haut see
 Un verge de Rownse tent en sa meyn
 Il leva la meyn si il veyt mut pur
 Soun chyvalle que sors estoyt. Exp[licit]."

On the blank part of that leaf and the margins of the next, are the following things written by Dr. ARGENTEIN:—

Versus quinque (inc. Grana quater) cum explicatione prosaica, de mensuris apothecariorum. 3^a.

List of certain drugs, with their prices: beg. Cloves vij.li.—xij.s. ib.

Versus prophetici, de Roma Turcisque, sequentes:—

"Tartare pande sinum, tua mittit ad ora supinum
 Roma celestinum tartare pande sinum.

"Turcus	{	Fata monent stelleque docent aviumque volatus
		Totius subito malleus urbis ero.
"Papa	{	Roma diu titubans vanis erroribus ejus
		Decidet, et mundi desinet esse caput.
"Papa	{	Fata silent, stelleque tacent, nil predicat ales:
		Solius est proprium scire futura Dei.
		Niteris incassum Petri submergere navem:
		Estuat et nunquam frangitur illa navis." f. 4 ^b .

† "Probatum est per Helme in Duc' Ebor." Vid. Tanner. p. 409.

(2.) Fragmentum tractatus cujusdam de patientia, (ut videtur,) in quo citantur Augustinus, Valerius Maximus, Seneca, Solinus, Isidorus, et Gregorius. pp. 185—8.

(3.) Fragmentum compoti redditualis, Decano et Cap. S. Pauli Lond. (ut videtur) facti. p. 190.

Among the names mentioned, are a tenement and 'keye' of John Lydlyngton, at Pauls Wharff, and the chantry of Kyngestone in the parish-church of S. Mich. Croked-Jane.

On the back, Dr. ARGENTEIN has written many medical notes, now extremely obscure; among which are—

Veteres metallorum et mineralium characteres chemici, cum nominibus eorum. p. 189.

"Nativitas Henrici" cujusdam, (28 Jan. 1456,) accuratissime notata. ib.

No. 1438.

This quarto volume contains two books, separately paged by Ashmole, and divided by eight leaves of modern paper in the middle: each of them consists of several MSS. written by different hands in the XVth century, unornamented, and in many parts stained; the beginnings of which are here distinguished thus ¶.

I. ¶1. Versiculi grammaticales: sc. "Isti tres versus serviunt dativo casui etc." Alii de accusativo, etc. Etiam—"Quot sunt anomala? Dico quod patet per [hos octo] versus. Sum volo." p. 1.

On this page were written (in the time of Queen Elizabeth) "A receipte to make oyle of Excetor in Maye" of many herbs; and an account of the number of shires, towns, churches, etc. in England.

2. A short tract of "The foure elementes of þe worlde of wham man was mayde," (beg. Foure elementes be in þe worlde) also of the humors, seasons, and months, with directions for blood-letting throughout the year. p. 2—4.

Part of the second leaf is torn off, leaving this article mutilated: it ends with 'Octobere'—and heles þe lunges.

3. Remedia "Pro magno malo in pedibus et tibijs," et pro aliis ægritudinibus. 4—6.

4. Queen Isabella's book of Medicines, for diseases in all parts of the body, in '74' chapters, with a table of the titles prefixed: beg. "Medicyne for ye hed werke. Tak mustarde sede and dryet and stampit in fore yt be tyke and do it to yi hede." 6—8—28.

Ending—"all ye milk of bestes save of gaytt. Ale yis medic[i]ns were sende fro all ye leches and fro fysicenus of Mounpalers to Dame Isabelle ye Queyne of Englande, at ye preyour of ye Kyng of Frawns hyre fadyre, and qwo so be wel ware of hym and use hem wel, hym no doutes leche crafte more Amen."

5. Fifteen old medical receipts, (five of which are in Latin): beg. "For to mak oyle of almons barton. Take almond and blaunche yaim." 28—31.

These four leaves are shorter than the others.

¶6. Medical receipts, beg. "In nomine Dei amen. To mak nerwayle, tak averoyne ambros betone camamyle erth yeyne" etc. 33.

7. Lectio evangelica de curationibus miraculosis: inc. In illo tempore surgens Jesus de synagoga.

35.

(1.) "A medicine for the hawe in ones eye." ib.

Inserted about the time of Queen Elizabeth, as also art. (2.) etc.

8. An imperfect Runic alphabet. ib.

9. "Nomina morborum," Anglice explicata. 38.

(2.) Remedy "For a burninge or poxe; a plaister provede, beinge newlye done." ib.

10. "Item fore to make alle manere of tret, sanatyf, trastatif, amundificatyf, and dissolatif, and for to coloure thayme w^t what colour y^t y^u welle haf thayme, whether" (etc.) Together with certain special Remedies used by the Compiler. 39—50.

The last title is "For to make anowment yt is clepide populyone. Take a pounde of ye buriouns of popelere—gude popilyon &c. Amen. Explicit secundum usum WYLLAM W. Amen."

11. In ye zere yer be thre days and thre nyghtes if a chyld be getyne etc. 50.

12. Remedies "Fore a sore mowth.—For a ache thys ys gode.—For to gadyr flech, a conservatyf." 51.

13. "Item a melsen for a hett for a sor. Thak planthen." 54.

Articles 12, 13, seem to have been written by different hands, of the XVth century. On this page is written (in three forms) the name of the person who inserted the following article on the next leaf:—

(3.) "A censure of some writers," by F. ANDREWS:—

"Many have their time and paines
In writing cures imployd;
But he that by experience gaines
And writes what he hath tryed
I hould him wiser then that sort
Whoe for the thirst of fame
With toyle doe labour to report
What but retorne theyr shame.
They hould their readers with delight
And hope of finding cure,
When proove concludes no point is right
That did yr health assure.

"Qui plura cupit scire de his, plurat collegat ex his. Crebro legi. Raro profeci. Quoties experior. Toties fallor." 55.

¶14. A short tract on the remedies for wounds, intituled "Sururgia. At ye begynnynge when aman is woundyd in ye fyrst ye surgiowre aght to prese" etc. 57—8.

The fourth page ends with a remedy—

15. "For syetycaye pascio. Take soure pyse." 60.

16. Directions "To stawnsche blode. Take fyssbals yt growes in morys eceryllkone er als mykyl as a powder saucere." 61.

With the following postscript:—"I vyse to be at zow my selfe als sone as I may have space and I schal bryng zow mo stanschans yan ye yt er more strange. And I pray zow to luke agayne I cum how yt ye lukes may be getyne yt ye parsonne had at Selby for two quarters whete. ye parsonne ze sade dwelt alytyl fro ye nunnys of Appyltone, and be ye rude I schalle dysserveye it to zow when I cum." ib.

1. Remedy for "A schakyng of ache in a manys legge;" and "To make a helynge water." 62.

Written by a different hand of the same age.

18. "A gude oynment for wowndes and fracions.*—Unguentum viride.—A noyer oynment y^t is cornasy;" and other ointments, among which is "Unguentum Judeorum." 63—8.

* Beg. Take dayes comfery celidone etc.

19. "Now wyll I wryte zow entretes. To make a trete for fester or bolnyng in a nold sore. Take ole dolyf and clarifyf it." 69—71.

20. Directions "For to drawe owtt thete,"* and other very curious prescriptions and remedies, briefly set down. 71—3.

* Beg. Take the rote of the mowbery tre etc.

21. Remedies "For the gaundys,"—"For a wyldc fyher," etc. 74, 75.

By a different antient hand, as also a prescription invertedly written on p. 75. The following is by a hand of the next century.

(4.) "Cerotum contra aborsum optimum, experimentum." 74.

22. Moneys received from divers persons, by the Compiler: beg. In primis Emote Synglyntone for a stote. x. s. p. 80.

23. Remedy "For mannes mold p^t is downe. Take a handfull of egrimony." ib.

(5.) Remedy "For rennyng of the reynes," and "A lotion for the back." ib.

On the first page of this part of the MS. (p. 57) is the name of "NICHOLAS NEESBETT," who was apparently the writer of it, or of some part of it. The following article is on a leaf of vellum, of irregular shape, inserted between pp. 76, 79.

¶24. 'Homo venarum': cum venarum descriptionibus. 77.

¶25. A treatise of the virtues of certain herbs: beg. Betaigne is hot and dric in pre degrees, and so seyth Ypocras, and it is an herbe of many faire vertues. 81—92.

The last herb or chapter begins and ends thus:—Ceuerfoyle is a maner of a woodbyne—and it is good for be stoon. This tract is neatly written in a more set hand than the other parts of the book: at the end is, by a different hand,—

26. "Medicina pur le ye kankyr. For ye kankyr in a mannys mowth tak quek sylver." 92.

¶27. A book of Remedies for sundry diseases, and of Prescriptions for the compounding of divers medicines; (beg. "1. Drink of sanc. [T]ak madyr als mekyl as ye half of all ye tother herbes:") with a table of the titles prefixed. 94—5, 96—126.

The titles in the table are not exactly in the same order as in the book: they are numbered to '110,' beside '4,' supernumeraries, (see art. 29,) and corresponding numbers are placed in the margins of the book. At p. 100 is a receipt "To mak gyngebret" (gingerbread), at p. 101, to make "Pelets of ye wife of Hakanaisell" (for wounds), and the last receipt (at p. 125—6) is for the "Drynk of Richard Martyne. Tak burnet brydnest turmentyle—be ye halve weight of all ye tother herbes." Then there follow 7 lines, added by an other hand or at a different time, about the use of that medicine; and, without any space or title, the next article.

28. A prose recitation, touching the elements, the complexions, and divers diseases; beg. Herkyns gwere of mannys body es makel. ze salle wette yt it is made of iiij^{or} elimentes yt men calles yaim iiij humers. 226—230.

Ending—yen bredes fevers and many oyer evels of dyvers maners.

29. "A gude purgacyon for ye bo[dy yt is bolnede.*]—Medecyne for hem yt may not spek for ye palee;" and five other short remedies. 230.

* These words are supplied from the index at p. 95, where the two titles here given stand last, and the others are not noted. There is however, at the end of the index, a short remedy added "Pro ictericia," by the same hand as art. (4).

¶30. The two last chapters* of a medical treatise, of which the latter begins thus:—In a mannys zerd yer ys dyvers grevance. 131—6—8.

* In the first page (which begins . . . to the swalme. Or mak a plastyr) it is said "Or tak the plastyr þt was told of yn the last chaptor." It ends thus—"And yf ye swallme be hard let ye membyr soke in luke warm watter. q^d redico." (sic.)

31. Syphac ys a skync yt ys betwene ye guttes of a mane, etc. 139.

(6.) "Pul. contra fistulas glandulas cancris et noli me tangere;" also a prognostication by the letters of names; and the magical uses of certain herbs. 138, 139—41.

Written by the same hand as art. (4).

32. Directions for the medical treatment of a certain patient; and a description of "Gomoria." (Gonorrhœa.) 143.

33. A scurrilous memorial: Ther ys sur Guy the brybar and Mattheou mychar etc. 143.

In a large coarse hand of the time of Henry VII. or VIII.

34. "Yes be ye parselles [of household goods] of John Talour of Stroude." 144.

(7.) Remedy "For the quartane agewe." 144.

35. Quædam de sensibus; cum 4 versibus inc. Primus dicatur cum quo sensus dominatur. 146.

¶36. Postrema pars libri cujusdam de quinta essentia, sub his titulis:—"Remedium nonnumdecimum contra omnes febres pestilenciales.—Remedium vicesimum de spasmō." 147—8.

This MS. begins imperfectly toward the end of chapter 18, thus—Est igitur earum cura verissima; and ends thus—"et sanandum. cui sit honor et gloria amen. Explicit."

37. Tristichon inc. Si vis curare. 148.

38. Quædam de humoribus: inc. Sanguis dominatur ab hora quarta noctis.* 148.

* This word is altered to nona by the same hand as art. (5), and a long note is added below the page.

39. A treatise of the cure of diseases, by the judgement of urines: beg. Omnis urina est calamentum sanguinis (etc.)—Every uryne is a cleusyng of blood. 149—156.

At p. 152, where the table of "uryus coloryd" ought to have been inserted, are written, by the same hand as art. (6), the following prescriptions,—

(8.) "For toe make hoole, bleredde eyes.—For the axes, a drinke.—An oyntmente for age." 152—3.

Art. 38 ends thus,—"tyl yt they come. Explicit."

40. "Incipit alius tractatus. [N]owe speke we of colours and descriyng þer of w^t medycyns þer to longyng." 156.

The conclusion is lost, with a leaf or leaves gone from this place.

41. Tractatus judicandi urinas;* inc. (imperfecte?) sic,—Urina subcitrina cum febre. 157—162.

* This title is taken from the conclusion—"dolorem habere significat. Explicit tractatus judicandi urinas." Here again some leaves have been torn out.

42. An imperfect tract on urines: beg. of mylke it signify þe deth. 163—5.

Ending thus—"ordeyne dyvers medycyns. Explicit."

43. Tabula de significationibus urinarum, per colores: inc. Colores remissi. 165.

44. Translation of a treatise of one NICHOLAS, on the dispensing of medicines: beg. I Nycholas y prayed of summen in practyk of medycyne. 166.

The page ends imperfectly; and it does not seem to be connected with the next article: probably some leaves are lost here.

45. Part of a book on the uses of drugs and medicines, in alphabetical order: beg. Acaristum. w^t oute nombre it is underston it is good for strcytnes of þe brest. 167—170, 173—7.

Ending imperfectly under Dyayris, in the third line.

Inserted between the pages of this article, is one leaf of a MS. written by a different antient hand, containing the three following articles.

¶46. Part of the directions for preparing a sympathetic medicine, to be hung in 'cophynys' on a tree. 171.

Beg. qutybybes, of ech an unce; and ending—it wyl laste at a mannys lyve.

47. "Contenta nigra in urina. Si vis scirc." 171—2.

48. Prescriptions for "A watir for al mancer of syknessys in a mannys body," and three other waters. 172.

II. ¶1. A book of medicine, containing a variety of remedies under 152 several titles; beginning imperfectly thus,—"drawxt and usc thys medysyne ij dayes and þu shalt se corrupcyone etc. Approbatur. (v^a.*). Anoper for the magreyne tak a good quantyte of barly." pp. 1—52, 55.

* This number is set in the margin.

By the table at p. 58, it appears that the following titles were contained in the first leaf of this MS. which is lost:—

"For the hede ache j
A purgacōn for the hede ij
For the hede ache by hynd iij
To stroye lese and netes in þe hede iiij"

The last title is "Vij x[x]. xij. An entrete þt is callet Apostolicon;" which is followed by "An entrete þat is callet gracia Dei." Neither of these is in the index of titles.

2. Instructions for the proper time of gathering simples, by name; beg. Medysines ben done, some by leves, [som] bi sedis, som by flowres, and some bi fretes. 55—7.

Ending with 'Flowredelyce,'—and it wol laste ij zere.

3. Cautions to be observed by the almanack : beg. Whenne the mone is in any syne of the sonne that sygnifieth any lyme of man, þan is peril to be hurte or wounded in þ^t lyme by þ^t tyme and þe kalendere sait that the sonne etc. p. 57—8.

4. Table of the foregoing book of medecine, containing 141 titles. 58—64.

The last leaf of this MS. is vacant. Between pp. 52—55 is inserted a damaged leaf of a different MS., which begins thus, imperfectly,—powdur and temper hit wt white wyne. It contains—

¶5. Directions for making “Aqua acuta.—A goyd water for mannys syght.—Water goyd for her- yng.—Water for þe kancre—Halywhy on yng- lyche.” 53.

6. Prescription “To make entrete sanatyfe,” and for four remedies. 54.

7. “Yes ben ye vertuse of betayn. A mon þt has þe ston.” 54.

All the rest of the book is compactly written by a different hand, resembling No. 191; excepting only pp. 81—2, which more resemble the third MS. in the first part of this volume. The leaves paged 123—4 and 157—8 are of vellum.

¶8. Directions “Tho make clarrey” (Take halfe a pounde of gyngyr etc.), and “Tho make pyment.” 67.

9. “The vertues of wateres. Aqua vite is a pre- cious water.” 67—8.

10. Curious directions to make “Red lede;—Tho gylded;”—to make “Watres to steyne;—Grene water;—Golde watur;—Blew ledyr;—Red le- dyr;”—to dye “Lynnyn clothe” red, blue, yel- low, and green; to make “Blacke sope” and “Whyte sope.” 69—71.

11. Observations on urines: beg. [U]ryne wt inne þe morwe and ureyne aftur mete ys signe of good hele. 71—2.

Compare No. 1413, ii. art. 9.

12. De venarum incisione, cautelæ, secundum “xij. signa. Quando luna est in ariete.” 72—3.

13. Prescription for “Electuarium. A good lett- wary for a cold stommacke;” and remedies for sundry diseases. 74—5.

14. “Ista sunt xij. signa,” et eorum dominationes. 76.

15. Rules declaring for what complaints the several veins in different parts of the body are to be pierced: intitled “Fle[bo]tomacio. þe veyne in þe myddylle of þe forhede.” 76—8.

16. Nota quod quando luna etc. 78—9.

17. A short tract on urines, beginning with these verses:—

“Now tho me þu take goode hede how þu myste by body fede lyke unto þy sustynawne to kepe by þeche in governawne.

Manne and womanne best und brydde þat hath body and lyf wt in hit selfe” etc. 79—80.

The tract ends thus—of gret angur and wroth.

18. Remedies for “Lepra—Collica passio—Costy- nesse—Ydropic.” 80.

The last ends imperfectly, a leaf (or more) being lost: the next leaf was written by an other hand, at different times.

(1.) Remedies “For the palsey—For a manne þt hathe loste his speche,” etc. 81.

(2.) Sundry sentences and remedies. 82.

Including the following Proverb, written as prose:—

“Wel were hym þt wylt to wham he moght trist yn tyme off nede:
Beter were he þt knew the false fro the trew clothyd yn oon wede.”

¶19. “Medycyns*. Here be gynnyth a good Boke of Medycyns for many evylls that men han, þat good lechys han drawe out of bokys þat Galyan Ypoeras and Ascopus made: who so wylle do as þys boke techyth hym, he may have his hele þrowe þe grace of Gode. [First.] A goode letewary for alle maner couzunge. Take centory hors howe groundeswyly.” 83—106.

* This word only is in rubric. The numerous titles of this book are distinctly written: but there is no table of them. The last remedies are these:—

“Tho breke sone a boyle. Take lyly rote and zeltes grece and ley þer to. Unguent’ viride Coryfisse rupt. Take salt gomme und verdegre and make ht to sotyl powdyr and grynde ht wt fresch grece wt out fyre and so kepe ht to þy use.”

*20. “These ben sum of þe vertues of Rosemary, as the Clerke of Sallerne seyde and wrote tho the Cowntes of Hynde. and sche sende hem tho here dowgtur Phylype þt was weddyde tho þe Kyng of Engelond. Rosmary ys bothe tre and herbe hote and drye yn the iij degre, and þese ben hys vertues.” 107—9.

Ending—and gret helpe and comfote þer by. ih’u hyt grawnte. Amen.

21. “A medycyn for the palsey,” and many other remedies and medical prescriptions, including ample directions “Tho make oyle of Exceetur” (p. 110), a secret how “Tho take fowlys,” and divers ‘treetes’ and ointments. 109—120.

22. A continuation of similar remedies and compositions, beginning with one “For the perelle cove” (cough); including directions to make ‘clarere’* and ‘ypocras,’ and ending with a long prescription “Forto make drynke þt ys y clepyd Antyoche.” 120—158.

* The clarey of Chancer. (p. 133; see also p. 67.) At p. 134 are the following directions “Forto make ale schorte. Take ysope and stampe ht and temper ht wt ale, a sawcerfulle ys y now for vij galons of ale; and y[n] a nyxt ht schall make ht schort. Forto let ale fro souvryng. Take ale newe, and when þy weschellys both waschen rolle ht alle a bowt wt yn.” These pages are by the same hand as the foregoing; but written later, and not having the titles distinguished with red lines as before.

23. “M^d quod JOHANNES GLOUCETUR recepit de Joh. Tanner de Evesham, in die sancti Stephani pape pro j. hyde” etc. 159.

With seven other entries, by which it appears that the hides varied in price, from 23d. to 2s. 8d.

“Soluciones pro* Joh. Bredon pro diversis rebus.” 170.

 Perhaps there is an error of abbreviation for per, at least in the former instance. The last of these accounts consists of but two entries, viz. 2d. to John Blithe 'belman,' and 4d. "pro dyggyng of h^s pytte." They seem to be monastic accounts, from this entry at p. 161, "Item pro iij pisc. salsis pro conventu, ij. s. viij. d." On the unwritten parts of these 7 leaves, is written a continuation of the medical collections, probably by the John Gloucester above mentioned.

24. "In this wyse the lady Bewcham made hure sane. Take pimpernelle verveyne bytayne" etc. p. 159, 161.
25. Tractatus (vel forsā collectanea) de virtutibus herbarum; cum nominibus earum Latine, Romanice (seu Gallice) atque Anglice expositis: inc. De anancia gariofilata, Romani gariofile, Anglice ananee, est herba calida et humida. 162—7.

They are not all in alphabetical order: the last passage is as follows, but written continuously, like prose:—"Scabiosa Latine Rom' voc' scabyouse, est herba frigida et humida: profert pocionibus et plurimis medicinis. Unde sanctus URBANUS Papa eam versificat, dice[re]s:

Fert scabiosa pilos, vervena non habet illos.
Urbanus per se nescivit vim scabiose.
Nam purgat pectus, quoque comprimit egra senectus.
Purgat pulmonem, servat laternum regionem.
Emplastrata foris necat ant[h]racam tribus horis.
Fugat apostema certe, virtute probata.
Febres depellit, scabiem a corpore vellit.
Potata novies, fit de languente boni spes.
Languores pecudum tollit, pellitque venenum."

26. "Tho make a confeccōn of wallnotys, þat is callid a conserve, whylis they be grene and tendyr and alle at þe fyrst be gynnyng when they comyth out of the tre lyke almost aftur þe maner of grene gynger." 168—9.
27. "Forto purge hony as bryȝth and as fayre as glas and yn the best wise þat eny manne kan do hyt." 169.
28. Remedies "For the crampe" etc. 170.
29. Directions to make "Chare de quynce,—Oyle of loreer" (laurel), and other vegetable oils; with their uses. 171.
30. The composition of a drink (ending—) þe goodnesse þer of passyth eny touge tho telle. 172.

On the lower part of this page is an obscure note, (by an antient hand,) beg. By the same tokyn þt my fadur was boker (butcher?) yn þe Abbey of Keysham(?) Only a fragment of the next leaf remains, containing part of a prescription, written vertically.

No. 1439.

A quarto MS. written on vellum in a fair set hand, early in the XVth century, with many rubrics: the number of leaves is 56, whereof the first and the 7 last are vacant. Two leaves (as it seems) are wanting between ff. 41—2.

1. "Hic incipit Kalendare de diversis potaggiis;" or, the contents of the following book. f. 2—3^d.

It gives 'Clij' articles under the title of 'Potage,' and 'lij' under the next heading; but reaches only to f. 29; the last article being "Ryschewys of marwe." These two leaves are written in columns, and the four next have been ruled in the same form, but are not filled up; and so the table is left unfinished.

An antient book of Cookery and Confectionary, in four parts, namcly—"Potage, Leche Viaunde, Viaundes Furnes, Sauces pur diverse viaundes:" beg. "Lange wortys de chare. Take beff and mery bonys and boyle hit in faire watre." ff. 8—31—41—47—8^b.

The last receipt is, "Sauce neire for malardis. Take brede and blode yboild and grynde it to gedre and draw þurw a cloþ with the vynegre do þer to poudre gyngere and piper and þe grece of the malarde salt it and boile and melle it forthe." Hence it will appear that this work is different from the "Forme of Cury," published by Dr. Pegge, (London, 1780, 8vo.) which consists of only 191 receipts. See also No. 1444, iii. art. 7.

2. "Convivium domini Henrici Regis Quarti in coronacione sua apud Westmonasterium. Le prime cours. Braune en peverade." 48^b—9^d.

Written in columns: the last words are un fryde mete in the second course at supper.

On the first leaf of this curious MS. is written this name, Henry Gournay me p[ossidet].

No. 1440.

A quarto volume uniform with No. 1415, containing '225' pages neatly written as that MS. is, partly by Ashmole (whose autograph is on p. 1), and partly by an other hand, and 92 blank leaves at the end; also 4 leaves at the beginning, on the second of which is a—

"Tabula," or short list of the contents.

1. "Excellent notes taken out of a booke of GUIDO DE MONTANOR a cheife philosopher in the parts of Græcia. This knowledge is not given by God to any but godly." p. 1—5.
2. "Collections of the most learned:" or 24 select passages or sayings of the chief of the antient Alchemists; beg. "1. Hermes ye father of all philosophers saith our stone is made of one thing." 7—14.

Ending—"for in yt only [viz. salt] is hidden ye science, and cheife secrett of all ye philosophers. Finis."

3. "A declaration of certaine philosophicall words or sayings. Nature rejoyceth in Nature, that is, the body loveth the body." 15.
4. A nameless alehchemical tract, beg. First allwaies and evermore and more remember howe mighty and marvellous is the works of th' allmighty. 16—38.

Ending—and blackenesse is most worthy of dignitie.

5. An other; beg. If you doe now understand w^{ch} is the true spiritt wth his body neerest of his owne kinde. 39—47.

Though seemingly connected, these two articles are noticed in the 'Tabula' as separate tracts: the last words are—it will colour infinitely.

6. "Quercitan's Daughter's letters:" an alehchemical treatise, beg. Although that all things under ye surne being composed of the 4 elements. 48—98.

Ending—and wth in lesse time then 40 dayes or thereabout the whole matter became blacke. Here are many marginal notes, written by the same old hand as those in No. 1420; and it is observed at p. 92 that the tract seems to be imperfect at the end.

7. "A discourse concerninge the Three Words. This stone of whom this worke is made hath in it all colours.*" p. 99—107.

* Interlined whereof. The last words are—Therefore praised be God yt did create soe excellent a thinge of soe vyle a thinge.

8. "The true makinge of the water of life, whereof y^e quintessence is made in divers manners both simple and compound, w^{ch} is the root and ground of all the philosophers secretts. W^{ch} quintessence" etc. 108—111.

Ending—"a white water, and a bloody redd oyle etc. My copy went not further." A note follows below the page, beside marginal notes.

9. Of the composition of the elixir: beg. Philosophers say that their elixir is not made of gold and silver. 112—4.

10. Nota de 'aqua vivente'; et figura arcæ cujusdam, cum versibus in summa parte ac interiori scriptis, inc. Trina mihi clavis, et Perficiant sophiam. 116.

Schemata mystica tria, cum inscriptionibus, numeris, et characteribus ad alchemiam spectantibus. 117—9.

Called in the table of contents, "four sides of schemes."

11. Tractatus "De solutione corporum. Tota chymia versatur in solutione et coagulacione." 121—139.

Des. tincturam rubeam et albam.

12. Libellus excerptorum "De varijs solutionum modis secundum varios philosophos. Solutio corporum secundum Geberum duplex est." 140—152.

Des. De primo sale jam dictum est.

13. "The greate worke. The earth conteynes in it the seedes of all things." 153—160.

Ending—But remember [etc.] otherwise you must begin the worke againe.

14. Three letters or short discourses on the philosophers' stone, written "For his beloved frend Mr: D. R." (David Ramsey) by :E: :S: with a (false) derivation of the word Alchemy. 161—168—9.

Ashmole hath subscribed this note, both in short hand and at length:—"This definition of Alchemy was written wth the same hand that wrote the other three discourses of the Stone; and were left wth Mr: David Ramsey many yeares before he died, but he remembred not by whome."

15. "Additions explicatory, added to the end of Dr: Dee's Monas Hieroglyphica, by Tho: Tym:" namely "The diffinicion of mercury taken out of Geber the Arabian," and "chapter 2. concerning gold." 170—1.

His pieces introductory to the same work, are copied in No. 1459, art. (3)—(6). The next article is by the same author.

16. 'Riddles'* or "The darke sentences and ænigmaticall speeches of the Philo^s concerning the elixir and the stone. The first distinction. Hermes. Our matter is true." 172—195.

* The running title. At the end are some notes by Ashmole in shorthand, and this at length:—"After this followed a treatise intituled The Practise of Alkiny by an English Gent: left to posterity in charity, and translated in to English by Tho: Tym for his freind. The first part conteynes 9 chap^{rs} the second 5." Probably that which follows came also from his pen.

17. "Exposition of darke questions. Dic quibus in terris (et eris mihi magnus Apollo) Millecuplum numeretur terrestre ad quo[r]sum. If I be not deceived." 186—195.

Ending—"in all eternity world without end. Amen."

18. "Dr: EVERARD's gloss upon the Smaragdine Table:" intitled—

"Tabula Smaragdina, or the table of emerald said to be found in the sepulchre of HERMES. That w^{ch} is in black letters is the text, and in red letters the glosse." 196—9.

The first title is taken from the 'Tabula.' It ends thus—"Blessed be he for evermore. Amen. Finished at Fulham on Sunday August 9, 1640. by J. E. D. D."

19. Eighteen "Aphorismes or canons Hermetically, ascribed to BASILIUS VALENTINUS in the 4th: volume of Theatrum Chemicum. pag: 368.* Concerning the body, soule, and spirit, of the greater and lesser world." 200—4.

* Argent, 1613, 8vo. (Bodl. 80 C. 11, Med.), where it is intitled "Aphorismi Basiliani, sive Canones Hermetici." This article is subscribed "JO: EVERARD at Fulham. 7bris. 16. ♀ 1640."

20. "Things written by G: RIPLEY, found in the end of the Marrow &c. in English. As Merlyne saith greene as anoynted wth oliffe." 205—7.

Ending—"glory for ever. Amen."

21. "A letter sent by G: RYP[LEY]: chanon of Brydlington to a freind of his. Sithe it is so that many men have ben impoverished in labouring about the perfection — of alkemy." 208—213.

Ending thus—"By yor poore chaplayne Sr G. R. chanon of Brydlington, farmor and curate of Fax Bulburgh church. 1460. vel 1476."

22. "The following letter communicated to me* by — Prince Frederick Duke of Holsatia and Sleswick, relates things strange and unheard of:"—about the 'lyfe, death, inheritance and heires,' of the author's 'master B: J:' (Joelhu) an alchemist, describing the treasures of his secret closet. 215—225.

* "The copy whence I transcribed this, [says Ashmole.] was lent me by Mr: Britton, 22 Oct: 1678." It is evidently translated from Latin: but the writer's name does not appear.

No. 1441.

A quarto volume containing (i.) one MS., written in a large and coarse black letter of the XVIth century, and (ii.) sundry papers by various old hands, which are distinctly numbered in the following description of them.

I. Liber collectaneorum de arte alchemica; seu tractatuli et experimenta e scriptoribus vetustis, LULLIO præsertim, excerpta: (pp. 78) in quo præcipua sunt—

1. "Tractatus de anima metallorum. Aqua de qua loquitur Raymundus." p. 4—8.
 2. "In nomine sancte trinitatis—principium hujus compendii quod dicitur Anima Artis Transmutatorie. Jam sepius te allocuti recolimus." 8—11.
See also art. 9.
 3. "Ars brevissima et levissima ad album et ad rubeum et eciam verissima." 13.
 4. "Incipit opus ad rubeum perfectum. Ad solem fue sicut fecisti de luna." 16.
 5. "Magister ARNALDUS DE VILLA NOVA dedit hanc receptam, pro amore Dei, Magistro Hospitalis sancti Johannis de* ultra mare, ad dimicandum contra Saracenos. In Dei nomine amen. R' solis (auri) calcinati." 22.
* Sic MS.
 6. "Opus magistri JOHANNIS DE VILLA MAGNA. R' S. I. auri puri. 25—28.
 7. OPUS FERBERNI DE ARRAGONIA*: inc. In primis Jh'u nomine invocato, R' sulphuris. 28—30.
* In fine "Tunc projici in ingotum ferreum linitum cum cera nova. De isto auro vidi quod Ferbernus de Arrogonia habuit, qui habuit a Patriarcha Constantinopolitano, et vidi ipsum vendere aurum istud. Et docuit me hujus experientiam. Explicit."
 8. "PICTAGORAS. Secundum Pictagoram sic est procedendum. Accipiatur lapis noster amenus." 31—5.
In fine—in infinitumque augmentatur. Deo gracias.
 9. "De margaritis condendis. Opus margaritarum est quod capias aquam martis." 36—9.
In the margin is this additional title:—"Extract' a libro qui dicitur Anima Artis Transmutatorie RAY^{DI} abbreviata." (Thus subscribed by an other hand, "Vide compend. lap. prec. fol. 369.") Ending thus—"tibi sufficit ad effectum. Et finitur Anima Artis Transmutatorie abbreviata &c."
 10. Elixer vite secundum magistrum ROGERUM BACON in libro experimentalis etc. 49.
 11. "Balneum filosoficum. Make yow a grete rownde balle of bras." 54.
This, (also an article without a title at pp. 47—8) and the following pieces, alone are in English in this MS.
 12. "Elixir vini.*—A trewe grounde off practisinge for to make the perfyzt elixer.—Solucõn off the calx.—Putrefaction.—Fermentacion.—To make y^e perfyzt elixer. The multiplicacõn off these two elixcris.—Projection uppon mereuryc and metallys.—Elixer of lyffe." 54—65.
* Beg. Take the most preciaus sweete wync.
 13. "Notabilia de practica Testamenti," et "Notabilia de Codicillo RAYMUNDI." 69—71—8.
- The last title is "Aqua potabilis sine corrosivis," and the MS. ends thus—"mirabiliter. Unde Deo gratias agamus. Finis."

II. A collection of Alehematic Papers and Fragments, written by ASHMOLÉ, CHARNOCK, ROBSON, the NAPIERS, GRAVIUS, and other persons unknown. pp. 79—395.

1. The last 12 lines of Norton's Ordinall. p. 79.

These 2 leaves seem to be the end of Ashmole's transcript used in the printing of his Theatrum. (Compare p. 106.) The first page is marked '122', and hath some shorthand notes, dated 7 July 1649.

"Authorum nomina, qui in hoc opere recensentur," (Nortoni, scilicet,) ordine alphabetico. 80.
Translation of Norton's Latin prologue: beg. This booke unto clarkes declareth science greate. (40 lines.) 81—2.

Ending—"Such graces greate shall happ as he thought not to finde. Finis." See also No. 1478, f. 90.

2. Appendix to the work of PEARCE the Black Monk*: beg. Of this matter darke and nothinge clere. (49 lines.) 82—3.

* Compare Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 428, and No. 759, f. 128. This copy ends—The soule of Saturne and the gold of life: it seems to be of the time of Queen Elizabeth.

3. (1.) CHARNOCK's table of numbers and letters, thus headed:—

"Off all these circulations, so God me mende,
I know not perfectly, where to ende." p. 85.

Written with his own hand on the back of the last leaf of a MS. of the XVth century, containing the last five lines, or a—

Fragmentum tractatus alchemici,—secretum lapidis mineralis posse fieri. 86.

Ending—predicta 2º cora. Then follows—

(2.) CHARNOCK's admonition that he had in vain passed the numbers '480, 490, and 520,' beg. "1576. Note my sone Thomas Charnocke after my dayes." 86.

4. (i.) "Ad mollificandum calibem. Extingue in succo celidonie." 87.

This leaf is written by two different hands of the XVth century, and hath another autograph note by the aforementioned alchemist, thus headed—

(3.) "CHARNOCKE his tr[e]we similitude. Knowe ye well that when fire ayre and water." 87.

(ii.) "In nomine Domini hoc opus incipio. In principio faciatis a stronge lye dobylforsyd." 88.

5. Verses in praise of Mercury: beg. I am ♀ the mighty flos florum, I am most ryal und richest of singulorum. (62 lines.) 90—1.

Ending—"For in al other thinges fynde you hym nought. Finis." With interlineary notes in Latin. See also art. 7.

These five leaves are a fragment of a MS. of the XVth or XVIth century, antiently foliated '154—158.'

"Balneum Marie ph'e. Pone ollam terre." Also two alchemical receipts. 92.

"Opus philosophicum Anglice descriptum. Take thou thi glasses at thre, And in a grave thou them bury." (44 lines.) By GILES DAWES. 93—5.

His name is thus subscribed:—"To the whiche God bring the too. Amen quod Giles Dawes." This also hath interlineary notes, by the same hand as the next piece.

Experimentum quoddam super "h cum ♀," et figura fornacis. 96.

Notatiunculæ de rebus olim in codice contentis. 97—8.

Written by different hands, with references to the foliation of the MS. of which this is a fragment.

6. The last 12 lines of CHARNOCK's 'Breviary of naturall philosophy,' with the colophon. p. 99.

This (as also artt. 1 and 7) was the conclusion of the copy used by Ashmole's printer: compare the Theatrum, p. 303. It has been preserved for the sake of the unpublished parts of the following pages.

Verses, and curious memoranda, copied from CHARNOCK'S own handwriting, and partly dated in 1573, 1577, 1566, 1574, 1572; including his "Enigma ad alchimiam. When vij. tymes xxvj. had run their rasc." p. 100—4.

All the verses are printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 424—426: see also the additions in his interleaved copy, No. 972, where also Charnock's signatures and initials are copied in facsimile.

7. The last 18 lines of 'The Hunting of the Greene Lion.' 105.

Compare Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 290.

Translation "Out of a Welsh Manuscript. Soule although thou shouldst make me." (22 lines.) 106.

In blank verse, or prose: ending "When he gave on[e] forme of making. Finis." On the margin of this piece and of the next, Ashmole has noted "Dr Flood," to whom probably the MSS. belonged.

'The worthiness of Mercury:' beg. I am Mercury the mightiest flos florum. (59 lines.) 107—8.

Ending—"For more of me gett ye nought. Vide lib' Sapientia." Or, as Ashmole notes in the margin, "Vid. Pat' Sapientia," a poem in his Theatrum, pp. 194—209, wherein (at pp. 198, 272, 3, are some verses resembling this article, and the antient copy in art. 5. See also No. 1445, v. art. 9.

8. Latin "Mottoes about the severall opperacōns in the vessells," and English verses,* "Taken out of one of Riply's Scrowles lent me by Mr Ellis." 109, 110—1.

* Beg. Off sonne take the light (10 lines); and The wch causeth generacōn (21 lines): different from those printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 375—9. (Compare No. 1530, 1535, 1771, 1772.) This paper was written by Ashmole.

9. Experimenta quædam, Gallice et Latine. 113, 116—7, 118.

Written in an obscure old French hand, about 1600.

10. "Questions propounded to M^r E. K. by M^r G. S. de lapide philosophorum;" with Sir EDWARD KELLY'S answers. 121—2.

By a contemporary hand, closely written.

11. Notulæ quædam chemicæ. 123.

By an equally old hand.

12. "De ♀—♁ nostro conceptus," per THEODOR. GRAVIUM; cum objectis, et responsionibus ejus. 125—6.

13. Tabula, seu "Mensa ♂ nis et transmutationis metallorum," cum septem clavibus ejus; auctore GRAVIO. 127—8.

14. "Alio modo aqua marcurie. Take mercury sublimed." Etiam "Alio modo." 129, 130.

By an old hand resembling Robson's.

15. Directions to make "Aqua benedicta,"—"☉ potable," and "The tincture of ☉;" also the work of 'body soul and spirit,' for the transmuting of metals into gold or silver; and an experiment from "Captaine Winn, concerning the water of lead-mines. 131—2, 141—4, 133.

By an old hand resembling Napier's: the inner pair of leaves has been misplaced after art. 18.

16. De calcinatione metallorum, quædam. 135—6.
By the same hand as art. 9.

17. "Aqua vitæ of the Ph'ers. Take a good quantity of the ower of allome." 137.

Written about the time of James I.

18. "Ad purgandum plumbum.—Ad depingendum in ferro, vel in ense, ad designan[dum] quicquid volueris.—Induratio ferri.—Mollificatio ferri.—Congelatio Mercurii.—Ad faciendum aquam Mercurii,"* et alia experimenta. 139—147.

* This alone is in English. See also art. 24.

19. A vegetable work, by CHR. TAYLOUR? (beg. R' wyne red or white and destill,) with some experiments in Latin. 155—8.

20. "For the licour called ophirizum," and "Essentia ☉," by RICHARD NAPIER. 163, 170.

Only the two outermost pages of this sheet are written.

21. A fragment by ROBSON, containing directions "To make mettalls white as ☉.—To make philo's vitrioll," and other experiments. 171—4.

22. Two works for producing gold: beg. R' 1 parte of ♀, 1 parte of ♀ make an ammalgam, and R' ☉ calcsined. 175, 177.

By a hand of Robson's time.

23. "A perfect worke given mee by a German, and his oath it was true. First dissolve our sericon in wine vineger distilled." 183—5.

By a different old hand.

24. "Fixatio ♀. R' mercurii sublimati;" et aliud opus, inc. R' mercurii crudi partes 3. p. 191.

This is an other copy of the conclusion of art. 18 (p. 147), by the same hand.

Directions for "A sement.—For a drinkinge glasse.—To make a balneum.—To make harde waxe.—To keepe armour y^t [it] shall not ruste." 193.

Others, "To make a good lutum.—To make lutum sapientia.—Sal armoniack.—Aqua de qua scribi potest.—Aqua removens colorem a pelle." 194.

25. "Aurum potable. First there is required the calx of ☉." 195—7.

"The vigitable of GEORGE RIPLYE to the Bishope of Yorke. Take argall of stronge wine that groweth about the sides of the vessell." 197—8.

"The oyle of ♁ for ☉." 198.

"Aqua fortis is thus made:" two directions. 199.

"Oyle of cloves. Rec' cloves grosly beaten." 199.

All written by ROBSON, and corrected by NAPIER.

26. NAPIER experimenta quomodo fixatur mercurius, et 'modus multiplicandi.' 203.

27. A fragment of a tract written by ROBSON, in which is this title: "The conclusion of the whole worke, w^{ch} is called the Kaye of the whole science. Take of the purest and most refined lead." 211—2.

The next page of this sheet, (which seems to have been the last of the tract,) contains some verses of scripture, and idle writing, by "Mrs Anne Naper," also the name of John Beell.

28. A work of copper, beg. R' Cupri in laminas redacti; and "Mercurii fixatio." p. 217.

This and the next seem to be by the hand of Taylour or Robson.

29. "The anatomy of vitrioll;" showing "The composition" and "The vertue" of it, "A magnetical emplaister against the plague," and "A saturnine oyntment vitriolate." 225—9.

30. Directions "To mortefy $\frac{1}{2}$."*—Ad faciendum istud perfectam lunam," and three other experiments. 233—4, 236.

* Explained by Napier "♀." This article is not by his hand: it contains peculiar characters.

31. "Progressus in opere magno" pro auro, secundum NAPERUM. 237.

"Lapis philos: fit ex 1. 2. 3. 4. 5;" et "Quinque entia morborum omnium." 240.

32. "Aqua fortis the ♀ of $\frac{1}{2}$." and "To make rosett." 241.

The first title is written by Napier; but the paper (though rudely written) appears to be by Ronson's hand.

"To make vitrole of ♂.—A greate secrete.—To make ♀ as white as D.—This came out of Germanye. to make ♀ of $\frac{1}{2}$.—To make arremasita.—To make vitrinum of antimony.—To make reagus.—D. P.* To make y^e tinctor of ☉ to take inwardlye." 243—5.

* The artist's initials? See page 299.

"To purge ♀." and four other experiments. 246—247.

"To make mettals tufe" (tough), ten different ways. 247—8.

"Watters whyghteninge;" with curious characters. 249.

"A booke of 12 waters. The first is a red water, and is made thus. Take ye yelkes of ☉ hurde soden." 250—3.

Ending—it will tyncte ♀ into ye true collar of ☉.

"The oyle of tarter y^t fixeth all sperets." 253.

"To make y^e oyle of D to change ♀ into true D." 254.

"A projection of ♂ and ♂ uppon ♀ to make it true D." 255.

"To make y^e oyle of ♂ fixed," four ways. 255—6.

33. "Duo basili[s]ci cum duplici elixir, compositio basiliscorum nostrorum et primum menstruum sive menstruale separativum. Accipe gummi terbinthinæ." 257—9.

Partly by Napier, and partly by an other hand, that wrote the two next pieces.

"To calcine ☉ or D. Take $\frac{3}{4}$ iij. of ciuaber." 261.

"The manner of the præparation of white tartar." 265.

34. "De lacte ♀.—De ♀ et imprimis de flor. ♀.—De tinctura ♀.—De balsamo sulphuris cum oleo tereb.—De balsamo ♀ cum oleis expressis." Written in English by Sir RICHARD NAPIER. 273—7.

"Spiritus C. Cervi:" or experiments on harts-horn, by Sir R. NAPIER. 279—80.

35. Notæ de experimentis quibusdam. 281—2.

Seeming to be references to a book, of which these three leaves were formerly a part, or at least served as fly-leaves.

"Oleum vitri.*—Mumia vitrioli, vel colchothar.—Sal vitrioli.—The extract or essence of saffron.—Oyle of mirrhe.—To sublime arsenick." Also "ye dissolucion of pearle, called magisterium perlarum." 283—5.

* Beg. We did first dry it. These articles seem to be the actual experiments of the writer.

"Panchimagog. R' spec. diarrhod." 286.

36. Experimentum quoddam,* et remedium "Ad lepram." 287.

* Worn and obscure. These eleven leaves appear to have been part of a book, colored red at the edges.

An alchemical tract, the preface of which begins thus:—God with thy magnitude and influent goodnesse I beginn to write this volume. 289—299.

Ending—"injoye health and prosperity unto his plesire evermore Amen. D. P."

"The compound called Anima Metallorum, or ye diademe of y^e most illustrio[u]s King Edward of England might shine. Most noble King, we remember y^t you of late." In four chapters: by RAYMUND LULLY. 299—304, 307—8, 305.

Ending imperfectly thus—or with strange earth with. The last is a catchword; but it is not taken up on the following page. The two last leaves are transposed.

Excerpta quædam ex aphorismis Hippocratis. 306.

37. An alchemical tract, the first title of which is, "Ad imperfectorum medicinam et perfectionem. Materia prima. In nomine Dei amen. Take j. li. or ij. of sulphur vive." 309—324.

The foregoing leaf or leaves having been lost, a fragment of an experiment occupies the upper part of the first page. The last title is—"Modo dicam modum faciendi projectionem elixer ad rubeum;" and it ends—of even mony. This MS. is of the age of Queen Elizabeth, as also the next fragment.

38. Medicine "To dryve a way heavynes of the mind, to acuate the senecs, and to make a good memory." 325.

"A pryneypall proved medeyen for the blacknes of the necke and spottes of the face." 325.

Six remedies for different diseases. 326—7.

"To make whyte h[airs?] in y^e shadow like sylver." 328.

39. "A receipt of diet drinke for the stone in y^e kidnyes;" and three other remedies for the same, by ASUMOLE. 329.

40. Composition of "A wonderfull ungu:" and "The golden ungu:" also of other unguents and oils. 334, 335—7.

By a hand of the time of James I.

41. Translation "Ex practica VALESII DE THARANTA, lib. 7. chap. 34. De tinea," describing and showing remedies for that disease of the head. 339, 341—2.

Neatly written in a small hand of the same age.

42. Fragment of a collection of remedies, containing "Another for the sciatica," etc. p. 343—6.

Seven in English are on the first page, and two in Latin on the next leaf: this is in octavo, by a hand resembling Forman's.

43. Præscriptiones duæ pro pillulis, 'purgativis ad gonorrhæam,' et 'astrigentibus.' 347.

By Dr. Wharton?

44. Prescriptions for "The pills" and "Medicines for beare;" by "Mr Bowden of Reading." 349.

45. Prescription for pills, by (?) "Mr: Millington," with a note by Ashmole. 351.

46. Remedy "For a hors[e] winde." 353.

47. "An approved receipt for a consumption," by Ashmole. 355.

50. Excerpta quædam de quinta essentia; eum titulo libri 'De lapide philosophorum,' anno 1604 editi. 363.

Quatuor tetrasticha, sc. '18—21,' e GEORGII RIPLEI Cantilena. 364.

Thus intitled, "Carmina quædam obiter in libro quodam sic abrupte inventa, et desumpta ex 38 similibus in libro quodam manuscripto." Compare No. 1445, viii.

Notula e 'Flamello, fol. 109.' p. 364.

This sheet, and the next one, seem to have been written by Sir ROBERT NAPIER.

51. Excerpta quædam "Ex Rog. Bacon, Forsan (inquit) aurum non cedit." 367.

Subscribed "Pardon, I pray you, my hastie writing."

Duodecim "Virtutes characteris seu imaginis Q a D. THOM: ALLEN. 1. Si portetur circa cor, confortat mirabiliter cor." 369.

Subscribed "Lett this I pray you be secret; he sais that in medicines olibanum [p. 370] is the last thing to be sigilled," etc. This was Mr. Allen of Gloucester Hall.

55. Another, by the same: beg. Take vitrioll allome—and it will be fine C. p. 381.

These two articles are by an unknown hand; and the latter is subscribed with a note about "Putty emery," in shorthand, by Ashmole.

56. Experiment "To whiten ♂. R' of iron clear'd." 385.

This and the following articles are by different old hands.

57. Process of making a glassy powder to stratify with ♀. p. 387.

58. Imperfect experiment, beg. R' 2 ♀ of verdi-grease. 389.

59. "Cristalls of silver.—The greene oyle of silver, [and] The use of this greene liquor for mechanical operations.—To make metallicall spirits and flores, by y^c helpe of saltpeter and lynnem cloth." 391, 393, 395.

No. 1442.

A quarto volume containing seven MSS. on paper, written, by different hands, about the reign of King James I.; together with an addition by Ashmole, written on some of the pages of seven sheets of paper, bound up at the end.

The two first MSS., though written by different hands, (the second very closely and neatly,) appear to have been originally bound together; and the end of the second was filled up by the writer of the first, except the three last pages.

I. 1. "Com[e]s NICOLAUS in a serten epistle, having lernedly intrated of the regimentes of this arte, as of callination, dissolution, putrifaction, reductione, separation and suchlike, concludeth thus. And this is the perfect congelation." p. 1—6.

Ending—"moy come to the conclusion of the phitosophe[r] —with owte ende amen. Finis. Comes Nicolaus."

2. "The worke of Senior Mererū from an owld coppey in ou[r] Englis tong as followeth. When thou demandest or askest what is ye philosophers stone." 7—16.

Ending—"or else sease thy worke in vene. Finis. 1617. Glorey be to God [etc.] amen." Compare No. 1445, i. art. 5, etc.

3. "The Newe Light of ARNOLD DE VILLA NOVA. Father and reverent lord, although I am ignorant." 17—30.

Ending—"besech him to conduct you to your dessire. Finis. New light [of] Mr Arnal de Villa Nova. 1616."

4. "A[e]nigma de lapide philos. Inn Indian of all the worlde the hottest place beside." (29 lines.) 31.

Ending—"Immortall thankes wee ought to yelde with glorey and honour. Finis. Amen." These verses do not appear to be in the Theatrum.

5. Dr. DEE'S alechemical Testament: beg. This leter thirde and laste I mind to make. (14 lines.) 31—2.

Ending—"All is inough, nomore then at this tide. Finis." Printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 334, "from Dr Dee's owne hand," as he has noted in No. 972.

6. "A ridell. A thing of small price which all men knowe." (12 lines.) 32.

Ending—"This is the materiall of our stone. Finis." Varying from the copy printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 435: but see his MS. note in No. 972, f. 282b.

* * Art. 7 is at the end of the next MS.

II. "Azoth, or the goulden secret Misterie of Philosophers, soledlye plainelye and apparantlye expressinge the first matter, and that oft tould of stone of the philosophers by the sonnes of Hermes. By a philosophicall riddle, a parabollicall conference, an emerauld-like table of Hermes, expressinge the tokens, parables, and signes of Saturne, written by F. BASILIUS VICENTINUS, M: GEORGIUS BEATUS the interpreter*. At Fran[k]ford, imprinted att the costs of John Bringer, in the yeare of our Lord 1613." Translated into English by NOWELL†. ff. 1—31.

* Here is a drawing of the symbolical wood-cut, pasted on: many others are inserted in the second part of the book.

† The translator's name Noellus is subscribed at the end of the first part (f. 21^a); and thus at the end of the second "Noellus: 1616: Jesus. Pendimus a te, Credimus in te, Tendimus ad te, Non nisi per te, Optime Christe."

By a note on the margin of the second page, it appears that the translation was begun "Auspice Christo: 1616: January 12."

I. 7. An alchemical tract, intituled "PLINN upon the ston[e]. Heare beqineth the tretis in the which PLINEI declareth openly what is the pho'rs stone, and of what mater it showld be made and how." f. 31^b, pp. 1—5.

The sixth page ends thus—"to every good man. Amen par charitie. And thou must begine this holey worke when Sull is in Aries and that is the leventh of March. Explicit Secretum secretorum omnium philosophorum, per Plinius." (sic.) The Latin text is in No. 1467, art. 13.

III. Sir ROBERT GREEN's experience and defence of his art: beg. Suerly without any falsed the science of alkaniste is trewe and not to be mocked nor scorned as many a blind asse doth. pp. 1—14.

Compare No. 1426, ix. art. 2. This copy ends thus: "And ever sythens this act done I laboured never more for what [want] of worldlie goodes and for any [envy] of the false world and this litle treatise I have mad: an ende under Godes power in my olde age of lxxj. Anno Xi. MCCCCxxviij. And anno Regis Henrici Octavi xxxvi. Deo gracias. Finis." Some ignorant person (almost contemporary with the transcriber) added "Heare endeth the practi of lightes by Racis the philosopher."

The paging of this MS. is continued, by Ashmole, through four leaves inserted by his binder, at the beginning and end of the next MS., to p. '99' on the first leaf of the fifth MS.

IV. An alchemical treatise, in twenty-eight chapters, translated into English: beg. Yf ther be any artt outhere of all thous thinge[s] wch can be handeled of mans hand that requireth ye obsarvation of vialent carfullness, out of dowbt yt is Chymya and all his workes. pp. 23—89.

The original draught, and evidently a translation: but no titles appear. The last chapter begins and ends thus:—"The 28 chapter. The matter wch hathe past ye ballneo—salt of lime wch must be brought into a q. c." Pp. 51—4 seem to have been translated by a Frenchman, being in a different hand.

V. "Das III. Buch;" or eleven chapters of a Dutch treatise on mystical philosophy, the secret nature of things, and the philosophers' stone; with notes by THEODORICUS GRAVIUS. pp. 1—69.

It seems to have been all transcribed by him, in a small and difficult Dutch hand; and has this note on the corner of the first page. "Harlemi in Batavia, d. 12 Jun. a. 30." (1630?) He has intituled the tenth chapter thus, in the margin of p. 62, "Practica lapidis φ'lorum."

VI. 1. "Heare begynneth the vertue of Rosemarie, according to ye sayenges of devine docters. To God yt is ye onelie leeche: of his goodnes we beseche." (145 couplets, in long lines.) p. 1—5.

Ending—"Whoe graunt us his blessinge: That is our eternal Kinge, Amen.

"Translatid at this tyme; owt of prose into ryme

Owt of a verie olde bonke; these same meadicens yt I touke
And hathe them practized wt owt fayle; and fownde yem true everie deall

Prays gevine to Christe Jhesue; whoe ever have ye in his kepinge.

"JAMES MATHEWE: Amen."

2. "The vertues of hearbe grace, otherwise callid Rewe. The leaves of rew, boylled in water." 5—7.

3. Remedies "For ye greene sicknes and gripinge of ye stomack;" and other disorders. 7—9.

4. "Certaine notes taken out of the booke called the Rosarie of Ph'ors, folio 226"—418. p. 9—12.

Most of these are rendered into irregular verse, without ryme.

5. Direction how "To cleare a touchstone;" remedies for sundry diseases, etc. 13—14.

6. "A red work upon ☽ to be ☉." 14.

7. "Experimentum bonum. Goe to a swallowes nest." 14.

8. RICHARD CARPENTER's work: beg. Off the sonne take ye cleare light. The redd gumme yt is so bright. (58 couplets, in long lines.) 15—16.

Considerably varying from the copy printed, under this title, in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 275—7; and ending—Elles knowest ye littell of this lore. The next article follows immediately, as if a continuation of this.

9. The work of the black stone, the white stone, and the red: beg. Take maydens urine, yonge of age, Ashen burnt bothe salte and lyme. (62 long lines, partly in stanzas of 4.) 16—19.

Ending—Better to saye God sende me grace.

10. A short alchemical doctrine: beg. Norve or ever I begynne, I will tell right by and by. (10 long lines, partly in stanzas of 4.) 19.

Ending—"It will not be for colde nor hott. Finis." These two pieces do not appear in Ashmole's Theatrum.

11. To make "☿ fusible and fixt. And if you intend to make the white worke." 19.

12. Remedy "For bur[n]inge wth wildfire;" a charm "To stanch blood, the partye being absent*,—A special preer to help and [any] sore or sicknes," a charm "For an ague or other sicknes†, proved upon a multitude," and "A [magical] remedie agaynst evell tongues‡, ether in man or beast;" together with five remedies for the disorders of women. 20—1.

* The same is in older MSS. No. 1443, p. 401; No. 1447, p. 6, 16, 43, etc.

† Including the Abracadabra.

‡ See also art. 19.

13. Prescription "To make flos unguentorum, wch was sent by an Angell in Almayne," and "The vertues therof." 22.

14. Directions "To make cynamum water,—To make pure Ipoeras," etc. p. 23.
15. "A water to make all bodies white as perfect lunc." 24.
16. Fr. BACONES wonders or meruelles of the workes of arte and nature. Yff y^e sekest the key." 24.
17. "AVICENNA tractatus. Suche ought to be the force of fyer in calcination." 25—6.
18. "The maner how to use y^e ph'ors stone in phissieke. The way to use or stone." 26.
19. Magical directions "For to help one that is forspoken or bewitched. Take y^e patients water—and make a cake thereof" etc. 27.

Above is this name, "Mudwine Morley;" and below, "Probat' super Ra. Harman."

20. Remedy "For a seald head." 27.
21. The ingredients of "M^r CHANCEY his aqua caelestis, geven me by himsele." 29.
22. "The causes of the mother, wth the remedies." 31.
23. "Instructions of PROLOMYE," for the invocation of spirits: beg. "1. In what daye y^e wilt begyne to worke." 32.
24. Six like instructions ascribed to "Ciprianus. Marke saythe Ciprian." 32—3.
25. "A remedie for them y^t are hawnted w^t a spr^t or bewitched, or taken w^t a fearee feaver, or hawnted w^t elves, frantieke or madde. In nomine patris &c. 3 persons and one God." 33—4.

Ending with this note:—"Docter Bore, in his booke callid y^e Breviarie of Healthe, expressid this last $\frac{1}{2}$ and sayde y^t he harde a preist in Room $\frac{1}{2}$ a sprite in a woman after y^e same maner, and sayde he would not write what y^e sperite answeride."

VII. "Heare beginnaeth the booke of the venerable doctour BERNARDE Earle of the Marche TREVICAN, [concerning the operations of alchemy, translated into English.] Callinge upon the name of God wth out whome no helpe is gotten, for all good proceedeth from him." pp. 1—78.

The fourth part ends thus:—"By pervingte you wholly from the naturall and true methode of this science. And heare endeth the worke of Bernarde Earle of Marche Trevisan: finis." The Latin text of this work is printed in the Theatrum Chemicum, (Ursellis, 1602, 8vo.) I. 772—803. At the beginning of this MS. are five sheets and more (ff. 21), blank and uncut.

VIII. 1. "Emendacōns belonging to the worke of John Sawtre w^{ch} Hermannus set forth.* w^{ch} I [ELIAS ASHMOLE] compared by an old manuscript found in Thorney Abbey in Lineouleshire, and presumed to be the originall." p. 1—6.

* In a volume thus intitled, "Harmonia imperscrutabilis Chymico-Philosophica, seu Philosophorum antiquorum consentientium [etc.] decas I. Collecta a H. C. D." (Francof. 1625, Bodl. 8vo. C. 43, Med.): which initials are explained "D. Hermannus Condeesyanus," at the end of the dedication. The tract is there intitled, De lapide philosophorum liber elegantissimus, conscriptus a JOANNE SAU[T]RE, monacho Tornayense. (pp. 153—176.)

2. JOH. SAWTRE "Epilogus operis; et est eap^m;

13. et ultimum. Sed quia sermonis prolixitas." p. 7—8.

This transcript seems to be by Aubrey's hand, corrected by Ashmole. After the 9 verses with which it ends, is the name of 'Sawtre' written reversely, thus ERTWAS.

3. Compendium quoddam alchemicum, ita superscriptum, "Nota principaliter super omnia. Testificatur ad credendum meditacionum experimentum." p. 9—16.

Des. "et in hoc completur archanum preciosissimum, quod est super omne mundi thesaurum. Explicit Compendium brevissimum et valde utile. Deo altissimo laudes et gratias persolvamus. Amen." This article is by the same hand as the greater part of No. 1440; and has a note by Ashmole in short hand at the beginning, and his Ex^r at the end.

No. 1443.

A quarto MS on paper, well written in a common hand of the XVth century, with red capitals neatly flourished, and with frequent rubrics. The pages are small, wide margins having been left (apparently) for notes and additions: but some of the margins have been torn off; and the whole book has been extremely worn and much damaged, especially toward the end. It contains 460 pages, alternately numbered by Ashmole.

On the first page is the signature of "Edmundus Peccham," written about the end of the XVth century: he seems to have been the writer of the additions that occur in some parts of the book, here distinguished with parentheses.

1. Explanation of arithmetical notation: beg. A figure of augrym stondiþ in þe first place. p. 2.

Seemingly intended to explain a table, part of which remains on the first page.

2. Directions "For to distroy a posteme,"* (beg. Take livirwort and an handfūl of barley,) with other remedies; including one "For the guote" or gout. p. 3—7.

* This title was superscribed by Peccham. At p. 4 it is said, "þe which medecyne was yhad at Oxyuford, of a worþi mastir of phisik."

(1.) Remedies "For þ^e fallynge of the mulde of the mowth.—For a saucefleme faee*.—For a faee þ^t semyth lyk a lipyr.—For rede pypmyllys in þ^e faee.—For blaynes in þ^e face.—For the flyxe.—For þ^e dropsy.—For syknes at þ^e hert," and "To make an entret to draw and hele." p. 6—8.

* The following is a copy of the prescription, which might have been useful to Chaucer's Somnour:—"Take the rote of þe rede docke and swynys gres and sethe theym in a panne with the rote of Elencaupana wyth cereos and camfere wyth brymstone, and bray alle thes in a mortar, and streyne theym and so anoynte yor face erly and late." (p. 7.) See also pp. 326—7, No. 1444, p. 131, 312; No. 1447, ii. p. 32, and vii. p. 46; No. 1450, f. 48^b, etc.

(2.) "A provyd and a swyr medicine for the gowte. Take a porcion of new groundyd mustard" etc. p. 9—10.

- (3.) "For the stone [and] the colyke, a provyd and swyr medyceyne, and hym þt maynot pyssse." p. 11.

Ending thus:—"for this is provyd for trowthy be one John Edward Brykyudynmaker The which Maister Geram the phizitione tawght hym in seynt Margettes in Lothbery."

3. "Here be gunnyth þt Woke of Astronomy and of Phylosophy, contrevyd and made of þe wysest Phylosophers and Astronomers þt evyr were sipe þe world was by gonne þt ys to sey of þe lond of Grece, for in þt lond an Englysch man ful wyse and wel undirstondyng of phylo[so]phy and astronomy stodiid and compylid þis boke oute of Grw into Englysch gracyusly. And first þis boke telliþ how many hevenys þer beþe aftirward he pronouncet und declariþ of þe cowrs and þe governeyle of ye planetys aftirward of þe synys and of þe sterris and of þe firmament aftirwarde of þe elementis þe complecions and þe maners of man wt oute whyche sciencie and knowlech no man may com to perfyte [p. 14] terryng of astronomy physik ne surgerye ne of none oþer sotel sciencie and þe kunnyng of þis boke." p. 13—81.

Ending thus, under the prognostications of Pisces:—"What woman yt is bore in þis signe schal be feyre [etc.]—sche schal lyve iii^{ix} se[re] and her gode dayes b[er] monday þursday and fryday and þe evil satyrday. The other copy of this popular old book, No. 189, i., ends abruptly (with these words peyne of hir eyen and) in this last paragraph, some leaves having been lost between ff. 63—64: it then begins again in the middle of an other part (or perhaps a separate tract,) on prognostications by the days of the moon's age; which is not contained in this MS. At p. 49 is noted by an old hand, "thys ys Ursula Pett forton" (fortune). Five blank pages follow, on which some former possessor has been learning to write the alphabet etc. (p. 83, 85.)

4. An "Herbarij, þe whiche ys draw out of þe nw *Circa Instans, and hyt towcheiþ schortlyche þe principal vertuys and þe special effectis of herbis and droggis þt be þe most comyne in use, and her dyvers grees of qualites or of her complecions and her propur and most special kynd of worcheyng;" or, a body of Materia Medica, in alphabetical order: beg. Absinthium wormewode a loyne symont hote and dry in the thirde degre and ys ful bittir etc. p. 87—190.

* See No. 1428, ii.

This title is taken from the rubric at the end of letter Z, where, after a long article on sugar (beg. Zuccara and zaccaria and zucarum and al ys sugir;) the book ends thus:—"Zyzanyu .i. rynerary aflir oþer cokkele vel zucarum þe floure and þe sed of tuseyne. Here endiþ this herbarij þe which ys [p. 190, etc. as above]—worcheyng. Amen."

At the end of every alphabetical division of this work is left a page or more, blank, for the purpose of inserting additional matter; as appears in the additions, by old hands, at p. 133, "A sovereyn medecyne for the totheake," and a remedy "For the blode flyxe" at p. 188. Other additions on the margins of the last mentioned leaf have been torn off, and the leaves paged 117 and 167 have suffered in like manner: little of the leaf paged 169 is left, and the following one is reduced to a mere fragment (containing the last page of S. and the first of T.) which is now restored to its proper place, having been paged by Ashmole '265.'

5. A curious Book of Medicine, now consisting of fifty-nine chapters, containing remedies for as many diseases: beg. "Fo[r] þe hedace. Hed ache Avicene and oþer doctors seyn gif hit be continual hit ys of þe hed selfe And yf yt be interpolat hit ys of þe stomak or of sum oþir membir of þe body be neþe þe hed." With a table of chapters prefixed. p. 191—2, 193—350.

The table contains 54 titles written in rubric, and by a different hand (Peccham's?) are added nine more titles with ink: but these chapters are lost, "For a quarten, 60. Etica fever, 61. The knowyng of þe etyke, 62. For swetyng." The work ends thus, at the fourth page of the 59th chapter, ("For þe feyrs")—"But in a cotidian seþe hem in scharp ale and let beteyne be doubelyd as planteyne... The concluding leaves have been lost; and a leaf has been lost between pp. 238—9; p. 247 also is torn.

This book contains the following curious Charms:—"This charme ys for þe mygreyne and for þe gowte and for þe felon and for þe topeache and for many oþer syknes," 205.—"Also this is empirik to pray devoutly or offir to seynt Blase or mesury by Goddis grace hit savih aman þat habe a bone or evil in his throte or þorn or eny yre in eny oþer lym of the body Also a gode man usid þis preyour for evelis in þe þrote and esyd many þer wt," 226.—"For þe spasme," the whole chapter is about MASTR HENRY ARBERNE'S charm, which is to be kept "for a j[e]wel," 276.—"To restreyne þe flux," 337.—"For alle fevers," p. 349. At p. 201 is given "A special medecyne for þe hed and of ft y provyd," with which it is said that a 'fycician' cured the Earl of Gloucester.

There are many additions made on the spaces left between the chapters of this book, as in the foregoing. These are principally by one RICHARD GAWEYN, viz. with his name at pp. 263, 305, 317, 318, 342; and without his name at pp. 201, 214, 295, 316. All chapter '46' "For epileuse" (epilepsy, including a charm,) was inserted by him, at p. 318; the 40th chapter, which bears that title ("Epileutica passio") in the index, being in the book intitled "For mannys yerd y swolle," p. 303, and the 46th having been omitted.

Additions and notes, by PECCHAM, are at pp. 218, 274, 332; by the same old hand as in the foregoing article, at pp. 224, 338—339; and by old Mr. NAPIER, at pp. 227, 250, 251.

6. "Incipit doctrina magistri JOHANNIS DE BURGUNDIA, alio nomine dicti Cum Barba, de preservacione regiminiis et cura contra epidimias et infirmitates pestilenciales, causatas seu significatas per conjunc[c]iones infra scriptas. Quoniam omnia inferiora tam elementa quam elementata a superioribus reguntur." p. 351—375.

In the preface he mentions two other tracts of his, beginning Deus Deorum, and Cum nimium propter instans tempus epidimiale (p. 353); and at the end of it is this rubric:—"Incipit tractatus de pestilencia secundum magistrum Johannem de Burgundia aliter C[um] Barba." At p. 358 is this English rubric inserted:—"Of what rwle a man schall be whan he ys in þe syknes." At p. 369, "Sequitur declaracio temporis mimucionis." It ends with this sentence:—"Non pro precio set pro precibus hoc egi, ut cum quis convalescit pro me orci amen."

7. An abstract or translation of the foregoing tract of master JOHN OF BURGUNDY, "For þe pestilens. Medecyne a genst sodeyne pestylens as phylosofers seyne bodies opon erþe by neþe beþe rwild and gendrid by bodyes above." p. 376—393.

This tract seems to be divided into two parts, at p. 387, beginning with these words, Pestylens that now reynyt com as clerkis seyn of astronomy of a conjuncion of Saturne ande [p. 388] Jupiter in the yere (etc.) 1340. It ends thus—"Wherfor y nevyd be preyer and compassion of man ys deth y made this tretis; and for eny thyng let blode by tyme for taryng makyt perell. Explicit iste tractatus Amen." A leaf has been lost between pp. 382—3.

8. A postscript to the foregoing tract: beg. Also sum men in Oweynford þt beth grect physicions ab- steynyd them selfe fro the tyme they were take from alle maner of mete by thre days, etc. p. 393—5.

Ending—for every evyl wt a man ys boby [sic] generall.

Five blank pages followed, which now contain a medical note by an old hand (p. 398), and the Index of the next article, written by Peccham.

9. A book of Surgery, originally consisting of '28' chapters, but now imperfect: beg. "For to stawanche blode. A surgyan is a worcher wip hande outcarde in manny's body pat may be seyen wip mannis eyen as woude and postemes felons fistilis ande kankres and suche opir, and first to stanche blode for pt most first be done. Ferst have be name of pe man or of pe woman pan go to chirche and sey pis charme" etc. p. 401—460.

The last rubric in this MS. is "For lyce" (ending—a goode small ovircast seme and sow pis . . .) which is the 22nd title in Peccham's Index at p. 399, thus "For lyce and nyttes—22." The last chapter was "For chyldryn—28." This part of the MS. is much torn and defaced.

No. 1444.

A quarto volume containing five old MSS. on paper, worn and defaced in many places; they are paged throughout by Ashmole, to the number of 390 pages; also one printed book, of 5½ sheets. The first MS. consists of 43 leaves, written in a common hand of the XVth century, with red capitals; except the five last leaves, which were filled up by later hands of the same century.

- I. I. RAYMUNDI LULLII libellus de 'medicinæ artis occultis,' ac de compositione virtutibusque aquæ vitæ, et aliarum aquarum: inc. Cum ego Raymondus dudum Ellerde episcopus rogatus a quibusdam caris amicis. p. 1—16.

In fine—"quicquid hec medicina non curat nunquam curatur. Explicit secreta Raimundi et aliorum medicorum probata."

2. Vocabularium herbarum, et materiæ medicæ, ordine alphabetico, cum nominibus Anglice explicatis: inc. Arthemisia ut infra. in ar. in he. et ma. Ance mugworte. p. 19—39.

Written in columns, and ending thus:—"Zucarium vel zucara dicitur duplex. citrina et alba set alba est melior citrina est calidior et alba est temperata. Ance sugre. Explicit."

3. "Here men may se the vertu of dyverse herbes, and what thei be, and whiche ben hote and which ben colde. And for howgh many thynges they ben goode. The fyveleved grasse. Gabyan seithe pat the fyveleved grasse is colde and drye in 2. thinges." p. 40—54.

The 27th title is "Calamynte," in the fifth line of which this copy ends abruptly (whan a man is hurte and wounded . . .); the next leaf being lost.

4. "Hic incipit Inspectio Urinarum. Urina rufa significat salutem et bonam dissolucionem corporis humani.*" p. 55—9.

* Sic pro dispositionem. In fine—"expulcio materie est signum mortis. Explicit."

On the back of this leaf is written invertedly, in a rude hand, almost as old as the MS., the draught of—

A letter to one Thomas Jentte, about a 'bargyn made betwene master Veccare and me.' p. 60.

Also the name of "John Grene of Stowmarket" twice.

5. A tract concerning the four humors: beg. Hitte is to undrestonde that man is maade of viij elementes And every man hathe viij humores like unto the viij elementis. p. 61—7.

Ending—"Flewme is colde and moiste, and so is that partie of the daie. Explicit."

6. "Here begynnithe a solempne doctrine and oponlie proved, made for trewe med[i]cyne for the pestilence, by maister JOH'N DE BURGEYNE, oþerwise called La Barbe, whiche bi the grace of almyghti Godde certeynlye curithe and helpithe the seke yf thei use this medicyne as it is here after more openlye declared. Firste ye shalle undirstonde that this seid tretyse compiled and stodielle bi the seide maister Joh'n de Burgeyne, processoure of phisik and of surgerye, citesein of Legez the yere [etc. 1365] is departed unto your more undirstondynge in to viij chaptres." 67—76.

This is an abstract only, (compare No. 1443, artt. 6, 7,) ending thus:—"God almyghty whiche is soverayne surgeon, phisician and leche above alle erthelye leches and maistres or medicynes, to whom I beseke it so to be Amen. Explicit."

- (1.) Remedy "For to kepe a man or . . . —For a webbe in a manny's yee.—A medicyne for yerys that bene stoppyd, and for them that may nott here.—A medicyne to do awaye the brekyng owt of a manny's face that ys sawse[f]lymme and the redenes þ^{er} off.—A medicyne for to know wheder a man schalle lyve or dye." p. 77—78.

- (2.) "For to do awaye ache in bonys or the gowte." p. 78.

- (3.) Prognostications by the moon's age: beg. "Jh'u.* Prima dies Lune. Prima dies to be gyne good werkes Item and þu ta" p. 79—84.

* Every page is headed with this name. Ending—þe xxx day ys goode to see chelder to scole [etc.] —schalle be hote be þe grace of God. prob. est.

- (4.) "A medicyne for to k. mane schalle lyewe" p. 85.

Seemingly copied from p. 78, by one (John Grene?) who wrote four impudent lines on the back of the leaf. (p. 86.)

- II. An ancient book of Remedies; imperfect at both ends, (pp. 87—112); some principal contents of which are—

"For to drawe out a thorne or yorne, a plature." 88.

"For ache of hede yat lastith longe," five remedies. 89.

Six questiones: inc. Quis fuit natus et non mortuus? Helias. 90.

"For wepyng yene." 90.

"For lesing off speche in sekenes." 93.

"For a rancull of a manny's body wt inne." 94.

"For angnaille.—Probat' per pelliparium North." 100.

"For hede ache per M' DEPDENE:"—

"Take rose water vyngere and comyne stampide, make a plaister, lay that to thi fore hede and templis." p. 105.

"For prikkyng of a cokkes spore." 105.

"A charme for the tothe ache." 106.

The first page of this MS. is almost illegible; and the last is little better. There is a leaf of this MS. in No. 1432, i. pp. 15, 16.

III. 1. An antient collection of Remedies, etc., some in English, and some in Latin. p. 111—8.

The principal contents are—

"Ad omnia vulnera sitosananda" (sic). 111.

"For to make bragot. Tak iij galons of ale." 111.

"Optima medicina pro gutta frigida," magistri J. GATYSDENE, "in libro suo qui vocatur Rosa Medicinæ." 112.

"Ad extrabendum dentes sine ferro." 113.

"Contra antracem .i. An^{ce} le felon, maturacio et ruptorium." 114.

"Pro idropico," a charm in English. 114.

Conjuratio prolixa, contra 'guttam siccam maledictam, et dæmonem doloris e gutta:' inc. In nomine patris. 115—7.

Versus octo "Pro homine vulnerato [curando.] Hoc olus urtica." 117.

"To mak a restawratyf." 117.

Pp. 185—192 seem formerly to have followed here; but not immediately, as this article ends abruptly in a direction "For to stawch of be blod flyx."

2. An antient book of Remedies, imperfect at the beginning: thus "ley yi plaster yer to oft and hit schal be hole. Anoyer. Tak ye juys of blakberys or chemels and anoynt yi hede yer wt oft. Anoyer. Tak good grece*" etc. p. 119—161.

* This word another is repeated nine times before the next title appears, which is "For to mak here groue and wax. Tak wyly levys." The next are—"For to don here away.—Experimentum ad oriendum capillos." (Also "For to mak here lyché gold," and to make it red or black.)—"For man yt is wode" (mad). The numerous remedies in this book, are not in separate paragraphs, (as in the foregoing article, and most of these old MSS.) but are grouped many together under one title: some of them are very curious, and many Charms occur. The last sentence is "Anoyer for alle gowtes. Tak ye galle of aswyne fresche slayne and anoynt yer wt ye gowet it is ye best medecyn yer of." Additions are at the foot of pp. 134, 139, 154: see also p. 163.

3. A tract on the stanching of blood in phlebotomy, with charms: beg. "Ye maner to be laten blode is yis ye sangwyne and ye fleumatyk schal be laten blode at undornone of ye day, and ye colerene at ye midday and malencolye at none of ye day or soyn after: bot lok yt he kepe hym welle frome surfayte and lok yt he ete non egges ne chese ne frote ne myche thoght have and kep hym fro fire." p. 161—3.

This is written with red underlines as a title: but the tract begins thus:—"For bolnyng after bloyde of ye lytylle vayne. Tak flowre of whete." After this sentence—And wryte in myddes his front yes wordes + berenox and if it be a woman berenoxa,—follows a paragraph, which seems to belong to this tract, intitled—"For to wete wheyer wounded man schall lefe or dye. Tak betoyne." The eighth method ends—he schalle lyfe. &c. An addition of eight lines follows at the foot of the page.

4. (i.) "Here begynnys y^t maner to lett make entretes and drynkes and sproppes tyllé wolondis and to oyer hortcs of manys body. Fyrste for wounde in ye hevyd. Tak betoyne and stamp it wt old grece." p. 163—170.

Ending with five lines of Latin, under the title "Anoyer for to sle ye kankre," thus—"et precipue contra canerum in ore vel labiis. Explicit liber primus."

(ii.) "Here begynnys medecyne y^t goyde leches have made and drawenc otw of her bokys. Galyene and Asclipeus and Ipocras were ye best leches y^t ever was in ye world. For alle maner of sores woundus apostumes cankres gowt festres felons and for sodayn sores y^t comen on a manne and for to do wormes and frentykyls and rede blaynes on face and sawceflemy and for alle maner of evyls on ye body wt in and wt owten, medecyns provyd shalle ze fynde in yis boke on Ynglyche. ¶ For skalled hedes. Tak pyk and wax and melt to geyer." p. 170—179*—180†—181‡—4.

* This title—"Here begynnys medecyns for wounde of ye hede and of ye body and for hurtyng wt owte wounde and for swelling of strokes." etc.

† "Here are goyd medecyns for woundes and for sores."

‡ "Here begynnys ye makyng of salves and tretes and oymntes goyd and trewe wt owte fayle." The last heading is "F[or t]o m[ak] unguentum geneste." But this part of the page is almost obliterated; and after the fifth line "Explicit liber secundus."

(iii.) An epilogue, in verse. (32 lines.) p. 184.

Beginning and ending thus—

"Ye man yt wylle of lechecraft lere
Rede over yis boke and he may here
Many a medecyne bothe goyd and trew
Tylle hele sores bothe olde and new

Cryst yt mad est and west
Lene grace her sawles haf goyd rest
Evermore in hevyn to be
In joy wt ye trynyste.
A M E N.

The four remaining leaves of this MS. are decayed and mutilated at the top: they seem to have belonged to the first part of the book, and contain—

5. A continuation of the collection of old Remedies, in English and in Latin. p. 185—6.

The first is for the 'kankre': imperfect: then follow nine in Latin, each beginning with the word Contra. The two following articles are part of this collection.

"For to make gyngge[r] brede. Tak half a quart of faire hony." p. 185—6.

"To make ye grete sane. Tak bugle pigille sanygre." p. 186.

6. "De colleccione herbarum. Quantum vero ad tempus colleccionis medicinarum simplicium est sciendum." p. 186—8.

Des.—fere debet inponere flores &c.

7. "Here begynnys Curpe on Englysche, bothe of flesche and of fysche. At ye fyrst begynnynq. Furmenty wt venesone. Tak clene qwete and bray it in a mortar." p. 190—2.

The next titles are "Swannes,—Hayrons,—Pecokes and partriches;" and the last words of this fragment are—"Haddok in cyne. schal be"..... It is different from the book at No. 1439; but agrees more with the MS. published by Dr. Pegge, at the end of Mr. Brander's Roll, in his 'Forme of Cury,' (pp. 91—122), intitled—'Hic incipiunt universa servicia, tam de carnisbus quam de piscibus.' This MS. is of the latter part of the XIVth century, closely written, and having large red capitals.

IV. A collection of Remedies for divers hurts and diseases, receipts for the compounding of special Medicines, directions for Angling, receipts in Cookery and Confectionary, cures for the diseases of Horses, etc. pp. 193—304.

This MS. seems to have been written at various times, in the former part of the XVIth century: it is much worn (and perhaps imperfect) at both ends. The most remarkable contents appear to be the following:—

"The making of oyle of Exeter for the palsey. Tak rosmary." p. 194.

"To shet a sword or a knyffe," or fix it in a handle. p. 196.

"To make conserva ros." p. 197.

How to fish "For þe carp,—for the breme,—for the tenche,—for the perche,—for þe roche,—for the dase,—for a peke,—The maner of anglyng [for the pike] is this.—Another for þe same.—To knowe to kepe youre baytes.—These be baytes to lest overyere.—For the dase and the roche.—For to take fyshe wt handys.—Iff þer be eny pyckes in a poole þt be wont to be fedde.—These be the baytes to last alle the yere.—For the perche." p. 201—7.

Part of "The tretys of nryns. Ther be xx. dyvers colours." p. 219, 226—7.

"To make damaske water. Take ros and lavendre." p. 234.

"This is very speyalle for yche, ryngworme or tetter." p. 234.

"For ye man wolffe. Youe shalle sone know when he growthe in ony member." p. 247.

"Hecter vel claretum usuale," quibus modis fit. p. 259.

"The making of ypcras, as yt is used at London.—The making of ypcras, bracket and clarye." p. 259.

"To make good inke.—To make red wex good and fyne.—To make whyght wex wch ys called of the pottycaryes propopulus." p. 260.

"To cure the windgalles of a horse" *etc. p. 270—1.

"To make damysyns in syrrop.—To make oyle of nottes.—To make whyte leche" etc. p. 272.

"To make walnottes in syrrop." p. 273—4, 277.

"To make red manus Christi." p. 274.

"Aromaticum rosarum in losenges." p. 274.

"To make ipocras of pomgarnades for them that be in a hot cause." p. 275.

"Conserva borage.—Conserva crabbes.—To claryfy hony." p. 275.

"To make conserva quynsz." p. 276.

"To make Inglyssh tryacle better then youe can bye.—To mak tryacle of earbes." p. 277.

"To make marmelade." p. 278.

"To make syrrop of orrynges," also "of vyletes or myntes and of alle other flowres." p. 278—9.

"To make alle maner of oyles of earbes and flowres." p. 279.

"A braket wt ale and spices, devysed by ye Kynges grandom.† R' maces and cloves an^a to grot wyght." p. 281.

"For ye mangye in a horse," and fifteen other remedies for horses; one of which is "John Breton's medsyn for a hors yt ys hurt in ye hooft wth stub or elles." p. 300—3.

At p. 300 is a curious copy of the Alphabet set for learning to write.

Two insertions by a later hand are at pp. 282, 297.

V. A book of common old Remedies for various diseases, with some receipts of Confectionary; in two parts. pp. 305—372, 373—390.

Being written by two distinct hands, about the time of Queen Elizabeth: the second part is close and neat. Both parts appear to have been copied from some other book, and not to have been collected at different times. The following titles alone appear to be worthy of notice.

* These five receipts are by a later hand of the same century.

† Margaret Countess of Richmond?

"A medison for the plage wch the Kinges grace sent my lord Mayer of London. Take a handfull of sadge." p. 332.

"To make sweet sope." p. 344.

"To make a quamy Rabeles*, it is a presious water, as hear after followethe." p. 355.

"To make scrope of grapes,—conserve of barberies,—a tarte of egges,—marmelade,—quodeneke of quinces,—bisket,—a pretie dishe." p. 359—361.

"A speciall ointment, the oille of swallowes." p. 380.

"To make almond milke.—To preserve damsons.—To make syrrop of quinces," and other preserves, also "To make clouted creame of the best facion," and "conserva of damson." p. 387—90.

On pp. 390, the vacant pages 384—2, and in other places, are rudely written accounts of corn and cattle, and other memoranda, by a contemporary hand.

VI. Sir RICHARD NAPIER'S Latin prescriptions for the plague, and other marginal notes, on a printed book, intitled—

"Certain necessary directions, as well for the cure of the Plague, as for preventing the infection: with many easie medicines of small charge, very profitable to his majesties subjects. Set down by the College of Physicians. By the King's majesties speciall command." (London, 1665, 4to. pp. 35.) p. 394, and pp. 7—13, 21, 35.

No. 1445.

A quarto volume, consisting of seven old MSS. on paper, bound together, and divided (except the fifth) by leaves of modern paper; also a collection of smaller MSS. of Ashmole's own time, forming the eighth part of the volume.

The first MS. now consists of 64 leaves, the principal contents of which were separately foliated by the old hand; whereby it appears that ff. '4', '6' and '23' of the first article are lost, and ff. '1—5' misplaced. It is written in a small secretary-hand of Queen Elizabeth's time; and discolored throughout with moisture.

I. 1. Ripley's Compend of Alchemy, or "The Compounde of GEORGE RIPLE," in twelve 'gates,' with the prologue (beg. O onorable lord and most victorios knight), the "Recapitulacione" and the "Admonycion." (ff. '36'.) f. 33—36^a, 1—29^b.

The first page of the MS., as it now stands, begins with stanza '3' of the first gate "Callinacion,"—For by such calcinges her bodies byn shent. It ends thus at f. 26,—For wise men saye store is no sore. Finis. Here endith the xij. gates, and here folowith the Recapitulacione." The last line is—"Within his kingdom he graunt us to se. Amen." Printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 109—193.

2. "Celum Philosophorum;" a scheme of the planetary orbs, and the twelve signs, with alchemical verses and mottos in and about the circles. (f. 37.) f. 30^a.

The following stanza occupies the foot of the page:—

"Oure heaven this figure called is Oure table also of the lower astronomie †
Wch understand thou may no mysse
To make our medecyne perficlye
On hitt therefore thou sett thie studie
And unto God both nyght and daye
For grace and for thine Author praye."

* Aqua mirabilis is here meant.

Description of the orbs or spheres: beg. "Sphera Solis. The spere of the son wch is father of the stone." (f. 37^b—8.) 30^b—1^b.

Ending under "Centrum"—"in the myddle of the spere. Finis." This last word was added by a different hand (as it seems), which wrote the following—

Repetition of "The wordes of y^e first sphere. West. Here the Redman and his whytte wiffe." (4 couplets.) 31^b.

3. "Here beginithe the Vade Mecum of the venerable RAYMUNDE LULLY, a compende of the arte. The teyncture of the fier is better than all tincturs." (ff. '9'.) 37—45.

Ending—"by y^e st[r]engthe of his proper nature &e' Fyns."

4. A tract on "Menstrues," collected from Lully and others: beg. "Anima transmu[rationis]. First therefore most famous prince, know yt water of our stone." 45—7^b.

Ending thus (f. '11')—"Ripley. Also Ripley spekith of iij menstrues—and borne up with the wynde or aier. Finis."

5. "The worke of SENIOR MIRERIS. Whan thou demandist what is ye phors stone I do answer and saye yt is a stone and no stone." (f. '1' etc.) 48^b—9^b.

Ending—"shall never nede strang helpe.

"Now beginnyth the documentes of MIRERYS. Sone know yt I have wrytyn this booke." 49^b—52^b.

Ending—"or ells cease of thie worke as vayne. Finis."

6. "The Newe Light [of ARNOLD DE VILLA NOVA.] Father and reverent lorde although I be ignorant in lyberall sciencis." 52^b—58^b.

Ending thus (f. '11')—"wch unknowne, he yt hathe the elixer cannot proffyte of the same. The conclusion of all the epistle." Compare No. 1442, i. art. 3.

7. "Of the fowre mast[ry]es of this arte, seilicet solucion and congelacion, albificacion and rubificacion. And at ye begynnynge to speke of the gret mastery yt they call alkemy." (ff. '5'.) 60—4^b.

Ending with three lines only under the title "Of the nature and begynnyng of y^e stone." The last leaf is damaged, and it seems that a leaf or leaves must have been lost.

The second MS. was written about the time of Elizabeth or James I., and contains 96 pages, beside one leaf at the beginning, and one blank leaf between pp. 44—5, and two between 83—4.

II. NORTONI prologus, inc. Liber iste clericis monstrat s[c]ientiam. (10 tetrastichis.) f. 1^b.

Printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 2, 4.

"GUALTERI HADDONI carmen, in laudem Tho: Nortoni." (8 vv.) ib.

Hence copied by Ashmole, in No. 971, art. 6. See also No. 1478, i. art. (1).

"Sir THOMAS NORTON'S Ordinal [of Alchemy.] Prohemium. To the honor of Godd oen in parsons thrc." pp. 1—4, 7—96.

Ending—"This worke bygan, honor to Gode in heaven. Explicit." The leaf paged 4—5, containing the conclusion of the prohemium, is lost; and an unpagged leaf there, contains a minute description of the MS. from which this copy was taken; it had belonged to "Miles Blomefeld," (see MS. v.) who had written his name on a scroll, over the beginning of every chapter, and inserted his initials in various places. Over against p. 82 are drawn four horoscopes, and four more were designed to precede p. 84: at p. 92, are colored figures of three furnaces. This poem is printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, as is mentioned in the note on Dr. Dee's copy, No. 57.

The third MS. consists of two papers;—two leaves, in a Dutch hand of the XVIth century, and four leaves, in an Italic hand of the same age; both apparently by the same person.

III. 1. "Practica GILBERTI. Supplico diligenter quatenus hunc processum secreto velit habere." Partim Latine, partim Teutonice. f. 1—2.

2. "Compositio elix'. Make thow first a stroung corrosive water." f. 3^{ab}.

3. "The true working by Mercury. Take ye ye most grenc vitrioll." f. 3^b—4.

4. "The most easye worke. Take fyne grenc vitrioll and grinde it smalc." f. 4^b.

Ending—"wch shall verely turne ♀ to true and perfitt ☉ and ☽. Finis."

5. "Fixatio lune. R' salis arci preparati." f. 6^b.

The fourth MS. consists of only 6 leaves, written about the time of Queen Elizabeth, in a coarse hand: the last leaf is torn, and vacant except these lines:—

"Hee that money never had Blame him not though hee bee pore
For to much money will make a man mad
But wee will take a corse therefore." f. 6^b.

IV. "The Goulden Booke of ROGER BACON, of those things where on we werke in y^e worke of sublimation. Chap. 1. Alchamy. There is a science teching a certayne meen to chang metalls into soil and lune." f. 1—5^b.

Ending—"and for these werkes sek in Avicen and the book of perfite mastery. This Goulden Book is non of Gibers worke."

The fifth MS. consists of 22 leaves, written (except the last) about the time of James I. in a common hand.

V. 1. "BLOMFEILDES Blossoms:" an alchemical poem in two books: beg. "1. When Phæbus was entred the signe of the ramme." (40 and 42 st. of 7.) f. 1—7^b.

Ending—"Altissimo Deo sit honor et gloria amen. The author is called 'William Bloomfield' by Ashmole, (in whose Theatrum, pp. 305—323, the poem is printed,) on the authority of a MS. which refutes the conjecture made by the writer of the second MS. in this volume, that he was the 'Miles Blomefeld' there mentioned.

2. "The best ferment of RAYMOND LULLYE. Take fyne gould." f. 7^b.

3. Alchemical verses: beg. Of many aughtors you may see, Totum consistit in ignis regimine. (12 couplets.) f. 8.

Ending with this incomplete line—"To fynde out sutche fyer. Finis."

4. The poem called "Pater Sapientiae. 1. Thou that this boke beginnest to reade." (120 st. of 4.) f. 8^b—14.

Printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 194—209, under the title of "Liber Patris Sapientiae." Ending "Then goe and seeke further as other fooles have done. Finis" (five times repeated).

5. The Vision of JOHANNES DAUSTIAN. 1. Not full sleeping nor yett full wakinge." (46 st. of 8.) f. 14^b—19.

Ending—"With a mantle of everlasting whytenesse. Finis." Printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 257—268, under the title of "The Worke of John Dastin:" but its common name is 'Dastin's Dream.'

6. Verses on the red and the white elixir: beg. The ayerye bloud of the buryall red, Distilled by limbeck till it be brighte. (5 st. of 8, and 1 of 6.) f. 19^{ab}.

Printed among the 'Anonymi' in Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 362—3. See also No. 208, f. 102^b, and No. 1485, iii. art. 9. Here the last line is—"And here endeth all our philosophie. Finis. Finis. Finis."

7. "ELIXER ARNOLDI DE VILLA NOVA. Take carthe of earthes and earthes brother." (89 lines.) f. 19^b—20^b.

The last line is—"But take thy beades and goe praye." This is part of "Pearce the Black Monk upon the Elixir," in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 269: but in this MS. a different old hand ignorantly altered the tide, given above, to "Galfridus Chawcer his worke."

8. "A practike. In arsuike sublimed a waye there is straighte." (18 lines.) f. 20^b.

Ending—"The longer it is ere that you do meete. Altered, by a different hand, to—you meetten."

9. The verses 'I am Mercury the mighty flos florum,' with these introductory lines—

"All you that fayne would be speade
Listen to my gentle dawghter Meg.
For she shall tell the truthe and righte
Harken now wth all your mighte.
And heere my dawghter how she shall thee learne.

I am ♀ ij ye mightiest flos florum" etc. (46 lines.) f. 21^{ab}

Ending "blessed be almighty God of heaven. And of this medicen [etc. 5 lines of prose.] Laus Deo." See No. 1441, ii. artt. 5, 7; and part viii. f. 21 of this volume.

The sixth MS. consists of 21 leaves, written partly by the hand which resembles Ashmole's, but probably was that of his Father Backhouse (compare No. 58, No. 1415, etc.) and partly in Ashmole's running hand. The first leaf is damaged by damp.

- VI. 1. Dedication of the following work, "To the most mighty and most gracious princesse, lady Elizabeth, by the grace of God, Queene of England" (etc.) beg. May itt please your highnes soveraigne lady queene, (25 couplets,) subscribed "EDWARD CRADOCKE," pp. 1—2.

Other verses, beg. In citty towne and village God you blesse. (4 couplets.) p. 2—3.

- "A treatise, in English verse, upon y^e philosophers stone, written by EDWARD CRADOCKE, Doctor and publique Reader of Divinity in y^e University of Oxford. Of this our stone wch many take in hand." p. 3—23.

The first 10 lines are given by Dr. Bliss, in Wood's Athenæ, (4to. ed.) I. 633. See also Tanner's Bibliotheca, p. 226.

"A conclusion wth an exhortation upon occasion of y^e premisses. Who shootes att the world, the world will him beguile." (27 couplets.) p. 23—5.

Ending—"Thy name be prayed and thus I end my speech. Amen quoth D. E. Cradocke." The last 14 lines are given in the Athenæ (ib. 633—4) from this MS. See No. 1415, art. 5, for the Latin part of the work; and No. 1408, i. art. 6.

2. "The argument betweene Morien the father and Merlin the sonne, how the philosophers stone should be wrought. (Son.) As the child Merlin sat on hys fathers knee, Blesse me, father, he said, for love and charitie." f. 14—21.

Ending—"Of alle other beast he ys most emperiall. This poem is not in Ashmole's Theatrum, being altogether different from the Dialogue between the Father and Son, at p. 365. Ashmole must therefore have procured it after his publication: and he hath noted on the first page "Merlyn was before Moryen, 100 yeares." See the notes on No. 1416, art. 7.

The seventh MS. is written by the aforementioned hand, supposed to be Backhouse's; and is corrected here and there by Ashmole: it contains 134 pages, beside 2 blank leaves at the beginning and 3 at the end. On the first leaf Ashmole hath put this title, "NOWELL'S Bosome Booke."

- VII. 1. "The Author to the reader. Thou maist perchance wch readest this booke and authour knowest before." (50 lines.) Subscribed "ED: NOWELL." p. 1—2.

The Author's address "To the well-willers of this arte. This little booke which here I doe imparte." (40 lines.) p. 3—4.

A third address, "To the deriders of alchimy. What follies oft consist in learned men." (71 lines.) p. 5—7.

- (1.) "THOMAS CALCOTE gentleman, in praise of the Author. The duskie oake and golden boughes foretold." (9 st. of 6.) p. 8—10.
(2.) "George Brooke gentl: in prayse of the Author. Sol never dived into faire Thetis bedd." (2 st. of 7.) p. 11.
(3.) "G: B: gent: in prayse of the Authour. I will not praise that workeman whose due art." A sonnet. p. 12.

At the foot is this line, "Noe-ill to yee soe doth thy name presage &c." seemingly taken by Ashmole from an other copy.

"A Dreame," or a discourse between a Diseiple, Reason, and Knowledge, concerning the secrets of Nature, and the philosopher's stone: a poem, beg. Walking for my repose abroad to take the pleasing aire." p. 13—68.

Ending thus—"All colors in 3 howers more, then white or red full cleere. Finis." Nowell's Dream, being omitted in Ashmole's Theatrum, was defended by Engler, in his third epistle to Ashmole, No. 1446, f. 213^b.

2. "The preface to the reader. When novelties or strange events ensue." (21 st. of 6.) p. 69—74.

"The Author to y^e reader. Here gentle reader on thee I bestowe." (16 lines.) p. 75.

"The Author's Will and Testament. If from this life of breath I thee bereaved." (3 st. of 6.) p. 76.

“The Authour to all the faithfull sonnes of philosophy. I writte to such as have desirc to see.” (52 lines.) p. 77—9.

“Certeine chimyccall workes, wth y^e true practise, gathered unto a true method, and turned into verse, [by EDWARD NOWELL.] Prima materia wch many of can clatter.” (22 st. of 6.) p. 81—88.

Ending—“Wch king philosophers have honoured. Finis per Edwardum Nowell.” The following articles probably belong to this poem.

3. The process of making the philosopher’s stone, described: beg. From natures foure united into one. (70 lines.) p. 89, 91—3.

Subscribed as the foregoing.

4. “A short worke. By long concoction of our watry stone.” (38 lines.) p. 94—5.

5. “Another worke of y^e whole magistry. Whoe soe intendith our rich stone to make.” (24 lines.) p. 96.

Ending—“For white or red elixir have you sure. Finis.”

6. “The heaven of the Philosophers. Our heaven yeildeth to each growcing thing.” (15 st. of 6.) p. 97—8, 100—1.

7. “This is alsoe worthy to be noted. First putrefy thy clements together.” (6 st. of 6.) p. 103—4.

8. “Another. This fontaine redd of life originall.” (21 st. of 6.) p. 105—110.

Ending—“Wch health and wealth unto o^r state will bring. Finis.”

9. “Emanuel. Behold y^e thing wch quietts every minde.” (28 lines.) p. 111.

This, and the seven next articles, are severally subscribed ‘Finis.’

10. Verses to the reader: beg. If this my verse be darke unto thy sight. (14 lines.) p. 112.

11. The stone speaking: beg. Of white and redd first was I bred, and menstree did me feed. (34 long lines.) p. 113—4.

12. “An accurtation. Our golden tincture springs from bodies foure.” (44 lines.) p. 115—6.

13. “A profittable treatise of true principles. Wise Geber, Hermes, Raymond, and y^e rest.” (29 st. of 6.) p. 117—124.

14. “A discripcōn of the stone. Though Daphne fly from Phœbus bright.” (5 st. of 4.) p. 125.

Hence “Printed in Theatr. Chemicum pag: 420,” as Ashmole himself notes here.

15. Eight stanzas (of 6), beg. Wyse men well read seeke in this latter age. p. 127—8.

16. “Carmina Lapida of an old coppie. The world is in a maze, and wott you why?” (38 lines.) p. 129—130.

Subscribed with this note by Ashmole:—“Printed in my Theatrum Chemicum, pag: 363.” It hath no title in his printed copy.

17. Other alchemical verses: beg. The Ademicall matter me may understand to bee. (45 lines.) p. 131—2.

Ending—Till they calcyned be to dust wth simple spiritt prepared.

18. “A declaracōn of the first matter mentioned, with y^e order of the worke: the name of the Author, his dwelling, and profession.* Euen as the rocke wch binds this sollyd earth.” (6 st. of 6.) p. 133—4.

* These are to be read acrostichally, and then taken in connexion with the three last lines, thus:—

EDWARD NOWELL, OF STAFFORD, EYRENMUNGIR;

“By gaines of metall all my livinge is;
And creditt me, if that thou be of skill,
Thou wilt in love requite my great good will.”

The remainder of this volume consists of small MSS. and papers, in quarto, all written by ASHMOLE, except where otherwise stated: they are now foliated together, but distinguished by letters of the alphabet.

VIII. (A). “Cantilena GEORGI RIPLEI. 1. En philosophantium in hac cantilena.” (38 tetrastichis.) With a translation, in the same number of stanzas, by Sir GEORGE WHARTON,* beg. “George Ripley’s song. Behold! and in this cantilena see, The hidden secrets of philosophy.” ff. 2^b—12^a.

* All fairly written by his hand; and the translation, which is written in opposite pages, is corrected in many places by him. Some of the marginal notes are in Ashmole’s short-hand.

(B). An imperfect alchemical poem, beg. I haveinge experience of things worldly. (37 st. of 7.) f. 13—17^b.

Ending thus, in the fifth line of a stanza,—Yett we joyne together that both we hitt the pinn. (See also No. 1487, f. 68—71.) It is in the handwriting, supposed to be that of Backhouse: three vacant leaves follow.

(C): 1. The praise of ☿: beg. I am Mercury y^e mightiest flos florum. (102 lines.) f. 21—2^b.

Ending—Unto all mettalls as precious and sweete as gould. See part v. art. 9. of this volume.

2. An alchemical fragment, in prose: beg.—Stone so myckle of vertew. The fadre of thys seyence or scrypture was wythourten teching of erly cleray, not knowyme to hym iij lettyrs of hys A: B: C: f. 23—4^b.

Ending with three lines, after a charm of half a page,—stlybe into thy vessell. Many words and phrases have been (for secrecy) cut out of the leaves, by Ashmole, leaving this fragment still more mutilated: it is a transcript by his own hand.

(D). 1. English verses, thus headed: “Non potest mens intellectualis, sempiternæ fruitionis habere consortium, si aut cognitio fuerit sine amore, aut amor sine cognitione. The honoble rayes wch rest wth in your face.” (13 st. of 4.) f. 25—6.

Written either by Backhouse or by Ashmole; and, by the latter, thus subscribed:—“These verses followed the short tract intituled De lapide philosophico, quas condiciones habet, et per quæ signa cognosci possit. and written wth the same hand: but whether it belonged thereto, I am not satisfied.”

2. Verses of PEARCE the Black Monk, upon the elixir: beg. Make earth of earth, earths owne brother, And ye water of earth wch is an other. (70 lines.) f. 26^b—8.

This seems to be the copy which supplied the variations, noted by Ashmole, on the margins of his Theatrum, (No. 972,) p. 269—274. It ends thus—“To helpe us in our necessity. Laus Deo. Τελος.” He hath underwritten these two old lines:—

“If at ye begining you have not so much as will into a spoone, Yt wyll stand them in stede untyll the world were doone.”

(E). “THOMAS CHARNOCKS Breviary. The seawenth and last chapter. I cannot refraine my pen any while.” (214 lines.) f. 29—32.

‘The Breviary of Naturall Philosophy,’ as published in Ashmole’s Theatrum, pp. 291—303, consists of only six chapters. Whether this be genuine or not, may therefore be a question. It is, however, very curious: and this is a fair transcript, in a hand resembling Sir George Wharton’s.

(F). “CHARNOCKE his true similitude. Know ye well yt when fire” &c. with verses and curious scraps, dated 1562, and 1572, copied from Char- nocke’s writing. f. 33—4^b.

Different from the ‘Fragments’ published in Ashmole’s Theatrum, p. 424 etc.

(G). “Other noates collected from THO: CHARNOCKS owne hand writing;” both in prose and in verse, dated in 1563, 1566, and 1579. f. 37—39.

Compare the ‘Fragments’ above mentioned; also No. 1441, ii. Ashmole has copied the eight lines xx. yeares truely I practysed this science, (subscribed “quoth Charnocke”) also in his interleaved Theatrum, No. 972, f. 275^b, with more of the same kind.

(H). “Cantilena GEORGH RIPLEY de lapide philosophorum, seu de Phœnice,” Anglice reddita: inc. “I. Loe in this song with harmony.” (38 st. of 4; pp. 7.) f. 41—44.

Ending—His fertile and sweet fruits. Amen. Then follow two sentences in Latin, and a note, by Ashmole, that “Ripleyes 12 Gates [were] written 1470.” This translation is older than Sir G. Wharton’s, mentioned under (A), and the handwriting seems to be earlier than Ashmole’s time.

(I). 1. Alchemical verses, beg. Take heavy soft cold and dry. (98 lines.) f. 45—6^b.

Ending—“There is the dialem of our craft. Take earth of earth, and earths brother &c:” with the following note by Ashmole, “These verses are sett before Peirce the Black Monke, as if they were parte of them;” the last line here being the first of his verses; see ff. 26^b, 49. This transcript appears to have been made (as also the next one) from a MS. belonging to “Dr Flood,” whose name, with a note in shorthand, is prefixed to each; and the present article has been collated by Ashmole, with another MS.

2. Other alchemical verses, beg. Now shall I here bengin, To teach thee now a conclusion. (106 lines.) f. 47—8^b.

Printed foremost among the anonymous pieces, in Ashmole’s Theatrum, p. 344—7. This copy ends—“The blessing of heaven God bring us to. Amen. Finis.” Ashmole adds, “Y^s is written before in ye booke where ye verses of Lunary are written:” see his Theatrum, p. 343.

3. Verses intitled “Piearcie the Black Monke upon y^e elixir. Seene of many, but knowne to a few.

Take earth of earth, earths brother.” (56 lines.) f. 49—50.

Ending—The truth here is tould you ever each one. Ashmole hath printed this poem, to the extent of 192 lines in his Theatrum, pp. 269—274: but this copy, having been made from several MSS. collated together, consists of the foregoing portion, and the following pieces, found connected with it. The variations are numerous.

All yee y^t have sought many a day. (8 lines.) f. 50.

The fifth line is the beginning of the last article in MS. v. of this volume, And he y^t now faire would be sped.

I am Mercury the mighty flower, I am most worthy of honour. (18 lines.) f. 50.

Ending—And a sulphur head y^t is right.

Of my daughter wth out any dread. (34 lines.) f. 50^b—1.

Ending—For it is made most perfectly.

Gold that cometh of y^e ore is nourished by sulferhood. (14 lines.) f. 51.

Ending—That they should beare any such fruite.

All salts and sulphures fur and necre. (28 lines.) f. 51^b—2.

Ending—To doe God worpp wth almes deede.

In arsenicke sublimed there is a way straight. (30 lines.) f. 52.

Ending—“Now have you heard the making of or stone, The beginning and ending is all one. Finis hujus operis.” (Theatrum, p. 274.) Ashmole adds, “Then in Mr Bachus [i. e. Backhouse’s] book follows Of Spaine take the cleere light, &c.” which is Carpenter’s Work.

*(K). De vita, ætate, ac scriptis Johannis Dastini, historiola, in gratiam Ashmolii conscripta. f. 53^a.

Very closely written by an unknown hand, and inscribed to Ashmole toward the end; probably written in consequence of the uncertainty which he had expressed concerning Dastin, in the notes to his Theatrum, p. 472—3.

Inc. “Volatilis. 1. Fixa.” In dorso—“Secretum meum mihi, et honorem meum non dabo alteri.”

No. 1446.

A quarto volume, consisting of six MSS. on paper, neatly written by Ashmole, or his amanuenses, and divided by sheets of modern paper; also a smaller quarto MS. in three parts, (not bound in their right order,) and two small quarto sheets of paper. The first MS. occupies one half of the volume; and the others have been discolored by damp, and the writing in some parts is faded.

I. “A treatise of the harmony and generall constitution of the true salt concealed of y^e Philosophers, and of y^e universall spirit of the world, following the third principle of Cosmopolita. A worke noe lesse curious then profittable, treatinge of the knowledge of the true chymique medicine. Collected by the Lo: of NUISEMENT, Receiver generall of the countie of Ligni in Barrois." In three books, with a dedication to the Duke of Lorraine, and a preface with verses to the reader; translated from the French. ff. 1^a, 2—6^b; 8—29—107^b—116.

Ending with "A sonnet upon the conclusion of this booke," in eight lines only: many verses are scattered through the work. In the margin of f. 53^b is this note by Ashmole, "Mrs Littons Translacōn."

II. Liber de arte alchemica, in tres partes distributus: inc. In nomine Domini nostri Jesu Christi filii Mariæ virginis. Accipe libræ unius 12 ξ. de sulphure viridi fixo. (pp. 46.) f. 117—139^b.

The title of the first chapter is, "De compositione et admixtione specierum, quæ operatio vocatur a philosophis opus veris." The last words are—debent conjungi cum aqua cujus flores ascenderunt. At the beginning and end are notes, in Ashmole's shorthand, (who seems to have corrected the transcript throughout,) by which it appears to have been taken from a MS. written by, or belonging to, Thomas Charuocke.

III. 1. "Incipit epistola JOHANNIS DASTINE ad Papam Johannem XXII. transmissa, de alchimia. Hoc est secretum secretorum, impreciabile precium, opus verissimum et infallibile." f. 141—145^b.

In fine—"Et predicta scripsi quam brevis potui. Explicit epistola Johannis Dastine ad Papam Johannem 22 missa."

2. Libellus dictus Visio EDWARDI Philosophi: inc. Ego Edwardus fessus studendo et practizando. f. 146—150^b.

Des.—"philosophus philosophorum. Explicit Edwardi tractatus." Confer et No. 1416, art. 23.

IV. 1. "A Synopsis of the universall Entity of Ideas, or of y^e systemes of the materiall and immateriall world;" a treatise of the principles of alchemical philosophy, beg. Whatsoever is in being hath its existencie, either from forme, wch is altogether incorporeall. f. 153^a, (pp. 1—19.) f. 153^b—162^b.

2. "Abstracts of lettres sent to M^r: Stevens, from S^r JOHN HEYDON, upon the send^s to him my Theatrum Chemicum Brit: and Fasciculus Chemicus;" dated 8 June 1653. f. 165—6^b.

3. "A materiall of the tincture of pearles, coralls, and of Sol, a very secret one, and [it] was the secret of y^e Emperors Physitian. The materia is found every where yet in one place." f. 167—169^b.

Ending—I have cured wth it the epileptic [etc.] the rest of its qualities.

V. 1. "A booke intituled the Reformation of Errors, the authour whercof is not knowne, wch treateth of Alchymie; shewing what is the true science thereof, and what abuses it hath suffered by those which ignorantly have sought for the philo^s stone; whereby the reader shalbe led to a more perfect and certaine knowledge thereof, and be made capable of the secret; written in so brief a manner, y^t a man may remember it all at once reading." In five chapters, with "An appendix to the reader." f. 171—9^b.

Also an extract (or motto) from the "Prefatio Novi Luminis Chymici, pag. 7," on f. 180^a.

2. Characterum 13 rariorum alchemicorum, explicatio, per ASHMOLIUM. f. 181^a.

*VI. Objections against alchemy, as a groundless science, answered; with the statement of sundry facts concerning those who have demonstrated the truth thereof, especially in England, to the time of James I., and later in foreign countries; in two parts, intitled "The Introduction," and the "Postscript," both subscribed "Per G. GLEERN, [seu ENGLER,] generos." f. 185^b—190^b, 191—206^b.

The damaged parts of this curious tract have been repaired, and restored by Ashmole's own hand: it is not the original, as the following MS. is, by the same author, whose name at f. 222^b was at first anagrammatically written "Glerne" by Ashmole.

VII. Three tracts, or epistles, addressed to Ashmole, by W. ENGLER, on topics of the occult philosophy, which had been discoursed of between them: viz.—

(1.) Dated "28^o Maij 1653," received* 11 May, 1653. ff. 223—34.

(2.) Received 10 June 1653. ff. 215—22.

(3.) Received 14 June 1653. ff. 207—14.

These three little books are well written: each is subscribed with a note of the precise time of its reception, by Ashmole.

VIII. GUIL. ENGLERI "Propositio, quod lapis philosophicus ex sale, sulphure, et mercurio compositus, probatur sic," (etc.) per syllogismum. f. 235^a.

This paper is by the same hand as the foregoing MS.

IX. Mr. TOWNSEND'S* annotations on certain parts of Ashmole's Theatrum Chemicum; including the Latin colophon of Ripley's work, (p. 193,) in verse,—some notices of Dr. Dee,—and a copy and translation† of seven verses, beg. Est una res vilis ubique reperta. f. 237—8.

* Subscribed with his name, by Ashmole: it is the original paper.

† Beg. A thing there is of value nought. (12 lines.)

No. 1447.

A quarto volume, which may be divided into two parts: the first consists of five MSS. or fragments of MSS. badly written by different hands in or about the XVth century, in an imperfect state, and paged together by Ashmole; the second part contains three later MSS., with a collection of sundry old papers, written by different hands, and apparently collected by the Napiers.

The first MS. is the oldest: it is a fragment, consisting of only nine leaves, of a book written about the end of the XIVth century, with rubrics, and small red capitals, but in a common hand.

I. Part of an antient book of Remedies and Charms for common diseases and hurts; of which the first title is "For heved ache, a noble medic' of herbes. Nim betoyne savyne fenel warmot and þe blynde netele." pp. 1—18.

The first page begins with a long rubric of directions concerning a charm, which the foregoing page (now lost) had contained, "and gif it be a mon bynd it ope is ryth bouhe" etc. One of the charms is intitled "his hat orison þt þat oure Lovedr made for wondes. In nomine patris" etc. p. 17—18. This curious fragment ends thus:—"Ad frangendum lapidem in vesica. Leporis pellem coctam et sanguinem in vase fictili combure fleobotomans eum primo sub lingua vinum et sanguinem qui in collo est illi admisse et"

II. 1. A collection of Remedies, and Charms, for sundry diseases: beg. "For the coghe. Tak j. d. of gret ressyny and j d. of resyeny of cor-rânse." pp. 19—34.

Interspersed with the following miscellaneous receipts, &c.

- "For the felon, a goo[d] scharme. I conjour the wykked felyn be God almyghty." p. 20.
 "Man that ys yn thys worle so proute. Of the slyme of the erthe the body ys made." etc. p. 21.
 "For to gyeltte yrron or stelle." p. 26.
 "For a knyff or a swerd he y broke, to make hyt w^t outte fyer." p. 26.
 "For to wrette on a suerd or yn ony enyffe or any other thyng þt ys mad of yrron or stelle." p. 26—7.
 "For to grave yn yrron, w^t a water, as a pon a blade or a swerd or a knyffe." p. 27.
 "For to make grene gengever." p. 31.
 "For to make gold coloure of watere." p. 33.
 "For to geltte upon yren or coper." p. 33.
 "A carme for þeveys. In bedlyeme God was borne" etc. p. 34.
 "A water y charmyd for wondys. I conjour the wond." p. 34.

Between this article and the next, are the remains of many leaves that were torn out before the MS. was bound by Ashmole: but only one seems to have been written on.

2. Liber medicinarum contra diversas infirmitates: or a miscellaneous collection of Remedies and Charms, (pp. 35—74); together with the curious pieces following:—

- (1) "To make a wonderfulle lighte on the nyghte. Take schynnyge wormys." p. 35.
 (2) "Here begynnys the vertus of stonnys. Ovtalmus ys a stonne yf he be wrappyd." p. 37—8.
 The sixth and last is "Celidonium."
 (3) The magical virtues of the "Porpeys:" beg. Ys a fesche of deveryys nature. p. 38.
 (4) Prognostications "To knov trewly the rechyenys of and poverté of al the yere. If ther be eny man." p. 39—41.

Ending—many me[n] schalle deye w^t hunger.

- (5) "The conjwraçon of [the herb] arthmesie. Ego accipio te." p. 41—2.
 (6) "For to make a doblet of fensce:—
 "Take lether that ys half tanyd, and drye hym, and schave the flesshe syd; and take glwe w^t water, and set yt over the fyere, and melte yt w^t water, and then al hote ly it a pone the leder on þe flesshe syde, and strawe þr on þe ponder of glasse hete yn a brasene morter w^t flyne of yrene y mellyd to geder; and þn laye a nother pece of the same lebr flesshe seyde to flesshe, and nayle hym to þe scylde, and lete hyme drye, and ther noþr sper noþr ege tole enter ther ynne." p. 42.
 (7) "Item yf þu volte stance blode of a manne wher evere he be." A conjuration. p. 43.

(8) The virtues of the stone "Of a swolowe;" also of the "Pelator" (or pellitory) and other herbs. p. 45.

(9) Directions for the special use of the Psalms, under different circumstances; beg. "Hoso wolle pray to God: And of hyme desyre ryght fulle, say the salme knyngenge by for þe crose, Usquequo and Ad te levavi." p. 49—50.

(10) Cautions for diet, phlebotomy, and evil days, throughout the year: beg. Januarius. In the month of Januaryus wyte wyne ys good y dronke fastyng. p. 53—4.

(11) "A prær for þe worme. Conviro te vermiele" (sic). p. 60.

(12) Names of certain plants (under letter A) explained in English. p. 61.

(13) Conditiones eorum qui sub septem planetis nati sunt, tot distichis: inc. "Saturnus. Si quis nascatur." p. 62.

(14) De planeta Saturno: inc. Saturnus est masc[u]linus. p. 63.

(15) "Si vys facere dentes cadere sine lesione. Vade ad arborem qui vocatur mubere tree." etc. p. 64.

(16) Regulæ "Pro invisibilitate" obtinenda, Latine et Anglice. p. 69.

Both this MS. and the next are rudely written, in common hands of the latter half of the XVth century.

III. A book of Remedies for various common diseases; beg. "For the hedde ache. Take þe sede of fenelle caraway comyne and colyaundre." pp. 75—82, 99—104,* 83—98.

* These leaves have clearly been misplaced. The contents of this MS. are not remarkable, except perhaps these titles:—For þe cowge þt ys clepyd þe chynke" (p. 79), "For a spatbon" (p. 84), "Poudre of lyffe þt frere Johne Bacheler made" (p. 90). The last page contains two remedies "For þe palsey;" and a short note in Dutch, by a different hand.

IV. 1. A book of the medical virtues of herbs, described in alphabetical order; beg. with *Anet, and ending with Zizannia. pp. 105—163.

* Thus—"Cam pm. Anet ys an herbe that ys clepyt unct oþer dylle." The chapters are not numbered throughout. Under Scabiosa are given seven Latin verses, beg. Fert scabiosa pilos, verruca non habet illos. (p. 155.) The last words are—doyth a way the fowse or the fragelys.

2. Part of a collection of Remedies, beg. "For the janderys, a medycyn. Take persely sorelle plantayne and auglythdoychys." p. 163—4.

Ending imperfectly under the title "For the dropsy,"—deinde fac emplastrum

V. 1. A book of urinals, and medicines, with a table of the colors prefixed, and various collections thereto relating, partly in Latin, partly in English: beg. Urina fleumatica alba. pp. 165—185.

2. A tract on the judgement of urines: beg. In the wegyunnyng þu schalt take hede to iij þt longyt to þe dome of uryne. p. 186—196.

Ending—in her flank it is doctly.

3. Directions "Tho mak a plastur callyd grete gratia Dei, and is a plastre above all oþur, an[d] hys vertu is as moche as herte or tonge can tell or thinke, mor helyng in one weke than all oþur plastris in a moneth, drawith an arrowe or yren or þorn owte of a wonde. Tak litarge." Also for other plasters, drinks, and unguents. p. 197—201.

4. An index to the unguents, entretes, plasters, and charms, contained in art. 8. p. 201.

Entered here by the same hand (also some medical notes,) at a different time.

5. De ponderibus apothecariorum: inc. Libra medicinalis habet uncias xij. p. 202.

6. "Pro vulneribus. Galienus scyde in hys bokys;" also "A proved medisyn for all achys," and other medical pieces. p. 203—4.

7. Vocabularium herbarum, cum brevissimis earum descriptionibus, ordine alphabetico: inc. Arthimesia, i. mater herbarum. p. 205—216.

Some of the names are explained in English.

8. An imperfect collection of Remedies for various diseases, and the composition of divers medicines: beg. "Pro crinibus. Item aqua mellis valet ad capillos, [etc.] Here may thou see the tokenys of þe bredyng of a kankyr. Take kepe there a wounde or a sorc be full helyd." p. 216, (ff. 1—4, 31—43), p. 217—248.

P. 217 is the last of Ashmole's paging: for that (being the second page of this article) is superscribed "Primum folium, and the numbering is continued to the end; whereby it appears that ff. 5—30 are lost; and, by the references at p. 201, it is evident that there were at least '99' leaves formerly in this part of the MS. The whole is closely written, in a set hand, apparently that of a Dutchman.

VI. 1. Receipts for the composition of divers confections, ointments, and other medicines; with directions for the treatment of some diseases. pp. 1—26.

Rudely and irregularly written, in the XVth century; and in a state of decay. It belonged to the writer of the following MS. whose name is thus written on p. 7, "Liber Christopheri Taylour," and the article on the last page is by his hand.

2. Names of twenty Bishops of England. p. 26.

"Mathe Parker hyshope of Cantourye" is the first, and [William] "Barlow byshope [of] Chychester" is the last: whereby this list appears to have been written between 1559 and 1568.

3. Directions for distilling an aromatic oil. p. 28.

VII. A selection of choice Remedies, by CHRISTOPHER TAYLOUR. pp. 29—57.

Among these the first are—"Mr Norrice his receit for the windines of the stomacke" (p. 29), "For the payne in the right side, my Lady Sent Johns medicine." (ib.) "For the mother, my Lady Greys medec." (ib.) "For the payne in the brest, the Queenes medecyne" (p. 30); there is also—"The Kinges medecine to defend from the pestilence." (p. 33.) This MS. was written in the time of Q. Elizabeth.

VIII. "De morbis ventriculi, lib. I. Præfatio. Mirum forsā aliquibus videretur nos præxin nostram a ventre." f. 4—8.

These pages are in the handwriting of Sir Richard Napier; but whether part of a work composed by him, it does not appear.

IX. A collection of medical and alchemical papers, by various hands. pp. 1—95.

1. Prescription for a lady, by CHR. TAYLOUR. p. 1.

Ashmole's paging begins from the back of this paper.

2. "Gargarisme [by?] Paule Bale, for y^e megrim, for y^e apostem in y^e hed, and for y^e fever and all maner ach in y^e hed." p. 2.

A lover's warning to his inconstant mistress: beg. If wit might warn the to forsee. (7 st. of 6.) p. 3.

This page very much resembles the handwriting of John Stow, the antiquary.

3. "Medicina catholica BASILII VALENTINI, monachi Germani, chymiatrī summi, ab ipso lapis ignis vocata;" cum quibusdam aliis medicinis et experimentis. p. 5, 8—11.

Closely written, by an unknown hand.

4. A lady's description of her own case, for a physician. p. 12.

5. "Mrs Johan' Prescott is desyrus to have helpe (if God be pleased) in these particulars," she suspecting 'her selfe to be under an ill tongue' from one Anne Harte and others. p. 14.

This case is by a different hand from the foregoing.

6. Three several incantations, "Frome and furth of Italie, to kill all worms in the bodie, in man woman or child;" also one "for forespeaking" (or witchcraft), and one "For beast horse cowe ox ew or lamb," having the worm. p. 16—19.

Extremely curious: by an unknown hand.

7. "The medicon of the person that dwelleth in Fleet Streete. This worke is the worke of the person that dwelleth in Fleetstreete, and never used more filosofie but this for the red worke." p. 20—1.

See also No. 1407, ii. art. 97. This paper is by an unknown hand.

"A good white worke," and "Aqua mirabilis." p. 21.

"Ad ponendum colorem D super ♀ sive æs sive de latin, that is made in barres, in harness, of girdles, bridles sadles or anie other plate, w^{ch} will endure 20 yeares" etc. p. 23.

8. "Pulvis ad vulnerum suturas," cum unguentis et emplastris diversis; ac remedia pro morbis quibusdam. p. 24—6.

The hand is unknown. After this sheet begins a new series of paging.

9. Remedies "For a burning or scaldinge, in anie part of the boddie," and other diseases. p. 1—2.

A physiognomical tract, describing the features of such persons as are to be avoided, according to Plato and others: beg. Beware of these persons y^t have defalte. p. 3—5.

By an unknown hand.

10. "Sr Walter Leaches medson given him, on warrentie, and experience, to make one leane." p. 9.
Artt. 10—14 are by Sir RICHARD NAPIER's hand.
11. A tract on the "Springs of health in Germany," by Dr. Herman Conring, (dated at Halbestatt, 18 Aug. 1646,) translated into English. p. 11—16.
12. Receipt for "A drinke for y^e stomach liver and spleene." p. 19.
Case of "Mr William Stoner, 50 y. Octob. 22 ♂ h. 6. p. m. 1644," and prescriptions for him. p. 21.
13. Receipts and directions "To plucke out haire without breaking the skin,—To doe away haire,* —To take away haire from places where it is unseemly." p. 23—6.
* "In my old 4^{to} MS. parchment."
14. Directions and prescriptions "For the cold or cough of a horse," and cautions to be used in travelling. p. 27—8, 31, 33—4.
15. Remedies "For y^e curing divers sores" etc. p. 35.
A paper written by an old hand, and much damaged.
16. Receipt for "Excellent pills for y^e stone," and a drink for the same. p. 39, 40.
By Lilly's hand?
17. "Of barley, for an impostume," and "To make a ptysan." p. 43.
Written on the back of part of a geographical index.
18. Prescription, by Ashmole. p. 45.
19. "Mr. Napers owne purge against choller and winde," with other receipts. p. 47.
- "Judicium urinæ," with the figure of a graduated glass vessel. p. 48.
Written by GRAVIUS.
20. Case of "Mrs. Sanders, annorum 70," fully described in Latin, with the treatment thereof, by GRAVIUS. p. 57—3.
21. "Regula medicorum" de tempore herbas colligendi; et quædam de naturis herbarum. p. 61.
De speciebus melancholiæ. p. 61.
"Aqua antepileptica Naperiana." p. 62.
Remedies for divers diseases, and prescriptions for special medicines, (including "Peirce his water,") collected by GRAVIUS. p. 62—74.
One at p. 64 is dated 25 May 1624; and one on the next page in 1634.
- 22, 23. Two prescriptions, "For my Lord Kynull, 3 October 1644, and "Pr Monsieur Vaubrug, 20 Jul. 1644"; signed TREMAYERNE. p. 75, 77.
24. Draught of a letter of medical advice from Sir RICHARD NAPIER to "Mrs. Saunders of Brixworth;" not dated. p. 79.
Indorsed with her name. See also art. 20.

25. Mr. NAPIER's notes of the case of Mr. Francis Plumtree of Flamstead, 8 Sept. 1627; with medicines. p. 81—2.
26. "A receipt of Frenche breade" or fine biscuit; and "A receipte of Mr Kybles water of lyfe, verie excellent." p. 85—6.
In an old unknown hand.
27. "A medicine of ♀ that Henry King gave his freind;" and a receipt "To turne ♀ into ♂." p. 89, 90.
The lower part of this sheet has been torn off: it was written by Sir Rich. Napier.
28. Sir RICH. NAPIER's receipt for "The snayle milke." p. 93.
29. "A receipt to make a fat body leane." p. 95.
By an unknown hand.

No. 1448.

A neatly written MS. of the XVth century, in a small character, containing 288 pages, numbered by Ashmole. It consists of paper, except the leaves marked '21, 211, 277, 279.' Pages 213—238 are also of vellum, and constitute a different book, which is described separately, as though it were placed at the end of the volume. The titles of the principal articles are written on scrolls, on the upper corners of the leaves. The first page bears these mottos on scrolls, "Scire teipsum. Discipati;" and has the autographs of "Humfridus Lloyd" (by whom were written many notes on the margins, in a fair old Italic hand,) and "E. Ashmole."

1. Versus decem Leonini, de re alchemica, inc. Rerum mixturam coitus vocat et genituram; cum annotatione, inc. Hec autem vera te intelligere oportet. p. 1.
2. ROGERI BACONIS liber de scientia alchemica: inc. Rogatus a pluribus sapientibus de separatione ignis ab elemento. Cum annotationibus vetustis. p. 1—25.
Des.—"et respice errores translacionis, et intellige veritatem rei translati. [sic.] Et sic finitur opus magistri Rogeri Bacon." Vide et No. 1416, art. 13.
3. "Opus VAROKOTI Greci," incipiens cum 16 versibus Leoninis sic, Est aqua vitalis mortifera mercurialis. p. 25—30.
The text begins and ends thus—Accipe lapidem qui eirevit solem et lunam—et convertentes ipsum in purissimum solem.
4. "Meria* prophetissa," opus ita dictum, inc. Convenit Aroz cum Meria prophetissa. p. 30—3.
* So the title is written on the corner of p. 31. It ends thus—ignoranciam vasis. Et sic est finis libri Merie prophetisse. See No. 1416, art. 29.
5. Iste Tractatus dicitur Aureus. Bene de infra aquis scriptis, et distillacionibus congelacionibus et dissolucionibus cum igne. p. 33—9.
Des.—"Flavus filius est soll, descendens a supradictis et supra-scriptis. Et sic finitur liber qui dicitur Aureus."

6. Compositio aquarum⁷* quarundam, scilicet, (inc.) Aqua vite prima simplex aqua composita, etc. p. 39—42.

The title on the corner of p. 41.

7. "Preparacio tuecie.—Ad faciendum peltrum.* —Ad faciendum auricalcum rusticorum.—Ad faciendum saponem tenerem. Ad durum saponem faciendum.—Aliter fiat sic." p. 42—3.

Thus: "R' 3 partes Jovis et j. partem cupri, et primo funde cuprum, et post junge Jovem benevolvendo, et fac quod vis." Modern pewter is a different composition from this.

8. Breves quædam præscriptiones, "Ad mamillarum dolorem.—Contra an[h]elium fetidum.—Ad extrahendum dentes faciliter.—Ad vitrum mollificandum et collorandum.*—Ad stringendum sanguinem † cissurarum." p. 43—4.

* These antient receipts, for the staining of glass, are as follow: "R' unguas equi recentis, aut alterius animalis, et pone in aqua tepida per j. noctem et diem, deinde [s]cinde minutim, et quoque in forti aceto diu, et exiet olium superius in pinguedine, quod collige cum frigidum fuerit. Inungetur vitrum, et mollificabit vitrum et colorabit. Item, R' unguas equi recentis, minutim incise, et distillare facias igne transfuso, et eo quod distillaverit vitrum inunge, et ponetur [p. 44] ad ignem donec sicceatur, et hoc facies ter vel 4. et vitrum illud expectabit tamquam cuprum."

† See also one line after the next article.

9. "Virtutes 7. herbarum a septem planetis, secundum Alexandrum Imperatorem. Prima Saturni, que affodilex dicitur." p. 44—5.

Des.—Septima herba Veneris est—et demones a domo repellit.

10. "Ad faciendum ambram," et "Ad faciendum cinabrium."* p. 45—6.

* "Vermelio idem." (Margin.)

11. De borace, et ejus speciebus: inc. Borax est omne genus calcis. p. 46.

12. "Semita Recta," libellus alchemicus, auctore magistro ALBERTO: inc. Omnis sapientia a Domino Deo est. Sapient. 1^o. Quicumque diligit sapientiam apud ipsum querat. p. 47—73.

Des.—"Et hoc etiam convertit et transmutat omnia metalla in solem et lunam in una hora. Et sic est finis compilationis Alkamie, magistri Alberti ordinis fratrum predicatorum."

13. Scire debes quoniam 7^{tem} planetarum nominibus transumptive nominantur 7 metalla in hac arte. s. etc. p. 73.

Below the page are these lines,—

"Aurum Sol, Luna argentum, cuproque Venus. . . Mars ferrum, Jupiter stannum, plumbumque Saturnus."

14. "Aqua acuta* sic fit. R' sall vitreum." p. 73.

* The margin adds "ad calcinandum."

15. Excerptum e libro 'qui Rebis vocatur sive Dakersi;' (inc. Cum omnis philosophia sive scientia inutilis sentiatur nisi ab aliquo sciatur, propositus De[o] volente explanare quasdam operationes que in hoc libro continentur.) Cum quibusdam operationibus plenarie descriptis. p. 74—5—77.

At the end are written the following lines, by the same hand, but with different ink:—

"Herde hev y hote and dry
Put to gedir for so did I.
Hote and mo[i]ste colde and wete
Make thes iiij. to gedir to mete
Hovis in trinis tria vincula forcia finis.
Than art þu richer þan the kyng
But if he have the same þinge." p. 77.

16. De operationibus quibusdam, excerpta, scilicet, "De examinacione,—De congelacione et fixione," —"De distillationibus,"* et effusione. p. 78—81.

* This title is in the corner of p. 81. The following article perhaps belongs to this.

17. "De gemmarum formacione, nunc est aliquid pertractandum, et primo de effusione cristalli." etc. p. 82—3.

Des.—columbarum per unam horam.

18. "Ad martem mollificandum.—Extraccio argenti vivi de cinabrio," et alia quædam experimenta. p. 83.

Written here by the same hand, with different ink.

19. Capitula '17,' quibus datur titulus "Hermes:" inc. et des. cum his verbis,—totum igitur beneficium hujus artis in M sole et luna consistit. p. 84—105.

The title is on the corners of the leaves: at the end, for the word 'consistit' is read ut supra.

20. Capitula '18—25,' quibus suprascriptus titulus est "Preparaciones:" inc. Lapis preciosus ad recipiendum spiritum Mercurii qui sic fit per congelaciones ad modum cristalli. p. 105—115.

The last paragraph begins and ends thus:—"Preparacio sulphuris arsenici et salis ar^{ci} ad rubeum.—efficitur soll."

21. Capitulum '26,' cui titulus "Separaciones:" inc. "Separacio salis communis et gemme. R' de quocunq[ue] eorum." p. 115—8.

Des.—"Ad resangall' faciend.—et quod ascendit est resengall."

22. "Purgacio et mundificacio argenti," et duo alia experimenta. p. 118.

Added with different ink.

23. NICHOLAI cujusdam opus, de experimentis chemicis, in viginti capitula distributum: inc. Septem sunt corpora s. Saturnus, Jupiter, etc. p. 119—128.

The title superscribed, on the first page, is, "Nich'i dicitur opus iste;" on the others, "Nicholaus." Some of the chapters are curious, and highly deserve notice; as—"8. Ignis comburens qui solum cum arena extinguitur.—9. Aqua pro igne Greco.—Ignis inextinguebilis.—Ignis quem invenit Aristoteles.—10. Ad accendendum ignem ad solem.—Ut manus ardere videatur, nec ardeat.—Ignis discurrens.—Candle compositio que semell accensa nunquam extinguitur.—Ignis ad sagittandum.—19. Ignis Grecus sic fit.—20. Ignis comburens civitates et castra." This is the last title; and the tract ends thus: "vel eum arena. Et sic finitur opus Nicholai."

The four following articles are numbered, as chapters '21—24,' in continuation of the foregoing tract: this is for the purpose of reference, in the table, art. 45.

24. Fragmentum alchemicum (inc. Dimitte hortor confusam pluralitatem tenebrosorum nominum); cum versibus 20, inc. *Unde Deo plenus sapiens dixit Morienus. p. 128—9.

* Vide No. 1416, art. 7, (2).

25. "Aqua de ovis sic fit. R' ova et dequoque." p. 129.

26. "Aqua sulph. Ponatur sulphur vivum." ib.

27. "Ad pond' metalli. Accipe 4 ÷ sanguinis humani." ib.

28. "Incipit liber de aquis, qui dicitur. 12. Aquarum. Acc' album ovorum gallinarum in magna quantitate." p. 130—140.

The paragraphs of this work are numbered '25—57': the last begins and ends thus—"Farina stangni et ejus calcinatio, et ejus conjunctio ad cuprum.—et habebis lunam optimam. Et [si]c explicit tractatus 12. aquarum." There is an other work, under the same title, in art. 37.

29. "De fix[i]one salis armoniaci," et quatuor aliae "Preparaciones."* p. 140—1.

* So intitled on the corner of the page: they are numbered as chapters '58—62.'

30. "Composicio metallorum:"* seu experimenta quaedam, inc. "Item nota. De conuptionibus corporum sive spirituum." p. 141—8.

* So intitled at the corners: the last title is, "De compositione argenti," (p. 146), ending—et flexibilitatem. This article consists of chapters '63, 64,' and over the latter number is written (p. 143) "Tractatus libri qui dicitur Breve Breviarium Alkamie, usque ad 4^m librum sequentem." See art. 55.

31. "Opus* sulphuris. In Dei nomine amen. Accipe sulphur mundum bene lucidum." p. 148—159.

* Operac' in the corner of p. 149, and "Operac' Merc' et Jovis" in that of p. 151: at p. 155, it is "Distillar." This article is numbered '65—75.'

32. "De spiritibus vigitabilibus et sencibilibus:" (inc. Executo brevier de spiritibus mineralibus),—"De 4. elementis, nota bene operacionem.*—Quomodo metalla purgentur et digerentur." p. 160—4.

* This title is on the corner of p. 161. The contents of this article are numbered '76—80.'

33. "De virtutibus medicinarum. [inc.] De solutione medicinarum. Sciendum est quod quanto plus solvitur." p. 164—5.

Numbered '60' and '81.'

34. "Natura salium.* Inter omnia salia. sunt autem salia meliora." p. 166—8.

* From the corner of p. 167. This article is numbered '82': its last paragraph begins and ends thus:—Sall commune funditur—ut de aliis.

35. "Opus Morienes," quod inc. Ego veritatem dico vobis quoniam nil aliud est quod hujus magisterii auctores in errorem detrusit nisi varietas nominum. p. 169—187.

The title is taken from the corner of the first page; the others are superscribed "Morien." It ends—"quandoque magis tingit, quandoque minus. Et [si]c est finis Moriene."

36. "Opus Aurifabri. [inc.] Ad fundendum aurum sive argentum. Cum autem aurum fundere volueris." p. 187—193.

One chapter, at p. 190, is intitled "Modus deaurandi." The last paragraph of this curious tract begins and ends thus:—Cum autem soliduram auri desideras, accipe—in auratura vz. 12. in opere etc.

37. "Hic incipit liber .12. Aquarum Alkamie, seu in Alkamia. Libri hujus series uquarum .12. splendet capitulis. Quorum primum est de aqua rubicunda." 193—6.

The last title is "Aqua perpetua. Ovorum albumine prius—quia in utroque calore perpetuitatem sectatur. Unde et in hoc libello ultima aqua describitur." To this was afterward added (by the same hand) "Aqua spirituum. Quando volueris—dissolvetur in aqua."

38. Libellus de "qualit[atibus] graduum"* compcionum in medicinis: inc. Quoniam disputationem simplicis medicine universaliter prout ratio postulat explevimus. p. 197—8.

* These words are subscribed in the corner. The last words are—et [si]c intelligitur de ceteris elementis.

39. Preparacio boracis talis est, ut in testa super modicum ignem ponatur etc. p. 198.

40. "Pulvis ad separandum solem a luna. R' sulphuris." ib.

41. Nota quod 4 sunt sensus sacre scripture. Unde 4 modis exponitur." etc. ib.

42. A poem, describing the 'thirty and two' veins of the human body, and showing for what disorders blood may be taken from them: beg. The mastirs þat use blode lettyng, And þer by gete her levying. (74 lines.) p. 199—200.

Ending—That elensith man bothe yong and olde. The remedies mentioned are set forth in notes along the side of the verses.

43. Tractatulus de 'altitudinibus, profundis, lateribusque' metallorum, secundum Aristotelem*: inc. Plumbum est in altitudine sua ar. nigrum. p. 200—2.

* His name is placed in the margin. The article ends—et [si]c de reliquis.

44. De numero elementorum, humorum, odorum, colorum, etc. inc. Omnia quidem corpora a lunari globo. p. 202.

45. Tabula capitulorum hoc libro comprehensis, in quatuor 'processus' distributorum. p. 203—9.

It includes all the contents of artt. 19—37.

46. Pars 'breviarii': inc. Sciant artifices alkamic. p. 209—10.

Des.—optima ad aurum. Compare art. 55, p. 256—7.

47. De phlebotomia, et ejus usibus: inc. Phlebotomia est recta inccesia [sic] vene. p. 211.

48. Istud enim est acetum philosophorum etc. p. 212.

49. "Aqua que dissolvit omnia metalla. R' vitrioli." ib.

50. "Species sulphuris. Quatuor sunt species." ib.

* * Pp. 213—238 are described after art. 64.

51. Tractatus alchemicus, sub nomine "Aresto"¹ (Aristotelis), inc. Arestotilus. Cum studii etc. Scias preterea quod propter longitudines. p. 239—44.

Ending with this paragraph:—"De sigillo aureo componendo. Habeas clarum ovi vel gummam aut colom^m tenues et illuminas quameunque rem volueris deaurandam post aurum suppoⁱ pelluculam."

52. De calcinatione, et "Preparaciones"* quædam: inc. Calcinacio est corporis calcinabilium et in partes minutissimos resolubilium ultima divisio. p. 244—6.

* Written in the corner of p. 245.

53. A treatise of the preparation of chemical oils and waters: beg. "Oleum tartari. To make oyle [of] tartor, bren tartour and caleine it, þan dissolve it in water." etc. p. 247—52.

The first 'water' is "Aqua lune. Make lune tymale and grinde it with tw[is]es so myche of sall armanac." The fifth, "Aqua viscosa," ends thus—þat must be changid every þirde day.

54. De 'luto sapientiæ' faciendo, et notulæ quædam chemicæ. p. 252.

55. "Breviarium,"* seu libellus inc. "Breve breviarium breviter abbreviatum etc. Sciant artifices alkamie species vere permutari non posse." p. 253—8.

* This title occupies the corners of the pages. It is difficult to ascertain whether the passages—Kybrit est corpus—and Ignis et adzoc (ending—quousque in igne crematur etc.) be parts of this tract, or additions written afterward. See art. 30.

56. "Incipit tractatus libri qui vocatur Clavis Sapientie secundum ALBERTUM. Laus et honor, virtus et gloria, tibi sit Domine Deus Pater omnipotens." p. 259—262.

Des.—"album et incombustibile. Et sic est finis optatus hujus tractatus."

57. Quædam de dissolutione et rectificatione: inc. Ante distillationem precedit dissolutio. p. 262—263.

58. "Tres ordines GEBERI," tractatus inc. Tres sunt ordines secundum Geberem observandi. p. 264—5.

The title is by Humphrey Lloyd's hand, as also many marginal notes. P. 265 is superscribed, by the antient hand, '3^{es} ordines' and the last words are—"completur totum archanum. Et [s]c est finis."

The next page is vacant, as also the following leaf, except an obscure note on p. 267, and this short article.

59. Three Remedies; one "For the dropsy," and two "for the stomoke," or "Pro stomacho." p. 268.

- *60. Genealogia Regum et Principum Angliæ, a Guilelmo Conquistore, usque ad R. Ricardum III., cum annotationibus historicis ignoti cujusdam auctoris. p. 269—77, 284—7.

A separate pedigree is given, of the family of each king; and the history of contending branches is fully described. The author seems to have written these historical passages, on the blank pages of this MS., in the reign of Edward IV. and to have added the last page afterward. They clearly appear to be original, from the numerous corrections by the same hand; the concluding passage, which follows, is therefore a contemporary piece of history.

"Invidia Diaboli, et in insaciabili appetitu succedendi in regnum, Ricardus Dux Glocestr. postquam Rex Edwardus Quartus frater dicti Ducis viam universe carnis ingressus fuit, dolose Edwardum Principem Wallie et Ricardum Ducem Ebor. fratrem ejus, filios invictissimi Regis Edwardi Quarti, in sua custodia mancipavit, donec seipsum in regnum fraudulentis circumstantiis, cum instigatione et concilio et auxilio Henrici Ducis de Bokyngham, diademate regni coronaret. Brevi tempore succedente, dominum Antonium Comitem de Riveres, et Ricardum fratrem ejus, necnon dominum Thomam Vaghan, ea occasione apud Pontemfractum gladio, sine aliquo juris processu, capita [sic] truneabat. Neenon vero in turri Londoniarum maligne concilium vocari instituit, et ibidem dominum Willielmum Hastynges, quia coronandi ipsum non preberet assensum, sine aliqua intermissione super truncum arboris gladio peremptus est; et seipsum coronari fecit apud Westmonasterium, die dominica post passionem sancti Petri apostoli. Perter[r]itus nepotes, ne ut regnaret favore regni eum impedirent, inito concilio cum Duce de Bokyngham' ut prefertur, eos de lumine hujus seculi, qualiter vel quomodo, nequiter et homicide abstrahabat. Heu dolor! tam nobiles principes, tam feudi [sic] et regni heredes, taliter vitam finire, qui nullo crimine seu transgressione vel merito violari meruerunt.

No. 1450.

A quarto volume, containing seven MSS. on paper, written at different times; which are divided (except the fourth MS.) by sheets of modern paper.

The first MS. is written in a small character, of the XVth century, and consists of 66 leaves, numbered by an old hand: of which ff. 39, 45—6 (apparently blank) are lost, and some of the last are occupied with short articles written in the XVIth century, which are here distinguished with parentheses. The first page is inscribed “Liber mei Christopheri Taylor;” f. 14^a 49^a and 66^b are inscribed in a similar manner; and at the foot of the first page is written “Joh... Bryghtes boke.”

I. 1. “In nomine Dei amen. Epistola magna BERNARDI de opere philosophico sequitur obsequiis.* Sequitur de compositione furni philosophorum qui dicitur athanor: atque de modo ignis et ejus regimine que sunt principia spectantia ad artem practicam.” f. 1^{ab}.

* Sic: vide art. 19.

Des.—seculorum secula amen.

2. “De vase philosophico. Dicit HALY in suo secreto quicumque.” 2.

3. “Lutum sapientie sic fit secundum ALBERTUM. Accipe 3 partes argille.” 2^b.

4. “Incipit tractatus ARNOWLDI DE VILLA NOVA de perfectione operis alkemie, qui quidem vocatur Thesaurus Secretus Operum Naturalium. Scito fili quod in hoc libro loquimur de secretis nature.” 3—8.

Des.—Ecce quam palam ostendi tibi veritatem scripture.

5. “Nota. 5. membra. Hijs autem cognitis.” 8.

6. ARISTOTELIS “Epistola ad Alex. O Alexander rector hominum.” 8.

Des.—et audientes non intelligent.

7. “Opus sub figure,” (sic) seu “De variacione serpentis,” tractatus ROBERTO HOLCOT ascriptus: inc. R' serpentem et pone ipsum in curru cum rotis 4^{or}. 8—11.

Des.—Et scimus quoniam [f. 11^a] diligentibus Deum omnia cooperantur in bonum. Explicit tractatus de serpente philosophorum sub compendio breviloquii HOLCOT etc.” No such work is ascribed to this author in Tanner's Bibliotheca, p. 407—8.

8. “Opus JOHANNIS DASTYN Anglici de elix^a aquarum ad album, [et ad rubecum.] Dicit Ortolanus aquas minerales in hoc opere.” 11.

Des.—et sic in infinitum. Deo gratias. Et hic hopus [sic] Dastini ejus dicta sunt ex Rosario Arnoldi de Villa Nova, et ex verbis Ortolani, per totum.”

9. “Ad faciendum lunam perfectam ex Mercurio,” (inc. R. vitrioli) et alia quædam experimenta. 11^b—12.

10. “Ars magistri JOHANNIS GALLACIJ,” sc. “Compositio aquarum, a[d] solem dissolvendum R' sal arci sal petre,” et alia ejusmodi experimenta. 12.

11. “Incipit tractatus philosophorum quem vocaverunt Thesaurum Absconditum. Nota quod per infrascriptam distillationem in igne et sine igne, ab omnibus philosophis occultatam, facere possumus mirabilia.” 13.

Des.—cum odore bono. Deo gratias. Explicit.”

12. “Opus mirabile ad lunam,” cum aliis experimentis, et “Recepta sancti THOME DE AQUINO” (inc. R' merc' sublimat'), “Item alia” ejusdem. 13^b—14.

13. “Tractatus GUILIELMI PARISIENSIS ad album sive ad rubecum, procurans ex corporibus immundis veriora luminaria quam sol vel luna naturalis. Cum animadvertetrem nobilem scientiam apud homines penitus denegatam.” 14—16^b.

Des.—const[r]ingendo redit ponderosum corpus.

14. “Opus verissimum ad album, secundum WILHELMUM PARISIENSIS,” (sic) inc. Finito opere solis, incipit ad lunam. Fac eodem modo de luna. 17—18.

Des.—qui trinus et unus vivit et regnat Deus in secula seculorum.

15. “Incipit prologus libri qui dicitur Gloria Mundi, vel libri Quinque Clavium, sequitur. In nomine domini nostri Jh'u X'i et per virtutem ejus, nominatur liber iste Gloria Mundi, et Lux Solis, et Liber Luminum, et Liber Quinque Clavium et Virtutum, et Vis celestis Patris, et Grece dicitur Theologica i. liber divinitatis, et apud Sarra- cenos dicitur Ysmael à. liber secretorum. In hoc triplicem invenies artem et confectioem hujus lapidis, et dicitur Rebis" etc. 18—23^b.

Des.—“Et hec dicta sufficiant. Deo gratias. Finita.”

16. “Jo. GASTEBRIS Theorica. Venerande pater gratias ago Deo qui scientiam istam sua propria pictate.*” 23^b—8.

* So intitled in the margin: but at f. 25 are these words. “Sequuntur quomodo corpora metallorum inducantur in primam materiam, et de elemento aque. Et hoc est etiam opus Arnoldi de Villa Nova in practica. et c. Nunc cum Dei auxilio ad practicam descendamus.” It ends thus,—“quam possis recipere ratione. Explicit Venerande Pater.”

Over this page (28^a) is written (by the same hand?) “Ms to enquire for M' Totyade parsonse of Yeldene in com' Bedford' wt in 3 myles of Higham Ferys.”

17. Experimentum, in fine dictum—unum de secretis philosophorum maximum. 28.

Inc. “Reduces aurum in caulem. R' acetum.”

18. “Incipit opus RAYMUNDI de Leone Viridi, editus [sic] a fratre ROGERO BACON. Rec' acetum fortissimum in magna quantitate.” 28—32.

Des.—“Elixer vero corporum minus quam spirituum quia tingit nisi centum et c. Deo gratias.”

19. “In nomine Dei incipit epistola magni BARNARDI de opere philosophico sequitur obsequiis. Obsequiis mihi possibilibus premissis, egregie doctor et domine honorande, noveritis me per nobilem Aldericum de Interminellis [?] de Luea, utriusque amicum predilectum recepisse copiosam litteram vestram.” 32—7^b.

The beginning of this copy so materially varies from that in No. 1406, i. art. 1, as to suggest whether they were not different translations from a French or Italian original. The present copy is unfinished, and ends thus,—“quare vegetabiliter nutrimentum suscipiunt. Lapis autem noster.” The next leaf is vacant; and so perhaps was f. 39, which now is lost.

20. Tractatus prognosticus, secundum locum lunæ inter xii. signa: inc. Signum Aquarii habet tibiam usque ad inferiorem partem. 40—3.

Des. in Capricorno.—“Tempus dat frigidum et sicum et ventus est prope terram, et nubes discurrunt per aera sine aqua, et sepe consuevit nebula esse. Explicit omnia.” But the reading of this last word is more ambiguous than “ita digerit omnia [vel omina] Calehas,” in the Æneid.

- (I.) Principium Apertorii artis elixiris, seu “Lapidis aque vite,” auctore magistro Bernardo. 43^b.

Designed to fill the four blank pages here, but only 8 lines are written.

21. “Ad dentem dolentem sive putridum extrahendum.—Ad restaurandum naturam [etc.]—Ad probandum quis habet furatum.” 47^b.

22. Secreta quædam magica, de mulieribus præsertim. 48^{ab}.

23. “In nomine [etc.] Incipi[un]t questiones KALID Regis, ad MORIENUM Romanum. Moriene, manifesta mihi magisterium lapidis philosophorum.” 49—55^b.

Des.—“vana et inutilia malum exitum habencia. Finis Moriени.”

24. “Incipit Aqua Vite perhennis. In nomine sancte trinitatis amen. Fratres sciam [sic] alchimie investigatores.” 56—60.

It ends imperfectly, with this title,—“Nunc de vase sequitur.” After six blank pages, occur the following pieces.

- (2.) “Opera metallorum in igne perficere, sive alchimie artem ex[er]cere. In omni illo opere.” 63^b.

- (3.) Regulæ planetares, “In operum electione, secundum varios authores. Saturni ♂ eum ☾ dies in omni re perniosa.” 64—5.

Des.—“et deliciis uti congruit.”

- (4.) “Lunæ significationes in 12^m signi[s] sodiaci. ☾ in γ balnea salubria reddit.” 65^b—6.

Des.—“cum in signis.”

On the last page, written by old hands, are, a fragment of an old Song (beg. Hey how what shall I saye, 6 lines,) and the following title of a book, “Traicte des chiffres, ou secretes manieres d'escire, par Blaise De Vigenere, Bourbonnois. A Paris, 1587.”

- II. 1. “Liber quinte essencie.—Primus liber de consideratione quinte essencie omnium rerum transmutabilium. In nomine domini nostri Jh'u Xpi. Incipit liber de famula[tu] philosophie evangelic[e] domini nostri Jh'u Xpi et pauperibus evangelicis viris. Dixit Salomon Sapientie cao. vij^o. Deus dedit mihi horum scientiam veram.” f. 1—21^b.

“Explicit primus liber qui est de consideratione quinte essencie.”

- “In nomine [etc.] Incipit liber secundus, qui de generalibus remedijs appellatur. Licet primus liber.” 21^b—31.

“Remedium vicesimum” ends thus,—“vel in ejus absentia aqua ardens. Deo gratias.” (With the drawing of a vessel or instrument.) See also No. 1451, i. art. 1.

2. “Incipit quidam tractatus de vij. herbis, vij. planetis attributis. Alexius Affriens, discipulus Belbeis, Claudio Artheniensi epylogiticis studium continuare et finem cum laude. Post etiam antiquorum Kirannidarum volumina.” 31^b.

No more than the first page now remains, ending (under the first herb, Solsequium,) thus,—“cum cerebro pavonis, epilepticos. . . .”

This MS. is written in a clear hand, of the XVth century; and is foliated, partly by the writer, and partly by Ashmole, who continued the numbers through the three following MSS.

- III. 1. Three tables of “Infortunat daies after sundry verie aunchent oppinions of great antiquity,” with remarks. f. 36^a.

The first is after “th'opinion of Elianore Stroder;” the others are anonymous.

2. “The third chapter [and other large passages] of Thno: NORTON's booke,” called the Ordinall of Alchemy. (pp. 1—19.) f. 37—47.

Ending with the last line of the work, subscribed “Finis. Quod Norton.”

3. Medicine “For to bringe out the canker in what place hee be,” and nineteen other remedies. f. 47—8^b.

This little book seems to have been written about the time of James I.

IV. JOHANNIS BUBELLI, sive BUMBLEM, "Stella Complexionis* perfecti magisterii vel investigationis lapidis," in xii. capitulis: cujus prologus inc. Cum omnium philosophorum documenta. f. 49—71^b.

* So: in the conclusion the author calls it "Stella complexionis perfecti magisterii secretorum artis alkimie;" but the colophon (after the words mihi indigno et peccatori. Amen.) is—"Explicit libellus vocatus Stella Alkimie, compositus a Johanne Būbulē de Anglia, anno Domini 1384." (See also No. 1407, viii. art. 2, etc.) The margins of this copy, written about the time of Queen Elizabeth, contain notes by Robson, and by an other old hand that added, on the last leaf,—

Notes, (1) Why alchemy is called 'the lower astronomye;' (2) "Arnoldus de operacionibus et effectibus elementorum;" (3) "The degrease of the worke." f. 72^a.

On the next page are written some notes, by Robson, respecting the 'worke' in the following MS., which he probably bound with this.

V. 1. "Her begynnyth þe secunde boke of JOHN DASTYN.* And þe firste turnyng of elementes. and in þe [work?] is dercyded in iij. govern[anc]es. þerfor it is made open þe workyng of þe medecyne." f. 73—84^b.

* "ARNOLDUS DE VILLA NOVA," says Robson in the margin; and an other old hand hath superscribed the following title:—"Arnoldi de Villa Nova philosophi [sic] liber dictus Thesaurus Thesaurorum, et Rosarium Philosophorum etc." It consists of 32 chapters, and ends thus:—"For it is þe gret gefte of Godd and to whom þe he wol he grantyþ it and doþ it away fro wiket men. The Mirroure of Philofofi of M' John Dastyn her endyþ." Which colophon is thus altered, "The Rosarie of Arnoldie de Villanova Grecum."

2. Versus xv. alchemici: inc. Est fons in limis cujus latet anguis in imis. 85.

3. Annotatio in prædictos versus; in qua tristicion* de atramento conficiendo. ib.

* "Unde quidam philosophus—
Uncia gallarum, medium sit et uncia gummi,
Et bis vitrioli: superaddas octo falerni.
Hoc faciunt omnes incaustum composituri."
Compare No. 1397, iv. art. 11.

4. VISIO JOHANNIS DASTIN,* sub nomine JOH. DE SUMBLETON: inc. Cum omnium natura constancium certus sit effectus generacionis et au[g]menti, ideo asserimus ex sex planetarum transmutacionem fore necessarium ad invicem: videmus hora solis et lune magno desiderio querere talem visionem. Putavimus nos raptos ante conspectum Antiqui Dierum, et ecce planete venientes. 85—6.

* So in No. 1407, i. art. (6) etc. where the author of the translation seems to have read antiquorum decorum. This copy ends—"Et ecce 1^a pars sui mille millia omnium aliorum in verisimum mutavit solem. Explicit Visio magistri Johannis de Sumbletone."

5. Glossariolum, in quo difficiliora quædam explicantur vocabula chemica: inc. Azoc .i. merc' .i. argentum vivum. Zerfin est quod egreditur de auro. 144^{ab}.

Des.—Terra felida .i. sulphur.

This MS. is written in a small hand, of the latter part of the XVth century.

VI. 1. A fragment of "Raymondes Curtacõns," in English: ending—et alibi oone dissolucõn and oon congelacion etc. f. 55—62.

Beginning imperfectly thus—of the metalles. The title is written over the pages in a large antient hand.

2. "A note or knowlege howe the calcynynd powders and waters shall be put and mixed to gethers. Ma here in this matter." 62^b.

3. "A curtacion of RAYMOND LYLLE the great phylosopher, et c. Raymond seith for a trewe conclusion these wordes." 63—4.

Superscribed "Anoher of Raymondes Curtacõns." Ending—as the upright sterlyng etc.

4. "In ye vertue of allmighiti God, Jesu Criste, here I begyne ye grett and royall worke of ye 5^a sens of mercurye, acordyng ye worke of ma^r ARNOLD OF YE NEWE TOWNE. Ma here after folowt the worke of the quynta essens of coommen mercury. Master Arnold of the New Towne the great pl'er declarith." 64—8^b, 70—76.

The greater part of this article is lost. There is a note at the foot of f. 67^b, referring to a continuation of it, at "ye folio 15 countynge forward from this folio 67:" but it is difficult to understand how that could be. The last words of this imperfect piece appear to be—And thus undre the forme aforesaide endyth the operacion of the vijth arte F. or soyaunce of þe seid quinta essencia.

5. "The elixer to be made after the worke of M^r DARVELLE of Brystowe etc. In the name of God þu shalt distylle a corosyve water." 76—7^b.

Ending—And the projeccion therof is as it is written be fore.

6. "The trewe compounde howe that the elixer shuld be made of wyne, after JOHN CORBIT. In the name of the lyyvng God therto in the begynnyng thou shalt take." 78—80^b.

Ending—"worke þis blessyd worke. Explicit the verry trewe elixer of wyne, provide by John Corbett etc."

7. "And nowe for to make the best lime þt may be made. And also for to mortyfy mercury." (beg. Thou shalt take thereunto oon unce of lime.) With other processes. 80^b—83^b.

8. "A specialle noticion of philosophy. In this specialle noticion it is to be markid—that ther is a myneralle body—cullid Venus." 86—90^b.

Ending (under the title "For to doo a wey the stynckyng and blacknez of lead, and also to bryng hym in to a rede colour," if it belong to this article,)—the verry wight of gold etc.

9. "The argumentes of dyverse and ma[n]y olde ph'ers, wheruppon RAYMOND LYLLE declarede and seide the wordes folowyng. Raymonde seide conclusyonally." 91—4.

Ending (in a passage much corrected)—prayse world withoute ende. Amen for cherite etc.

10. RAIMONDUS cciam dicit quod aqua nostra ex tribus naturis [etc.] That is to understonde as Raymonde seith etc. 94^b—5.

The last words are—that no sulche persone nor personez . . .

This MS. consists of three fragments of a large book, foliated by the antient hand thus, ff. '55—68' (except ff. 65, 66, which are lost), ff. 86—95, and ff. 70—83, as they now stand: it is in a rude hand, of the time of Henry VII. or VIII.

VII. 1. "GEORG[E] RIPLEYES Pupilla Alchemiæ.*
Firste understand that the noble ph'or Avicen saith, there is in Saturne." p. 1—16.

* This title was superscribed by Ashmole, Ending—Take it if you can [etc.] for ever and ever amen.

2. "Liber Lucis Mercuriorum RAYMUNDI LULIJ.
Tu fili in virtute Dei omnipotentis accipe unum album clarum odoriferum." p. 17—23.

Des.—facere projectionem ut supra. Finis."

3. PEARCE the Black Monk, or "Earthe of earthe.
Take carthe of carthe, carthes brother." (174 lines.) p. 23—30.

The last line in Ashmole's printed copy (Theatrum, p. 269) is at p. 27, followed by the verses—Of this matter to you moste cleare, (ibid. p. 428—30); and the last line is,—To soules healthe us to meeve. Finis."

4. The 'conclusion' which begins—Take wynde and water, white and grene. (9 lines Engl. 4 Latin.) p. 31.

Printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 431.

5. Fragmentum quoddam, inc. Lapis in omni re et in omni loco dicitur. p. 31.

6. "Liber experimentorum RAYMUNDI [LULLII] vel Totum Continens," translated into English:
beg. After that we had by a long tyme exercised our lyfe in seking owte in the worlde. p.
32—81.

Ending—and y^{us} our tittle boke is accomplished, wherefore the name [etc.] moste graciouse mercy. Deo gracias. Explicit Totum Continens."

7. "Mundus philosophicus de adrop, et nigro nigrius nigro. R' scricon quod aliter vocatur adrop combustum." p. 82—3.

Des.—100 partes ♀ in aurum purum.

8. "De natura plumbi. Est frigidum." p. 83.

9. Notes from "De Rupescissa," in English and Latin. p. 84.

10. "A medicinable oile and moche profitable against all infirmities wth in mannes body."
p. 85.

11. A short process "In Raymondes booke of mercuries." p. 85.

12. Four other processes from Raymond Lully:
beg. The lumynaries being calcyned. p. 86.

This MS. is very neatly written in secretary hand, of the time of Queen Elizabeth, and paged by Ashmole. The writer has marked it "E," and thus written his name on the first leaf (blank), "JOHANNES BAILDONUS clericus est hujus libri possessor. Kepe this booke frome evil persones."

No. 1451.

Six MSS. on paper constitute this quarto volume.

The first and largest is written in a French running hand of the XVIIth century, with some titles and initial words ingrossed: it was numbered by the writer, (a Calisian,) from "fo. 1" to "fo. 71," from which place Ashmole has paged (not foliated) the leaves. The two first leaves were not numbered;

they contain the short pieces in French, here distinguished with parentheses; and bear, in a later hand, the name of 'Robert Burreyngton.'

I. (1.) Experiments in gardening, "Ex Yspano," tried in 1544 and 1548; about making fruit-trees to bear, etc.

(2.) The following note:—

"Au jourdhuy xxvj jour a este fait election du Maiour de Calais. 1559."

(3.) Rules for the proportions of powder and shot, to be used in various kinds of guns; namely—

"La haquebute a mein,—[et] a crochetz,—le faulcunnean,
—le faulcun,—le sacre ou coulourynne,—coulourynne bastarde,
—le grande c.—le canon,—le double canon."

(4.) "Distillatorium optimum pro aqua vite dis-tillanda," et "Optimum pro omni re distilla-toria;" calamo depicta et descripta.

1. "Incipit liber de Famulatu Philosophie de quinta essentia. Dixit Salamon Sapientie vij^o ca^o, Deus dedit michi." Liber primus, ff.
1—40; secundus,* ff. 40^b—57.

* Vide tabulam ad f. 69. Des.—in ejus absentia. Explicit liber de 5^a essentia. Deo sint grac. Amen."

2. "Incipit tractatus aquarum de Kyriana. Aqua provocans sompnum. R' solatri." f. 58—66.

In fine—Et debet bibi calida. Explicit tractatus aquarum de Kyriana. Deo sint grac." See also No. 1450, ii.

3. "Sequitur tabula primi libri de famulatu philosophie .i. de quinta essentia et ejus extractione a quacunque re." f. 66^b—9.

"Sequitur tabula secundi libri de cura omnium egritudinum." f. 69.

"Sequitur tabula tractatus aquarum de Kyriana."
f. 69^b—70^b.

4. "Sequuntur quedam secreta preciosissima a Se-cretis Secretorum extracta. Quibus (si debite et recte componantur, et debite secundum modum subscriptum administrentur) poterit corpus humanum usque ad suum periodum in bona valedi-tudine et sanitate conservari. Sunt autem tanquam summus thesaurus conservanda, quoniam sunt ex summis secretis secretorum RAYMONDI
LULLY." p. 71—88.

Duodecimum sic des.—*omnia alia olea de quocunque ligno

5. "Hic sequuntur quedam alia bona per me et alios experta. Calis. 1532. Et primo lac virginalis. R' aluminis roche." p. 88—98.

6. "Sy apres sensuyvent aucuns secretz des secretz. Et premierement Lutum sapientie bon.
R' scoria ferri." p. 99—111.

Some are in Latin: the two last pages were written with pale ink, at a later time.

7. Remedia pro variis morbis præscripta, aliaque experimenta; quedam Gallice, quedam Latine:

inc. "Pour rebranchir vin blanc qui a perdu sa couleur et est gras." p. 113—136.

At p. 134 is a remedy for cattle, ending—"et hoc probatum experimentum D'ni Vicecomitis de Lisle, Deputati in Calisiam A°. 1538." The last receipt is "Pulvis magistralis Olandie."

8. "Forma furni accidie secundum constructionem meam—Calesie a°. D'ni 1556." p. 142.

9. "Recepte po^r ung chevall qui fust refroidy ou qui eust baleyne grosse." p. 144.

10. "Nota for to dry anny flowers fayre" etc. p. 146.

11. "Decoction bone po^r estwuer une carpe, selon la manier de Joh'n Lespissier. 1534." p. 147.

This last page is only a slip of paper: the back of which had been written on, and then blotted out.

The second MS. consists of 66 leaves of paper, beside one of parchment, which seems to have been its antient cover; written at different times, though by one and the same hand, in the XVth century; and noted throughout, on the margins, by Dr. DEE.

II. 1. "Aqua merc. He þat wille make þis pow-der." f. 1.

2. "Aqua merc. secundum SCOTUM,"* et tribus aliis modis. 1—2.

* Robert Scot: see art. 35.

3. "To sublyme merc' and to encrease hym in his weighte." 2.

4. De aqua ♀ duobus aliis modis facienda. 2^b.

5. "Opus ad faciendum aurum et argentum. Ad faciendum aquam merc. que dissolvit talk et omnia corpora." 2^b.

6. "For to make water of merc', crude wt owght ony mixtion off any oþer strange þynge." 3.

7. Other processes for the same; one in Latin, one in English. 3^b.

8. "Sublimacio merc. secundum AVICENNAM," (abuicem) et alia similia experimenta. 4.

The last is intitled "Aqua ω." On which Dr. Dee remarks, "Note this character used for ♀, agreeable to my Monas Hieroglyphica."

9. Two processes of making "A water of merc." 4^b.

10. "Aqua vitæ sic fit. R. mercurium in magna quantitate." 4^b.

11. "For to dissolve merc. Take j. lb. of tyne.—Item alio modo." 5^a.

12. "To sublyme mercurye wyth vitriol and common salt." 5^b.

Over this is written "j. pouche," perhaps the author's name.

13. "BRIXHAM.* De spiritibus naturalibus, et de natura sulphuris. R. primo igitur de mineralibus." Etiam "De preparacione sulphuris ad solem." 6^b—7^b.

* This name is superscribed. See also artt. 18, 21, 22, 42.

14. "Optima rubificacio. Aec' de sulphure li. j." 7^b.

15. To make sulphur as white as snow: beg. Take sulphur vyff. 7^b—8.

Ending—suche sulphur as þis þe wyse men broughtyn þat madyn þese werkes of helthe and perfeccion.

16. "Ad faciendam lunam de Jove. R. afundidam albam." 8^b.

17. "Ad faciendum metallum dulce ut Saturnus. R. gumba Arabica." 8^b.

18. "Ad faciendum verum boracem;" et alia experimenta. 9^{ab}.

The last appears to be by BRIXHAM.

19. Experimentum Hispanice, inc. Vos tomares sull petra; et aliud Gallice, inc. Parnez earce de coporose. 9^b.

20. Experimentum pro luna optima facienda: inc. R. in nomine sancte trinitatis ÷ xij. merc. 10^a.

21. Experimenta quedam BRIXHAM: primum inc. R. cinobrij quantum volueris—Et ego Brixham hic abbrevio. 10^b—11.

Four of them are numbered '2, 9, 10, 12.'

22. Plura BRIXHAM experimenta chemica: quorum primum inc. "Mundacio merc. [etc.] Brixham. Make u paste de calce viva et oleo, et distilla per alembicum sicut fecisti in York." 11^b—12^b.

23. "In nomine Domini nostri Jesu Christi, incipiunt Rubificationes. Et prima rubificacio super lunam est ista que sequitur. Recipe capillos capitis rubecys [sic] vel nigros." 13—18.

Ending imperfectly, with this title, "Rubificacio qui dicitur potum lune :-"

24. "Incipit liber MORIENI philosophi Romani, de distinc[t]ione xij. aquarum. Distinc[t]iones secretorum sapientum philosophorum de agreggacione aquarum. Aqua permanens" etc. 18^b—20^b.

Des.—ergo yexir' indiget illa aqua, et hoc intellige.

25. "Capitulum mirabile Monachi, et sapiens fuit, proveniens in decoribus suis. Impossibile est ut ex omni lapide." 20^b.

26. "Rubificacio salis armoniaci;" et experimentum super ʒ. f. 20^b.

27. "Oleum metallorum. Accipe limature ferri quantum vis." 21.

28. "Elixir optimum a[d] solem.—Ad faciendum alfandidam, id est, es ustum,"—et alia experimenta. 21^b—2.

29. "For to fixe sowphur and sal armo^{ac}.—For to make a parfyte medycyne to caste upon mercurie.—Here how þ^u schalt sublyme sowphur vife.—For to sublyme sal armoniac," and other experiments. 22^b—4.

30. "Experimentum bonum ad solem," et aliud "ad lunam." 24^b.

31. "De conversione amixatir in aquam. Quomodo amixatir convertatur." 25.

32. "Aqua que resolvit solcm et lunam, et merc. et calces lune" etc. 25.

33. "Expositio ORTOLANI.—Hic incipit Magnum Opus HERMETIS. Extrahitur lapis noster benedictus a[b] una minera." 25^b—7^b.

In fine—"argentum optimum quod nunquam potest melius inveni. Explicit hic opus hoc, Hermetis Rebus et Azok."

34. Sublimationes, fixationes, dissolutiones, et alia experimenta: inc. "Sublimacio mercurij. Accipe merc. li. j. coporosc di. li." 27^b—31^b.

35. "Ad lunam, secundum ROBERTUM SCOTUM. R' M' facti fusilis sublimacionem ÷. 4." 31^b—2.

36. "Ad lunam, secundum magistrum W. DE GASCONIA. R' M' ÷. j. vitrioli ÷. 2." 32—3.

Des.—Et notandum quod tota vis est in inveniendone proportionis, ut dicit magister Willielmus de Gasconia quoniam istud vidit et pro vero tenuit. After a short sentence, follow—

37. "Versus HERMETIS patris nostri, et concordavit cum illo opere 'Revolvi lapidem,'* etc. Est fons in limis." † (15 versus.) 33.

* See art. 39.

† See No. 1416, art. 7; and No. 1450, v. art. 2, 3.

38. De elixire facto ex arsenico: inc. Si fieret capitellum for [sic] de 2bus partibus cinerum sosc. 33^b.

39. Fabula de lapide philosophico: inc. Revolv[er]e [sic] lapidem et sedebam super eum in puteo. 34.

Des.—et generabunt 30. filios qui suos genitores superabunt.

40. Ignis et azoc tibi sufficiunt etc. 34^b.

41. "Preparacio vivi mercurij sine coporosa ad lapidem philosophicum faciendum. R' salem communis albi." 35—6^b.

Thus intitled by Dr. Dee, "Trina ☿ ij sublimatio." The last words are—clarificando materiam dissolutam.

42. BRIXHAM quædam experimenta, de oleo tartari faciendo, sole Moysaico, etc. 37^b.

43. "De auracione, secundum fratrem Episcopum. R' salis ar. et salis petri ana." 38.

44. Receipt for making Sol Moysaycus. 38.

45. Scientia ad extrahendum quintam essenciam ex argento et stagno [et] plu[m]bo. Brevis quinta essencia." 38^b.

46. "JOHANNES DE MEUN" super "Oleum animalis:" inc. Reduccio vel introduccio medicine. 38^b.

47. "Elixir haud ignobile," seu "Ad lunam secundum magistrum J. DE MEUN. R' lib. j. merc' sublimati." 39.

* This title is superscribed by Dr. Dee. It ends with the following statement:—Nota quod quidam magnus magister de curia Romana vendidit in uno anno quingentas marcas argenti, per istam medicinam facti; dictum per magistrum J. de Meun.

48. Opusculum quoddam, cujus in fine "Explicit Secretum Philosophorum." 39^{ab}.

Inc. R' merc' fixum de quo est mencio facta. Des.—eodem modo vult Hermes quod lapis noster ita fluentetur, quod totum vertatur in fermentum.

49. Nota quod luna disposita et dissoluta et putrefactum [sic] cum merc. (etc.) secundum Ortolanum et Hermetem. 39^b—40.

50. Experimenta seu notabilia quædam: inc. Calcina Jovem ter vel 4. cum arsenico. 40.

51. "Unguentum quod non congelatur. Nota quod opinio auctorum." 40^b.

52. Experimenta seu notabilia quædam alchemica, quorum tria sub nomine BRIXHAM* dantur. 40^b—1^b.

* "Brixham. Tynglas pulverizatum misce eum aceto vel urina, et obtura in vitro, in fimo equino per mensem unam. Brixham."—"Ad spoliandum solem de quocunque metallo deaurato." etc.

53. Opusculum seu fragmentum, inc. Nostra putrefactio non est sordida nec immunda. 41^b—2^b.

Des.—"Igitur sufficit he[e] in lapide philosophico perfecte componendo. Explicit."

54. "Here begyneþ a tretes þt tretes of a connyngye to turne alle metalle in to silver or in to golde. Firste þu schalt knowe well þat þer ben 7. bodics in þis tretys þe whyche ben namcd after þe vij. planetes." 43^{ab}.

Ending—ryst as þu dedist afore, so sublyme it &c.

55. "Nota de mercurii sublimacione" variis modis: inc. Merc' sublimabitur ex alumine. 43^b—5^b.

56. Explicatio alphabeticorum symbolorum, ab a usque r: ubi A significat Deum, etc. 44^a.

Written at the foot of the page.

57. De medicina præparanda, et projectione cum ea super ☿: inc. "Alius modus. R' j. ÷ depurate lunc." 46^b—7.

58. Experimentum dictum "Blanche cobre. R' ij. lib. arsenici." 47.

59. Opusculum, cujus in fine, "Explicit nobilissima per* Medulle Artis Alkimie, ALBERTI MAGNI, pro quo Deus sit benedictus in secula seculorum, amen." 47^b—8.

* Sic, vel pars? Inc. Nota summe ex lapide ubique reperto que vocatur rebis. Des.—et hoc est yrir quod transubant [transubstantiat?] omnia metalla in una hora in solem et lunam: hoc intellige et scies.

60. Processus ad "Elixir quoddam"* faciendum, et cum eo projectionem pro argento: inc. Recipe salis armoniaci, salis alkaly. 48^b—50^b.

* Dr. Dee's title, whose notes on this article are abundant. It ends thus—"et habebis lunam ad omnem examinationem. Explicit."

61. "Fixio opus lune de speciebus crudis. Accipe M' crudum." 50^b—1.

Des. sub tit. "Projeccio.—secundum quod bene operatus fuerit."

62. "Laur' medicina. Si sumatur ana M' et arsenicum." 51.

Des.—hoc opus esse maximum in mineralibus.

63. Notabilia GALFRIDI cujusdam: inter quæ dicitur "Cementum ad consolidandum marmoreum et alios lapides." 51^b.

64. "Album et rubeum ex una radice. Nota quod nullus 4 spirituum." 52.

65. "John Van yave þis rec'* to John Horne. Take rotis of fernys." 52.

* Receipt for making Aqua regalis.

66. Annotationes de alchemia: inc. Hujus artis investigatores non possunt ad utilitatem pervenire, absque animo proliaco et regimine continuo. 52.

67. "Sulphuris albacio et fixio," variis modis, 52^b—3^b.

Inc. Scias quod sulphur visum vix poterit sublimari.

68. "Oleum fluens et figens amalgama:" inc. "Preparacio et sublimacio sulphuris valde bona, et potest figere amalgame solis vel lune cum sublimato sulphure, sicut dicitur; et ideo procede ut sequitur. R' aluminis de roch." 54.

69. De preparacione Veneris optime, hunc modum ponatur etc. 54.

70. "Scientia ad extrahendum quintam essenciam ex argento vivo et vitriolo Romano et cuperosa. Gloriosus et sublimis Deus ita ordinavit." 54^b—5.

Des.—sanat fistulam et cancerum et mala alia plurima.

71. Experimenta diversa cum elixire, sulphure, alumine, etc. quorum quædam BRIGHAM nomen præ se ferunt: inc. R' potellum aceti distillati et appone ei iij. li. Saturni. 55^b—8.

72. Item idem modus alius memento de Thoma Scrym, Derbi, et de verbis et de merc' quem ipse obiit et occupavi etc. 58.

73. "Opus antimonii. Pondus antimonii viij. ÷ et pone in olla quousque bulliat." 58^b, item 59^a.

74. "Purgacio cupri.—Dealbacio cupri," et alia experimenta, secundum BRIGHAMUM: inc. Cuprum habet 2 infirmitates. 59^b—60.

*75. Alphabeta tria alchemistarum, a dextra ad lævam scripta. 60^b.

The first and third consist of 21 letters; the second of 23: they are very curious.

76. Experimenta cum aqua ☿, croco ferri, etc. quorum ultimum BRIGHAM nomen habet. 60^b—1.

77. Remedia septem contra pediculos. 61^b.

78. Two receipts "Pro pediculis. Take of talow of befe" &c. 61^b.

79. Ad faciendum 'medicinam super cuprum purgatum' (inc. R' ovum vitrin' quod vocatur grypisegge); et "Ad faciendum lutum," duplici modo. 62.

80. "A fragment of a treatise, which (I here say) is called Sapia Patris.* I am Mercury the myghty flos florum." (64 lines.) 62^b—3^b.

* This title is written by Dr. Dee's hand. See No. 1445, v. art. 9, etc. The last line is,—For in all other thyng ye fynde hym nowght.

81. A commentary on the foregoing verses: beg. Now to alle men be it aknowe how Mercury hath made here boste and magnyfyth here worthynesse: I schull clerkly declare it in parable foorme anil stable. Sche says sche ys most myghty flos florum. 63^b—4^b.

Ending—"now kepe councele and scke forthe folys as ye have done. Explicit."

82. 'Tractatus de operatione lapidis philosophici; qui barbaro more sic incipit, Omnibus philosophis demonstratour reduccionum et calcinationem omnium metallorum. Recipe culsus de aliquo metallo. 64^b—6^b.

Des.—et erit magis optima et pro veritate non est talis in patria pro vulgat.

83. Explicatio vocabulorum dueneg, duceez, duenet, epton. 66^b.

84. "A plaster for þe mygrayne. Take rav hony." 66^b.

85. Quædam simul distillanda. 67^a.

The third MS. consists of 17 leaves: some few pages contain entries, apparently by different hands, about the time of Q. Elizabeth; but principally by the same hand as No. 1445, i.

III. Notes of some of the contents; and an "Index" of nine several heads contained in this book. f. 1^a, 2^b.

A collection of extracts from divers authors, concerning the precepts of alchemy, both in Latin and in English; with some passages out of Norton's Ordinal. (ff. 12.) f. 3^b—12.

The fourth is a MS. on paper, though written about the middle of the XIVth century, consisting of 19 leaves; and imperfect at the beginning: it is in a large running hand.

IV. 1. An alchemical tract, beginning þan kende worchþ in a Ml. 7er. And neverþcles we makyn no metals but kende doþ þis. pp. 1—32.

The last passage is this:—*þerfore Durant þe munke sayþe, My suldere childern knowe 7e wel þt 7e now not have science of God til 7e clense 7oure soulis to God, and þt God knowe 7ow to have a soule contrite, þan almygti God in þe hond of whom oure eraffe abyde chal opyn þe gatis of hys tresaurie and make 7ow lordis [p. 32] in þe worlde al aboute. þerfore I preche to 7ow þe drede of God and obedyence. 2. Twenty-eight maxims of alchemy: beg. Oure Philors ston hap non propre name, but he is clepid diverse namys. p. 32—36.

3. Novem 'consilia' alchemiæ: quorum præfatiuncula sic inc. In principio nostri tractamus e[s]t sciendum quod ars alkæ nobilissima et multum periculosa.* p. 37—8.

* Sic pro tractatus. Des. Nonum consilium—habeas leticiam cum angelis et sanctos [sic] in paradisi [sic] amen.

The fifth MS. is on paper, written partly in a set hand, partly in a running hand, of the XIVth or XVth century: it begins imperfectly, and hath some notes by Dr. DEE. Ashmole's paging of the foregoing MS. is continued through this and the next.

- V. 1. Posterior pars libri RASIS: inc. . . . terra et ignis minores. ayer major, aqua minor. p. 39—41.

In fine—"concordabunt adinvicem ista quod nunquam post separantur in igne. Explicit liber Rasis."

2. "Incipit documentum Pictagor'. Nota inventi scriptum in tabula magistri Johanni[s] Salerni. 8^{va} de cate in 4^o gradu." p. 41—4.

In fine—"Ecce vos in via v^a eraxi et a falso opere extraxi. Explicit documentum Pictagor'."

3. "De eleccione stangni mineralis. Eleccio sta[n]gni fit 5. modis." p. 44—8.

The greater part of this article seems to be taken from the Turba Philosophorum: it ends thus, "Pictagoras.—iterum coque cum lacte quousque lac deficiat."

4. "Figura solis," ac alii characteres chemici verteres. p. 49.

5. "Ad mollificandum argentum sic," etc. ib.

6. Experimentum: inc. R' sulphur commune. ib.

7. "Nota de gradibus ignis, quomodo facies ignem lentum" etc. ib.

8. An alchemical process, with lead and vermilion: beg. Whanne zoure vermylione is boylid in alum. p. 50—1.

9. Experimentum: inc. R' quantum vis de quocunque metallo. p. 51.

10. The following epistle from one alchemical student, to an other:—

"Come to þe horn on þe hope, whiche is zoure owen yn, in Byschopg[ate] strete. And every day I schal ones seke zou here. 11. How to make "elixer o' lyfe:" beg. In Dei nomine amen. Tak celidone and draw of it elemente. p. 52.

12. Tractatus alchemicus "De merc' et 2^a part. Secunda pars lapidis nostri est merc." p. 53—7.

Ending with nine verses, the last of which is, Sunt preciosa magis dum rarius inveniuntur.

13. "Hec est operacio, cum qua duo plumba de azanur [?] 16. plumbum et indurantur, et ap[re]bunt omnibus videntibus argentum. Funde in crucibulo." p. 58—9.

14. "Oleum tentum. For to make for the rede a quencher" etc. p. 59.

15. Two chemical experiments, in English. p. 60.

Note. "J. D[ee]. I suspect this is for a borax."

16. "Quid sit merc. Est autem mer. aqua." ib.

17. Experimenta duo; seu documenta quæ Johannes Parisiensis dixit, et Prior Rofensis dixit. ib.

* Beginning with these words respectively.

18. Duo alia experimenta; unum Latine, aliud Anglice. p. 61.

19. "Opus bonum et verum. R' j. li. de mer. bene purgato." p. 62.

In fine, Probatur per Episcopum.

20. Translation of an alchemical tract, ascribed to "ROGER BAKONE. [A]ske ze of þes werkerrys y^t holden hem so wyse, wat is y^t wete wheto y^t moste be souyn in ye erthe." p. 63—7.

Ending—"For trucli it is myne entent her to make a gude ende. Amen. Hic magestatem Dei minus que mistica ista vulgat. Nec secreta manent tibi sit conscientia turba." See No. 1452, art. 15.

21. A tract intitled * "Ϸ Corporalis:" beg. Thow mer. and quiksilver beþe boþe on in kynde. p. 68—70.

* By Dr. Dee's hand. It ends—"a fayr colour of golde or ony y^t ever was made. In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus Sancti. Amen. Hermes. Ecce quod habes" etc.

22. "Dealbacio valde bona," et "Alia." p. 70.

23. How "to make a treacle to hele mankynde w^t ale." ib.

These are the last words: it begins thus,—R' a tode and make him in to erþe as þu wost w^t his blood!

24. A tract of 'the separation of the elements' of sulphur, etc.: beg. In the name of God. Tak of sulphure whyf or of sulphur canne. p. 71—2.

Ending—"Of the whiche gyf thou kaste a lytyl up on meeche mercuri, it schal turne it in to most pure gold, that is clepyd obryson. This is the maner of the myne, that is sulphur &c. Deo gratias." Dr. Dee refers for this experiment, "in Paracelsi libro de Ϸ e."

25. Projectio in cuprum, pro argento habendo: inc. R' m' sublimat. p. 73.

26. "Rerum variarum sublimationes:"* a collection of alchemical experiments, beg. Mart' is sublimd þus. Take m' j. li. p. 73—6.

* Dr. Dee's title.

27. A treatise of directions "For þe white work. Tak in þe name of God j. parte of white m'." p. 77—9.

Ending—and it schal turne in to perfytt gold, and blessed be God ever more.

28. "De lapide encusan.* In nomine Patris [etc.] R' lapidem nostrum encusan fulgidum." p. 79—80.

* Dr. Dee's title.

29. Projection on copper: beg. R' lapis almadiak. p. 80.

30. Charm "For þe toth ache. In nomine" etc. ib.

The last MS. consists of eight octavo leaves, written (except the first and last) in a small hand of the time of Q. Elizabeth. On the first leaf (p. 84) is the signature of "William Nowell," twice.

VI. A tract describing the process of obtaining the white medicine, for transmuting copper into silver: beg. R ✠ argentum vivum, and mingle it wth cleane salt comon, in a treen vessell. With a "Postscript." pp. 85—94, 95.

The tract ends thus,—the true knowledge whereof I could not find almost in 20 yeares. Deo gratias." The postscript thus,—it shalbe all good ʒ as comes of the mine, and better.

No. 1452.

A quarto volume similar to No. 1415, consisting of 177 leaves of paper, and containing transcripts made at different times, by Ashmole, whose autograph is at the beginning. Almost one half of the book is blank.

1. An anonymous treatise of the philosophers' stone, imperfect at the beginning. f. 13—30^b.

Beg. See they both be of younge peple. Ending thus—and soe ys this I made perfyte [30^b] thys blyssed red stone, whych ys ye moste tresour of this worlde w^{ch} God yeveth to whom ytt plesyth hym. Cujus nomen sit benedictum in secula. Amen."

2. Directions how "To finde lunary the herbe. R a glass and loke yn the glass by nyght." 30^b.

Ending—For why I wyll ʒe grynde the body and boyll hym dylygently ʒe drovne—Ext."

4. An other fragment: beg.—Nolite compositione pluraliter curare. 32^b—3.

Ending—And trewly yt ys not harde—Ext."

5. An alchemical poem, consisting of 130 Leonine verses, (beg. Gemma salutaris, quæ nascitur orbicularis,) with an English translation* under each verse. (pp. '58—73.') 35—42^b.

* Beg. A precius ston, helyful, round, wyche ys borne. The last lines are "Per par fermentum totum docet experimentum. By even fermentacion techet[h] alle experyment."

6. Public records relative to Alchemists:—

(1.) Licentia regia Johanni Fauceby, Johanni Kirkeby, et Johanni Rayny. concessa, ad inquirendum et practicandum super transmutatione metallorum, non obstante statuto. (31 Maii, 34 Hen. VI.) 43—5.

E Rot. "Pat. anno 34 H. 6."

(2.) Similis licentia, Johanni Cobb concessa. (6 Julii, 22 Hen. VI.) 45.

E Rot. "Pat. 22 H. 6."

(3.) Notes of a commission to inquire concerning alchemy, (36 Hen. VI.); and a license granted to Richard Carter. (8 Edw. IV.) 45^b.

(4.) Indictamentum adversus Will. Morton, qui cum monacho prioratus de Hatfield, fecerat elixir, cujus virtute aurum et argentum confecturus erat. 45^b—6.

E Placitis de termino "Trin. 6 H. 5. rot. 18. Essex. Anno 1418."

7. GEORGE RIPLEY'S tract of "The gracious science and blessed secret, hid of old Philo^s: wch had it by grace and good living, wth devoute prayers to God;"* beg. Right trysti and welle beloved chylde and frende. I schal enforme yow of thys gracious and blesset scerete. (pp. 1—18.) 47—55^b.

* Ashmole notes, at the end, that "In one copy I met wth y^s worke bearing this tytyle:" but at the beginning he superscribes it thus: "This runs under the tytyle of De ʒ^o et lapide philosophorum Georgij Riplai. Theat. Chem. 87^o." The last words are—I pray the kepe hyt conseyl. Many of Ashmole's notes, in shorthand, are on the margins.

8. A 'tretys' of 'the vertue of owre ston, and whereof he schulde be made, as well for mannes body as for metalle;' under the name of HERMES:* beg. Now to be holde and se transparently. (pp. 20—34.) 56^b—63.

* At the end of the preface, immediately after the words quoted for a title, is "Explicit prologus. Ermes." The tract begins and ends thus:—The be gynyng of owre ston ys water in palpabil—and loke thou don in thys maner a wise. It hath notes in Ashmole's shorthand.

9. A short instruction in the secrets of alchemy: beg. "In nomine Patris [etc.] Brotherys ʒe schal understand that allmyti Gode hathe mad in thys world." (pp. 36—44.) 64—8.

Ending—and into that holy bles of heven God send yow and me. Amen. Deo gracias." Here also are Ashmole's notes in shorthand.

10. A sequel to the foregoing tract: beg. In the name of the Fader and Son and the Holy Gost, I schal declar mor of the ston afor sayde, the wyche ys scyde in Latyn in this manner of wyse, Gemma salutaris etc. (pp. 45—51.) 69—71^b.

Ending—and thus thou schalt go forth wyth blode and mylke for ever more wyth owten ende. Deo gracias. Finis."

11. "Now for to make the grete elixer of alcami. Take the stedfast red man celestial." (p. 52.) 72.

Ending—after he ys fermented whyt or red. A note in Ashmole's shorthand, and a short Latin sentence follow.

12. A mysterious epistle, wherein the writer pretends to tell 'openlich' to his friend, the nature of the philosophers' stone: beg. To my frend I sende gretynge wyth all my hert. (pp. 53—55.) 72^b—3^b.

Ending—I pray yow hold thys conssayle for my love, as I schal trust to y^e her after ʒe. Deo gracias."

13. Description and virtues of the herb lunary: beg. I schal you tel of an erbe yt men eal lunarie, he ys clepet asterion. (p. 55—6.) 73^b—4.

Ending—occupied in divers manner. Compare the verses in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 348—9.

14. "To make fine gold of $\frac{1}{2}$. First clarify $\frac{1}{2}$ on thys manner." (p. 56.) 74.
 15. Allegorical generation of the elixir: beg. Aske ye of the clerks yt holden hem so wise what ys the whete. (p. 57.) 74^b.

Ashmole says, at the end of this fragment, "This I copied out of Mr: Wiltshires booke, and it (much like a preface) was writen befor the verses Of Spain take the clere light" etc. (See his Theatrum, p. 275.) But compare No. 1451, v. art. 20.

16. "A very good mater of Lune and Sol. If thou wolt rygt wcl for to spede, Use wcl thy Pater noster, thy Ave Maria and creede. Now worthy Fader, herkene.*" (ff. 1—5^b.) 75—9^b.

* This couplet is prefixed: the tract is in prose. By a note, partly in shorthand, this appears to be "CHARNOCK'S:" it ends—Mercury ofte and ofte tulle he have ydronke ynowe, etc.

17. "Very profitable co[u]nsell and instruction. Now Sone, I wol shewe to thee ye dowtes of ye elixir." (f. 6—9.) 80—3.

Ending—and soe left thys scyens, etc. By the monogram of T. C. in the margin of the first page, it appears to be by CHARNOCK.

18. "Secretum ad solem optimum. In the name of God. Amen. Take j^{lb}. of akybryth." (f. 9^b—10.) 83^b—4.

Ending—and God sey Amen.

19. "A water made of celidonia, much profittable for many diseases. Reade and ye shall see. Now hyre ye the pryvy thyngs yt y schall speke thereof." 84^b—7.

The last page is in Latin, ending—ad omnes ægritudines evitandas, Deo adjuvante. CHARNOCK'S initials are on the margin of the third page.

20. "Alycelotte. Worke to be profittable. Initium. Take j. lib. of vitriol." 87^b—91.

Ending—"and all schalle turne ynto fyne gold. Probatum est &c. Finis."

21. An alchemical poem, intitled "The worke of DICKINSON. When Phebus with his rayes bright." (108 lines.) 91^b—3^b.

Ending—"And doe good deedes unto the poore, Soe shalt thou live for evermore. Finis." This piece is not printed in Ashmole's collection: its beginning resembles that of Bloomfield's Blossoms, at p. 305.

No. 1453.

A quarto volume, containing one large book, and many papers, bound together and paged by Ashmole: in the latter part of the book, after p. 291, only these pages are written on, pp. 332, 334, 352, 353, 360—2, 364—6; other vacant spaces are also left in it.

- I. Medical Prescriptions, Magical, Alchemical and Chemical Secrets, and Charms, collected and written by Mr. RICHARD NAPIER, pp. 1—368.

The contents are similar to those of his two folio volumes, No. 1473, and No. 1488: some of the most remarkable follow.

- Receipt for "Gaskoyne's ponder." p. 52.
 "Mr. Napers panacea for all diseases." (Written, as also pp. 225—6, by Sir Richard Napier, and corrected by his uncle.) p. 61.
 Charm "For bowling or shooting," to have success. p. 81.
 How "To catch fish." p. 100.
 "Verba probata quibus quis possit sistere sanguinem. Longinus miles." (A charm.) p. 160.
 Charm "For bleeding at the nose," and other singularities. p. 161—4.
 Receipts for "King Henryes perfume," and those of Q. Elizabeth and Edward VI. p. 181.
 "A medicine for wounds that is open," a charm. p. 212.
 Description and uses of many sigils of different kinds, cast in 1604, 1610, 1611; with the astrological figures set for some of them. (By Forman? written by Sir Richard Napier's hand.) p. 241—8.
 "(potabilis.—Altera ex GRAVII cerebro." p. 284, 285.
 "Electrum Paracelsi, expertum a Chrystophero Rudelio, Seelberg, quod secretum Quercetani bona fide communicavit." p. 289.
 "Dr. Wards powder for melancholy." p. 336.

- II. Papers containing remedies, and other medical observations and collections, written by Mr. RICHARD NAPIER, pp. 371—460.

Among which are:—

Draught of a letter on a medical case. p. 386.

A "course contra pestem," set down by Napier, at his brother's request. 397.

"To mak a diet drink w^{ch} is counted the best receipt in London." p. 460.

- III. Medical notes set down by Dr. FORMAN, about a bloodshot eye, the falling evil, a swollen throat, etc. p. 461—3.

These two leaves seem to be a fragment of one of his books.

No. 1454.

A mutilated MS. in quarto, written on paper in the XVth century, in column, in a small running hand, extremely abbreviated. The first 8 leaves, the 17th (with a strip torn out of the middle of the 18th) and ff. 40—5, are lost, beside what are wanting at the end.

Liber scholasticus de Dialectica, seu de forma et modo ratiocinandi; valde mutilus. ff. 9—16, 18—39, 46—8.

The first words are—non semper sunt . . . ipso sed aliquando sunt per modum . . . Tercio sumendum est. The last are—in quibus essentialiter est idem post duas de differentibus specie et . . . At f. 22^b is a square figure with circles in the corners, having various positions of this theme—Omnis homo currit: which may serve to identify the work with a complete copy.

No. 1455.

A quarto volume containing 77 leaves of paper, half bound in colored paper: the latter part is vacant, and many vacancies occur among the written pages.

MARTINI LISTERI M. D. Liber seu "Appendix* de Scarabæis Britannicis;" ipsarum bestiarum effigibus nitidissimis illustratus: cum præmissa Tabula, in qua digesta sunt "Insecta Angliæ indigenæ." ff. 2^a, 3^a, 4^a; 5—37^b.

* This title is written on f. 1^b by the same hand (Lister's?)

as an 'Epilogus' on f. 38^a, which refers to two foreign works on Insects, namely that of M. S. Merian, in German, 3 vol. 4^{to}, and the 'Metamorphoses insectorum Surinamensium.' Amst. 1705, fol.

This book was probably designed as an appendix to the author's quarto volume on Spiders and Shells, which he published in 1678, under this title—"Historia Animalium Angliæ tres tractatus:" whereof his own copy is in this Museum, 'Lister, C. 112.' The MS. is neatly written, and has cuttings out of original drawings and plates pasted down at the particular places: it was given to this Museum in his life time, before his whole library came hither.

No. 1456.

A small folio volume containing 67 leaves of paper, written (for the most part) on alternate leaves, and painted on the first page. This MS. is of the time of James or Charles I.

"Sapientia Veterum, sive doctrina eorum de summa et universali medicina, qua sanitas humana, adhuc integra in eodem statu conservetur, interrupta verò, pristino restituitur, et penitus amissa recuperetur. Nec non leprositates metallorum totaliter auferatur, quadraginta Hieroglyphicis explicata. Quibus accesserunt totidem eorum explanationes, sapientiam eorum veterum, viz. Arabum, Chaldæorum, Ægyptiorum, de re medica (præcipue) adamussim delineantes. Cabala" etc. (3^a) ff. 2—66^b.

The first hieroglyphic is before the title on f. 2^a: they are drawn with a pen, and colored. On the first leaf is fixed a paper containing an Index of the chapters in "Mr Bochus booke" (as this is here called), written by Ashmole with a pencil.

No. 1457, 1458.

The folio volume thus numbered, consists of a miscellaneous collection of papers, written by different hands and at different times, to the number of 157 leaves, including the many small papers which are pasted down.

Five printed Broad-sides: viz.—

- (1.) "The table of the seven things not natural," and (2.) "The table of the seven things natural, out of the which the actions according to nature doe spring, may be perceived in this table: howbeit not so often devided as it might be done," etc. f. 1^b, 2^a.
- (3.) "The admirable vertue, property and operation of the quintessence of Rosemary flowers, and the meanes to use it for the sicknesses and diseases herein mentioned." 3^a.
- (4.) "Translated out of French. All honor and glory [etc.] Hereafter followeth the great and miraculous vertue and operation of the Pietra Celesta or celestiall stone, and the efficacy thereof."—"sold by John Armenio, a Persian, in the long walk between Christ-Church and little Bartholomewes, 1658." 4^a.
- (5.) A quack bill of the virtues of 'four most strange and rare artificiall stones' called Moraccolocius, Amethyst, Safaris, and Safonya; published "1622. October the 24. [by] Your loving friend, Jacobus Maximinus." 5^a.

This is printed in black letter, and has the King's arms at the top, as also the third has.

1. "Opus mirabile . . . luna. R' lunæ purissima a sulfure suo." Cum notis. 6^a.

By a hand of the XVIth century.

2. Directions for preparing from h. an "aqua siccæ, [which] will dissolve gold and make it potable, and all manner of mettalls;" with a draught of the furnace. f. 7^a.

In the handwriting of WILLIAM BREDEN.

3. Letter from PHILIPPUS GUALTHERUS SCHRECKENFUCHS, to Theodoricus Gravius, 'Rector at Linford,' about the elixir of ♂, (Southampton, 13 July, 1641;) with the draught of his answer: both in Dutch. 8^a, 8^b.

4. Sir RICHARD NAPIER's notes of the case of Sir Tho. Evellyn of Long Ditton, with prescriptions. (12 Sept. 1657.) 9—10.

- 5—8. Four prescriptions and medical directions, by LILLY. 11^a, 12^{ab}, 13^a, 14^{ab}.

9. The preparation and use of "The essence of flowers," by LILLY. 15^a.

10. Direction to prepare a compound decoction of 'licoras.' 16^a.

11. Ingredients and uses of "The famous medicinal powder of Trithemius." 17^a.

- 12, 13. Mr. NAPIER's medicines "For dropsyes or tympanyes," (1626,) and "Pro icteritia nigra." (1610.) 18^a, 19^a.

14. Prescriptions "for my La. Throgmarton." 20^a.

- 15—17. NAPIER's prescriptions "For a powder agaynst despaire," and other medicines, dated in 1629, 1617, and 1622. f. 21^a—24^a.

18. NAPIER's medical "Directions for Mrs Chisell." 25^a.

19. Medical receipts written by LILLY. 26^a.

20. Receipt for making "A water for to get owt staynnede spottes in clothe sylke or velvet." 27^a.

A fragment, of the time of Henry VIII.

21. Receipts for "The pladg water," and "The coke [cock] water that is good for a consumption." 28^{ab}.

By a rude old hand; with some medical notes by Sir R. Napier.

22. Short letter from JOHN ARCHER to his cousin Edward Stapper of Sudbury, asking for money. (London, 15 Jan. 1612.) 29^a.

Subscribed with a remedy "for any sore."

23. Remedies "For a[n] olde ache," and "For styche or ache in y^e syde;" subscribed "Father JECOCKE." 30^{ab}.

24. Receipt for a plaister on a blister. 31^a.

25. ASHMOLE's remedy "For a rupture." 32^a.

"This cured Mr: Ric: Hodgkinson, after 60 yeares of age."

26. Sermon notes on Rom. ix. 19, partly in shorthand,* and some medical notes. 33^{a—d}.

* By the same hand as art. 20.

27. Receipt "for the wind collick," by Lilly? 34^a.

28. "A noble meddyson, Mr Stones, for dyvers infyrmytyes." 35^a.

29. Miscellaneous receipts. *35^{ab}.

30. Two couplets, each in Latin and English, which "The antimoniall cupp speakes;" and "The [13] virtues of the antimoniall cuppe," subscribed "T. S." 36^a.

See Lilly's Autobiography, (ed. 1774.) p. 31.

31. Sir R. NAPIER's receipt "To make a most excellent plaister for all sorts of ulcers, principally for old cancers, excellent for cornes." 37^a.

32. NAPERI senioris præscriptiones quædam. 38^a.

33—39. Sundry medical papers, written by Mr. NAPIER, including prescriptions "For Sr Richard," and "For his worthy and much honoured friend and countryman, Mr Welch." (1628, 1605, etc.) 39—48.

40. "Balsamus embriionum:" ejus confectio ac usus. 49—50^{ba}.

Fairly written by an unknown hand.

41. Miscellaneous remedies, by Mr. NAPIER. 51^{ab}.

42. The preparation of "Oyle of perle" and "Oyle of corall." 52^a.

43. Part of a tract, by Dr. SIMON FORMAN, on the practice of physick, and the fallacy of vulgar symptoms. (ff. '3, 4.') 53—4^b.

44. "Electuarium rosarum rubruorum [sic], as I made it after Nicolaus;" &c. written by Dr. FORMAN in 1602 and 1603. f. 55^{ab}.

45. Other "Electuaria rosarum," as made by Dr. FORMAN, in 1604-5-6; and receipts for "Sirup of the infusion of roses" and violets. 56^{ab}.

46. Medical directions written by Mr. NAPIER. 57^a, 58^a.

47. Receipts collected by Sir R. NAPIER, "To take away haire." 59^{ab}.

48. 'Secretum antimoniales,' magno cum verborum strepitu D. Ricardo Napero in scriptum, a CASPARO TORMANNO, Helvetio-Tigurino. 60^a.

49. Medical directions for Elizab. Wyatt, by Sir R. NAPIER. (7 Apr. 1630.) 61^a.

50. "Off the dislocacyon of þe spondyles of the necke," etc. a fragment. 62—3^b.

Written in a large coarse hand, of the time of Hen. VII. or VIII.

51, 52. A collection of medical and magical secrets, by Mr. NAPIER; also some of his medical notes and memoranda. 64—5^b, 66^a.

53. Mr. NAPIER's prescription for Patience French. (1617.) 67^a.

54. "The receipt for the fallinge sicknes," and "The water for the cornes." 68^a.

"Responsa JOHANNIS LUDOVICI Hispani Samaritensis, et monachi Cisterciensis, in trinis examinationibus facta, 16 Februarij, 1617." 69^a.

The latter part of this paper (fairly written by an unknown hand) contains heretical and blasphemous opinions confessed (probably) under torture.

55, 56. Mr. NAPIER's "Directions for the usage of M^{res} Barkleye;" and for John Dellings of Exeter, 1618. f. 70^{ab}; 71^a, 72^{ab}.

57. Sir R. NAPIER's directions for "The nourishing drinke" of capons. 73^a.

58. Receipts in medicine and cookery, by Mr. NAPIER. 74^a.

59. Mr. NAPIER's directions for "A short way to make ☉ and ☾ into ♀, and out of ♀ to make ☉ and ☾ againe;" with other alchemical experiments. 75^{ab}.

60. "An approved receipte for the stone" etc. 76^a.

61—86. Various prescriptions by Mr. NAPIER, including some notes by Sir R. NAPIER. 77—102.

87. Alchemical processes and experiments. 103—104^b.

88. Medical advice "For the right reverente father, and his honourable good lord, the Bishop of London," (Richard Bancroft?) subscribed "RICH. NAPER, alias Sandie." 105^{ab}.

The rough draught, part of which is torn off.

89. Sir R. NAPIER's prescription for "A drinke for the ricketts." 106^a.

No. 1458.

1. THEODORICI GRAVII ad rev. patronum suum R. Naperum epistola, indagaciones suas de rebus chemicis et vera physica Londini factas, narrantis; de itinere ad Parisios consulentes, atque res gestas militares referentis. (Lond. 16 Apr. 1633.) 107^{ab}, 108^b.

2. Letter signed "RUTHUEN," communicating to Sir Kenelm Digby "two receipts* which D. Napier desired, the one the ♀ the other the oyle of gold." (Westm. 29 Mar. 1632.) 109^a, 110^b.

* Not written in the letter.

3. NAPIER's draught of a letter to Sir * knight, thanking him for his "deepe and profound discourse touching the philosophers' worke," and admiring the proficiency in alchemy made by such a military man. 111^a.

* Sir Edward Vere? see art. 24, and No. 1407, iii. art. 1.

4. Letter from RIC. BRACEGIRDLE to Ashmole, communicating medical advice and prescriptions* for his wife. 112^a, 113^b.

* Written on a long slip of paper fixed on 113^a.

5. Letter from GER. JAMES [to Mr. Napier] relating his employment by Sir Arthur Throckmorton, to answer a papistical 'writing,' in conjunction with Mr. Saunders and Mr. Whalley; and promising to set about Mr. Monson's nativity. 114^a.

The second leaf is lost.

6. Letter from Sir RICHARD NAPER to his brother Alexander at 'Lutton Hoo,' giving kind medical advice for his present 'looseness.' (Lindford, 21 Mar. 1634.) 115^{ab}, 116^b.

With a small seal of arms.

7. Letter from 'SA: DUN:' to Mr. Napier, about chemical preparations for medicine; and stating that he was born 13 Feb. 1581, etc.; dated 'Twelwe eve' [1619.*] 118^a, 119^{ab}.

* He says "I shall be next february 28 yeares of age." His surname is here abbreviated; see art. 10.

8. Letter from WILLIAM MARSHE to 'Mr Richard Sandey' or Napier, describing his little son's illness, and about an 'ould booke.' 119^a, 120^b.

9. Letter from RICHARD MARTIN to 'Mr Sandie' or Napier, stating that his master* would send a 'runlet' of sack, and 14 pounds of 'corrants;' that George Smith had gone to Luton to 'ayer the howse whear some poor folkes ar ill,' to take medicine and Dr. TARNER's 'derecton for the ayering of the howse.' (London, 30 July 1607.) 122^{ba}.

A copy of the said directions. 121^{ab}.

* For whom he wrote this, being absent at Grocers' Hall:—Sir Robert Napier?

10. Letter from 'SAN: DUNCUMBE' to Mr. Napier, communicating sundry receipts for the gout. (21 Sept. 1630.) 123^a, 124^b.

With seal of arms.

11. Mr. NAPIER's letter to John Mason, requesting the advice of a learned friend of his, on the case of a nobleman who believed his disease to be caused by 'witcherye;' and desiring that person to come, or at least to meet him at Northampton. 125^{ab}, 126^b.

This letter was desired to be returned: on the other leaf therefore is written—

The answer of Mr. Mason's friend, written by 'W. P.' himself, promising to go to see Napier. 126^a.

12. GEORGI BATE ad Naperum epistola, patientis cujusdam sui morbum et habitum multis enarrans. (Mortonix, pr. non. Feb. 1634.) 127^{ab}, 128^b.

Desiring an answer to be directed to S. Edmund's Hall in Oxford.

13. Letter to Mr. Napier from JOHN LATCHE, about his little girl 'Francke,' and the pomander worn to cure her fits. 129^a.

On the back of this undated letter, are written by Napier—

A figure set for Mr. Rich. Holland, apothecary of London. (4 May 1627.) 130^b.

Medicines "To draw out a thorne" and "For a tooth ach." ib.

14. A catalogue of twelve alchemical and chemical operations, headed "I have a freind of myne can performe these things following," boasted as able to produce "threescore and twelve thousand pounds per annum at the least." 131^a.

This curious article is very neatly written, in a hand of the time of Charles I.

15. Catalogus medicamentorum* quæ sunt "Calida in 4^o g^u—Frigida in p^o gradu," secundo ac tertio, "Humida in primo gradu," et "Sicca in in 4^o g^u." 133—5^b.

* Simples arranged as being herbs, seeds, flowers, etc. with spaces left for additions. This is a fragment of a quarto MS. neatly written on paper in the XVth century.

16. A preface* of PONTANUS, relating his long search after the true knowledge of the philosophers' stone, and the working thereof. 136—8.

* So it seems, beg. thus Pontanus have traveled many regions. At the end is this note—"Translado)) 2 Euen[?] 1587. ante prandium." with the initials R. N.; but it is not by Napier's hand. On the last page of these four quarto leaves, is an exposition of this proverb—"Where Xp'e hath his church, the Divell hath his chappell." 139^b.

17. "Off the engendryng of bestes unperfett;" a translation of 'the forthe chapter' of some work, with a preface beg. Peradventur some wold gather of the wordes that I have comitted to offences. 140—1^b.

A folio sheet of old vellum (which had been folded in quarto) closely and fully written as the original draught, in the time of Henry VIII.

18. Fragmentum alchemicum (ff. '58, 57, 56') in quo "De fermento operis" et "Sequitur de naturis corporum"—sic des. sunt substantie passive hee quatuor complexiones. (142^b.) 142—4^b.

The upper part of these 3 leaves of paper has been so stained, that the first words are not legible: they are part of a folio MS. of the XVth century, with good margins, on which are written many words by Forman's hand.

19. An alchemical tract intitled "The practyse of the philosophical It is manifest that the operacōn of medicynē ys" (pp. 8.) ff. 148^{ba}, 145—7^b.

In an old hand, much like to that of art. 16. The corner of the first 'padge' being lost, it has been inadvertently put last.

20. "What are the things w^{ch} are required in the composition of the Elixir," shown; written by NAPIER. 149^a, 150^{ab}.

21. Alchemical notes, written by Dr. FORMAN. 151—2^b.

22. An alchemical fragment, (fol. '3.') beg.—awaye that other earthe the which buth i clepud fees. 153^{ba}.

Written early in the XVth century, on paper.

23. "Howe the ellementes be subtylyated, and how they be ingrossed, by the circular whelle [which] is called the gollden chayne of RAYMONDE LULLYE, cap. 81. his theoricke. Therefore the philo'srs sayd." 154^{ab}.

—"and infinit powers et c. Finis Lullye."

"Howe the artist ought to note these vertus mynerall next to perfeccyon, and of the breviacōn of the worke, and of fermentacōn. etc. Above althinges w^{ch} wee have sayde." 154^b.

24. Letter from ROBERT THOMSON to Napier, requesting advice on the case of a sick friend, stating that he had "obtained a direction from Sir Edward Vere, of the perfecte makinge of the great elixer," and complaining of the ill treatment that he had suffered from his own alchemical associates Robert Miles and John Miles. (Watton, 27 June 1614.) 155^a.
25. The process of an alchemical experiment for a projection on gold and silver, written by NAPIER. 156^{ab}.

Beg. First make a water of Aquafortis. The other leaf is vacant.

26. PETRI SERRARI ad Gravium epistola, de fratre Gravii, de uxore Popkenii mortua, deque bellico apparatu in Germania; memorans amicos Salamon et Zaekhuysen. (cal. Mar. 1631—2.) 157^a, 157^b.

Directed in French to him, at Linford.

27. Ejusdem ad amicum suum pia et elegans epistola, de ipsius Gravii in Galliam expectata profectione, de operatione quadam medica respondens, a falsa philosophia dehortans eum, simul cum amici Salamonis ejusdem argumenti suasionem; postremo de concionatore Londinensi, D. Le Cerf, qui male audierat Gravium ad Arminianos discessisse. (23 Sept. 1633.) 158^{ab}.

Directed to him at Linford, "to deliver to Mr. Harrison, in the naked boy, apothecaire, at London."

28. Letter to Gravius, in Dutch. (... Sept. 1631.) 159^a.

29. A collection of twenty-four "Receipts" * in Confectionary, for the preserving of fruits, and making of various biscuits, cakes, and breads. 160—3.

* Thus indorsed by Ashmole. These two sheets are written in a hand of the time of James I. The first, last, and some other titles, may be worthy of notice.

"To make of oranges past, or lemons." 160.

——— the Itallion biskitt." 160^b.

——— the Prince biskitt." ib.

——— shell bread." 161.

——— an excellent breade, caled the buttered bunn, to [be] eatne whotte." ib.

——— a delicate breade caled Countes cakes." 162.

——— radishes, carettes and turneps, cabidge, litle beanes and pease, botlie in the shell, and out of the shell, hearinges and sprates white and red, crabes, crevishes, lobstars, and put them in euolers after the life." ib.

These four last papers were found in the quarto bundle, No. 1399, and being in folio, were removed into this volume: the third was much mutilated.

No. 1459.

A folio volume, marked at the beginning (f. 1^a) "Liber H." It consists of three parts; the first (ff. 3—27) is written in a fair large hand; the second (f. 28, pp. 1—363) contains many transcripts, by Ashmole, who has numbered the pages throughout this and the third part, (pp. 364—481,) which is written partly in a small secretary-hand of Q. Elizabeth's time, and partly by Ashmole.

On a sheet of paper (beside the fly-leaves) prefixed to the first MS., Ashmole has written—

- (1.) Alchemicorum MSS. quorundam tituli, e "Cat: Libr: in Bibl: Col: Sionij." Londinensis. 2^a.
(2.) Tristichon inc. Aecede ad montem. 2^b.

- I. "The supercelestiall, celestiaall, and terrestriall Divine Light of Nature, describinge the creation of the world, by an [en]igmaticall figure of the trinitye in unitye out of Moses, agreeinge with divine and morrall writers. The philosophers stone, and philosophical worke, out of Moses agreeinge with the ancient philosophers." Dedicated to Charles I., by HENRY HARRINGTON." ff. 3^b—26^b.

This title (the second and third of four sentences written on f. 4^a) is preceded by an address of "The authour to his actour" (the book) on f. 3^b, and followed by the dedication (4^b) and "The authours preface to the reader," f. 5—6. This tract is full of the most absurd trifles, and is illustrated with verses quoted from Ripley and other alchemists.

On the last page is neatly written a—

Sonnet inscribed "To Mr: Bowden,* upon his giving me this booke," 8 July 1648. by E. A. 26^b.

* "Nicholas Bowden, a famous chirurgeon of Reding in com: Berks. borne at Loughborow in com' Leic: 1576." (A copy of his baptismal certificate is subjoined, 5 Mar. 1576.) This sonnet is also written by ASHMOLE'S hand, in No. 36, 37, art. 238.

On the last leaf of this part, (the upper part of which is torn off,) Ashmole has written a short list of the contents following, (f. 27^a), and these two articles:—

- (1.) "Ex libro collectaneorum G^ü. R." [IPLEY] retractatio scriptorum suorum inter annos 1450 et 1470: inc. Falix quem faciunt" etc. 27^b.
(2.) Hexastichon inc. Explicit alchimicæ tractatus philosophicæ. ib.

"This I mett wth in a vellem Manuscript of Dr. Dee's, written before RIPLEY'S 12. Gates, at ye end of web booke was written 1471" etc.

- II. (1.) "H: L: in laudem G. R." distichon inc. Maturus. f. 28^b.

- (2.) Epigram by "T. M.* in the comend: of G. R. O noble George." (8 l.) ib.

* "THO. MONFORT the transcriber of this booke," that is, of the MS. used by Ashmole: see p. 34.

- (3.) Characteres xix. alchymici explicati. ib.

1. "Aurea ars Alchymistarum. De ignibus nostris, sine quorum noticia non perficitur magisterium, per G[EORGIVM] R[IPLEY] Canonicum expöte. Hic jacent contrarie operationes." pp. 1—7.

—"donec convenient et non discrepant. Explicit expositio G. R. Canonici de Brydlyngton. De ignibus nostris." The following title, written on the first page of this part (marked f. 28^a), includes the next article:—"Georgius Ripleyus Chanonicus de Bridlyntone, de regimine ignibus nostris,* cum suis quibusdam experimentis probatissimis, vixit tempore regis Edwardi quarti Rex † Angliæ. Et nunc rescriptus erat per me Eliam Ashmoleum, Dec: 7: die, anno Domini 1650."

2. GEORGI RIPLEY liber experimentorum alchemicorum, inc. "Pro ☉ vel ☽ philosophorum. R' corpus quod ponderosius est." p. 7—32.

This first is numbered '2' as if the foregoing article were No. 1: the last is "102. To fix (☉ prepared," ending—and fusible etc. (Eight lines follow written in Ashmole's shorthand.) The next articles are numbered '103, 104.'

3. "Somn[i]um GEORGI RIPLEI. Somnia ne cures dictum vulgare tenentur." (vv. 48.) p. 33—4.

—"Lympha soror, mater Terra virore vigens. Explicit somn[i]um Georgij Ripley Canon' de Brydlyngtone."

4. "Visio GEORGI RIPLEI Canonici de Bridlington. Pervigil in studio, nocturno tempore quodam." (vv. 24.) p. 34.

—"Imperium jubilus laus honor atque decus. Explicit visio G. Ripley anno Domini 1473." The colophon at the foot of this page, seems to include all the foregoing articles:—"Explicit liber GEORGI RYPLÆI Anglice dictus his boosome booke, ab eo scriptus ab a^o. Domini 1473, et aliquot sequentibus: transcriptus autem per Thomam Monfortium a^o. 1590. May 24."

5. "Dialogue of 'the philosophers' stone,* or figure of Three;" in 30 questions and answers: beg. Sir I have comended to you a confirmacōn of those points of philosophy. p. 34^b—53.

* These three words only, precede the text; the title is copied from f. 27. This transcript was begun on the 25th, and ended 28 Aug. 1650.

6. A short tract "Of the philosophers' stone. Heere begineth the treatise where the Philors declare openly y^t thing y^t is the Philors stone." p. 54—61.

The last words are—all the masterie fulfilled.

7. "Stella Complexionis. The liberall arte or delightfull documentes of all philosophy, y^t is to say the conclusion of y^e perfect maistrie." p. 62—97.

The 12th chapter ends thus—"unto me unworthy and a sinner. Amen. Here endeth the small booke called the Starr of Complexion of Alchimy, made by JOHN BUMBELEM of England, in the yeare of or Lord 1384. [Translated?] By me CHRISTOPHER TAYLOR 1584." A copy of "Another tytle" follows, where it is said to have been dedicated to Richard II.

8. "A Naturall Chymicall Symbolum, or a short confession of HENRY KUNWRATH of Lipsicke, Doctor of Phisick, concerning y^e universall, naturall, triune, wonderous, marvelous operacōn of y^e most misticall naturall chaos of alchimy, of the philosophers greate and universall stone, their naturall and proper subject, or their true and only matter." etc. p. 98—104.

In the subscription of this 'Creede' it is dated 12 Dec. 1597: to it is annexed—

- "A philosophicall short song of the incorporating of the Spirit of the Lord in salt, Gen: i. 2. moved on y^e face of y^e waters. Spirit divine, blest be thy state." (7 st. of 4.) 105—6.

Each st. ending Lord have mercy upon us: it is thus subscribed—"Doctor KUNWRATH faciebat 23 Decembris, anno 1597. octava vespertina. Translated out of the Dutch copy."

9. "A Vision which BEN ADAM had in a dreame, in the raigne of Ruclaretz King of Adama, published by FLORETTS A BETHABOR. Together with another treatise of the Journey of FREDERICK GALLUS unto the hermitage of St: Michael, in the year 1602.* p. 107—110, 111—116.

* These words are in the title immediately prefixed to the latter very curious narrative, which is thus subscribed "Finis. Printed at Amsterdam by Hansz Fabeln 1648. And translated out of the Dutch copy." Inserted here is a quarto leaf containing the draught of—

- * ASHMOLE's letter to Mr. Alestre, describing the places and circumstances mentioned in the foregoing narrative, and requesting him to inquire farther about them in his return. (12 Jan. 165^o.) *116.

This story of the hermit, about which Ashmole desired to know more, is mentioned in the preface to his Theatrum, p. vii—i.

10. "Certaine Rules touching the philosophers' stone. I. That w^{ch} is next to perfeccōn." (Twenty.) 117—118.

11. "The best ferment of RAMUND LULLIE. Take fine gold." 118.

12. "An epitomy of RIPLEY'S 12 Gates. The eternal God in the begining." 119—128.

13. "The camphire worke. In the glorious name of God I will begin to make the body." 129—135.

The last page is headed thus—"The King & Queene."

14. "A discourse of antimonye. Verbis honoris præmissis, sic incipit tractatum suum de antimonio, ad dominum Johannem Bap[t]istam de Seepator, ALEXANDER A SUCHSTEN, etc. Because you have so great a delight in searching out the scaerettes of nature." 136—161.

This curious tract exposes (by experiments) some of the boastings of 'Gold-thirsty Alchymists.' It is subscribed thus at the end—"Octob: 24. 1575."

15. "A treatise of JOHN ISACK of antimonie, translated out of Flemmish. Stibium by the opinion of the Ph^lcs." 162—8.

This article and the next were translated from the Latin in No. 1426, ii.

16. "JOHN ISACK his great worke of Saturne, translated out of Flemmish into Latine by JAMES DE SOMMERS of Gaunt, [and again into English.] Know my sonne, that out of Saturne proceedeth." 169—185.

17. "Here begineth the booke intituled Thesaurus Philosophorum. Almightye God & most mcreyfull father." 186—191.

Consisting of a pseudo-pious preface, and four chapters: ending thus—then the naturall gold, by the gift of God whose name be blessed for ever & ever. Amen.

18. "Certaine perticuler works:"* namely "To make ☿ of ☉. R' ☉ and calcine him in this wisic." etc. 192—8.

* This title is taken from f. 27^a. The last is thus headed—"Crocus Martis ita preparatur."

19. "A compendious and very true artificiall elixering of the metalicall Sol and Luna, without darke or figurative tearmes, into the most noble and high degree and medecine of the Ph'ers Stone or Mercury; orderly and playnely expressed in these 'Five Articles'* following, without impediment danger or payne. R' first q: s: of the finest orientall gold called ☉." 199—202.

* This is the only title given at f. 27. 'The fift and last article' ends thus—then the orientall Portingall gold is. Subjoined is a short piece, seeming not to belong to these, intitled—

20. The medical virtues of the "Philosoph^rs Mercury converted into oyles. It cureth all infirmities." 202—3.

21. "Speculum Alkanie scriptura tali maner' nomine ve [sic] noscitur habere. Primum verbum hujus operis est" etc. 203.

Des. sic—versus: Gemma salutaris qui nascitur orbicularis, et cetera, et cetera.

22. "The worke of JOHN SAWTRE monke of Thorney abbey in Lincolneshire. I thank almighty God w^{ch} hath shewed me y^e privitie of Alchemy wth the experieence thercof." 205—227.

At the end of the preface are four Latin verses, the first letters of the words whereof give the author's name thus—Johannes Savtre Monachus Toorneya. The 'recapitulatio' after the twelfth chapter, ends thus—and by ye obedience of him that shall nothing faile. Finis."

23. "St: DUNSTANE Bpp: of Canterbury, of y^e philosophers stone, written about 560 yeares since. Englished out of y^e Latine by P. E. 1627. It is cheifly to bee understood yt y^e auntyent Ph'ers did often endeavour." 228—241.

Ashmole has noted that "Dr Browne hath the Lattyn copy:" there is one in No. 1433, i. artt. 1—5, which agrees with this, except an addition at the end concerning S. Dunstan and his prophesy against Ethelred "extant in Paul's church in London." There is also added a distich beg. Quid lapis scitis.

24. "RAVELLASCHE'S Theorick. The theorick of the greate worke of the philosophers' stone, written by Frier PHILLIP REVILLASCHE Pre-montist, chief magician and philosopher of his tyme. Ignorance (the enemy of all seyences) causeth oft tymes." 243—252.

Ending thus—"by Jesus Christ our lord. Amen." In the second page is a quotation from a book which Ashmole (referring to the Theatrum Chemicum, vol. iii. p. 819) calls "Anonymi liber secreti maximi totius mundanæ gloriæ, extractus per Robertum Vellensen." This work is different from that at p. 365, where the author's name is properly written.

25. "Dialogue betweene King Izzot and Morien:" beg. "Rex Izzot derogation. O Morien first itt liketh me to aske." 253—273.

This title is taken from f. 28. After the words ending the 27th answer,—and laud God the Creator, of his guift, (p. 271) begins a sequel intitled "Incipit expositio specierum que pertinent huic magisterio [etc.] The exposicōn of all the aforesaid names."

26. "Speculum Alchimie ROGERI BACON. Most dearest freind, I send as much greeting to you." 274—9.

—"Thus fare you well: all honour and prayse be to God. Finis. Unum continet in se masculum" etc.

27. Quinquagenarii eujusdam viri, qui per 20 annos arcana investigarat, epistola ad Fratres Roseæ Crucis, in eorum fraternitatem se recipi petens.* 280—2.

* Anagrammaticæ se nominat in calce—Tellus Astri Solis.

28. "Fama Fraternitatis, or a Discovery of the Fraternity of the laudable order of the Rose Crosse, from us the Brethren of the Fraternity R. C. to all that wth a Christian like censure shall reade this or fame, be our salutacōn love and prayers." 284—299.

A very curious statement, said to have been set forth in five languages: the next article is referred to herein.

29. "The Confession of the laudible and honest esteemed Order, or Fraternity of the Rose-Crosse, written to the learned in Europe:" with "A preface to the wisdome-desirous reader." 300, 301—311.

These two articles seem to have been transcribed from No. 1478, iii. (a).

30. "Certaine queries made by the Archbishopp of R[he]jims to M^r: DE SENS, [about Alchemy; with his answer to each,] as followeth." 312—22.

31. "Governance of the fire. Governance of fire in sublyming is sharpe." 322—3.

32. Tests of a true and a false alchemist; also about the philosophers' eagle: beg. Whosoever knoweth ye true course into mineralls. 324.

Probably belonging to the next article, but there is no title for it at f. 27, though it is referred to separately.

33. "Voces Artis, wth the two fires of nature, requisite in your animall and vegetable worke. (1) First there is an Aqua Cælestis." 325—7.

34. Count* "TREVISANUS of the stone. Sulphur is not without ye substance of Mercury." 328—337.

* So at f. 27.

35. "The Theorieke of TREVISANUS. Aristotle and divers others of ye Ph'ers." 338—346.

36. "TREVISAN of y^e reasons of mettalls. God made in the begining one confused matter." 348—361.

Seeming, from a note partly in shorthand, to be translated from a work "De Chimico Miraculo." It ends thus—Labourers in this pretious arte, so is ended my booke.

The last leaf of this part (p. 362—3) is vacant; the first leaf of the next seems to have been reversed, so that the title page is opposite to the work.

III. "A treatise of the greate worke of the philosophers' stone, by PHILLIP DE ROUILLACH, a graye friar of Piedmont, the prince of the naturall philosophers of hys tyme. Written in the yeare of our Lord M.D.IIIIXX. vz. A^o D^{oi}. 1516.

"The copie of this booke was taken out of the originall, in the reigne of Elizabeth Queen of England, remaining (as I heare) in the Library of the French Kinges." pp. 365, 366—440.

It begins with a title in almost the same words, and thus:—In the name of God. The auuncient poets, fathers of all philosophie. It ends with a long prayer, the last words being—"and that they may assiste us to sing prayse—Jesus Christ o^r Lord. Amen. Finis." This fair transcript is closely written in secretary-hand of the time of James I.

Twenty blank leaves remained at the end, on which, and some inserted between them, (namely, p. 464-5, 466-7, 472-9,) are the following articles written, except the second.

(1.) "The English of the Dutch verses in Rosarium Philosophorum:" beg. thus—"Wyn sindt der mettall etc: We are of mettalles begining and first nature." 464—5.

The paper thus indorsed, is subscribed thus—"Mr de Chenis Quercitans daught," probably the name of the translator.

(2.) Explanations of the letters of the alphabet, as symbolically used in "cap. 10" of some alehemical work. 466^a.

Neatly written before Ashmole's time.

(3.) "The epistle dedicatorie" of THOMAS TYMME (to Tho. Baker, esq.) prefixed to his translation of Dr. Dee's Monas. 469—71.

(4.) "The fore-speech to the reader," by the same. 472—9.

(5, 6.) "A Light in Darknes," by "THOMAS TYMME of Hasketon," explaining "the elose words and obscure figures in the Monas." 479*, 480—1.

* This former copy is written in Ashmole's shorthand, to which the shorthand copy of art. (3.) seems to belong, which is in No. 1819, art. 15; the later is written in full. Other pieces by the same writer, on the same subject, are in No. 1440, artt. 15, 16.

No. 1460.

A folio volume bound in old gilt calf, containing '137' written pages, beside 18 blank leaves at the end, and 24 at the beginning, most of which are vacant, but partly ruled for an index. The MS. is fairly written within ruled margins, in a neat hand of King James-es time.

"Liber Experimentorum JOHANNIS TRITHEMIJ Abbatis Spanhemensis;" numero 269: cum auctoris præmio. ff. 23^a, 24^{ab}; pp. 1—137.

The titles are all fairly written with red ink. The last words are—"maxime si sint matura. Finis."

No. 1461.

A folio volume, consisting of 149 leaves, namely, 4 vacant leaves at each end, 2 containing an index, and 139 containing fair drawings in water-colors on alternate leaves, done in the time of James or Charles I. On the last blank page at the beginning is fixed a neat colored—

Drawing of the flower "Martagon vel Leli [de] Nova Anglia."

On the two next leaves is—

An alphabetical "Table" or Index to the following work; written by ASHMOLE. pp. 4.

The Tradescants' Orchard, illustrated in sixty-five colored Drawings of Fruits, exhibiting various kinds of the 'Aple, Aprieot, Cherry, Damson, Date, Goosberry, Peares, Peaches, Plums, Nectarines, Grape, Hasell-nutt, Quince, Strawberry;' with the times of their ripening. ff. '11—149.'

These general names are copied from the Index. As one kind of cherry is named the 'Tradescant-Cherry,' (f. 25), this interesting book was undoubtedly made by or for Sir JOHN TRADESCANT, or one of his family. Compare his handwriting in a pamphlet in this library, No. 735, tract 10.

No. 1462.

A folio MS. written in columns of text-hand, in the XIIIth century, on 82 leaves of vellum, which were numbered by two antient hands, by one from the 12th leaf to the end, (at f. '71'), by the other throughout: hence it appears that this very curious book hath suffered the loss of ff. 6, 7, 9, 52, 58, 63, and the lower half of f. 51. It is adorned with rubrics, painted capitals, and some hundreds of very rude but curious drawings, deeply colored: many of the rubrics are in capital letters, alternately red and black.

1. Præfatiuneula in totum præsens volumen: ine. In hoc continentur libri quattuor medicine, Ypocratis, Platonis Apoliensis urbis de diversis herbis, Sexti Papiri Placiti ex animalibus et ex diversis avibus. Idem ex libris Dioscoridis ex herbis seminibus. ut quis voluerit si pro qua fuerit querere cura.* etc. f. 1^a.

* Namely, artt. 7, 9, 11, and 13.

2. Synopsis libelli Antonii Musæ*: inc. cum hac rubrica, "Herbam betoniam Seolapius adinvenit: habet curas .xlvi. in canone ejusdem herbe." f. 1^{ab}.

* Art. 8.

3. Synopsis Herboralii Apuleii: inc. "In primo libro quem Plato descripsit, sunt herbe pro medicina numero eentum .xxx. due. Ejusdem herba prima plantaginis habet virtutes .xx. quattuor." etc. 1^b—5^c.

Prefixed are five lines of text, beg. In primo libro sunt herbe descripte: quas Apoliensis Plato descripsit etc.: also a distich, beg. Omnia tempus habet. At the end is this colophon—"Expliciunt capitula medicine herbatice libri Platonis feliciter. Amen." The book whereof the contents are here described, is art. 9: these tables of contents are written in four narrow columns on each page.

4. "Ad dies Egipciaeos" noseendum, per annum: inc. "Januario. Intrante die primo." 5^{cd}.

5. "De quattuor humoribus ex quibus constat humanum corpus. Quattuor humores sunt in humano corpore." f. 5^{ef}.

The last words are—Flebothomia quoque incium est sanitatis, mentem sincerat, memoriam prebet. . . . (The two next leaves have been cut out.)

6. Picturæ, loca corporis ostendentes ubi sanguis emitti, et quomodo 'albulæ oculorum' excuti, et 'fungus de nare' abscindi debeant. 8^{ab}, 10^a.

The leaf formerly between these two contained figures numbered 18—27; those on the last page being numbered '28, 29,' by an old hand.

7. *ΥΠΟΚΡΑΤΕΣ * Mecennati suo salutem. Libellum quem tibi roganti promisi, omni cura adhibita, descriptum misi ordinatissimum, tue salutis custodem.* etc. 10^c—11^d.

* "Med: 2. 15. paulo post pag. 31." (Note by an old hand, referring to a printed book in the Bodleian.) The last words are—Utemur ergo frigidioribus et dulcioribus et beneolentibus. . . . One leaf having been cut out here, the end of this article, and the beginning of the next, are lost.

8. ANTONII MUSÆ epistola de sequenti suo libello; sic inc. Antonius] Musa Mecennati Agrippe salutem. 12^{ab}.

Corrected all through by a hand of the fifteenth century. After the last words (sic uteris) occurs a paragraph which is not to be found in the older copy, No. 1431.

Explicatio ponderum: inc. Oportet pondus vel pondera medicinalia nosse. 12^b.

ANTONII MUSÆ libellus de virtutibus herbæ betonicæ: inc. cum hac rubrica, "Scolapius hanc herbam uetonicam legit. Quia ipse primus inuenit. Nomen herbæ uetonica." 12^c—14^a.

Des.—carpeti affirmant. A picture of the herb is at f. 12^b, thus intitled in rubric, "vetoynæ;" and, at f. 13^d, is a picture of a man attacked by a serpent and by a dog: see also f. 14^c.

9. Herboralium APULEII PLATONIS, * inc. cum epistola, qua "Apoliensis Plato† civibus suis virtutes omnium herbarum aperit. Ex pluribus pauca vires herbarum." Cum picturis herbarum. 14^a—45^c.

* This title is taken from No. 1431, art. 1, which is a more ancient copy of this work: the drawings in this MS. are more numerous and better painted than those of the other; it also contains one more herb, namely (after these words, Radices etiam sicce reseruentur pluribus usibus profuture, and a picture)—"Nomen hujus herbe canepicium dictum est. [45^c] Quidam dicunt eam obtorzelos." The last words are—"dolorum scrofi mirifice tollit. Explicit liber Platonis de herbis masculinis medicinalibus feliciter." Compare the edition printed at Basil, 1528, fol. (Bodl. C. 1. 4. Med. Seld.)

† Altered to Apuleius Platonis, by a hand of the XVth century, by which this MS. is corrected and interpolated throughout. The names of the herbs are given in English, in rubric, by a hand of the XIVth century.

10. "Incipit epistola de bestiola quam aliqui melen vocant. Quidam vero taxonem. A Rege Egyptiorum, Octaviano missa. * Rex Egyptiorum Octaviano Augusto salutem." 45^c—6^b.

* With a picture here inserted. To these last words—adver-

sus pestem quam barbari inferunt, is added by a hand of the XVth century, "Explicit epistola de taxone etc."

11. "Incipiunt capitula libri medicinarum PLACIDI ACTORIS, ex animalibus, pecoribus, bestiisque, et avibus. In primis vero describitur cervus. Cervi enim virtutes sunt decem et octo. Prima cura ejus. Ad humores ex[s]iccandos omnes." f. 46^b—8^b.

This index to the following book is written in fourfold columns, and ends with this colophon:—"Explicit capitula libri medicine PLACIDI ACTORIS, ex animalibus [etc.—] avibus."

12. Opus, cum picturis animalium, cujus in calce titulus—"Liber medicine SEPTIMI PLACITI ex animalibus, pecoribusque et avibus, explicit feliciter Deo gracias." 49—61^a.

It begins with this rubric, after a picture of the stag,— "Prima cura ipsius; ad exsiccandum universos pessimos humores. Cervinum cornu" etc. The last words are, valet mirifice. To the colophon (above written) are added these figures '1100,' but evidently by a modern hand.

13. "Incipit liber DIOSCORIDIS: In hoc enim libro continentur herbe femine numero sexaginta una. utilissime pro usu medicine. cujus canones suterscripti * sunt. Prime nomen herbe hecynum †. Hec autem herba: facit." Cum picturis. 61^b—80^a.

* So; but there is no table of its contents in this volume.

14. Septem herbarum descriptiones *, cum picturis; ad quarum calcem—"Explicit atque perficitur liber medicinarum DI[O]SCORIDIS, ex herbis masculinis, et ex animalibus, pecoribusque et avibus, atque de herbis femininis sive semininis. feliciter." 80^a—1^d.

* Inc.—"Hujus herbe nomen viola purpurea est. Hujus herbe violæ."

15. "Incipit epistola APOLLINIS de emplastro podagrico satis ammirabile cuidam missa podagr^o. Spuma argenti lib. j." 81^d—2^a.

Des.—Et ex inde quoscumque volueris medicabis.

16. "Infectio optima ad denigrandum capillos. Irundinum stercoribus quantum sufficit." 82^{ab}.

Des.—et omnes cicatrices sanat.

17. "Quomodo capilli et barbe nascentur. [G]labros asini id est collectionem que vulgo fielena vocatur." 82^b.

Des.—Barbatum eam facias.

18. "Origanum" herba depicta. 82^b.

The back of this leaf is vacant, except that it bears some old scrawl, and the name of "Edwarde Groveley," written six times; it is also written three times on the first page, where are the autographs of other possessors, "Robert Flud 1612," and "E. Ashmole." Within the cover is pasted part of an indented Inquisitio post mortem, upon Nich. Tucker, of Greenwich, 2 Jac. 1.

No. 1463.

A small folio volume, containing 62 leaves, for the most part vacant: the MS. is in a small and close handwriting.

1. A collection of medical receipts and chemical experiments; interspersed with miscellaneous notes, epitaphs, and other curious pieces; written by JOHN STANSBY. pp. 1—24.

The following are the most remarkable contents:—

- (1.) Verses written "8 March 1669. This month of March." (6 lines.) p. 1.
 (2.) The custom at 'Woodenbassett in com. Wilts,' when a dispute arises in the choice of a mayor. ib.
 (3.) Epigram. ib.
 "Our bodies are like shoos, which off wee cast, Phisick our cobler is, and death's our last."
 (4.) Wonderful preservation of Mercy Aylmer. ib.
 See also No. 242, art. 42.
 (5.) Curious epitaph "Upon a tombe-stone in Doneaster, in com. Ebor.—1579." ib.

The same as in No. 36, 37, art. 130. There is a copy on a folio leaf, in Wood's Library, No. 429, art. 22, "Printed for H. Herringman, 1665."

- (7.) Epitaph "Upon William Prinn, whoe dyed... 1669:" (12 l.) with notes. p. 2.

Both copied hence by Ashmole, in No. 36, 37, artt. 131—2.

- (9.) "Catullus. The sun doth sett." (4 l.) ib.
 (10.) "Epitaph on George Blagrave, clarke of All-hallows church in Derby, whoe dyed 165..." by "THO: PANCROFT." (10 l.) ib.
 (11.) Epigram on profane swearing. (10 l.) ib.

With these notes:—"K. Hen. ye 8 y^t put downe ye mass. Crosses voted downe 1644." Which are not in Ashmole's copy, No. 36, 37, art. 133.

- (12.) "To take inke out of paper or parchmt or any print blotted with inke." p. 5.
 (13.) "To renew old and worne letters." ib.

This is the mischievous process with galls. At p. 23 is this note:—"Juyce of apricocks will take away any writinge out of paper. E. Ashmole. esq^r."

- (14.) "How to guild wood, as bedsteads and such like." p. 11.
 (15.) "Sr WALTER RALEIGH'S verses, found in his bible in the gate house at Westm^r. Even such is Tyme, which takes in trust." (8 l.) p. 13.

More accurate than the copy in No. 230, f. 343^b.

- (16.) "Sr W: RALEIGH on the snuffe of a candle, the night before hee dyed." (2 l.) p. 13.

"Cowards feare to dye, but courage stout Rather then live, in snuffe will bee putt out."

- (17.) Epitaph or epigram "On the death of Arch BPP Bancroft. Here lyes my lords grace at six and seaven." (4 l.) ib.

- (18.) "Another. Bancroft was for plaies." (4 l.) ib.

- (19.) Epitaph "On the death of Sr Robert Cecill, E. of Salisbury &c. on whome the black cloud of detraccon fell, upon all he saied or did. Here lyes throwne for the wormes to cate." (10 l.) ib.

Among the medical passages occur the following names, &c.:—

- Dr. Butler, p. 1.

 "Daffy's elixir salutis, wth wch he gained much profit." p. 23.
 Dr. Parmy. p. 27.

2. "To make mum, accordinge to the direccōns recorded in the towne house of Brunswick." p. 25.

"This receite was transcribed in Brunswick, from the record, by Mr William Richardson, marchant; and given to Mr Ashmole by Dr Micklethwayte of London." A short passage follows, about "Ebulum."

At the other end, is entered invertedly,—

3. "An epitaph on the Dutches of New-Castle. Here lyes wise, chast, hospitable, humble." (10 l.) f. 62^b.

Same as No. 36, 37, art. 185.

No. 1464.

A folio volume containing two MSS. on paper; whereof the former consists of 4 leaves unnumbered, 44 numbered, and 1 blank at the end: it is a fair transcript made in Ashmole's time, if not by his own hand.

- I. The Ordinall of Alchymy, in old English verse, by THOMAS NORTON of Bristol: with the Latin prologue beginning thus—" Cantilena Thome Northoni philosophi cap^{li}, sui temporis doctissimi celeberrimique. Liber iste clericis monstrat scientiam." (10 tetrastichis.) p. 7. f. 1—3, 4^b—44^b.

See No. 57. The last line of this copy is—This worke beganne, honnor to God of heaven. The Latin sentences between the prologue and the text (f. 1^a) are the words of Angelus, Discipulus, and Magister, in the illumination engraved at p. 13 of Ashmole's Theatrum.

II. "Conste hoemen aele voerwen maeken sal, ende hoemen die vryven sal, tsamen temperen, ende hoemen die legghen sal, tsamen verheffen ende verdiepen, ende vuck hoemen die menghen sal, jnhoudende 144. met eenen tafel gheschreven den i. dach Januarius. A^o. 1612." (p. 3.) ff. 1—58^b, 59—62^b.

At the end of the table is this note—"Eynde des Registers A^o. 1612." (62^b.) This MS. is fairly written in a large Dutch hand, with margins ruled off: the first leaf and the two last are vacant.

No. 1465.

A folio volume of thick paper, in good preservation, being (though distended in thickness) well secured with clasps. The handwriting appears to be that of a foreigner.

Hortus Siccus, seu liber Plantarum et Florum (quadringerorum fere,) chartaceis agglutinatum foliis, cum nominibus subscriptis. ff. 3—160.

In the old catalogue (No. 7528) this book is ascribed to Edward Morgan; but the writing and its general appearance are so different from his Hortus Siccus, in No. 1502, that it can not have been made by him: it was probably collected by or for the TRADESCANTS.

On one of the first leaves ASHMOLE hath written a receipt—

"To make cement or past to fasten hearbes on the paper." f. 2^a.

Prefixed is a sheet containing an imperfect—

Index nominum plantarum siccarum, quæ in foliis 1—34* jacent. pp. 3.

* Which only were numbered by the same old hand that wrote this Index.

No. 1466.

A folio volume with parchment covers, now containing 114 leaves of paper, two thirds of which are fairly written in Ashmole's hand of about 1640 or 1650.

"The Golden Arte. The Jeweli-house of Gemes, wherein is shewed y^e generacōn of gold and silver in their mynes and y^e reducing [of] them to perfect mettalls, with their value in coyne and estimacōn for other [purposes?], the generacōn and fishing for pearle, the knowledge of pretious stones wth their values and vertues, wth other things of most estimacōn; as alsoe the tryall of true stones, the making of counterfeit stones, the true value of outlandish Coynes, the strange kinde of Money used in divers and severall parts of the world, wth the manner of y^e Mints of divers and sundry townes and cittyes beyond the seas, wth divers other things; divided into two severall bookes, for y^e better understanding thereof." With a 'Preface.' ff. 1^a, 2—4^b, 6—73.

The first book relates to the two metals, and the second (as it seems) begins with this title at f. 37:—"To know the cause and reason of making of money, with the perfect tryall of the same, as also the just reconing of all manner of gold and silver, as money now goeth in the first yeare of his Maties: raigne, being 1602." It ends unfinished, one page beyond the tables of fineness or assay, thus—"we should speake somewhat of the manner of mixing thereof, w^{ch} we will doe by some rules of arithmatick viz^t. The." The last is a catchword.

On some of the vacant leaves that follow, are written at intervals—

Various notes and extracts by EDWARD LHUYD, partly in Welsh. 74^b—82^b.

Who also appears to have cut out a great number of blank leaves, at the end of the book.

No. 1467.

A thick folio MS. written on 133 leaves of very stout paper, in the XVIth century, in a large and remarkable round hand, neither secretary nor Italian; there are also 4 leaves at the end unnumbered, and three at the beginning, on which (page 6) is written a list of the contents, by another old hand, but not the same as this autograph note over the first article, "Scientia inflat, charitas edificat. S. Whithed."

1. "Excerpta de libro AVICENNE de Anima, i. de Majori Alkimia, per fratrem ROGERUM BACUN. Et est titulus hic methaphoricus, sicut ea que in libro continentur; nam alius est liber de anima .s. sextus naturalium qualis est liber Aristotelis de anima. Et hic liber est sua alkimia major, nam minor est libellus quem fecit ad Hasen. In illius nomine qui major est et Dominus totius mundi, dixit Abhuali ab intine." ff. 1—30.

In fine—"Diri tibi alixir si intelligis etc. Explicit id quod frater Rogerus Bacun extraxit de majori alkimia Avicenne, quem librum Avic' vocat librum de anima. Et est hic fere tota utilitas illius libri."

2. "Hic incipit liber medicine philosophic extractus, et est supra omnium medicorum medicinas, et continet in se secreta secretorum, et est abbreviatus valde, certus et probatus. Iste liber dicitur Rosarius, eo quod ex libris philosophorum breviter est abbreviatus [etc.] sed dividitur in theoreticam et practicam, et adhuc in diversis [30^b] capitulis est divisus." 30—62.

'Recapitulatio totius magisterii' sic desinit—"Qua propter karissime pro me ora, et qui habes librum istum 'digito compesce tabellum' quod si non durum poteris sentire ducllum filius existens philosophorum secreta referas Rosarium ipsorum ut merito muneris diei et esse socius sapientum antiquorum. Et sic finis. Per me ROBERTUM GREENE de Welbe a^o graciae 1530." This tract is probably an epitome of art. 8.

The same hand that wrote the contents at the beginning, has noted—"This was Sr Rob. Greene in Hen. 8. daies."

3. JOHANNIS "DASTINI tractatus quidam" sic inc. Cum 'gaudeant uti brevitatem moderni,' Verbum Abbreviatum verissimum et approbatum de transmutatione inferiorum planetarum [seu metallorum] quod a cun[c]tis philosophis ponitur, non deponitur nec male supponitur, excellentissimo domino suo Neapoleon — Cardinali diacono sancti Adriani luculenter verbis enodabo paucis. f. 62—92.*

* A verse, to which allusion seems to be made, is written in the margin by the hand which wrote the contents (from which the title is here taken)—"Longa solent sperni, gaudent brevitatem moderni." The tract ends thus—"Et ideo de omnibus istis dicit Merlinus [92^a] pondera certa dicens, unde versus

Pondera propono quibus hec secreta repono

..... [et octo alii versus]

"Deo gracias amen per me ROBERTUM GREENE de Welbe A^o. 1531. corrente." A more ancient copy is in No. 1416, art. 24.

4. Tractatus "De Lapidibus preciosis. Ad dandam intelligenciam super illud quod declaravimus de effectiva potestate sulphuris albi et rubei simplicis et compositi conjunctim et divisim in tractatibus de productione elixeris." 92—8.

Only the titles of chapters 10—14 are given; and the conclusion is a paragraph beginning and ending thus—"Et nota quod —Et sic que dicta sunt pro compositione elixeris omnium lapidum virtuosorum ac formis eorum sufficere videntur. Deo gracias per me ROBERTUM GREENE de Welbe A^o graciae 1531. mense Maij."

5. "Lapis Aquile. Cum natura preciosissimus nec ullus ei thesaurus in valore comparabilis eo quod philosophi ipsum precium inpreciable vocaverit." 98—116^b.

Des.—"Ipsi igitur sit honor et gloria in secula seculorum. Amen. Et hic finis hujus Deo gracias. Per ROBERTUM GREENE de Welbe A^o graciae 1531. corrente."

6. "Incipit quidam tractatus HERMETIS de lapide philosophico et c. Dixit Hermes patri suo Timeo, ab inimico meo in mea mansione." 116^b—120^b.

Des.—"qui tibi tantam gratiam sui operis benedicti voluerit ex[h]ibere. Et sic finitur iste tractatus Deo gracias. Per me ROBERTUM GREENE de Welbe A^o. 1531. corrente."

7. Tractatus alchemicus, dictus "HOLCOT de Serpente sequitur hic. Christo nomine invocato ad honorem proficiencium in actibus nature." 120^b—131^b.

Des.—"Et scimus quoniam diligentibus Deum omnia operantur in bonum Deo gracias. Hec HOLCOTT. Et sic finis hujus per me ROBERTUM GREENE."

8. "Incipit prologus in libro qui vocatur Rosarius Philosophorum. Laus sit Deo Patri qui dat sapienciam sapientibus." Deinde "Incipit quidam tractatus ex libris antiquorum philosophorum collectus. Desiderabile desiderium inpreciable precium a cun[c]tis ph[ilosophis] positum non deponitur nec male suppositum fuisse supponitur, ex libris antiquorum hic in summa una breviter adunabimus, ut tibi karissime sufficienter pateat" etc. f. 133—182.

This copy of ARNOLD's work seems to have been transcribed from the first MS. in No. 1426; which see. It ends with the same colophon, and with this addition thereto:—"Τελωσ. Per me ROBERTUM GREENE de Welbe Comes Palatinus. ραβερωσ χαρωσ. Aspera barba virens."

9. Tractatus de lapide philosophorum, anno 1390* conscriptus: inc. In virtute sancte Trinitatis ad expositionem charitativam dictorum verborum, tota hec tabula effectualiter implicatur Amen. Univerſa vero divine bonitatis opera. 182—202.

* This appears from the 4 last of 20 verses that follow the adjuration to the reader; viz:—

"Circa natale quod est ferius yemale,

Anno Milleno tricesimo nonogeno.

Sit quoque beatus Autor Sirencestris natus,

Pro ipso cari pluries curate precari." 201^a.

A general summary follows, beginning and ending thus:—"Stipes itaque .s. corpus hujus arboris benedicti—intencio fundatur totu ad hoc opus divinum perfecte complendum. Τελωσ. Deo gracias A^o 1532 incompleto. Per ROBERTUM GREENE de Welbe, Comes Palatinus."

10. "Apocalypsis spiritus secreti," tractatus sic inc. Hermes, Plato, Aristotiles et ceteri philosophi per tempora florentes, scienciarum fontes originales. 202^b—8^b.

The title is written in the margin by the other hand. It ends thus:—"cognicionem ostendere placuit Amen. Sic compositum est hoc prestantissimum opus dictum Apocalypsis sive Revelacio spiritus secreti, in quo universa secreta et archana hujus mundi latent. 1534. Mense Marcij. Et sic finis Deo gracias." Three verses follow, beg. Spiritus aut Numen—substantia quinta.

11. "Incipit Speculum BACHONIS .i. Secreta Secretorum [ROGERI] BACHONIS de spiritu occulto. In nomine patris—In nomine domini Jh'u xp'i ad instructionem multorum circa hanc artem studere volencium quibus deficit copia librorum, hic libellus edatur titulus qui Speculum Secretorum nominatur" etc. 208^b—213^b.

Des. sic—Et age ei gracias cui—seculorum. Amen.

12. "Incipit liber de spiritu occulto, tractatus aureus. Cum ergo quesieris quid sit spiritus occultus in sulphure et arsenico." 213^b—5.

Des.—"ad masculum et feminam est philosophice referenda. Et hec de spiritu occulto tibi sufficiunt. Per me ROBERTUM GREENE in laudem Dei scriptum anno graciae 1534. incompleto. 2. Julij."

13. "Incipit tractatus PLINII philosophi de interpretatione elixeris. Incipit tractatus in quo Plinius philosophus quid sit lapis, qua materia debet fieri, et quomodo, qui cum fuerit totaliter preparatus est medicina perfecta que elixir dicitur." 215—9.

Spirius iste libellus sic des.—"Et super omnes medicinas est opido perquirenda, quod qui habet ipsum incomparabilem habet thesaurum. Et sic finis hujus tractatus, per me ROBERTUM GREENE de Welbe." There is a translation in No. 1442, i. art. 7. See also No. 1478, i. art. 6.

14. Liber de arte alchemica; inc. Et quoniam Geber paleas immiscuit arti. Granum veritatis sub acervo palearum penitus obtegatur, importuno mei meam ad januam socii pulsantis precibus aggravatus. f. 219^b—233.

Extrema sunt hæc verba:—In [233^a] quo dicto nostro argento vivo est quedam humiditas pinguis et virtuosa, denigrans metalli substantiam, et combrens in magno igne, et alia similiter humiditas feugmatica, a quibus debetur penitus expurgari.

The Sir Robert Green, whose name occurs at the end of every article in this volume (except artt. 1, 10, 11, 14,) was the author of an alchemical tract in English, of which there are copies in this collection, No. 1415, art. 8; No. 1426, ix. art. 2; and No. 1442, iii. He is not mentioned by Tanner; but his name occurs, among other alchemical authors, in the following passage of Bloomfield's Blossoms. (Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 309.)

Then brought they in the Viccar of Maldon,
With his Greene Lyon, (that most royall seacrett,) Richard Record, and litle Master Eden,
Their mettalls by corrosives to calcine and frett;
Hngh Oldcastle and Sir Robert Greene with them mett,
Roasting and boyling all things out of kinde,
And like foolosophers left of with lesse in the end.

On which passage Ashmole remarks, in his interleaved copy, "I have seene a Manuscript in folio, being a colleccōn of severall peeces of chimmical philosophy, all written with this Greene's hand, and his name subscribed almost at the end of every chapter, and one especially thus [etc. as at art. 8.] The peeces were written in the yeares 1530, 1531, 1532, 1534, as appers at the end of every tract; and now (1657) is in the handes of Doctor Goddard, but [he adds] since given to me by Colonell Sauchy." (No. 972, art. 34, f. 320.)

On f. 234 is this old note, relative to the history of the MS. "For this and another written wth the same hand, that this is to paie xxx^s at the retorne. Will'm Luggers."

No. 1468.

A folio volume containing three MSS. on paper, paged by Ashmole, to the number of 378 pages, including the 4 leaves between the second and third MSS.

The first is neatly written in a small hand of the XVth century, in columns, and adorned with colored capitals: its leaves are put together in tens; wherefore it seems that not only "Aj" (before what is now p. 7) is lost, but 7 leaves out of the first (unsigned) set, namely, 6 leaves before p. 1, and 1 leaf after p. 6; which last seems, from what is left, to have been vacant.

I. 1. An antient treatise on diseases of the eyes; ending thus—"And therfore ye have yherde my worchyng wip hele zilde ponkyng to almygty god beseking and praying hyme pat he wolde vouche-sauf to ende youre cures. Amen. Explicit BE-NEVENTUS de Jerusalitanens." pp. 1—6.

The first words are—do we did nedille it after þe maner of a gudlyng as it is y taught above in doctrine of cataractes. Ten perfect chapters follow this first.

2. An antient treatise of Anatomy, describing every part of the body; beg. imperfectly thus, in the first* chapter—. . . be peyntinges as þe forsaid Harry dyde and þat semed for to shewe alle þe anothomye. 7—53.

* So it appears from p. 10^b, where the next chapter ends thus—"The .iiij. chapiter is of þe Anothomye of Synewes Ligamentes and of Cordes." The last chapter (relating to the foot etc.) begins at p. 49^b, and ends thus without a rubric—And þe lefte veyne ys leten blode for sekenesse of þe splenc. This ys þe doctrine of Avycenne of letyng blode of þe veynes of a mannes bodie þe whiche [p. 54] bene moste communely leten blode.

3. "In the name of God Amen. Here begynnethe a tretys [of Surgery, compiled out] of Ypocras, Galyen, Lincon, Henricus de Amonda
Villa, Will'm's de Saliceto, Lamfrank, Tederyk,
Brune, Rogeryn, and oþer auctoris þe whiche were expert Surgenes; and þere shalle two parties be conteyned in this book.

"The first partie shalle be of woundes bocches brosinges brek-yng of bones dislocacions and of oþer sores þe whiche pertheyne to Surgerie, beginning at þe lievede and so passing forthe by alle þe parties of a mannes bodie to þe sole of þe foot. And þe secunde partie shalle be of þe Antiodarie in þe whiche bothe medecynes and þe maner of worchyng w^t hem shalle be wretene as oymenet enplasters cataplasma enbrocacions and oþere suche." etc. pp. 55^b—171^b.

The above written title is half of the preface, to which is prefixed a list of the 93 chapters of the first part, in rubric
(p. 54^a—55^a), the first and last of which are—"1. Staunche blode.
—93. Fresshe woundes and olde woundes." There is a supplemental chapter at the end of the first part, beg. A drynke to knytte a broken bone. (p. 138.)

The second part begins thus—"In the name of God. Amen.
Ther shalle be vij. chapitres in this book. The first is of reper-cussive medecynes and of þe maner of repercussion.—The .vij.
is of remolliciōn of hardenes and of þe maner of remolliciōn other softyng." (p. 139.) From this account it seems to end thus at 167^a, Also Tederik bisshope of Sermeuse tellethe in his book of his secretes—distilled þey shalle be alle hool: but it is followed by 8 chapters, beginning and ending thus:—Nowe wille I shortly treden of proper medecines and diverse membres (p. 167^a).—Nowe is tyme to make an ende of this book praying to God þat made alle thinge of nougt þat he helpe me and alle other þat redithe this book þat what tyme þat we passe out of this worlde we mowe come to his blisse þat he regnethe inne w^touten ende. Amen.

(1.) Medical receipts: "For to mak oyle of ex-citer. For stubynge off a rusty naylle. For the colyke. For the mygrame" etc. p. 172—5^a, 176^b.

(2.) An alphabetical list of drugs; and explanations of various medical words. p. 176, 178—9.

These last pages were written either at different times by the same hand as the MS. or by different hands: some parts are mere scrawl. A leaf has been cut out between 176—7; of that marked 179 only a fragment remains, and one other is wanting: perhaps they were vacant.

II. 1. Liber de arte medica, in quo tota fere
Pharmacopœia traditur; auctore medico quo-dam sene: inc. Qui bene ingerit, digerit, egerit, est bene sanus. Sumpto enim argumento ab hoc antiquo carmine, ad omnium artium prestantissime artis medicine opera jam deinceps est procedendum.
p. 183—247.

Des. sic—"Est et alia confectio—precipue in commessationi-bus nobis videtur que apud nos spyssyd brud vocatur. τέλος."

2. Liber de Februm variis generibus, et earum curatione: inc. Febris enim est calor extraneus [sive preter naturam] accensus in corde proce-dens ab eo mediante spiritu et sanguine.* p. 251—297.

"Cap. xix. de peste" (p. 288) sic desinit—"in publicam humani generis utilitatem prodire consueverat. αετος ουχ ἀλμσκει τας μνας."

* These words are added in a small character, by the author's own hand (as it seems) with which the margins of this MS. abound: the text is written in a large running-hand of the XVth century: the two first leaves are blank (pp. *179—182), but on the last page (298) are written two short medical receipts.

III. The Visions of Piers the Ploughman, an ancient allegorical satire, ascribed to ROBERT LANGLAND; (pp. 307—378) beginning imperfectly thus:—

“He for us ly: he deyd for us alle
And : yt wrount hym tene
But mekely w^t mouthe: Mercy gan seche
To havyn on þat puple: þat gyned hym to dede
Here mygth yn sen example: on þe selfe onys” etc.

The divisions in this copy are as here following:—

“Passus secundus de visione. And set I knelid on my knes and preyd here of grace.” 308.

“Tercius passus de visione.” 310.

“Passus quartus de visione.” 316.

— quintus. 322.

— sextus. 333.

“Hic incipit vita de Dowel Dobet et Dobest. Thus I robid in russet: I romyd abowte.” 353.

“Primus passus de Dowel [357]. Sere Dowel dwellyth” etc. 356.

“Passus secundus de Dowel.” 365. The last lines are thus:—

“Saweris and soweris: sweche lewid iottis
Mou persyn wt a pater n^r þe poles of hevyn
I wt oute penauns at here partyng into þe blisse of hevyn.
Amen Amen.”

This MS. is of the early part of the XVth century; well written, with frequent rubrics, a painted capital for each division, and wide margins. Unfortunately it hath suffered not only the loss of the first leaf or leaves, but of one between p. 346—7, and 348—9, and perhaps others in other places. It has not been collated.

No. 1469.

This MS. is written in a great coarse letter, by a hand of James the First's time; consisting of 96 leaves of very large quarto paper; whereof nine are blank between ff. '46—8,' and six at the end. It begins with this strange title:—

“Here ar ATB too Bokes
A tabell to this furste Boke

. I .
one
S c I b
S

I
ATB

The tabell to this firste B.” (p. 1.)

There is a like inscription on the last page. (86^b.)

A collection of Prescriptions for preparing various Medicines, and of Remedies for various diseases; in two books (ff. '40' and '33'): with a preface to each in verse*, and two tables of contents prefixed. ff. 1—4^b, 5^{abc}; 7—46^b, 48—80^b.

* Beginning thus:—

(1.) “The preface to a boke of medsons set furthe by PARVO. The wanderinge thestes of secret notuer is bente, For to relate a mysterri to me.” (3 st. of 4.) 7^a.

(2.) “A newe worke intyttled The Offerynge of Wysdom. Apryell 23 saynte Georges daye. 1609. For to begynne a worke as yet unknouen.” (6½ st. of 4.) f. 48^a.

The table to the second book seems to have been written by Sir R. Napier.

No. 1470.

A folio volume containing 314 leaves of vellum (beside ff. 1* and 315—6, of which hereafter,) written in small text-hand of the latter part of the XIIIth century, in columns with wide margins: it hath rubrics, but the capitals have not been painted in. It divides itself into two parts between f. 219—220, by the smallness and different quality of the vellum of the latter part, so as to seem two MSS. bound together; but the list of contents, written in the XVth century on f. 219^b, shows that they properly form one volume.

1. “Incipit liber Februm YSAAC. [Latine versus per CONSTANTINUM; cujus præfatio sic inc. Quoniam filii karissimi. Johannes te mesto cordis dolore perpetim effundere prospexi:” cum glossis quibusdam. f. 1—60^d.

In fine—“propter sanguinem qui est ejus modo vel propter vicinitatem cordis. Explicit liber februm YSAAC .v. continens libros, quem Constantinus sancti Benedicti sanctus monachus in Latinum transtulit.”

2. “Incipit liber Diatarum Universalium YSAAC, [ab eodem Latine versus. Quod inprimis coegit antiquos disputare de naturis ciborum studium fuit:” cum glossis. 61—103^c.

The first 10 leaves of this copy were written by an other hand (hardly less antient) to be prefixed to the rest, many lines of text being written at the foot of 70^{cd} to make up: the last 4 columns are also by an other hand; yet it is imperfect, the last words being—unde cerebro nocentes pariantur fuditates [sic] neque duricies. . . A vacant leaf has been cut out here.

3. “Incipit liber Dyetarum Particularium YSAAC [ab eodem translatus. Compleximus in libro primo universalem significationem generis cibarii et ejus specierum:” cum glossis quibusdam. 104—218^d.

In fine—“constipa[n]t epar splen et lapides in renibus creant. Explicit liber diatarum particularium.”

On the next leaf, of which only a small part remains, are written by different antient hands,—four lines, beg. Of violet malwes and borage (219^a);—this note, almost as old as the book, Magistro Galtero de Bedeford. xv. sol. Malgoriensium super hunc librum; and “In isto libro tot continentur tractatus” etc. 219^b.

4. “Incipiunt glose Antidotarii NICOLAI, secundum PLATEARIUM. [Liber iste quem in presenti legendum assumimus, ex multorum antidotis est compilatus, quod patet ex ipsorum medicaminum intitutionibus.” 220—262^b.

Des. sic—“conficitur sicut predicta yera tantundem valet et servatur. Expliciunt Glosule Antidotarij.” (Vide art. 7.)

5. “Incipiunt Sinonima M[agistri] R[EGINALDI]. A]lfta, farina ordeï idem.” 262^c—275^b.

Sic desinit istud Glossarium Medicum:—“Zimia est apostema factum de fleumate ut in Johanniis. Explicunt Sinonima .M. REGINALDI."

By an other antient hand, beside a medical note in Latin, are added:—

(1.) Tetrastichon, inc. Officium anime sunt septem membra decemque; et distichon—Octo consimiles. f. 275^b.

(2.) De dysenteria, colica passione, et febre, quædam. 275^c.

6. "Incipit ornatus unversus:" tractatus Gallice scriptus, de capillorum et faciei cura et ornatu; eum prologo metrico inc. [Quant Deus out la femme fate, De la coste Adam est traite. (46 l.) 276—9^d.

In fine—"Ad dealbandos dentes.—et ceo mis fra les denz blanches. Explicit."

At the foot of the last page but two of this curious article, is written the greater part of an antient—

(3.) Charta Theobaldi filii Jorwerth filii Madane, de terra vocata Tydyn Cadye, in villa de Castelmareh. 276^{cd}.

7. "Incipit Antidotarius NICOLAI, compilatus ab Antidotario Arabico. [E]go Nicolaus rogatus a quibusdam in practica studere volentibus, ut eos recto ordine modum conficiendi dispensandique docerem." 280—297^d.

In fine—"renes confortat et libidinem potenter excitat. Explicit." Vide artt. 4, 8.

(4.) Tetrastichon inc. Gingiber extirpat tussim. 297^c.

Written in a large text-hand of the same age, vertically up the margin: the next is in a smaller and less antient hand, below.

(5.) "Unguentum ad dealbandam faciem" etc. 297^c.

8. "Incipiunt Sinonima Antidotari[i]. Post tractatum medicinarum compositorum nomina simplicium medicinarum que in illis recipiuntur diligenti ratione exponimus." etc. Artemisia. etc. 297^d—9^b.

Des.—Zucoraria .i. flos agni casti vel salicis marini.

9. Versus octo de ponderibus quibus utuntur medici: inc. Collige triticeis medicine pondera granis. 299^{bc}.

10. "Electuarium ad lumbricos.—contra acutos febres—[et] optimum ad impinguandum." 299^{cd}.

11. "De discretione inspectionis sanguinis. [D]iscretio inspectionis sanguinis triplex est." 299^d—300^d.

Des.—"et illum est melancholia. et in ipso vase quasi creta invenitur. Explicit."

(6.) Nomina quorundam morborum explicata: inc. Emigraneum est pars doloris capitis. 300^d.

12. "Incipiunt Afforismi IPOCRATIS. Incipit prima particula. [V]ita brevis ars vero longa." 301—7^c.

'Sexta particula' sic des. fames enim siccatur corpora.

13. "Incipit Liber Pulsuum. [I]ntentionem habens in presenti conscriptione de pulsum negotio compendiosam exponere traditionem." f. 307^c—9^a.

Des.—et mortem significat. et hec nobis sufficiant in presenti.

14. "Incipiunt Flores Dietarum. [C]orpus humanum ex iiiior. constat humoribus." 309^a—314^a.

Des. 'De aqua' sic—"et omnem putredinem mundat, et ventrem solvit. Explicunt flores dietarum."

(7.) Medicalia quædam, inc. Fimus columbinus mistus cum melle bullito. 313^{ab}.

These passages are written in a large and very antient hand. What follow were written in the time of Henry VII. or VIII. on the spare leaves.

(8.) Quatuor medicamentorum præscriptiones, quas fecit "DOCT^r MYCHILL." f. 1*.

(9.) Medicine for "M' Semans." 315^b.

Only a fragment of this leaf had been left when this was written.

(10.) Medicinæ, "for Master Doctor Korum. Contra fleuma grosu pectori.....statum defricetur. sic fit." etc. 316.

(11.) For "M' Wodroffe wt my lord off Salsberi." ib.

(12.) For "M' Philip Feteplace." ib.

(13.) For "William Boldre for the stone." 316^b.

No. 1471.

A handsome folio MS. on vellum, written toward the end of the XIVth century, in a common hand, adorned with painted capitals. It consists of 199 leaves, (including f. 1*, and 10^{cd}, 73^{cd}, 180^{e-h}.) of which ff. 125—136, were written about the year 1300, in a very small neat hand, and being of smaller size, have been antiently mounted on wider margins and fitted to the rest of the volume: these 24 pages are written in columns, as are all that follow; but the foregoing are in long lines.

1. "Liber Mineralium, editus per ALBERTUM Magnum*. Incipit liber primus mineralium qui est de lapidibus: tractatus primus de lapidibus in communi. e. i. de quo est intencio et que divisio et modus et ordo dicendorum. De commixtione et coagulatione similiter autem et congelacione et liquefaccione et ceteris hujusmodi passionibus in libro methorum jam dictum est." f. 1—48.

* This title is written below the page, the next in the margin. Lib. v. c. 9. sic des.—"Ex dictis enim quecumque hic non nominata sunt de facili poterunt agnosci. Explicit liber mineralium secundum Albertum Magnum."

2. "Incipit Ludus Ritmimachie. Quinquagenam inequalitatis regulam ex equalitate manifestum est procedere ex libris arismetice multiplicis superparticularis superparcientis. set rejectis duobus compositis ex tribus simplicibus hujusmodi conflictum quidam ex clero Ginaburge[n]sis si periti judicant dabitur posteritati." f. 48^b—9^b.

After this short preface the tract begins, with this rubric, "De compositione tabule. Fiat tabula" etc. The twelfth paragraph ends thus—.iij. ex adversis partibus adquirantur; and is followed by—

"Versus OVIDII de Vetula in primo libro, et concernunt Rithmarchiam *. O utinam ludus soeiet-ur rithmarchie." 49^b.

* Leg. arithmomachiam. Extremus (39^{us}) versus est—Quod potes ex tabula subjecta noscere plane.

3. "Quadripartitum HERMETIS *. Incipit liber
Hermetis de .15. stellis .15. lapidibus .15. her-bis et .15. ymaginibus. Inter multa alia bona que antiqui patres sapientissimi narraverunt phy-losophi: Hermes Aydimon pater philosophorum—librum hunc edidit et distinxit in .4. partes." 50—6.

* This title is superscribed with ink: the next is the rubric. A space is left in the fourth part for the characters, which have not been inserted. The last words are—"et hec est figura 15^a. Explicit quarta pars libri. Jam complevimus in hac particula quarta ea que proposuimus [etc.] animalium lapidibus debeant sculpi et que caracteres. Dicit Hermes sciendum quod non signavi neque scripsi hunc librum nisi scienti stellarum [etc. 55^b]—in magica rectificare."

*4. "Incipit liber ad fundendum lapides bonorum colorum, et rotundandum gemmas pulcher[r]i-mas, et colorandum gemmas de mehe et cristallo et vitro et vasis fictilibus, et multa alia, secundum philosophos: primum capitulum. Distinccio ad tingendum crystallum viridem s' Cassab. acc' rolum de cristallo." 56—64.

In fine—"funde aquam in saponem. tingetur enim nutu Dei. Explicit liber de gemmis faciendis et vasis fictilibus colorandis et intus sculpendis. Deo gratias."

5. "Incipit liber PTHOLOMEI de lapidibus pre-ciosis et sigillis eorum *. Regi Ptholomeo rex Aeatengi de lapidibus sanetificatis scripsit et in templo Appollinis scripsit et apposuit, cujus fun-damenta in Egipto insubversa manent." 64^b—
65^b.

* This title is on the foregoing page; the title, afterward superscribed by the same hand, is "Ptholomeus de lapidibus et sigillis eorumdem." The last words are—"et si quis visiones viderit interpretari valebit. Explicit liber Ptholomei."

6. "Incipit liber TEEHEL. Liber Teehel nomine editus, de sculpturis lapidum, a filiis Israel eo tempore quo per desertum transierunt, et transierunt terram promissionis: propterea hij lapides leguntur fuisse assignati in templo Appollonis a rege Persarum, cum consilio omnium astrologorum tam Egipciorum quam Caldeorum, secundum cursum signorum et cursum planetarum.
Secuntur quedam relaciones antiquorum scriptorum de sculpturis lapidum." 65^b—7^b.

Des.—"Quando invenitur in lapide equus spumaas desuper eum, homo sceptrum habens in manu, hic valet illis qui potestatem habent super homines. Explicit."

Ejusdem libri appendicula *, inc. In libro veterum narrationum lapides sic consecrantur. primo mittendi sunt lapides preciosi in panno lino et ponendi sunt super altare usque post missas sacras.
f. 67^b.

* In the margin is written this title, "Consecratio Lapidum," by Dr. Dee's hand; with the following note, "Hæc videntur esse moderna quasi et supposititia."

7. "Incipit liber GALIENI de .12. Portis. Sperma hominis descendit ex omni humore corporis." 68
—71^b.

Des.—"Fleuma albam atque pinguem. Explicit hic liber de Spermate."

8. AVICENNE libellus de Physiognomia: inc. Ele-gans est nature cognicio, que per exteriores formas interiores investigat qualitates. 71^b—4.

In fine—"Guttur nodosum frequenter mentis inconstanciam et magnam amicicam et frequenter fracturam penitenciam et levem ad iram. Explicit Phisonomia AVISON'."

9. "Optimus tractatus Phisonomic" ARISTOTELI
ascriptus: inc. Natura occulte operatur in hiis et cetera: Hoc verbum intitulum ab autore sex principiorum in quo quantum ad presentem tractatum duo notantur. 74—81^b.

In fine—"ut virtuosus pertractemus et a viciosis declinemus. Explicit phi^a Aristo[te]lis."

10. "Incipit ars que Cyromancia intitulum. Linee naturales sunt in planicie omnis cyros que trian-gulum constituunt.*" 82^{ab}.

* Id est χεῖρος. The last words are—odium omni homini inducit, furem, adulterium. sub eadem si .o. apparuerit; with this catchword, suspendetur. Thus the tract is incomplete; and three tracts, that intervened between this page and that which now follows, have been lost: for the numbers of the articles are regularly noted on every page; this is marked '9' (number 8 having been given to both artt. 8 and 9,) and the next '13.' It seems that the number of leaves wanting is 8, with the signature m.

11. Commentarius in carmen * antiquum de Algorismo seu Arithmetica: inc.multitudo re-cipit fitem est enim super .o. n^o sic scribitur et etiam proponend. 83—93.

* Portions of it intervene between the commentary: it is the same as No. 1522, art. 1; but two sets of other verses occur before it, beginning respectively thus—Est algorismi numerandi practica ejus (vv. 7, f. 83^a). Utimur his Arabum pulcro bis quinque figuris. (vv. 4, f. 83^b). The last words of the commentary are these (before the line—Si sit continua progressio terminus impar, 9^{2b})—et excrescit novenarius qui est summa prioris numeri. It ends thus—"Multiplicandorum de normis suffieiant hec. Explicit Algorismus."

12. Versus xiv. de mensuris longitudinis: inc. Or-dea grana quater digitum faciunt totidemque. 93^b.

Eleven verses on the same subject, and almost in the same words, are in the first page of the following article.

13. Tabula multiplicationis, et quadrationis et eubicationis numerorum usque ad decem. 93^b.

14. "Practica Algorismi. *Quantitatem cognoscere
nihil aliud est quam si proponatur certa quantitas magna.*" 94—6^b.

Des.—"Linar fruct ab hyrudine invitatus ad prandium infra leucam [etc.] qui faciunt annos CC.xlvj. et dies CC.xx.

15. "Anima artis transmutatorie RAYMUNDI [LULLII]. In nomine sancte trinitatis. Cum multis diversisque modis super hoc regimine tractavimus, nunc ut veritatem illius breviter." f. 97—8^b.

Des.—"pulciores naturalibus, et hoc tibi sufficit ad effectum. Finiuntur Anima artis transmutatorie V^o Breviat."

16. LULLII quædam de tabulis suis: inc. Conversio S. T. V. X. Y. Z. fit per sua media que conveniunt. 98^b—9*, 99^b—100.

* "Et sic poteris cognoscere elite. Et sic est finis declarationis principiorum minoris operis. Sequitur figura de S." But the space left is yet vacant: the second part begins over leaf thus, —Post figuram sequitur declaratio; and ends—"invenire poterit gratiam. Explicit declaratio tabularum figure de S." The 3 next pages are vacant, and half of f. 101 has been cut off.

17. JOHANNIS DE ASHENDEN* "Judicium magne conjunctionis Saturni et Jovis, anno .1345^o. Rogatus a quibusdam amicis meis ut de causa hujus generalis mortalitatis aliquid scriberem." 102—4^b.

Des.—"quod est venenosa interficiens a tota specie indisposito. Explicit." Sequuntur—

Figuræ quatuor astrologiæ super eclipsi lunari et tribus conjunctionibus, quæ eodem anno contingebant. 104^b.

* See No. 192, and No. 393; also Tanner's Bibliotheca, p. 11, who gives the date '1365.'

18. "Phisica RAYMUNDI DE INSULA. Quia scientia medicine est multum difficilis, eo quod sua principia sunt valde secreta." 105—113^b.

In fine—"Et licet iste sit utilis per se, et tamen magis utilis cum libro quam fecimus de lunine sibi conjuncto. REYMONDUS cum Magna Barba finivit librum istum medicine [astrologiæ] in Monte Pessulano, mense Decembr' anno Domini 1403."

19. "Ars generalis REYMONDI" LULLII; sc. Alphabetum vocabulorum ejus præcipuorum, et "Species 10 questionum sive regularum generalium:" cum quibusdam figuris circularibus ex ejus operibus (ut videntur) desumpta. 114^a, 114^b, 115^b—6^b.

Ff. 115—6 are only narrow portions of leaves.

20. Ejusdem? "Tractatus de herbis .12. signorum et .7. planetarum. Duodecim esse herbas sapientes dixere." 117—8.

Des.—"auget lapidem per spacium 8 dierum. Explicit de herbis 12 signorum." (117^b) Et—"confice sicca cum humidis. Explicit de herbis septem planetarum." Between this article and the next is this Leonine verse—

"Raimundus Lully claudens pia dogmata nulli"

21. "Epistola accurtacionis lapidis philosophorum ad Regem Robertum, in virtute sancte trinitatis et infinitate bonitatis ipsius. Raymundus Roberto Regi salutem. Cum ego RAYMONDUS LULLY de insula Majoricarum jam preteritis temporibus plures libros." 118—120.

Des.—"Elicee ergo ex ea intentum. laudans Deum qui vivit in secula seculorum. Explicit epistola RAYMUNDI. Deo gratias."

22. Quomodo faciendum sit 'Vitrum ex metallis:*' etc. inc. Recipe calcem ferri vel crocum ferri vel limaturam ejus. f. 220^{ab}.

* This title was written on the margin by Dr. Dee. The last words are—et in medio invenies frustum ferri vel cupri sic mutatum.

†† Ff. 97—120, containing artt. 15—22, are written in a small hand of the XVth century, of a more cursive form than the small hand of art. 11: its contents are not numbered in the MS. the next article being there marked '14,' and art. 14 of this catalogue '13.' The handwriting of the next 4 leaves has a somewhat later appearance than the first part of this MS., and is different from all other parts: it is very neat.

23. JOHANNIS* cujusdam Summa seu "Tractatus Ciromancie. Benedictus Deus omnipotens qui machinam mundanam et creaturas absque exemplo condidit universas." 121—4^b.

* He mentions his name in the sixth line, and there calls this tract by the title retained in the colophon; which is,—"ineffabiliter pronosticare potes. Explicit Summa Ciromancie."

24. "Incipit Phisiagonomia AR[ISTOTELI] ascripta.] Ex tribus auctoribus quorum libros per manus habui. scilicet. Loxi medici. Aristotilis philosophi et Palemonis declamatoris qui de phisiagonomia scripserunt." 125—134^b.

The 58th chapter or paragraph (as the rubrics are numbered with pencil by a very antient hand) ends thus—omnibus alijs significationibus in fortitudine et firmitudine prejudicatis: to which is added one other by the same hand as the most part of the volume, beginning and ending thus—"De naso. Quicumque nasum erectum—Quicumque finum habent luxuriosi sunt. Explicit tractatus Aristotilis." An other copy of equal age is in No. 399, art. 1.

25. Vocabularium herbarum et medicamentorum, cum quibusdam explauationibus Latine vel Anglice: inc. Absinthium. Anglice wormod. 134^c—136^a.

Ending—Zon .i. beta. Some Latin words in alphabetical order have been written on the rest of this page, by an other old hand.

26. Capitulum '126' tituli, qui ad operis cujusdam medici libros sex priores, spectant: inc. "I. ¶ De pistulis capitis habentibus foramina." 136^{cd}.

At the end, by an other hand nearly as old, is this note—"Nota quod residuum hujus Tabule, quod est de .7^o. et .8^o. libris subsequentibus, preponitur septimo libro subsequenti." Here ends the antient fragment at first described.

27. "Incipit tractatus ALBERTI de plantacionibus arborum et de conservacione vini. Rubrica*. De plantacionibus pomorum et pirorum secundum diversos ut poma crescant sine nucleis. in capo. primo." 137—143^a.

* That is, the titles of the chapters are here collected; wherein the word vacat is set against two titles between ch. 30 and 31, and seven after ch. 50, of which the title in the text is—"de clareto sive pigmento," (142^d); and it ends thus—"Nota quod si regulus, qui alio nomine vaqueta vocatur, ponatur in veru, per se [scil. pomum ex nive] voluitur. Explicit tractatus ALBERTI de plantacionibus arborum et de conservacione vini: aliqui tamen asserunt EUCLIDEM hunc librum fecisse."

28. "Incipiunt virtutes septem herbarum ARISTOTILIS*. Et has quidem virtutes habent ipse septem herbe ab influencia .7. planetarum. Nam contingit." f. 143^{a-d}.

* This title is part of the text, and is also written above in larger letters. It ends thus—"super frumentum vel ordeum et verte post ad opus tuum. Explicit liber .vij. herbarum Aristote[le]lis."

29. "Incipit liber Kirannidarum in quo premittitur tale prohemium. [quod inscripsit] Prudentissimo domino Magistro Ka. Parissen. infimus clericus," se. Translator, qui libros tres operis hujus, de herbarum bestiarum et avium naturis secretis, e Græca versione (ex Arabico textu anno 377 facta) 'anno Christi 1280 aliter 1169' Latinos fecit. f. 143^d—151^a—9^b—167^b.

Des.—"Asphalagam ergo sepeli in domo tua. Si quis eor ejus ca adhuc vivente transglutierit prescientiam accipiet futurorum et eorum que a seculo fuerunt. Explicit." Videas Dufresnii Gloss. Græc. sub voce Kopavides.

30. "Incipit liber PHILONIJ de specialibus ingenijs ducendi aquam. In nomine Dei pij et misericordis incipit liber Philonij de specialibus ingenijs nature. dixitque tuum zimice marzacio." 167^c—8^c.

Des.—et sic semper manebit ejusdem altitudinis et hoc apparet in ista figura. Most of this third page is vacant, the 'figure' not having been drawn.

31. "Questiones quedam naturales. Queritur quare omne animal volatile sit gressibile, et non e contrario. Dicendum quod quidquid potest virtus." 169—173^b.

The sixtieth paragraph (each beginning with a painted Q) begins and ends thus:—Quare cervi mutant cornua et—in onus cedunt gravatur eos et propter hoc.

32. "Incipit liber de coitu CONSTANTINI. Quot sunt in coitu et unde sit. [Deinde post capitulum titulos, præfatio.] Creator omnium volens." 173^c—9^c.

'Capm. 18.' sic des.—"aqua in qua solutum fuerit opium. Explicit liber de coitu CONSTANTINI." Aliud exemplar est sub No. 399, art. 7.

33. "Incipit Practica Puerorum. Passiones puerorum adhuc in cunabulis jacencium." 179^c—180^a.

Des.—"et alia fert florem jacinctum .i. purpureum et illa confert feminis. Explicit practica puerorum."

34. Tractatus de generatione, et "De natura puerorum. Si sperma ab utrisque permunserit in matrice mulieris." 180—2^d.

Des.—et aliam namque cognitionem sic se habentem quam dixi inventis tantam usque ad finem qualiter a me in sermonibus non sit assertum.

35. "Introducciones Astronomie. Ad librum cursum planetarum .i. tabulas astronomie accedere cupientibus. In primis necessarium." 183—4^b.

Des.—tabule Tholomei et ab illa hora incipe computare et horas et minuta in ista tabula et aliis tabulis.

36. HIPPOCRATIS quedam, sic inc. De farinacijs autem cave non ut extimatur sunt eadem enim farinacia purgantur. f. 185^d.

Des.—"oportet non tradere farinaciam sed clisteri uti idem enim periculum. Explicit liber Farinaciarum Ypotis."

37. "Incipiunt Secreta ejusdem YPOCRATIS. Hic incipiunt signa pronostica Ypotis, mortis et vite. Si quis prima die cujuslibet mensis in infirmitatem ceciderit." 184^d—6^b.

The latter (and greater) part of this article begins thus:—Percevit ad me quod Ypocras cum morti appropinquaret precipit ut virtutes iste scripte in hoc libro ponerentur in capsula eburnea cum ipso in sepulcro. It ends thus—"Item si in oculo nascitur pustula alba quasi pisa: mortale est signum. Expliciunt secreta Ypo:" The following title is in the last line of this column.

38. "Incipit Lex ejusdem YPOCRATIS. Medicina arcium preclarissima." 186^c.

Des.—"pravis autem [186^d] nequaquam priusquam perficiantur secretis sciencie. Explicit lex Ypocratis."

39. "Incipit [HIPPOCRATIS*] liber de humana natura. Quicumque consuevit audire dicentes." 186^d—8^a.

* Sic in fine—"Universaliter etiam scire oportet medicum. Explicit liber YPOCRATIS de humana natura:" Statim—

40. "Incipit liber ejusdem YPOCRATIS de aere et aqua et regionibus. [188^b] Quisquis ad medicine statum accedere curat necesse est." 188—193^b.

Des.—"illa contemplare ab hiis et non errabis a veritate. Explicit liber de aere et aqua et regionibus Ypocratis."

41. Tractatus alchimicus (Lullii?) qui sic incipit—Deus in virtute tua rectabo generationem lapidum per artem, ad Regem virtuosum qui propter tuum amorem dedit se tuo servicio. Et primo tibi fili dicimus etc. 193^{cd}.

The last words are—que transformat naturalem differenciam. The foregoing article is numbered in rubric '29:' this is not numbered, but was added by the same hand that wrote ff. 97—120, as also the following things on the last leaf of this volume; f. 194 being left vacant.

(1.) "Tituli librorum Reymundi" Lullii xviii. 195^a.

* The antient characters, as used in some parts of this MS.

(3.) "RABANUS super Actis Apostolorum, super illo, Domine, servus dicit, Si in tempore hoc restitues regnum Israel: dicit sic" etc. ib.

On the first page of this MS. is the autograph of Dr. "Joannes Dee," whose notes occur in some places: and on the opposite leaf of vellum (f. *1^b) is the following note, apparently written by him. "Hic est unus illorum librorum quos habui a domino Hipsly 1606 Julij 7. Hos libros dedit mihi antequam cogitabat me velle iter facere in Germaniam, et postea ad me venit et dixit se velle reddere mihi librum meum quem illi diu antea accommodedi; quem librum etiam ipse accommodat' tradidit ad tunc Gilberto ubi amissum cogitabat." Lower down are the signature of "P. Saunders," and a short list of the chief contents. some other notes of contents are at 194^a. 'John Robertes' hath also written his name on f. *1^b.

No. 1472.

A large folio MS. consisting of uncut quires of paper bound together, and irregularly paged; all written by Dr. FORMAN; except this title, "The first booke notted into the booke of notes," twice written at f. 1^a, and the first preliminary article, which are by the hand of THO. ROBSON.

- (1.) A long chemical process, set down in '39' precepts; beg. '1. First gett sp: of w: perfectly rectified.' f. 2^a, 3^a.
- (2.) FORMAN'S memorandum to obtain 'our ladies rose that groweth on the sepulcre of Christe,' which Mr. Ant. Goddard of Plymouth had. f. 5^b.
- (3.) Index of "The names of the auctors mentioned in this booke, per FORMAN." f. 5^b.
- (4.) "SIMON FORMAN compositor hujus libri ad lectorem, 1597." A poetical prologue, beg. All thinges scame harde when wee doe begine. (70 l.) f. 6.
"Finis quod Simon Forman."
- (5.) Three "Principles of philoso^{phi} gathered by S. FORMAN." (f. '2.'). f. 7^a.

Only five vacant leaves intervened before the body of the book, the paging whereof begins at '24.'

A large Common-place Book of Alchemy, arranged for the most part under general heads, in alphabetical order, from Argentum vivum to Vegetables ('806'), and Ypoeras ('914');* collected, observed, and written by Dr. SIMON FORMAN. pp. 24—917.

* The only entry that follows, before the Index, is a brief account of the process "To glasse [glaze] pots and pans." p. 917. Some of the contents of this book are curious enough; as "Of certaine dremes and visions that I have sene, totching the ph^{ors} stone." (1587—1602.) p. 810—2, 807—9. An article at pp. 906—911 is noticed, in the note on No. 1487, art. 5. Then in the last 26 leaves, follow:—

- (i.) 'Tabula' seu index alphabeticus rerum in hoc libro comprehensarum. (p. '918.'). f. 1—14^b.
- (ii.) "Transitus rerum ab uno in alium, called the Kalender of the principles of earthly plannetes. There is noe transit." Partly in English, partly in Latin. (pp. '7.'). f. 16—19.
- (iii.) "Dialogus inter HILARDUM nicromanticum, et quendam Spiritum, feliciter incipit. Hilardus. Utrum potest fieri lapis." (p. 8—9.) f. 19^b—20.
Desinens—"nec ulterius loqui voluit. Finis Dialogi HILARDI.
- (iv.) Annotationes alchemicæ FORMANNI, partim Latine, partim Anglice. f. 20^b—4.
- (v.) Abbreviationes quædam solutæ. f. 26^a.

No. 1473.

A large folio volume, written in the same rough manner as the author's Practice-books, and (like some of them) damaged at both ends; the upper part of many leaves has been scooped out by mice. The first leaf has been torn out, and the second is not numbered.

Notes of Books lent to clergymen and others. f. 2.
A large collection of Medical Prescriptions, intermixed with chemical experiments, medical, alchemical, and astrological secrets and observations, and miscellaneous notes; by RICHARD NAPIER, M. A. Rector of Linford. pp. 1—751.

Among the various matter huddled together in this curious MS. may be noticed the following pieces:—

- (1.) "De fide Pontificiorum:" remarks on the doctrines of the papists. p. 451—6.
- (2.) "THOMAS WARREN'S worke [of making silver; who was] Mr. Cholly's man-servant, and steward to S^r Urien Lee of Adlington in Cheshire. 1613." p. 508—9.
- (3.) Remarks on the ministry of "The worde." p. 529—30.
- (4.) Astrological prognosticatory rules "De morte." 649—647.
- (5.) Charm against the plague, "Sold by the prestes at Vienna: S^r Francis Beamont told it mee." 680.
- (6.) "The Lady Tyrrels receipt for spitting of blood by fault of the longues," and an other; used for 'S^r W. Andrews of Lathbury, the elder.' 727.
- (7.) Epigrammata "Ad Franciam ipsam, De statu rerum Gallicarum, Ad Franciscum Alenc.," de vocabulo uxore, et de fœminis. 746—7.

The leaf paged 747—9 is torn, and the two last (749—50, and 751) are torn fragments fixed to the fly-leaves. An other volume is at No. 1488.

No. 1474.

A folio MS. on vellum, well written in text-hand at the end of the XIIIth, or beginning of the XIVth century, in columns, with rubrics and colored capitals. The first capital has been cut out with a penknife, so that a large piece of the two first leaves is wanting, and the third is mutilated with the cut.

BARTHOLOMEI GLANVILLE, alias 'Anglici,' de Proprietatibus Rerum libri iv. posteriores; scilicet hic "Incipit liber .xvj. de proprietatibus rerum, de lapidibus et metallis." f. 1—238^d.

Des.—"Istorum et multorum aliorum [auctorum] in istis libellis verba in diversis locis summam et breviter recitantur, ut patere potest diligenter intuenti. Explicit tractatus de proprietatibus rerum editus a fratre BARTHOLOMEO ANGLICO ordinis fratrum minorum." (The last word is erased.)

See the perfect copy in No. 1512.

Index in totum opus, alphabetice accommodatum: inc. [A]beston. l. xvi. c. xio. f. 239—247^d.

In fine—"Explicit tabula super librum de proprietatibus rerum. Scripta per manum GODEFRIDI correctoris reverendi doctoris et magistri sacre theologie, magistri Johannis Rath. Deo gratias."

Over the first page of this MS. is the following note written in the XVth century:—"Iste liber est Ecclesie et Capituli Aberdonensis, ex dono reverendi in X^o patris et domini, domini Alexandri de Kynnoude Episcopi Aberdonensis; quem qui alienaverit a dicta, alienus fiat a regno Dei. amen." Below the first page of the index, was written about 1600 the following note:—"In the begyning of the moneth of July in the year of God ane thowsand four hundreth fourtie and four yearis, Johne Logane past out of Scotland towardis Spain."

No. 1475.

A large folio MS. of the XVth century, on paper; containing 636 pages; whereof 540 were numbered by Ashmole, (but the third leaf escaped without a number), the next 78 were foliated from 1 to 45 by the same hand as the MS. (but ff. 15—17, 38—40, are lost; and ff. 20, 19, 18, are transposed); the last 8 leaves also (after one intervening) were paged by Ashmole.

On a single leaf of vellum at the beginning, is written (by the same hand as art. 10, and some of the titles in the MS.) a list of the—

"Contenta hujus libri." f. 1^b.

The hand that wrote the following title, is the same that wrote all the MS. but the first 76 (or 78) pages: at the time of the gift which it records, the rest of the volume was all vacant, as it seems from the sameness of the paper.

1. "Istum librum Ysagogarum JOHANNISII intitulatum, Notule M. JOHANNIS DE GALLICANTU super Johannisium, ac etiam intitulatum The-saurus Gracie, dedit mihi M. Johannes Kokkes*, cujus anime propicietur Deus. Omnis anima nobilis tres habet operationes, vegetare, sentire, et intelligere." pp. 1—76.

In fine—"quanto magis fetida: tanto peior existit etc. Explicunt notule M. Joh'is de Gallicantu super Johannisium et intitulantur thesaurus gracie."

* Some of whose medicines are contained in No. 1432, i. 6, 19, etc.

2. "Glosule super PHILARETUM de Pulsubus. Humana corpora tribus subjacent qualitatibus, sanitati egritudinini et neutralitati." 77—82.

Des.—"omnis inordinatus est inequalis sed non convertitur. Explicunt glose super librum pulsum Philareti."

3. "Incipiunt glose super Ysagogas JOHANNISII. Cum inter omnia animalia humanum corpus tum proprie forme impressione tum digniori potentia anime." 83—111.

Des.—"Morbus ergo ex distemperantia ortus est, alius universalis, alius quasi universalis, alius particularis. Explicunt glose super Ysagogas Johannisij ad Tegni Galieni."

4. "Glosa super Afforismos YPOCRATIS, cum textu:" inc. "Vita brevis—et ea que extrinsecus sunt.

Corpora humana continua resolutione resolvuntur." p. 113—181.

Des.—"53^{us}. Quibus in dentibus [etc.]—Theorica autem est hec quod cum materia febris viscosa est et compacta ut materia aromaticum et calor febrilis fortis et resolvuntur hujusmodi humores ponendo ipsos vapores." The text is in rubric: the title is taken from the list of contents, where a like title is given to the next, with these words, 'sine textu.'

5. "Incipiunt glosule super Afforismos YPOCRATIS. Temporibus Ypocratis doctissimi viri pro multiplici medicorum varietate." 183—244.

In fine—"55^{us} affoos.—desiccatur et inde corpus attenuatur. Explicunt glosule super afforismos Ypocratis." Ubi in margine—"Nota secundum quosdam libros hic deficiunt glose super 4^{or} affoos."

6. "Versus Salernitani secundum diversos usus*:" scilicet exemplar duplex, cujus brevior textus ad 'Regem Anglorum' Robertum Normannie Ducem inscriptus est, amplior vero talem rubricam habet, "Alter usus versuum Salernitanorum," cum hoc titulo:—"Incipiunt Versus Medicinales editi a Magistris et Doctoribus Salernitanis in Apulia, scripti Karolo Magno Francorum Regi gloriosissimo. Quorum opusculum in quinque partes dividitur. Quarum prima est de rebus homini naturalibus, 2^a de rebus eidem† non naturalibus, 3^a de rebus contra hominis naturam, 4^a de medicinis simplicibus‡, 5^a de curis egritudinum ||." pp. 245^a—271^a, 245^b—294^c.

* This title is taken from the old list of contents. The two texts are written in parallel columns: the first begins, without a title, thus:—

"Anglorum Regi scribit tota Scola Salerni.
Si vis incolument, si vis te reddere sanum," etc.

It ends thus—"Et super renes pecten pone fitque juvamen. Explicit tractatus qui dicitur Flos Medicine, compilatus a Magistro JOHANNIS DE MEMERLANO." [Mediolano?] This name is probably a mistake for Mediolano, or 'Milano,' as Sir Alexander Croke writes it, who concludes against his authorship of this famous poem, in the introduction to his edition, intitled Regimen sanitatis Salernitanum. (Oxford, 1830, 8vo.) There is a modern copy of this text in No. 1388, x. art. 3.

† Sir A. Croke reads homini, from the Bodleian copy.

‡ He adds et compositis, from the same, in giving this title at p. 43 of his edition.

|| The second text begins thus, after the title given above:—
"Prologus.

"Francorum Regi scribit tota Scola Salerni,
In metro pauca mox commemorantia multa." etc.

It continues to occupy both columns, after the end of the first text, at p. 281, where, immediately after the colophon, is this note:—"Nota quod omnes isti versus sequentes sunt de alt[er]o usu Versuum Salernitanorum." The "Epilogus libri" ends thus:—"Cui sit laus et honor benedictio gloria semper. Amen. Explicit Florarium Versuum Medicinalium, scriptum Christianissimo Regi Francorum Karolo Magno, a tota Universitate Doctorum Medicinarum preclarissimi [Studii*] Salernitani, tempore quo idem Rex Saracenos devicit in Runcivalle; quod latuit usque tarde, et Deo volente nuper prodiit in lucem." This text is placed in the third class of MSS. enumerated by Sir A. Croke, who has given an account of this MS. (inaccurately said to be 'on vellum,') in his introduction, pp. 43—4, 95, 96, together with a notice of the only other copy of this text known to him, in the Bodleian Library, 3544. (E Musco 228.) They are both corruptly written.

* Supplied from the Bodleian copy.

In his extracts from these MSS., (at p. 43.) line 3, for stanti, the reading of the Ashm. MS., the Bodl. reads statim; line 6, for comprendunt, the Bodl. reads connectunt; line 6, in quæ sunt tibi grata legenti, both copies have tria, and the Bodl. reads sunt hæc tria grata legenti; line 7, for vitam longam, the Bodl. reads longam vitam; and in line 8, both copies read celso for celo.

7. "Glosa optima super JOHANNICIUM, cum textu:"
inc. Sicut dicit Calcidius in Thimco, quod etiam auctoritate aliorum philosophorum probatur."
p. 297—336.

Des.—Ac ergo equaliter imperfecte labatur quia potest unum minus all[er]o labi. Conclusio Capido optime sanum. The title is taken from the list of contents: the text is written in paragraphs, with rubric.

8. "Questiones super Tegni GALIENI. Quam plurimum solet esse a quibusdam hesitandum." 337—341.

Ending thus, unfinished, (in the paragraph beginning with these words of text, 'Sanum simpliciter corpus eviratio')—Queritur an sanitas sit forma finalis vel non, et arguo sic, Sanitas secundum philosophum est armoniu per quam anima vivitur corpori et conservatur, sed anima est in The next page is vacant. In the list of contents, it is thus intitled—"Expositio super Tegni Gal incompleta."

9. "Expositio super Tegni GALIENI. Quoniam circa introducciones Johannisii multa necessaria ad ingressum artis medicine plene discussimus, circa introitum scientie Tegni G. pauca sub compendio disseramus." 343—389, 393—428.

The last words at p. 389 are—cerebri stabilitas et fluxibilitas, and the continuation on the fourth page after that, begins—"Deinceps vero signa ejus que in cerebro est caliditatis etc. In superiori vero parte complevit G. sermonem circa genera signorum cerebri." This work ends abruptly (thus—ex quo tamen non sequitur istam diffinitionem non esse boam. Ad) at p. 428; the 16 leaves that follow, are written in a larger character, and seemingly by a different hand; they also begin and end abruptly; and it is evident from the list of contents, that these three books have been lost from this place:—

"Questiones super Tegni Gal' JACOBI DE FORLIVIO.
GORDONIUS de urinis.
PTHEOFILUS de urinis."

The following title is copied from the same list:—

10. "Questiones super codem" opere THEOPHILI, mancæ; sic inc. .....et considerat ejus generationem dicendum quod hoc [etc.]—Tercio queritur a quo sumitur certius signum aut ab pulsu aut ab urina. 429—460.

After the 13th or 14th question, begins an other part of the work, thus—Hic incidunt dubitationes, et primo de complexionem urine, (p. 456), in the seventh question of which, it ends thus—eisdem conditionibus manentibus utrobique

11. "Regimen Sanitatis [Magistri BENEDICTI.*]
Summo decet studio emergentes morborum insidias deprimi." 461—504.

* Added from the list of contents. This work ends imperfectly in the 96th chapter (which begins on p. 501) thus—ut moriatur audaci ergo animo insistendum est nam nullus major Some leaves have been lost here.

12. "Tractatus de venenis a Magistro PETRO DE ABBANO editus;" capitulis '82, (quorum tabula præmissa est) summo Pontifici dedicatus. p. 505—516, 517.

This copy ends with the title of the 44th chapter, ('De malis fungis'), many leaves having been lost: the last page contains part of what is called, in the list of contents, "Questio difficillima utrum possibile sit accionem veneni ad aliquem precisum terminum limitari;" and this colophon, which shows that it is a contemporary transcript from a very early printed book:—"PETRI APONENSIS libro conciliatoris divini, et ejusdem de venenis, finis impositus est a magistro Gabriele de Tarrivio, spectabilis et egregii viri domini Thome Triuisani Veneti impressa, qui ut correctiores redderentur, excellentissimus artium et medicine doctor, dominus Magister Petrus de Cararijs de monte silice, theoreticum medicine in preclarissima gignasio Patovino legens, accuratissime revisit, atque ultimam suprascriptam questionem de terminacione venenorum subtilissime compilavit."

13. Liber de 108 'lapidibus preciosis,' cum tabula eorum præmissa; cujus proœmium sic inc. Et si negociis non paucis cum infirmorum tum languidorum satis superque satis detentus fuerim. 519—20, 521—40.

Finis est talis:—"Ca^m. 108^m. de lapide Zignites. Lapis Zignites ut ait Evax est lapis coloris vitrei, virtus ejus quod gestatus collo valet contra noctilopam et constringit sanguinem et depellit mentis alienationem. Finis tractatus de lapidibus preciosis."

14. "In Dei nomine incipit Inventarium seu Collectarium in parte chirurgicali medicine, compilatum et completum anno Domini millesimo tricesimo sexagesimo tercio, per GUIGONEM DE CAULHIACO chirurgicum, magistrum in medicina, in preclaro studio Montis-Pessulani. Quod quidem inventarium seu collectarium fecit scribi et taliter ordinari, venerabilis vir Magister JOHANNES TOURTIER, magister in cirurgia, ad requestam altissimi excellentissimique et potentis principis, domini Johannis Ducis de Bedforde, Regentis regni Francie et Protectoris regni Anglie." Libri tres.* (ff. '45.') pp. 541—573—609—618.

Beginning thus—Postquam prius gratias egero Deo omnipotenti; and ending imperfectly (many leaves being lost) thus—Verba doctoris evangelici sunt hec. Sermones inunctionis spice credo peritos medicos et toward the end of the first chapter of the third book, as it appears in the table prefixed, which is thus subscribed—"Explicit tabula tercii libri Guidonis de Caulhaeo." The title superscribed at the beginning, is simply, "Guido in Cirurgia."

* The contents of all the five books are recited at pp. 626—8.

15. "Iste sunt materie quas sustinuit SCOTUS publice in domo capitulari ecclesie cathedralis sancti Pauli. Ob in fugam vertendas ignavie opacitates." 621.

16. "Notabiles propositiones extracte a GUYDONE in suo Inventario seu Collectario in parte chirurgicali medicine," (inc. In prohemio primo agit gratias Deo vero;) inter quas totius operis summarium habetur, seu quinque librorum ejus rubricæ omnes. 622—35, 636.

On the vacant part of the last page but one, were written by a different hand, in or before the time of Henry VIII., the—

- (1.) "Wordes spokyne to M^r Bactare in the yelde halle and in Polles," challenging the parsonage of Ratherfylde. p. 635.

In sundry parts of this volume, are written the following articles, by a hand of the time of Q. Elizabeth:—

(2.) "An epistell written by JEROMY MONTVUS to the Cardinall of Lorayn, 1558." 295.

Dedicating a treatise on fevers: it is unfinished; yet possibly the following may be a part of the same.

(3.) Dedication of a medical book: beg. Whenas I did see many men to adorne. 390—1.

(4.) Acknowledgement by Thomas Gale, 'harbour and surgion of London,' of having received of Jane Countess of Southampton 15*l.* for a year and a half of an annuity granted unto him by Thomas Writhsley, late Earl of Southampton*. (21 Oct. 1562.) 619.

* By deed dated 17 Aug. 37 Hen. VIII., which was adjudged good in Chancery, 7 Dec. 2 Eliz. This copy bears Gale's own signature. See No. 1505.

(5.) Form of a certificate that sick persons named W. Burche, G. Smyth, and Harry Atchinson*, might be in peril of death unless they should eat flesh. 620.

* Dwelling in the house of one Bryse Austine, clockmaker, in 'Goldinge lane,' without Cripplegate, in London.

No. 1476.

Of this well written folio MS. the pages are alternately written to p. 44: at the end are 13 leaves vacant, beside many added by Ashmole; who, on the last of the blank leaves prefixed, has written the following title:—

"Dr ENT's Anatomy Lectures: written wth his own hand." f. 11^a, pp. 1—196.

By an other hand are fairly written at the end—

(1.) "Authoris Ανθρωποζωοφυτολογιης Opiniones" xxvii. selectæ. p. 197—200.

(2.) Annotationes quædam ex eodem opere desumptæ. p. 201.

No. 1477.

A folio volume containing twelve MSS. on paper, of different ages, and (all but the last) stained and mutilated. The first MS. now consists of 72 leaves, whereof the first 20 have been foliated on both sides by an antient hand, thus, '20, 21, 23, 26, 28, 30—32, 34—36, 41—42, 46—52;' and the last of these being mistaken by Ashmole for 92, he paged the rest from 94 to 196—7. It is written in a common hand (with rubrics) of the latter part of the XVth century.

I. 1. An antient collection of choice Remedies, Medicines, and Cordials; beginning imperfectly thus,...."and at morowene colde tylle he be holle for this is proved sykerlye. For man þt hath evyl in þe mylt, a goode medyceyne. Tak þe southestelle and lett seth it in whyte wyne." ff. 20—34^b.

Among these—"Here is a noþer maner makynge of gratia Dei þt þe goode Erle of Hereforde used þt was holdene a noble surgyene," at 30^b; and at f. 31—"Here is gratia Dei made on a nothere maner, and this maner gratia Dei used Hopkyne of þe fermoyre of Kenelworth, and is a lyghter maner." See also art. 6.

2. A collection of "Oygnementis" and "Emplastres" for various medical purposes: beg. "First to make an oygnement for þe rednesse in þe fasse and pussches and yehe and for brakyng and for dysseese in the stomake. Tak þe jus of planteyne." f. 34^b—41—42.

The two last are—"For to mak a plastre þt syr H. Maundevely used, and it is j cleped þe newe cure, and this is þe makynge her off.—For to mak a plastre þt is clepid in Latyne Enplastrum porci for woundis, bus be it made." 41^b.

3. "Her begynnyth a tretys to make Drynkes. Fyrst for to make clareye of alle. Tak iij. pyntes of hony wele y boyled." f. 42—6.

Not two full pages remain. The last recipe is "Fore to make a soripe of rosys ore of vyalett a nothere manere."

4. "Here begynnythe a tretys of Suppositarijs. For to make a suppositarie allþerfyrste. Take sugre, salte, and a lytle oyle of vyolette." f. 46.

There are only four receipts in this and in the next.

5. "Here begynnyth a tretys fore to make Clystrys. Take an herbe þt is clepid Brankavesina." f. 46^b—7.

6. "Here begynnyth a tretis for to make Entretis. For to make gratia Dei in þe .v. maner. First take of beteyne." f. 47—8.

Containing eight receipts.

7. "Here begynnyth a tretys fore to make Poudres. For to make poudre fyrst fore þe stoune. Take parcellye seede." f. 48—51.

Also "For to make grene gyngere. Fore to make pynonade. Fore to make conservate rosys. To make conserve of cytronade. To purefyre sugre." f. 51—2.

On the vacant part of f. 51, are written (by a more modern hand) some short medical receipts and notes, also a Latin epigram (beg. Nuper ut in silvis) dated 1568, and this verse—"Dat Galenus opes, dat Justinianus honores. G. Martyn."

8. "Here y schewe þe complexiouns of þe sygnes þt ben in the fyrmament, — in the whyche sygnes the mounne goth undere" etc. p. 94.

9. "Here GALYOUN þe gode leche techeth us þe dyetyng of metys and drynkys by the monthes in the zere and what menne schullen usene and also the tyme of blode lettyng to use and to lett in eche tyme of þe zere. In Janiver. Fastynge white wyne is gode." p. 95—6.

Ending—"In Decembyr.—and the xvijj."

10. "Here it techethe a manne to knowe þe veyns and where þt they schalle be fownde fore blode lettynge one manne or womanne where ever that they sytt. Thes masters þt use blode lettynge, And there by geteth þer lyyynge." (44 couplets.) p. 96—8.
Ending—Of alle thes evylls dare the nowght drede.
11. Tabella de hora qua lunæ 'Mutacio vel conjunctio est,' secundum 'primam' et literas dominicales: cum versiculo. p. 99.
12. An alphabetical catalogue or vocabulary of the Latin names of Plants and Drugs, explained in English, with their complexions: beg. Antimonium is hote and drye in the .iiijth. degre and it is a veyme of þe erthe etc. p. 100—111.
Ending—Ypericon. herba perforata. herbe. John.
13. A short piece on the nature of Physic, the characters for weights used by physicians, and sundry chief diseases: beg. Phisyke is a science þt techeth to knowe syknesses of a mannys bodye. p. 112—4.
Ending—Allopieye is sodeyn fallynge of a mannys here.
14. A book of Pharmacy, describing the nature and uses of Medicines in alphabetical order: beg. Aloen hathe vertewe to purgen flemme and colre and it clenstith malencolye. p. 114—195.
The second and third articles are Aurum (115) and Aza fetida (116): the last is, "Zucarum. Suger is temperat hote and moyste [etc.] bott for the enduryng. I thonkyd be þow Jh'u Cryst that hathe y brought thys to anne ende. Amen. quod SALTER R." The writer's or translator's name.
15. Remedies "For the stone. For the steche. For a man that hathe ache in his backe and consumythe wythe alle. For pryche in a mannys fote. For to stayneche blode. For the emerawdys. A medycyne for the comyne sickenys." etc. p. 195—197.
The last leaf is much stained and somewhat mutilated: it ends with an other remedy "for the steche," and the first line of one which is imperfect, the rest of the MS. having been lost.
- II. An antient treatise of 'Lechecraft' or Medicine and Surgery, with a metrical prologue beginning thus—
"The manne that wyllle of Lechecraft lere
Rede one thys boke and ye may here
Many a medycyn both goode and trewe
To helc sores both olde unde newe." ff. 1—47.
The three first lines are in rubric: the 32d is—"In hevenc wt the holy trynytie. Amen." The book begins thus on the second page—"For manne or womanne that is sansfleme, to do it away owt of ye face. Tak stronge vyneger of qwhit wyne." The MS. is of the XVth century, fairly written in a common hand, with frequent rubrics.
- III. 1. A short prognosticatory tract, beg. Now for to declare of the vij dayes in the wecke the whiche take hir namys of the vij planets this is the cause. f. 1^a.
Ending—"in the which he shalhave profight he shalle lyeve long, but if the cours of the mone be contrary to hym. Explicit."
2. Of Complexions: beg. Now it is to undirstond that every man levyng in crthe hathe iiij compleccyons weche . . . hym that is [to] say. Coler etc. f. 1^{ab}.
Ending—and bi cause of drynes hym may fulle litille in kynde.
3. "Here is the wise book of Philosophie and Astronomye, conteynyd and mad of the wisest philosopher and astronomer that ever was sethyn the world begonnyn, that is for to seye of the lond of Greece, for in that lond an Englissh man fulle wise and wele undirstondyng of philosophi and astronomye studied and compilde this book out of Grew into Englissh gracyously. This book tellith houghe many hcfnes that there be"—of the cours and the governaille of the planettis and of the signes. etc. f. 1^b—2.
Ending—"who so is born in this signe he shalbe gracyous etc Finis." This note follows, by the same hand,—Md the child that I send to you for, he was twelmoneth old upon the nyghte about xij of the cloke betwixt the Sunday and Monday before Halowmesday the change of the mone was at xj of the cloke before the birthe of the child, his name is J. T. anno r^r E iiij^{ti} xvmo. It appears therefore that this MS. was written in 1474, or 1475.
4. "Here folowythe the Vertu of Erbis. Isop is hoot and drie in ij. degreis so seith Ipocrace if a man drynk it fastynge." 2^b—6.
On the second page, between the paragraphs about Dilayne and Betayne, are the first 6 couplets of the poem on the virtues of herbs (especially the latter named) which is in No. 1397 (iv.) art. 6. This article ends with Perseli—and it comfortith the herbe.
5. A collection of Remedies "For the pestelence* —For the agew" etc. f. 6—9^b.
Beg.—Take the watirs of maidewede gouldes seabyne etc. The two last are—"A faier medycyne for the flix," and "For to make watir of Damaske. Stille a pynt of watir of ilder flouris—not uncoveryd."
6. Who so wille have love of manne or of womanne or who so have nede to borow ony golde or silvyr or ony othir maner catelle [etc.]—thou must take ane herbe that is clepid Valeriane in his owne kynde etc. 9^b—10.
The conjuration ends thus—till my wille be fulfillyd be this persone whose love I desire. "A medicine fore a steche," and one 'for ye agewe' follow, not written at the same time.
7. A short tract of the judgement of Urines: beg. In .iiij. maners menne jugc the uryne. Lokers behovythe at the first jugement to spere the age of the man. 10^b—11.
Ending—"for the splene of that side is cold and drye. Explicit."
8. Figures of 20 Urinals (uncolored) with the descriptions of as many kinds of urines, and the medical treatment according to each. 11—12^b.
Beg.—'Subviridis.' This is the same that is that othir. S. viridis superius but not so sore.
This MS. seems to be imperfect at the end: it is neatly written in a small hand. Over the first page an antient hand has noted that it was "The booke of Wyllyam Gynnes."

IV. V. Two books of old Medical Receipts, written by various hands at different times. ff. 1—3^{1b}, 3²—42.

The former is cut at the edges, the latter not: the chief handwriting of the latter occurs also in the former; and as the foliation is old, it seems to have been a supplementary book. The title of the first receipt is almost obliterated. At f. 12^b is "A soveraigne water devised by Doctor Stevens phizition to an Archbushopp of Caunterbury." Medicines by Dr. Turner and Mr. Panton are at f. 24. Many of the entries seem to be in Sir R. Napier's hand, as also in the next MS. Ff. 6, 7, 10, are partly torn out. MS. VII. is a continuation of these, and has an Index at the end.

VI. "This is Mistris DORATHEI LEWKENORES booke 1576."

This title is curiously written on the back of the last leaf (p. 72) which is torn. The first leaf is vacant.

1. "A booke of Cookerye. To make royjstons.—To make a pye of bales" etc. pp. 1—14, 43—52, 67—8.

The last page is by the same hand as the next article.

2. Directions "For brewinge," by Sir R. Napier? 15.
3. Medical receipts "For the yelow jandise" etc. by the same. 16—20.
4. "Matters concerning weomen." 21.
5. "Of syrups," oil of almonds, etc. 22—3.

Both these are by the same hand as art. 2: the next article is written (by Lewkenores hand?) on a paper found loose, and now pasted opposite to a remedy for the same, on p. 22: see also p. 27.

6. Remedies "For a timpanic." p. 23^b.

Pages 24—42 are vacant, except a few lines on p. 27; and two of the leaves have been torn out, as also the (vacant?) pages 53—4, 57—66, between which is inserted a short—

7. Letter about a medical prescription, addressed "To the wourshipfulle and my verye good mother M^{rs} Dorothe Lewkno^r at Kingstone Bowfey." p. 66.

VII. 1. "An excellent medicine and usage for y^e plague, used at Redding with great good successe, taught here at London by M^r Burton precher att Redding, Julij 1^o 1603." f. 43.

Also some other little remedies on f. 43^b, and one at 45^a.

2. About "M^{rs} Rogers her stills of Dartfourd;" and those of "M^r Lawrence Staughton's wife nere Guilford" who distilled rose-water. 43^b, 44^a.
3. "Concepts" about seeds and flowers. 44^a.
4. "Notes out of the Flowre of Physicke." 60^{ab}.
5. "Matters of household proffit," gathered out of the book called "A thousand notable things." 67^a.
6. Notes of "Herbs and other things" out of the same book; in alphabetical order. 69—71.

Also two references to Gerard's herbal on 72^a. Most of this MS. is vacant: it is part of those marked IV. v.; and the next 7 leaves are by the same hand (of Sir R. NAPIER as it seems), and were heretofore separately foliated.

7. "A Table to find out the medicines and conceipts both in the great and [in the] litle booke here conjoynd: the letter G. noting the great booke, y^e letter S noting the lesse booke, w^t the pages of each." f. 73—6^b, 79^a.

These 'bookes' are, the MSS. in this volume marked IV. v. VII., and that marked VI. Many references to the 'Notable Things' are inserted here. Ff. 77—8 are blank and torn, and 79 is for the most part scribbled over.

VIII. "A breife treatise touching the preservacōn of the Eyesight, consisting partlye in good order of diett, and partlye in use of medicines:" with a preface "To the readers, his friends," by WALTER BAILYE. pp. 1, 3—14.

Neatly written in the time of Elizabeth or James I.

IX. Medical collections, consisting of explanations of medical terms and quantities, and some common remedies and receipts. ff. 3—12^b.

The two first leaves are lost, and of f. 10 a fragment only remains: the whole is dirty, worn, and stained with rouge, which has made f. 5^a almost illegible. The writing is of the time of Q. Elizabeth. Ashmole has continued its foliation through the three next MSS.

X. 1. Sundry pieces concerning the judgement of urines, the complexions, the pulse, and other old medical doctrines and secrets, transcribed and collected from various books. f. 14—24^b.

This first leaf is torn and is not properly the first of the MS., and the leaf that is set before it (f. 13) is properly the last of those that now exist.

2. "The booke of Medisens. And first to purge the stomack of gleat. R. a quart of the finest Mawmsey." f. 24^b—37^b, 14^{ab}.

At f. 25^b is "A plaster that Sr Wm Farrington knyght lett a squyer go for that he was his presoner free." At f. 37 are 14 Leonine verses, "De prudencia medici" (beg. Non didict gratis nec musa sagax Iprocritis), and 3 "De curis per res non per verba. Sensus et ars medici." The last receipt is, "For the payne of the Iyes," of which only one line is on 14^b, the other leaf or leaves being lost.

XI. 1. Secrets medical and magical: "For a stinckeing breath—For the teeth—To gett y^e love of a woman" etc. f. 38^{ab}.

This leaf seems to be by Sir R. Napier's hand: the two following sheets are much older.

2. "A not of the prises of sweet meates accordinge to M^r Harisses bill of prises." 39^a.
"Pulvis somniferus Langii, folio 911." 41^a.

A reference also to his f. 921, is written on 43^a, invertedly, as are what follow.

Moneys payed "To goodman Benall the first of February 1612." 43^b.

Medicamenta quædam e Langio desumpta. 44^{ba}.

XII. 1. The "Aphorismes of HYPOCRATES," translated into English rime: "the first. Man's life is short, the art of Physick longe, And many things to medicines doe belonge." (f. 47—67.) f. 4—24.

Half of the first page is by Sir R. Napier's hand: but all the rest of this MS. is in a small stiff hand like a schoolboy's. It ends thus—“301. The bath resolveth and inviteth the humours quite

And lastly the sweate it doth incite.

Finis.

“Chyr'gry doth not consist
In words but in dexterytie
To use in order tyme and place
Both sizers lance and ca[ui]terie.
Aphorismes signiefies in the vulgar sence
A chosen decree is [or?] a learned sentence.”

2. A collection of remedies and various medical receipts. f. 24^b—7^b, 30—9.

Ending—“Fines for this. 1652. I. B.” All the rest of this book, (the leaves whereof are cut and speckled red on the edges) is vacant, except half of the last page, which contains a—

3. Remedy “for a cow” etc. dated 29 Oct. 1652. f. 81^b.

No. 1478.

This folio volume is divided into six parts (by two sheets of new paper between each) or so many MSS. written on paper, with some papers added to the third and fifth.

The first consists of 70 leaves foliated by the writer, or by Thomas Digges, whose autograph is at f. 44 (with mottos in Greek and Latin), 45, 58, and 59; but the numbers 16—25 are written twice, so that the last leaf is ‘60.’ It is fairly written in a small hand of the XVIth century, with wide margins: the first page is defaced with scribbling. On the back of f. 48 (which is torn) is a long note by Dr. FORMAN, stating that after a dream about a book of the philosopher's stone, on Friday morning 4 Jan. 1594, ‘a strange man that dwelte at the green dragon at Holborn Conduit’ brought ‘this booke and a nother lyttle bock of notes of astrology,’ which he bought. At the foot of the first page it is intitled by Robson, “The third booke noted into the boke of notes:” and his selected passages are marked with a double cross.

- I. 1. The composition of four chemical ‘waters,’ three of which have titles in metre. f. 1^a.

Thus—“The fyrst water wt owten dowte Blancheth metall wt in & wt owte.”

2. Eight alchemical preparations or processes: beg. Take whites of eggcs and munge them well together wt a slyce. 1^b—2^b.
3. Verses on the “Elyxer magnum. Of Spayne take ye elere lyghte.” (56 lines.) 2^b—3^b.

Ending—This noble stone so precious. The two last couplets are verses 67—8 and 73—4 in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 277, and the line next before them (Who that finds it may have grace) is the 48th. See the note on No. 1416, art. 60. The words “Hec Maria,” are either a colophon of this article, or a title of the next.

4. “Versus. *Terra stat, unda lavat, pir purgat, spiritus intrat:” with a short comment on it. 3^b.

* See art. 8.

5. Composition and uses of “The stronge water dissolving ☿ and ♁. Take and make a corse of sal pet j li.” with some other receipts in Latin and in English. f. 3^b—5.

This title is written in the margin by Forman.

6. “Incipit tractatus optimus in quo plenius patet quid sit lapis, qua materia debet fieri, quomodo. Qui cum totaliter preparatus est medicina perfecta que elixer dicitur. Elixer enim Greece fermentum.” 5^b—8.

Des.—“quia qui habet ipsam habet incorporale thesaurum. Explicit Secretum Secretorum.” Forman has written marginal notes on this preparation, and one at the end wherein he censures it as ‘the stinking menstroe or water.’ Compare No. 1467, art. 13.

7. Sundry alchemical processes, some of which are in Latin: beg. “T. F.* R' j. li. of mercuri j. li. of vitrioll Rom.” 8^b—11^b.

* These initials also occur at f. 5. The second receipt is “To rubyfy vitrioll.” The last piece is called “Figure,” it being an explanation of Chemists' weights and characters.

8. Tractatus alchemicus qui appellatur “Vetus Testamentum. Terra stat. Et est frigida et sicca.”* 12—17^b.

* Vide art. 4. In fine—“quis optatum desiderium investigavit. s. studium et exercit[um]. que duo faciunt magisterium. Explicit etc.” It seems to be called ‘Terra vetus,’ at f. 46^b.

9. “Tempus ad incipiendum opus solis. M^d Plogus Theophilus et quam plurimi alii philosophi.*” Etiam operatio quædam cum ♀. f. 17^b.

* This title is Forman's.

10. “Incipit quidam bonus tractatus alkimie AR-[NOLDI] DE NO[VA] VILLA. O venerande pater gracias Deo ago qui scientiam istam.” 18—24^b.

It seems to end at these words—ubique sicut vis ad omne examen.

11. “De aqua de qua feci mentionem. R' vitrioli optimi.” Cum aliis præparationibus chemicis. 25^a.

12. “Preparacio elixer ad rubeum. Accipe ̄ j. optimi auri.” 25^b, 16^a.

13. “Experimentum nobile ad lunam, extractum de Libro Aquarum albarum et rub. Sume unam li. ar. vi.” *16.

14. “Experimentum bonum extractum de dicto Libro Aquarum ad solem, et fit hoc modo. Acc' auripigmentum.” *16—7.

15. “Nunc sequitur optima purgacio sive finacio cupri. ‡—Ad sublimandum mercurium.—Ad rubificandum mercurium.—Multiplicacio solis ut fiat de una uncia due ̄.” *17—8.

‡ Inc.—Fundatur cuprum super.

16. “Sermo de plumbo. Plumbum est frigidum.” *18—*20.

Des.—Sufficit scias illud et opera cum illo.

17. “Purgacio saturni” duplici modo: inc. Funde, et R' aectum. *20.

18. De aqua aurea: (inc. Nota quod aqua aurca sanguis humanus.)—Calcinatio auri.—Ad faciendum (esse ejusdem ponderis et soliditatis cum auro.†—To apparrell coppas for golde.—Ad purgandum cuprum.—Ad faciendum ☉.” f. *20^b—1^a.
† In English, beg. Take of (in lamenis.
19. “To have the quintessence of ☉ or (for aurum potabile.† Optimus tractatus. Fyrst calcyne thy gollde thus.” *22—3^b.
† This title is superscribed by Robson’s hand. It ends thus—And allso yn all other praysynge be to God.
20. “To draw 5. essence of antimonie, that ys to sey Marchasita plumbi. Allmyghty God of heven ys wittnes that I never showed so gret a secretnes.” *24.
† This title is superscribed by Robson’s hand. It ends thus—And allso yn all other praysynge be to God.
21. Seven operations of the process in transmuting ☿ into ☉: beg. “Jesus Maria: prima operatio. Fyrst clense thi mercury w^t commyn salt.” *24^b—26^b.
Ending—“as it ys sayd before. Laudes Deo. Explicit.”
22. Ower worke ys womans worke, and we understand yt therbe .iiii. manner of workes. etc. 26^b—7.
23. “A worke of saturne mars and mercury:” beg. Hermes the philosophar. he seythe in a secrete tretis w^{ch} he had of the holy goste by enspiracon. 27^a.
Robson set this title in the margin.
24. “Aqua vite philosophicorum,” (inc. R’ merc’ in magna quantitate) et alia quædam brevia documenta. 27^b.
The second piece is in English, beg. Calx of bodye: the third is five Leonine verses, beg. Quid lapis est scitis.
25. Excerpta e quodam libro alchemico: inc. Nota quod quando ☉ est solutum calcinatum et factum spirituale. 28^{ab}.
26. Ex Hortulano quædam notulæ: inc. “Orthelans. Item nota quod dealbare et rubificare. idem est quod calcinare.” 28^b.
27. Distill saturne in limel in to water etc. 29^a.
Four experiments, one in English*, three in Latin. 29^b.
* Ending—This tinctur was had of the abbot of φ yt was.
28. “Incipiunt interrogationes Regis CHALID* et responsiones MORIENT, de omnibus in quibus tota efficacia magisterij Hermetis constare probatur. O Moriene primo querere libet que et qualis sit hujus rei principalis substancia et matrcia.” 30—7^b.
It ends differently from the older copy in No. 1486, iii. f. 12^b, where the words dealbatum fuerit (at line 7, the last in which these copies agree) is at line 10, two pages short of the end. The 13th line here, ends—Et sic cum eo omne corpus comburetur.
29. “Sermo de luna. Scias quod argentum est corpus mundum.” f. 37^b—8^a.
Des.—Dum persistentem croceum inherere colorem.
30. “Cedula declarativa BACONIS. Amice in istis consistit difficultas operis nostri.” 39—40.
Des.—“Hoc intelligendum de corporibus perfectis etc. Deo gratias.”
31. Experimenta et operationes quædam alchemica: (40^b—3^b, 44^b—5.) inter quas—
“Nota quod AR’ DE VILLA No[VA] dedit hanc R’ sequentem, amore Dei, Magistro Hospitalis sancti Johannis Jerel’ ad bell’ contra Saracenos.” 41^a.
Narratiuncula, inc. Fabro quodam errario in terra Maurorum existente in thcolonio suo, Maurus quidam 30 argentos ei dedit. 44^b—5.
Four pieces on f. 43, and three on 44^b are in English.
32. Notulæ alchemicæ, inc. Non cst philosophorum solucio. 46^{bc}.
The leaf between 46 and 47 was not numbered.
33. “Crocus ferri” et alia quædam. 46^c, 46^d, 47^a.
“The bookes of vis hooke,” or the names of five tracts herein contained. The three other pieces on 46^d are headed—“Super tegmen libri,” (probably of the book from which some of these articles were transcribed,) and the second of them is six verses, beg. In speciem solis lanam convertere si vis.
34. De argento vivo: inc. Argentum vivum frigidum est et humidum. 47^b—8.
Des.—Et ego muto corpora [etc.] In me sunt quatuor genera elementorum .s. terra aqua aer et ignis.
35. Tractatus de operationibus metallorum, et de elixire: inc. Mercurius sic sublimatur. R’ unum talentum de ipso. 49—50^b.
Des.—cujus pars una tingit 100 partes cujuscunque corporis in lunam purissimam.
36. “Liber investigationis GEBERIS. Investigationem hujus nobilis sciencie cæ continua.” 50^b—54.
The latter part is largely written, and it seems not to be complete: the last paragraph is—Lutum philosophicum. Acc’ bolus [etc.] equaliter commix’ et assat’ etc.
- (1.) “GUALTERI HADDONI carmen in laudem Th: Nortoni.” 54^b.
Written by Digges, as also the next short article. This epigram is also in No. 1445, ii. p. 2, and copied into Ashmole’s interleaved Theatrum, No. 971, f. 8.
The following is a copy:—
“*Maximus ingenio, scribendi maximus arte,
Thomas Nortonus, primarum semina rerum,
Atque metallorum venas tellure sepultas,
Erui, ac imæ subit intima viscera terræ.
Mellea secretos promit faundia sensus,
Atque vias omnes cudendi colligit auri.
Ars licet hæc auri fontes opulenta recludat,
Attamen est auro longe pretiosior author.*”
- (2.) “Questio geographica” de duobus orbem terrarum circumeuntibus. 54^b.

37. "Tractatus bonus. The first begynnyng of sublimacōn. Ye shall understand that in this crafte bene many sublimacōns of mercurye." f. 55—7.

Ending—Who so seketh in herbes the secret of philosophers, his propre expenses he leseth, hys tyme, and hys labor.

38. "A worke of saturne. Take saturne per-f[e]ctlye made sotell.—Calcinacio Saturni et Jubit. Saturne and Jubyter. caleyne them well." 57^{ab}—8.

The former title is by Robson's hand.

(3.) Experimenta chemica: sc. "Preparatio argenti" etc. 58^b—9.

By Digges-es hand, as are the geometrical calculations noted down on 59^a, and the two next articles.

(4.) Tabula chemica, de salibus, aquis, spiritibus, et elementis. 59^b.

(5.) Librorum quorundam nomina, quos Diggesius (ut videtur) habuit. 59^b.

On the next page are noted by an old hand, small sums of money 'delivered' at 38 sundry times; also, by Dr. FORMAN,— (6.) "Nomina [xxvii.] philosophorum qui habuerunt lapidem filosoficum." 60^a.

39. Quaedam de lapide philosophorum, sub istis titulis 'Aqua, Oleum, Ignis, Terra:' inc. Nota quod aqua prima a diversis philosophis. 60^b.

Henceforth Ashmole continued the foliation through the two next MSS. and the new paper between them.

II. 1. An alchemical tract, beginning with 'Hermes wordes in the fourth chapter' (The Egle being uppon the toppe of the mountaine crieth) and a prologue of 11 stanzas of wretched verse. f. 65—72.

The first stanza is—

"The evangeliste John, as by revelation,
To an Egle is compare;
For he did wrighte, so farr from sighte,
So hegh that men well lernid
Could scarce" etc.

Ending—Our noble king Edwarde, God sende him conninge, (Which had) no dubte he hath God's blessinge. The prose begins thus—Lykewyse werke wth your mercurye white or redde: and ends—Right so water minerall reduced is our gold, as writiith playnly Ramunde and Arnolde, wth heat [etc.] honor and glory now and ever Amen.

2. The words of the angel, the master, and the 'scoller.' 90^a.

Translated from the picture in Norton's Ordinal, in the plate on p. 12 of Ashmole's Theatrum.

Translation of NORTON'S Latin prologue to his Ordinal: beg. This booke shewith to clerkes mysticall conninge. (40 lines.) 90^{ab}.

The version at pp. 3, 5, of the Theatrum, over against the text, seems to be Ashmole's, who had not then gotten this MS. There is an other version in No. 1479, f. 299^b.

3. "Certayne principall Questions drawn oute of RAYMUNDES Questyonyary. Question. What is the end of alchamyne? Answer" etc. f. 90^b—4.

Ending—"apte to enter the ceration of this most excellent magisterye. Finis.

[P]ractick withoute Theoric
Can make neyther stone nor stick."

4. "Here beginith the Privitie or Secretre of AVICEN upon the declaratione of the philosophers' stone, translated out of Latine into Ynglyshe by ROBERT FREELOVE Clerke to the Marchaunt Adventurers, in December A^o 1550." 94—6.

"Here beginith the declaration [etc.] by Avicen to his sonne. My sonne Albohaly." It is dated also at the end, 16 December 1550.

5. "Of the phylosop[h]ers' mercury. Oure mercury is one thinge in one vessell lyqued." 96—98^b.

Ending—"and I dare say this is sufficiente instruction both of the mercuryes and of the menstreves to the honor—of—God. Amen. Anno 1548. 25^o Augusti. Lyfe is to be desired" etc.

6. "Of the essence or beinge of thinges. The purytye of every thing is of one essence." 98—99.

7. "The werke of sylver after RASYS. Of sylver we saye thow shalt take thynne plates." 99—100.

Ending—and this is a secretre.

8. "The Theoryck of JANUS LACINIUS declaryng ye sence of Raymunde in his Epistel of Accuration. It ys firste diligently to be noted, all the workes of Raymunde to be full of his vegetable salte." 100—2.

Ending—knowinge the ende of one to be the beginnunge of another, as the philosophers have saide.

Between this article and the next, are written two lines of Norton's Ordinal, and the verses—"Pauci quos amavit Jupiter" etc.

9. "In the name of oure [Lord] Jhesus Christe here beginneth the Lapydary of RAYMONDE LULLYE:" beg. with a short preface, thus—"Raymunde Lully wrote this booke [etc.]—Anno Domini 1321." ff. 102—105^b, 73—79^b.

The leaves 73—89 having been transposed before 90—105, the latter part of this article seems to be a separate tract, beg.—"Of the Practise in especiall of the composition of Stones, and firste of the carbuncle. The carbuncle is the kinge of all stones as gold is kinge of all metalles." Ending thus—"In the name of A. wch is God which is thre in person and one essentially, wch reigniith by world of worldes. Great Raymunde fynnyssed this lytle booke in Monnte Pessilane, Robert of Cycill beinge alyve there reininge Anno Domini 1321."

10. A translation or abridgement of a tract of LULLY'S: beg. "Honore prayse and glory be unto almightie God, amen. In the beginnunge you shall understand that olde ph'ors agreed to gethers to do by arte." With "The werke" and "The accurtations." 79^b—84—87—89^b, 106^a.

Ending—Behold the maner of the fornace: which is drawn on f. 106^a, the leaves having been transposed.

11. "Incipit epistola mistica et vera Magistri ARNOLDI DE VILLA NOVA, et dicitur Flos Florium super tuam artem. Vidi senem nimia claritate fulgentem." f. 106^b—8.

Ending—Deus qui dat sapientiam sapientibus. Amen. This is a very incorrect copy; the inscription on the next page seems to belong to it;—"Scriptum per me S: I: apud Antuerpiam in ducatu Brabantie anno gracie 1512."

12. "Here beginnith the mervelous Conninge of Astrology, found and proved two hundrith years before the incarnation of Christe, by the great philosopher PII[T]OLOMEUS; honorable and profitable it is to know every daye in the yeare in what signe the moone is" etc. 108^b—118.

At f. 115 it is said that it thundered on the 29 June 1482, and 14 June 1449. The last paragraph is—And if it falle on the Saterday [etc] old folk shall dye. It is followed by "Tabula terminorum planetarum" and "Tabula facierum"—(etc. 118^b); and the next leaf is occupied with Geomantical Tables belonging to the next article, f. 119^{ab}.

13. "To know ye intente of the querente. These be Rules which PERICIENCE* the auctor of this science [of Geomancy] and a wise ph'or, hath compiled in his lyfe time, after the use of Arabyes and many auctors of Egypte hath made and proved. There be foure rules which I shall teache thee" etc. 120—1^b.

* Parisiensis? It ends with the eleventh figure thus—for ye s[halt] doo the profett. This last leaf was lately found bound up at the end of No. 1501.

III. (a.) "Fama Fraternalitatis, or a discovery of the laudable Order of the Rosie Crosse;" and the "Confessio Fraternalitatis," with "A preface to the wisdome desireous reader." f. 125—7^b—9.

Closely written, in the time of James or Charles I.: the three last pages of these six leaves, are vacant, and on the last is the name of Richard Joylife. Art. 28, 29, of No. 1459, seem to have been transcribed hence by Ashmole.

(b.) Prescription for "A most excell. and a gentle vomyte," written in Latin by NAPIER. 131^a.

(c.) Alchemical notes and memoranda (one dated 16 Aug.) roughly set down by Dr. FORMAN. 132^{ab}.

(d.) A short summary of the work of Alchemy; beg. "In Dei nomine Amen. Take one pounce of vytryall and half a pounce of salpeter." 133—5^b.

The last paragraph begins thus—Dere brother I have shewyd to the here openly and expowndyd all the secrettes of phylosophye towching this craft: and ends—I betake you to God etc.

Written in a good hand of the XVth century: an other old hand hath added—

Projectio in cuprum: inc. Recipe tutiam et mole cum ficibus. 135^b.

IV. 1. "A Compend of Alchemie, of ye most learned English Philosopher JHONE GARLAND: or, his Commentaries about the mistrie, upon ye Smaragdine Table of Hermes Trismegistus. The prayer of Jhone Garland, or HORTULANUS. Laud honour power and glorie." f. 1—6^b.

Ending thus—"but all superfluities are removed, and this is the blessed stone. Finis." Compare the other translation in No. 1487, ii. art. 4.

2. "The expositione of M^r ARNOLD DE VILLA NOVA, a very famous philosopher, upon ye Commentaries of Hortulane. Which be ye ingredients." 6^b—10^b.

Ending—"which afterwards in ye making of ye stone are called ye earth or ye nurse. Finis."

3. "An expositione of diverse words of one significatione in ye arte of Chemistrie, by JHONE GARLAND, a most learned English philosopher. Amatura, ye is, petra matura." 10^b—14.

Ending—"Appendix to Z. Zucharinum, ni, alumen de Babylonica; et ni, alumen rotundum. Finis."

4. "A litle booke of JHONE GARLAND, a most [&c.], concerning ye prapereatione of the elixir. A most noble and short worke for making ye elixir, or philosophers stonc. And it is done" etc. 14^b—16^b.

Ending—"But in fixing of ye elixir wee need no waters. Finis."

5. "The booke of JHONE GARLAND, a [&c.] concerning mineralls. Cap. I. Of Arsenick. The account in mincralls and mincrall spirits." 17—27^b.

The 26th chapter ends—"and you find it lyke snow in ye cover of ye alumdell, if God please. et eat. Finis."

6. "The lyfe of Jhone Garland, a most excellent philosopher," translated from Bale's work, De Scriptoribus Britannicis. 27^b—8^b.

Beg.—Jhone Garland, a grammarian; and ending—"with dew arte and skill. Finis."

This fourth MS. consists of '14' numbered 'sheets,' written in a small hand of the time of Elizabeth or James I.: at the end are placed the three following papers, which are paged by Ashmole; and his numbers are continued through the rest of the volume.

IV. (a.) Schema, in qua per circulos, figuras, et versus, monstratur cælum philosophorum,* seu mysteria chemica. f. 1^b—2.

* See No. 1478, f. 31.

Ejusdem schematis expositio; inc. Sphæra inferioris astronomie premonstrata. 2^b.

The former is written by Ashmole; the latter is closely written by a different hand.

(b.) Alchemical notes and fragments, apparently by T. CHARNOCK: beg. The fadyr of thys scripture or scyence was wythowten teching of erly clergy, not knowyne to him iij lettyrs of hys A. b. c. f. 3^{ab}.

In Ashmole's handwriting.

(c.) "An experiment tried and found true, by a Prince of the frontiers of Picardie," for converting of silver into gold. 4^a.

Beg.—Take sal armoniacke. This paper is in Sir Richard Napier's handwriting, who seems to have translated it from the Italian.

V. 1. "The French Alchimie. Wherein is contained the right and true composition of the elixers, both white and red, with the making of the great stone of the philosophers as it was trewlie taught in Paris by a father unto the son, and perfectlie conclude[d] many yeares past by JOHN FANUERE, and now turned into English by a Lover of the said Science, to the honor of God and to the help of the poor." In two parts. f. 10—17—25.

After this title, follow "The contents," and "The preface to the reader or worker." It ends thus:—"and I have written this book with mine own hand and set to my name, as I did ly on my death bed, in ye yeare 1432. May 7. JOHANNES STRANGUNERE."

2. "To draw the spirit out of ye ponderous body or earth, by distillation. Make a great many plates of new lead." 25^{ab}.
3. A work "Upon Saturne, [by a] Phi^r of Holland. Understand that out of lead comes ye stone." 25^b—6^b.
4. "An extract out of D^r HOMODEUS MS. De Elixire Solis medicina universali. i. e. Of ye tincture of gold, separated from its body and turned to a celestiall and spirituall nature called a quintessence, w^{ch} is ye aurum potabile. Of the matter of ye universall medicine. Chap. 1." 27—35^b.

End.—Since God hath created all things for man's use. Ending—"health so manie vertues ye noe tongue of man is able to expresse them. Finis."

This MS. was written about the time of Charles I. The outermost leaves are vacant, except this note on f. 36; "In Round Court, at ye three horshshooes, against the new Exchange."

VI. SAMUELIS NORTONI 'Ramorum Arboris Philosophicalis' libri tres; opus alchemicum, sic inchoans; "Ramus primus sive tabula prima arboris philosophicalis, sive ranum elixeris albi de solo ☿ rio." f. 42—96^b.

This MS. appears to be the author's own copy, in which the drawings are not inserted. Part of the third leaf is torn off. By the headings and subscriptions of the several parts, it appears that he began the first book on the 2nd, and finished it on the 13th of May, [1598]. The next begins thus—"Secundi libri Tabularum arbor vel ramus primus. Inceptus Maij die 18." (f. 55^b.) It ends—"Finis. Samuele Philosophante Rinuillo Nortono, Lega juxta Bristoll. Etatis suæ pene 51." (f. 73.) The third book was begun 16 April 1599, (f. 74); it ends with a recapitulation of the contents, and the following colophon:—"Adest libri tertij finis. Et explicet" (sic pro incipit)—

"Tractatulus primus de considerationibus multiplicum verborum antiquorum philosophorum;" codem auctore. 96^b—102.

Inc.—Hunc scripsi librum ut planius. Des.—"Claudite jam rivos pueri, sat prata biberunt. Finitum Maijæ tertio. 1599."

Ejusdem "Trac[ta]tulus secundus, indicans methodum philosophorum operis Saturni." 102—104^b.

Inc.—Scripsit aliquando Georgius Ripleyus parvum volumen, quod nominavit Practicale Compendium omnium scriptorum, liber omnium antiquorum planissimus et apertissimus. Des.—"Sic faxit Omnipotens. Finitum Maiæ 20. 1599. Bristoll. SAMUELE RINUILLO alias NORTONO, armigero, philosophante."

The three stanzas recited at f. 93^b—4, (beg.—I saw never true work onely but one,) are taken from Ripley's "Erronious Conclusions:" see the next MS., f. 30^b.

No. 1479.

A folio MS. on paper, consisting of 324 leaves, written and foliated in a rude hand of the XVth century. The first leaf is unnumbered; it contains two autographs of "RYCHARD WALTON," the collector and writer of the MS., and—

A catch, or short song, beg.—Send forthe thy ugly syghtes; with the music.

On the other side are references to certain parts of the following poem.

1. GEORGE RIPLEY'S Twelve Gates, or Compend of Alchemy; here intituled "The Philosophers Treasurer. Here begynnith the Compende of Alkamy." (2 st. of 8.) "The prologe. Child of this discipline, incline to me thine care." f. 1—30^b.

Ending—W^c he in his kingdome us graunt for to se. Amen. Printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 108, 117—193; the dedication to Edward IV. (pp. 109—116) being omitted in this MS. See No. 1485, iii. art. 2.

2. "Her folowith the fygure contaynyng alle the secretes of thys tretis, bothe great and small. Celum Philosophorum." 31^a.

A circular scheme, drawn and inscribed chiefly in rubric: the 'tretis' is not given. Compare No. 1478, iv. (a.) etc.

3. "Septem condiciones hujus materie. The fyrst condycion is this, that yf ther be anny kind of argent vive." 32^{ab}.

Ending—"may be multiplied w^t owt end. Finis."

4. Alchemical verses: beg. The cause efficient may be many fould. (15 lines.) 33^a.

Struck through, and marked "Thys ys nothyng."

5. "The true makying of [a medicine called] ye fyre of nature*, ye w^c ys a quyntessence;" also the names of divers herbs "Collectyd be RYCC' WAULTOWNE alias WALTON, haburdassher;" and "An excellent makying of rosa solis, ye w^c may be brought to a quinteessence." 33^{ab}, 34^a.

* See also art. 12, 20.

6. "Incipit tractatus intitulus Medulla Alchimie, honorando et pat[r]i et domino N. et ce' compilatus. Hec mea preclare presul dictamina care." (vv. 68.) f. *31—*32.

Des.—"Hoc ut dictamen opera tibi clareat. amen. Finis carminum RIPLEI." See the next article.

7. "Here after folowythe thes versys in Ynglysshe, and put in mytter, by WYLLIAM BOLOSSE*. Ryght noble lorde and prelat deare." (19 st. of 7.) *32—*34^b.

* This name is obscurely written. The piece has been published by Ashmole from another copy, as if it were the original composition of Ripley, (though it is merely a translation of the foregoing article,) under the title of "The Preface prefixt to Sir Geo. Ripley's Medulla, which he wrote Ann. Dom. 1476, and dedicated to Geo. Nevell then Archbishop of Yorke." (Theatrum, pp. 389—392.) This copy ends—"As sounde maye to thy laude alle waye. Amen." It serves as the prologue to the next article.

8. "Here foloythe the treatyse* of Alchymy, compyled by GEORGE RYPLEY, [a]n^o 1476. I beyng abowght to intreat to yor most excellent lordshype of the secrettes of alchy . . ." f. 35—42^b.

* The words following are cut off by the binder's knife: but the colophon (after the words in all hys gyftes) supplies them thus:—"Here endeth the tretis callid ye Marie [Marrow] of Alchymy, compild by G. R. in ye yere of or Lorde 1476, and wrytyn by ye cople in ye yere of or Lorde 1561, the 1 of Februer, by Rycharde Waultowne alias Walton." The running title is, "The marye of Rypley." See also No. 1480, iii. (B.) art. 6.

9. "Here begynthe yt Concordance bytwyne Guido and Raymonde Lully, ij phylo[so]phers. For as muche as Raymonde speakyng of ye ferment of ye stone." 43—4.

Ending—"yt ys a secret and yt shalbe saythe George Ripley whose theoricke thys ys. Here endith the Theoricke of GEORGE RYPLEY." See art. 11.

10. "Some men calle thys boke here foloyng the Perfet Mastry of Aristotle; but I know welle by M^r Norton, and by alle hys workes in the Greke, yt yt ys ANAXAGORAS of Conversyon[s] Naturall. Where as phylo[so]phy wi wyse and skyllfulle industry." 44—51^b.

Ending thus abruptly:—"The generation of tynne. Tynne ys made of quaysyllter"

11. "Here foloythe a smalle worke of GEORGE RYPLEY, the w^e sholdd have byne sete next after the Concordance the w^e the afore sayde M^r Rypley dyde make bytwyne Guido and Raymonde*, for thys dothe opyne the holle worke of ph. And notte by thes thynges a fore sayd how that ys to [be] understandyd." 52^{ab}.

* Art. 9. ending—"drynkes of Hypocras and Gallyen. Thus endyth thys shorte worke of M^r George Rypley, copyed the 24 of Maye an^o 1563."

12. "Ye perfecte makyng of ye fyre agaynste nature, after Raymond." 52^b.

13. "Here beginnith the Theorycke part of RAYMONDE LULLYE his Testament. Cap^m 1. whyche sholdde have byne set before ye Practyze*. O moste glorious God w^e art allmightye, we have be gonne thys present arte." 53—140^b.

The 97th chapter ends, "after ther separation, the 35 chap^r of ye second parte. Thus endythe thys boke, wrytten in Latten by Matthew Lond^r ye 17 of December an^o 1472, and translatyd into Ynglyshe by W^a ATHERTON ye 29 of August an^o 1558, and copyed by Rycharde Waultowne, haburdassher of London, an^o Domini 1563, the 16 of Marche." Neither of these persons is mentioned in Tanner's Bibliotheca.

* See art. 15.

14. "Here folowythe a short work, but ye autour I knowe not. The menstru minerall may be made." f. 140^b.

15. "Here begynnyth the Practyze of RAYMONDE LULLYE, and fy[r]ste the definiuion what archymye ys. Archimie ys one parte of naturall ph'y, very nessesary." 141—170.

The 33rd chapter ends—"understond every parte of thys fygyre ys round w^t in and w^t out. Explicit." (f. 168.) The next four pages contain circular and other figures, relating to the work; and at the end is this note:—"Finis. By Richard Waulton, the 10 of November, in anno Domini 1563."

16. "The shorte and compendious Arte of R[A]YMOND LULLY, in the whiche ys cuplid and knygh[tt] the flowers of all his bokes. A man knowyng hys wyffe other by dreme." 170^b—8^b.

Ending—"and acordyng unto great wyte. Thus endith the compendious work of RAYMOND LULLY, upon the Testament, Codicile, and Veni mecum, of the number of ph'ors, all prayse and thanks be to or Lorde or God for ever and ever amen. Copyed by Rycharde Waultowne, haburdassher, the 16 of Noverbre, in an^o Domini 1563, otherwyse callyd Ars Lullii."

17. "The bok of Mercuries or of Elixer Mercuriall, beyng ye 2^{de} parte of ye Practyze of RAYMONDE LULLI. Sonne yt ys necessary to ye yt yu understand." 179—215.

The 52nd chapter ends by stating that this book was composed in S. Katharine's church by the Tower of London, in the reign of "Kyng Eduarde of Woodstok [etc.] in ye yere after ye incarnation 1332, w^t all hys volumes we ar namyd in this present Testament, w^t ye song wch foloyth. Thys present Testament was translatyd out of ye Catolonycall toung into Latyne, an^o Domini 1443, ye 6 of June, at London in ye paryshe of S. Bertyllmewes, and copyed by Rycharde Waultowne, haburdassher, the 19 of Aprell an^o Domini 1564." Two short notes follow.

18. "Sequitur Cantilena RAYMONDI LULLIJ. Amor nos hoc rimare." (10 octastichis.) 215^b—216^b.

Des.—"Liberare philosophialiter. Finis cantilene."

19. "Here folowyth a work very schort, but not so schort as yt ys true. Take hevi softe collde and drye." (48 couplets.) 217—8.

Ending—"Thare ys ye dyademe of or craft. Finis. Laudes Deo prorsum." Printed, as one of RYPLEY's pieces, in Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 393—6.

20. "In ye honor of ye blessyd trinite [etc.] Here foloythe ye Exposition of ye 4 Fyers, expoundyd by RYCHARD WALTON haburdassher. Fyre occasionat. Thys fyre for hys great vertu." 218^b—9.

21. WALTON's observations upon 'the fygyres upon the 191 page that ys in the boke of Mercuries*;' beg. As I have of good purpose. 219—20.

* Art. 17. Subscribed "Per me RICHARD WAULTOWNE."

22. "An order how to mak oylles, and ye nature of ye same oylles, and for what they be good. Ye oylle of swette allmondes. Take swette all- mondes what quantyte ye lyste." ff. 220—2, 300^b—301.

The last title in the first part of this article is, "Oyle of vyolettes;" in the second, "To make aqua composita."

23. "The yeare and y^e daye of y^e byrthe of alle y^e chyllderne of RYCHARD WAULTOWNE alias WALTON, and Izabelle his wyffe, whiche 2 were maryed y^e 14 daye of Auguste, in anno Domini 1547." 222^b.

Fourteen of them, 1548—1567: at the end the writer says that he was 48 years old, 15 Sept. [1567.]

24. "An exposition worthy to be wrytten in letters of golde, w^c note welle. Alle thought that Mercury and quyck syllyver be bothe of one kynde, yet." 223^a.

25. "How to use y^e rede medizyn for y^e hellthe of manes body. Tak a lyttyll." 223^a.

26. "Sequitur Ca[n]tilena RYPLEI. En philosophantium hac in cantilena." (38 tetrastichis.) 223^b—5^b.

Des.—"Ejus fructus uberis et predulcis. Amen. Finis cantilene RYPLEI." See No. 1394, ii. art. 1, 2; and No. 1445, viii. (A.)

27. "Here folowyth thes versys in Ynglyshe. Lo in this song of ph'y." (3 st. of 4.) 225^b.

An imperfect translation of the foregoing article; ff. 226—8 having been cut out. It differs from the English versions in No. 1445, viii. (A) and (H).

28. "The prologue of GEORGE RYPLEYE unto hys treatyze w^c ys intytulyd Philorsium of y^e Alehymistes," (beg. After y^t I George an Ynglysse man borne had execorsysed my selfe,) together with a certain portion of the work itself. 229—236.

At f. 233^b it is said, "The Practyses folowe in ye 305 page, all save one y^t foloweth here after." (See art. 34.) Ending—"by all worldes of worlides amen. Thus endyth this bok callyd Philorsium, compylyd by GEORGE RYPLEY chanon of Brydlyngton."

29. "The Epistle of Accortacion of y^e ph'ors stone, sente by RAYMOND [LULLY] to kyng Robert. In the name of y^e holly trinite." 237—42.

Ending—to whom be alle honor and glory. Amen.

30. "A good notte for alle syche as wylle presume to tak in hand to practyze, before they be suffyeyently instructyd. Thou what so ever y^u be to whom this bok or praetyze shalle come." 242^b—243.

31. The uses of the drug diapiganon, and a receipt "To purge the heede." 243.

Ff. 244—253 have been cut out.

32. THOMAS NORTON's Ordinall of Alchemy, a poem in seven chapters: beg. "Prologe. To y^e honor of God, one in persons three." 254—298^b.

Ending—Thys work was begonne honor to God in heaven. See No. 57, No. 1464, No. 1478, &c.

NORTON's proœmium; inc. Liber iste clericeis monstrat scienciam. (10 tetrastichis.) f. 298^b—9^b.

This stands before the work, in Ashmole's printed copy: here it is subscribed, "Artis Gebrice liber finis."

A translation of NORTON's preface, being "The Inglyshe of thys Latten. Thys boke unto clarkes declarythe syence great." (10 st. of 4.) 299^b—300.

Ending—"We thrustyth to se yi glory, O Lord, we y^e requyer. Thus endyth ye Ordynall of Mr NORTON, made by hym in ano 1477. Coppyed by Rychard Waultowne alias Walton, the 20 of October an^c 1565, to or God gyve alle honor. Finis. Telos." This last piece differs from the translations in No. 1441, ii. art. 1, and No. 1478, f. 90.

* * Ff 300^b—1 contain a continuation of art. 22.

33. "The maner to tak owt y^e sole of Saturne. Take j^b. of y^e sayd planet." 301^b—2^b.

At the end is "A provyd medyzyn for y^e hede ache."

34. "Laudis Deo. Here folowyth the Philorcium of GEORGE RYPLEY. In the fyrst maner thus we procede." 305—311, 314^a.

Part of art. 28. Ending—glory for ever more amen.

35. "An other worke, but y^e author I know not. Pone corpus." 314^{ab}.

36. Divers remedies and medical prescriptions; of which one is by "Mr JOHN DE MAGNA VILLA" (320), and the last is "An oyle w^c y^e Mr of Salerne dyde invent for alle hoot causys and colde, as elica passio" etc. 314^b, 320—4^b.

The leaves marked 312—3, and 315—9, have been cut out.

No. 1480.

A folio volume containing three MSS. on paper. The first is written in a common hand of the XVIth century, with some passages in red and blue ink, ff. 5—45; the other parts of the MS. appear to have been written by the same hand, or other hands, at a different time. Those marked thus † are in ROBSON's handwriting. It was foliated to '53' by the original hand, and the rest by Ashmole: the first leaf is lost.

I. 1. An anonymous alchemical work: beg. In the name of y^e trynitie. Lett us begynne to praye for the power of y^e Father. f. 2^{ab}.

Ending—"and the true easell y^t the ph'ors dothe use in all ther workes etc. God be loved and prayesd for ever amen. Finis."

2. "The worke of B. Take the bodye that you knowe, and dissolve it." 3^a.

†3. "A Vision. When busi att my booke I was, upon a certayne nighte." (22 lines.) 3^b.

Ending—Which medicine kyls all venom wilde, if any chance to take. It is ascribed to RIPLEY in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 374; where there are two more lines than occur in this copy. See also No. 1485, iii. art. 3.

†4. An alchemical poem, describing the process of the work: beg. Some knowe thou for certaynty. (22 st. of 4.) f. 3^b—4.

Printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 428—430; but without the first five stanzas of this copy, and beginning with a line, of which the true reading ought to be (as here)—And of this thinge to you most cleare. See also art. 35. It ends thus—Our soules helth in us to move. Compare No. 759, artt. 19, 20.

5. An 'Introduction' to the alchemical mysteries: beg. Heare I wyll unlok the dorys of grace w^t the keyes of philosofi, and there ye shall see a place y^t meny a man privily schyth. 5—8.

Ending—For the simplest man y^t ys havynge eny discretion, hee may perseve the truth of thys Introduction. Laudetur Deus."

6. Excerpta quedam chemica de plumbo et ferro: inc. Adrop vero Græce, h̄ Latine nuncupatur. 8—9.

Des.—ordine habens magisterium. Finis."

7. Alchemical notions, partly in prose and partly in ryme: beg. "Marke. Sol and Luna ys the sun and the mone." 9^a.

8. JOHANNIS DASTINI "Visio. Cum omni natura constantium creata sit." 9^b—12.

In fine—"poma coligimus. Maria precamur. Visio Johannes Daustin." (Sic.)

9. "For to make synoper—For to make byse—For to make asure." 12^a.

With the initials of H. W. at the end.

10. RICHARD CARPENTER'S work: beg. Off the sunne take the lyghght, The red gum y^t ys so bryght. (42 lines.) 12^b.

Ending—In all ye worlde ys no such one. Compare Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 275—7.

11. An allegory of the white and the red stone: beg. On the grounde there ys an hyll. (36 lines.) 13^a.

Ending—Here ys truly the very dede. Printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 378—9; and there said to be taken out of RIPLEY'S Scroll.

12. Take the father y^t Febus so bryght, That sytyth so hygh in majeste. (10 st. of 4.) 13^b—14.

Ending—As filosofers there hym gave. Likewise ascribed to RIPLEY, ibid. pp. 377—8.

13. In the see withouten les, Stondyth the byrd of Hermes. (6 lines.) 14^a.

Likewise ascribed to RIPLEY, ibid. pp. 376—7.

14. Here ys nowe both whyte and red, And allso ye stone y^t quickeneth the dead. (44 lines.) 14.

15. In the name of ye trynite, Herkyn here and ye shall see. (34 lines.) 14^b—15.

Ending—Saye amen, amen, for eharite. There is a copy of these last verses in Ashmole's interleaved Theatrum, No. 972, f. 246; which is said to have been "Written at the bottoome of RIPLEY'S Scrowle, betwene the King and the Pilgrim."

16. Verses ascribed to "Fryer BACON. Take hard hevvy hott and drye." (10 lines.) f. 15^a.

The same as those in No. 1448, art. 16. (printed at col. 1228,) except the Latin; and the following lines are additional:—

"Thys is ye waye to sothfastnes,
No other waye hath Hermes:
He that taketh mne or lesse,
Is lyke to lose all as I gesse.
Fyns."

17. "HERMYS. Sowe ye purest spryte in ye ☿." etc. 15^a.

18. "Agaynste tsysk a precious medecine." 15^b.

19. To whiten "wemens faces."—A restorative.—"For to make oyle."—"For to gylt up on iron or coper." 15^b.

20. "To heale any cutt presentlye" etc.; and "For an atche, this I have proved." 16^a.

21. "The filosofers heaven," illustrated by circles, verses,* and descriptions. 16—18^b.

* Four stanzas of 7 lines each; beginning, As Criste hys godhed hyd from ower syght.

22. "Here begynnith a verye good worke of the filosofers stone. The vessell of ower stone in whome all the misterye ys elippid together." 19—27.

Ending—Therefore I preche to ye the dreed of God and obedienece. For nothyngye wantyth to men dredynge God.

23. "Here folowyth secrete and true Saynges of the Filosofers. Ower filosofers stone hath no proper name, but hee ys called by dyvers namys." 27^b—32.

Ending—God sende grace where conynge fayleth.

24. "A worke off the filosofers stone. A thowe folysche pylgrym fleynge thynne owne cuntrye, walkest all about the world." 32—5^b.

Ending—"And wee dyd forsake ower owne house and made to God many thankynges. Whose name bee ever blessyd. Amen."

25. A fragment: beg. I lett ye onderstonde that ye dragon never dyeth, never the les ph'urs put to death the woman y^t slue her husbond. 35^b.

Ending—wythoute eonjunction and generation.

26. "The profe when the earth ys parfyt. Furst loke hytt be not saulte." 35^b.

27. "RAYMUNDUS proporcion of the wayght of the elements in felynge. Towe wayghts of the earth." Also some other brief extracts from Lully, 'Johannes Daustyn' and 'Arnolldus.' 36^a^b.

28. "Solle, luna, mercuri. There bee towe waters as I thee telle." (4 couplets.) 36^b.

29. Hytt ys a pretye conynge to make a blak man wyth a whyte sherte, etc. ib.

30. An anonymous work of the stone, in verse: beg. Take ower rose wyth the reddest flower, The whytche ye maye knowe by hys colower. f. 36^b—39.
It is preceded by these lines written in red:—
“In the name of the trynyte
Dowe as here after folowyth
Whych ye maye trust well
Iff ye ondirstonde hytt truly.”
Compare the piece printed among the “Anonymi,” in Ashmole’s Theatrum, pp. 358—361. The lines and rymes run irregularly in this copy; which ends thus:—That who so ever that lyveth yt wollede departe, Hytt wyll not bee by fyre hott ne colde & c.
31. Brief extract out of “JOHANNES ALPHYDIUS;”—“A note owte of GEBER;”—and some extracts from ‘RAYMONDE’ LULLY. 39^{ab}.
32. “Depuracio prima elementorum, i. aqua solis depurata;” item de rectificationibus, fermentatione, etc. quædam excerpta. 39^b—40^b.
33. “Pro dissolucione mercuri[i], solis, et lune. R’ aque vite.” 40^b.
34. Three couplets, beg. Flower of wheate I wishte a man to take. ib.
35. The following riddle:—
“In a place where I was,
I sawe [a] persone made of glasse;
And in yt person where persones 3,
And they where clothed all in blacke:
The persons dore was made of bread,
And yet for hunger they wher all dead.
Tell me nowe for the love of me,
What maner of persons these should be.” ib.
These verses are written in 4 long lines. They are the fourth and fifth stanzas, in art. 4.
36. “Heare begynnyth the makynge of water of marcuri. R’ a box of iorne the length of a fote.” 41^a.
The fourth title is, “Aqua solis made of the other parte of the water.”
37. A dialogue on the work of mercuries, to produce gold: beg. “Sn’c’ Spiritus assit graciam. Take iijli of ruge plum othewyse named red leade, and putt yt into a quarte of aqua vite.*” 41^b—4.
* Thus barbarously headed. It ends—and cast uppon asmoche more mercuri and so wyth oute end.
38. An other dialogue, or “The demaunde of Mr Barret, of Syr Holond.—B. Syr for what entent dowe ye draw a merc’ of saturne. H. Syr hce hath power to brynge sylver into mere.” 44—5^b.
Ending—“and lune ys colde and moyste. Fynis blessed bee Godd.”
39. “Elixir vini. Take ye most precious swete wyne yt ye maye get.” 45^b.
40. “Here foloweth ye Practysse of ye ryall flower. In nomine Dei amen. Take a pot of earth and put in hym thynne plates of soll.” 46—8.
Ending—“wth one ounce of ye powder. 4. of soll. Fimis laus No etc. Thus endeth ye ryall flower, per me”. . . The writer’s name is omitted.
41. “For an atche or swellinge. Take malmosye.” f. 48.
42. The “Philorcium of GEORGE RIPLEY. Of ye possibilitie of this science. Fyrst and chiefly oughte to enqyre of ye possibilitie and truthe of ye science of alchemie.” 48^b—59.
The fifteenth chapter ends thns:—“and let hym be thy ryches in thy treasures we waxe not olde, but abyde to everlastinge lyfe, we God graunte us, who leveth and rayneth wt out ende. Amen. Fimis.” Compare No. 1479, art. 28, 34.
43. ‘The making of our stone,’ part of PEARCE the Black Monk’s verses: beg. In arsnicke sublymed ther is a waye strajghte. (26 lines.) 59^b.
Ending—The begynnyng and endyng all is one. See No. 1445, viii. f. 52.
44. “This is a perfect figure of the arte. This man so lyenge wrapte together.” 61^a.
With an unfinished picture, sketched with pencil. There is no f. 60.
45. The commendation of ☿, apparently part of PEARCE the Black Monk: beg. I um Mercury that mightye flose flower. (61 lines.) 61^b—2.
Ending—“For other of me you gett right noughte. Fynes.” Compare No. 1441, ii. artt. 5, 7; and other MSS.
46. DASTIN’S Dream, translated into English verse: beg. Not full a sleepe nether full wakinge. (46 st. of 8.) 62^b—8.
Ending—“Wt a mantell of everlastinge whetnes. Deo gracions.” Printed in Ashmole’s Theatrum, pp. 257—68. See also No. 1445, v. art. 5.
47. “To make a water to dissolve ☿ and ♁. Take sall nitre.” 68.
48. An alchemical poem, compiled from “RAYMOND LULLE in his Theoricke. Aristotell the ph’or, moste conynge and sapiente.” (88 st. of 7.) 68^b—81.
Ending—“Searche well the last chapter to knowe ye extremes. Ye end of ye Theoricke of Raymonde. [Then follows the 39th ‘vearse’ or stanza, omitted in its proper place.] Fimis.”
49. How to make ‘oil of lead:’ beg. If thou putt seruse in vinegar. 81.
50. A fragment intituled “Abstracts. Broughte in to the firste mater, and then it is called ☿ of crafte.” 81^b—2^b.
Compare the latter half of art. 53, of which this is an other copy; ending thns:—“and nowe here is all that I can devyse or saye of the innaturall fyre, being in metalynic bodies. Fynes.”
51. “Nowe here followethe ye Mirrour of Alkemy, ye which speaketh of 4. wordes as here after foloweth. The fyrste worde of this worke is a desolvynge of a bodye in to ☿.” 83—9.
Ending—“by everlastinge prayse worlde wt out ende, amen. so be it. Fimis.”
52. “Prefatiuncula G. RIPLEY in Pupillam Alchimie. Firste understand how ye notable ph’er Avicenn sayth.” 89—91.

"Practica. I sayd before, Sulphura nostra sunt ab apothecarijs parata." f. 91—3.

Ending—"Let this suffice to the laude honor and prayse of God for ever amen. Finis." See also art. 7 of the next MS.

53. "Here followeth the Opening of the Secrets of Secrets, done by art of philosophic. First you shall understand and knowe y^t all o^r secret mastry." 93^b—5.

Ending (as art. 50)—"And now here is all y^t I canne devyse or say of the innaturall fire being in metalline bodies. Finis."

On the back of the last leaf of this MS. is part of a recipe by old Mr. Napier's hand.

The second MS. is a portion of a small folio book of the XVth century, written in a running-hand, and foliated (on both sides of the leaves) from "60" to "71," probably by the hand of the antient possessor, whose name is thus written at the foot of the last page, "Pertinet domi[n]o Thome Gaweyn' cap^{no} et notario publico." The contents of that portion which is now lost, are thus enumerated on a leaf of coarse paper, at the end, (on the back of which is the signature of "Thomas Robson,") by a hand of the following century:—

- "A blanchment. 1.
- Lumen luminum Arnaldi. 51.
- Commentatoria Arnaldi. 13.
- John Dastine. 32.
- Autor fratrum. 56.
- Autor incertus de lapide. 61.
- Acurtatio lapidis Raymondus epistola. 64.
- Gemma salutaris. 44.
- Opus breve. 51."

II. 1. Tractatus auonymi de re alchemica fragmentum,* cujus extremum capitulum est, "De vasis vitreis. Sit vas vitreum." f. 60^a.

* The first words of this 'Auctor incertus de lapide' now remaining are, accipe et exaltare animas eorum tinctorias per alembicum. It ends thus—"anima et est illud quod queris. Deo . gra . cias . Explicit."

2. Tractatulus cujus nomen videtur 'Turba Philosophorum*:' inc. Omnes res preciosas et desiderabiles abscondit et celavit quodomodo prima causa. 60^b—61.

* From these words at line 10, "Ideo ut predictum philosophorum turba," etc. It ends—"et multiplicandi prolem multam. Deo gracias. Explicit."

3. Tractatus sine tabula; qui sic inc. In hac tabula sunt sex sperc depicte, et in principio de tribus tamen facio mencionem. 61^b—4^b.

Des.—"Et in hijs quatuor verbis tota ars plenissime continetur. Deo gracias. Explicit."

4. "Incepit epistola acurtacionis lapidis philosophorum, RAYMUNDI, ad Regem Robertum, in virtute sancte trinitatis ipsius infinite bonitatis. Amen. Cum ego RAYMUNDUS LULLY de insula Maioricarum jam preteritis temporibus plures libros secretos." 65—9^b.

Des.—"Elige ergo ex ea intentum laudans Deum qui vivit et regnat in secula seculorum. Amen. Explicit epistola Raymundi. Raymundus Lully, claudens pia dogmata nulli."

Then follows this couplet, containing the name of the writer of this MS.—

"Si Hen ponatur, -ricus simul accipiatur, Hawardyne ju[n]gatur, qui scripsit sic nominatur."

5. Tractatulus de operatione pro elixire, (inc. Recipe atramenti unceam unam, arcnici tres uncias,) simul de multiplicatione, projectione, et fusione; etiam "Operacio solis;" cum appendicula, inc. Aliter autem ponc unam partem lapidis. f. 70—1.

Des.—donec dividatur per modium et stabit elurum etc.

The third MS. consists of a quarto MS. of 26 paper leaves, written in a common hand of the time of Q. Elizabeth, and of two smaller leaves prefixed, which are written by a different hand. The foot of the first page is thus inscribed by Robson, "The second booke noted in the book of notes."

III. (A.) 1. SIR EDWARD KELLY'S verses to his friend: beg. The hevenlic cope hathe in it naturs fowre. (8 st. of 6.) pp. 1, 2.

Ending—"Yet shall these lessons prayse alwaise there skoole. Quod Kellie." See also No. 1394, vi. art. 11.

2. Extracts in English, from "The Golden Chayne of Philosophie, per RAYMONDE LULLIJ. First thearthe is sublimed." p. 3.

Ending—"Thende of the Golden Chaine by Raymonde Lullie, in his Theoricke, cap. 81."

3. Extract from NORTON'S Ordinall, concerning diversity of tastes: beg. Also is sourishe taste callide sapor ponticke. p. 4.

(B.) 1. Fragmentum, LULLIO forsan adjudicandum: inc. . . . natura a metallis, aliud nihil est respectue ad operanum. f. 1—2.

The foliation of this MS. seems as old as the writing: yet evidently a leaf must have preceded this first. The last words are—significare lapidem philosophorum.

2. "Vade Mecum RAIMUNDI LULLIJ artis compendiosæ. Tinctura ignis est mclior omnibus tincturis." 2—5.

Des.—"et corporale ex vi suæ proprie naturæ. Finis compendij Vade Mecum Lullij."

3. "Arcanum philosophorum ex saturno, ut facias aurum perfectum," una cum aliis experimentis, cujusdam GUILIELMI GRATOROLI. 5—6^b.

His name is at the end of the fourth and eighth, which latter is intitled, "Practica CARAVANTIS Hispani," (R. sulphuris vivi et salis nitri ana) and is thus subscribed, "Jac[y]ntes Petreus Marcuburgensis decimo [denno?] Bernæ excudi faciebat. Anno 1545." Whence it is evident that these passages are copied from a printed book.

4. Translated extracts, apparently from the writings of—*The great philosopher GUIDO DE MONTANO, and RAYMOND LULLY. 7—8^b.

* These are the first words: it goes on—sayd, take a batye in weh is quicke silver pure, etc. It is probable that they may have been taken from the same book as artt. 3, 5.

5. Narratiuncula sequens:—

“Fuit in Gallijs homo quidam, qui oleum rubrum composuit in quo oleo postea ponebat laminas tenues lune, [seu argenti,] quas super lentum ignem dimittebat aliquibus horis; deinde sigillabat vas, et faciebat ignem desuper; et tota illa luna, cum materia tota, convertebatur in aurum: sed ex quo fieret oleum nescio. Credendum tamen est, medicinam factam ex corpore, spiritibus, et animabus rubeis, et per dissolutionem in oleum reductis. Hec GUILIELMUS GRATOROLUS.” f. 8^b.

6. GEORGE RIPLEY'S Medulla Alchimicæ, translated into English: beg. The philosophers say you may not open yor purses to make great expenses, wch this arte requireth not. 9—15^b.

Ending—“in all his giftes. To whome be all honor, glorye, and prayse for ever and ever amen. Here endethe ye treatise called ye Marye of Alkanye, compiled by George Ripleye, Chanon. an^o. 1476. And translated into Englishe b. D. W. an^o 1552.” Compare No. 1479, art. 8.

7. A translation of the “Pupilla Alchimicæ GEORGI RIPLEYE:” beg. First understande how the noble philosopher Avicen sayth. 16—19.

Much more full than art. 52 of the first MS. in this volume; and ending thus—“He that can do this well and trowlye wch out any fable of the quintessens, he shall not mise for to make aurum potabile. Finis.”

8. “Secretum secretorum, et lapis philosophorum. G. W.* Si feliciter desideras ut benedictionem philosophorum obtineas.” 19^{ab}.

* G. R. (?) Ending (unless the following article be part of this,)—et super omnia corpora lunam.

9. De extractione quintæ essentiæ, de elixire, et aliis experimentis: inc. Mercurius noster debite sublimatus conteri debet. 19^b—22.

The last passage ends thus:—“Nota quod ad rubium sint omnia rubificata. Hec REYMONDUS, et concordat cum ultimo tractatu magistri ALBERTI.”

10. R' the rede erthe of saturne, etc. 22^b.

11. A tract, beginning—“The prologe of or hevenli quintaessence. To seke the vere trow pricke of proffit the wch is incorruptible.” 22^b—5.

Ending—“and thou shalte have a more naturall fire. Finis.”

12. “Ad faciendum 8 de 6 etc.” and a projection; both subscribed JOHN REEVE. 25.

13. “A medisin for th'agew, per THOMAS KLINGEHALL.” 25^b.

14. “This table declareth for ever in what signe the mone is, or shalbe anye daye in the yeare: it searveth also verie well to let blude, to purge, and to bathe.” 25^b.

15. Direction for “Tinctura ☉,” and two other experiments. 26^a.

16. A page of nonsensical observations, relating to alchemy, etc. 26^b.

This MS. contains many traces of old Mr. Napier's hand, on the margins.

No. 1481.

A volume of the small folio size, containing six MSS., of which the three last are on paper, and comparatively modern: the others are bound together in a disorderly manner, and must be severally described. The first MS. consists of six distinct portions, of which the first (A) serves as a cover, wherein the others are inclosed, being only four leaves of vellum, of the XIVth century. The second (B) consisted of 10 smaller leaves of vellum, written in the same century, but in a different character, though possibly by the same hand: its last leaf has been cut out since the book was bound. The remainder consists of four small books or fragments, written by different hands, on quarto paper of different sizes, in the XVth century, here severally marked (C. D. E. F.)

I. (A.) 1. Hymnus angelorum, (Gloria in excelsis), e Missa, cum notis musicis. f. 1^a.

Written in small text hand. The two next pages are likewise ruled for music, but contain only a cadence, “Amen: Alleluia: Deo gratias,” with notes. (f. 1^b.) Two leaves, similarly ruled, were cut out between ff. 2—3, before the book was bound.

2. Antiphona Hec dies quam fecit Dominus, cum notis musicis. 43^a.

The next page is ruled, but not filled up.

3. Significationes urinarum, secundum colores: inc. Urina ruffa significat salutem et bonam dispositionem. 2^b—3.

Des.—lapidem in renibus significat.

4. Tabula rotunda urinarum, cum canonibus; quæ sic inc. Urina alba sine febre. 3^b, 42^{ab}.

(B.) A curious treatise of the complexions, of medicines, and of surgery, in the form of consultations between two brethren: beg. Broþer y preyre þe par charyte þat þu wryte me a fewe medicynes þat y myzt helpe pore folke þat falleþ in to syknesse and bey unconnyngge to helpon hem setve and of unpower to hure hem leches. My broþer, Jhu Crist, þt ys þe principal leche boþe of monnes bodyes und al so of heare soules, ȝef me grace to wrytone in suche wyse, etc. f. 4^b—12.

Ending thus—“ȝef hym and arere hym up w^t vynegre. Deo gracias. Nunc scripsi totum, pro Christo da michi potum.” The first page of this portion is blank, except this note by an unknown hand of the XVth century, “Thys ys my boke who so ever sathe naye.” The last page (12^b) seems to contain part of an old account, in Latin, purposely rendered illegible by imperfect deletion. The next leaf (now cut out) appears by the strip of it remaining, to have contained no writing of any consequence.

(C.) 1. ‘Prædestinationes puerorum,’ secundum xii. anni menses, et xii. signa, quorum quisque ‘natus’ vel quæque ‘mulier’ fortunam habere contigerit; tractatus initio mancus. f. 14—19.

The first leaf is lost: it begins under Taurus, thus. . . obesse non euadet. Ending thus—“veste alba utatur. Explicient prædestinationes puerorum.”

2. Scriptiuncula de naturis xii. signorum: inc. Ariens est signum mobile. f. 19—20.

Des.—Puer natus graciosus erit.

3. Dies per annum, quibus sol intrat quodque signum. 20^a.

This is written by a different hand.

- (D.) 1. "Here begynnes a noble tretys, made of a noble fisicyane, JOH'N OF BURDEUX, for medecyne agayne ye pestilence eville; and it es departed in .iiij. partyse. The first tellys how a manne salle kepe hym in tyme of pestilence þat he falle noght in þat sekene," etc. f. 21—23.

The English abridgement, beginning as above, ends with a Latin colophon after the last sentence:—"for yer es no sekene yanne yer es helpe and remedy for it in kynde, and it be done in tyme. Explicit tractatus optimus sub compendio, editus per JOHANNEM BURDEUX peritum medicum, contra morbum pestilencie."

2. Quæstio arithmetica 'per additionem et duplicationem' solvenda: inc. Quidam auriga. 23^b.
3. "Prophetia de sexto Hibernico. Ter tria lustra tenent, cum semi tempore sexti." (7 vv.) Cum explicatione interlineari. 23^b.
4. "Prophetia Sibille prophetisse. Sibilla in libris quos scripsit Bludud Regi Britonum et Regi Salomoni." 24^{ab}.

Des.—quam prelijs superatis. Explicit prophetia Sibille."

- (E.) 1. The utility of bloodletting;—the "Dies caniculares;"—"Her be gynneþe þe lunar," or the fitness or unfitness of days for bloodletting, by the moon's age;—and the "Dies periculosi," with a table thereof. f. 25^{ab}.

Beg.—Blod latyng elensythe mannus bladder.

2. "Her be gynne þe Knowing of Veynys. þe maysturs þ' usen blod latyng." (47 couplets.) 25^b—6.

Ending—"So þ' God be helpyng, þat is S[a]vyour of alle bing. Explicit Declaracio omnium venarum."

3. "Cognicio planetarum et xij. signorum. Herc it is to know þ' þer ben vij. planetis. þe first planete is ye mone." 26^b—8.

The latter part treats of the months; and under November, it is said, "it haþe a sygne is calde sagittarius an archer, for þs monþe Kyng David was a battallar and kyld Golyas wt a ston in þe forhed wt a slyng!"!! The last words are,—for þs sygne answerþe to þe knes.

4. A collection of Remedies for sundry diseases; of which the first is intitled, "Here is a drynke for þe tsyske. þe streztnes of þe longys i calde þe tsyske." 28^b—33.

The last heading is, "For to make a purgacyon." It is followed by some curious notes, written at different times, about the end of the XVth century, as follow:—

- (1.) Remedies "For ache in þe legges veynis and senuys, per M^r MATHEWE." 33^a.

- (2.) List of the undermentioned medical practitioners:—

"Fesicians, Mr Lemstere, Mr Thomas, Mr Clarke, Mr Mathewe, Mr Maycote of þe charturous. Surgouns, M^r Roberd, Lawrens in Fridays stret, Jamys Scotte, T. Horne." f. 33.

- (3.) The following lines:—

"Thomas Tyryngham est possessor hujus libri. Qui scripsit [sic] carmen, Willielmus Alyn sit sibi nomen. Et omnibus est notum quod multum diligit potum. Nunc finem feci, da mihi quod merui." f. 33.

These are neither by the same hand as the MS.; nor as the other additional pieces, except some of the writing on f. 34^b.

- *(4.) Obituarium familiæ de Tyryngham, a Johanne de T. anno 1270, usque ad Joh. de T. qui ob. 1484. f. 33^b.

- (5.) The following erroneous note, relative to records of the Exchequer:—

"The seyrelle for all pattence for lettes and ryaltes, ys in Mr Redes offysse, y^t strykethe the tayles, as you goe uppe in to ye Stare chambr." f. 34.

- (6.) J. TYRYNGHAM'S memoranda; and scraps of different kinds. 34^b.

- (7.) J. TYRYNGHAM'S medical observations on the plague or pestilence: beg. zēff a man fele prikynge or slakerynge of blode in tyme of pestelens. 35^a.

- (8.) "Theys are the principale veynis off þe bodye;" the "Dies caniculares" etc. 35^b.

- (F.) Fragment of a collection of Remedies and Medicines; the first titles of which are, "For ye couche goode medecyne.—A good medecyne for ye drye cowzhe.—For ye flix goode medecyne." ff. 36—41^b.

These 6 leaves are part of a miscellaneous collection closely written. The first and last words are—"mikille jus bot stampe eyjer be yem selfe"—For ye dropcye. Take zolke of a ney and alls mikille as ye quantite yer of of ye jus of. . . . At f. 39^b is this title:—"Here be ye perilouse dayes of blode latyng and ye gode dayes to blede on. For diverses vyeles. And ye perilouse dayes of byrthe of childere, and of etyng of gees." (These last are, 1 cal. April. 1 Aug. and 1 Dec.) On the next page is "A Charme for ye wykked wyght," very curious.

* * Ff. 42, 43 have been already described. The second MS., which is foliated from 44 to 101, is bound very confusedly: its right order is thus;—first, ff. 52—83^b; secondly, ff. 44—51; thirdly, ff. 84—101. A leaf or more is wanting after f. 51, and after f. 53. It is written on vellum, in a common hand of the XVth century: the short titles or headings are commonly written in the margins. The first leaf (f. 52) is torn and defaced. It bears the autograph of "Jo: Theyer," of Cooper's Hill; whose collection of MSS. was almost wholly incorporated with the Royal collection in the British Museum.

- II. 1. A translation of the treatise of precautions and remedies "For the Pestilens. [L]oo, leef lordes and sires! here beginnith a solemne doctrine and opynly prewyd, mad for trew medicyne for the pestilence, by Maister JON' BURGOYNE, or elles cleped Laberbe, which by þe grace of almyȝti God certeynli curith and helpith the sike ȝif thei use medicyne, [as] it is more opynli here aftyr rehersed. First ȝe schul understonde þat þe seid tretise compyled and studied by the seid M. Joh'n professore of phisike and of surgery, citeseyne of lechis, þe ȝere of oure Lord M^ccclxv. is departed to yow understodyng in iij^{or} chapitylis. The first chapter" etc. f. 52—53^b.

Ending abruptly thus:—putteth the mater unto his elensyng
..... The rest is lost.

2. An Herbar^y*, or alphabetical Materia Medica of herbs and other drugs; beginning with Aloen, Aloes, Aurum, and Asafetida; and ending with Zinziber, Zeduarua, and Zelboarium. 54—63^b.

* More concise than a similar work so intitled in No. 1443, art. 4. The first words are,—“Aloen. To purge fleume and malancoly and colore.” Ending—“Zelboarium. To moysten and to norscheu and to elensen, and wyth cold þinges to akelen. Explicit. Amen.”

3. A larger Materia Medica, in alphabetical order, beginning imperfectly thus: “Ciclamam (i^r therthe nott) his rote is properly yealled so, and it hath gret vertues.*” 64—83^b, † 44—49.

* Interpolated above, by an antient hand that hath written many notes on the margins, and added a whole article, on “Asterion.” below pages 74^b, 75^a.

† The catchwords “he is” prove that ff. 44—51 of this MS. have been misplaced. This article ends in the word Zucarum, thus—“and ȝewe þer be more water it is no harme but for endureng. Iþonkyd be God our Lord J^hu Crist þat haþ broȝt þis to ende. Amen. Explicit.”

4. Explicatio nominum quæ pondera et quantitates significant, eorumque characteres, secundum veteres medicos; incipiens cum hexasticho, sic: [C]olige triticeis medicinam pondere granis.—Ex hys versibus patet, etc. 49^b.

Des.—ideo pondera primo dicta ad presens sufficiunt.

5. “De passione arth[r]etica, per THOMAM DE NOVO MERCATO” * tractatus, incipiens ita: [A]que vive septemplici fontis rivulo spirituali moderancius potato. 50—51, 84—92.

* This title is superscribed by a hand of the XVIIth century. It ends thus,—“hoc rude et exile compaciatur opusculum, quod (Deo teste) iij. idus Decembris inchoatum, xv^o que kl. [f. 92^a] Januarij consummatum, exiliter temporis inopinata exiguitas reddit excusabile. Explicit tractatus de passionibus juncturarum, compositus sive editus a magistro Thom. de Novo Mercato.” This colophon seems to be by the same antient hand as the notes on art. 3. The two disjointed parts of this tract do not exactly fit; something seems to be wanting.

6. “Ista medicina optime est approbata et nulla melior et vix bona pro digestu. R. foliorum scene” etc. 92^a.

7. A short tract of the gout, distinguished into podagra and arthretica: beg. [C]onstantyn seycth that podagra is a sore evcl in the feet. 92—94.

Ending—and wynd makeþ þis evcl more grevous.

8. An imperfect copy of the ‘Gouvernaile of Helth’ beg. In this tretyce that is clepid Gouvernaile of Helth, somewhat is to be said, with Cristes helpe, of somthynges that longen to bodely helth had and to kepe, or to bodely lust to be recovered. And it is departid in viij. chapitres. f. 94—101^b.

The seventh and eighth are wanting: the last words are—chaungyng in to corrupcion never or selde, and of. . . . At the foot of f. 101^a, is the following antient memorandum: “Lenarde hath spokon þt Rogerson wolde have gyf bon to hym xx. s. for y^r space of on twelmonthe, or ellys to gyffe hym vj. e. viij. d. to drynke, yf he wolde deney hyse seyng.”

* * The third MS. consists of 22 leaves of parchment, in quarto, written in the XVth century, in a small common hand; having almost every word touched or flourished with rubric.

III. ÆMILII MACRI de virtutibus herbarum carmen: inc. “Ad mea principia sit semper virgo Maria. Herbarum quasdam dicturus carmine vires.” f. 102—123^b.

Des.—“Si teras cum melle linas veneremque movere. Explicit hic totum. Deficit encustum quia scriptor non bibit haustum.” The names of the plants are explained in English, in the margins; and in one place are the following Remedies, in English, written also by the same hand as the work itself:—

(1.) Who so haþ ache in h^s hed, etc. 107^b.

(2.) “Pro vanitate capitis.” ib.

(3.) “Pro illis qui bene non possunt audire.” ib.

* * The three last MSS. are on paper. The fourth contains 22 leaves, written by two rude hands; the greater part of f. 139 is torn away. The fifth originally consisted of ‘24’ leaves separately numbered by the old hand, but 4 of them are lost: both it and the foregoing are of the time of Q. Elizabeth. The sixth is foliated in continuation of the fifth, by Ashmole, from 25 to 46; and 12 blank leaves follow: it is for the most part neatly written, by several hands, of the time of James I.

IV. 1. A collection of Remedies for divers diseases, and Receipts for the making of medicines: beg. “A medition for the canker in the mouthe, provide. Take thrie spowynfull of treukele,” etc. f. 124—140^b.

2. The medical properties of 31 different kinds of herbs and vegetable productions: beg. “The vartues of rise.” 141—6^b.

Ending with—“The vartue of cattes tayle.”

V. A collection of Remedies for diseases, chiefly the gout, the stone, the flux, etc. written “Anno 1565 :” * beg. “To cure the gowte. A medecyne for the same. The fox caten or distilled is vry good for one that hath the gowte,” etc. f. 1—24^b.

* See the top of pages 6^a, 13^a. The titles of most of the entries are ingrossed: among them occur the following:—

“A medecyne proved by Sr Thomas Carwarden, knight, for all manner of burnings or skaldinges, eyther by fyer water gunpowder or wyld fyer.” 10^a.

“A kinde of aqua vitæ.” (Margin, “Dr Stevens water.”) 12^b.

“My Lady of Penbrookes vomett.” 13^a.

The number of the first leaf does not appear: the second is marked “folio 5;” and there is one wanting between ff. 20, 24, beside the upper corners of the two leaves that remain there.

- VI. 1. Fifteen remedies for diseases of horses, including "A medicine for a canker of a hogg." f. 25^{ab}.
2. "A medicine for one bitten with a madd dogg." 26.
3. Four couplets: beg. To the wittie all cleere merours. ib.
4. "A medecine to take away a splent;" and five other remedies for horses. 26^b—27.
5. "Verses against tobaco. Tymes grcate consumer." (8 l.) 27^b.
6. The following receipts:—
 "To gaine the lost culler of silver or golde lace." 27^b.
 "To make a quart of inck." ib.
 "A way to make fyne loaves." 28.
 "To make sasinges." (savory sausages.) ib.
 "To make jelly." 28^b.
 "Howe to boyle a Westfalia gammon." 29.
7. The following words, directed to be read "forward and backward":—
 "Lewd I did lue: euil did I dwel." ib.
8. "The manner howe to plante a hoppground, as followeth." 29^b—30^b.
9. "Sr Phillipp Sydneys epitaphe. England Netherland the hcavens and the arts." (11 l.) 31.
10. Divers receipts relative to horses, etc. 31^b—33^b, 35^b.
 One, a barbarous rule to make a white star, is subscribed "John Leakes of Lockinton." (32). The next thus, "Tho. Brightm^r. October 25. 1624;" and three are ascribed to Thomas Hobson.
11. Stanza: beg. Sweet are the thoughts that savor of content. (6 l.) 34.
12. Good counsel to youth: beg. Howe shoulde a younge man spend his daies. (19 l.) 34.
13. "To cause a distempred brayne to take good rest and sleepe.—By W^m GLUE of Beverly, gent." 34^b.
14. Two medicines "for an old cold," by Mr. SMYTH of Lincoln. 35.
15. Song in derision of the puritans: beg. Am I madd noble Festus. (6 st. of 5, and burden.) 35^b—6.
 Subscribed "T. B." But it is commonly ascribed to Bishop CORBET, and printed among his Poems: see also Percy's Reliques, II. 353—7.
16. "A medicine for an old cough:" subscribed "M^r CHAPPELL, Doctor of Padua." 36^b.
17. A ridiculous love-letter; subscribed "Symeon Smirke." 41^a.
18. A prayer, "by Sr T. Fy." 42^a.
 So subscribed: it begins, O Lord my God, eternall.
19. "A morninge prayer. O Lord prepare our harts to praycr." 43^b—5.
20. Beginning of "A songe. Com, com, sweet hart." (6 l.) 46^a.

No. 1482.

A tall folio volume, containing three MSS. on paper; of which the first and principal is fairly written, in a very small foreign hand, on alternate pages.

I. Collectanea Chymica: seu operationes atque experimenta in arte distillandi, sublimandi, et variis modis medicamenta conficiendi; plerumque Latine, partim vero Hollandice; liber a THEODORICO GRAVIO (ut videtur) conscriptus. ff. 1^a—196^a.

If not written by him, there are at least many notes added in his peculiarly neat upright hand; for he wrote in various fashions. These sheets appear to have been written separately, and arranged afterward, with signatures; the foliation was probably made when they were first bound. There is an unfoliated paper, of a different size inserted, between ff. 163, 164. F. 197 is blank.

II. A book intitled 'the Flower of Alchemy,' in two parts; whereof "The second part [is] called the Antydotary." ff. 1—16^b, 17—24.

It seems that the first leaf is lost. The first title is, "The oyle of Frankensence;" and the last words are—"mindfull of the afflicted, in life verteous, of th[y]e goods not covetuous, and with joy and credit thou shalt passe thy dayes. Thus endeth the Flower of Alchimy, in the yeare 1586. March 21." This MS. is written widely and fairly in a common secretary hand, on paper of less size than the two other MSS.: the 25th leaf is vacant.

III. "Processus operis:" an account of an alchemical process, written partly in a secret alphabet, partly in Latin, and partly in English; subscribed thus by the writer, "Liber CHRISTOPHERI TAYLOUR." (pp. 3.) ff. 137, 138.

Beginning—Jubo v peb higi há Neiura ha há; and ending—and yett the whole substaunce remaynynge as cleare transparent as ever it was before. Some other old hand has noted at the head of this paper, "But a vayne worckeinge in this maner." It is one large sheet only, of which the first leaf has been mutilated by the teeth of a mouse.

No. 1483, 1484.

Two large folio volumes, fairly and uniformly written on paper, with wide margins, in the XVIth century, in a foreign secretary-hand, with the titles and headings ingrossed; the one contains 435 written pages, beside 5 leaves at the beginning, and 3 blank pages at the end; and the other, 217 written leaves, beside 2 vacant leaves at each end.

Celeberrimi alchymistæ RAYMUNDI LULLII Opera Chymica, seu libri ejus diversi in duo volumina congesti, juxta ordinem sequentem.

VOL. I. "Contenta in voluminibus Raymundi Lullij." f. 1^a.

Written by a different hand of the XVIth century.

I. "Alphabeta librorum in hoc volumine contentorum:" seu explicatio literarum in his libris usitatarum pro nominibus diversis; partim Hispanice. f. 4—5.

2. "Theorica Testamenti Ray: Lullij. Deus qui gloriose omnipotens existis." pp. 1—132.

Cap. 97 sic des.—"Intellige bene quoniam totum tibi diximus post considerationem capituli illius in 2^a parte, quod incipit, Lapis noster remanet in omnibus suis elementis. Explicit Theorica Testamenti translata de Hispanica lingua in Latinam. Anno 1446."

3. "Incipit secunda pars quæ dicitur Practica, quam simul cum Testamento Raymundus Lullius complevit an^o. 1332. Definitio quid est Alkymia, capitulum primum. Alkimia est una pars philosophiæ naturalis." Cui præmittitur "Alphabetum Practicæ Testamenti, secundum exemplar Baptistæ." pp. 136, 137—189.

There is a large title page for this part at p. 135. It ends with the "Epilogus recapitulationis magisterij in forma divisionis, cap: 30." (p. 185,) and with several schemes and figures, on pp. 187, 189. The notes occupying p. 188 are in English.

4. "Liber de Mercurijs, seu Elixirium Mercuriorum, qui est secunda pars Practicæ Testamenti Ray. L. (Al. Liber faciendi Mercurios et Elixiria eorum.)* Fili necesse est." p. 195—260.

* Added by the same hand afterward; there being numerous various readings interlined, or set in the margin of these volumes. So in the conclusion, which runs thus:—"Fecimus nostrum testamentum per voluntatem de. A. in insula Angliæ, in Ecclesia sanctæ Katherinæ prope Londonium versus partem eustri ante Tunisiam. Regnante Rege Edoardo de Woodstoc (al. de Carnarvan) per gratiam Dei [etc. A. D. 1332.] cum omnibus suis voluminibus que nominata fuerunt in præsentis testamento, cum cantilena quæ sequitur in præsentis. Translatum fuit presens Testamentum de lingua Catalonica in Latinam, anno Domini 1443. 6^o. Junij. Per LAMBERTUM G. apud Lond: in Prioratu sancti Bartholomei. Finis libri."

5. "Incipit Cantilena Ray: lingua Catalonica. Amor nos fa aco rimar." Cum comentariolo interposito. p. 261—4.

- "Incipit Cantilena Raymundi Latine. Amor nos fucit hoc rimari." p. 265—6.

Each consists of 10 stanzas of 8 lines each. The last lines are, respectively, Tierar philosophement, and "Trudere tibi philosophicaliter. Finis cantilenæ." The latter is not in metre, but only translated line for line.

6. "Expositio Cantilenæ Raymundi Lullij doctoris illuminati. Amor fucit" (etc.) Corruptio taliter facta. p. 267—9.

Ending—"tunc ars nan potest fallere. Explicit expositio cantilenæ Ray. Lullij Majoricani." A scheme of the four elements follows.

7. "Capitulum de generatione et corruptione metallorum, extractum a præcedenti expositione. Ex hoc evidenter." Etiam "De quatuor convertentibus principalibus." p. 270—1.

8. "Liber Amphorismorum Raymundi Lullij. 1. Aurum philosophorum est lapis tactu rarus." p. 273—5.

After the 39th, "Expliciunt Aphorismi." Then follow 20 Leonine verses, beg. "Preterea fili. Due nutrimento." Ending—"sic teneatur. Explicit liber Amphorismorum."

9. Postscriptum quoddam Testamenti, sic inc. Fili nota secretum in operando. p. 275—6.

In fine—"cum suo proprio igne rubifica. Et sic habetur finis et completorium totius Testamenti Raymundi Lullij. Deo gratias. Explicit integrum Testamentum."

10. "Codicillus, sive Vade Mecum, Raymundi Lullij,* [in duas partes divisus, Theoricam et Practicam.] Deus in virtute trinitatis." pp. 277, 279—295, 297—367.

* This general title is inscribed in large Roman letters, on p. 277. The first part has no heading, but ends thus—"certis operationibus notis. Explicit Theorica Codicilli." The second is intitled "Sequitur Codicilli Practica;" and ends thus—"dum tamen intelligitur magisterium. Explicit Codicillus."

11. "In Dei nomine incipit conclusio summaria valde utilis ad intelligentiam Testamenti, Codicilli, et aliorum nostrorum libellorum. Nec non argenti vivi, in quem pendet intentio tota intentiva quæ aliter Repertorium dicitur. Aqua vero nostra philosophica secreta." p. 371—6.

There is a general title largely inscribed at p. 369, "Parvus Codicillus, seu Veni Mecum, de inventione circulationis Ray: L." Which being struck through, is superscribed thus, "Repertorium Secreti Occulti. Qui et Experimentarium dicitur." It ends thus:—"perficetur sic. Explicit Repertorium Secreti Raymundi Lullij."

12. "Incipit Compendium Artis Raymundi Lullij (in quo flores omnium suorum librorum uniuntur) super Testamentum Codicillum et Veni Mecum. Homo cognoscens uxorem." p. 379—391.

Des.—"magnum ingenium. Explicit Compendium Ray: Lullij." There is a title largely inscribed on p. 377, and the like to the two next articles at pp. 393, 407.

13. "In nomine omnium Salvatoris, incipit tractatus bonus atque utilis, a Raymundo Lullio editus, qui Parvus Vade Mecum dicitur. Hoc est commune." p. 395—405.

The two last pages are occupied with circular schemes.

14. "Practica de Lapidibus, secundum Raymundum Lullium. Deus in virtute tua." p. 409—428.

Des.—"Elige ergo tibi secundum placitum tuum. Finis Lapidarij." Vide vol. II. art. 6.

15. "Sequitur alia pars Practicæ quæ incipit de lapidibus preciosis. Ad dandum." p. 429—435.

Des.—"sufficere videntur. Practica Raymundi Lullij de formatione ac compositione lapidum, et elixir eorum, feliciter explicit."

- VOL. II. 1. "RAYMUNDI LULLII Quintæ Essentiæ libri quatuor:"* cui præmittitur (f. 2—3) "Prologus MONALDI monachi de Abbatia sancti Benedicti Parisijs, consolatoris Raymundi magni

* This title is largely inscribed on the first page; the next contains some circular schemes. On f. 77^b there are 6 moveable circles, in the form of a volvell.

in libris de secretis naturæ seu quintæ essentiæ, quem composuit idem Raymundus Abbati sancti Benedicti Parisijs. Contristatus erat vehementer." ff. 1—27, 28—35^b, 36^b—77, † 78—83^b.

† After the colophon ("Explicit distinctio tertia") is this note, by the same hand:—"Secundum exemplar quod ex bibliotheca Episcopi de regno Portugaliæ fuit transmis[s]um in Angliam. Et subsequenter addo tertiam et 4^{am} distinctionem, prout reperi eas in Anglia sub forma qua tradebantur Regi Edwardo. Nec cuiquam videatur sic me fecisse superfluum, quoniam altera tertia distinctio, aperit alteram; et inter eas quantum ad multa est clarioritas, immo excedentia mutua." See art. 3.

The whole work ends thus:—"utilitatem fidelium. Explicit quartus liber Quintæ Essentiæ."

2. "Disputatio MONALDI monachi cum RAYMUNDO. Cumque librorum secretorum legis naturæ." f. 84—6^b.

Des.—"quemquidem librum Christi custodiæ commendavit. Finit Raymundus istum librum Parisius, anno ab incarnatione Domini M^o. ccc^o. xix. in Monasterio sancti Benedicti extra civitatem."

3. Alius "Liber tertius Quintæ Essentiæ. Liber hic tertius, seu distinctio tertia, de Quinta Essentia, quia discrepat cum precedenti, hic appositus est. Deus, cum tua magnitudine effluentis bonitatis, incipit distinctio tertia, quæ est de alteratione metallorum." f. 89—144.

The leaves marked '107, 108' are only a paper inserted, containing a page of variations of the schemes occurring at f. 109^a, and written (partly in English) by a hand as old as the MS. There is no colophon to this part: it ends thus, in the 7th of the 'Quæstiones de olimpiade;—de omnibus alijs die ut in paulina.

4. "Anima artis transmutatoriæ. Seu Diadema Roberti, supra Testamentum Codicillum, Vade Mecum, et Lapidarium, ad Robertum Ciciiliæ Regem. Fulgeat Regis diadema." f. 146—160^b.

There is a large title on f. 145^a. It ends thus: "seculorum amen. Finit Raymundus magnus istum libellum, in Monte Pessulano, regnante Rege Roberto, anno ab incarnatione Domini 1321. Deo gratias. Et sic finitur præscriptus secundum exemplum quod habui a Portugalia. In Anglia inveni aliud exemplar in multis a præscripto diversum. Et utrumque istorum excedit alterum in multis, et alterum exponit: ideo conscribentur." On the next page (161^a) follows an additional passage, beg. Vas in quo.

5. "Anima artis transmutatoriæ, seu Diadema Roberti, juxta Anglicanum exemplar. Fulgeat Regis diadema Roberti regum illustrissimi. Recolimus &c. usque ibi Primo oportet." f. 162—170.

Des.—seculorum amen. The following article seems designed as a part of this copy: but being found separate in some MSS. it is here described separately.

6. "De generatione lapidum, ad Regem Robertum. Deus in virtute—ponemus clare &c." f. 170^a.

Only seven lines, beginning and ending as above: then this note. "Quia reliqua usque ad finem hujus tertiæ distinctionis, de verbo ad verbum conveniunt cum prima parte Lapidarij, usque ad principium secundæ partis; ideo hic non apposimus. Quare te conferas ad Lapidarium Raymundi, ibique integram ejus primam partem legas; habebisque integre quod hic desideratur." (scil. vol. I. art. 14.)

7. "De investigatione* Secreti Occulti Raymundi Lullij, super opus majus. Quia homo est magis nobile animal de mundo." f. 172—8^b.

* "Investigatio," in the large title at f. 171^a. Ending—"quemadmodum ascendisti &c. Et sic explicit liber de investigatione secreti occulti Ray. Lullij."

8. "Epistola accurtationis Raymundi Lullij, ad Robertum Ciciiliæ Regem. In sanctæ trinitatis virtute." f. 179—182^b.

Des.—"Laudans Deum. Deo gratias. Finis epistolæ accurtationis."

9. "Apertorium abbreviatum, alias Experimentatorium Raymundi Lullij. Sapientes dicunt quod." f. 184—190.

Des.—"quod quere in Testamento Raymundi. Deo gratias. Explicit Apertorium Raymundi abbreviatum, seu aut' liber Lunariæ." This article and the following ones have large title pages prefixed, beside their several headings.

10. "Compendium artis magicæ Raymundi Lullij sequitur. Incipit compendium artis magicæ secundum cursum naturæ reformatum." f. 192—196^b.

Des.—"Inceratur (cum Marte del venere.) Laus Deo. Explicit Magica Raymundi." Over the words here printed within parentheses, is written, "al. sale martis vel veneris."

11. "Abstractum de compendio artis magicæ Raymundi Lullij incipit. Recipe nigrum nigrius nigerrimo." f. 198—9^b.

Des.—"post primum opus. Explicit Abbreviatum Compendium artis magicæ magistri Raymundi Lullij, de secreta transmutatione metallorum."

12. "Extractum compendium ex libro intitulato Ymago Vitæ Raymundi Lullij, pernecessarium et utile. Ars nostra secreta continet unam medicinam." f. 201—2.

Des.—"Et sic apparent prædictæ tres virtutes in ipsum esse contentæ. Deo gratias. 1506. Explicit Ymago Artis Raymundi Lullij."

13. "Liber Prophetiarum RAYMUNDI LULLIJ, seu ARNOLDI DE VILLANOVA. In nomine sanctissimæ virginis Mariæ, genitricis Domini nostri Jesu Christi, sequuntur Adaptationes quarundam prophetice dictorum de gloriosa passione ejusdem Domini nostri, ad opus nostri Elixir, quod est spirituale Dei donum quo magnificari Christianismus potest gentes infidèles pessundari, per dilatationem nominis et gloriæ Christi." f. 204—6.

Des.—"Et hoc est almixadir verum et perfectum. Deo gratias. Explicit liber prophetiarum."

14. "Liber de aquis Raymundi Lullij, seu conversionis mercurij et saturni in solem et lunam. Venerando amico salutem." f. 208—211^b.

Des.—"cardus visci squilla &c. Et sic ad honorem Dei et utilitatem fidelium fuit [finit] iste tractatus utilis, editus Romæ, anno salutis M^o. ccc^o. xxij^o. al. 32^o."

15. "RAYMUNDUS LULLIUS in librum de aquis, partim beato ÆGIDIO existenti in heremo, a domino Jesu revelatis, et partim ipsi Raymundo, ab ipso Deo, ob salutem fidelium etiam propalatis, ut postea in libri serie luculenter patebit. Cum ego Raymundus Lullius Alerde existens." f. 213—7.

Ultima est "Aqua memoriam conservans. Recipe [etc.] jo-cundam &c. Hic finiunt Aquæ sancti Ægidij et Raymundi Lullij: felix est qui eas possidet, et illis utitur. Deo gratias."

Many of the articles, in these volumes, have separate title-pages written in large Roman capitals: but they are not noticed in the reference to the folios. Some brief notes by old Napier's hand, on the margins of both volumes, show that they belonged to his collection: see vol. I. p. 195, 381—4, etc.

No. 1485.

In this large folio volume are three MSS. on paper. The first consists of 97 leaves, paged by Ashmole, whereof pp. 15—16, 109—16, 189—92, and 194 are vacant, and the others are well written in a large debased text hand of the early part of the XVIIth century, (in imitation of more ancient MSS.) in small pages with very large margins, probably for the purpose of a gloss. Over the first page is the autograph of "Patricius Sanders, Londini, 1606;" some few of whose notes occur; and there are some in Napier's handwriting, at pp. 64—6, 154.

I. 1. "Breviloquium BACONIS. In medicina faci-enda iste quinque condiciones requiruntur." p. I—II.

Des.—Eligat lector modum vel viam meliorem et electam diligenter servet cum Dei auxilio. Amen.

2. "Elixer album secundum ROGERUM BACON. Take .j. lib. of mercur' sublimed qwyth." p. II—12.

"Aliud opus ad idem. Take .j. li. of mercur' that is sublimed." p. 12—14.

Each ending thus:—"As witnesseth Roger Bacon."

3. "Liber congelationis. Accipe argentum vivum libras x." p. 17—60.

Some of the receipts in this article are in English, at pp. 25, 26, 33, 35: one is in 13 lines of Latin verse, beg. "Congellacio alia. Mercurij crudi partes 6. altera lune," p. 26—7. The following names of authors occur in the titles:—Johannes Parisiensis, p. 30; Prior Rofensis, and Billotus, p. 31; 'Robertus Frunator, Anglice Barker, otherwyse callyd Frere Bungay,' p. 32. The last words seem to be these: Nota quod quando vis purgare cuprum cum plumbo [etc.] sume equaltem porcionem et c.

4. "Sermo in argento vivo. Scias quod argentum vivum est frigidum et humidum, et Deus ex eo creavit omnes mineras." p. 60—9.

Des.—Argentum vivum sepe invenitur in metallis.

5. "Dicta HERMETIS. Hermes dicit in libro suo. Aqua permanens coagulat mercurium." p. 69—72.

6. Versus de lapide, e RASIS carmine, qui inc.* Unde Deo plenus sapiens dixit Morienus; et

"Quare celatur scientia. Si penitus manifesta forent, si quisque peritus." (vv. 15, 13.) p. 72—73.

* With these words prefixed, (written, as all the titles are, in a larger character)—Dimitte pluralitatem nominum et intellige quod est una sola res, secundum dictum MORIENI in versibus; which are taken from Dastin's tract; see No. 1467, f. 71, and the note on No. 1416, art. 7.

7. "Incipit Centimetrum problematum occulti occultorum. Fili doctrinam sanam tibi porrigebinam." (vv. 102.) p. 74—8.

Des.—"Gloria sit Domino qui regnat trinus in uno. Amen." All this article, and the other verses in this MS., are in a set Italian hand.

8. De sex 'dispositionibus' vel operationibus alchemicis: inc. "Nota quod in omni gradu medicina ponenda est hoc modo." p. 78—81.

Des.—coagulant et calcinant cum fortiori igne.

9. Tractatus e diversis libris conflatus, inc. "In nomine Domini. Modo ego volo tibi dicere veram sublimationem sive operationem. Et est lavatio." p. 81—8.

Des.—et delectatur in corpore suo prout omnes dicunt philosophi et verum asserunt.

10. "Ad cognoscendum et eligendum argentum vivum pulcherrimum, artificiale et minerale, naturale, fixum et non fixum, utile ad hoc opus. Farina calculorum dum est bene subtilis." p. 89—93.

The last sentence is—Si vero mortificari non possit, artificia is est.

11 "Preparatio et mundificatio ar. vivi, secundum Practicam Auream,"* et alios libros, sc. 'Breviarium Joh. Pauperis,' Arnoldi de Villa Nova 'Rosarium philosophorum,' Philippi Ulstadii 'Celum philosophorum,' et Gebarum. p. 93—108.

* Inc.—R. in nomine beatissime et ineffabilis trinitatis acetum philosophorum. The last page of this rhapsody contains one receipt in French and two in English, with a distich on the same subject, beg. "Versus. Preparo lavando sale:" the four next leaves are left vacant, the imperfection of this article being shown by the catch-word tyll.

12. "Incipit liber qui dicitur Speculum de secretis secretorum secundum ROGERUM BACON. Dictio fratris Rogeri Bacon super instructionem artis istius Alkymic. In nomine [etc.] ad instructionem." p. 117—129.

In fine—"Jam igitur tenes tu in generali [etc.] secula. Amen. Explicit libellus qui Speculum Secretorum intulatur, per Fratrem Rogerum Bacon compilatus." Vide et No. 1467, art. 11.

13. Appendix in Baconi librum, seu commentariolum de eadem re: inc. Omne metallum est aurum vel argentum nisi secundum sulphuritates et defectus. p. 130—2.

14. "De tribus dimentionibus corporum .s. altitudo, latitudo, et profunditas. Hec sunt nomina corporum ad invicem connectentia." p. 132—144.

Altogether relating to the composition and transmutation of metals; and ending thus, "Hoc secretum commendes Deo et ores eum. Sibi sit laus et gloria in evum. Amen."

15. "Incipit ratio secunda, cum Dei auxilio. Omnia corpora que a lunari globo inferiori." p. 144—6.

Des.—corpora alia simplici naturali caliditate decocta et c.

16. "Liber de separatione salium, secundum ROGERUM BACON. Et est separatio salis communis et salis gemmentalis." p. 147—172.

Ending thus—"et coagula in pulverem et resurget. 3. 3. 3. plumbi et merc. Explicit liber de separatione salium." But in this article are contained the following headings:—"Sermo de salibus et aluminibus que in hac arte sunt necessaria," p. 154; "Sequitur de aquis acutis," p. 155; "Hic incipit liber preparationis," p. 156; "Liber de oleis," p. 168.

17. "Liber Aquarum. Libelli hujus aquarum .xij. series hisee splendet titulis. De aqua rubicunda. 1^m." p. 173—188.

Des.—"Et pro ista causa vocatur aqua perdurabilis quia faciet unum et alterum colorem semper durantem. Explicit."

On p. 193 is part of p. 183, written by the same hand, and seemingly set aside as cancelled, the word Explicit having been wrongly written after the title of 'Lac virgineum.'

II. Miscellanea Medica et Chemica, e variis libris transcripta; collectore (ut videtur) THEODORICO GRAVIO; pleraque Latine, partim vero Hollandice scripta. ff. 1^a—97.

Written on alternate pages: the corners of the first leaf are torn. Among the various contents of this book, are—

"Pupilla RIPLÆI." f. 6—9.

"Epistola totam artem continens, G. RIPLÆI Angli." f. 67—69.

"Tractatus de terra terrarum GEORGIJ RIPLÆI. Veritas de terra orta est." f. 70—2.

All the other authors named were foreigners.

III. I. "Auctores Chimici:" seu xlii. operum alchemicorum veterum nomina. f. 1^b.

On the next page (which is torn at the top) is a list of the contents of this MS. written by the same hand, and a note about Ripley, copied from f. 88.

2. "The 12 Gates of S^r GEORGE RIPPLEY channon of Brillington, otherwise called his Compound of Alchymye. In the beginninge when God made all of noughte." f. 3—46.

The 'titulus operis,' the epistle, and the prologue, are omitted in this copy, which begins with the sixth stanza of the text in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 122: it ends thus (compare p. 193)—"Whch he in his kingdome grante us for to see. Heere endeth the compounde of Alchymye called the xij gates of S^r George Ripley chanon of Bridlington, compiled by him A^o Domini 1471." See art. 7, No. 1479, art. 1, and No. 1486, iii. art. 16.

3. "The Vision of S^r GEORGE RIPLEY channon of Bridlington. When busy at my booke I was, uppon a certain night." (12 couplets.) f. 46^b.

Printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 374. See also No. 1480, art. 3.

4. Versiculi de re alchemica; scilicet—

"ROBERTUS VALLENSIS Rngl. Spiritus intus inest." (vv. 4.) f. 47^a.

Distichon, inc. Res. rebus est bina (lege binis). ib.

Aliud, inc. Hordea cui cordi. ib.

Est una res vilis ubique reperta etc. (vv. 7.) ib.

The handwriting of this last piece much resembles Dr. Dee's, as also one stanza on f. 45^a.

5. "An Allegorye supposed to be made by Thomas Norton. Take earthe of earthe carthes brother." (56 l.) 47^b—8.

Ending—And this is the makinge of our stone, The truthe I have tolde you everichone. This article is the same as the two first pages (269—70) of "PEARCE the Black Monke upon the elixir:" the next article is properly a separate piece in this MS., though it is printed as the latter part of this poem in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 270—4.

6. "Verses of an unknown author. All ye that have soughte many a daye, Laude God and take your booke and praye, For the longer that ye seeken" etc. (100 l.) 48^b—50.

Ending—And all the richesse that ye of speede, To doe God worshippe with almes dede. Very different from the printed text above referred to.

7. "RIPLEY his booke unto King Edwarde y^e iiiith. As the philosopher in his booke of meteors doth write." (21 st. of 8.) 51^b—4^b.

Ending—By grace and will of God to whom be laud and glory. This is the 'epistle' belonging to art. 2, except the first nine stanzas which are omitted: see Ashmole, p. 111—6.

8. "The Dreame of S^r GEORGE RIPLEY channon. Yt is an olde sayeng, Care not for dreames, and yet the dreames of Joseph weare to good purpose." 55^{ab}.

Ending—"for the interpretacon therof I leave to the learned prelate. Thus endeth the dreame of S^r George Ripley channon of Bridlington, translated oute of Latin verse."

9. "Certayne verses of an uncertayne aucthor. The aygre bludd of the berry red." (6 st. of 8.) 55^b—6^b.

It was not from this MS. that Ashmole either printed his text, or took his MS. collation, in the Theatrum (No. 972), p. 362—3. The last line is—And heer endeth all our philosophie. See also No. 208, art. 5.

10. "BLUMFIELD'S Blossomes. Our greate secreate is noughte els but the lyon greene." (29 st. of 7.) 56^b—8^b.

This is a very incomplete copy, consisting only of stanzas 33—37 of the first part, all the second part, and stanzas 4—18 of the Theorica in the printed text, (pp. 312—9 in the Theatrum), ending thus—"This worke is compleut, Da gloriam Deo. Finis Blumfeilde."

11. "Breviloquium JOHANNIS PAUPERIS. Geber saythe in his fihthe booke the 12 cap. that there be 3 orders of medicines." f. 59—68.

The last words of this translation are,—and his perpetuall health and joye endlessse.

12. "The Marrowe of GEORGE RIPPLEYE. Proemium. I beinge aboute to intreate to youre moste excellent lordeshippe of the treatise of alkemye." 69—88.

Ending—"I submitt my selfe, in the imbracinge of our redeemer [etc.] so be it. Explicit Medulla Alchimie George Rippleye. Heare endeth ye treatise called ye Marrowe of Alkemy, compiled by Georg Ripley, channon of Bridlington, in anno Domini 1476."

13. Alchemical 'precepts' of RIPLEY; beg. Take Adrop and dissolve it in vinegre of wine distilled. 88—90^b.

With this note as a title,—"George died when he was of ripe yeares, and he giveth these preceptes breefly" etc. (See also f. 2^a.) The last words are—"everye tincture, to wit, white and red. Laus Deo." See also No. 1486, v. art. 3.

14. "Præfatiuncula GEORGI RIPPLEY in Pupulam Alchimie. Firste understande howe ye notable ph^or Avicenn sayeth." 91—3^b.

The "Practica" begins at f. 93; ending—And therefore dothe Raimond saye of yt [etc.] et habes rem bonam in vitriolo.

This third MS. is distinctly written in a running hand of the time of Q. Elizabeth: the last 19 leaves (ff. 94—112) are vacant.

No. 1486.

A folio volume containing six MSS. on paper; whereof the first consists of 68 leaves, separately foliated in two parts, (here marked a and b), which are written in the former part of the XVIth century, probably by the person who afterward wrote ff. *1, and 24—26^b of (a), and 40^b of (b), and whose name is thus written at f. 1^a, "Whosoever on me dothe looke, I am ROBARTE GARLANDS booke," and at f. 27^a (which is properly the first leaf of part b), "This is ROBARTE GARLANDES booke, practizioner in the arte spagericke, anno Do. 1596."

- I. (a) 1. Alchemica quedam; scilicet, "Ad extrahendum sulphureum rubinum occultum.—Sublimatio argenti vivi in rubeum.—Componere lutum.—Mercury quickned." f. *1^{ab}.

2. A treatise of the preparation and uses of the Quintessence, and of 'general Medicines for all manner of infirmities;' in two books: beg. [In the name of our Lord Jhesus Criste of whome alle gudnes procedis, and wt owten whych no manne may cum to non grace nor connyng. ff. 1—11—18^b.

The first book begins thus at f. 2^a—[H]er is the fyrste boke whych showth the q^essence and how it shalbe mad, and how be sune and the sterris shalbe arayed, and how it kepyth the lyff and the helth of manne. The second—"Her begyneth the second boke. [In the name of our Lord Jhesus Cryste amen. Her begyneth the boke of Jenerawlle medysynes;" ending—"and her is no thyng more spedfulle to put a waye the crampe then our q^essence or aqua ardens in hys absence et c. Deo gracias." One leaf or more has been lost between ff. '9—10.'

3. Dies in quibus singula signa sol intrat; et de 'exeundo' sub quoque signo, an tibi bonum sit malumve. f. 19^a.

4. Tractatulus de argento vivo et lapide philosophico: inc. [In nomine] Domini nostri Jesu Christi qui nobis douavit racionem discernendi et reducendi omnem rem ad primam eorum naturam. 19^b—21^b.

In this tract are cited some verses from the Latin poem ascribed to RASIS, under the name of 'Merlinus;' viz. Candida si rubeo etc. (3 vv.) 20^a, Consurgit nullus (9 v.) 20^b, Femineo junctum (9 v.) 21^{ab}. After these words—Et tunc est elixir album, follows this title to the last half page—"Modo dicam modum compositionis elix' rubii ad aurum. Si vero lapidem rubeum."

5. Medical Receipts: viz.—

"A medysyn for strangury and dysurye.—For paynes off the stomake.—A lectuary for a man[n]e that hathe loste hys kynde.—A good medycyne for a man that is brossyd wt fawllys or betynges." 22^a.

"To purge sawllce flewme from þ^e vyssayge.—A sewer medysyne to dystroy rattes and myse.—A medycyn for icheynges wondes and sorys.—A nother for the same." 22^b.

"A gud restoratyve.—For the flux off menstrwe in women.—A presarvatyve for the raynyng sycnes." (sicknes.) 23^a.

6. Alchemical "Notes from M^r WAULDEN. For ye makinge of ♀ into ♂." etc. 24^{ab}.

Those on the second page are—"Mr. Walden's pearle liquor is thus made," and an experiment to procure silver, by "Sr W. RAWLEY."

7. "An Itallien worke given to Do. Delabery, when he was in Italie." 25^{ab}.

8. "CARNABIE ye Scottes receipt to his freind M^r Greeue. Dissolve ☉ purged by anthimony." 26^a.

9. "The makinge of "☿^{us} vitæ" for the cure of fevers. 26^b.

10. "A good medysyne for iche. Rec. wodbyne." 27^b.

On the other page of this leaf is a long title to the two next articles, written by R. Garland, who adds that they are "not common to be found, but very rare." At the foot of this first page he has written—"Heare beginneth ye thyrd booke."

- (b) 11. "Elixer vite Orlon et Rosarius. In fayr montayne oure stone doth growe." (78 l.) f. j—ij.

Ending—"Gevyne by the vertu off þe holy goste. Et sic est finis, sit laudes Deo gracias." Hence Robson's transcript was taken, in No. 1418, iii. art. 30.

12. A commentary on the foregoing alchemical poem, intituled, "Ortolon et Rosarius. I am movyd in my mynde to puplyscye and to shew the interpretacion off hys name by opyn profè." f. ij—17.

Ending thus—and ever lastyngly holdyng in hym selff hys tynctur, and so yeldyng to alle meyerawlle thynges pertaynyng to sol or lune. Hence copied by Robson, into No. 1418, iii. art. 31.

13. "Nota: Orlon et Rosarius. Off the sune take the lyght." (98 l.) f. 17^b—18^b.

Ending—"W^t body and soulle and spryght of lyff The whych we eawlle sponse and weyffe. Deo gracias." Considerably different from the text printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 275—7, under the title of "The worke of RICH. CARPENTER." See No. 1416, art. 60; and No. 1418, iii. art. 30.

Additional sets of verses, thus beginning—

Iff þu will þis medesine aptye (6 l.) 18^b.

Take erth of erth erþis broþer (4 l.) ib.

Off Spayne take ye clere lyght (8 l.) ib.

The last set forms the beginning of the poem, as found in other copies.

14. A tract of aurum potabile and quintessence, partly extracted (in Latin) from Avicenna: beg. "In nomine omnibus sanctis. Now take in þe name of God of owar pure sulphr rede þt is calcinyd and waschen clenc." 19—23^b.

Ending—"per suum ultimum extremum unde aliqui dixerunt Est una res vilis et c. Finis. Laudes Dei dicam per secula."—With a rubric monogram, seeming to stand for the initials of Robert Garland. See No. 1418, iii. art. 32.

15. A translation of the Breviloquium of JOHANNES PAUPER: beg. "Reverend Geber wyntesseth in the .5. boke the .12. chaptur that þer be .3. maner and order off medycynes. The medycyne of the fyrst order is þt that is caste apone unperfytt bodys." 24—30^b.

Ending—"to the whych I pray Jhesus off hys endles grace bryng us alle. Explicit breviloquium Joh'is paupares [sic] de lapide filosoforum et c." See No. 1418, iii. art. 33.

16. A tract of the preparation of Quintessence; beg. Thow shallte understond the nobulle syence off the owllde philisoferes whych stodyd an laburd to know the nobulle vertus off quyntesens. 31—9.

Ending—"bryng hym to whytenes or rednes dobulle hym w^t mercurij crewde. etc. Deo gracias. Fynis." (Vide ibid. art. 34.) A note follows, written by R. Garland; also after 2 blank pages,—

17. Receipt to cure "Wynd collike in ye bowells or gutts: probatum." 40^b.

II. 1. An alchemical fragment (the first chapter?) by Dr. SIMON FORMAN. f. 1—3.

2. "Of the vegetable stone, the second chapter." 4^{ab}.

3. "Of our commixion and working of cako, howe yt fell out; we toke as folowth." Also "Howe we mad ♀ of ♀." 6^a.

4. The Shepherd's invitation; beg. Com live w^t me and be my love: and "The aunswere. If that the wordle and love were yong." (4 and 5 st. of 4.) 6^b.

Though not so complete as the text printed by Percy (Reliques, I. 199, 201,) yet some useful corrections are afforded by this copy: part of the 3 last stanzas is torn off.

5. Dr. FORMAN's tract "Of cacos philosophorum." 7—11^d.

- 6, 7. Two alchemical tracts or fragments, subscribed thus—"Finis 1598, Novemb. 10th. per S. FORMAN scripitor."* ff. 12—13, 14—20^b.

* Sic pro scriptorem. Almost every leaf in this MS. is torn; it seems to be an assemblage of fragments: art. 5 is written in columns.

III. 1. Tabula dominationem planetarum per totam septimanam ostendens. f. 1^a.

On the next page is drawn a hart, lying down on a diapered ground; in the style of a pattern for needlework.

2. Calendarium commune. 2—7^b.

3. Tabula literarum, cum numero aureo et signorum nominibus. 8^a.

On the next page are drawn the frame of a horoscope, and the heads of a woman and a man with the moon and sun, above it.

4. "Interrogaciones Regis KALID, et resposiones MORIENI philosophi, de thesauro thesaurorum in opere nature. Rex. O Moriene primo querere libet que et qualis sit hujus rei prima et principalis substantia." 9—14.

Des.—"quoniam totum in ethehel purissimum convertetur. sit igitur Deus benedictus per euncta secula seculorum amen. Explicit liber MORIENI." There is an other copy in No. 1478, i. art. 28, reaching only to f. 12^b of this copy: and there is a translation in the fourth MS. of this volume, art. 2.

On f. 14^b are written, by different hands, an account of stables let to Maister Garret, to Medylton and Raffie Wellet, 'to the god man Beele pykemonger,' and to Freston and Snale, in 1541: also a receipt "To make a lutum for the bothome of glasses to stande in sande."

5. "Hic incipit [Ars?] arcium Alkanie. Alle the wysdome in the worldde commythe off our Lorde Gode Jh'u—therefore who that loveth wysdom" etc. 15—21.

This tract contains many figures of furnaces and other vessels, and ends with five of them. At f. 19^{ab} is a passage in Latin, beg. "Speculum Alkanie. Scriptura tibi vero nomine dinoscitur habere."

6. "Liber Turbe [?] philosophorum. capitulo primo. The sotel yt is fyrst mater of alle metalles mercurij and sulphour." 21^b—4.

After the seventh chapter (which ends thus—by dewe mynystracion and wesse governaunce, 23^b) are several short alchemical pieces which seem to belong to this tract, beginning—The body of ye tre conteyneythe—Governaunce of fyers—Ther be .7. termes or braunches yt bryng forthe diverse levys.—The mone after .15. days wanethe.

7. "Septem Claves hujus sciencie. Ther ben .7. termes or keys ye wyche be roottes of ye oryginalle creacon of ye blyssed tre, beyng grene uppone ye hylle of natoure." 24^b—5^b.

Ending thus—Also be contricion and thycyngye of ye selfe moystenes unto hardenes: unless three paragraphs on the same page belong to this article, which begin thus,—Fyryngye is a convenient sharpnyng—For sothe ye bodye—Ther bethe some men.

8. Quædam de lapide philosophico, et de 'multiplicatione' metallorum: inc. Infra 40. dies apparebit superficies medycine. 26—7^b.

A figure of a furnace (with words in English) follows these last words—non occupet nisi quartam partem vasis tunc obcura eum tenaculis etcis. (sic.)

9. Five 'wordes' on the verse* "Gemma salutaris. The fyrste worde is yis werke" etc. f. 28^a.

* Which occurs at the end—Gemma salutaris qui nascitur orbicularis: it is taken from the poem called RASIS.

10. "Notabilia Philosophorum. Pictagoras saythe take ye combuste fugytyve." 28^b—9^b.

Ending—"Rosary saythe qualytes—passé note a pece of golde." An other hand hath superscribed this article, Turba philosophorum.

11. "Septem condiciones hujus materie. The fyrste condycyon is yis, yt yffe yer be ony kende of argenti vivi." 30^{ab}.

Ending—"oure stone and oure kyngé is coronate w^t a dyademe and may be multiplyed w^t ouste ende. Deo gracias Amen."

12. "Opera ARISTOTILIS.* Crystes name be blyssyd and clepyd in honour of hymé, he that lestyth to profyte in ye dedys of nature." 31—38^b.

* Or a translation of what "I founde in a boke yt was ye understanding of ye wordes of Arystotylle in hys methemis [here is drawn a large 'figura' of a dragon] The wyche he sent unto Alexander;"—as the author says at the seventh line. The last four pages are intitled "Errores hujus operis;" and the last words are—"and knowe welle yt alle thynges turne unto goode to yem yt lovythe Gode w^t alle hys harte. Deo gracias amen." Some words in this article are written in rubric, with false letters, as in cypher. Below the first page is a long note by Robson's hand.

13. An alchemical tract in four chapters, superscribed* "Ignotius:" beg. Wunderstonde. That when or mater félythe our sune anone he is losyd into water. 39—40^b.

Ending—for yt betokenys temperate of fyer and goodnes of preparacōn et c.

14. "To knowe the nature off phylosophye. It is oppyn and playne yt ye operacōn of our medycyne is ye operacōn of nature." 41^a.

Ending—for they made an ende where yey scholde have gone et c. On the next page, are written (by the same hand as the notes on f. 14^b) "A fume for the poxe" and "a nother fume" 41^b; and, seemingly by "John Reeve," whose name is in the margin, a receipt for "A syment" or lute; also on the next page by the same, an astrological passage, beg. And knew you the vertue of burninge water; and two stanzas each of 8 lines, beg. This is not in sight but resteth invisible—This caos durcke the mettalls I do calle. 42^a.

15. "Liber Multipharie. Her begynnyth a compendyose abstract of Alkany, drauyn oute of Latyn, uppone whate wyse ze schalle werke w^t oute erreure unto a trewe concludyone of a perfyzte elyxere bothe for ye whyte and for ye rede. To alle yt vertuosly are dysposyd wylllynge to be ye chyldrene of doctryne." 43^a, 42^b, 43—8^b.

The former part of the preface, which ought to follow the rubric on f. 43^a, is on 43^b. This tract is in 7 chapters, and ends thus—"yis is a werke of .i. daye or of .i. hour or halfe a hour. finis auctoris de quo semper est mirabilis et c." There is nothing lost between ff. 46, 48, for '47' is omitted.

16. RIPLEY'S Compend of Alchemy: "Her begynnyth ye Compownd off Alkany, Made by a chanon of Bryghlyngtonc" etc. 49^b—71^b.

The epistle to Edward IV., which follows the two stanzas that serve as a title to the work, (Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 108,) is here omitted; the prologus follows, and the prefatio, which consists of only the 5 first stanzas of the printed text, p. 122, the others being intitled "Ripla prohemium." At the end of the 'Recapitulatio' is this rubric, (71^a) "Quod Georgius Rypla canonicus de Brydlyngtone, cujus anime propicietur Deus, dicamus omnes Amen." The last leaf having been lost, this copy ends with the sixth stanza of the 'Erroneous experiments,' in Ashmole, p. 190.

17. "Blamekym.* Now my child take intentyf heade, and trust sadly and faythfully to my coun-celle, and specyally in usyng of this wondrefull worke." f. 72^b.

* An other old hand hath superscribed it "A conjecturall interpretacōn of Rypley." F. 73 being lost, this article is imperfect, and the beginning of the next is wanting.

18. The alchemical Vision of JOHN DASTIN, translated into English: beg....woombe and agayne be borne, by cause yt saye I must be borne agayne. 74—5.

Ending—"yt we may cume and be set in the orcharde of hym Qui [etc.] amen. Finis visionis Johannis Dastyne." See also No. 1407, i. art. (6), and No. 1493, art. 3.

Of the two notes that follow on this page, the second was written by T. Robson. This MS. is written in a common hand of the end of the XVth century, is rubricised, and in some places ornamented with large colored capitals.

- IV. 1. Alchemical directions, written in false letters; beg. Thks dxknf sekfnef hbtesf. f. *2^{ab}.

Superscribed thus—"Simplicite ys. itie:" this leaf's margin is torn.

2. A translation of the dialogue between King KALID and MORIEN the philosopher: beg. O Morryen: first it likethe me to aske what is ye first and the principall substanece. 3—11.

Ending thus—"Therefore blessed be God per infinita secula. Amen. Explicet hoc totum, Bonum ergo da mihi potum; Sed tamen hoc non est innotum, Si bene vel male impleat votum." The Latin text is in the foregoing part of this volume, art. 4.

Some alchemical notes, in the same kind of cypher as 1, are on the lower part of this page, 11^a.

3. "LYLLIES Blkfmk.* Here beginneth ye exposition upon the practice of a certeine booke called Lyllies Alkemy, by ye woorshipfull prence Sr SYMOND DE FALKSTED Archbyshop of Treverens. etc. O my gracious lord your love shall know yt ye phvers stone whom the auctor Lyllly in the begininge of his booke callythe Azoc." 12—14^b.

* i. e. Lully's Alkemi. It ends thus—"and rehersethe only the truthe. Cujus anime propiciatur omnipotens Dominus. Amen."

4. "Prp splf, bxt lxn^b:* vz. Take 4. oz. of cknbbbrkm." 15^b—16.

* i. e. 'Pro sole aut luna.' A shorter piece follows, on 16^a, in Latin.

5. "A most true and perfect woorke of Fryer ROGER BACON. vz. R' hydrarqyros and washe yt well wth common salt." 17—18^b.

Ending—"And thou maiest multiplye upon 10 tymes her selfe allwaies withoute ende infinitum. Finis. I copped this afforesayde woorke oute of an olde booke of Fryar Roger Bacon, beinge annexed to a booke of his, intituled ye Mirror of Light, written in anno 1555. Hic finitur opus perfectissimum ad elixer vite" etc.

6. "De arte alchymistica compendium. Practica quedam melior omnibus alijs sciencijs. R. arg. vivum et misce illud eum sale." f. 19—21.

Des.—"Et hoc est vera posit[i]o generacionis et multiplicacionis per artes metallorum. Finito libro sit laus et gloria Christo. Amen."

7. "Aqua ☿ⁱⁱ" et "Aqua saturni." 22^a.

8. Explicatio nominum quorundam alchemicorum, et characterum. 22^b.

9. "To make his mealinge pottes. Take ye strongest clay." 22^b.

10. A translation of the alchemical work of JOHN SAWTER (or SAWTRE), monk of Thorney, in 12 chapters: beg. "Johannes Sawter. I thanke allnightie God the wch hathe shewed me ye pryvite of alkemye." 23—32.

Ending—"and by the obedyence of him that nothinge shall fayle. The reste where I had this was torne oute of the booke, wherefore I ende wth fayle, as I have founde fayled so may ye." See the note on No. 1442, viii., and No. 1459, ii. art. 22.

11. "Opus particulare ex veris procedens principijs, cujus una pars tingit 100 partes ♀^{is} purgate in ☽^{am} veram. Take 8 dragms of ♀ Δ the wch put into a faire glas." 33—4^b.

Ending thus—"he shall deceve him selfe and labor in vaine. Dominus perpetuus in HILISCHEM, bonæ memoriæ homo, hoc opere usus, ædificia plurima in honorem Dei et beatæ Mariæ coastruxit."

12. Præcepta duo de opere alchemico, quorum alterum falsis literis scriptum est. 34^h.

This MS. is written in a common hand of the time of Q. Elizabeth.

V. JOHANNIS DEE liber, in quem de arte alchemica tam suas quam alienas congressit lucubrationes: scilicet—

1. Journal of a process in his laboratory at Mortlake, from 'friday the 4 of December 1607,' to 21 Jan. 1608. pp. 2.

2. "GEORGE RYPPEL'S Bosome-booke or Vademecum." being a collection of his choicest receipts; beg. "The whole worke of the stone philosophicall, of the great elixir, and of the first solution of the grosse bodye." pp. 1—18.

Ending—"and proved the same, for the wch thanke God. Explicit Ryppeleis Bosome-booke."

3. "GEORGE RYPLEIS Practise by experience of the stone." p. 19—25.

Beg.—"George Rypley dyed when he was of rype years, and he geveth these preceptes breifly, not because he thinketh them to be trewe, butt he geveth them because they he trewe and approved. Take Adrop" etc. The same as No. 1485, iii. art. 13.

4. "RYPLEYE'S vegetable water or vegetable menstruum, out of his Philorsium. Take tartar calcined white as snowe." p. 25—7.

Ending—sharp water of the philosophers.

5. An experiment with "Tripe de molue, no herbe, but like a trype, lyke jelly lyinge flatt on the grounde." p. 28.

6. "Oleum incombustibile in caverna inventum in libro plumbeo, in dordant pen^{es} Parisiis. Anno 1574." p. 28—9.

7. "Lichium ad prædictum oleum." p. 29.

8. "Quod ☽ procreatur de ♁. Yea shall understand that sylver." p. 30—3.

By a note at the end, it appears that art. 27 ought to have been set before this.

9. "Ex marca ☽^æ extrahere 4. oz. ☉^{is}." p. 35.

10. "Fixatio ☽^æ." p. 35.

11. "Opus expertissimum ad anrum de ☽^a ad omne judicium." p. 36—9.

12. "Mutatio argenti in aurum fixum et optimum, [quam] habui Romæ ab experto qui vendidit aurum." p. 39.

13. "Ad faciendum ferretum. i. es ustum." p. 40.

14. "Conclusio M^{ri} MARCI DE VENETIJS." p. 41—2.

15. "De separacione auri ab argento." p. 43—4.

16. "JOANNIS ISACI tractatus de ☽, ex Flandrigo sermone in Latinum translatus per JACOBUM DE SEMORE, anno 1578. in honorem M^r DIEE. Sibiium, ex philosophorum sententia, componitur ex nobili et mercuriali sulphure." p. 45—51.

Des.—"quam verbis aut scriptis exprimere. Que hic desiderantur ascribuntur R. Bacono traef[ta]tui Germanice, in Triumph Wagen ☽ Fra: Baslij. vale."

17. "Flandri cujusdam opus verum nost[r]a ætate viventis, ab hoc authore veresimile Fernelium didicisse qui vidit opus factum et verbatim describit in lib. de abditis rerum causis, libro 2^o. cap. 18. R. auri obrizi ☿ ij. argenti vivi." p. 52—4.

Dee's note at the end says that the powder was found within the cover of a book, and projection was made with it, by the young Fleming, at Prague.

18, 19. Two experiments, or processes: beg. In the name of the holy trinity Take ♃ ij^l. and calcine itt, and ♁ Sathanan, and grinde itt upon a marble stone. pp. 54—57—60.

20. "Secretum magnum de ♀ fusibili faciendo. Super omnia que sunt in mundo." p. 60.

21. "M^r JOHN DEE his black lute, moste excellentt upon all kinde of vesselles in ye fyere." p. 61.

22, 23. "Ad faciendum ☽^{am} que durabit sicut oleum:" et "Præparatio salis petrae." 62.

24. "Experimentum ad: [sic] Make a regulus of ☿. j. parte." p. 63.

25, 26. "Anima ♁," et "Tinctura vera ad ☉." p. 64—5.

27. "Opus super plumbum. Take red viniger that is some deale trobled." p. 66—9.

See note on art. 8.

On p. 78 are some little calculations, and a note dated 5 Aug. 1609. All this MS. was written by Dr. DEE'S own hand, within ruled margins, except the first leaf. The covers are two halves of a sheet of vellum, across both which is written, in the form of a signed bill, an unfinished copy of—Literæ patentēs, de officio Locumtinentis Hiberniæ Roberto Comiti Essexiæ concedendo, per R. Elizabetham.

Within the second cover is fixed a book in oblong octavo, thus intitled—

VI. "Clavicula RAYMONDI LULLIJ Majoricani, quæ dicitur Apertorium," (f. 2^a) translated into English; or, "The Little Key of Raymund Lully, a Spaniard of y^e Majorican isle, which is called the Opener of y^e Lock; whearin all thinges which are requyred in y^e work of alchymie, are playnly sett fourth or declared. Wee have called this our worke, y^e Little Key." f. 3—10^b.

Chapter 16 ends thus,—ever castinge away the feces, before yt bee put in the worke.

"A perfect woorke of ☉ and ♀. Take j. part of waterid or perfitt ☽." 20^b.

The MS. was fairly written about 1600: ff. 11—21 are vacant, except this half page, which is written vertically. The first cover (f. 1) is a plain piece of parchment: the second is of double width, flapping over the book, and is an—

Indenture of bargain and sale of a fulling-mill orchard and garden at Ryseley in the parish of Heckfield, co. Southamp. from Tho. Jennett waxchandler of London, to Tho. Lawarde of Fynchamsted in Berks. gent. (4 Nov. 36 Eliz. 1594.) f. 22^a.

Ingrossed on parchment, but unfinished.

No. 1487.

A folio MS. consisting of 254 leaves of paper, (some of which are blank) fairly written, partly in the italic, partly in the secretary hand: ff. 8—40 are ruled in columns. It begins with the following inscription, on the first page of 2 unnumbered leaves.

"In Dei nomine Amen.

"Sum Liber EDUARDI BARLOUI et amicorum, factus secundo die Januarij, anno Domini millesimo quingentesimo septuagesimo nono; annoque regni reginæ Elizabethæ—vicesimo primo."

This, doubtless, relates to the second and third parts only; which, as it hence appears, were written ten years before the first.

Part I. EDWARD BARLOW'S Practice-book.

1. An introduction to 'Phisick and Chirurgery,' unfinished: beg. thus—A man maye so governe hym self in suche wise in the foure quarters of the yere, that he shall have little nede or none of phisicke; as thus. f. 1—5^b.
2. Apothecary's copy-book of Prescriptions prepared 'Anno 1588, 1589, 1590,' for various patients, and prescribed by various physicians, whose names are recorded therewith. f. 7—27.

A curious collection, very distinctly written. There is an Index of the patients' names at the end of this volume, pp. 230—253.

Part II. A collection of Alchemical Tracts and Poems.

Whereof a list is written on f. 39^c by Ashmole.

1. A translation of the book of "PHILIPPUS THEOPHRASTUS PARACELSUS Bombastes, the philosopher, and doctor of bothe phisicke, intreating of hidden and secret philosophie." f. 40^b—52^b.

Thus begins "The Prologue. I have deteryned in this little booke to speake of the chefest and most secret thinges wch belonge to Magick, Nigromancye, Nicromancye, Piromancye, Hydromancye, and Geomancye." The eleventh chapter ends—"and elevatethe all thinges, and can do all thinges. Finis."

2. "The seaven golden treatizes or chapters of HERMES TRISMEGISTUS. The preface. In historyes of devyne thinges we reade of thre notable philosophers, eche one called Hermes." 53—7^b.

Ending—"wherof we make everye Sericon, wch is the leven Iuser. Finis."

3. "HERMES' Smaragden Table," or—

"The wordes of the secretts of Hermes, which were written in a table of smaragden stone concerning Alkamy, founde between his hands in a darcke denn, wher his bodye was founde (videlicet) It is true without auye lye—That wch is belowe" etc. f. 58^a. See the next article.

4. "HORTULANUS Commentarye upon the Smaragden Table of Hermes, and first he beginneth (with) Prayer. Laud honnor power and glorye, be." 58^b—60^b.

The 13th chapter ends thus—"in the only mercurye of philosophers. Finis." BARLOWE has added the following long note to his translation, the text whereof is contained in No. 1416, art. 20, and No. 1433, ii. 5. Compare No. 1478, iv. art. 1.

"This cōpy was printed in Lattyne at Argentorat an°. 1566, and is said to be the first impression. Note that all that is contained in the 5th chapter betwene theis () markes, are not in this cōpy, but in another printed at an°. with 8 chapters more in th'end, intituled, Johannis Garlandij Angli philosophi doctissimi Compendium Alchaniæ, sive in tabulam smaragdynam Hermetis Trismegisti commentarij, and is printed amongst other of his workes. Bale, in his Catalogue of English writers, vouchsafethe Boston of St. Edmonds Burye for his witness, and calleth it Ortulane. The said 8 chapters (vidz.) 14, 15, and so to 21, do concerne practize, in the other 13 chapters they differ little." There is a singular passage, relating to this author, in Ashmole's Prolegomena to his Theatrum Chemicum Britannicum. "No," says he, there was "not this small segment of the world, England, without a RASIS CESTRENSIS, and an HORTULANUS. For the first of these, his Liber Luminum, and his Lumen Luminum, are the ancientest now extant in Latine verse: in the latter of which I can not omit this title of his, "Responso Rasis Cestrensis filio suo Merlino," whereby it appeares he was Merlin's contemporary (at least) if not his master, in this abstruse mystery. These workes of his are both published by Hermannus, but very imperfectly, as I found by comparing them with a manuscript as ancient as King John's time. And for the second, he was the first Christian philosopher after Morientus, who, travelling abroad and returning hither in the raigne of William the Conquerour, because he was the first that transplanted the Chemicall Muses from remotest parts into his own country, is called GARLAND, ob coronam hermeticeam et poeticam."

5. "MARYES Practize. Heer beginneth the practice of Marye the prophetise upon the arte of alchymia. Aros the philosopher mett withe Marye the prophetise, the sister of Moses." 61—2.

The Latin text is in No. 1416, art. 29; and in Forman's Common-place Book, No. 1472, pp. 906—9, is a copy beginning and ending thus:—"Incipit Practica Mariæ profitissæ in artem alchemicam. Conuenit Aros" &c.—"Explicit Liber Mariæ sororis Moysi. 1603. per S. Forman." There are, in the latter MS., two copies of six Leonine verses at the end, (beg. Maria mira sonat.) which are not contained in the former MS., but are subjoined in this translation.—The last words of this translation are,—because they knowe not the vessell of Hermes. Immediately follows a prose piece, with this title,— “Verses in the ende thus translated. Marye yeldes a marvelous sounde.” f. 62.

6. BLOOMFIELD'S Blossoms; an alchemical poem, written in 1557; beg. When Phæbus was entred the signe of the Ramme. (65 st. of 7.) 62^b—7^b.

Ending where Robson's copy (in No. 1418, i. art. 8) ends, thus—“This worcke is compleat, Du gracias Deo. Finis.” See Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 319.

7. A poem of the making of gold by the Hermetic art; beg. I having experience of thinges worldlye. (36½ st. of 7.) 68—71.

The last line of this unfinished copy is—Yet we joyne together, that bothe we hit the pyrne. The title of this poem was unknown to Ashmole, (see f. 39c,) in whose Theatrum it is not contained. See No. 1445, viii. (B.)

8. Verses on the production of the stone; beg. Earthe, out of erthe, clensed pure. (6 couplets.) 72.

Printed from an older copy by Ashmole, (p. 354) at the end of the next article, with this note prefixed:—"In some copies I found these following verses set before this worke." On an interleaf before p. 277 of his own copy, (No. 972,) he has entered them from the end of a copy of Carpenter's Work.

9. A short poem of the work of the philosophers' stone; beg. I shewe you heer a shorte conclusion. (41 st. of 4.) 72.

Ending—"Increasing of or medycyne, elles huve we noughte. Finis." The 2 last lines of Ashmole's copy, (Theatrum, p. 352-4) seemingly from an older MS.) are here omitted.

10. An alchemical poem, on the preparing of the tincture; beg. Nowe, of this matter, to you moste cleere. (34 couplets.) 72^b—3^b.

Ending—"His grace to us therwithe he leave, To our soules heathe us to meave. Finis." Not in the Theatrum.

11. 'The Secrets of Philosophy,'* an alchemical poem; beg. Nowe shall I heer begynne, To teache thee a conclusion. (53 couplets.) 73^b—4.

* See line 101. Ending—"The blisse of heaven God bringe us to. Amen. Finis." This is the first of the 'anonymous' pieces printed by Ashmole, p. 344-7, from an older copy.

12. "An other conclusion. First calcyne, and after putrefie." (19 l.) 74^b.

Printed by Ashmole, at p. 433 of his Theatrum; but, in his own interleaved copy (No. 972), he has drawn his pen through all but the last 5 lines, noting that "This is in Riply's epistle pag: 115."

13. "An other conclusion. Take wynde, and water, white and greene." (18½ couplets.)* 74^b—5.

* Beside four lines of Latin after the fifth couplet, which have caused the division of this piece in some copies; as in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 431—2. It ends as there—"Reperitur ubique loculis (by waye) in everge streete. Finis."

14. "Conclusio. I shall you tell with hartie moode." (15 couplets.) f. 75^a.

This is the third anonymous piece in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 350—1, where it is printed from an older copy, but incorrectly; it ends here thus—"Amen, good Lord, for thy mercye. Finis."

15. "A treatize of THOMAS AQUINUS, concerning the philosophers stone. And first of bodies supercelestiall. Cap. 1. Aristotle in the firste of his Meteors saithe." 76—81^b.

Chapter ix. ends thus—"let theis suffice to have byne spoken of the myneralles. Laus Deo."

16. "Laus Deo. A tractat of THOMAS AQUINUS, geven to his brother Raynald in the arte of alchymie. Cap. 1. Being overcome (most deere brother) by your daicly requestes." 82—4^b.

Chapter 6 ends thus—by loosnge, calcinyng, and abydinge in other operacions of the great arte. It seems from the beginning that two chapters are wanting; 5 blank leaves follow.

17. "An introduction to the devyne arte of alchymie, written by the wise and lerned PETRUS BONUS Lombardus, Doct^r of phisicke in the citty of Ferrara. [Chap. i.] Howe alchymie is conteyned under naturall philosophye, and that the matter is one and invariable. Thus saithe Bonus of Ferrara (a phisitian), Things whiche have being reallye." 9c—8^b.

Ending thus—"who are utterly unworthy of soe good a gifte. Finis. Thus endethe the pretious newe pearle, published by Mr Petrus Bonus Lombardus phisician of Ferrara, introducing unto the dyvine arte of alchymie, compiled in the yeere—1330, in the citty of Pola in the province of Istria. Laudetur Deus."

Ashmole refers for the Latin text, thus—"vide Theatr. Chemic. vol. 5. fo: 567," (not his own book), and began on f. 99 an index of 'Authors cited by Petrus Bonus,' 30 whereof are collected on a paper now fixed there, which was found at f. 95^b, wherunto it reaches.

18. "A dialogue between Nature and a Disciple of Philosophic. Disciple. After that I had many yeeres wried my selfe wth labour infatigable." 100—6^b.

Ending—"And so fynnallye thou shalt fynde hyme (whiche is of mercye infinite) worthy of—glorye world withoute ende. Amen." For the author's name, see No. 1490, art. 1, at col. 1355.

19. "A dialogue betwene the Master and the Disciple. Disciple. Master, I praye you to informe me of errors of philosophic that I have had." 107—110^b.

Ending—"And that is that Geber saithe [etc.] when thou shalt caste but one upon un handrethe. See also No. 1490, art. 23.

20. "PLINIUS upon the philosophers stone. Heer begynneth the treatize wher Plinius the ph^rer openlye declarthe (that thinge) that is the philosophers stone, and of what matter it ought to be made. The wch stone" etc. 112—4.

This barefaced forgery ends thus—"he hath a treasure without comparason in this worlde, (except the true understanding of the true word of God) to whome be all prayse fore ever. Amen. Finis." See also No. 1442, i. art. 7.

21. 'A perfect booke of the stone:' beg. "Lege et iterum lege, quia est verum opus. Right deere freind ye shall understande (that two the worshipp of God) and for the more understanding and knowing of kinde." f. 115—9^b.

The title here given is the running title over the pages: it ends—"but it will take some ayer, and that is contrarye unto the stone etc. Finis."

22. "The epistle, or letter of Earle NICHOLAS. To you my trustie and welbelovd freindes I send greating, as to children of truth and lovers of this sweet science." 120—9.

The running title is, 'Earle Nicholas upon the stone.' It ends—"worlde without ende. Amen."

23. "Heer begynnethe the booke of the Rosarye of Phillosophers, and first the [23] names of suche as have byne artificers in this arte, as VINCENTIUS affirmethe in his booke intituled Speculum Naturale." 129^b.

- "The booke of the Rosarye of Phillosophers, most dilligentlve compiled and brought into one volume. They wch desier to have the most true knowledge (of the grater science) of the philosophicall arte." 130—171.

Ending—"A most precious and incomperable treasure, whiche God graunte to be hidden in their myndes whiche possess it, leaste it be made knowne to the foolishhe and ignoraunte, Amen. let every lving man saye. Finis." See the Latin text in No. 1426, i. art. 1.

On the back of the last leaf is pasted a drawing, well done with pen and ink, and shaded, which represents six men conversing, two of whom are kings. Twenty such pictures were pasted on the margins, against spaces left in the text of this article: but they have all been taken off.

24. "The Marrowe of Alkemye, written to the Archbisshopp of Yorke by GEORGE RIPLEY Channon of Bridlington, in the yere 1476 and xvijth yere of K. Edward the iijth. I being aboute to entreate to yor most excellent lordshipp of the secrettes of alkemye." 172—180.

Ending—"Nowe I praye God that your graecious lordshipp [etc.] and ever. Amen. Another translation of the Medulla Alchimie is in No. 1507, art. 3.

25. "The Concordaunce between Raymond and Guido, made by GEORGE RIPLEY. Raymond speaking of the ferment of the stone." 180^b—1^b.

Ending—"above all the potions or drinckes of Hippocrates or Galen.

26. "The most excellent and true booke of the ph'ers stone, [which was] compiled by Allamentæ Lord BERNARD Earle of the marsches of TREVIERs in Germaune, and was dedicated to the noble Doctor Thomas of Bononye, governour of France, and philosopher most learned, the 12 of Maij 1453. The preface. To the ende that all true searchers of this noble science and arte may be withdrawen from comon errors." 182—196.

It ends thus—"and be myndfull of the poore (when as ye shall obtayne this infymite treasure) Praye unto God who will teache you further. Finis." Ashmole has noted that this is a translation of "TREVISANUS de chimico miraculo:" and the three following pieces are subjoined in his handwriting.

- (1.) A mysterious fragment, beg. The more is called of all things the first matter. f. 196^a.

The 8th line ends—moder of y^e sonne.

- (2.) An hypocritical apology for alchemieal obscurity: beg. Truth y^t everlasteth may not lye. Gods son incarnate—did here shew and teach to the people many things in parabols. 196^b—7.

Ending—"Wherefore I counsell all men to be ware how— they medle with this science, lest they be cast out of the number of [those whom] God will have saved. unde ut prius elegerunt bonos in vasa sua, malos autem foras miserunt.

- (3.) STOCKWELL'S Poem on the hiding of the elixir by Nature: beg. Why take you so much toyle to finde me out. (4 st. of 7.) 197^b.

Ending—"That holdes all is, and all that ever was. Finis. Stockwell of Cambridge."

Part III. Historical or Statistical documents, collected by EDWARD BARLOWE.

1. "The names of all the Shippes through the realme of England, above a houndrethe tonnes, according to the viewe taken an^o. 1575, wth the number of Topmen under 100 tonnes." 199—200.

2. Table of "Musters taken in an^o. 1574," showing the number* of able and armed men through-out England. 201^{ab}.

* Total, 1,172,674.

3. "An abstracte of the valuation of all the landes belonging to any Religious Housse in Englande [and Wales], taken out of the Records of the First Frutes and Tenthes." 202—11^b.

In counties alphabetically arranged.

4. "The valnacōn of all the Bisshoppes severall lyvinges in England" and Wales. 212^a.

Different from that printed in Godwin, p. 800 of Richardson's edition in folio.

5. "The number* of Churches wthin everie shire in Englande." 212^b.

* Total, 8,898.

6. "The names of her Maiesties Shipes, and [the] borden" of each: 27 in number. 212^b.

7. "The names of all the Courtes in whiche the causes and controversies of this realme are adjudged and ended." 213^{ab}.

8. "The placing of great Officers, according to the acte of Parliament an^o. 21^o H^{ci}. 8^o." Also the titles of "Noblemen according to their ancienties and degrees," (from the Marq. of Winchester to Lord Norris); and "The placing of estates of Nobilitie." 214—5.

9. "A Catalogue of all my Bookes, wth their rates, as they are rially worthe. the 20th of Februarye 1589. E. B." f. 215^b—8.

This list contains 145 titles of books in folio and quarto, and 'Divinitie bookes in English;' also 27 curious articles of "Historye, bookes, newes, and suche like," and an account of Edward Barlowe's own MSS.

10. An Index of the names of Patients, contained in the book of Prescriptions*. 230—253.

* Part i. of this MS. Much of the space, left for this index, is vacant.

- ¶ (1.) Descriptio et virtutes lapidis qui bezoar nuncupatur: inc. Lapis bezaar est lapis multe bonitatis mollis tractu mollicie sine superfuitate. *253.

This seems to be a translated extract from an Arabic work, in which are cited the authorities of 'Abdalla,' 'Zaradest rex Persarum,' and 'Haamel.' The last words are—luna existente in scorpione quod tritum exhibe patienti ad potandum et evadunt. 253^b.

- (2.) "Item notandum de natura lapidis bezaar secundum alios. Hager ab bezaar .i. lapis libertatis a venenis ut tiriaca. Albezaar est nomen Persicum, et est expellens nocumentum." *253^b.

This last paragraph is also contained in the foregoing part—"Abdalla auarach. Vidi lapidem bezaar filijs Almira Mawmum custoditoris legis Dei. Et est verum quod ipse emit hunc lapidem et dedit pro precio ipsius palacium Cordube in principio guerre."

- (3.) "SOLINUS libro 2^o de corallo dicit. Ligusticum mare frutices procreat—et fulminibus affirmat." *253^b.

This leaf of vellum (fixed between ff. 253—4) has been cut out of a neatly written MS. of the XVth century. The last piece is a short passage written in an antient but less neat hand, to fill up the second page.

No. 1488.

This folio volume consists of one book and a large collection of papers, all written (except some of the latter) by old Mr. Napier: the book is pagged by the same hand as the index-sheet prefixed; but Ashmole, in continuing the numbers, having made great mistakes, the papers are now foliated below with red ink.

Sir RICHARD NAPIER's Index of matters contained in the first 154 pages of his uncle's book, which follows. (pp. 3.)

- I. A book of Medical Prescriptions and of various remedies, medical observations and secrets, collected by RICHARD NAPIER, M. A. Rector of Linford. pp. 3—288.

The first leaf is wanting, and some pages are vacant, as pp. 70—7, 182—9, 224—33. The contents of this MS. are not so miscellaneous as those of the second volume, No. 1473: the following articles are all that are not comprized in the general title, or that are considerable.

- (1.) "Experimentum de sylphis" (i. e. fairies), "An experiment for theft," and other magical pieces. p. 240—5, 256—62.
- (2.) "The nipt broath prescribed by D. Mayerne the king[s] principall physitian." p. 267.

- (3.) "D. Weston's pills." p. 279.

(4.) "A cooling hynding and healing playster of Mr Barnard." p. 283.

(5.) About the 'kidneys' or medicinal stones, sold by "Edward Delves at the signe of the Marmayd in Lombard streete in London." p. 285.

(6.) A receipt "for the shaking palsy," used by "the old Lady Bouth." p. 285.

II. Miscellaneous papers, relating to NAPIER's medical and astrological practice; the principal of which are mentioned below: viz.

"A direction for the right wor^{ll} and our mutch honoured frind Doctor Hakewell." f. 1—2.

Medical instructions and prescriptions, set down "Novemb: 18. 1606. For my Lorde." 3^{ab}.

NAPIER's copy of his own letter to Mr. Burton, about medicines sent therewith for some 'gentlewoman:' signed 'Richardus Sandie, Linfordiensis.' (15 Oct. 1604.) 4^{ab}.

Notes of the cases of M^{rs}es Katheren Robynson, and Elis. Robynson, with a figure set thereon. (28 Nov. 1606.) 6^a.

"Gallen's pill, for wch he willeth every physition to take his fee before hand. D. Willohe." Also notes of Mr. Harryson's case. 8^{ab}.

Notes of Lady Mydleton's case, and various memoranda and recipes. 9—10^b.

Ashmole remarks that "These two following leaves should be placed at the end of Dr. Napier's Diary for the year 1628." (f. 9^a.)

"Ways to descrye witchry." (Curious.) 15^b.

"A note of directions for the noble lady Magdalen Egerton, May 14th. 1633." Also "for the lady Al[j]ce." 16—17^b.

The following memorandum*; and a figure set the same day for Samuel Maunsell. 21^b.

* "Doctor Dee & I met at dynner, at Mr Stapers howse, July 2. (i. hor. 12. 40. p. m. 1604. Doctr Dee intreated for Raymond Lullye. He shewed me a litle booke of on[e] Hooger, of transmutation of mettals wrought by a noble Scot, relating diverse exsamples of y^t Scot, and of his transmutation of mettals."

Figures set for M^{rs}es. Ellen Neale, and Mr. Maunsell. (1602.) 22^b.

Figures, set on different occasions, chiefly relative to medical consultations. 23^b, 25^b, 26^{ab}, 64^b, 70^b, &c.

Remedies by "Sr Will. Androwes agaynst melancholy, most excellent." 29^a.

Written by a different hand, thus headed by Napier.

A detailed account of "What fitts my sonn Anthony* had, since his comminge from Linford, xvijth of July 1628." 30^a.

* "Mr Auth: King." (Ashmole's note.)

Directions "For Mr. Dunckom of Broughton." 32^a.

"The verteues of thes moste good and presyous oyelle, ore ballme, called treagvican, often tymes proved by maynye persones." By ROBSON. 33^b.

"Syrupus metallicus," by GRAVIUS; "For the same," by NAPIER; "Contra scorbutum, for my Lady Bannister," by GRAVIUS; and remedies "For Alderman Moulsho his wife, of London,"* and "Mr. Robert Naper† of Dorsetshire, 60 y. for dymnes of sight and sorenes of his eyes," by Sir RICH. NAPIER. (1633.) f. 34^{ab}.

* See also f. 39.

† Called by old Napier, "My cosen Robert Naper," at f. 36. The above are all written on one leaf.

Account of the case of a woman, said by "one goodman Okins of Cambridge" to be bewitched. 35^a.

By an unknown hand.

"A moste costly precious baulme, to cure all freshe woundes in iij. dayes." By FORMAN. 37^a.

Draught of a letter from old Napier to some honorable person, about changing his course of physic. 40^{ab}.

Alchemical notes, apparently written by one "Herre Clidero," in June 1562. ff. 42, 49.

"A direction for Mrs. Maudlyn Williams," by NAPIER. 45^a.

Letter from GRACE RICHARDSON, affectionately written to her "most worthyest uncle" Mr. Napier, about medicines, family affairs, and news. (Southwark, 14 Feb. 1632.) 46^a.

Ingredients of "Aqua rosæ solis," by FORMAN; also of the "Sweete water that I made 1596, the 18 June." 47^a, 47^b.

"A cordial jelly for the consumption. Take a red cock—and smoocher him." etc. 50^a.

This and the two next papers (ff. 51, 52,) are by unknown hands.

Secreta varia astrologica, NAPERI. 60—62, 67—68^b.

Letter to his "lovinge and very good frend Mr Sandy, [Napier,] at his housse in Great Linford," from THOMAS WHITE, about drugs sent therewith. (14 June 1600.) 65^a, 66^b.

*NAPIER's directions, "To make a salve y^t healeth though a man be 30 miles of.†—To make an oyle y^t a man shall sleepe exceedingly y^t taketh it.—To make a water y^t when you wet iron therewith, it breaketh the iron as wood.—A pound being made will presently burne.—To make letters of gold.—To prepare silver to write.—To make blew inck.—To make water in the sommer to be full of ice." 73^{ab}.

† Apparently the original of Sir Kenelm Digby's celebrated "powder of sympathy." Its virtue far exceeded brave Orin's — "strange Hermetic powder,

That wounds nine miles point blank would solder."

(Hudibras, part i. canto t.)

Letter from JOHN MAUNSELL, to his "good freind Mr Sandy" at Linford, about his son. (Haversham, 23 Oct. 1599.) With notes by NAPIER and ROBSON on the back. 74^a, 74^b.

Letter from Jo. BIRD to his "verie loving frend Mr Richard Sandie," then going to London; requesting him to visit his brother Persivall in Aldersgate street, and to buy "7 or 8 knots of treble stringes for the lute;" and mentioning "Mr Soper y^t teacheth Mr Evingtons daughters on the virginals." (Haversham, 29 Oct. [1599?]) With many medical and astrological notes by NAPIER. f. 82^b—81^a.

A very curious letter from SIMON FORMAN "to his especielle good friend Mr Richard Sandy at Greate Lynford." (London, 8 March,) 89^a, 90^b.

The signature is torn off.

Magical notes &c., by both NAPIER and FORMAN. 91—2^b.

Memoranda of medical cases, and various matters, by NAPIER. (1598.) 112—9^b.

Napier's remedies "for Mr Leach of Exeter Colledge." 124^a, 122^a.

Remedies and chemical directions, by different hands. 126, 127, 128, 140^{cd}.

Questions resolved by geomantical figures. 138—140

NAPIER's lists of plasters, oils, electuaries, and other medicaments, used in his practice. 141—150.

No. 1489.

A folio volume, consisting of four MSS. on paper, beside that part which contains the Index, and some papers at the end. The first, second, and third were written by the same hand, at different times, and on differently sized paper: the fourth is by an other hand, of the same age. They are paged throughout, in one series of figures, beginning with '49;' whereby it appears that there was originally an other book, bound with them, before they fell into the hands of Ashmole's binder. The third MS. is damaged at the top by an acid.

On the last page of four blank leaves belonging to the first MS. is the following autograph note:—"This booke belonged to Mr: Richard Saunders the astrologian, and was much valued by him. I bought it of his son, after his death. E. ASHMOLE" But it does not appear that Saunders was the writer or compiler.

I. A collection of '704' Remedies and Medical Prescriptions, with the uses thereof, and the methods of treatment for the cure of numerous diseases: beg. "1. The oyle of one called ASARTIO, a Spaniard. 2* of the leaves of card. benedictus." pp. 49—278.

* This character occurs for R. in the first MS. only. The last receipt is, "704. To draw a fellon out of the head, and avoyd him beneath." One blank leaf follows.

II. 1. A collection of numerous Remedies, briefly set down. (pp. 1—148.) pp. 279—425.

2. The medical uses "Of waters distilled" from sundry plants and flowers; beginning with "Acetosa. Sorrell." (pp. 148—153.) pp. 425—430.

To which is added, by the hand of Saunders,—

3. A direction "To remedy the grieft or griping of y^e lungs and belly." (p. 153.) p. 430.

The next leaf is blank.

III. A collection of Remedies for various diseases, and directions for the making of various Medicines and Confections. pp. 431—563.

The first is, "To stay bleeding at the nose." At p. 456 is an opinion of Dr. Blacksmith, about the stone. Three directions for making thick and thin cheese, are at pp. 457—8. "A receipt to make meathe," (different from mead), pp. 556—8. The last article is, "Doctor Hantons purge for malecholy." p. 562—3.

Two blank leaves interrupt the paging; on one of which is the following title, written by Saunders,—

IV. "An excellent book of Physicall Receipts;" apparently compiled from the writings of Dr. MATTHEW BARRETT: * beginning thus:— "Certaine rules of Phisick. A pretious powder for a webb in the eye. Take 2 drames of thuyte preparat." pp. 564—606.

* After the sixth remedy for the eyes, on the first page, is this note:—"This booke made by Matthew Barrett 1626;" Then follow notices of the 'perelous dayes' and 'good dayes,' and remedies for various diseases. At p. 595, again, is noted: "This booke made in the year 1626, per Mathew Barrett Doc. ett [sic] Medicus." His name also occurs at the end of remedies, at pp. 594, 599, 602, 605, 606: but the writing is evidently that of a mere copyist. On the back of the last page, Saunders notes, "This I have writ out word by word in another tract."

V. Alphabetical Index to all the remedies contained in the foregoing collections. pp. 1—54.

VI. 1. Directions for the composition of two medicines, signed "AN[X] CADEMAN:" the latter being an "oyle, good for all soares, aches, a weake back, goute, emerodes &c." p. 63.

On the back is a note of the bishopricks holden by the "Arch-bishop of Spallatte," (Spalato?) by the same lady's hand.

2. "Instruccõs for the preservacõn of health," apparently for some old man; written by ANN CADEMAN. p. 65.

This paper is directed by a contemporary hand, on the back, "Al molto ille sigre il signor. Tomaso Camden, a Padua;" and there is an other direction below it, in a foreign hand, "Alli mageo SSr Jan Pietro e Gillio Vande Put, in Venetia." The title indorsed seems to be by Ashmole; who, in his alternate paging, has skipt from '65' to '167.'

3. Three Remedies:—1 and 3, "For redenes in the fayce."—2, "To clense and claryfy the skyne in y^e handes, in the face, or other parte of the body." p. 167.

By a hand of the XVth or XVIth century. On the back are various old household notes, by a woman's hand, of the time of James I.

4. "Mr Millingtons.....for the pox." p. 169.

An original prescription, subscribed as above: of the time of Elizabeth or James I.

5. The composition and abundant virtues of "A spiciall good powther to strengthen the memorie." p. 171.

Well written by a woman's hand, of the same time.

6. Directions for the making of a diet-drink. p. 173.

By the hand of R. Saunders, apparently.

7. The following curious experiments, written by ASHMOLE:—

"To make all collo^{rs} of silks, wch be stained, to come to their first collo^r againe."

"How to take out oyle spots out of parchm^t or writing paper."

"Anoth^r way to take spots out of paper."

"To renue old worne Pres."*

"To make staunch graine, or a powder to amend the parchm^t and to receive inke." p. 175.

* This is the gall-water, that hath spoiled many precious MSS. and records.

No. 1490.

A large folio volume, consisting of several quires of uncut paper bound together, whereof ff. 27—153 are larger, and ff. 154—347 are of somewhat smaller sizes. They appear to have been gathered by Ashmole; whose binder has placed some MSS. and papers at both ends, which have little or no relation to the general collection: they are here distinguished by letters of the alphabet, from the articles in Forman's handwriting.

(A) 1. "To drawe the water of vitrioll, and to find the gren lyone.* Take j.li. of vitriol and grynde." (pp. 1, 2.) f. 2^{ab}.

* This title is superscribed by Forman: but the article seems to be by the same hand as the Italian pieces which follow. Ending—"as ye did in the whyte way etc. Laus Deo."

2. "Zifra:" the method of inventing and using a cypher, for letters, with examples; in Italian. (p. 7.) f. 5^a.

3. "Per far bevanda.—Alio modo meglioire.— Multiplicatio croci.—Olio de cera che vale ad ogni deglia et ferite." (p. 8.) f. 5^b.

These Italian receipts are written on the back of the sheet, invertedly; and seem to be cancelled.

(B). LULLII (ut videtur) scriptiuncula, quæ inc. Tu in virtute Dei A. accipe aurum, et projice ipsum in aqua vegetabili, de qua loquuti sumus in nostro Codicillo. (p. 3—6.) f. 3—4^b.

Des.—Require plus de isto tractatu, quia ut mihi visum est, deficiunt due operationes secundarie cum suis operationibus. A fair transcript, in a set Italic hand of the XVIth century; on a sheet of paper bound within sheet (A).

(C). "Ac[c]jurtationes et Pra[c]tica RAYMONDI" LULLII, Anglice: inc. In the beginning ye shall understande that olde philosphers agreed. (p. 9, 10.) f. 6^{ab}.

Ending unfinished, in the second page. Written in a small old English hand, of the XVIth century.

(D). A tract, in English, "De lapyde phylosofico. When sol ys in Aries and Phebus shyning bryghte." (p. 13—18.) f. 8—10^b.

This MS. is written in an Anglo-Italian hand; but the ink is so pale, that it is hardly legible; and Forman has written over again great part of the first page. It seems to be verse written as prose. Compare Ripley's "Mystery of Alchymists," in Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 380—88, which begins in the same manner.

(E). An epistle concerning the Hermetic philosophy, in Italian: addressed thus, "Molto mag^{co} et honor. S^r mio." (p. 21—25.) f. 12—14.

The draught or corrected copy, well written by the same hand as (A) and (F).

(F) 1. Tractatus alchemicus, cui titulus "Apocalypsis Spiritus Secreti. Hermes, Plato, Aristoteles, et ceteri philosophi per tempora preterita florentes." (ff. '2—4.?) f. 15—17.

Des.—Sic completum est hoc opus prestantissimum, atque excellentissimum opus, dictum Apocalypsis Spiritus Secreti, in quo universa secreta et archana hujus mundi latent. Sequuntur tres versus, (Spiritus autem numen, etc.); et, Formanni annotatio quædam.

2. Quædam Italice scripta, de simili materia: inc. Inanci che io dio principio. f. 17^b.

Apparently a cancelled introduction to the following article.

3. Tractatus alchemicus, octo capitula præter proemium habens: inc. Adunque per dar principio a questo negocio. (ff. '5—13.?) f. 18—26^b.

It seems to be a draught or corrected copy, ending thus:—quale sia laudato per infinita secula seculorum. Amen. A cancelled note or passage follows.

A collection of transcripts, translations, and extracts, of antient Alchemical Treatises, written by Dr. SIMON FORMAN; together with many of his own notes and observations: viz.—

1. "A dialogue of EGIDIUS DEVADIUS, betwene Nature and the Disciple of Philosophie, of the serching out of the ph^{ors} stone. After that I had many yeares wcried my selfe wth labour insatiabile." (p. 1—12.) f. 28—36^b.

Ending—"wordle wth out end Amen. Finis 1592. March the 23. Ț. Writen out by me Simon Forman, practiser in phisique chirurgery and astronomy, and sercher of the secretes of nature for the ph^{ors} stone. Finis." (Many articles in this volume have similar colophons, of which the substance only is here set down.) See also No. 1487, part ii. art. 18.

2. "Notes, de lapide philosophico, out of EGIDIUS DEVADIUS." (p. 15.) f. 38^a.

3. "Optima sublimatio mercurij." Also three other experiments in English. (p. 17.) f. 39^a.

4. "Dieta philosophorum de lapide philosophorum; and their conclusions on the stone. In Speculo dicitur." (p. 19—21.) f. 40—1.

5. "In the name of God amen. Anno Domini 1456. M^r ROBERT FRIMITOR, otherwise called in Englishe BARKARBORNE in Sudfoke at Bungoy, begane this lyttle bocke, the w^c is a treasure above treasures [etc.] This bocke I begine the 5 degre of the sonn entringe into the signe of Scorpio." (p. 23—29.) f. 42—5.

It contains sayings of divers Philosophers only: ending thus,—"through his s^{re}te grace and his great mercie Cui [etc.] Amen. Noviter scriptum verbatim per Simonem Forman. 1592. March 9." There follow two additional pieces: viz.—

(1.) By this same craftte wroughte all the ph^{ors} etc. f. 45^a.

(2.) "BARKARBORNE. Lotio sive purgatio mercurij. In tractatu quem Compendium Utile vocat, alias Liliun, sic incipit, Compendium utile, desiderabile desiderium etc. Accipe argenti vivi." f. 45^a.

6. "Tractatus de mercurio ipso;" an English poem, beg. I am Mercury, the mighti flos florum. (78 lines.) f. 46^{ab}.

Ending—"And thou shalt find me worth many a pound. Finis." See No. 1441, ii. art. 5, 7, and No. 1480, i. art. 45.

7. "Versus Aros," tetrastichon, inc. Si volucrem capias: eum commentariolo, inc. Toties quoties fue fixum fugientem. f. 46^b—7.

8. Verses on the words which "GEBER of Spain* saith. Take the clear lighte, The red gum that shineth bryghte." (47 lines.) f. 47^a.

* The words "of Spain" are part of the first line in some copies, as noticed by Ashmole, in his notes to the Theatrum, p. 473—4. Compare No. 1478, i. art. 3. The present copy of 'CARPENTER'S Work' ends thus,—"who soe ever findes him might have grace. Finis."

9. Verses ascribed to "ARNOLD of the NEWTOUNE, on the great elixar. The ayeri blod of the berry red." (42 lines.) f. 47^{ab}.

Ending—"And here endeth all our philosophi. Amen. Finis, quod Arnoldus." See also No. 208, f. 102^b—3, and No. 1445, v. art. 6.

10. De novem modis requisitis in opere alchemico, scil. ablutione, calcinatione, etc.: inc. Novem sunt modi. (p. 37—43.) f. 49—50^b, 52^a.

11. Liber Ebenius, seu "Opus de argento vivo solo. In nomine sancti et individui [sic] trinitatis amen. Scito fili quod multos libros tibi scripsi de hac scientia." (p. 45—8.) f. 53—4^b.

Des.—"preliare contra ignem. Laus Deo perhinnis amen. Explicit liber Ebenius." Forsan proprie dictus Athenius, prout alii Aurei dicuntur.

12. Quædam "De ponderibus," excerpta (ut videntur) ex opusculo, mensibus Oct. et Nov. anni 1487 conscripto: inc. Doctrinu generalis omnis simplicis potestatis. (p. 49.) f. 55^a.

13. "De rotatione rerum elementar. scriptum per SIMONEM FORMAN, 1593. ultima die Decembris," Anglice. (p. 51—2.) f. 56^{ab}.

14. "Incipit liber de ANAXAGORE [sic], conversionis naturalis. Nomina solerti indugine universarum rerum artificia." (p. 53—62.) f. 57—61^b.

Des.—"cum opus lune incipere inchoares. Explicit Theorica, vel pars practica libri Anaxagoras [sic] de conversionibus naturalibus, qui dicitur Perfectum Magisterium. Laus Deo. Copied out of Doctor Turners bocke, 1593, the 10 of Februarie, by Simon Forman" etc.

15. Twelve rules "Pro opere majore. First separ[a]te youre ☉ from all other mettalls puer." (p. 63.) f. 62.
16. "To know the 6 sulfurs of mettalls, and howe to find them in their mines, and to knowe the mine by the sulfur. Mars: the sulfur of mars is blacknesse." f. 62^{ab}.
- Forman adds, at the end, that these sulphurs were wont to be sold in apothecaries' shops till lately, etc.
17. "Incipit tractatus intitulus Medulla Alkimie, honorando patri et domino, domino &c. compilatus &c." GEORGI RIPLEI scilicet; cuius prefatio metrica sic inc. Hec meū preclare presul dictamina cure. (p. 71—88.) f. 66—74^b.
- In fine—"in universis donis suis benedictus. Explicit tractatus, Medulla Alkimie dictus, per GEORGIUM RIPLEY compilatus, anno Domini 1476. And nowe out copied truly by me Simon Forman, anno 1593," (etc) ♀ 19 Feb. 35 Eliz.
18. "Notes out of ANAXAGORAS de conversione naturali," in English and Latin. (p. 88.) f. 74^b.
19. An unfinished Glossary of the names of metals: beg. "Alutia. gouldc ore." (p. 89.) f. 75^a.
- By FORMAN: only letters A—C are done.
20. Characters used by chemists, for Vitrioll, Al-lom, and six other substances. f. 76^b.
21. "Tabula alpha[bc]tica, sive charactera sign. quam term. et verborum, et numerum." (p. 93.) f. 77^a.
- Very curious characters for alchemical terms, with the above barbarous title: on the other side (77^b) is a table of alphabets, probably for the construction of cyphers.
22. Four chapters: the first thus intitled, "To calcine ☉, and to bring it into ♀ and oylle. Cap. primo.* R' of ☉ the finest." (p. 95—99.†) f. 78—80.
- * Here Napier has noted, "R. did all allowe this." See also at f. 89.
- † Here ends the first pagination of this volume.
23. Dialogue between "Scoller and Master." Master, I pray youe enform me of the errors in philosophic that I have had, totchinge this stoue of philosophers." (p. 15—21.) f. 81—84.
- Ending—"thou shalte caste x. upon a C. Finis Deo gratias. 1585." See also No. 1487, part ii. art. 19; and No. 1493, art. 11.
24. A short instruction: beg. To all that wilbe perfecte in this scyence, let his medisen be gum-mich and lighte of fusion. f. 84^a.
- Ending—"menstruc as is aforsaid. Finis."
25. "Termes pertainginge unto the scyence of alkamy, here set in order, by the whiche youe shall the more perfectlyer knowe when yo^r worke is finished. Firste of dissolution. Firste yor matter muste be dissolved." (p. 22—6.) f. 84^b—86^b.
26. "Secreta Secretorum. Moryenus the philosopher saith, that the makinge of or mastery is lykned unto the makinge of man." (p. 27—8.) f. 87.
- Ending—"That is the beste thinge that alcamistes can take to make sol. Finis Forman. 1585. Julij 25."
27. "The wholl effecte in hriife of this bock.* Whie is not this science found in other vegitable things." (p. 29.) 88^a.
- * The references on this page are to the folios (or rather pages) of the preceding articles, 23—26.
28. Receipts, for "The medison Egiuke Tirnelly [?] gave to his frind," and "To turne ♀ into ☉ good in proffe." (p. 31.) Also three other experiments. f. 89^{ab}.
- With notes by R. Napier.
29. "To make gould multiplied soe fine as the totche of Parris;" and 16 other chemical and alchemical experiments. (p. 16—20.) f. 90—92.
30. Directions to make 12 different kinds of 'waters,' used by alchemists: of which the first is "Aqua rubea. R' the yolkes of egs." (p. 20.) f. 92^{ab}.
- Three of them have the name of William Fraunces, at the end; and there is this colophon: "Explicit Liber duodecim Aquarum tractat' de libris magistri ROGERI BACON. Scriptum per S. Forman. 1585." There is no leaf between this paged '20,' and one paged '26.'
31. A translation (as it seems) of the Semita Recta of ALBERTUS MAGNUS: beg. "Hic Incipit. Thou shalte wit ther be 7 bodies that is to wit gould." (p. 26—33.) f. 93, 98—100^b.
- This collection of directions and experiments ends thus:—"and it shallbe better then any mineralle to all assaies, and duer for ever without end. Explicit Semita Recta Alkenie ALBERTI."
32. Quædam ex ALBERTO MAGNO ('fo. 84.') "De Sulphure. Sulphur est pinguedo terra." (p. 34.) f. 101^a.
33. Directions "To blanch a dish or trencher of copper or tine, and make him loke as fair as any silver;" and "To make righte vitriall Romain, pro opere." f. 101^b.
34. (1.) "To calcinat ☉, or take out the quintessence of gould." f. 94.
- With a reference also to Nomenclatura lapidis philosophici, at 'fo. 267' of some book.
- (2.) "The science to knowe and to bringe quicksilver sublimed in of qui[n]tessens," etc. f. 94—5.
- (3.) "To make ignem adeptum, that is, a fier wth out colle or flam of lighte, workinge against al accions of visible fier, right as the fier of hell. The vertu wherof cannot be declared." f. 95^a.
- (4.) "A true congelation of ♀. Taken out of Sr JOHN BARTLEWES knight, his boocke; whoe dyed at Flushing, coming home from out of the este, wher he had bin to learne this arte. Take led well purged." f. 95^b.

- (5.) "A more excelent congelation of ☿." f. 95^b.
 (6.) "A fine worke. R' d^b. of ☿ purged." f. 96^{ab}.

Ending—"And all shalbe fixed etc. Finis hujus operis."

- (7.) "The shorte elixar of St. THOMAS DE AQUINO. In ye name [etc.] Take on pound of the mine-ralle stone." f. 97^{ab}.

Ending—"And this is the shortest and richest work that is."

- (8.) "Off the ph'irs water of mighte. Take ij^{li}. of ☿ sub. as you knowe." f. 97^b.

These pieces are written on four leaves of smaller paper, improperly fixed between ff. 93, 98: they are foliated '1, 2, 3, 5.'

35. Libellus pseudo-propheticus, cui titulus "Incipit Prophetia SIBILLE. Sybille generaliter omnes femine dicuntur prophetantes, que ob divinam voluntatem hominibus interpretari et ventura prenuntiare solebant." (ff. 1—5.) f. 102—106.

Relating to Christ, to the Jews, to the conversion of the nations, antichrist, etc. It was transcribed by Forman from an ancient MS., the pages and character of which are imitated in the copy; and there are curious marginal notes by him. It concludes with 27 Sibylline verses, beg. Judicij signum, tellus sudore madescet; after which are seven versicles of scripture; with the last of which it ends thus:—"Et ipsi regnabunt cum illo in secula seculorum. Amen. Explicit Prophetia Sibille."

36. "Precacio quæ sequebatur" prophetiam Sibyl-læ; seu, psalmus pseudo-propheticus, inc. Illuminet Dominus vultum suum super nos. f. 106^{ab}.

Des.—Et dixerunt pax est atque securitas. Vale. Thus far copied by Forman from the ancient MS.

37. "Prophecies found engraven in a marble stone of 8 cubits in breadth and 12 in length in St Dennis churchyard in Parris, in France, in Ebrue letters, beinge plucked downe by the commaundement of the magistrates, and was expounded by certain lerned doctors in this sorte. 1591. Navare" etc. f. 106^b.

There is a line or two for every year from 1591 to 1600, in which tenth year the world was to "com to an end." Forman says, "This was truli translated out of Portugall into Englishe, the 6 of Julij 1591, and nowe laste copied by S. F. the 16 of Auguste 1591." The following short pieces are added:—

Prophecy: beg. When the beare is musted. (Imperfect.) ib.

How the prophecy of the raven breeding in the eagle's nest was fulfilled, at Whitehall, in 1591. ib.

The scarceness of "ashen kayes," in 1591, as in the year when Henry VIII. died. ib.

38. Quædam "De vitriolo. Vytriolum est medium mineralè." f. 107^a.

"Ex Ligno Vite, fo. 16."

39. A book of the elixir, and of the various substances used by alchemists; including divers receipts and directions: beg. "Elixar what it is.

Elixar is a name of Arabie, in Lattin fermentum." (p. 4.) f. 108—9^b.

The 21st rubric is, "To sublime sal armoniacke." At the foot of the page is written, "Loke de substantia ignis, alio loco." Two leaves (pp. 5—8) here seem to be wanting; and the next article seems to be a continuation of this.

40. Receipt for "Py]grimes poudere to make sol," (beg. Take red vitriol); and ten other receipts or experiments. (p. 9—11.) f. 110—1.

41. Planetarum nomina, et quæ metalla significant. f. 111^b.

42. Description and magical uses "Off the herbe lunarye. This herbe." ib.

43. Notabilia quædam, "Ad sciendum lapidem, ex quo philosophi faciunt lapidem philosophicum" (etc.), excerpta e 'Ludo puerorum, fo. 188,' Rogero Bacon, Arnolde de Nova Villa, Riplæo,* 'Rosario Philosophorum, fo. 235,' et 'Joh. [de] Rupescissa de confectione veri lapidis philosophorum, fo. 226.' (p. 40—43.) f. 112—3^b.

* These passages, in English verse, occur again at ff. 116, 125.

44. GEORGE RIPLEY'S Compend of Alchemy:—the title, "Heare beginne the Bock off Alcamie, And the Compounde therof made by a Channon of Briglington," (etc.)* the 'Prologus,' and the 'Preffatio.' f. 114—5^b.

- "RYPLA, prohemium. In the beginnunge, when God made all of naughte." With marginal notes by FORMAN. (f. 1—21^b.) f. 116—136^b.

* The title consists of 15 irregular verses, of which these two are the first. (Compare Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 108: 'the epistle,' pp. 109—116, is omitted in this copy.) Then, "Incipit prologus. Childe of this discipline incline to [me] thyn care." This This copy has the rubrics imitated from an older MS.; and ends thus:—"Which he in his kingdom us graunt for to see. Amen. Explicit tractatus phi'e qui vocatur Alkamie. Anno 1472. 1520. And laste newe written by Simon Forman 1584. the 31 of Decembr. 4." etc.

45. What is said by "NORTON of magnesia," (Plato knewe etc.) and an extract in Latin from "Rosarius Minor, cap. 1. fo. 231." f. 137^a.

46. "Howe thou shalte nip and shut up thi glas, so close that no ayer shall goe in nor out." ib.

Mentioning "the glassmongers in Launbard strete, in Fish stret, and in Saint Martins."

47. Quædam "De quatuor elementis et eorundem qualitatibus, et in se invicem permix[t]ionibus; ex CORNELIJ AGRIP[P]Æ cap. 3^o. et alij[s] philosophorum, select. et collect. per SIMONEM FORMAN." f. 138—9^b.

48. A dialogue of the philosophers' stone, between a 'Master' and 'Sonne:' beg. In the name of God. Amen. My lovinge chila knowe thou this, that the sprite of the Lord was borne upon the waters before ye creation of heaven and earth. (f. 30, 31.) f. 140—1^b.

Ending—"or acetum philosophorum. And this is the true multiplication. Finis."

49. (1.) Fragment of PEARCE the Black Monk; beg. For it is made most perfectly. (f. 32.) f. 142.

Irregular verse, written as prose; and ending—Nowe have youe hard the makinge of or stone, begininge and endinge and all is one. See the next piece, and art. 42, by which it appears that the MS. from which artt. 48—52 were copied, was defective.

- (2.) A different text of the same piece, here called "Another MARIA. Take earthe of earthe, earthe is brother: And water of carth that is another." f. 142^{ab}.

Written as prose, and ending—Bodie of bodie, and lighte of lighte. A short semi-prose passage follows; and then the following pieces:—

- (3.) Verses: beg. All saltcs and sulphurs fare and nere, I enterdite them all. f. 142^b.

Written as prose; ending—And praie to God to be thy good speed.

- (4.) Verses; (beg. In arsnick sublimed a waie ther is streighte;) including the words of "my gentill daughter Megg," which begin, I am Mercury, mighty flos florum. f. 142^b—3.

Apparently ending—This may be called Gods pryvitie. For what follows (beg.—Then the earthe shall turne red, and ending—dissayvable to mans body,) is plain prose.

50. "In the vertue of allmighiti God, Jesu Xpist, here beginneth the great and royall worke of the Quintessence of Mercury, thorowe the inclusinge of M^r ARNOLD of NEWTOWNE.* In so muche that as the body is great and the sprite subtil." (f. 33^b—38^b.) f. 143^b—8^b.

* "Arnoldus de Nova Villa," as superscribed by Forman. Ending—And ther ye shall find yt ye desier. Finis hujus operis, scriptum ex veteri lib. per Simonem Forman 1585. Feb. 13. ☉."

51. "The waie to multiplie your matter or medicine. Take halfe your foresaid white substauce." f. 148^b—9.

Forman has prefixed the following: "This note and waie to multiplie was written in the fore end of the bocke abovesaid and the rest was cut awaie." From the MS. here meant, Forman seems to have copied artt. 48—52; in all which the rubrics, and the obscurities in this article, are imitated from the MS.

52. Directions "To drawe forthe the 9th beinge of antimonie, or markasite of led. God of heaven I take to witnes, that nowe I shall showe to thee a great secrete and privitie." (p. 41.*) f. 149^{ab}.

* A mistake for 'f. 39:' this and the 4 next leaves being paged by Forman. Ending—"increasing by an hundred fold their workinge." Finis hujus operis."

53. "To make lutum sapientie philosophorum,"—also "Semente roiall;" and other experiments. f. 149^b.

54. "De naturis metallorum, FORMAN. h Leed is cold and moiste." (p. 43.) f. 150^a.

55. "Tractatus quartus de transmutatione metallorum, tempore [planetarum suorum,] ex THEOPHRASTO. Si forte tuum delectet animum." Cum tabula. f. 150^b.

56. "Termina Philosophorum;" seu explicationes nominum quorundam ab alchemicis usitatorum: inc. Actum philosophorum. (p. 45.) f. 151^{ab}.

57. Receipts, "To make mercurie of herbes.—To fix mercury.—To make quicksilver of leed.—To make and multiplie saltpeter.—To multiply borax." (p. 47.) f. 152^a.

58. FORMANNI quaedam alia "De metallis." f. 152^b.

59. The uses of sandiner, borax, and other substances, in the working of metals by goldsmiths and others. (p. 49.) f. 153^a.

60. Figures of retorts and other chemical vessels, with the names and uses thereof. 153^b.

61. "Here followeth the Practice of RAYMON[D] LULLY. Alcumie is a science and secrete parte of naturall phi." (p. 1—8.) f. 154—7^b.

Dated "1590;" and unfinished; ending with this rubric, "Of the corruptible water:?" 3 blank leaves follow.

62. One of LULLY's circular schemes in Latin, with some English explanations by FORMAN. (p. 15.) f. 161^a.

63. Forman's "Notes out of the bocke called Semitu Recta, compiled by RAYMON[D] LULLY. Crafte foloweth kinde, and overcommeth yt." (p. 17—20.) f. 162—3^b.

64. "The sainge of the Philo'rs, taken out of NORTON's bock,* in the which bocke they weare all pictured, and their posses." [posies.] (p. 21.) f. 164^a.

* Ordinal of Alchemy: see the engravings in Ashmole's edition: the pictures are here described.

65. Extracts from "VINCENT in his Naturall Glas. Leprouse gould is the bodye." ib.

66. "The boocke and worke of S^r ROBARTE GREENE, totchynge the ph'ors stone. Shurely and wt out fulshed the worke of philosophie is true wz. of alchymie." (p. 23—26.) f. 165—6^b.

A very closely written copy, ending—"Henry the eyghth. Copied out by me Symon Forman. 1591. Aug. 13. anno Elizabeth. 32." See also No. 1415, art. 8, and other copies referred to in col. 1275 supra; also No. 1492, ix. art. 15.

67. "The famouse worke of M^r BLUNDIVELE, of som called S^r WILLM BLUNDYVELL, or BLOMFELD. When Phabus was entred the signe of ye Ram." (50 st. of 7.) (p. 27—29.) f. 167—8.

Published under the title of "BLOOMFIELD'S Blossoms," in Ashmole's Theatrum, p. 313, et seq. What is there called "The second parte," is in this MS. subscribed "Finis. Copied out by S. Forman, 1591. Aug. 14." Then it proceeds—

- "Incipit Theorica libri M^{ri} BLOUNDFELD. We entende nowe throughe grace dyvine." (18 st. of 7.) (p. 29—30.) f. 168^{ab}.

Ending—"This worke is complet. Da gloriam Deo. Finis Theorica." Then, in the stead of the "Practica," in Ashmole, (see next article.) there follow—

Nine couplets, beg. The maistrie is 3. too and on. (p. 30.) f. 168^b.

Ending—"Shall attain to our maistery. Finis libri Mri BLOMFILD. This man was in Queen Maries daies. Nowe copied out last by Simon Forman gent. [etc.] 1591. August 14." See also No. 1418, i. art. 8, No. 1487, ii art. 6, and No. 1485, iii. art. 10.

68. "Practica BLOMFILD," or the concluding portion of the foregoing poem: beg. We have declared sufficiently the Theorick. (16 st. of 7.) (p. 31—34.) f. 169—170^b.

Ending—"Atissimo Deo sit honor laus et gloria. Amen. Per Simon Forman rescriptum, 1599. Decemb. 19." This supplement to art. 67, is, with art. 69, written on 2 sheets of smaller paper, inserted in this place. See Ashmole, pp. 319—323.

69. Alchemical "Verses of Sr EDWARD KELLI, 1589. [Intituled] The Praies of Vertue, for frindships sake, mad by a straunger to farther his frind[s] conseite, 1589. The heavenlie cope hath in him natures fower." (8 st. of 6.) (p. 35—36.) f. 171^{ab}.

Ending—"Yet shall thes lessons praise abrais the scoole. Finis. Rescript. per Forman, 1599" Printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 332—3.

70. "Prologus JOHANNIS DE MEDUNO in cognitione lapidis occulti, quod librum sumo studio nequaquam florenti. Florentissime zelator sapientie veri philosophans." (p. 1—7.) f. 173—176.

Full of solecisms and clerical errors. Ending—"et vita erat lux etc. There was noe mor of this prologe in the booke whenc I wrote this." Forman immediately proceeds with this title, "Notes out of the booke next followinge," viz.—

71. Excerpta perampla e capitulis primo et secundo libri cujusdam alchemici; inc. Tria sunt necessaria in opere isto, vz. patientia, mora, et instrumentorum aptatio. (p. 7—12.) f. 176—178^b.

Des.—"Tunc scias quia versum est in solem vel lunam veracem. Explicit Authior ignotus, propter quia [sic] iste liber de mutationum [sic] appellatus. Deo gratias amen. 140. . . . And last nowe by me Simon Forman, Octob. 5. □ ♀."

72. Alia excerpta, seu quaedam reperta "In fine libri ejusdem[?]" inc. Nota quod calx ovorum solutum cum sale. (p. 12.) f. 178^b.

73. "Anglorum opus, autore HERMETE philosopho peritissimo," circulis et figuris descriptum. (p. 13—15.) f. 179—180.

Beside the first cluster of 7 circles, there are 66 numbered circles, and 2 others, with names of different alchemical processes superscribed. At the end Forman says, "Every on of thes was collered in divers collers, even as the matter doth turne into divers collers in workinge; but writtinge mor then is set downe her, was ther not," in the MS. from which this copy was roughly made.

74. "Primus liber loquitur de consideratione 5^e essentie omnium rerum transmutabilium. In nomine Domini amen* Incipit liber de famulatu philosophiae, datus ab Angelis Evangelicis viris domini nostri Jesu Christi pauperibus evangelicis. Dixit Sallamon Sapientiae capitulo 7^o Deus dedit mihi." (p. 1—31.) f. 181—196.

Des.—"Reliqua autem opera philosophiae [etc.] revelabo ut potero in hunc igitur accipiat primus liber finem, qui de consideratione quinte essentie appellatur, ad gloriam [etc.] et beatissimi patris nostri sancti Francisci all. And nowe last copied out by me Simon Forman, student [etc.] 1590. Octob. 4. □ ♀."

75. Ejusdem libri appendiculae quaedam: inc. "Est finis de consideratione quinte essentie. Perfecta vero corpora preparatione non indigent." (p. 31—32.) f. 196.

Thus headed by Forman:—"Written in the end of all, after the conclusion of the second bocke of this forsaid worke, as followeth."

76. Experimenta chemica: scilicet, "Si vis facere mercurium malliabilem.—Ut funditur [sic] cristallus.—Oleum benedictum." (p. 32.) f. 196^b.

77. "To cut a global glasse or any other glasse of, and never breke yt, but cut yt smothe." ib.

78. "Incipit Medicina ad Rubeum, ex mercurio et sole similiter conjunctis. In Dei nomine amen. Secretum demonstratum desiderantibus et petentibus scire preparationem lapidis philosophorum absconditum pro albo et rubeo." (p. 33—36.) f. 197—8^b.

Des.—sublima ter cum sale armoniaco. Dissolve et procede sicut scis.

79. "The 7 bookes of AURELIUS THEOPHRASTUS PARACELSUS, beinge a greate student in philosophie and phisique, as toching the Nature of Things, and finally 2 bookes concerning man." Translated into English. (p. 1—33.) f. 199—216.

The preface is inscribed "To the moste honeste and rightwise man Jhon Winckenstenix" (etc.) and dated 1537. "The tytles of the 7 bookes" then follow. The work ends thus:—"all thes be the transmutions of naturall things, of the whch we have sufficiently spoken. Th'end of the 7th booke of Paracelsus, written by me Simon Forman, 1591, Februari 8, out of the coppie I had of Will'm Falowfeld, which he wrote 1590, Julii 3." On the second page Forman had noted that he began this transcript on 3 Dec.

80. Translation of "The too bookes of AURELIUS PARACELSUS, as concerninge the nature of Man; 1. Of the sprite of life; the second, Of the comforting and strengtheninge of the 7 principall members. Liber primus. The sprite of life is the sprite w^{ch} is conversant in all partes of the bodie." (pp. 37, 35, 39, 41.) f. 217—220.

The two first leaves of this article were transposed, before Forman's alternate pagination was made. Ending—"neither is ther a greter secrete thene this Eliebar. [See Forman's note on this word.] The end of the 2 bookes of the nature of man, written last by Simon Forman out of the old coppie of that w^{ch} was translated out of Paracelsus the author herof. Τελος [sic] 1591. Feb. 10. ♀ p. m. 15. p. 7. S. F."

On the back of the leaf Forman began a table of some alchemical words, or "Certain terms used by divers authors:" but only five are set down, out of Norton.

81. Translation of "The moste excellent and trewe boocke of the reverente doctor Almante* and lord, BARNARD Erell of MARCHE and TRIVISON, of the philososophers stone. The preface. To th'ende that all those that be the searchers out of this pccious science and noble arte." (f. 1—16^b.) f. 221—236^b.

* i. e. German. Against the title is this note:—"All the notes and cootes [quotations?] in the margente thorne out the boocke ar set downe by Simon Forman student [etc.] And by him was this booke corrected in manie places, wherin ther was neither true ortographic sence nor meanninge in the old coppie." His notes are numerous. It ends thus:—"strayinge and goinge out of the waye unto errors. Finis Deo gracias. Written by the old coppie, by Simon Forman, 1585," 1 October, etc. See No. 1442, vii., and other MSS.

The following articles are in the nature of appendices to this article:—

- (1.) "Notes for the composition of waighte in the first work;" being extracts from various Latin treatises. (f. 16^b.) f. 237^b.
- (2.) FORMAN'S general observations of "The effect of this bocke." (f. 17.) f. 237.
- (3.) Farther observations, headed "Extract," and "Extracts out of ALLAMANTUS." (f. 17^b, 18, 18^b—19.) f. 237^b—9.
- (4.) "De ponderibus in 2^o opere. Jam aliud est pondus spirituale secundi operis." (f. 19^b.) f. 239^b.

There is no folio '20.'

- (5.) The names of 65 alchemical authors and treatises, set down by Forman. (f. 21.) f. 240^a.
 - (6.) Excerpta, seu dicta RASIS et aliorum. (f. 21^b.) f. 240^b.
82. "The Testament of J. J.*, D[oc]tor of Physick;" an alchemical work, "devided into three principall bookes, that is to saye, Theorick, Phracticke, and Codecell." (p. 1—70.) f. 242—276^b.

The preface begins thus:—"God weh art glorious and omnipotent I begin in thy name, and reduce and torne into wrighting this volume. Forman's copy ends (with a full page) in "The 56 chapter" of the first booke, with these words:—"According to the contraryety takene in it selfe beinge of the The two last are catchwords. Although the rest of this copy does not appear, Forman's own paging proceeds regularly into the next article. The first page of this quire contains an unfinished collection of notes from this 'Testament,' thus headed:—

"The wholle some of the effect of this boock, collected by S. Forman." (f. 22.) f. 241.

83. The Ordinall of Alchemy; a poem, intituled, "Liber THOME NORTON hic incipit. To the honour of God, on in persons three." (p. 71—94.) f. 277—289.

Ending—"In the year of Christ 1447, This worke begane, honor to God of heaven. Explicite, and nowe laste copied out by me Simon Forman, 1591. March the 23rd etc. (p. 94.) The English Preface follows, headed "Norton 1447," (This booke unto clarkes etc.) and subscribed with a like colophon by Forman. See No. 57, No. 1445, and other MSS. in this collection.

* John Jones, M. D. of Cambridge, whose printed works (from 1566 to 1574) are enumerated in Tanoer's Bibliotheca, pp. 443—4?

84. A poetical dedication of the following work, thus inscribed:—"To the right honorable and his singular good lorde, Sr Will'm Cycill, Lord of Burg[h]lay, knight of the order of the garter, and highe Tresurer of England, HUMFREY LOCK wisheth longe life, with eucrease of moch godly honour &c. To youe my good Lord I doe directe, My labour thus compild." (35 st. of 4.) (p. 1—5.) f. 291—3.

Ending—"Your honor ever save. Finis H. Lock." It appears that the author was exiled,—

"By wante, the cruell enimio
Of every perfecte minde,
That unto arte and sciences
Most aptly ar inclinde."

He besought lord Burghley's favor, that he might return to his native land. There is no notice of him in Tanoer; but Ritson's Bibliographia Poetica (p. 65) notices these verses.

A large treatise of alchemy, divided into 33 chapters, by HUMFREY LOCK: beg. "Capitulum primum. For becaus that in the settinge forth of historics and other scriptures, us well saered as profane, it is not only necessarie but also verie needfull to sett before the sum (as a pathwaie therto) prologes prefaces or epistelles wherby th'effecte and som," etc. (p. 7—65.) f. 294—325.

The third chapter ends with this colophon,—"Finis Theorika. 1590. noviter scriptum per Simonem Forman, Juni 19. ♀ □." A blank page follows, and a long title occurs at p. 33. The work appears to end at p. 65, thus,—"better then the mineralle or naturall etc. Finis."

The following pieces seem to belong to HUMFREY LOCK'S work:—

- (1.) "The standing of the glass in the fier. The glasse wth the medison must stand in the fyre." (5 st. of 7.) f. 325^b.

Ending—"Nor povertie dwell in the presence of his face. Finis q^d H. L. [i. e. HUMFREY LOCK.] Et rescriptum per S. Forman." These verses are published anonymously in Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 441—2: in a MS. note in No. 972, he seems to ascribe it to one of the Nortons.

- (2.) "Here followeth the sainges of Ph'ors, that is pryvy and of truth, that our ph'ors stone hath noe proper name, but is called by dyvers names. Our lymbick should not be luted." (p. 67—70.) f. 326—7^b.

Ending—"red tinctur and his last perfection. Finis Libri Philosophorum."

- (3.) Experiments or directions:—"To calcyne truly ☉.—The calcynation of the salte.—To drawe the quintessence of antimonie.—To make sal armoniak." (p. 71—72.) f. 328^{ab}.

Each subscribed Finis.

- (4.) Certain abbreviations in metre*, by HUMFREY LOCKE (p. 73—78):—

* Beg.—"I have also heare unto added scertayne abbreviaciones in myter, weh I had drawne owt long before I beganne this booke," etc.

When the ferment thou wilt prepare. (1 st. of 7.) f. 329.

“Of the stone and ferment. When the bodys be dissolv'd perfectlye.” (4 st. of 7.) f. 329^{ab}.

“De auro potabile. Aurum potabile when thou wilt make.” (7 st. of 7.) f. 329^b—330.

“Replies* Castle. This is the way to Replis castele.” (17 st. of 7.) f. 330—1^b.

* Referring to George Ripley's ‘twelve gates,’ in his Compend of Alchemy, which is printed in Ashmole's Theatrum. This article ends,—“In the wych thou shalt see things wonderfull straunge. Telus. 1590. S. Forman.”

85. Alchemical collections, by Forman, (ff. 1—4^b), intitled thus:—

“Opus perfectum philosophicum. R ○ $\overline{3}j$. ♀ $\overline{3}6$. clean washed.” f. 332.

“Another waic. Take the fairest ○.” f. 332^b.

“Another work. The matter and sperm of metules is ♀.” f. 333^b.

“The water of lyne or of life, called aqua vite, is thus made. R sal armoniak.” f. 335^b.

Ending—“And this is that perfect water of life that quickneth all dead bodies. Finis. Forman. 1604. Jun. 9.”

86. The alchemical poem intitled “Pater Sapien-
tia. He that in this boeke beginneth to read.” (120 st. of 4.) (f. 5—11^b.) f. 336—342^b.

The stanzas are numbered in this copy, which ends thus:—“Then goe farder and seke thee forth as other foolles have don. Explicit liber Patris Sapientia. 1599. Rescriptum per Simonem Forman.” See also No. 1445, v. art. 4, and the note there.

87. “Her followeth the Opining of Secrets, done by the arte of ph^yce. viz. First y^u shalt understand y^t all or secret mastry is done by a temperate heate.” (f. 12—14.) f. 343—5.

Ending with a list of “herbes and spices, wher with the menstrie muste be acuated,” and this note:—“Finis. Rescriptum per Simonem Forman, 1599, Decemb. 23.” See No. 1492, iv. art. 4.

88. “A note of the bille and names of the thinges, that M^r Parke was to bwy for Mulleneux, 1595, the xj of March.” (f. 24^b.) f. 350^b.

89. “FORMAN. Preface, speaking in the boekes behaulfe. I am the worke of nature, the begin- inge of wisdom.” (p. 28.) f. 352^b.

Half a page, perhaps referring to art. 87. This page is filled up with—

Two alchemical experiments, by RICHARD NAPIER: beg. ♀ sublimate, and Take gold purified and clensed. ib.

 Thus far extend Forman's papers. From f. 332 to the end the leaves have been irregularly numbered by Ashmole, some of them being blank: they include the following pieces, which are now lettered in continuation of those at the beginning of the volume:—

(G.) “The forme of an astronomically figure, w^c was found uppon a stone diggd up amongst the old ruens at Missenden.” (p. 19—22.) f. 348^a, 349^b.

It is a triangle inclosing a circle, and including all the characters of the planets; with this word below, ARCANUM. This sheet seems to have been drawn and indorsed by Sir Richard Napier.

(H) 1. “The cobby of a Dutche cypher, found inclosed in leade, and wrapped wthin many foulds of velvet; discyphered by S^r S: B: translated out of Dutch by Cornelius Dreble. You must take one pound of ♀.” (p. 29—30.) f. 353^{ab}.

Written by Ashmole, one of whose shorthand notes (beg. Sr Ed: Dyer) is at the end.

2. “Alchymisticum ænigma. We do give a comon thing of dere price unto a dragon.” (p. 31.) f. 354^a.

Also by Ashmole's hand, as well as the next paper.

(I). “Explicatio aliquot verborum artis. 1. Liquor Altahest Paraeclsi, omne corpus visibile.” (p. 33.) f. 355^a.

(K). A descriptive catalogue of alchemical processes; headed, “I know a friend of mine can performe these things followinge.” (p. 37.) f. 357^a.

One page, written in Ashmole's time, by an unknown hand.

(L). “Dr. WHITMORE'S Receipt:” or, a short process for making ‘the stone:’ beg. Take quicklime and salt-peter fined divers times. (p. 39.) f. 358^a.

Written by Sir Richard Napier's hand, and indorsed as above.

No. 1491.

A large folio volume, containing many quires of uncut paper, paged throughout by Forman, from ‘67c’ to ‘1424,’ which two leaves are vacant. On the last fly-leaf of new paper, Ashmole has inscribed the two following words, in Roman capitals,— “Volumen Secundum;” seu, Adversariorum D. SIMONIS FORMAN, de rebus chemicis, et medicamentis variis, ordine alphabetico dispositis, pars posterior; una cum totius operis Indice.

The reader is referred, for a particular account of the contents, to No. 1494, the first part; from which this volume has been separated by mistake. They are now described together.

At the end of this volume is bound a fragment of a very fine vellum MS., in folio, of the XIVth century; written in columns, and adorned with painted and gilt capital letters: there are only six leaves, paged by Ashmole; containing—

1. A fragment of a legendary poem, describing Tundale's visit to the infernal regions, in a trance; in old English verse. (1400 lines.) p. 1—10.

Beginning imperfectly thus:—

* * * *

And Goddes body þat I schal take
For all my synnes I will forsake
The preost cam sone as he he sougt
And Goddes body wiþ hyni he brougt.
Whan he was schreven and made all redy
He reseuyved þat body ful mekely.
¶ Than spake Tundale wiþ herte fre, etc.

There is a leaf or more wanting between pp. 4 and 5. It ends thus—

¶ He sawe fendes and soules flye
In þat piler boþe lowe and hiȝe
* * * *
 þei ran up

These three last words are catchwords.

2. The spiritual benefits of tribulation: a fragment of a religious treatise in old French, beginning—
. . . . biens pur ceste malicōn. Enten amyē que ceste David velt soudenir la malisou de soun adversarie. p. 11—12.

The texts of scripture quoted are in Latin, and written with rubric. The last column of this fragment ends thus—mult de foiz plus precieuse eele

No. 1492.

A volume containing several MSS. on paper, and Papers, written by different hands, in folio; which are distinguishable into nine portions, as divided by new paper inserted betwixt them by Ashmole's binder, except between the eighth and ninth portions. The first consists of 6 leaves, fairly written in a large Italian hand; and bears the autograph of "Jōes Dee 1569" at the beginning.

- I. "Opus expertum Parisijs: et ab [autore*] ipso, Comiti Contigiano exhibitum: anno Domini 1540." Quod per cunctas ejus operationes describitur, usque ad projectionem, et multiplicationem medicinae Hermeticae; cum notis JOHANNIS DEE, passim adjectis. p. 1—8.

* Added by Dr. Dee. At the end is this colophon: "Finis A^e Elizabethæ Reginae 10." (1568-9.) To which Dr. Dee adds, "Exhibitum mihi per Abrahamum;" by whose hand perhaps the tract was written.

Ashmole's paging is continued through the blank paper, and the following MSS.

- II. 1. Note about "Mr Cascei, a prisoner in the cownter in Woodstreet, who dothe make perfett silver at all trialls," etc. p. 17.
2. An alchemical 'work,' in twelve chapters; beg. "1 Chapter. To make a copell in hast, for small workes. / Burne ye hardest mutton bones." p. 21—35.

Ending—"Or els he shall loose bothe his tim and his cost. Finis of this work." Five blank pages follow this tract, which is written in a common hand of Elizabeth's time, or later; as is also the next.

- III. "Accurtationes et Practica REYMONDI," put into English: beg. In the beginninge you shall understande, that olde philosophers agreed together to doc by art. p. 45—64.

Ending at p. 60 thus,—And thus to the Lorle onlye bee given honor and glory. Amen. Then, at p. 61, begins, "This is of the animal stone Welbedclored brother this precious treasure;" a portion which ends in a similar manner. Then follows a post-script—Et alibi dicitur our calcination (etc.), ending—"and on congealation. Finis." The two remaining leaves are scribbled on.

- IV. 1. Alchemical verses, beg. "⊙. ⊙. ♂ Com heather, ♃ attend us now." (3 st. of 6.) p. 77.

Ending—But ♂ had bin burnt if he had his right.

2. Alchemical collections and observations, in Dutch. p. 77—8, 81, 86—8, 109.
3. Take of ♀ subl. lib. 1. and of sal, etc. p. 79.
4. "Here followeth the Opning of Secrets, don by the art of ph'ye. viz. First you shall understand that all or secret mastery." p. 89—93.

Ending—Innaturall Δ [fire] being in metalline bodies.

5. "To drawe the watter of vitrioll, and to find the greene lion. Take 1^{bi} of vitrioll and grind it." p. 94—5.
6. A 'well proved' remedy "For incurable aches and paines in the joynts, where ever they be." p. 96.

The rest of this MS. (written by an unknown hand of the time of James I.) is blank, except some Dutch notes on p. 109 and on a fragment of a leaf preceding it.

- V. 1. Remedy "For ye agewe comminge wth a could shakinge," etc. f. 3^a.
2. "To fix ♀." f. 4^b.
3. "The maner of ye preparacōn of white ⊙ for ye said worke, whiche is the 2. key of this worke." f. 5.

Written in a kind of cypher: see art. 9.

4. "The true matter of our quintessence otherwise called our heaven. To awnswere trulic to this matter." (p. 1.) f. 6^b.

Ending—"from any thinge. Finis." Yet apparently part of art. 6.

5. "To gild without ⊙."—"A Moores woorke to make ⊙." ib.
6. An alchemical treatise, in seven chapters; "per JOHANNEM SEMERES:" beg. "In nomine Jhesu amen. To sett Gould (w^c wee cale our sonn,) in our quintessence, whiche wee cale our heaven. To set our heaven in his kynde." (p. 2—12.) f. 6—11.

* So subscribed by an other old hand, by which this copy has been altered in some places. It ends thus:—"and I have written this booke [altered woorke] wth myne owne hand, as I lay upon my deathe bedd, in the yeare — 1432. the 7 of Maye."

7. Receipts and directions for various alchemical processes, (viz. "To sement ⊙ in greate quantite," etc.) including "A woorke of Fryer BACON," (p. 13.) and "The ebreivation of the ph'ers stone, accordinge to GEBER." (p. 18.) f. 11^b—15.

8. "A worke of ☉," and seven other alechemical processes or experiments. f. 16—17.
9. Explanations, in cypher-writing, of '21' characters used in this and other alechemical books. f. 18^a.

On the back is a table of letters, which perhaps may elucidate the cypher. See also the last leaf, f. 21^b. The handwriting of this MS. is unknown: it is paged by Ashmole to '127' at the 5th leaf: the rest is paged by the old hand.

VI. (a.) "Incipit liber ALPHIDIJ Philosophi. Ut enucleatius intelligas me loquentem volo ut scias de qua ma." [matcria.] (pp. 14.) f. 1—7^b.

A transcript by Ashmole; ending thus—"Ecce omnia tibi demonstravi: intellige ergo ac mentis acie percipe, et invenies Deo concedente. Explicit ALPHIDIUS." There is an antient copy in No. 1384, art. 10.

(b.) Obscurissimæ aliquot adnotationes D. RICHARDI NAPIER junioris, (ut videntur,) inter legendum fortassis conscriptæ. f. 9—14^b.

Written in columns, with blank spaces.

(c.) Directions "To make regulus ♂," and for "Sublimation." (p. 1—3.) f. 15^a, 16^a.

Written (as Ashmole observes) by "Mr GADSDEN's hand, Dr Napier's Apothecary."

(d.) ASHMOLII catalogus licentiarum ad artem alechemicam exercendam, quæ in Rotulis Litterarum Patentium habentur. (p. 5.) f. 17^a.

(e.) 1. Exact notices of 32 Latin alechemical tracts contained in "D^r Flood's MS." (p. 9—16.) f. 19^a, 20—22^b.

By ASHMOLE, who headed this paper thus: "Catalogue of the bookes in an old velem manuscript, bound up together, and marked wth numb. 19." On the back of the first leaf is pinned a paper containing a—

- List of 55 "Authors cited in the [same] manuscript, Codex veritatis, vel Turba philosophorum." f. 19^b.
- "A catalogue of severall manuscript peeces, bound up together, and marked number 4. in 4^{to}.; in w^{ch} Charnock hath scattered many noates." (p. 17—18.) f. 23^{ab}.

Likewise by ASHMOLE. The MSS. described in these sheets do not appear to have come into Ashmole's collection.

VII. 1. A treatise "De lapide philosophico, quas conditiones habet, et per quæ signa cognosci possit;" addressed "To M^{tris} Barkley;"* beg. Beccaus (my mutch honered yong lady) I do see many heroyicke and honorable desiers to be planted in your brest. p. 29—39.

* These words were covered up with thick ink, but are now recovered and made visible: they stand before the first word of the title. Ending—and I will honor you according to my power.

2. Verses, addressed unto the same lady: beg. The honorable rayes w^{ch} rest within your face. (13 st. of 4.) p. 39—40.

Ending—To graunt this thing, and fill your hart with myrth. This MS. is written in a peculiarly rough hand, of the time of Q. Elizabeth. Ashmole has continued the previous paging through its 6 leaves, and through the following collection of papers, to the end of the volume.

VIII. (a. b.) "☿ fixatio;" and various other alechemical experiments, collected and written by RICHARD NAPIER. p. 45—49, 52.

(c.) Adeptio pulveris medicinalis, opus "RAPHAELIS EGLINI ICONIJ, Tigurini. R. ⊕ opt. ad flavcedinem calcinatum." p. 53.

(d.) "Mysterium auri solvendi et per alembicum elevandi. Corpus auri solidum." p. 55—7.

Written by R. Napier: the next is by a different old hand.

(e.) Chemical receipts, including directions "To make liquid gowlde to wrighte wth. Take a porphyry stone." p. 61—4.

(f.) "Tinctura coralliorum. Super corallia rubu." p. 65.

This and the next paper are fairly written, by different old hands.

(g.) Two methods "To make mercury mahlable. Melt leade in a crcusable." p. 67.

(h.) The process of preparing copper to mix with refined silver: beg. Firste take of the whitest salte petr. p. 73.

The lower part of this page only is by Napier's hand: the two next papers were wholly written by him.

(i.) Alechemical processes and experiments, seemingly extracted from "The worke of JOHN DASTYN an Englishman:" beg. "1 Aqua ☉. Take in the name of God, of vitr. xij." p. 75—8.

(k.) 1. A way to make 'perfect ☉;' also "To take away the blacknes and rednes of coper." p. 81.

2. The preparation of a substance, which "will turne ☿ and all bodies into most excellent ☉." Written by R. NAPIER; with a Latin note by THEOD. GRAVIUS, describing his trial of it. p. 82.

(l.) An alechemical process, in the handwriting of Sir Richard Napier: beg. This divine science hath onli one subject. p. 83—4.

(m.) 1. "Regulæ seu canones aliquot philosophici, de lapide philosophico. Aut hic aut nusquam est quod querimus." p. 85—93.

The 159th ends, . . . "venit. Finis." A short postscript follows.

2. "JOHANNIS PONTANI, summi philosophi, epistola, in qua de lapide quem philosophorum vocant agitur. Ego Johannes Pontanus multas perlustravi regiones." p. 93—5.

Des.—ad artis perveniunt veritatem et non alter. Compare No. 1458, art. 16.

3. "Philosophorum ignes sunt quatuor. Primus aqua." p. 96.

4. "De aquis mercurialibus tractatulus. Vera aqua." ib.

5. Præfatio cujusdam operis, "Hermeticarum musarum cultoribus" inscripta: inc. Libri philosophorum omnes, candide lector. p. 103.

Subscribed thus, "B. D. P." and "D."

This MS., consisting of 10 leaves, is rotten throughout, the damp having consumed a considerable part of the writing.

(n.) Ad reverendum Doctorem quendam, 'Theodorici Gravii philochymiatrī' epistola, de falsitate principiorum philosophiæ peripateticæ disputans, illiusque 'accuratum tractatum*' collaudans. (Linfordiæ, sine anno.) p. 105—6.

* In which, lib. i c. 4. s. 1, he had quoted those lines, Principio cælum ac terras camposque liquentes, etc. (Virgil. Æn. vi.) This is the original, or a fair copy, in the elegant handwriting of Gravius himself. See the next paper.

(o.) Epistola quam scripsit 'RICH. NAPEIR' ad Doctorem quendam, Collegii alicujus Rectorem, in gratiam Theod. Gravii, ipsum et academiam Oxoniensem invisere cupientis. (Sine anno.) p. 109.

Although the directions of these two letters are not preserved, there can be no doubt that Dr. George Hakewill, Rector of Exeter College, (to which Napier belonged), was the person to whom they were addressed. See his work on the Power and Providence of God, quoted under No. 1284, iii.; where the lines mentioned by Gravius are quoted, at p. 46 of the third edition, Oxford, 1635. fol. Wood dates the first edition, at London, 1627: see his Historia et Antiquitates, ii. 98, and Athenæ, ii. 66.

(p) Chymica quædam experimenta, Germanice scripta; partim vero Latine. p. 111, 113, 107.

The third leaf is misplaced between the two foregoing articles.

(q.) Epistola EDM. DEANI medici, ad Gravium, de principiis philosophicis, atque de consensu dissensuque inter Aristotelem et Galenum, disserens; et memorans Naperum. (Eboraci, 14 cal. Jan. 1633.) p. 118—9, 120.

Sealed with arms, and directed "To his loving brother Mr Theodoricus Gravius, at Mr Rich. Napeirs, at Linford" etc.

(r.) Alchemical experiments, in English; thus intitled—"Of leed.—Opus perfectum.—Multiplicatio et purgacio Saturni.—To bring silver out of leed.—Opus solis. When thou wilt cast any stuffe.—A purgacion of Saturne.—Marquesite.—The noblyst werke. Take Saturne as moche as ye will." p. 122, 121.

A leaf out of a folio MS. of Q. Elizabeth's time, of which the second page is misplaced first.

(s.) Directions "To make all maner of coyned gold to come to his coolo^r wthout offence of the lawes. (Putt hote coles.)—To make all maner of course silver or gold to come to his coolo^r.—To give weight to gold." p. 123.

By an unknown old hand.

(t.) A fragment of an epistle on alchemy, "To the worshipfull mayster Elles, Prior of Lyse." p. 125.

Half a page, beg.—bodis ought to be purged elene. Ending—I suppose frute wolbe found. this is my hole study and the full content of all my mynd. Ad ultimum. The address follows; and there are two notes in the margin; one by Thomas Robson's hand. The handwriting of this article is different from the next: but they are of the same age.

2. Part of a translation of the "Visio JOHANNIS

DASTYNE. [W]hen Nature is the surest effect of all kind." p. 126.

The word "Visio" is set in the margin, at the second sentence, beg.—He thought y^t we were rayshed. One page only; this leaf being a fragment of a small folio MS. of the latter part of the XVth century. Compare No. 1493, art. 3, &c.

(u.) PEARCE the Black Monk, upon the Elixir: beg. Take earth of earths, and earths brother. (173 lines.) p. 127—130.

Ending—"To soules health us to more. Finis." This is a modernized copy, without a title, by Sir Richard Napier's hand. Compare Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 269—274, and 428—430. See also art. 6 of the following MS.

IX. 1. Figure of "A vessell of circulation, wth blind head of the owne." p. *130.

So intitled by Thomas Robson; but the handwriting of the MS. is that of CHRISTOPHER TAYLOUR: compare No. 1447. vi. and vii.

2. "Tractatus compositus super lapidem philosophorum, per quendam philosophiæ discipulum, et fuit missus excellentissimo domino Regi Aragon. Martino, anno 1349, et vocatur Liber Phœnicis; continens in se cap. 10. Primum cap^m est proemium." (Quod inc. Quum tacita dierum prolixitate.) p. 131—8.

Des.—"metallica corpora antedicta. Explicit eum adjutorio summe deitatis [etc.] tractatus summi lapidis philosophorum. Anno 1560." To which the transcriber adds, "1604. Octob. 27 17. ho. 10. 30. a. m." The second, third and fourth leaves are decayed and torn.

3. Opusculum, quod inc. Notandum est quod lapis philosophorum vocatur mineralis vegetabilis et animalis. p. 139—140.

Des.—"oculi vero nigri, est magisterium. Deo gratias."

4. "Liber fratris minoris VINCENTIJ. Imprimis te scire oportet quod 3 sunt lapides et 3 sales." p. 140—4.

Des.—"et multiplicat, quia suo proprio sudore renascitur. Explicit VINCENTIJ fratris minoris Expositio." It seems to have some reference to the preceding article.

5. "This is the matter y^t I tolde you of, MOUNTAGUN. Take o^r stone white and cleere." p. 144—5.

Ending—"Projection [etc] one penyweight upon a M. &c. Finis."

6. "An Exposition of 'Earth earthes brother.*' An exposition I do make heere, Wherin I charge yo^v secret to be." (75 lines.) p. 145—6.

* Pearce, the Black Monk: see pp. 127—130 above. These verses, with some variation, are printed in Ashmole's Theatrum, pp. 428—430; and the last 8 lines (beg. Take winde and water white and greene,) are at p. 431, together with the four lines of Latin prose.

7. Quædam mystica, cum figuris calamo pictis: (inc. Custodi arborem;) cui subjecitur "Experimentum rei." p. 146—7.

8. A practical commentary on the verse,* [Est] "Lapis occultus, et in fonte sepultus:" beg.— "Hic incipit MARIA prophetissa, de Elixire, ad regem Aros. R' good greene vitrioll lib. j." p. 148—150.

* See No. 1416, art. 7. Ending—"and so infinite without number. Deo gratias. Explicit Elixir MARIE prophetissæ ad regem Aros scriptum. Jh'u laudes. Amen."

9. Schema affinitatis substantiarum, in quibus versantur alchemici; in cujus ima parte conspicitur Hermes vel mere. p. 150.

10. A piece translated from the Practica of "RAYMUNDUS. With most humble obedience knowing my bounden duty." p. 151—4.

Ending—"and so all other is to be understood. A scheme follows on the next page (155); which perhaps belongs to the next article.

11. Tractatus alchemicus: inc. In principio creavit Deus cælum et terram ex una massa. p. 155—7.

Des.—"corporis congelat. Finis istius operis."

12. "A booke entituled the Marrow of Alchemy, compiled by GEORGE RIPLEY, chanon of Bridlington, and translated by JOHN MAYRE, parson of Chipsted, 1552. The Preface. I being about to entreat to yor most excellent lordshippe, of the secretes of alchemy." p. 157—175.

Ending—"and the holy ghost is all his gifts. Finis. Heere endeth the treatise called the Marrow of Alchemy, compiled by GEORGE RIPLEY chanon of Bridlington, anno Domini 1476, and translated out of Latin into English A^o 1552 by JOHN MAYRE, priest."

13. "Philorcium GEORGIJ RIPLEJ. An abstract of George Ripley, called Philorcium Alchemiæ, of the possibility of this science. Fyrst and chiefly we ought to inquire." p. 176—189.

Ending—"world without end. Amen. So be it.

14. "Pupilla Alkimie GEORGIJ RIPLA[E]J. Hic incipit præfatiuncula Georgij Bridlingtonensis in Pupillam Alchemiæ. First understand how the noble ph'cr Avicen sayth." p. 190—6.

Ending—"of his grace. Amen. Finis."

15. "The worke of Sr ROBERT GRENE. Surely without doubt or fable." p. 197—205.

Ending—"And now of this litle treatise I have made an end [etc., et. 71, 1538, 30 Hen. VIII.] Finis August. 23 4. ho. 6. p. m. 1604." See No. 1490, art. 66.

16. Epistola missa vel mittenda cum substantiis prætiosis quibusdam, quas auctor ejus arte chemica paraverat, FRA. ANTHONY*. (Januar. 15. 1610.) p. 211.

* His name is subscribed by the same hand as the MS. Excepting this half-page, the last 6 leaves of this MS. are vacant.

At the end of the volume, are now fixed the following papers, which were found loose:—

- (1.) The receipts for "☿ of ʘ," written by R. NAPIER.

On the back, by an other hand, are written—

Five Leonine verses, with a translation of each: beg. Ebrinus et satur, nunquam bene philosophatur.

- (2.) Excerpta quædam ex opere, cui titulus "PALINGENIUS Expositus, de lapide philosophorum, ut ego conjicio:" manu ASHMOLII.

Two pages in quarto.

- (3.) "How to draw out the essence of man's blood;" and "How to get out the 5 essence of ʘ," and other secrets; in ASHMOLE'S shorthand.

Initium et colophon operis, cui titulus "Verbum Abbreviatum majoris operis Raymundi;" quod didicit a Rogero Bacon.

The first page of a foolscap sheet, written by Ashmole.

No. 1493.

A folio MS. on paper, containing 148 leaves, fairly written, at different times, by Ashmole.

1. "The Looking Glass of Philosophy;" an unfinished copy, ending in the 4th chapter of "The first booke, of the searching out of the magistry." (pp. 24.) f. 1—12^b.

Beg.—We, worshipping the holy trinity, sett all things upon Three. Ending—"For the corrupcion of the one is necessarily. . . (The last is a catchword.) This article is a translation of Dastin's Speculum Philosophiæ, as contained in No. 1507, art. 1.

2. Translation of JOHN DASTIN'S alchemical treatise, in four books, called "God's Guift. [The first booke; or y^e booke of rootes.*] Every good giveinge and everie perfect gift is from above." f. 13—20—27^b—39^b—48^b.

* This heading is added by an old-fashioned hand (W. Backhouse's?), by which this copy is interlined and corrected throughout, and the following note is set in the margin:—"Hence it appears, yt ye Booke of Rootes hath been wrongfully by most attributed to Geber, (as some of ye learned Chemists have also perceived, though they could not discover y^e right authour,) and yt is DASTIN'S genuine peece, both by y^e style, and coherence of y^e foure bookes of this worke." It ends thus:—"victory of all things. [altered to over worldly inconveniencies.] The end of the Booke of Fermentacōns."

3. Translation of the "VISIO JOHANNIS DASTINE. Nature is y^e surcest effect of all kindes." f. 49—51^b.

Ending—"to be sett in the orchard of him, Qui sine fine vivit et regnat. Amen. Finis Visionis Johannis Dastine." See also No. 766, iii. art. 2; No. 1407, i. art. (6); No. 1421, art. 9; No. 1492, viii. (t) art. 2; and the original text in No. 1450, v. art. 4, &c.

4. Translation of "The Starr of Complexion of y^e perfect maistrice of y^e art chemicall, of JOHN BUNBELAM of England. Written in anno 1384.

For so much as ye documentes of all phior^s by ye diligence in artes liberall and delectable." f. 52—60^b.

The 12th chapter ends—"hath opened such a science. Explicit. 26^o Aprilis 1385. mane. Soli Deo honor et gloria." The Translator's name is thus subscribed, in a rebus, "PER ROLTON. Exr." See the original Latin text, in No. 1450, iv.; and Sir Robert Greene's commendation of it, in No. 1424, art. 23, as quoted at col. 1156.

5. "GEBER his Testament. Reverend* futher, itt is written in ye Commentary yt whosocver doth worke of yt thing whereof a thing is generated." f. 61—2^b.

* Ashmole has written over this first word, I remember; and this copy contains many like interlineations, being the variations of some other MS. It is a Dialogue between Father and Son; and ends—"give continuall thanks to God for this his greate gift. Laus Deo."

6. "The Instruction of a certaine Spiritt, delivered [to?] Scotus, concerning ye vertues or properties of ye toade*, or ye phi[il]o^s stone, or ye phælix bird. Take a toade and putt itt into a hollow pott full of small holes." f. 63^{ab}.

* Above this title is written, "The toade that goes or creeps on ye earth, and the eagle that flies in ye aire, is our misterie or skill." It ends—"This is sung in meeter. Finis."

7. "De lapide philosophico, quas condiciones habet, et per quæ signa cognosci possit. Because, my much honoured young lady, I doe see many heroicke and honorable desires." f. 64—6^b.

Ending—Love me according to your vertues, and I will honour you according to my power. One Latin sentence (Non potest mens etc.) follows, underwritten.

8. "The Practise of ZACHARY, under an allegoricall speech. The philosophers and true cosmographers have left by writing, that the earth in these dayes." f. 67—72^b.

"The second parte, of the Theorick of Zacharie," (70^a) ends thus:—but ye more they be decocted, or boyled, ye lesse they doe diminish, and here I end; &c.

9. "This booke following is of ye stone animall, the author unknowne.* Welbeloved brother this pretious treasure may be found by grace and by cunning." f. 73—5.

* Here follow two couplets, beg.—Quid lapis scitis, and A beastly parte to write untruth. It ends—multiplicable by ye grace of God. Amen.

10. A tract, thus headed,—"The philosophers gold and their silver are drawne of ye foule corrupt body w^{ch} they doe call tinctures, red and white. In ye name of almighty God, thou shalt take adrop of ye greene lyon." f. 75—80^b.

Ending—knowledge of this noble arte faculty or science.

11. "A Conference betweene the Maister and the Disciple. D. Maister, I pray you informe me of ye errors of philosophy, yt I have had, and for to give me true informacōn." f. 81—4^b.

Ending—"when thou shalt cast but 10. upon 100. Finis. Laus Deo." See No. 1487, ii. art. 19.

12. A tract "Of ☿ in generall.—Of crude and quicke ☿.—Of ye philo^sers ☿." f. 85—7.

Beg. Argent vive or quicksilver, saith Geber, is a viscous water in ye bowells of ye earth. Ending—And soe after mettalls compounded of sulphure and mercury.

13. "The first parte of Minor's Booke. 1. The first word of ys science is called ye reduction of ye body into water." f. 87^b.

"Here followeth the second parte of Minors Bookes. When ye body is made spongius." f. 88—90.

Ending—"as in ye compound water, &c. Finis."

14. "GEORGE RIPLEY's Bosome-booke. The whole worke of ye composition of ye stone philosophical, of the great elixir, and of ye first solucōn of ye grosse body. First take 30^{li} weight of sericon." f. 91—4.

Ending—"preserve as is here shewed. The end of ye Greate Work." The two next articles seem to belong to this.

15. "Accurtacōn of ye Greate Worke, w^{ch} saveth halfe ye worke and labour in ye worke, revealed by M^r GEO: RIPLEY. The white kymie or powder thereof I told you in ye begining of ye Great Worke." f. 94—5.

Ending—"To conclude, whosoever hath ys medicens, he hath an incomparable medicine above all treasure of ye world. Praised be God."

16. "A white worke, being but a branch of the Great Worke, taken out of M^r GEORGE RIPLEY's Bosome-booke, very excellent and speedy. Take ceruse or creame of ye finest and purest Cornish tynne." f. 95^b.

Ending—"I have wrought and proved ye same, for ye uch thanke God. Τελος."

17. "The prologue of GEORGE RIPLEY, unto his treatise w^{ch} is intituled Philorsium of the Alchymists. After yt I George, an Englishman borne, had exercised myself a long time in ye study of naturall philosophy." f. 96.

"Here followeth the Philorsium of GEORGE RIPLEY. In ye first manner that we proceed." f. 96^b—105.

Ending—"world without end, amen. Thus endeth ys booke called Philorsium, compiled by GEORGE RIPLEY, chanon of Bridlington." These lines are subscribed:—

"When you shall see two knitt in one,
Of things right farr on sunder,
And yt by nature itt be done,
Will you then cease to wonder?"

18. "GEORGE RIPLEY his worke of Breviation of the philosophers' stone. R the weight of pure fine ☉ of an old Edward noble or elee an old ryall." f. 105^b—7^b.

Ending—"Doe thus for itt is proved.

19. "Here beginneth the Booke of the Hand of the Philosophers, made by Maister JOHN ISAAC Hollandus, philosopher. 1. My sonne, I will now write and teach you the secrette mysterie of the phi'ors." f. 109—127^b.

The 9th instruction ends thus:—"otherwise one may nott attaine to any perfection. The end of the Hand."

20. "Here followeth a true treatise of alchimy, entreatinge of urine. Written by Mr JOHN ISAAC Hollandus. Alchymie consisteth in 3 thinges." f. 128—132.

Ending—"Praise God, and remember the poore. The end of the Worke of Urine."

21. "Another treatise, or manner, of alchymy, which is the second manner. Wee will now in-treate of the second manner." f. 132—4.

Ending—"least you shall erre. The end of the second treatise."

22. "Heere beginneth the third worke of the great elixir, w^{ch} is the animall stone made of humane dirde [i. e. fimur.] 1. I will now teach you to understand the greate elixir." f. 134^b—8.

Ending—"Noc, noc, it shall not be the blacker nor the worse. The end of this 3^d worke of the greate elixir."

23. "Heere followeth a preparation of urine, to draw the tincture out of many mineralls, like as you may se afore in the Booke of the Hande. 1. Putt cleare urine 5 or 6 weekes old." f. 138^b—140.

Ending—"dissolve marvellous things w^{ch} we dare not manifest. The end of the treatise of Urine, written by Maister JOHN ISAAC of Hollandia."

24. "The greene vitrioll, called the greene lyon or elixir. First dissolve a good parte of Romane vitrioll." f. 140^b—4^b.

Ending—"and give it to the diseased. Deo gratia summæ in secula seculorum. Finis."

25. "This was written in the tyme of Lucius the first Christian king, and found in the Abbey of Ramsey, at the dissolucōn, and since translated into English. Before all time, the eternall God laid the foundation of all his creatures even in one thing, the chaos." f. 145—8^b.

Ending—"This short [hermetical] treatise is enough for the understanding of a wise man, but I shall refer to another as short as this, called The Universall Spirit, which doth declare unto you, how it may be had, and in what body conteyned, and how prepared. I have done only I say that—

"Thou to whome God shewes this mighty art," etc.

(The conclusion here consists of six complets, the last line being—)

"The onke in vertue, see good almes thou give."

No. 1494.

A large folio volume, of the same description as No. 1491; foliated, and sometimes paged, from '1' to '644'; but the first leaves, paged '1, 10, 30, 32,

34, 42, 44, 46, 50,' (and numerous others, throughout both volumes,) are blank, the intermediate ones are wanting, and there are none to fill up the series of numbers to '670' with which the other MS. begins. Page '1' (on which are two brief alchemical notes, by Robson,) is inscribed with the two first words of the following title, by Ashmole's hand:—

"Volumen Primum;" seu, Adversariorum D. SIMONIS FORMAN, de rebus chemicis, et medicamentis variis, ordine alphabetico dispositis, pars prior.

The heads, and the most remarkable contents, of the great collection of papers contained in No. 1494, and No. 1491, (respectively the first and second portions, as bound up by Ashmole, but misplaced in the series of numbers assigned to his MSS.,) are here enumerated in their successive order; of which the first seems to have been designed as a general title for the whole work as at first begun, though not strictly applicable to it, in its finally enlarged state.

PART I. (No. 1494.)

"Of Appoticarie Druges, written by SIMON FORMAN."

1. "Cap^m. j. De Antimonio. Antimonium is numbred amonge mean mineralls, it is the murchasite of Saturne." f. 52—67.

The last page of the collections, observations, and experiments on this subject, is intitled, "To make the oylle of antimony." F. 68^b is blank, and there is no 69: like irregularities frequently occur, but need no farther notice.

2. "Of the Adamant. Adamas est gemma preciosa." f. 70^a.

3. "De Argento vivo," plurima, Latine et Anglice. f. 74—95.

One sheet follows f. 95, whereof the first leaf is unnumbered, and the second is f. '79' out of its proper place; on the back of which is the following article.

4. "Azot. Azot id est ☿." f. 79^b.

5. "Aer. The ayer is on of the 4 regions elementalle." p. 96—8.

6. "Argentum. Argentum est corpus mundum." f. 107—8^b.

Various experiments, relative to silver, or 'Luna.' f. 109^{ab}, p. 110—2, 113.

7. Of "Azure," and the methods of making that color. f. 116^a.

8. Of "Ammel," to enamel with; and a receipt "To make ammel." f. 116^b.

9. Excerpta varia e Rogero Bacon, et aliis, "De Auro." Aurum est corpus perfectissimum." p. 120—33.

Various experiments relative to gold: viz.—"To make O of a high collour, and to bring him to his collour loste.—To destroe gould.—To departe gould from silver.—To dissolve gould.—To prepare O for aurum potable, or to write with, for shell gould.—Ad faciendum aurum." etc. p. 134—48.

"Aurum nostrum. Aurum nostrum non est aurum commune, for the ph'or saith, 'Our gould and silver is not common plate.'*" p. 150—1.

* "Maria" is set against the three couplets, beginning as above: compare art. 183. This piece contains also 25 lines of the poem, I am ♀ that mighti flos florum.

10. De "Anima mundi," e "Smollo fo. 135:" inc. Hoc tertio anima corpori connectitur. f. 152^a.

11. "Aurum potabile:" verses out of "REPLY," (beg. Aurum potabile thus is made,) and other notes. p. 153—4.

12. Of "Almartaga;" or, the composition of the echemical lute so called. p. 156.

13. "Animals:" general notes of their properties. p. 157—8.

14. "Animal stone:" Forman's note, and an extract from LOCK. f. 160^{ab}.

Compare No. 1490, art. 84.

15. "Agent and patient:" alechemical notes, partly subscribed "Example per Forman, 1607." p. 166—7.

16. "Acetum, or viniger;" observations thereon; and a receipt "To make veri good vinagere." f. 168^{ab}, 172^a.

17. "Ars:" philosophical and magical notes on 'art.' f. 174^a.

"Ars magnetica:" or the magical art of proeuring love or hatred; with a curious direction "To make on prosper, or to draw the power of the ○ into a house." f. 184^{ab}.

18. "Anima et spiritus:" curious notes and collections, relative to the human soul. p. 190—201, 218.

*19. "Attramentum scribarum:" or, the following curious prescriptions for the making of ink:—

"To make atramente, which is the principale foundation of inke substantiall," two or three ways. f. 220.

"An approved wai to make yncke substantiall." f. 220^{ab}.

"Another practice to make yncke substantiall." f. 220^b—p. 221.

"An abridgment of that afore writen." p. 221.

"The correction of divers evils happeninge to the said yncke substantialle." p. 222.

"To make an yncke substantiall, to write upon very thin parchmente, without persing or sinckinge into the same." p. 223.

"To make letters fall from the parchmente." ib.

"To make yncke to write with on parchmente or paper," which shall fall away and disappear, half a year afterward. ib.

"To make common yncke." ib.

Two other ways. p. 224.

"To make white yncke." ib.

"Margerie Barduns yncke." ib.

"Nota de mensuris" etc. ib.

"To make very good yncke, and pleasant. with a good glasse" (i. e. gloss). p. 225.

"To make red yncke of Brasill." ib.

"To make greane yncke." ib.

"A generall wai for wash coullours of dyvers sortes." ib.

"To make turnsoill to writ blue wth;" also directions for color violaceus, ceruleus, sulphureus, etc. p. 226.

"To make good gum for yncke." p. 227.

"Yncke for texte letters." ib.

"To make gom water." p. 227.

"To make good incke." ib.

"To make yncke to rulle paper for to writ by, wherof, the writinge being dry, the lynes may be taken away that it shall seame youe have writen without lynes." ib.

"To make printers incke," of different colors. p. 228.

"To make perfecte good incke, proved." ib.

* * If this receipt was written with the ink thereby prescribed, its title to be regarded perfect cannot be impeached. Forman used a variety of inks, all good; but this passage is one of the best, its color being intensely black.

Here it may be added that ASHMOLE hath entered a piece under letter 'P' in this volume, which relates to this head, and is thus intitled:—"To make an Inke to write with, that shall not be discern'd, without washing it over with another liquor;" also "How to make the liquor." p. 552.

"Attrament:" or collections, 'Ex voce Bubaleri,' from Bacon, Dioscorides, 'Jhon de Medina,' Vigo, Isidorus, Aristoteles, and the 'Ortus Sanitatis,' relative to the coloring matter of inks. f. 230—1.

20. "Auripigmentum:" or orpiment described; also "Opus auripigmenti," for projection upon ♀. f. 233^{ab}.

21. "De Arsenico" quædam. p. 234—6.

22. "Adrop. Adrop in greke is as moch to sai as Saturnus in lattine." f. 238^a.

23. "Accurtatio lapidis," or "Abbreviatio aut accurtatio operis:" alechemical collections, in Latin and English, under these titles. f. 239, 240, 244^a.

24. "Antipathia et sympathia:" e Coclinio. f. *244^a.

25. "De Aqua.—The Boeke of Waters, and to what use the waters corrosive of arte serveth, and howe thei are made, and howe the philosophicall waters moste be used. Notes" therefrom. f. †244—5, p. 254.

No. 1495.

A large and thick folio volume, consisting of many quires of paper, all ruled in columns, and now foliated to the number of 521 leaves; whereof some, at intervals, are blank. The whole is in FORMAN'S handwriting. The two leaves before the title contain the following articles:—

- (1.) Directions "To cuer the rupture in any man or woman or child, of what agge soever he be, old or yonge, proved by M^r Barns, Smith, Drury, Fallofield, and Zone, and divers others." f. 1^c.
- (2.) Full prescriptions for nine "Approved medi-sons of our experience, for the cuering of divers sores. FORMAN." f. 2^a—2^d.

The two last are,—“The plaster resolute that I used to Besse Nastrope” etc. 1595; and “My diet purging drinke, that I used 1595, in May.”

Titulus: scilicet, SIMON FORMAN MC, cum maxi-mo tedio studio odio et labore, longa experientia, et cum multis laboribus et itineribus, composuit, anno Domini 1594.” f. 3^a.

Verses, in commendation of astrological physick: beg. If thou wilt a good phisision be. (6 st. of 4.) f. 3^b.

Arguments, in Latin, “That the urin, the pulse, the sidge, the rigio, the tyme, the government, the complection, the sweet, ar all falls to giv judgment by.” f. 3^{cd}.

FORMAN'S curious "Preface" to the following work, treating of climacteric years, and subjoin-ing copious extracts from old Latin writers: beg. It is writen in the boekes of God, that the heavens with all the host of them were created. f. 4^a—6^d, 12^{ab}, 7—8.

Latin aphorisms, intitled "The Grounde of Arte, gathered out of divers autors by S. FORMAN, practizer of phisique and studente of astronomie philosophic and naturalle magique &c. 1594." f. 11^{ab}.

General remarks "Of the 12 howses,—Of the 12 signs,—Of the 7 plannetes." f. 13^a—15^c.

"De gradibus siccitatis, calliditatis, et humiditatis, et frigiditatis, est sciendum." Cum tabula. f. 16^a—17^l.

“Judgmentes of diseses, and of life and death, after our experience. FORMAN.” Wherein is treated “Of making the question,” and of the ‘houses;’ with astrological figures and examples. f. 29^a—43^d.

The foregoing pieces appear to be introductory to the main work, which may be thus intitled:—

A body of rules, observations, directions, prescriptions, cases, and examples, relative to the Astrological Practise of Medicine; digested (after the manner of a common-place book) under the general heads of the seven planets, each of which is subdivided into the twelve signs of the zodiac; beginning with ♃, and ending with ♄. By Dr. SIMON FORMAN. f. 45^a—454^b.

The following articles appear to be in the nature of supplements to the said work:—

“General judgmentes by FORMAN, to knowe the disesas.” f. 458^a—62^b.

“Of the application of the ♄ to plannetes.” f. 465^a—7^d.

“To knowe wher the faulte shalbe, yf the sick be not cured.” f. 468^a—80^d.

“To knowe by what means the partie maye be euered, and wt what to begine.” f. 481^a—2^c.

“Of goinge to the sicke,” with curious instances. f. 484^a—7^b.

“Wher the siek mendeth, or continneth in a staie, or waxeth worse;” and like questions. f. 489^a—492^d.

“Of cueringe and ministringe firste to the siek or diseased;” with instances. f. 494^a—7^d, 500^a—501^d.

“Wher thou canste or shalt euer him or noe, upon the question of the first figure;” with full and curious examples. f. 502^a—4^d.

Various observations relative to the planets; and remarks “Of blod lettinge.” f. 505^a—6^d.

“Of compoundinge of medisons, when and at what tyme medisons should be made and compound-ed.” f. 507^{abc}.

“De vita et morte.” f. 508^a—13^c.

“Judgmentes upon the diseases of men and women, wthout the sighte of the urine, upon the dai and howar that they com.” f. 515^a—9^b.

Lying loose, at the end of this volume, were found two leaves, which seem to have been turn out of some other of Forman’s MSS. and contain a—

Fragment of a work, by FORMAN, “Of the ♂^{ons*} of plannetes;” beginning under this head, “Of the ♂ of ♃ and ♄, in ♀ ♁ and ♃.” ff. 522, 523.

* Conjunctions. This work is alternately paged ‘324, 326,’ written in undivided pages. See also No. 1501, v. art. 10.

There is also a small torn fragment of a Medical MS., apparently by Forman, at the end; which was found, as a marker, in this volume.

No. 1496.

A folio volume, containing two MSS. on paper; whereof the first is written in a clear and distinct hand, of the XVIIth century, and paged (on alternate pages to ‘353’) by Ashmole, but the writer’s name does not appear.

I. A treatise of ‘Philosophicall Physick,’ wherein the author undertakes to show, that the ‘remedies for all diseases’ consist ‘in the vitall principle, seed, and balsame, of vegetables, mineralls, and animalls;’ in fifteen chapters, beside “The conclusion” (p. 339), and “A recapitulation containing the principall conclusions of all philosophicall physick, according to the order observed in the precedent chapters.” (p. 343.) pp. 1—349.

Beginning thus:—“The first chap. The origine and progres of Medecine, and the various sects of Physicians. Among the ancients, famous is the memory of Esculapius, Polictarius, and Machaon, obtaining attributes of veneration, becaus by the divine excellency and power of medecine, they triumphed over humane infirmities, and dictated unto the world a Regiment of Health.”

The last page ends with “Finis;” and a sheet of smaller paper, written by the same hand, is added, containing—

“A table expounding some terms of art, and other hard words,” which occur in the foregoing work. p. 351—2.

The second MS. is separated from the foregoing by blank paper, through which and part of the MS. Ashmole’s paging extends. Its title-leaf, being loose, lay between two leaves paged ‘389, 393,’ and was numbered ‘391:’ it bears no foliation at the bottom, as the other leaves do, by the original hand. The title is displayed, as if prepared for the printer; and the whole work is written on one side of each leaf only.

II. “Th’ Epistle of the Rnd Fr. Sig^{re} PAULUS ANTONIUS FOSCARINUS, Carmelite, about th’ opinion of the Pythagoreans, and of Copernicus, touching the mobilitie of th’ earth, and stabilitie of the sunne, and of the new system or constitution of the world. Wherin, th’ authorities of the holy scripture, and theologicall propositions commonly brought against this opinion, are reconciled. To the R^c Rnd Fr. Sig^{re} Sebastianus Fantomius, Generall of the Order of the Carmelitanus.” p. ‘391,’ ff. 1^a—57^a.

The original work is dated at the end, Naples, 6 January, 1616; of which a printed copy, under date ‘Aug. Treb. 1635,’ is noticed in the Bodleian Catalogue. The present MS. is a translation, in the handwriting of Dr. JOSEPH WEBBE, (compare No. 1499,) and doubtless was made by him: but it does not appear to have been printed in English, though highly worthy of publication in the age when it was produced.

No. 1497.

A folio volume, containing 239 leaves of paper, (beside what has been added at each end by Ashmole,) foliated by the old hand to '225,' and furnished with headings, according to the table prefixed, which also is by the hand of an amanuensis.

Table of the 61 headings contained in this book, beginning with Aqua, and ending with Sales; but not in alphabetical order. p. 3.

A Common-place Book of Prescriptions and Remedies for diseases; partly written by an amanuensis, and partly by RICHARD NAPIER, Rector of Linford. ff. 1—225.

There is nothing written under the last head aforementioned.

Miscellaneous collections and observations by NAPIER, medical,* astrological, alchemical, and magical. pp. 1—2. ff. 1^b etc. (passim), 220^b—1, 223^b, 224^b, 226^b—7, 228^b—230, 236^b, 237^b—9.

* Among these are, one passage headed, "Sr Kenelme Dighbe," (f. 230^a), and "The Earle of Kent his deco[c]tion." (f. 238^a.) The magical charms and processes are curious.

To the last leaf is attached a paper, found as a marker in this volume, on which Ashmole hath noted references to the "Leaves turned down in one of the folios of Dr N: Receipts." On the blank paper bound up at the end, Ashmole hath fairly written the following most curious article:—

* "A true relation of the strange cure of one — Wallis, of Stamford, sent from Dr: Womack, Byshop of St: Davids, to Sr: William Dugdale, Garter, 7 Jan: 168^a/₄, from Ely." f. 240—1.

At the end is this note:—"This account of Wallis his sickness and recovery, was sent to Mr: Thomas Benyon of Ely, by Mr: Daniell Wigmore of Stamford, this Christmas 1683."

No. 1498.

A folio MS. fairly written on 97 leaves of vellum, in the XIVth or XVth century, adorned with rubrics and painted capitals: it is all in columns except the last 9 leaves, which are written in a smaller but very neat hand; the first 56 leaves are in an upright and more cursive character, the middle part in small round text-hand.

1. "Here bygynneþ GERARD CREMONENS' of þe Maner of Medicynng," in five books. "Here bygynneþ þe chapitlez of þe firste boke of signes of replecion and membres replete. The firste chapitre is of þe maner of tetryng how a man shal be purged." f. 1—2^d.

"The prologe of GERARD OF CREMOUNDE. Se then þat everiche science be cause of his ende and of his profite naturellie is desired to be knowen." f. 3—51^a.

Chapter '74' of the fifth book, ("Emp[1]astrum Oxiroceum") ends thus—and for to maken nesse cicatrices þat is to seyne þe eminence oþer þe erþe of a wounde oþir of a boche þat sheweþ whenne þe wounde is hole and also þey used hym for swell-ynggis. There is an other copy of this translation, of equal (if not greater) antiquity, but on paper, and mutilated, in No. 1434, ii.

2. The 'Gouvernaile of Helthe;' beg. "In þis trefte þat is y clepede Gouvernaile of Helthe, somwhat is to be saide, wiþ Cristes helpe, of þinges þ^t longen to bodely helþe had and to be kepte, or to bodely helþe loste and to be recoverede; and it is departede in viij. chapitres. [The titles whereof here follow.] It nedliþ hym þat wil have longe lif to know the crufte of holsom governaile." f. 51—6^d.

The eighth chapter ("Of noies of evel governaile") ends thus—"¶ Trewely of swiche it may be [56^d] saide: but þai leve of þai schal noght asterte þe stroke. Explicit." An other copy is in No. 1481, ii. art. 8.

3. "Here bigynneþ JOHANNICIUS. Medycyne is divyded in two partyes, þ^t is theoryk and practyk. þe whych theoryk is divyded in to þre þinges." f. 57—62^c.

Ending thus—"5 maner of knowyng of spicez. þe knowyng of spices is on 5 maners. of qualite. of quantite. of tyme. of ordre and discrecion of gode or yvel. Here endiþe Johannicius." Translated from Latin into English.

4. "Diffinicions or expownynges of certayn termes and membez and wordez þat bene contened in JOHANNICIUS. Naturel þenges ordeyneþ or makeþ a body, as elementes humours complexions." f. 62^d—3^d.

Ending—"Inward causes ben .6. after Ariceen þ^t is .4. humours. and aquosite or watrines. an[d] ventosite. Here endiþ þe diffinicion and expownyng of certayne termes in Johannicius."

5. Analytical tables, illustrating the following article: namely—

This last is the skeleton of the following treatise.

6. A book of pharmacy, or 'The Knowyng of Medicyne,' after RICHARDYNE: beg. "Of substance of medicynez. Of subtile substaunce. Of subtile substaunce is þat medycyne þat is sone dissolved." f. 68—88^d.

Ending—"And also it semeþ þat bethzahord takeþ his name of myneral þinges. and triakle of vegetable þinges. Here endiþ þe trefte of Knowyng of Medicyne after Richardyne." At the foot of the column is this verse written in the same text-hand,— "BLOXHAM cognomen RIC[ARDUS] det Deus omen:" which shows the writer's name.

7. An analytical treatise of the Urine and Pulse; in three parts:—

i. "When þat after autoures þer ben twenty coloures of Urynes, witnessyng to þe operacõs or worchynges of nature: we purpose to schewe which and how many þai ben. with signes discretyfes. and whiche coloures witnessen to whiche operaciouns. and whiche sekenesses þai schulde represent." etc. f. 89—91^b.

After nine more lines of rubric, the text begins thus in the margin—Colours witnessyng to indigestione. The last words are—“or þe ptisike. Here endeþ þe coloures of urynes wip here substaunces.”

ii. “Here bygynne þe contentes of Urynes. After þt we have determynede of colours of urynes.” f. 92—4^b.

Ending—“þat gendryþ þe membres. Here endeþ þe contentes and þe floures of urynes. R. CASTELL.”

iii. “When þt þer be twenty kyndes of Pulses: First we purpose to say what þat everyche kynde is. as wel kyndely as unkyndely. and here significaciouns. and how þai gone oute in dede by fyve condiciouns to be considerede of þe leche. A grete pouse is encresede on þre maners: and a litil pouse is made by þe contrarie maner.” f. 95—7.

Ending—“An unordinate pouse. Here endeþ þe boke of pulces.”

Prefixed to this MS. are 6 leaves of paper, on which are written, by a hand of the time of Queen Elizabeth, the following pieces:—

- (1.) “A note of the Dutch Chandeleres presse of head gate and of the scantlinge of the timber for it.” p. 1.
- (2.) Notes of some herbs. ib.
- (3.) De uvis passis et vino. p. 2.
- (4.) “Quid sit fermentatio.” p. 3.
- (5.) “Brief rules of husbandry.” p. 12.

No. 1499.

A folio volume containing many MSS. and papers, all, except the tenth, written about the time of Charles I. The first eight are written on alternate pages, by the same hand as the title and other parts of No. 358, v. and vi., (which should be compared with this MS.) and the whole of No. 1496, ii. The following general title, &c., are written by the same hand on two quarto leaves prefixed:—

“Philiatrur et Pyrophilus; or, Helmont disguised: contayninge soudry discourses or weekly meetynges about fevers, the stone, the plague, the 4. humors etc: succeedinge this introductive dialogue to a further inquirie into Physick.” f. 1^a.

Written invertedly on the other side, (also by the same hand as the following MSS.) are estimates of the—“Charges in printinge of 1500 copies of every sheete” of this work, and the profits thereon. f. 1^b, 2^a.

It seems, from f. 215, that the author was Dr. JOSEPH WEBBE.

I. “The first meetinge of Philiatrur and Pyrophilus, about the examination of the definition of a fever accordinge to the auncient Physitians.” (ff. 11.) f. 4^a—14^a.

II. “The 2nd. meetinge [etc.] about putrefaction in fevers, introduced by the declyninge schooles.” (ff. 13.) f. 16—28.

Dated thus at the end, ‘10r. 30. 47.’ or 30 Dec. 1647.

III. “The 3. meetinge [etc.] about an examination of the doctrine of auntient Physitians concerninge circuits, periods, or retourns in fevers.” (ff. 13.) f. 30—42.

Dated ‘Jan. 3. 47.’ i. e. 1647—8.

IV. “The 4th meetinge [etc.] about th’examination of bloudlettinge in fevers.” (ff. 25.) f. 44—67.

This part is a fair copy of the sixth, written by the same hand as the two tracts in No. 358, and corrected by the author: ff. 3—6 of the next part are written in the same manner.

V. “The 5th. [etc.] about th’examination of purging medicines.” (ff. 11.) f. 68^b, 69—79.

Dated ‘Jan. 5. 47.’ or 1648.

VI. “Phlebotomia in febribus examinatur:” the fourth dialogue. (ff. 20.) f. 80—104.

Dated ‘10ris. 7. 47.’ or 7 Dec. 1647.

VII. “Αποτροπαια Tadaï Lubreti:” a dialogue between A. and B., about ‘Apotrops’ or amulets against contagious disease. (ff. ‘10.’) f. 105—15.

VIII. A dialogue between the same parties*, about the nature of the plague. (ff. 5.) f. 116—121.

* In No. 358, vi. the parties are Agitator and Benevolus.

IX. “The first disputation. [A dialogue between] Decane and Candidate. Of the definition and division of the art of physick, and of things naturall, in contemplation whereof the first part is employed.” (pp. 3—11.) f. 122—6.

The two subjects treated of are, the ‘elements’ (p. 8), and ‘temperaments’ (p. 11), in which the MS. ends abruptly after a question by ‘D:’ it consists of 13 leaves cut at the edges, and its 9 written pages are in a very neat hand, unlike the foregoing MSS., yet, compared with f. 276, probably Dr. WEBBE’S.

X. “The coppie of a l’re sent by a learned Phisician to his freind, wherein are detected the manifold errors used hetherto of the Apothecaries in preparinge ther composicōns, as syrups, condytes, conserves, pills, potions, electuaries, losances etc.; wherein also the reader shall find a farre better manner howe to preserve and correcte the same, to the great hono^r and credit of the Phisician, and comforte of the sick, but chiefelie to the great praise and glorie of almightie God.” f. 134^b; (pp. 23,) f. 135—46.

Dated and subscribed, thus—“From my howse at S. the xxvjth of this present March. 1586. Your lovinge cosin and frend, student in phisick, J. W.” This neat transcript is by a contemporary hand: of the 14 quarto leaves, the first page and the 3 last are blank.

XI. "To make sondry sorts of sodden waters." (ff. 3.) f. 148^a, 149^a, 150^a.

Original of the introductory paragraph and 3 first chapters of the following MS., written by Dr. WEBBE, in large quarto.

XII. A book of directions for making broths and other nutritive drinks, in 85 chapters. (ff. 2—42.) f. 151^a—88^a.

The first leaf is lost: only the fragment of the second chapter is written by the same hand as the foregoing MS., wherein what is here wanting may be found. The title only of the last chapter is written down, which is—"To make a menestra of goates milke, yolkes of eggs, and juyce of oringes." Three vacant pages follow.

XIII. 1. "The first Dialogue. Of Nature; what shee is, and who they ought to be w^{ch} search into her." f. 190.

2.—"Of the operation of Nature in our purpose and sperme." f. 192.

3.—"Touchinge the first matter of metall." f. 194.

4.—"How metall are generated in the bowells of the earth." f. 195^b.

5.—"Of the generation of all kinds of stones." f. 197^b.

The last of these nonsensical dialogues is imperfect, ending with the catchword with. These 8 leaves are in the handwriting supposed to be Dr. WEBBE'S. Their foliation is continued, by Ashmole, to f. 250.

XIV. De febris aphorismi 25, ex Helmontii scriptis forsan excerpti. f. 198^a—200^a.

By the same hand as the foregoing, written on half of the width of alternate pages. On the back of the last leaf, invertedly, appears—

A flattering letter or dedication to a nobleman; unfinished. f. 200^b.

Fairly written in Italian hand.

XV. "Diseases cured and healped by my julep-water:" in the cases of Mrs. Williams, 'Davie M^r Bradshawes man,' Mr. W. Bradshaw (aged 60), 'the L. Hinton's woman,' 'my son Steeven,' and his elder brother, and mother, Mr. Steeven Smith, Dr. Harvey, the author, and Capt. Paynter's child. f. 201^a—6^a.

Seemingly written by the author of the Dialogues; on alternate pages.

XVI. Medical "Directions for M^r Henry Petre going to the Bath, Apr. 15. [16]47." f. 207—8^b.

Written by the same hand as MS. iv., and corrected by the author.

XVII. The qualities and uses of "Bezoar water, spirit of clary, spirit of mints, aqua Mariæ, treacle water, spirit of saffron, spirit of rosemary flowers, spirit of roses, [and] Adrian Gilbert's cordiall water." f. 209^{ab}.

Fairly written by the same hand as MS. ix.

XVIII. "The right use of the following balmes;" viz. one against apoplexy, 'the balme of cinnamon,' and ten others. f. 211^{ab}.

This leaf and the next sheet were written by unknown hands.

XIX. An alphabetical table of drugs, with their prices. f. 212^{ab}.

XX. Chemical examination of the "Smithfield water," which was 'muddy and tasted something like the Spaw-water.' f. 214^a.

XXI. "Observationes quædam in dissectione cadaveris dignissimæ nobilissimæque conjugis perillustris Dⁿⁱ: Dⁿⁱ: Henrici Slingsby equitis aurati, 1^o Jan^{ij}. 1642:" cui adfuit "JOSEPHUS WEBBE Med: Doct: cum alijs."* f. 215^{ab}.

This paper is a rough corrected draught, subscribed thus: it is evidently the Doctor's autograph. Other contents of this volume, (almost the whole being in the same handwriting,) are therefore ascribed to Dr. Webbe, as their author, on the evidence of the present article.

XXII. 1. De vitriolo chemica quædam. f. 216^{adbc}.

By Dr. WEBBE'S hand. Scemingly unfinished: or a sheet may have been lost from within this sheet.

2. The uses of "The drinke or beere of birch, [which] takes away the feare or suspition of diurecticks:" also the manner of making it. f. 217^{ab}.

By Dr. WEBBE'S hand.

XXIII. How "To measure the certaintie of a stills droppinge." f. 218^b.

XXIV. Epistola ad virum quendam 'inclytum,' de Pauli cujusdam 'methodo senaria quadrataque secretiori, qua res admirandas erui existimabat, disserens. (8 id. Nov. 1617.) f. 219^{ab}.

Dr. WEBBE'S original draught, as it seems: it relates to some Cabalistic inventions.

XXV. Artis chemicæ tabula synoptica, 80 aphorismos comprehendens; ubi sunt hæc ostensa*: —"Tabulæ partes. Definitiones. Officia, usus, virtutes, et commoda. Exempla. Operandi modus et processus. Canones et cautiones." f. 222^b—229.

* Written in parallel columns, at each opening, by Dr. WEBBE.

XXVI. (a). Directions for the melting and refining of tin and copper. f. 230^a.

(b). "A black boiler for ☿," and "A boyler for ☉," with other mineral directions. f. 231^{ab}.

(c). "To make ♀ malleable," and "To coagulate ♀" etc. f. 232^a.

(d). "To make a mettall very like ☿ both in the breaking and touching, so y^t [it] will be hardly discern'd from it."—"An other experiment:" an other, and "An experiment upon tinn." f. 233^{ab}.

The first of these articles is the first page of a sheet; the third is one leaf, and the others are smaller papers: all by the same old hand.

XXVII. (a). How to make a white, malleable, and ductile metal, chiefly of copper. f. 234^a.

A quarto leaf, by the same hand as the next article, which is fairly written on two sheets.

(b). Curious directions "How to anneile in glasse:"
(f. 236) viz.—

"The forme of the fornace for the anneiling in glasse, with the instruments therto belonging." f. 235^b.

"The manner how to erect the furnace." f. 236.

"How you ought to prepare and put yo^r glasse into the furnace." f. 236^b.

"The receipts for the true making of some colours for glasse." f. 237—8.

XXVIII. (a). "Aqua arsenici:" how to distill it, with a draught of the furnace. f. 239^a.

(b). Experiments in the melting and mixing of metals. f. 240^a.

(c). Other experiments, by a different hand. f. 241^a.

(d). How "To make aurum musicum." f. 242^a.

These papers (the last of which is a sheet) were written by different hands: the second is by the same as MS. xxvi.

XXIX. Sundry experiments in the melting, refining, and mixing of metals. f. 244^a, 245^a, 246^a.

Written by a woman's hand in the time of Queen Elizabeth.

XXX. A religious discourse on fasting: beg. I will take my begininge from that evanglicall sayinge, The dayes will come when the bride-groomc shall bee taken etc. f. 247—9^b.

Written and corrected by Dr. WEBBE's hand: the fourth leaf is vacant.

XXXI. "The dialogue of LEWES LAZERELL, a Christian poete, to king Ferdinand, intituled the Bassin of Hermes: wher-in he handleth y^e manner how to knowe God and himself." Translated into English. (ff. 14.) f. 251—62^b.

Beg. After a long time being in doubt: ending—wherefore, I intreat y^t ye whiles ther-of I shall make a just benoning, you will give me attention. It is the original MS., fairly written, and corrected; but seems to be unfinished.

XXXII. "Animal Phantastieum:" a dialogue, between A and B., on the effect of the imagination in contagious diseases. (ff. 6.) f. 263—8^b.

Eight quarto leaves: in Dr. WEBBE's handwriting.

XXXIII. 1. Extracts (translated?) from some treatise* on the elements and formation of material things. (ff. 6.) f. 272^a, 271^a—6^a.

* Cited as 'E. 216—225.' Written on alternate pages (in quarto) by Dr. WEBBE: the last leaf is written like to the ninth MS. in this volume.

2. An 'introduction' on the same subject. f. 277—278.

Very fairly written by the same hand as the fourth MS., as also is the next leaf.

3. "Epistola J. B. ad amicum:" translation of a Dutch letter on the work of tinctures, by JACOB BÖHMEN an alchemist. f. 279^{ab}.

No. 1500.

A folio volume containing nine MSS. on paper, foliated and paged together by Ashmole. The first is of the time of Queen Elizabeth, roughly written; its first leaf is vacant, and the two last leaves of the former part are torn: it is stained with damp.

I. 1. A translation of a treatise on the Cæsarean birth; with "An apendix containinge sundry and new histories, by which those thinges that are handled in the former tract are proved; added by CASPAR BAUHINUS:" translated into English. f. 1—40^b, p. 41—52—81.

2. Seventy 'advices' concerning the treatment of sundry diseases; beg. "The first advice concerning the alopccia or depilation," with "FERNELLIUS his answer:" seemingly a translation of a work by that author. p. 83—117.

Ending—"The 70 advice, one letter which by slender diett and the decoction of guaiacum drave away a disease.—drawe them forth with an estuary, which for swellinge shall be used to the plants of his fecte. Finis." The two leaves marked '155, 157,' are torn and mutilated.

II. Medical and surgical collections: a book of remedies for sundry diseases, of the manner of surgical operations, and various observations relating to the duties of his profession; by JOHN HARVY, Surgeon. p. 179—250.

A very curious MS. beginning thus—"Apply this defensive above þe brokyn membar. Take of oyle of rosis" etc. Then follows the case of "Lynnard de Paucijs a gentyllman [who] brake þe bonys of hys lefte legge;" after which the writer says—"I John Harvy have sene them set and splyntyd and leyde in þe barke of an oke, of ashe, of aller, or in styf tannyd lether, or in the leg of an old hote" etc. At p. 206, is a curious account of Pillyp Forsdon of Silverton, and "a gentyllman that was shot at Barnard or Bosarde felle—w^t a hackebush." Perhaps the most curious part is p. 222, where the necessities of a 'Surgyan yn the war' are described: the 8 following pages contain eight chapters of a tract, subscribed—"Thus endyth the boke of Fracturys and Dyslocayons, in the name of God who be blessing for ever and ever."

The writing is large and coarse, of the time of Henry VII. Affixed to the first leaf of the next MS., (which is vacant and unnumbered,) is a half leaf that was found loose, written by Harvy, and containing, with other notes, these names—"Harry Both, Phillip Mownsylye, John Motton, John Davstyne, Robart Hoore, Nicholas Gervys þe somner, Wilyam Avstyne."

III. A short tract, declaring that "There are three kindes of dropsies," (Anasarca, Ascites, and Tympanites;) and describing their nature and causes. p. 251—2.

Fairly written, and corrected, in a hand like to that of Edward Barlowe, in No. 1487.

IV. "ANDREVS DE CREUSE his opinnion in the couching of the catteracke. Segnu aviisina in the catterack are divers collores." p. 253—5.

This sheet is in a running hand of the time of Q. Elizabeth.

V. A collection of medical Prescriptions for various diseases; partly in Latin; with some alchemical experiments. p. 257, 259, 261—75, 279, 283, 285.

Sixteen leaves, all written on alternate pages, except the 13th, 14th, and last, which are vacant. P. 267 contains only two charms; and a receipt by "Docketer Canoway, anno 1607," at p. 269, shows the age of this MS., which is fairly written, and in a good state.

VI. "A Glasse for the Sycke to perceave their perelle:" or a treatise of critical days in agues and fevers; with a preface.* p. 289—91, 293—320.

* Seemingly wanting a leaf: this MS. is also imperfect at the end, and stained and mutilated: it is of the age of Q. Elizabeth. The author names his 'Dyall of Agues' at the beginning.

VII. "Tabula philosophiæ naturalis:" per analysin subtilissimam elaborata. p. 336, 321—33.

The first leaf (or cover) having been turned to the end, the title appears at p. 336. These 4 sheets were stiffly written, in the time of James I.

VIII. Medicinæ tabula analytica: auctore JOSEPHO WEBBE, M.D. p. 337—46.

Compare his papers in No. 1499. The 5th and 6th leaves are vacant: there is no p. 343.

IX. "Certayne controversies concerning the duggs;" also questions about the muscles of the thorax, the diaphragma, and especially the heart, discussed. p. 351—71.

Seemingly an original medical exercise or lecture. Of these 20 leaves, the last 9 are vacant: Ashmole's fly-leaves, which followed, have been cut out.

No. 1501.

Sundry confused lots of papers, bound together in a portfolio of vellum, in which they seem to have long lain loose.

I. "A perspicuous Explanation of the arte of Astrologie, by M. R." dedicated unto King James I. (p. 121.) p. 1—188.

This title is taken from the latter part, which seems to be a second copy, by the same hand: a title little differing (except the omission of the initials) is at p. 25; before which are—"A preface confutatorie," p. 1, (also pp. 21—4); "A preface astronomical unto the judicious and learned reader," (beg. I wrote of late—a small discourse of the nature of the Loadstone) p. 7; the dedication, p. 13, with another copy of the second preface; and "The prologue," p. 19—20. At p. 183 begins "The epilogue." The leaves marked 43, 45, 47, are smaller papers inserted, and crossed over with red pencil, as many other passages are.

II. 1. An astrological fragment relating to medicine, partly intitled thus:—"Here after followeth what parte of man's body, and what diseases and propertie, belongeth to every of ye planets." p. 189—90.

Not part of the following articles, but seemingly by the same hand, on different paper.

2. An astrological treatise of love and marriage, and the accidents thereof; also of journeys, and other subjects of soothsaying. p. 191—209.

It seems to be imperfect at the beginning, where the corners of the leaves are torn. The five last titles are—"Nuptiarum utrum querens uxorabit querent.—Utrum mora et quam diu.—Rumores utrum veri.—Preliatores utrum redient an non.—Bestiarum predictio."

3. "Planetarum forma, qualitas, et significatio, in qualibet hora dici" etc. p. 209—13.

4. [In A] "strorum judicium introductio facilis, CLAUDIO DARIO TO Pomarcensi medico ac mai . . . [auct]ore. De zodiaci et signorum divisione. Cap. i. Zodiacus est circulus cæ magnis." p. 214—248.

Cap. 32. des.—"certum definitumque judicium faciet. Τελος."

5. "Tractatus de electionibus principiorum idoneorum rebus inchoandis, CLAUDIO DARIO TO Pomarcensi medico auctore. Electionum radices et fundamenta. Cap. i. Electio pro eo cuius nactivitas." p. 249—52^b.

It ends thus, on a fragment of a leaf (which contained only the last 6 lines) formerly placed between pp. 250—1,—"magnam operationi tue utilitatem exhibebis. Hec igitur de electionibus breviter dicta sufficient."

6. Rules for the solution of horary questions, on sundry subjects alphabetically disposed: beg. "Amator quem vel qua[m] diligit. If thou wilt knowe whom." p. 253—6.

The last is—"Nuptiarum utrum fient vel non." A leaf is wanting, or more.

7. [De] "Significatoribus morbi eorumque Erecta figura, horu qua nuntius ad medicum venit." Cum aliis duobus capitulis. p. 257—260.

The last title is—"Qua in parte corporis morbus sit, dextra scilicet aut sinistra, an recens aut antiquus, in toto vel in parte sedem habeat. Cap. vi." The last words are—in corde morbus habetur.

III. "Mr LILLIES foule papers"* of his 'astrological judgements,' published in several of his Almanacks; namely, for the years 1675, 1658 (p. 305), 1659 (p. 341), 1670 (p. 377), 1661 (p. 381), 1669 (p. 393), 1674 (p. 421).—pp. 263—434.

* This title is written on p. 261, a kind of wrapper: to which were affixed two half-rotten leaves, now restored to No. 210, ii. to which MS. they properly belong.

Some of these papers seem to be the rough draughts, others the copy sent to the printer. Between pp. 298—9 are one folded leaf, and two smaller papers.

IV. 1. "Profecia S^ti Thomæ Martyris, in libro collectionum MORLEY, Glassenbury Canonici, invento, in domo Domini Tucker in Abingdono, Jan: 1665. Lillium in meliori parte manebit." p. 2.

This is a fair copy, by Ashmole; which, having been transmitted by him to Lilly, (by whom the marginal notes were written,) became the subject of the following article, of which the first page is written on the back of it.

2. LILLY'S Commentary on the foregoing prophecy,* designated by him as "My discourse intended for ye yeare 1666, per MERLIN: ANGLICUS, my special friend;" with copies or extracts of other old prophecies, adapted to that time. p. 1, 3—20.
* The translation of it is on the opposite page '(3),' headed, "A prophecy of St Thomas the Martyr, in a book [etc.] Jan: 1665."
3. A figure set (by Coley?) 10 or 11 Oct. 1676, apparently for "Mr Sherman." p. '49.'
4. Letter from FRA. ROBINSON, to "Mr Docter Colle" (Coley), desiring some 'direction' for the finding of a bundle of papers and deeds, left (before going to sea) with William Temple, a haberdasher in Southwark, and supposed to be (since his death) in the possession of Thomas Temple his son. (London, 12 Oct. 1676.)
5. "Astrologically judgments for the year 1677, by WILLIAM LILLY, student in astrology." p. 21—46, 51—2,* 59—60.
* The leaf paged '51,' stands between artt. 3 and 4. The last leaf is folded; and is marked at the foot, "Anglicus 1677, per W. L." and "These papers from Hen. Coley."
- V. I. A fragment of one of FORMAN'S books, whereof the running title is "Of the 9 heaven," or ninth sphere. f. 1^a—1^d.
Written in columns: the margin is decayed.
2. Collections relative to diseases, from chapters [1[?]], 3, 5, 27, 29—32, 14, 23, 24, 26, and 33, of some old medical work. f. 2—3^b.
Two large leaves, very closely written by an unknown old hand.
3. Draught of an escutcheon, bearing 9 cross crosslets, with a flower of six leaves in the middle. f. 4^b.
A small red paper.
4. A Letter from ARTHURE DEE to Mr. Sandy (R. Napier), with figures on the back, set for "Mrs Cuts," and Napier's astrological and medical notes. ("Aug. 22.") f. 5—6^b.
Much torn: the direction, and seal of arms, remain on f. 6^b.
5. Some astrologico-chemical notes, by FORMAN. f. 6^b—7^b.
Paged '67' by Ashmole: it is a quarto leaf, apparently a fragment of a book.
6. Figures set in 1629 and 1606, by NAPIER; with notes of Mrs. Walthorne's case. f. 8—11^b.
Torn and decayed papers, in quarto.
7. Fragment of a book of the natures of the planets, and practical cautions under their influences. f. 12—13^b.
In a hand contemporary with Napier and Forman.
8. Rough tables of 'Promissiores,' in some horoscope, by LILLY. f. 15—16^b.
Two folio leaves.

9. Printed form of tables for reduction of a horoscope,* filled up with aspects of the planets, by LILLY.

* A folio leaf, printed by John Allen, in Paul's church-yard, 1655.

10. Fragments of FORMAN'S work, "De ζ bus planetarum." f. 18—23^b.

The upper halves of decayed leaves, alternately paged '332, 334, 336, 338, 340, 342.' See two leaves of the same MS. in better condition, at the end of No. 1495.

11. "What dayes in ye yeare as be marvelous evill to beginne or doo any thing in." f. 24^a.

"To know when it is good or eville to take any thing in hand, by the aspects of the plannetes." f. 24^b.

Tabulæ "Triplicitatum planetarum," et "Termini planetarum secundum Hermetem Ægip." etc. f. 25^a.

Directions "For the exaltacō of ye plannettes, and falle of them;" etc. f. 25^b.

"The tyme to take ye howres of ye plann..... beginning at ye sonne rysing;" with other astrological rules. f. 26^{ab}.

These three leaves are a fragment of a large folio MS. written about the time of Queen Elizabeth, foliated '14, 15, 16.'

No. 1502.

A large folio volume, bound in rough leather, containing 194 leaves of paper, with dried specimens fixed chiefly on alternate pages: seemingly made in the time of Charles I. The index is written by the same hand, on the first leaf of a sheet prefixed.

HORTUS SICCUS; seu Liber Plantarum cccclxii. Medicinalium, "Secundum Pharm: Londin:."* (ut videtur) alphabetice dispositarum, foliis agglutinatarum 194; cum Indice præmisso.

* These words are on the first page, with the number '56.' In the old Catalogue (num. 7528) this book is wrongly ascribed to Wbeler; it being described with No. 1465.

No. 1503.

A thin folio volume, consisting of several MSS., fragments, and papers, found loose in the Library, and lately bound together: of which only the first, second, and fifth, seem to belong to this number.

The first MS. is neatly written, and has its headings and first words ingrossed: the first page, and the 3 last, are vacant.

I. An epistolary preface, addressed to Ashmole? by his 'most obliged servant J. W.' f. 1^b.

A short discourse of the original matter and formation of things, on Hermetic principles; by 'J. W., Octo. 1679.' (pp. 7.) f. 2—5.

II. Collectanea de re alchemica, a quodam "SAWTERMAN" ex auctoribus multis antiquis collecta et transcripta; sed valde mutila. f. 7—40.

The writer's name is subscribed to some few of the articles, namely, at ff. 26, 30^b, 36. This MS. was written in the XVth century, in a very small and close hand, and is in an imperfect state: it was until lately quite loose, its leaves having been separated by the rottenness of the margins; few of the leaves could be made to follow in their due order, and the catchwords show that many are lost. Its margins are noted by Dr. DEE'S hand, whose initials are at f. 16, and autograph at f. 37^b, thus, "Joannes Dee. 1573. Augusti"....

III. Charters and other Records relating to the Duchy of Lancaster, with a list of them prefixed. f. 41—66^b.

These '13' sheets were transcribed from No. 1157, (as the note at the beginning shows,) about the time of George I.: the three first of them were found loose in that MS., after the others had been bound.

IV. Two corrected draughts of ASHMOLE'S Narrative of the Coronation of Charles II. f. 67—76, 77—81^b.

Both by his own hand: but the latter hath some corrections, in pencil, by an other hand. Compare the fair copy, No. 819.

V. "The French Alchimy, wherein is contained the right and true composition of the elixers both white and redd, with y^e making of y^e great stone of y^e philosophers, as it was truly taught in Paris by a father to his sonn, and perfectly concluded many years since by JOHN SANNERE, and now turned into English by a lover of the said science, to the hon^r of God and help of the poore." (etc.) In two parts or books, divided into 9 and 7 chapters; with a preface. (pp. 15.) f. 82—86—89.

Pp. 13—14 were transposed in the binding. The writing is of Charles the First's time; and the larger writing, on the last page, is not unlike Dr. Webbe's, (compare No. 1499,) namely—Præscriptiones duæ:—"Scamonei rosatum" et "Pillulæ cephalo-catholicæ." f. 89^b.

VI. Inquiries, proposed to a gentleman dwelling in the West Indies, concerning many plants, trees, and other natural productions of those islands; by Dr. MARTIN LISTER. f. 90—1.

The draught of a long letter; not signed, but evidently written by the Doctor, (in a close and neat hand) before 1678, when his History of Spiders, herein promised, was published. See No. 1475.

VII. I. "HUGO DE SANCTO VICTORE de conscientia. Domus hæc in qua habitamus ex omni parte ruinam minatur nobis." f. 92—102.

Des.—"Ad hujus scientie [Dei, scilicet] opus est intima compuncione potius quam profunda investigatione percenire, suspirijs quam argumentis, lacrimis quam sententijs, oratione quam lectione, gracia lacrimarum quam sententia literarum, celestium potius contemplacione quam terrestriam occupacione. Explicit."

2. Homilia de sui cognitione et regimine: inc. Quid enim tantum diffidis animo o homo? Cur adeo mente debilitaris? f. 102—3^b.

Des.—"Delinquencium finis te corrigit. Reproborum interitus ad viam salutis proficiat. An ejusdem auctoris?"

This MS. is written in a common hand of the XVth century, on paper, with wide margins: the upper part is decayed. It has red capitals, one of which (on 103^a) is written R for I.

No. 1504.

A folio volume, containing 50 leaves of vellum, all of a very large size except ff. 1, 44, and 48, which are smaller by the breadth of the margins; f. 50 also is small, and of a different kind of vellum inserted; between ff. 9—10, and between 40—1, is a leaf of blank paper.

This most curious book seems to have been a BOOK OF PATTERNS of an ILLUMINATOR of MSS., containing the following specimens of his art, about the beginning of the XVIth century.

1. Ninety-four large Pictures of Trees, Plants, and Flowers,—two on each page, with their names ingrossed in English above; also smaller flowers, beasts, birds, insects, instruments, household-goods, houses, landscapes, and other subjects of painting, curiously painted below, on every page. f. 1^a, 2—25^b.
2. Seven Pictures of large and grotesque compound Flowers; with smaller flowers fairly painted in the spaces around. f. 26^b—9^b.
3. Forty-eight large Pictures of Birds and Beasts, (some of which are fabulous,) with their names ingrossed above in alphabetical order, and smaller animals painted in the spaces. f. 30—41^b.

On the last page are three 'Rats' and one Frog; but the name of the latter is not written.

4. Five curious colored Alphabets of different patterns; the first and second of very large church-text* ornamented, the third of large semi-Gothic capitals, the fourth of like capitals (but smaller) in ink, the fifth of small Gothic capitals in rubric. f. 30—45.

* Three inches high.

5. Part of an Alphabet, (only the letters ABC D,) formed of priests, knights, women and animals, painted in grotesque positions. f. 45^b.
6. Armorial bearings:—(1.) a shield placed aslant (party per pale argent and gules) with a crowned helmet above; (2.) the arms of the "Empereur" with the collar of the Golden Fleecce, the imperial crown, and this motto "Plus outre." f. 46^{ab}.
7. Two large fantastic Flowers. f. 47^{ab}.
8. (1.) The arms of the "Kkyng" of England, (France and England quarterly) with the garter and motto, and crowned; also (2.) the arms of the Painter? f. 48^{ab}.

An alphabetical Index of the names of Plants and Flowers painted in the first part of this book. f. 49^a.

Written in a large hand, in 5 columns: the lower part has been cut off, which, it seems, contained an Index of the beasts' names.

The first leaf and the last, in this volume, are parts of a very large MS. written in the XIIIth century, in columns, adorned with painted capitals.

Fragmenta duo e Breviario antiquo, in quibus habetur pro "Dominica .i.^a adventus Domini: officium" etc. ff. 1, 50.

The writing is just like that of No. 1523.

No. 1505.

A very large folio MS. largely written on paper, in the XVth century, in a coarse hand, having rubrics and painted letters. The number of leaves is 245: whereof the first 3 and the last one are of thick parchment; on the second page of which is this note,—“Blanc[h]e May was married the ix day of Julye in the yere—1567. W. G.” Also the two following inscriptions are written, in large square letters, on that and the opposite page: “1578, Preceptor hvivs libri est Gvhielmvs Galvs χ¹⁸ϩργ¹⁵ν Londoni.” f. 1^b. “¶ Barnardvs Brooke est auctor hvivs libri. 1303.” f. 2^a.

The ‘Lylce of Medicynes,’ in seven parts or books; being the Lilium Medicinæ of Master BERNARD* of Montpellier, translated into old English: beg. “I^{us} liber. Of a philosophre Socrates axed in what manere he myzt best seye. and he answered. Ne seye þu noþynge.” f. 3—49—94—132—166^b—217—239^b—244^b.

The prologue ends thus—“þis booke was ycomensed by þe helpe of þe grete God in þe brygte studye of Munnepels after þe tyme þat y radde in þis science xx zere þe berynge of oure Lorde. Mo. CCCmo. iij. in þe moneþe of Julij.” See the Latin copy in No. 1410.

Only 5 leaves of the last book remain: it ends thus in the fourth chapter—and men þat be replete thenkþ that they haveþ grete charge uppon hem. ¶ And colrik men . . . ukþ þt hy . . . The last 3 words are catchwords. Ff. 133—4 belong to the second part, having been transposed from between ff. 91, 92.

* At the foot of the first page are drawn, with the writer's pen, two men in different habits; one, an ecclesiastic, is represented as uttering these words—“Ecce nomen huius libri,” (and lower down) “Bernardus auctor;” the other (with a cap and feathers) answering—“Benedicat illum Deus: qui composuit librum.” Below these last words, toward the corner of the page, is written Brock, but evidently by a later hand, and by an old possessor of the book, as it appears from this note at the end,—“M^r Broke M^r of the Kynges stylatorys, and maker of his excellent waters,” (f. 245) about the time of Henry VII.: yet this word so misled Gale, into whose hands the book afterward came, that he ascribed the work to a Bernard Brock, and this name has been perpetuated in Lhuyd's catalogue (num. 7736), but fortunately did not find its way into TANNER'S Bibliotheca. The last parchment leaf contains also the autograph of an earlier possessor, (sæc. xv.) namely, “Liber Ryc' Cler [vel Cley?] Rectoris sancti Pancracij civitatis Wynton.”

No. 1506.

A folio volume, containing 86 leaves of large paper, (except the three last, which are in small folio,) written by Ashmole in the latter part of his life. When they were lately bound together, the first 8 leaves were misplaced.

I. ELIE ASHMOLII Librorum præcipuorum quos collegerat, Catalogus alphabeticus, ad literam N tantummodo perductus. f. 9—33.

The last, and some other leaves of this part, are vacant.

II. Catalogue of Pamphlets, collected by ASHMOLIE, and bound together in volumes: thus arranged—

1. “Folio's, printed since the beginning of the Popish plott.” 1678—84. (ff. 12.) f. 35^{ab}—46^b.
2. “Quarto's. Controversies with the Church of Rome, etc.” (ff. 6.) f. 47—9^b, 51^a.
3. “Quarto's, printed since the beginning of the Popish plott,” chiefly Sermons, with one volume of old Canons etc. (ff. 6.) f. 53—8^b.
4. “Quarto's relating to the old Puritans.” f. 59—64^b.
5. “Quarto's,” historical and political, from 1605 to 1680. f. 65^{ab}.
6. “Quarto's. Severall peices wrote by R L' Strange esq^r.” or about him, and relating to his time. f. 67—70.
7. “Quarto's in King Charles the First's reigne.” f. 1—8.

III. Catalogue of “Octavo's”—pamphlets and larger books. f. 73^{ab}.

IV. De Stephano Rege Poloniae excerpta genealogica et historica, e “DAVIDIS CHYTREI Silva Chronica Saxoniae et vicini orbis arctoi, ab a^o: Christi 1580 usque ad 1591. Argentinae 1591” impressa. f. 75—6.

V. Nomina astrologorum Arabum et Hispanorum quorundam, prout diverse scripta reperiuntur. f. 77^a.

VI. Librorum Cabalisticorum, (quorum Hebraice plerique omnes) catalogus. f. 79—80.

VII. “The contents of a booke in Sr Robert Cotton's Library, Vitellius C. 7.” f. 81^a.

More fully described in Smith's Catalogue p. 86, and Planta's p. 424.

VIII. Catalogue of “MS. bookes sent [by ASHMOLIE] to M^r Mundy to bynd, 24 Mar. [16]76:” eleven in quarto, six in folio, and six “Bookes to be clasped only.” f. 82^{ab}.

Catalogue of twelve “Quarto bookes sent to bynding to M^r Mundy, 17 Mar. 167⁶.” f. 83^{ab}.

Catalogue of six others, “d^d 17 Mar.” f. 84^{ab}.

Catalogue of 24 MSS. in folio, “Delivered to M^r: Mundy to bynd, 7 Feb. 1677.” f. 85^a.

All these were relating to Alchemy and Astrology: compare the Catalogue of some of them, in No. 1788, which ought to have been bound up with these papers.

No. 1507.

A folio volume, bound in 'speckled leather,' stamped with Ashmole's arms on each cover, and illustrated with his Portrait, uniformly with No. 855—866: it contains 254 leaves of paper, including the fly-leaves and portrait (f. 5), whereof those in which the last article is, are stouter, and are written in very fair and upright Italic hand; the others were neatly written by Ashmole.

Names of the "Treatises conteyned in this volume." f. 4^a.

1. "Speculum Philosophiæ JOHANNIS DASTINI. Cap: 1^m. Trinitatem adorantes omnia super tria ponimus." f. 6—33^b—81.

Chapter xi. of the second book ends thus—donec terra fiat ut nix alba. This copy was transcribed "Ex MS; penes D: Browne" (Sir Tho. Browne, or his son Dr. Edward, friends of Ashmole,) and is not so complete as that in No. 1420, art. 20. Compare the translation in No. 1493, art. 1.

2. "Theriaca Divina BENEDICTI [CIRENCESTRENSIS*]. Omnis gratia et sapientia a Dco Domino est. [etc.] Ego quidem nomine Benedictus hanc Theriacam benedictam fratribus meis tantum charitatis et rationis jam hic propalendam curavi. Cujus electuarij divini confectionis scientia." f. 82—109.

"Cap. 13. Recapitulatio" sic des. "pro sua pietate animas eorum recipiat. Amen. Versus [xxii.] Hæc tibi sunt secreta quis gaudebit sine meta" etc.

* The author's birth-place, and the time when he flourished, appear from these three last verses (of which every chapter hath some at the end,) where he says that his work was completed about midwinter—

Anno Millesimo trecentesimo nonagesimo nono [1399]
Sic cælo locatus Autor Cyrensestris auctus
Pro ipso chari pluris curate præcari."

Ashmole made this copy "Ex MS: penes Doctorem Browne de Norwic:" which was written 200 years after the work was composed, as it appears by this subscription—"Finis. 1599. Novemb. 1."

3. "Medulla Warchadumia:?"* or RIPLEY'S Marrow of Alchemy, translated into English: beg. I goeing about for yor precellent lordshipp to intreate of the seacrets of alkymie. f. 109^b—120.

Ending—"Now I doe bid yor lordshipp and gracious fatherhood farewell [etc.] evermore. Amen. Here endeth the treatise named the Marrow of Alkimie, compiled by GEORGE RYPLEY Anno Domini 1476, the 16th yeare of Edward the 4th. Translated out of Latine into English, by Mr JOHN HIGINS, Vic: of Win." (Eight lines follow, beg. Except ♀ be utterly destroyed.) An other translation is in No. 1487, ii. art. 24, which seems to be by Edward Barlowe.

* A marginal note at the beginning explains this word.

4. "In the name of Christ it is begun on his day 1571. Glorious Lord with the vertue of thy high power and thy infinite goodnes, I begin this Booke of y^e Secretes of Nature and of the Quintessence, which giveth doctrine of the drawing out thereof, and application to the bodies of men" etc. f. 121—8^b.

The eighth chapter is subscribed "By me THOMAS PETRE." After the ninth, begin translated extracts from Lully's Sermonal and Lapidary, and other old writers: the last words are—The diffinition of this principle should be false. This article and the next were transcribed from a "MS: penes Doctorem Floode, N. 2. fol."

5. "The Booke of Diffinitions of RAYMOND [LULLY]. Chaos is a generall confusion." f. 129—134^b.

Copied "Ex prefato MS," and probably translated by the same person. The colophon is—"Here endeth y^e Booke of Diffinitions of Raymond Lully philosopher of May-yorke, and Alderman of Paryse, dwelling in a streete called Secan the moneth of January, anno Domini 1307."

6. "A booke of the Arte Fusorie, very profitable and excellent to confounde the foolish sophisters and all such as will not beleive noe such science to be true, but with their doted heddes dispraise it." In seventeen chapters. f. 135—49^b.

Beg. "The Preface, how arte followeth nature in all thinges of his owne kinde, and not with strange kindes." Ending—Secondly the aire with the fire, and so turne natures. This article and the next seem to have been copied from one MS., but what MS. is not noted.

7. "An Epistle of BARNARD OF TREVIRE to a reverend Dr. his learned freind in the Dutchie of Burgundie. Freindship shineth in most high prayses." f. 150—6^b.

Ending—"For I write theis seacret poyntes unto you, as unto Natures Secretary, my most inward and faithfull freind. Finis." In the latter half, the MS. was a little mutilated.

8. "BENJAMIN LOCK his Picklock to Riply his Castle," (beg. For the introduction of this science of alchimy,) with a recommendatory preface "To the reader," by Dr. ARTHUR DEE. f. 158—181.

After the 31st chapter, ff. 176^b—180 contain pieces of RIPLEY'S poetry; after which "Here followeth the Sawes of the Philosophers. Our limbeck should not be luted." (f. 180—1.) At the end whereof is the following note: "9 Apr: 1659. Thus far I transcribed out of a MS: lent me by Dr Browne of Norwich, written wth Dr: Arthur Dees hand, and neatly bound up in Rushian lether. In the beginning whereof (before his Epistle to the Reader) he had written thus—

"This booke I received from Mr: Heriot, at Sion-house, who for many yeares instructed the Earle of Northumberland in the mathematicks, when he lived in the Towre. Anno 1602: June 6.

"To the end of the booke was added the Hunting of the Greene Lyon, under the tytle of Amen his hunting of the greene Lyon.—E. A." (f. 181^v.)

9. 'Truths Golden Harrow:' a defence of alchemy, by Dr. ROBERT FLOOD, against a book intituled 'The Tillage of Light.' f. 183—231.

Transcribed, in a very fair hand, from the autograph MS. in No. 766. ii., but the title page is omitted: 22 blank leaves follow.

No. 1508.

A folio volume, containing 275 leaves of paper, fairly written at different times by Ashmole: the former part is in a larger hand (set secretary), the latter in his common writing. It is bound in dark speckled leather, and has his arms stamped on the covers, as No. 1507, but it is not so tall. On f. 4^a is a short list of the contents.

I. RAYMUND LULLY's larger work of alchemy, called his Testament, with the smaller tracts thereunto belonging; translated into English, by WILLIAM ATHERTON, in 1558-9: namely—

1. "Here beginneth the Theoricke parte of Raymond Lully his Testament. Cap: I^{um}. O most glorious God w^{ch} art allmighty, we have begunne this present arte for to love understand and honour thee." f. 5—101^b.

"Thus endeth this booke, written in Latin by Matthew Londe the 17th of December ano. 1472, and translated into English by W^m. Atherton the 29th of August anno Domini 1558. Cui miseretur Deus."

2. "Here beginneth the Practice of Raymond Lully, and first the definition what alchymic is." f. 109—36.

Several figures are at the end; the last and chief of which is, "The circular figure of all the mastery" (etc.) f. 136^b.

3. "The Booke of Mercuryes, or of elixir mine-rall, being the 2^d parte of the Practice" etc. f. 139—88.

"This present Testament was translated from the Cataloni-call tongue into Latin [in] the yeare—1443, the 6th of June, att London in the parish of saint Bartylmewes. Finis. Τελος. Anno 1559."

4. "Sequitur Cantilena RAYMONDI LULLIJ. Amor nos facit hoc rimare." (10 octastichis.) f. 188^b.

5. "The exposicōn of Raymond's Songe. Love causeth us to search that wth corrupcōn thou maist knowe." f. 189—90^b.

6. "The Experiments of Raymond Lully of Majorca,—wherein the operations of the true chymicall philosophers are plainly delivered." f. 194—245^b.

Ending—"In whose name lett this present worke be closed wth a wished end. Anno 1430."

7. "A dialogue betweene Raymond, and a Monke of the Abbay of saint Benedicts in Paris, called Monaldus. Whan Raymond had made the bookes of the Seacretts of the lawe of nature." f. 248—252^b.

The colophon says that it was ended in that monastery in 1319.

8. "The short and compendious arte of Raymond Lully, in the w^{ch} is coupled and knitt the Flowres of all his bookes. A man knowinge his wife." f. 253—61^b.

"Thus endeth the compendious worke of Raymond upon the Testament, Codicill, and Veni mecum* of the number of Philosophers. Praysed be God q^d W^m ATHERTON an^o: 1559. The 17 of January."

* Vade, noted by Ashmole in the margin.

II. I. "The Apertory or Key of RAYMUND LULLY, wherein all things required in the worke of alchimy is plainly declared. Wee have called this our worke." f. 262—5^b.

Ending—"before it be put in the worke. Finis. Translated by THOMAS TYMME," as were probably the two next articles.

2. "The Accurtation of RAYMONDE. To kinge Robert." f. 266—8^b.

3. An abridgement of "RAYMOND's Workes. Raymond saith y^t ye old philosophers concluded and agreed." f. 269—71^b.

Ending—"for truly therein men be most deceived.

No. 1509.

This folio MS. was written on 154 leaves of vellum, about the end of the XIIIth century, in text-hand, and in columns; it is adorned with rubrics and illuminated letters.

Table des chapitres de l'ouvrage suivant: com. "Ici comence le livre du Tresor, le quel" etc. f. 1—5^a.

Ending—"Ici finissent les chapitres de ceste livre Amen." The next column, and the three following pages, are vacant.

"Ici comence le livre du Tresor, le quel Maistre BRUNET LATIN translata de Latin en Romance, et parle de la naissance de totes choses. Ceste primere livre est estraitz et compleitez de touz les livres de philosophie. Cest livre est appellee Tresor. Car si come li syres qe voet en petit lieu amasser chose de grandisme valour." f. 7—154^d.

Ending—"E ten irras chief [154^d] a ta gloire et a tes honors. Amen. Ici finist le livre de Tresor le quel translata Maistre Brunet Latin de Florence de Latin en Romance. Amen."

The first letter of the text of this work contains a picture of the author sitting with a book before him. Above the page is the autograph of "Thomas Wall, 1524, Wyndesore Heralut D'armes," whose arms are painted below the page. On a vacant part of f. 5^b may be found the autograph of another heraldic officer, "John Hollingworth, Russhebank" (or Risebank) Pursuivant of Arms, of which title he was the last bearer, in the reign of Queen Mary, being made Bluemantle, 6 Dec. 1 Eliz. See Noble's History of the Herald's College, pp. 157, 185.

No. 1510.

A folio volume, consisting of 226 leaves of paper, for the most part blank, only 50 being written upon, which are occupied with the neat handwriting of Theodoricus Gravius.

The first part of the controversy between GODFREY GOODMAN, Bishop of Gloucester, and Dr. GEORGE HAKEWILL, Archdeacon of Surrey, relative to the "Apologie or Declaration of the power and providence of God," published by the latter; thus intitled:—"An Answer to your Arguments of my Lord of Glocester, (as he calls them,) upon w[h]ich his Lordshipp hath undertaken to adventure the whole cause, touching the decay, or præservation of the world from decay." (pp. 101.) f. 2—52^a.

The respective passages of the two authors are superscribed "G." and "H." The whole discussion is subscribed thus, "Your Lordships to be commanded," (but without a name, as in the printed book;) and a short postscript by "G." is added, beginning—Because you make yourself merry &c. Compare the first part of Hakewill's fifth book, which first appeared in the third edition of his work, (London, 1635, folio,) pp. 1—78; the introductory pages of which book (sign. 'Aaaa 2') show that these discussions had been handed about in MS., and perused by Sir Kenelm Digby and others, before their publication. Compare also No. 1284, iii., which is referred unto in the quarto edition of Wood's Athene Oxon. (III. 257,) but this MS. appears to have escaped the researches of the learned editor.

A reference to No. 1492, viii. art. (n) and (o), will show that GRAVIUS was one of the many admirers of Hakewill's remarkable publication; and this MS. shows that he was interested enough to transcribe, with his own hand, the papers then handed about for perusal among the author's friends, between 1625, when the first edition appeared in Oxford, 1630, when the second was published in London, (of which the British Museum has a copy, but not the Bodleian,) and the third in 1635. There are material variations between them.

No. 1511.

A small folio MS., consisting of 105 leaves of vellum, (whereof the first three and the last one are vacant,) written in text-hand of the XIIIth century, and adorned with very numerous pictures, splendidly illuminated on ground of burnished gold. On the first fly-leaf is this note written with pencil, by the late Sir S. Meyrick:—"The costume of this illuminated MS. marks it of the 12th century. Sam. R. M."

The following general title, f. 3^b, was written in the time of Henry VIII.:—

“De naturis rerum

	volucrum piscium lapidum
	arborum

The volume contains one of those works which passed under the common title of BESTIARIUM, in the middle ages; and is a remarkably fine book.

1. Creationis mundi narratio, e Pentateucho desumpta, (scil. Genesis cap. i. et cap. ii. 1 et 2,) cum septem picturis. f. 4—7.
2. Jesu Christi, qui est ‘ALPHA ET ω’ imago picta; et alia pictura, sic inscripta,—“Hic dat nomina bestiis Adam.” f. 8^b, 9^a.

De animalium generibus et nominibus, una pagina: inc. Omnibus animantibus Adam primus vocabula indidit, appellans unicuique nomen. f. 9^b.

Des.—Nam armenta equorum et boum sunt, greges vero caprarum et ovium.

Bestiarium quarundam ferarum picturæ duæ. f. 10^{1b}.

Introductory to the following work.

3. “Incipit liber de naturis bestiarum. [Cum multis picturis.*] Leo fortissimus bestiarum: ad nullius pavebit occursum. De leonibus et pardis et tigribus et vulpibus, canibus et simiis. Bestiarium vocabulum proprie convenit.” f. 11—37.

* Two of these, the Crocodile and Hyæna, are lithographed in outline, between pp. 52 and 53 of a pamphlet of natural history, privately printed (about 1825,) by the late Keeper of this Museum, Dr. John Duncan, intitled “Introduction to the Catalogue of the Ashmolean Museum;” where may also be found a brief notice of this MS.

“Hic incipit de avibus. Unum autem nomen avium sed genus diversum.” f. 37—75^b.

“De apibus. Apes dicte vel quod se pedibus alligent.” f. 75^b—7.

“De arbore que dicitur perindens. Perindens est arbor in India.” f. 77—8.

“De serpentibus. Anguis omnium serpentium.” f. 78—85.

“Incipit de vermibus. Vermis est animal.” f. 85.

“Incipit de piscibus. Pisces dicti unde et pecus, a pascendo.” f. 86.

“De arboribus. Arborum nomen sive herbarum.” f. 92—5.

Des.—unde et scriptura, scribe in buxo.

4. “YSODORUS de natura hominis. Natura dicta eo quod nasci aliquid faciat.” f. 95.

The only picture, in this part, is that of the Author writing at a desk, on a book marked in capitals, “Ysidorus de natura hominis.” f. 95^b.

5. “De lapidibus igniferis.* Sunt lapides igniferi in quodam monte orientis.” f. 103^b, 104^a.

* This title is inscribed above the picture on f. 103^b: the text occupies the next page, and ends thus:—Nam amor feminarum quarum peccatum ab inicio cepit .j. ab Adam usque nunc: in filios inobediencie debachatur.

On the first vellum leaf of this MS. occurs the following note:—“This booke was gyven mee by my good freinde William Man esquire, this thirde day of August 1609. Peter Manwood.” (f. 1^a.) See also No. 34, and No. 849.

No. 1512.

A large folio MS. written in columns on 214 leaves of vellum, in a close text-hand of the latter part of the XIIIth century, (A. D. 1296,) with pale ink, and adorned with one illuminated and many colored capitals: each leaf is numbered with rubric, and has a running title of the book.

BARTHOLOMÆI DE GLANVILE, alias ‘Anglici,’ de proprietatibus rerum libri XIX.: inc. Cum proprietates rerum sequuntur substancias. ‘fol. j.’ — ‘fol. cc.xiiij.’

In fine—et regnans in secula seculorum amen. Expliciunt tractatus de proprietatibus rerum. Auctores autem de quorum scriptis sunt hec supradicta tractata sunt isti. Augustinus” etc.

This colophon follows—"Ego Germanus Swerd de Wakefend finiivi istud opusculum die lune proxima ante festum beate Katerine virginis. Anno Domini M^o. CC^o. Nonagesimo sexto. Explicit istud opus. Deo gracias."

Though the other MS. of this once famous work (No. 1474) have an older appearance, this copy is peculiarly valuable for its date, which proves that the work was composed before the year 1296, though Tanner (p. 326, where both these MSS. are referred to,) and others, have stated that the author flourished so late as 1360. Le Glay, in his short but excellent "Catalogue descriptif et raisonné des Manuscrits de la Bibliothèque de Cambrai," (Cambrai, 1831, 8vo. p. 187,) assigns Glanville, our earliest Encyclopædist, to the thirteenth century: yet it is not improbable that he lived and wrote in the twelfth.

No. 1513, 1514.

Two folio volumes, of different sizes, but bound alike in calf, having each cover stamped with the royal arms between the letters 'C' 'R' and the year '1639' above, and furnished with many colored strings for markers. They are both in an excellent state of preservation.

No. 1513 consists of 146 leaves of paper, some of which are blank, the others are neatly written on alternate pages, by the hand of an English amanuensis.

Volume I.—A descriptive Catalogue, thus headed:—"By the Kings especiall commaund, his Pictures and Rarieties wch hee had kept att St: James[es] in the cabbonett roome were transported and brought to Whitehall, into the privy gallery in the Kings new erected cabinet roome; whereof the perticulers as well of the said rarieties from St: James'es as alsoe other Pictures, Meddalls, Aggotts, or the like, since by the Kinge thereunto augmented, as by the number and bignes perticuler[ly] specified, doth appeare as followeth." (f. 2^a.) That is to say,—

- 73 Pictures. f. 2—19.
- 4 Pictures. f. 22^a.
- 36 Statues, 16 whereof had been Prince Henry's. f. 23—30.
- 35 'Brazen pieces' in basso relievo, in frames, from Lord Cottington. f. 33—8.
- 75 Pictures. f. 45—68.
- Names of the artists who painted those 75 pictures. f. 69^a.
- Catalogue of 'the Kings 54 Bookes' rich and curious, in the same cabinet. f. 71—5.
- 4 Agates. f. 81^a.
- Medals various. f. 82—106.
- Medals and small curiosities. f. 113—4.
- "Things belonging to ye loadstoane and a little anchor," and other curiosities. f. 115—7.
- 4 Crystals. f. 118^a.
- 4 Copper-plates ingraved for prints (2 by Vosterman and 2 by Vorst,) and many silver plates, seals, and pictures. f. 119—124.
- "Pictures and other things wch are kept in store in severall places, and are as yet unplaced." f. 125^a.
- "Pictures in wax and gould and silver, which were Queene Anns of famous memory, and were left by her Matie to VANDER DOORT for the King," etc. f. 135—143.

No. 1514 contains 194 leaves of paper, written on alternate pages, except f. 9^b and the last 18 leaves, which are written on both sides: there are also 3 leaves at the beginning almost vacant. The handwriting is the same as that of the foregoing volume, except as stated below.

Volume II.—"A Book of all such the Kings Pictures as are by his Maiestes especiall appoyntment placed [and] at this present time remayning in Whitehall, in the severall places followeing. In the tennis court chamber," etc. ff. 1—194.

In both these books, the subject of each piece is described in the middle column, and on the margins are noted—(1) the painter's name, or its history, and (2) its dimensions. This latter volume is noted and corrected throughout, partly in bad English, and partly in Dutch, by ABRAHAM VANDER DOORT himself, who (as internal evidence proves) was the compiler of this Catalogue: the last 30 or 40 pages are nearly all written by his hand, as also pp. 1 and 3, at the beginning, where the date '1640' appears.

On p. 5 are these notes—"Pr. 11. 00. 00." And "The Lady Hippisley's gift." Within the cover of each volume, Ashmole has written the following note:—"This booke was given me by my cosen Samuel Roper of Lincolnes Inn."

* * * These two volumes constitute the 'original MS.' from which "A Catalogue and Description of King Charles the First's capital collection of Pictures" etc. was published by W. Bathoe, (London, 1757, 4to.); whereof the title-page says, "The whole [was] transcribed and prepared for the press, and a great part of it printed, by the late ingenious Mr. Vertue, and now finished from his papers." The first volume is comprehended in pp. 1—81 of that publication, and (excepting the omission of the first heading, given above,) is a tolerably good modernized transcript: the second occupies pp. 83—182, and has considerable variations from the original, in many instances amounting to grave errors. Not only are all Vander Doort's autograph notes unnoticed in the printed copy, but ff. 172—194, including the notices of the Cartoons, are wholly omitted, (both English and Dutch,) and pp. 180—2 of the print have nothing to correspond with them, at least in that part of the MS.

There are two transcripts of Vander Doort's work, in the British Museum; viz. the Harleian MS. 4718, and the Lansdowne MS. 1050: see the note on the latter, in the Lansdowne Catalogue, part ii. p. 270.

No. 1515.

A very large folio volume, containing 112 leaves of paper, of which two thirds have been left vacant: the writing is of the latter part of the XVIth century,

I. "In nomine sancte et individue trinitatis incipit sanetissima Ars Notoria, qua[m] Creator altissimus per suum angelum supra altare templi tradidit SALOMONI dum oraret, ministravit[que] ut per eam omnes scientias liberales mechanicas exceptivas et earum facultates per breve spacium temporis possit subito acquirere et habere, et in proferendo mistica verba saneta nomina Dei et omnia saneta nomina sanetorum angelorum qua in hoc opere continentur, in omni sapientia et scientia penitus fundaretur. Alpha et Omega Deus omnipotens. principium omnium rerum." etc. (Invocatio seu proccinium.) f. 4^a.

"Incipit primus tractatus istius sanetissime artis notorie, et expositiones ejus et temporum exceptiones, quas SALOMON et APOLLONIUS flores aureos appellaverunt, et hoc opere probatum est et confirmatum autoritate Salomonis Manichei et Euduchij. Ego Apollonius artium magister merito nuncupatus, cui natura liberalium" etc. (pp. 13.) f. 4^a—10^a.

This MS. being written in columns, the Latin text occupies the first on each page, distinctly written, with frequent and long rubrics (as are the titles above) in an Italic hand: the second columns contain—

An English translation of this cabalistic book. f. 4^a—10^{bcd}.

The last page seems to be a summary; but it is unfinished.

2. "The Glosse of APOLLONIUS upon the former treatise called Ars Notoria or Ars Memorativa &c. In the name of the holy and individuall trinitie &c. In ye beginninge of ye worke of this most holy Arte Notarye." f. 23—40^d.

Ending—even so be it, and give God alone all prayse and glorie for ever Amen.

On some of the following vacant leaves (f. 42^b—5) are sketched various figures, which are wretched attempts to draw with pencil and Indian ink, by some modern hand; among which are the casement of the upper Library, and an imitation of an elegant vignette, a proof impression of which from the copper plate is here inserted at f. 43. At the end (invertedly) Edward Lhuyd began to write—

An alphabetical collection of words, belonging to some Keltic dialect. f. 112^b—110.

No. 1516.

A large folio MS. well written in the XIIth century, on vellum, in columns; adorned with one green and many red capitals. On the first (unnumbered) leaf are these two titles, written in rubric, by the same hand as the MS.

"Liber Sancte Marie de Geroldonia." (p. 2.)

"RABANUS super quinque libros Moysi." (ibid.)

"Incipit epistola RABANI ad Freulfum episcopum; [commentario suo in Pentateuchum præmissa.] Reverentissimo patri Freulfô Rabanus peccator in xp'o salutem." f. 1—127^a.

In fine sic, absque rubrica:—"Quod Josue obedisse filios Israel dicit: significat sanctorum devotionem quam .x^o. exhibent salvatori. Explicit feliciter amen."

On the first leaf of this book is written, in an old hand,—“Sum Alex. How, Somato-X^{ti} Oxon. præc. 125.”

No. 1517.

A thick folio MS. fairly written in text-hand, in columns (except ff. 1—5,) about the year 1400; it now consists of 192 leaves of vellum, having good margins, rubrics, and painted capitals. The body of the volume contains a mutilated copy of—writun bi a profete (Mat. ii. 5); and ending thus —and hute 7e also þilke defoulid coote which is fleishly, but to him þat (Jude ver. 23, or “cm. ij.”) f. 6—165^d.

The New Testament, as translated into English by JOHN WICLIF; beginning thus, þei sciden to hym, in bethleem of iuda, for so it is

At the beginning of this volume are inserted one folio and twelve quarto leaves of paper, written by Ashmole, the first whereof contains a list of passages “wanting in my old English MS Testant,” (p. 2;) all which are transcribed by his hand, from some other MS., in the following order, to supply those defects:—

P. 3—5.] “Here bigynneth a reule that telleth in which chapitlis of the bible ye may finde the lessonis pistlis and gospels that be red in the Chirche aftir the uss of Salisbury markid wth letters of the a. b. c. at the bigynning of the capitlis” etc. to supply the first leaf. (This paper was found in No. 1509, the others in No. 1518.)

7—10.] “Here bigynneth the prologe of Matheu,” with the text of ch. i. 1—ii. 4; to supply what is wanting between ff. 5, 6.

11—14.] Matt. xxvii. 62,—xxviii. 20; the ‘prolog’ to Mark, and ch. i. 1—10; to supply between ff. 26, 27.

15—18.] Mark xvi. 9—20; the ‘prolog’ to Luke, and ch. i. 1—30; to supply between ff. 40, 41.

19—23.] Luke xxiv. 30—53; the ‘prolog’ to John, and ch. i. 1—19; to supply between ff. 63, 64.

23—26.] Rom. i. 1,—ii. 13; to supply between ff. 80, 81.

26.] Jude ver. 24—5; to supply between ff. 165, 166.

In each of these places one leaf had been cut out, most likely for the sake of its ornamented capital: a small fragment of one of them (now marked f. *40) now remains. The whole book of the Revelation is wanting: the book of Acts, or “þe Dedis of þe Apostlis,” follows Paul’s epistles.

Prefixed to this copy of the New Testament, and following it, are these two articles; written in a different hand, not so upright, and seeming not so old; but the style of the embellishment is the same.

1. Calendar of all the Lessons from the Epistles and Gospels, for Sundays and Festivals throughout the year. f. 1—5^b.

The first leaf being lost, it begins with this line—“Wednesdai gospel M^c. xiiij. j. And he came into his cun ende for þe unbi-leere of hem.” It ends with the following rubric:—“þe lokeris in þis kalender be rigt wel war: for he shal not fynde alle þe bigynnynges of þe lessonis of þe olde lawe acorde wth þe kalender, for bi ordynance of þe cherche: þer is sett to be bigynnyngis of many lessonis more and oþerwey þan it is in þe byble, and þat is drawun undir wth a stryk of reed ynke; and it is not in þe kalender. for it is not so in þe text, and also it is in þe same maner of manye of þe endingis of þe lessonis.” The ‘streaks of red ink,’ here referred unto, may be seen throughout the next article; wherein not only those prefixes and conclusions, but the supplements in translation, are underlined in this MS.

2. The Lessons from the Epistles and Gospels for the whole year, translated into English; beginning imperfectly thus.....“and my rightfulness shal not fayle—generacions. þe wednesday pistle in þe secunde woke in advent. Zacharie. viij^o. b. The Lord God of oostis scip þes þingis. I am turned aȝen to Syon.” f. 166—192^b.

Ending thus—“An epistle of feestis of many virgyns. How fair is a chast generacione. As on utas on natyvyte day of oure lady.”

In the vacant part of the last column is a large flourished \mathfrak{J} , having the letters T H R A V written separately within it; they denote (perhaps) the name of some person who possessed this MS., about the time of Henry VII. On the back of the same leaf are these names:—“Hary Danyelle of sancte Martyns, farmar unto John Gyllhard of London;” “Wyllym Storky, Dunston Chaypman;” and other words, written by old hands.

No. 1518.

A folio MS. written on paper late in the XVth century, in a very small running hand, without any ornament. The upper part of the leaves hath been so stained with wet, that the writing therein is almost obliterated through two thirds of the volume: the first words therefore can not be read. On one of the fly-leaves, prefixed by Ashmole, he has remarked that "This booke did formerly belong to the Library in the close of Lichfeild, and was plundered thence by the Parliament soldiers, 1646."

VINCENTII BELLOVACENSIS Episcopi, operis quod appellatur Speculum Historicale, pars posterior; hæc est, a libro nono ad sextum decimum. f. 2—224^b.

About the middle of the first page is this line—"Cm. ij. de vita et moribus ejusdem [Claudii] Suetonius libro. vto." At f. 26^b is this title:—"Incipit liber xus speculi historial." The number of the book is set in the corner of every leaf. The last words are (l. xvi. cap. 100.)—"Idem ad Joseph serpens si longo tempore clauditur in vasi maritur. sic et cogitationes clause."

At the beginning is one vellum leaf of a MS. of the XVth century, written in text-hand; which seems to be—

Fragmentum commentarii in opus quoddam de regimine principum, (cap. iv. et v.); sic des. quia metricè dicitur denigra meritum dantis mora nam f. 1.

Bound up, with this MS., at the end, are four leaves of vellum, written vertically, in a hand of the time of Edward III., which consist of the remains of a most rare and curious record:—

Fragmentum Rotuli Archidiaconi Cestriensis, in quo scripta sunt nomina et crimina eorum (tum clericorum, tum laicorum,) qui, ob adulterium vel fornicationem, ab eo multati sunt, etc. f. 225—8^b.

No. 1519.

A valuable folio MS. on paper, written in a small character, at different times; in a miserably mutilated state; it having been stained and almost rotten with damp throughout, the two first leaves having almost perished, and small fragments only remaining of the two last, when Ashmole caused it to be newly bound.

RICHARDI REDMAN, (Assavensis, postea Exoniensis, denique Eliensis Episcopi,) Abbatis Monasterii de Schapp, de ordine monachorum Præmonstratensium, et ejusdem ordinis in Anglia Wallia Scotia et Hibernia Abbatis præcipue deputati, actorum suorum Registrum; in quo visitationes Monasteriorum, nomina Monachorum, atque litteræ tum officiales tum regiæ, una cum aliis documentis, formulis, et memorandis, ab anno 1474 ad 1503, ordinate scripta sunt. f. 1—162.

The contents of this volume are highly curious and valuable, but too numerous to be particularly specified in this place.

No. 1520.

A folio MS. of the XIVth or XVth century, written on vellum, in columns, with painted capitals. The first leaf of the text is torn out, and the greater part of ff. 2—11 is torn off, leaving only a narrow piece of each at the top.

Sermones Dominicales et Festales per totum annum, '159' numero. f. 2—202^a.

The first three sermons, that are imperfect, begin thus:—"Sermo secundus. Ego vox clamantis in deserto. [f. 12^d.]—Sermo 3us. Dirigite viam Domini. [f. 14^a.]—Doa infra natale sermo primus. Erant Joseph et Maria mater ih'u mirantes Luc. 2." f. 15^b. The last begins and ends thus:—"Ut autem impleti sunt etc. Per istam ap'i refectionem que omnes—Ad illum benedictum finem perducatur nos ille qui est principium et finis qui sine fine vivit et regnat per infinita secula seculorum. Amen." f. 200^d—2a.

Index rerum in eisdem comprehensarum, alphabeticus. f. 202^b—10^b.

Inc.—"Abstinencie 6. sunt species 42. a. 2." Des.—"Zor[o]astes fuit interfectus a Nino. 83 b. Explicit et cetera."

The last leaf (as also the first) is a plain piece of vellum, on which are written two notes that the book was pawned by Mr. Tho. Wyche, in the Queen's chest in 1447, and at Gylford in 1448.

No. 1521.

A folio volume impressed on both covers with Ashmole's arms, and (according to his direction to "Bind this in speckled leather," written on a small paper pinned to the second fly-leaf) bound uniformly with No. 855, &c., but not having a portrait: it contains 15 blank leaves before, and 22 after, the first half, (A), which is fairly written in a law-hand of Ashmole's time, and a collection of papers and MSS. by his own and other hands, forming the latter half (B), also 51 blank leaves at the end.

(A.) I. Liber Fratrum 'Gildæ et Fraternitatis in villa de Lichfeild, in honore gloriosæ virginis: seu ejusdem Institutio et Leges,' (inc. Anno ab incarnatione Domini Millesimo .ccc. lxxviij^o. illustrissimus Rex Angliæ Ricardus secundus volens,) nomina Magistrorum† et Fundatorum, atque omnium Fratrum Sororumque nomina, eo ordine scripta quo fraternitatem inierunt, usque ad tertium magistratum Henrici Fenton, anno 1444. f. 1—3^b, 4^a—90^a.

* Of which there is a translation in part (B), ii. art. 1.

† Henceforth the right hand pages only are written on; and it seems that from this place, the following part of the MS. was at first designed to come here, both from its foliation in the same manner, and from a comparison of the name of the last and first names with ff. 62, 63.

II. 1. Nomina Magistrorum ejusdem Gildæ, a Rogero Wilnehall (anno 1422), ad Humfridum Lowe, anno 3 Edw. VI. f. 4—5^b, 7^a.

Ashmole has noted that "the 6: leaf is wanting," which contained the names from 2 to 30 Hen. VIII.

2. Notes of the duration of the Guild of Lichfield, and of the subsequent incorporation of that city in 1548; also "The [26] persons named in the first incorporacōn" of the city. f. 7^{ab}.

3. "A catalogue of all the Bayliffes and Sherriffes that have bin in the city of Lichfeild since the incorporacōn thereof: first collected by GEORGE BAGSHAWE, somtyme citizen and Bayliffe of the sayd city; after whose decease JOHN BAGSHAWE his sonne, Canon resedentiarie of — Lichfeild, continued the same, and at the request of M^r Robert Hill and M^r. Francis Woodd, then Bayliffes, wrote the same into this booke as followeth." f. 7^b—9^b.

It ends in 1595; so that a leaf or two may have been lost.

(B.) I. ASHMOLE'S copious abstracts of antient "Evidences aperteyning to y^e Vicars of Lichfield" Cathedral. p. 1—43.

II. 1. "This ordinance taken out of Latyn* into English the 13 day of June the 39 yeare of— Hen. the 8. by Richard Watwood then being M^r of the Gild of o^r Lady" etc. p. 45—50.

* See the first 5 pages of this volume. An other copy of the present article is in No. 855, art. 36.

2. Farther ordinances of the Guild, made in the mastership of Sir Humfrey Stanley, anno 2* Hen. VII. p. 53—7.

* Which date Ashmole (in a note here) considered wrong.

3. "The Taske of the citie of Lichf: [which] is 12^l." how proportioned to each ward: and "The tenor of the billets directed to the Dussivers in every severall warde for the colleccōn of the somes above written." p. 58.

By Edm. Bardell and John Dyot bailifs; who held office in 1558, as it appears in (A), ii. art. 3.

III. 1. Notulæ quorundam documentorum in Libro Nigro Lichfeldensi. p. 61.

2. Excerpta quædam "Ex Libro Albo" Lichfeldensi (ff. 1—3), et notæ quorundam in eo registro documentorum. (ff. 156^b—264.) p. 63, 64.

There is an unfinished transcript of this Register in No. 827, which does not contain the latter documents here cited.

3. Nomina locorum terrarum et tenementorum, quæ in tribus Registris penes Vicarios eccl. cath. Lichf. nominantur. p. 65.

Written '4 Aug: 1658 apud Lichfield.' The other leaf of this sheet is written invertedly.

Excerpta ex eisdem Registris, de 'Brygge strete' et 'Alderwas,' etc. p. 68—9.

4. "Leases of some of the lands belonging to the Weomen's Hospitall in Bacon streete Lich:" viz. one in 1652, and three in 1655. p. 69.

5. Particulars of the baptisms marriages and burials of many persons, especially such as were related to ASHMOLE, from 1567 to 1658; by him "Collected from the Register-booke of Lichfeild, begun in Oct: 1566, for the parishes of St Maryes, St Michaell, and St Chads, alias Stowe:" also the names of the "Vicars of St Maryes in Lichf:" from 1581 to 1645. p. 73—80.

There is nothing lost between '76' and '79,' but the latter number seems to be erroneous.

6. Petition of 'Hung: Mathew' churchwarden of S. Chad's, to Walter Carle, Dean of Lichfield, proposing an additional assessment on thirteen prebends, for the repair of his chancel; with the Dean's allowance thereof. p. 83.

7. Extract from the will of Tho. Sprott of Ashmorbrook, (28 May, 1531;) and note of the marriage of Elias Dudson and Frances dau. of Roger Sprott, of the same. (15 Mar. 1592.) p. 85.

Allegations 'ex parte Mathews et Anstey' that the village of Ashmorbrooke and other lands were within St. Chad's parish. ib.

"Deposicōns ex parte . . . Sprott," to prove that the said lands belonged to S. Michael's parish. p. 86—7.

8. Capituli Lichfeldensis literæ testimoniales, pro Waltero Heveningham de Popeshall in com. Staff. ar., qui divina in eccl. cath. Lichf. adire consueverat; contra calumniatores, dicentes eum capellæ de Stowe parochianum esse, et 'recusantem.' (20 Mar. 1606.) p. 89—90.

"Proofoes y^t Stow is a parish church." p. 91.

9. Indicis ad Registrum quoddam eccl. cath. Lich. pars quædam, sub istis verbis, 'Anniversarium, Abbaston, Ashborne, Albrithou.' p. 93.

10. "De metis et bondis Forestæ de Kannok. Ex Libro Albo fo: 270." p. 99.

11. Translations of four charters relating to land in Barton; viz.—one of Rob. de Ferrers Earl of Derby (6 Edw. I.), two of Edmund Earl of Cornwall (10 and 14 Edw. I.), and one of Tho. Earl of Lancaster. (7 Edw. II.) p. 101—3.

12. Petition of the Sub-chanter and Vicars Choral of Lichfield, to Charles II.; praying for a restoration of their antient pension for chantry-lands, and for recompense of 52 houses burned down in 1646, when the close was made the King's garrison. p. 105.

The effect appears in art. 18.

13. Memorial of John Haulse, Bishop of Lichfield and Coventry, and of the worthies who flourished at Lichfield in his time. p. 109.

14. Letter from THOMAS SMITH,* Sacrist of Lichfield cathedral, to Dugdale, requesting him to search for the will of Thomas Mille, canon of Lichfield (about 17 Hen. VII.), and 'two ancient deeds' made by the same, relating to the lands of the Alms-house. p. 111.

* He calls Ashmole his 'cosen.' This is the original, not dated: on the other side are written, by the same hand,— Epigramma vetus "De Lichfeild cathedrâ. Oswinus est Lichfeild fundator." (8 vv.) p. 112.

Versus xvi. "De ecclesiæ cathedralis Lichfeild reparatione. Hæc plus millenis Lichfeild ecclesia mansit." a THOMAS SMITH, ejusdem Sacrista. ib.

Here the name of 'Ashmole' occurs as a benefactor.

15. Drawing of the seal of John Burghill, Bishop of Lichfield, in 1411; with notes. p. 113.

16. Note from W. Quinton, Erasm. Smith, churchwardens, and Rich. Riley, clerk, requesting Ashmole to pay to Mr. Catterbanck, 5*l.*, which he had promised 'towards the building of St Michael's church in Lichfield.' (19 Jan. 1660.) p. 115.

17. JOHANNIS [HACKET] Episcopi Lich. et Cov. literæ ad Decanum Lich., de immani ruina ecclesiæ cathedralis, et ejusdem reparatione; mandantes quod capitulum congregari faceret, ad consulendum secum de opere perficiendo. (Lichf. 16 Aug. 1665.) p. 118—9.

18. The "Lord Treasurers order to pay the Vicars of Lichfield their pencón" in arrear from 1660. (12 July 1664.) p. 121.

Ashmole has imitated the signature of 'T. Southampton,' in this copy.

19. ASHMOLE'S copy of his letter to Mr Zachary Turnepenny, Sub-chanter of Lichfield, sent with a "sett of church services and anthems for the use of yo^r quire, wth two bookes of ruled paper, wherein to prick the organ-partes for both." (3 May 1662.) p. 123.

20. P. EUGENII III. bulla, Gualterio Coventriensi Episcopo concessa, per quam sedis ejus possessiones, et monachorum statum restitutum confirmavit. ("Sigillæ," 16 eal. Mart. 1151.) p. 125, 127, 129.

Subscribed thus;—"Vera copia, testatur Simon Marten notarius publicus." (See art. 22.) Neatly written on three open sheets, and indorsed "For Mr Dugdale:" by whom it was published in the Monasticon, III. 231—2, as from the Registrum Album of Lichfield, f. 156^a. The transcript of that Register, in No. 827, does not extend so far.

21. Literæ regię patentes, "Pro Priore Hospitalis sancti Johannis de Lichfeld, (2 Nov. 1315;) et "De villa de Lichfield pavienda." (18 Dec. 1330.) p. 131, 131—3.

E Rot. Pat. 9 Edw. II. p. 1, m. 16; et 4 Edw. III. p. 2, m. 22.

* "Written in St Chad's booke at the end of the gospel of St Marke."

Specimens of four lines in square capitals, from the same ancient gospel-book. p. 151.

These curious imitations are carefully done on vellum, by Ashmole's hand.

V. "Articles of agrement betwyxt the—Bishoppe of Chestre and the inhabitauntes of Lichfelde, made at Westm. before the—Erle of Shousburye, highe Steward of the same towne, and Syr Anthonye Fitzherbert and Syr Jhon Porte, Justices, the xjth daye of Februarye the xxijth yere of Kinge Henry the viijth, for takinge of toll in Lichfeld." p. 153—4.

A copy written in the time of Q. Elizabeth.

VI. 1. Johannis Prioris Cantuariensis literæ, "Ad monendum Episcopum Lich. ut sibi assumat coadjutorem." (7 Sept. 1381.) p. 155.

"Ex Registro litterarum emanantium sub sigillo communi Prioris et conventus Ecclesie Xpi Cant. tempore vacationis post mortem domini Simonis de Sudbury quondam Cant. Archiepiscopi." Of which the original is in No. 794, v.

2. "Procuratorium Capituli, super quadam compositione facienda inter Archiepiscopum Cantuar., Decanum et Canonicos Lich., super jure examinandi probandi vel improbandi testamenta Canonicorum Lich.; cum instrumento de eodem." (13 Mar. 1343.) p. 146.

"Transcribed from some fragments of the Prior of Cant' Register, fo: 65." See the original in No. 794, ii.

3. Short notes of documents relating to Lichfield. p. 147.
4. ASHMOLE's account of his interview with Charles II., about the ruinous state of Lichfield Cathedral, and of Dugdale's proposal to Dr. Sheldon on the same subject. (16 June, and 18 July, 1660.) p. 161.

These four papers (artt. 1-4) were written by Ashmole.

- *VII. "The proceed[ings a]t Lichfeild, in 7 court-days, [against] Edward Wightman, in case of b[la]sphemy and] heresic;" before Richard [Neile,] Bishop of Lichfield, in his consistory court, on the 19th, 26th, and 29th of November, and the 2d, 3rd, 4th, and 5th of December, 1611. f. 1a, p. 1-43.

This person was a General Baptist, and held some peculiar notions, which are stated here. For his opinions he was burnt as a heretic, at Lichfield, 11 April, 1612: see Crosby's History of the English Baptists, (1738, 8vo.) I. 108-9; in whose Appendix (i. pp. 1-7) are printed the warrant, and the writ de heretico comburendo, issued by James I. for his execution.

This last MS. (ff. 24) is fairly written, and appears to be a contemporary office-copy: the proceedings are partly in Latin, and partly in English. The first leaf is stained and damaged, as is also the general heading in the first page.

A small folio (or large and tall quarto) MS., consisting of 203 leaves of vellum (including what are blank), and containing an important and valuable collection of ancient Mathematical Treatises, uniformly and fairly written about the time of Edward II., or at latest before the middle of the XIVth century, in text-hand, and in columns, except the metrical and tabular parts, which occupy the whole breadth of the page. It is adorned with rubrics, illuminated capitals, and extremely neat diagrams.

1. Magistri ALEXANDRI DE VILLA DEI Carmen de arte Algorismi seu Arithmetica, versibus 329; quorum primus, Hec algorismus ars preseus dicitur, in qua; et extremus, cum titulo, "Post duc in articulum in se ducente secunda. Explicit Algorismus Metricus." f. 3-7^b.

Other copies of the whole or part of this curious poem, with considerable variations, may be found in the Ashmolean MSS. No. 341, art. 18; No. 342, vi. art. 5; No. 360, i. artt. 4 and 5, also ff. 149^a-150^b; No. 361, art. 13; No. 399, art. 19; No. 1285, v. artt. 1 and 5; No. 1471, art. 11;—beside a great number in the Bodleian, the Savilian, the Royal, the Cottonian, Harleian, and other collections of MSS. It appears, therefore, to have been highly popular in the thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth centuries: but the only author, of any reputation, who has deigned to notice it, since Johannes de Sacro Bosco, in his prose work on the same subject, is Dr. Wallis, who quoted it in the fourth chapter of his Algebra, (Opera Mathematica, Oxon. 1693, fol., II. 10); and the Compiler of this work has been anticipated in his long formed intention of publishing it, by Mr. Halliwell, in his Rara Mathematica, (Cambridge, 1838-9, 8vo. pp. 73-83,) who published it, from a MS. in his own possession, in October, 1838. The name of the author has been discovered, by M. Charles, since the text of the poem was printed, in a MS. in the Royal Library at Paris; after it had long been justly suspected to have been written by the same author as art. 22 of this MS. See Mr. Halliwell's preface, p. vi. Dr. Wallis, who quotes both this poem, and the Massa Compoti of this author, mentions him in the same page as the latter of those quotations, (Op. Math. II. 13,) but says, "eujus libros non memini me vidisse."

- (1.) "Hic est terminus pasche qui nunquam in bisexto preterit, nec sine bisexto." f. 8^b.

The first of these nineteen lines is—i. post nonas aprilis prima dominica fiet pascha. This article was written on the back of a blank leaf, by the same ancient hand as the marginal scholia in some parts of the MS.

2. Magistri PETRI DE DACIA Calendarium ecclesiasticum et astronomicum, pro 76 annis factum, scilicet, usque ad annum 1369; præmisso canone, sic inc. In hoc primacionum ciclo .4. linee descendentes. f. 9-15.

Cui subjiciuntur—

"Tabula principalis GERLANDI, continens in se multa utilia ecclesie;" extendens ab anno 1044 usque ad 1548. f. 15^b.

"Tabula .2^a. GERLANDI; et est contra-tabula prima." f. 16.

"Tabula PETRI DACI de loco lune inveniendi in quolibet die anni a media nocte sui incepto." f. 16^b.

That the last named person was the author of this Calendar, is evident from the Index at the end of this MS.; the first entry in which is "Calendarium magistri Petri cum tabulis Gerlandi." The preface, set before it in the present copy, seems to belong to Bishop GROTEST, according to a MS. in Archbishop Parker's collection at Cambridge, No. 347, (see Nasmith's Catalogue, p. 359;) wherein the four cycles of primations are attached to the Almanac of Protaeus, together with "Tabula dicta Philomela per Petrum de Dacia, et tabula quædam Gerlandi." There is a complete copy of the Calendar and Tables of Petrus de Dacia, in the Arundel MS. 20: see W. H. Black's Catalogue, 1829, 8vo. p. 28. This author was prior of a convent of preaching freres, in Gothland, and was living in 1312. (Ieyseri Historiæ Poëtarum, p. 2006.) A copy of Gerlandus de computo is in the Cottonian MS. Vesp. A. ix. See also Tanner's Bibliotheca, pp. 309-310. Compare No. 360, viii.

On the margins of f. 12^b and 15, are two long notes, written by an ancient hand. The former records the dates of a journey from London to Calais, and thence to Newport and Bruges, in July 1360; the latter, the date of a convention at Bruges, between the Dukes of Burgundy and Aujan, and the Duke of Lancaster and the Earl of Cambridge, about peace, 29 Dec. 1375. Some unimportant notes, apparently by the same ancient hand, occur on the margins of this MS.

3. "Incipit Algorismus [JOHANNIS DE SACRO BOSCO.] Omnia que a prima rerum origine processerunt ratione numerorum formata sunt." f. 17-24^d.

Des.—"Et hec de radicum extraccione dicta: sufficient. Explicit Algorismus." In the Index this tract is called Algorismus Communis. Other copies are in No. 342, vi. art. 3; No. 361, art. 16; No. 399, art. 20; and an English translation is in No. 396, art. 2. It has been printed several times, as, with the same author's work intitled "Sphæra Joannis de Sacro Bosco, emendata," etc. published with the notes of divers commentators, at Antwerp, 1582, 8vo. (pp. 264—287,) where it is intitled "Arithmetica sive Algorismus Joannis de Sacro Bosco;" also recently in Mr. Halliwell's Rara Mathematica, (pp. 1—26,) from a MS. in his own possession; in the preface to which work other MSS. are referred unto.

4. "Incipit tractatus de Spera. [f. 25.] Magistri JOHANNIS DE SACRO BOSCO. Tractatum de spera .4. capitulis distinguimus." f. 25—40^b.

The diagrams illustrating this tract (as also others in this MS.) are drawn with much neatness and beauty. The quotations from the Latin poets, and other verses, are written in larger text-hand. It ends thus—"propter quod Dyonisius Arriapagita in eadem passione legitur dixisse. aut Deus nature patitur: aut tota mundana machina cito dissolvetur. Explicit." Other ancient copies are in No. 360, vii. art. 2, and No. 1285, v. art. 9. This work was formerly a most popular elementary treatise, as is evident from the numerous early editions, noticed by Fabricius (Bibl. Lat. Medii Ævi, ed. 4to. IV. 128—130), and Tanner (Bibliotheca, pp. 371—372;) but many of them were altered by their editors, as the edition of 1582, (quoted under art. 3,) and still more that of 1639, by Burgersdicius, among Wood's printed books in this Library, No. 11.

*5. "Incipit Algorismus de minuçijs philosophicis. Cum multos de numeris tractatus vidisses." f. 40^c—2^d.

This treatise on Fractions ends thus:—"nequid solum necessarium desit operi tam brevissimo. Explicit de minuçijs phicis." Two small tables are subjoined (taken "ex alba tegu"), intitled "Tabula multiplicationis integrorum et minuçarum," and "Tabula divisionis eorundem."

6. "Incipit Computus JOHANNIS DE SACRO BOSCO. Computus est scientia considerans tempora ex lune et solis motibus et eorum ad invicem eoequacionibus distincta." f. 43—70^a.

The verses are written as in art. 4. It ends thus:—"Dicatur etiam eorum idem quod eternitas: unde Boethius in de consolatione philosophica.

"O qui perpetua mundum ratione gubernas,
Terrarum celiq; sator, qui tempus ab evo
Ire jubes, stabilisque movens das cuncta moveri;
Tu stabilire velis opus hoc per temporis eorum!
M. xp'i bis C. quaterdeno quater anno,
DE SACRO BOSCO discrevit tempora ramus,
Gratia cui nomen dederat divina JOHANNES.
Annuat hoc nobis hujus sic carpere fructum,
Ecclesie xi quod nos hinc fructificemus. Amen."

Hence it appears that the work was written in 1244. The chapters of this work are described in an almost contemporary MS., No. 341, art. 9; and a very old copy is in No. 1285, vi. art. 1. This tract is printed with the Sphæra, in the edition of 1582, quoted under art. 3, with this title, "Joannis de Sacro Bosco libellus de anni ratione, seu, (ut vocatur vulgo) Computus Ecclesiasticus." (pp. 187—261.)

7. "Incipit tractatus Quadrantis Veteris secundum magistrum JOHANNEM IN MONTE PESS'. Geometrie due sunt partes. theorica et practica." f. 70^b—8^b.

At f. 72 is a complete figure of the Quadrant, well drawn; the radius of which is $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches. The tract ends thus—"et predictum dabit capacitatem vasis quadrangularis. Explicit."

8. "Tabula Solis in anno bisextili ad inveniendum locum ejus in orbe declivi fixo," et alia "ad annum 3^m. post bissexum;" item "Tabula declinationis Solis que est distancia ejus ab equinoctiali secundum Albategni." f. 78^c, 79^a, 79^b.

9. "Prohemium in Astrolabium MESSEHALACH.

Scito quod astrolabium est nomen Grecum, cujus interpretatio est accepcio stellarum." f. 80—95^a.

There is a complete figure of this ancient circular instrument at f. 81; and, beside many other diagrams and figures, a complete drawing of a Volvelle, (see note on No. 191, iv. art. 2; and Mr. Dyce's notes, in his edition of Skelton's Works, London, 1843, 8vo. II. 336,) which is here called "Rethe. volvellum. vakagora. [vel] alhan-tabuz" [?] at f. 87^{cd}. See a real Volvelle within the cover of No. 369. This tract ends thus—"et nota illa erit polus zodiaci ut patet in ha[c] figura. Explicit scientia compositionis astrolabij." See also No. 1796, art. 9.

10. "Incipit Practica Astrolabii, sive rememoracio parcium astrolabij. Nomina instrumentorum sunt hec. Primum est armilla suspensoria." f. 95^a—101^d.

Ending—"talís est comparacio stature tue ad planiciem. Explicit." An other copy is in No. 340, ii.; and a tract, that bears same resemblance to it, is in No. 361, art. 7. See also No. 1796, art. 9.

11. "Incipit Theorica Planetarum, [auctore WALTERO BRYTTE,] et primo de theorica solis et circuli ejus. Circulus cœntricus vel egressæ euspidis." f. 102^a—110^c.

Ending—"et non corporaliter. Explicit theorica planetarum." Other copies are in No. 360, art. 4; No. 361, art. 1; No. 393, i. art. 5; and in Wood's MS. 76, art. 26, which is the authority for the name of the writer. It is, however, ascribed to GERARDUS CREMONENSIS, in the Savilian MS. 17.

12. "Incipit liber THEBIT de motu octave spere. Ymaginabor speram equatoris diei et 3 circulos in ea signatos." f. 110^d—4^c.

Ending—"super minorem numerum cum quo intrasti in linea numeri.

13. "Incipit liber THEBIT BEN CHORAT de hijs que indigent expositione antequam legatur Almagesti. Equator diei est circulus major." f. 114^c—8^c.

At the end—"erunt retrogradi. Expletus est liber THEBIT FILII CHORE, de hijs que indigent expositione antequam legatur almagesti." The title in the Index, is "Thebit de expositione vocabulorum Almagesti." See also No. 1796, art. 25.

14. "Liber THEBIT de ymaginatione spere, et circulorum ejus diversis. Nos juxta ymaginationem rectam inchoantes astrologiam." f. 118^c—120^b.

Ending—"Hec sunt que introducendis primo ymaginanda occurrunt. Explicit Thebt de ymag^{ne} spere." This tract is quite different from No. 346, art. 65.

15. "Incipit liber THEBIT de quantitibus stellarum et planetarum, et primo terre. Ptholomeus et alij sapientes posuerunt corpus terre communem mensuram qua meciebantur stellarum corpora." f. 120^b—2^b.

Des.—"Quia quiddam modicum remansit. Explicit liber Thebit. de quantitibus stellarum."

16. "Incipit tractatus Quadrantis Novi, compositus a Magistro PROFACIO Hebreo, anno dominice incarnationis .1288. et correctus ab eodem, anno Domini .1301. Laus Deo. Cum stellurum scientiu sine instrumentis congruis minime compleatur." f. 122^b—32.

This tract consists of 18 chapters, and the two last pages

(f. 131^c—2) contain figures of a circular instrument, and of the Quadrant described therein. In the antient list of tracts in No. 342, f. 85, it is said to have been translated from Hebrew into Latin, "per Magistrum HERMIGALDUM." There is an enlarged copy, as set forth by Petrus de Adamaro, of Paris, about 1320, in No. 179^e, art. 11.

17. "In nomine Domini nostri ihū xp'i incipit tractatus de Spera Solida, sive de Astrolabio Spherico, compositus anno Doⁱ 1303. Tocius astrologice speculationis radix et fundamentum ejus.*" f. 132^c—48.

The capital letter here painted in the MS. is C for T. This is a treatise on the preparation and use of the Celestial Globe, in two parts; the latter beginning thus—"Explicit compositio instrumenti. Incipit secunda pars libri. Capitulum primum de utilitatibus generalibus hujus instrumenti. Et post quum unxiliaute Deo scripsimus" etc. The last words are—"Et quoniam de mensuris tractare non est presentis intencionis hunc tractatum sub laude Dei finiemus. Explicit Spera Solida."

18. "Incipit Perspectiva Fratris JOHANNIS DE PECHAM. Cantuariensis quondam Archiepiscopi. Inter philosophice considerationis studia lux jucundius afficit meditantes." f. 148^a—75^d.

This is a treatise on Optics, in three books, (ii. f. 161^c, iii. f. 171^c); the last of which ends thus—"que autem falso dicunt de yride, multum possunt refelli per hoc quod in hujusmodi lapidibus contemplantur. Explicit Perspectiva Fratris Johannis Pichani [sic] quondam Kantuariensis Archiepiscopi." This error has led to an other in the Index, where the author's name is called 'de pichana.' A contemporary abridgement is in No. 341, art. 11. Other MSS., and six editions of this work, are mentioned in Tautner's Bibliotheca, p. 585. Abp. Peckham died in 1292.

19. "De tabula Turketi que dicitur orizon, deserviente equinoctiali. De omnibus partium instrumenti quod turket. dicitur." f. 176—8^d.

This tract is illustrated with several figures: it ends thus—"sagar lector facile per se inveniet ex predictis. Deo gratias. Explicit."

20. "Incipit tractatus Chilindri quod horologium dicitur viatorum. Capitulum primum de formatione corporis chilindri quantum ad hoc quod spectat ad vertitorem. [f. 179.] Investigantibus chilindri dispositionem." f. 178^d—81^d.

On the last page is drawn the form of a cylindrical Sun-dial. The last words are—"Et sic terminatur tractatus. (f. 181^d.)"

*21. "Epistola PETRI PEREGRINI de Maricourt, ad Sygetum de Foucancort militem, de Magnete. Iste tractatus de magnete .2. partes continet. Quarum prima .10. capitulis completur, et tribus secunda." f. 181^d—7^c.

After the titles of the chapters, the tract begins thus:—"Amicorum intime, quondam magnetis occultam naturam, a te interpellatus, rudi narratione tibi reserabo cum usumque. The last words are—"ut presens demonstrat descriptio. Explicit."

This is a most valuable treatise on the attraction and polarity of the magnet; the qualities of which are discussed in the former part, and the latter describes three magnetical instruments, (1) to know the 'azimuth' of the sun, moon and stars in the horizon, (2) "a better instrument of the same use," (3) a wheel of perpetual motion, with a diagram. The second instrument is the Mariners' Compass, of which a curious diagram is given, 3½ inches in diameter, undoubtedly the oldest figure of that instrument in existence. There is a later copy in the Digby MS. 147, art. 14, which is anonymous: but the work was published, as a curiosity, under the name of Petrus Peregrinus, at Augsburg, 1558, 4to.; of which edition there are printed copies in the Bodleian and the British Museum. This author is not mentioned by Fabricius.

*22. "Incipit Massa Compoti a Magistro ALEXANDRO [DE VILLA DEI] compositi: metricæ, cum præfatione prosaica inc. Licet modo in fine temporum plures haberi constat codices qui de arte calculatoria videantur posse sufficere. f. 187^c—198^b.

The first part of this curious poem treats "de Kalendario," the second "de cunctis terminis," the third contains the solar cycle, and the fourth the lunar cycle and the eacts. Its first rubric is—"Sequitur a quo mense habeat incitium aureus numerus et claves terminorum, secundo quomodo formantur;" and the first line is—"Aureus in Jano numerus clavesque novantur. (Compare No. 342, f. 149^c.)" The last rubric is—"Sequitur quomodo inveniat litera in tabula BEDE si sit perdita ad formandam tabulam DIONISII;" after which the seventh line is the last, viz.—"Qua mediante potest quod queris semper haberi. Explicit liber compoti."

Other copies of the Massa Compoti are in No. 360, vii.; 361, art. 12; 1285, v. art. 4; and two in the Savilian MS. 17. They are all anonymous; but from this MS. it is unquestionable that the author was the 'Magister Alexander,' who was the chief author of the Doctrinale, published in 1209, and (as is shown in the note on art. 1,) the author of the Curmen de Algorismo: yet no notice of either can be found in Leyser's curious account of him and his poetical works, Historia Poetarum, p. 767—771. See artt. 6 and 7 of the sixth MS. in No. 342.

23. Tabula rotunda paschalis; et alia quadrata, cui titulus, "Hec est tabula ad inveniendum pascha sine compoto. Et cum fueris in fine, revertere in capite ejusdem." Cum regula inc. Sic quis scire voluerit rotam precedentem. f. 198^b, 199^a.

They appear to belong to art. 22, as the latter page (199^a) is superscribed with the running title "Massa."

"In hoc volumine continentur isti tractatus astronomie." f. 199^b.

This Index, or list of the contents of the MS., does not show them in their due order: it is fairly written in the same text-hand as the whole volume.

On the reverse of the third following blank leaf, is written this curious note:—"Liber ecclesie beate Marie de Merton. juxta London. in dioc. Wynton. traditus domino Johanni Gysborne canonico ejusdem loci et scolari Oxon. per magistrum Johannem Kyngestone Priorem de Merton. predicta in sacra theologia professorem, anno Domini Millesimo CCCC^{mo} quinquagesimo sexto." The prior who lent the book is not named in the list printed by Browne Willis, (Mitred Abbeyes, II. 232); and nothing relative to the other person has been found, but his autograph, in a MS. containing a similar collection of tracts (and duplicates of some that are in this volume,) which belonged also to Merton Priory, namely MS. Digb. 147, in the Bodleian Library.

No. 1523.

A large and handsome folio MS., consisting of 258 leaves of vellum, written (except the 3 last pages) in long lines of large church-text, in the early part of the XIVth century, having large illuminated capitals, smaller painted capitals, and other ornaments. The seventh leaf, which contained the beginning of the Psalter, has been cut out.

1. Calendarium ecclesiasticum; cum versibus de diebus nefastis et de solis ortu. f. 1—6^b.

At the end is this note—"Ex dono Edmondi Wymondam militis amico suo Ricardo Southwell militi x^{mo} die Septembris 1562." The latter knight has written his name thus on the first page—"Sapit qui sustinet. R. Southwell."

2. PSALTERIUM, absque titulis aut ullo apparatu. f. 7—167.

3. Cantica prophetica et ecclesiastica: scilicet—

Confitebor tibi. f. 167.

Ego dixi. 167^b.

"Ps. Exultavit cor." 168^b.

"Ps. Cantemus Domino." 169^b.

"Psalmus. Audite celi." 172^b.

"Psalmus. Te Deum laudamus." 176^b.

"Ps. Benedicite." 177^b.

"Ps. Benedictus Dominus Deus." 178^b.

"Ps. Magnificat." 179^b.

"Ps. Nunc dimittis." 180.

"Psalmus. Quicumque vult." ib.

4. "Letania" cum multorum sanctorum nominibus: inc. Kyricleyson. f. 182^b—6.

5. Orationes quatuordecim: quarum prima sic inc. "Or. Deus cui proprium est misereri." f. 186^b—188.

The last is—Deus qui es sanctorum, as in No. 1282, art. 4. Compare No. 1525, art. 5.

6. Officium pro mortuis, cum notis musicis: inc. Placebo Domino. f. 188^b—99.

7. Cantica e prophetiis desumpta, in diebus festis usitata: inc. Domine miserere nostri. f. 199^b—211^b.

8. HYMNARIUM, tam de tempore quam de sanctis, cum notis musicis: inc. "Dominicis ad primas vespas ymnius. [212^a.] O lux beata trinitas." f. 211^b—57.

The student in antient music will be amply gratified by the perusal of the antient tunes prescribed for these Hymns: they seem to be all composed for single lines only, not for stanzas. The last hymn is this: "Ad completorium yus. O lucis ante terminum," ending, Regnat cum sancto spiritu. amen.

Another Psalter, the contents of which much resemble this volume, (but much older,) is in No. 1525: see also a smaller MS., No. 1282.

1524.

A small folio volume, containing six MSS. written on vellum, except the fifth, which is on paper, and in quarto, as also is the sixth. The first consists of 44 leaves, closely written in the XIth or XIIth century; it is without ornament, and has only one original rubric, the first; the few others were inserted two centuries after.

I. 1. "Incipiunt .x. Omilix EUSEBII EMISSANI ad monachos. Exortatur nos sermo divinus ut curramus dum lucem habemus, priusquam nos tenebre comprehendant." f. 1—9^b.

In fine—"Rapiamus ergo quod possumus de hoc seculo. gratias agentes illi qui ita dispensavit. veramque vitam ut laborum et agonum tempora cito finirentur honorum vero et premiorum gaudia sine fine durarent. Explicuit."

2. "Incipit tractatus sancti JERONIMI super Jesu Naue. In divinis voluminibus refertur quod ad constructionem tabernaculi. unusquisque pro viribus suis obtulerit." f. 9^b.

After the preface—"Incipit homelia prima sancti Yeronimi in libro ih'u Naue." The homilies 3—8 only have rubrics: the twenty-third ends thus—Nonne homines estis et secundum hominem ambulatis? A space is left for a rubric to be set in.

On the upper margins of four pages are written, by the same hand, four short Decretals: viz.—

(1.) "GG' Eusebio abbati. Qui vero contra prepositos suos." f. 19^b.

(2.) "Greg' ad Stephanum cartularium, de monachis ad seculum reversis duobus." f. 20^a.

(3.) "G. Maximiano episcopo, de abbate suo refovendo" etc. f. 20^b.

(4.) "G. Sereno episcopo Marxiliensi. reprehendit eum" etc. f. 21^a.

The outer margin of two other pages is filled with what does not seem to belong or relate to the text: viz.—

(5.) De spiritu sive anima: inc. Omnis spiritus incircumscribitus in loculis invisibilis. f. 35^b.

(6.) De stabilitate virtuosa: inc. Quadratus lapis. f. 37^b.

(7.) De animi facultatibus, etc. inc. In anima tres sunt nature, ratio voluntas appetitus. ib.

3. Homiliunculæ, seu theologica quædam sic inc. —(1) Solet sancta scriptura diversis modis accipere corpus Domini, aliquando carnem suam quam sumpxit de virgine, aliquando sanctam ecclesiam.—(2) Inter amorem Dei et mundi hujus talis differentia est.—(3) Scire Deum est magna scientia, et hec est illa beatitudo pro qua militamus Deo.—(4) Tria sunt oscula, reconciliatorium. remuneratorium. contemplatorium. Primum ad pedes etc. f. 39—40.

4. Tractatus theologicus in forma dialogi, cui nomen Elucidarium: inc. Sepius rogatus a condiscipulis quasdam questiunculas enodare. f. 40^b—44^b.

Ending thus imperfectly—"M[agister] In celestem paradisum ut dixit ad latronem." (The rest of this MS. is wanting.) An other copy is in No. 1289, art. 18.

II. "Incipit prologus in Compendium Veteris Testamenti, [tabulas genealogicas nitidissime expressas, cum historiis, comprehendens.] Considerans hystorie sacre prolixitatem necnon et difficultatem. seolarium quoque circa studium sacre lectionis. et maxime illius que in hystorie fundamento versatur negligentiam: quorundam quoque ex inopia librorum impericie sue solacia querencium. volencium quasi in quodam saeculo memoriter tenere narrationes historiarum: temporari seriem sanctorum patrum. a quibus per Leviticam et regulam tribum .Xc. originem habuit. cum eorum operibus in unum opusculum redigere." f. 1—8.

This MS. is elegantly written: the names in the genealogies are written with various colors in roundlets. At the end, the kindred of Jesus is followed by the apostles and evangelists, and the line "Imperatores Romanorum" is brought down to Trajanus. The last paragraph is—[L]ucas natione Syrus. Antiochenis. arte medicus. Apostolorum discipulus. postea Paulum secutus. non habens uxorem neque filios. lxx.v. annorum obiit in Bithinia. plenus spiritu sancto.

On the last page (8^b) is elegantly drawn, with blue and red lines, a large circle inclosing 4 circles, each of which contains four smaller ones, without any writing; also a frame seemingly designed for some table, shaped like a round-headed romanesque window. The MS. is of the XIIIth century.

III. "BOETHI SEVERINI. V. C. de musica libri v.

Proemium, musicam naturaliter nobis esse conjunctam, et mores vel honestare vel evertere.* [f. 1^b] Omnium quidem perceptio sensuum ita sponte ac naturaliter quibusdam viventibus adest." Exemplar bonum, cum diagrammatibus; et cum scholiis vetustis. f. 1—10^b—18^b—27—41—46.

* This rubric is written at the foot of the first page, below the first diagram: it is chiefly in capitals, as are most of the rubrics. The last words are—quod monstrat presens descriptio (45^b) at the end of the 'xviii' th chapter: but the rubric of the fifth book says, 'Incipit liber quintus, qui habet titulos viginti novem.' A diagram occupies half of the next page, and the lower half (which it seems was vacant) has been cut off. The initial O is curiously drawn.

This MS. is very neatly and distinctly written; and, having been written in the XIIIth (or very early in the XIIIth) century, might have been consulted with advantage by Bishop Cleaver, for the "Decretum Lacedæmoniorum contra Timotheum Milesium," (Oxon. 1777, 8°), for which he consulted five MSS. in Oxford, but was not acquainted with the present one, though he was then one of the Trustees of this Museum. The Greek text of the decree is written in capitals, with an interlineary Latin version, on f. 2^a.

IV. 1. J. Abbatis [Ramesiensis] sacramentum, de fidelitate ecclesiæ Romanæ præstanda. f. 1^a.

2. Ejusdem attorney Symoni de Waleys, ad liberandum domino Reg. de Grey, mesuagium in villa sancti Ivonis, ipsi a Constantia de Lay dimissum. ib.

3. Mathæi de Tylebroke resignatio ecclesiæ S. Andree Hunt. ad J. Episcopum Linc.; data apud Hunt. cal. ... 1303. ib.

These three articles are of the same kind as the collection in art. 5.

4. "Incipit Summa Magistri LAURENTII DE AQUILEGIA, edita Bononie ad utilitatem rudium, pro modo seu forma dictaminis. [U]niversis tabellionibus civitatis Bononic. dominis et amicis karissimis. Magister Laur' Aquilegensis salutem. et per semitam incedere veritatis." f. 1^b—2^b.

Des.—"Conclusiones.—prompti semper erimus et parati."

5. JOHANNIS DE SAUTRE, Abbatis RAMESIENSIS, Epistolarum Liber seu Registrum; nempe quæ sub ejus nomine scriptæ sunt, aut ad eum directæ, de rebus monasticis aliisque negotiis; cum quibusdam aliis documentis et literarum formulis. f. 3—15^b, 17^b—20^b.

6. Catalogus Abbatiarum et Prioratum, tam monachorum quam monialium, in diocesis Lincoln. Cantuar. Roffen. Cicestr. Winton. Bathon. London. Sar. Norw. Exon. Elien. Wigorn. Heref. et Coventriensi. f. 16—17.

7. "Hic incipit modus ordinandi compoti alicujus Prepositi. Quoniam compotum inter magnates et cer[t]os minores est maxime necessarium." f. 21—2.

Nine lines having been left vacant on the second page, between these general directions for a bailiff or steward, and the example given of an account of stock; that piece of the vellum has been cut out, and this curious article is thereby mutilated. The last Latin words are—iiij [22^a] quart' avenarum uno mensura ad bladum mensurandum. What follows, though in French, seems to be part of this article:—

8. "Articuli de compoto reddendo, et similiter de articulis super quibus compotum debet cartari. Au primes deyt ccluy qe reudra acounte jurer de rendre leal acounte." f. 22—7.

Des.—"e tuener e lever un acre de pryge pur un denier ob' et les wanz pur un d' q^a. Explicit."

9. "Extenta Manerij. Inquirendum est de castris et alijs edificijs." f. 27—8.

Des.—"et quantum valeant placito et perquisiciones fines relevia et omnia alia censualia per annum. Explicit." This article is commonly reputed a statute.

10. "De homagio et fidel[ita]te. Quant fraunk homme fra homage u sun seygnur de qi il teynt en chef." f. 28^a.

Des.—aurasi moy eyd Deus e les seyns.

11. "La ditee de Hosbonderye que fist Sire WAUTER DE HENLEYE: com. Le pierre chet en weyllese et dit u sun fiz Beau fiz vivez sagement solum Deu et solum le secle. f. 28^b—9^b.

The above title is taken partly from the Heralds' Arundel MS. 14, art. 7, (see W. H. Black's Catalogue, p. 23,) and partly from Mr. Douce's MS. described by him in his note on the Lansdowne MS. 1176, art. 2. The beginning of this copy does not agree with those other French MSS., but with the Latin copy in the Bodleian MS. Digby 147, which is cited by Tanner in his short notice of this interesting tract, Bibl. Brit. p. 353. Unfortunately the leaf or leaves containing the conclusion, are lost from this MS.; which ends thus, (7 lines after the rubric—'Comben le chival custe plus de le buf'),—e au meyns xij darres de herbage en este The various texts of this curious work have long been in preparation for the press, by the Compiler of this Catalogue.

12. Formes de chartres ou escriptes, touchantes diverses choses; com. "Chartre de quite cl'm. Sachent tuz ceus qe sunt e ceus qe avener sunt." f. 30—3.

The five first have rubrics, but the other four have not; the 6th, 8th and 9th are dated 23 Edw. I. (1294—5), the last of which ends thus—Done u L. le lundy prochein devant le jur de cendres en lan du regne le Roy Edward xxij.

13. Johannis Abbatis Ramesiensis charta, per quam assignata fuit annua pensio, e manerio suo de Hemyngford et villa de Honitone, in usum Conventus Ramesiensis, ut anniversarius ejus celebraretur. ('Dominica Lecture Jerusalem; 4 cal. Apr. 1310.) f. 33^b—4.

14. Ejusdem charta de simili assignatione 'ad cameram Abbatis Rames. qui pro tempore fuerit,' e villis de Sleppe, sancti Ivonis, et Rammeseye, ac e manerio de Hemyngforde. (eod. die.) f. 34^{ab}.

Both articles are written in a large charter-hand: an introductory note is prefixed to the former.

15. Annotatio quamdiu regnaverunt Ethelredus (et ubi sepultus est), Aelfredus, Edwardus, Elstannus, et Edmundus, Reges Angliæ. f. 34^b.
16. "Hic intitulantur Facultates Literarum, per rubricas* signatas, secundum quod poterunt de qualieunque mihi conficit formari. Primo loquitur de filio ad patrem ad matrem et postea ad alios." f. 34^b—5^b.

* No rubrics occur here: this article is written very closely in a small hand.

17. Forma epistolæ amici ad monachum: inc. Domino et amico suo si placet. f. 35^b.
- *18. Epistola, qua "quinquaginta duo electi viri per Romanum populum super pacifico statu urbis, omnes consules artis, [et] totus Romanus populus," Papam Johannem obsecrati sunt, ut ad veterem sedem pontificalem rediret. f. 36^a.

This MS. is fairly and almost uniformly written in a small record-hand of the time of kings Edward I. and II., and seems to have been the Abbat's own private remembrancer for epistolary and other external matters.

- V. "A breife and nessesary Computation of the Tymes, exactly gathered from the Creatione, with mentione of the cheifest Historyes contynued unto Christe; dilligently layd downe, and faithfully distingished according to the accompte of the holy Scripturs." f. 1—20^b.

This MS. seems to have been compiled with care in the time of Q. Elizabeth. It is neatly ruled and ingrossed on paper. The first page contains two tables of the genealogical periods, to the flood, and to the call of Abraham: and the work ends thus, at the year of our Lord 72, "Jerusalem is destroyed, and that nation are become runagate on the earth." F. 21 is vacant.

- VI. I. 'The Form of Living;' an antient religious tract, written by RICHARD ROLLE, the Hermit of Hampole; beg. In eche synful man or woman þu is bounde in de[d]ly synne is þhre wrechidnesse þe whiche brynges men to dede of helle. þe fyrst is defaute of gostly strenghte. þu þai moƿe noƿer stonde aƿeyns þe fandynges of þe fende, etc. f. 1—10^d.

Of this copy (which is only a small portion of the whole MS., as it was at first) much has been lost; namely, after the words—brekyng of vowes apostaly dissolucioun in Goddis servis to geve... (8^a), and before these... entermentes hem noƿt of erthely besynes. þe fyrst is when thyngys þu are hard (9^a). It ends thus—"Loo Margarete. I. have schoertely sayd þe en forme of lyfyng and how þow may com to perfeccõn and to luf hym þu þu has taken þe to. If it do þe gode and profete to þe thank God and praye for me. þe grace of [f. 10d] Jhū be [with] þe and kepe þe amen.

"God þat is in mageste
One God and persons thre
Gyf us grace hym to wyn
And kepe us out of dely syn
Amen p charyte.

"RICARDUS Heremita, exhibente gratia conditoris, composuit istum librum ad salutem animarum."

The colophon of a perfect copy, in the Bodleian MS. Land. 210, f. 10^b, states that it is intitled Forma vivendi, and that the author died in 1349. See also Tanner's Bibliotheca, p. 374—6.

2. Verses on the world's vanity;* beg. Why is this worlde belovyd þu false is and veyue. (29 lines.) f. 11^a.

* Part of the same translation of Cur mundus militat, as No. 59, art. 55; ending thus—That þe worlde hathe lent þe effte he wyll it sesse.

This page is written in a more cursive character than the foregoing pages, which are in columns: the MS. is of the XVth century, and is but a fragment, foliated thus, "139, 140—145; 2004, 2005;" ff. 3 and 11 have not the old numbers. Three vacant leaves that followed have been cut out.

No. 1525.

A large folio MS. on vellum, written in the XIIIth century, in columns of large text-hand (not so large as No. 1523), and adorned with painted letters and a great number of illuminated capitals, and with curious and grotesque figures: but it is much mutilated, some mischievous hand having cut out a great proportion of the finest ornaments. It now contains 180 written leaves, beside 5 others of vellum at the end: the fourth and seventh leaves, and one or more before f. 177, have been cut out.

1. Calendarium ecclesiasticum, cum mensium et signorum cælestium emblematis depictis. f. 1—5^b.

July and August are lost, and the top of every leaf but two has been cut off. At 16 cal. Oct. is noted the obit of 'Thomas Golstone, Prior,' namely of Canterbury; whence it seems that this book belonged to that conventual Cathedral: also at 4 id. Oct. is that of 'Dominus Gervasius de Crambrok,' written likewise in the XVth century.

2. PSALTERIUM; in quo unicuique Psalmo (præter Psalmum eli. qui spirius est,) præmittitur argumentum breve, seu titulus rubricatus, et subjicitur oratio. f. 6—126^c.

The first leaf was probably filled with a prologue, as the text of f. 2 begins in the first verse of the first psalm thus—et in via peccatorum non stetit: its collect begins thus—"Oratio. Effice nos Domine tanquam fructuosissimum lignum." The title of the second is—"Species psalmi hujus liiii. membris [sic] decorata est. corripit populos propheta cui fremuerunt contra dominum xp'm. 11." The 151st psalm very seldom occurs in Church-Psalters: it begins thus—Pusillus eram inter fratres meos (f. 126^b), has neither rubric nor collect, and is immediately followed by the pieces described in the next article.

3. "Canticum Ysaie.—Oratio Ezechie.—Canticum Anne.—Canticum Sororis Moysi.—Cant. Abacuch.—Canticum Moysi.—Hymnus trium puerorum.—Laus Domini. Te Deum.—Canticum Zacharie.—Cant. b. Marie.—Cant. Simeonis.—Fides chathol. Quicumque vult." f. 126—36^c.

Compare No. 1292, art. 3, and No. 1523, art. 3.

4. Litania: inc. Kyricleyson. f. 136^c—9^c.
5. Oratiunculæ septem (inc. Deus qui corda fidelium), eum oratione* pro Rege, Regina, et eorum liberis. f. 139^c—40^c.

* Beginning—Deus in cuius manu corda sunt regum. It was written by a later hand, to fill up the column. The rest of this volume was written by a hand of later appearance, though probably about the same time; and its illuminated letters are of a later style, and are less rude. Compare No. 1282, art. 4, and No. 1523, art. 5.

6. Cantica, in diebus festis usitata: inc. "Dominica prima post oct' epiphaniæ. cæ^a. Domine miserere nostri te enim expectavimus." f. 140^d—9^a.

In fine—"donec ponat Jerusalem laudem in terra. Explicit cantica monachia. Amen."

7. HYMNARIUM: inc. "Dominicis diebus ad vespas. ymnus." f. 149^a—74^d.

The first 8 lines of the text (beginning the second column) have been cut off. It ends thus (in the hymn Jesu corona virginum)—"corruptionis vulnera. Deo Patri sit gloria. Explicit Ympnar[i]um." Compare the copy with musical notes, in No. 1523, art. 8.

8. Hymni: scilicet, "Feria quinta post trinitatem de corpore xp'i. Ad vespas ymnus. Verbum supernum prodiens."—"Ad matutinas y^{us}. Pange lingua." Et alius "Hymnus. Sacris solemnijs juncti sint." f. 175—6^a.

The last of these was added by a later hand, in the XIVth century.

9. Officium pro mortuis. f. 177—80^c.

Beginning thus, imperfectly, beata maria semper virgine intercedente: and ending thus, at the top of the last column—Domine vobiscum. Requiescant in pace Amen.

Ff. 181—3 were vacant, and have been scribbled on: ff. 184, 185, are a fragment of a Breviary, in large text-hand of the XIVth century, containing the "Lectio Actuum Apostolorum. In diebus illis Saulus adhuc spirans minurum et cedis." etc.

1526.

A small folio MS., consisting of 186 leaves of vellum, the wide margins of which have been eaten all round by rats or mice. It was all (except ff. 71, 72, 119, 120, 186, which are vacant,) fairly written in text-hand about the year 1300, in columns, and adorned with rubrics and painted capitals. The 2 first leaves have been misplaced, by Ashmole's binder, between ff. 77, 78: and it is probable that something else was originally prefixed, from this line which begins the first column—Prædicti patris mistica dicta docent.

1. "DIONISII ARIOPAGITE episcopi Athenarum, ad Thimotheum episcopum, de celesti ierarchia:" præmissis capitulorum titulis, cum ista rubrica,—"Hec insunt in hoc de ierarchia celesti: totum capitula quindecim." f. 1—11^a.

Immediately after the former of these rubrics, follows "Epigramma [c. i. titulus vel superscriptio] glossa marg. in beatum Dionisium de celesti ierarchia. Angelice sapiencie fulgores multos projecisti. hominibus manifestasti videre animo: compositam pulcritudinem. Compresbytero Tymotheo Dionisius presbiter de celesti ierarchia. Capitulum primum."

The text of the two last chapters is lost, (f. 10^d ending thus in ch. 13,—Non solum quasi ab . . .) except 6 lines in the last column, viz.—"docentem—secretum silencio honorificantes. Angelicarum—astrum. Dionisij Ariopagite episcopi Athenarum ad Tymotheum episcopum de celesti ierarchia. [sc. explicit.] Epigramma in—claritatem."

2. "DIONISII ARIOPAGITE episcopi Athenarum ad Thimotheum episcopum Ephesi: de ecclesiastica ierarchia. Compresbitero [etc.] Hec insunt in hoc de ecclesiastica ierarchia: totum capitula septem." f. 11^a—31^a.

In fine—"ascendens usque vapores. Dionisii [etc.] de ecclesiastica ierarchia."

3. "Epigramma [etc.]—In animum—manifestatorios ymnos." f. 31^a.

"DIONISII ARIOPAGITE episcopi Athenarum ad Tymotheum episcopum Ephesi, de divinis nominibus. Compresbytero [etc.] Hec autem insunt in hoc de divinis nominibus: totum capitula .xiiij." f. 31^a—59^a.

In fine—"quoniam theologiam duce Deo transcendemus. Dionisii [etc.] de divinis nominibus."

4. Quinque "Hec capitula continet de mistica theologia sermo." f. 59^a.

"Epigramma [etc.] Novam claritatem—licet nominare." ib.

"Ejusdem ad Tymotheum episcopum de mystica theologia. Compresbytero Tymotheo Dionisius presbyter. Trinitas superessencialis." f. 59^b—60^d vel 70^c.

* In fine—"Dionisii Ariopagite Athenarum episcopi de mistica theologia ejusdem epistole diverse. [scilicet] Gaio monacho. Eidem. Eidem. Doro theoministro. Sosipatro sacerdote. Policarpo summo sacerdote [f. 61^a] Demophilo monacho de propria mansuetudine et bonitate. Tito summo pontifici [etc.] Johanni theologo apostolo et evangeliste circumcluso juxta Pathmos insulam." Tum ista statim sequuntur opuscula:—

(1.) "DIONISII ARIOPAGITE episcopi Athenarum epistole diverse. Tenebre quidem obscure fiunt lumini." f. 61^a—8^d.

In fine—"et hiis qui tecum sunt trades. Explete sunt decem epistole Dionisii Ariopagite archiepiscopi facti Athenarum."

(2.) "POLICRATI successoris archiepiscopi Ephesi ex epistola ad Victorem successorem archiepiscopum Megale. Etenim per Asyam magna elementa dormiunt." f. 68^d—9^a.

(3.) "CLEMENTIS presbyteri Alexandrie ducis seole ex superscripto suo sermone. Quis salvatus dives. Ut autem confidas sic penitens vere quia tibi manet salutis spes digne utiliter. audi non fabulam set verum verbum de Johanne apostolo traditum et memoria custoditum." f. 69^a—^d.

In fine hæc rubrica:—"Hujus hystorie meminit Josebius Pamphili et Johannes episcopus Constantini civitatis."

(4.) "PHILONIS de ex-circumissione erudentibus in Egipto Christianis simul ac monachis ex superscripto ab eo sermone de vita theorica aut de orantibus. Multiplex quidem orbis terrarum est genus:" et sex alia 'ex eodem sermone' excerpta loca. f. 69^d—70^c.

In fine—"Beati autem Dionisii Ariopagite meminit Lucas evangelista in actibus apostolorum, et Dionisius episcopus Corinthi vir antiquus, et beatus Policarpus in epistola ad Ecclesiam Athenarum, et Josebius Pamphili in ecclesiastica ystoria. Finitus est cum Deo liber DIONISII Ariopagite de ecclesiastica ierarchia."

5. "Incipit prefacio [Expositionis vel Commentarii] super .iiij^{or}. libros magni DIONISII. Cum in libris magni Dionisii Arriopagite geminam experirer difficultatem, unam stili, alteram sententie. f. 73—85^c—95^d—115^a—118^d.

Paulo ulterius dicit expositor—" nove translationi principali- ter innitens: utrum autem hec opusecula supervacua sint an utilia, discernere poterit qui eadem cum textu librorum istorum et explanationibus eorundem sive Athanasii ad regem Karolum, sive aliis, diligenter contulerit." Des. sic—" est ars bene inveniendi omnes simbolicas theologias juxta consonanciam scripturarum. Explicit."

6. "JOHANNIS DAMASCENI vocati Masur, edicio diligens de orthodoxa fide," 101 capitulis, quorum tituli sunt præpositi: sic opus inc. "Primum capitulum, quoniam incomprehensibilis est Deus, et quoniam non oportet querere et circumseruari que non sunt tradita nobis a sanctis prophetis et apostolis et evangelistis. Deum nemo vidit unquam." f. 121—122—169^c.

In fine—" et indeficientem ab ipso leticiam fructificantem. Explicit liber sententiarum Johannis Damasceni. Introductio dogmatum elementans a voce sancti Jo. Damasceni ad Johannem sanctissimum episcopum Laodicie."

A large marginal gloss or "Notula" (beg. Sciendum quod de ymaginacionibus et de scriptura) occupies more than half of the width of column 162^a—3^a. Another (very curious) relating to astronomy, divides the column 131^d—4^b. Some like glosses (but shorter) are in the next articles.

7. Liber theologico-metaphysicus, in capitula xxviii. distributus, 'De substantia et natura et forma: de hypostasi et persona et individuo:' etc. inc. In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti, unius trisipostate et adorante deitatis. f. 169^d—180^d.

Des.—Fiat autem nos ipsius sequentes vestigia: semper cum ipso esse et frui ipsius gloria et regno nunc et semper in secula seculorum amen.

8. "Trisagium [JOHANNIS] DAMASCENI. Dei honorato et zelo divino ornato, domino Jordani archimandrite Johannes Damascenus in Domino gaudere." f. 181—5^c.

Des.—sanctus fortis filius Dei incarnatus et crucifixus carne propter nos.

All the contents of this volume are Translations from the Greek.

Over col. 185^d is the name of 'Stephen Bell;' who (probably) in the time of Q. Elizabeth scribbled what occurs on the same page and the two next, also on 70^d, and 72^b. At f. 14 is this note, of the time of Henry VIII.—"Iste liber pertinet ad me Willielmum Pinkh. . . Testis est Johannes Blageus."

No. 1527.

A folio MS. written about the year 1400, in a fair hand, and consisting of 103 leaves of vellum, numbered in the XVth century; whereof ff. 5, 37, 38, 44, 45 are wanting, (but were vacant, as are f. 4^a, 6, 35^b, 36^{ab}.) and the four first leaves have been antiently misplaced so, that the MS. seems at first sight to be imperfect.

REGISTRUM Chartarum ac aliorum munimentorum, de terris ac privilegiis ad Sedem Episcopalem LICHEFELDENSEM pertinentibus: ordine sequenti.

1. Bullæ Papales. f. 7—14^b, 1—4.

The writing of the last page is not so antient as the MS. generally, but contemporary with the rental or terrier thus intitled:—

21. "Iste parcelle subscript. fuerunt liberat. Episcopo Lich. xvij^o. die mensis Octobris. anno rr. Henrici Sexti vicesimo septimo, [1448,] per Ricardum Harecourt, pro terris et tenementis que tenet jure Elionor. uxoris sue, nuper uxoris Nicholai Ruggeley de Sardon. Et dict. parcelle continent redditus qui solvuntur pro terris subscriptis." f. 103^b.

No. 1528.

"A Box with Seals."

So intitled in an old MS. Catalogue in quarto: but not now found.

No. 1529.

A large original document, closely written on vellum; with a small seal of arms appendent, which is broken.

Indenture, dated 26 May, 5 Eliz. (1563), whereby the Dean and Canons of Windsor "proprietarys of the House and Hospitall of seint Anthonyes in London," demised unto Sir Henry Sydney, the "tenement callid Lady Tate's house" on the site thereof and then in his occupation, (where his father Sir Henry had dwelled,) for the farther term of 60 years, at the yearly rent of 6*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* Signed, "by me H. SYDNEY."

No. 1530, 1535.

A long Scroll of Alchemical Emblems, supposed to have been invented by GEORGE RIPLEY; containing a series of large colored drawings, with Verses in old English.

This roll was formerly in two parts, the wooden head-piece of each, and the roller of one, being yet preserved: but the large sheets of paper, of which it consists, are now all separate and in disorder, notwithstanding the attempt that has been made to arrange them. There are 27 sheets, beside one attached to each head-piece.

The verses were published by Ashmole, in his Theatrum Chemicum Britannicum, p. 375—9, but not from this MS.; nor were the various readings marked in the margin of his interleaved copy (No. 972) taken from this, nor from the other rolls, No. 1771—2. In the same volume are some other verses copied by Ashmole, that were "Written at the bottome of Ripley's scrowle betweene the King and the Pilgrim," (which are not in any of these rolls,) from a MS. "penes Tho. Henshaw, ar." at the end whereof was this note—"Thomas Munday wrought this scrowle Maye 10th. anno 1598." The roll here described seems to be somewhat older.

About the author, see Ashmole's Theatrum, (Notes) p. 455—9, and Tanner's Bibliotheca, p. 633—4.

No. 1531.

"A Commission for y^e prorogation of St George's feast, 1636."

So intitled in the old MS. Catalogue in quarto: but not now found.

No. 1532.

An original document on vellum, fairly written in Italian hand, as also the first line of the heading, the rest being ingrossed.

"Anno Domini .1612. annoque regni regis Jacobi decimo. A Remove to be made at Windesore in the Chappell, of the stalles and hatchmentes of the Knightes of the most noble Order of the Garter, at the installacoens of y^e high and mighty Lord Charles Duke of Yorke, Tho: Earle of Arundell, and Robert Vicount Rochester." Signed, "JAMES R."

The signet of the Order is appendent, impressed in brown wax: it is broken. See also No. 1546; and a collection of similar documents, in No. 1132.

No. 1533.

An original document, ingrossed on vellum: it is twice cut through the middle, as being cancelled.

Indenture, dated 7 Feb. 37 Eliz. (1595,) whereby the Dean and Chapter of Windsor leased the tithes of Lankford in Wilts., to William Hoare of Hame in Wilts., for the term of 21 years, at the yearly rent of 20*s.*

Appendent was the common seal of the College, impressed in red wax: but now only a very small fragment remains.

No. 1534.

An open sheet of paper, written on one side, in a hand of the time of James I. or Charles I., and thus indorsed:—

"The partes of the Bill exhibited in to the high Court of Parliam^t for the free uttering and selling of herringes uppon the coastes of Suff. and Norff.; wth the Reasons why the Fishermen, and those in trade wth them, doe praie that it maie be enacted according to the partes wth in specified."

Formerly kept loose in a closet, but now pasted down on f. 45 of No. 1763.

No. 1535.

Already described, being part of No. 1530.

No. 1536.

A single sheet of paper, the first leaf of which is written on, in a hand of the time of James I. or Charles I.: intitled—

“The heads of the Peticōn of the Inhabitanes of the severall townships wth in the late new Bayliwicke of Woodstock, pretended to bee parte of the Forrest of Wichwood in Com. Oxon., and divers others bordering townes thereupon;” complaining against the usurpation of Sir William San Ravey, ranger thereof.

Formerly loose, but now fixed on f. 46 of No. 1763, and marked O; the paper marked N is a former petition about the same grievances.

No. 1537.

A thin quarto volume, containing four MSS. on paper, lately collected and bound together. The first is in octavo, consisting of 14 leaves, written in the time of Charles II., and is the only one properly bearing this number: the others were loose in the Library.

I. “The Attorney in parte anatomized; or the Blacke Roll against the catchpoleing and pettefoggging Attorneys, collected by a Christian hand, and thus presented to diverse of the hon^r:^{ble} the House of Commons. Atturatum si dixeris, omnia!” ff. 1^a, 2—14.

II. A disputation between the English Ambassador and the Spanish Courtiers, on the policy of the two courts, and the state of the two nations, in reference to the Spanish match, and to catholicism: privately communicated from Spain. f. 2—11^b.

Seemingly a transcript from a printed pamphlet, and almost contemporary. It begins and ends thus—How unhappy are the people where you have byn—till it be spoken Thy kingdome is departed from thee. Davell 4th. Finis. (With two ‘erata.’) The first leaf, and the last, are vacant.

III. A declamatory epistle to the Bishop of Winchester and the Earl of Bedford, representing the state of the University of Oxford as full of persons inclined “unto papistrie” and other heresies, and urging the necessity of reforming the heads of houses; in Latin and English. ff. 38.

Written in corresponding pages, the Latin in Italian hand, the English in common secretary; in the time of Q. Elizabeth. (See f. 16.) This curious MS. is unfortunately imperfect at beginning and end.

IV. “The second and last English Advice to y^e Freeholders of England. Nec vates Helenus [etc.] Printed in y^e year 1722.” pp 38.

This is a fair transcript of an interesting political pamphlet, written, not unseemingly by the hand of Huddesford, (Keeper of this Museum in 1755), in a book of 20 leaves (the first blank) within marbled paper covers.

No. 1538.

An original document, written on an open sheet of paper, in a small cursive character, having a large golden capital, a deep flourished border of gold above the text, and the two first lines and the Queen’s name written in gold. It is much worn in the folds, and in the lower and right-hand margins; and is indorsed with the words quoted below:—

Letter, in the Russian language and character, from the “EMPEROUR OF MUSCOVYE to her Ma^y” Queen Elizabeth; dated “June 1602; received at Oatlands the 5 of Septemb^r 1602.”

A direction, in Russian, runs along the back in one line.

The seal is impressed on the back of the left-hand margin (which was made to fold over the letter when inspected in red wax under a square paper, which is marked ‘No. 2,’ by the same hand as the translation of its inscription in No. 1131, f. 127. An engraving of it is uppermost in the plate at p. 229 of Ashmole’s Institution of the Order of the Garter, whereof a fine impression may be seen in the same volume in which this letter is fixed, f. 89^b. Its diameter is 3½ inches.

 This and the two following numbers were formerly loose in the closet of Rolls, but are now fixed and preserved in the great portfolio No. 1763, ff. 47, 48, 49. See also No. 1784-5-6.

No. 1539.

An original document, written in the same manner as the foregoing, but on a larger sheet, and in a different position thereon: it is preserved in a better state, and is thus indorsed:—

An other Letter of the “EMPEROR OF RUSSIA to her Ma^y, delivered at Richmond, 14 Octobr: by his Ambassad^r Evanowich.”

The seal is of the same size as the foregoing, but bearing a different inscription: it is likewise impressed on red wax between paper; but at the foot of the letter, and not on the lower part of the margin as in No. 1538: this letter has therefore a nobler appearance.

No. 1540.

A sheet of stout paper, on the first page whereof is done with pencil—

An accurate drawing of the Great Seal of the Czar of Muscovy, “No. j.”

This marked by Frese the interpreter, whose transcript and translation, of the five lines inscribed around the eagle, are in No. 1131, f. 125. It was from this drawing that Hollar, in 1667, engraved the largest seal in the plate at p. 229 of Ashmole’s book of the Garter. (See No. 1763, R.) It is larger than the seals attached to No. 1538, 1539, being 5 inches in diameter. There is an imperfect draught of an other, in No. 1121, p. 469: see the note thereon.

No. 1541.

“A short Tract teaching y^e use of y^e Grammatical Cards.”

This intitled in the old quarto MS. Catalogue, but not now found.

No. 1542.

“A small round Box of Seals, stamp in paper.”

So described in the same Catalogue; but not now in the Library, unless the seals lately found loose at the end of No. 1138, and now fixed on ff. 116 and 117, be the same.

No. 1543.

An original document, written in small secretary-hand, on a large sheet of vellum.

Commission granted by Queen ELIZABETH (under her sign manual) to William Lord Cobham, K. G., to be her Lieutenant in the celebration of the instant feast of S. George, at Windsor: dated at Westm. 12 Apr. 1595, anno 37.

The seal of the Order of the Garter is appendent, impressed in red wax: part of it is broken off.

No. 1544. (A.)

An original document, written on parchment, in a common hand.

Letters of CHARLES I. (under his sign manual) proroguing the celebration of S. George's feast from 8—10 Dec., (already prorogued from 5—7 Oct. and from 22—4 April last past,) to the 12th, 13th, and 14th of January next: dated at Whitehall, 20 Nov. 1640.

Unfortunately the impression of the great seal of the Order, in green wax, is not perfect: it is very beautiful and spirited.

No. 1544. (B.)

An original document, fairly written on vellum, and thus indorsed by the same hand:—

“Concessio facta Vicarijs Collegij, de uno mesuagio in Pescodstrete,” in Nova Wyndesore; scilicet, per JOHANNEM ATTE LEE et THOMAM HORN, executores testamenti ‘domini Henrici Blount, Warner vulgariter nuncupati, nuper Canonici capelle regie de Wyndesore,’ qui domos illos ‘cum gardino’ legaverat, ad obitum suum perpetuo celebrandum: data 25 Jan. 1371.

The first seal is quite lost from the label, and of the second only a fragment remains: the third is perfect, (that of Tho. Horn) impressed in green wax, which is always found the most lasting.

No. 1544. (C.)

A large original document, written on parchment in a small secretary-hand; with some fragments of the large seal appendent: it has been cut twice in the middle fold, as if cancelled.

Indenture, dated 8 April, 3 Jac. I. 1606, whereby the Dean and Canons of Windsor demised to George Gybson, merchant-taylor of London, four messuages lately built by his father ‘William Gibson,’ on their land in the parish of S. Mary, Somerset, by Thames-street, (formerly occupied by Nich. Maynard, Tho. Streate, and Tho. Keble,) for the term of 40 years, at the yearly rent of 4*l.* and ‘one couple of capons.’

No. 1545.

An original roll of parchment, consisting of three narrow skins, written on both sides, and tacked together by the head: it is partly ingrossed, and begins thus:—

“An Assessment of the Inhabitants of the Dutchy-liberty within the parish of St. Clement Danes, by vertue of an Ordinance of both houses of Parliament, for the contribucion of the value of one meale in the weeke, to begin from the second of Aprill 1644, and to continue for the space of six monethes and noe longer, to be collected weekly.”

The names in this curious list are marked accordingly to their payments. At the end, which is toward the head on the dorse of mem. 3, is written—

The Warrant to Fra. Kidd and Ph. R..... collectors of the same tax: signed, 9 Apr. 1644, by “Will. Ball, by order of the Court.”

No. 1546.

An original document on vellum, of the same description as No. 1532.

“Anno Domini 1608. annoque. r. regis Jacobi. 6^o. A Remove to be made at Windesore wth in the Chappell, of the stalles and hatchmentes of the Knights of the most noble Order of the Garter, at the installacones of y^e right hoble Lordes, George Earle of Dunbar, and Phillip Earle of Montgomery, as followeth.” Signed, “JAMES R.”

The impression of the signet of the Order, in red wax, is not perfect. The indorsement is—“for the remove of the Banners at Windesore.”

No. 1547.

“An order by K. James I. for y^e celebration of St George's Feast, 1603.”

Thus intituled in the old quarto MS. Catalogue, but not now found.

In the stead thereof is put a roll, (now marked ‘B’), which was found shut up and flattened, within No. 835; and is thus headed:—

*“Articles of the Aggrement made by the medycōn of the most reverend father in God, THOMAS [WOLSEY] Lorde Legate de latere and Cardynalle, betwene the right honourable Tho.

mas Vycount Rocheforde and his coparceners, and Ser Pyers Butler, Knyght, for the enheritance of the Erledome of Ormond."

Written on three sheets of paper, sewn end to end; and seemingly the original draught of the arbitration. On the back of the first sheet, is tricked out, by the same hand, or one of equal antiquity, a—

Pedigree showing, in six descents from 'Jacobus Butteler Comes Ormond' and 'Alienora' his wife, the kindred of the parties concerned in this arbitration.

No. 1567.

On the fly-leaves of "Gratii Falisci Cynægeticon," with a translation by Chr. Wase, (London, 1654, 12^o.) bearing the autograph of "Jo: Aubrey, Mid. Temp. præf. 1^s." are written—

AUBREY'S notes, taken from the relation of "Capt. HAMDEN 16⁸⁹/₉₀." viz.—

Of one that was cured of a rupture, by lying on his back after his leg was broken. f. 1^b.

Remedies "For an ague" or a "consumption and hectick fever" (mentioning "Mr. R. Boyle,") and for the "dropscy." ib.

Notes to ask the Captain "of the family of ye Digges: his wife was Sr Dudley Diggses daughter." f. 2^a.

Remedy "For y^e flux or bloody flux. Capt. Hamden." f. 3^a.

Hamden's remedy for a stoppage in the head, approved by Dr. Willis. f. 3^b.

No. 1729.

A large and valuable collection of Original Documents illustrative of English History, for the most part written on paper, but some are on vellum; formerly stitched together in a vellum-covered portfolio, but now of late carefully bound together in a folio volume.

Royal Warrants and Letters missive of the Kings and Queens of England, from Henry VIII. to Charles I., and Letters of many Princes and Nobles both English and Foreign, chiefly on matters of state.

*1. 'The Kynges letter' directed "To our trusty and right welbelovéd counsaillor Sr Robert Druery" Justice of peace, thanking him for his diligent apprehension of 'certain sedicious persones w^t in our towne of Bury,' and exhorting him to persevere in so doing; with the sign manual of HENRY VIII. (Windsor, 7 Mar. 15...) f. 1^a.

The impression of the signet is lost. This letter is written endlong down one side of the leaf, and directed and indorsed on the other.

*2. Letter under stamp† of the sign manual of HENRY VIII., directed "To our trustie and welbelovéd Doctor Peter Ligham," commanding him, in his visitation of the province of Canterbury for the Archbishop, to procure the seal of every chapter college and monastery, and the subscription of every member thereof, and of every parson, to a 'writing' delivered herewith, and 'to the arteyle concernynge the bissopp of Roome his anthorityte w^t in this realme:' giving authority to commit recusants to prison. (Hampton Court, 25 June 15...) f. 2^a.

† See Ellis-es first series of Letters, I. 282-3. This letter is nearly of the same description as the foregoing, but much worn and torn.

*3. Letter under sign manual of HENRY VIII. "to his Ambass: in Fraunce, for a demand of a traytor named Blanch Rose, [wherein also is a long] Justificacōn of his observacōn of all his treaties wth the French and other Princes." (Moore, 18 Oct. an. 32, 1540.) f. 3-4^b.

Indorsed in the time of James I. on the margin of the fourth page. The wrapper and seal are lost.

4. "The Quenes Pre from Chelsey to the Lord Admyrall"* Seymour, written and signed by KATERVNE THE QUENE. f. 5^a.

* Written by an other hand on the back (f. 6^b), and seeming to be the original direction: an indorsement adds—'for marige after she was married.' On the third page are written by a contemporary hand, these words,—"from yor highnes vmbell servant, asswrede and faythfull frende, and louyng hosbond dueryng his lyff." The seal is wanting. This letter is printed in Ellis-es first series, II. 151-3, and in the Retrospective Review, N. S., (1828,) I. 503-4. The paper which was foliated '7, 8' was lost before 1697, for in Lhuys's Catalogue there is no reference to any article between this and the next. But see Tanner, p. 469.

*5. Six interesting memoranda of King EDWARD VI. about the Lord Admiral's intercourse with him in 1547, and about his uncle the Protector, whom he wished dead; signed in two places with "E. R." f. 9^a.

The letters CEF and ABD, show the order in which they ought to be read. This paper is noticed (but inaccurately) in Tanner's Bibliotheca, p. 255.

6. Letter from the Princess ELIZABETH, to the Protector Somerset, declaring her confidence in 'Master Tirwit,' and promising not to hide them, if 'any more thinges hapen in my minde.' (Hatfield, 6 Feb. 1548.) f. 11^a.

* The year appears in the indorsement by a secretary on f. 12^b; where also this fairly written letter is thus directed—"To my verey good lorde my Lorde Protector."

7. Letter from Q. ELIZABETH to Lord Burghley,* revoking (for the fourth time) the execution of the Duke of Norfolk. f. 13^a.

* Indorsed by him as received at 2 a. m. 11 Apr. 1572. It is all written by the Queen's hand, (seemingly in haste,) subscribed with her large signature, and sealed with her signet of arms: it is printed in Ellis-es first series, II. 263.

8. Warrant under the sign manual and with the signet of Q. ELIZABETH, to Lord Burghley, commanding books of survey to be made for her signature, describing lands* to be assured unto the crown by Robert Earl of Leicester, and to him in exchange for the same. (15 Oct. an. 22. 1580.) f. 15^b.

* The manors of Arruseley and Keivilock in Montgomerysh., Kenlethowen in Deabighsh., Knolle in Warw., and a vent out of his other estates. The crown-lands were not to be within ten miles of the queen's 'houses of accesse,' eleven of which are named. It is neatly written on vellum, countersigned by 'Windebank,' (who states it to be a second warrant.) and indorsed by Lord Burghley.

9. Warrant (as before) of Q. ELIZABETH, to Lord Burghley. "for 200 okes to be taken in Sr Fr: Englefield's woods, [to build ships] for Sr Walter Raleigh." (Greenwich, 7 Apr. an. 28, 1586.) f. 16^a.

Written down the first page of a sheet; countersigned by one Yetsweit, and indorsed by a contemporary hand, on f. 17^b.

10. Warrant (as before) of Q. ELIZABETH, to Lord Burghley and Sir Walter Mildmay, for a book to be made for assuring to Sir Chr. Hatton, lands and parsonages to the value of 223*l*. 10*s*., in exchange for Haywood in Herefordshire, and for his past services. (Greenwich, 4 July, an. 28, 1586.) f. 18^a.

On vellum; indorsed by Lord Burghley.

11. Q. ELIZABETH'S "Warrant to the Lord Treasurer* for [permitting the exportation of] the Erle of Essex provisions into France. 1590." (Greenwich, 21 July, an. 33.) f. 19^a.

* Lord Burghley; indorsed as above, but not by him: it is on vellum, bears the royal sign manual and signet, and is countersigned by 'J. Wood.'

12. Warrant (as before) of Q. ELIZABETH, to Lord Burghley, for the payment of 5*s*. a day to Capt. Frances Stafford, to be made in England, and no longer in Ireland as by a former grant. (Richmond, 10 Dec. 1590.) f. 20^a.

Written down the first page of a sheet, and indorsed on f. 21^b. The signet is preserved, but the royal autograph has been torn off. One other warrant has been taken away between this and the next, which is thus indorsed (on f. 24^b. by an old hand:—

13. "Hir Mat^{ies} Pres [to Lord Burghley, permitting] 23000 weight of bell-mettell to be sent by y^e Moscovie marchantes* into Moseovy" from the port of London. (7 May, an. 37, 1597.) f. 23^a.

* "At the request of a great person about the Emperor there, whose favour they have often founde." Under sign manual and signet of Q. ELIZABETH, and Ex^r per Lake.

14. Warrant of Q. ELIZABETH (as before) to Lord Burghley, to direct a commission out of the Exchequer unto Sir Henry Billingsley, Rich. Carmarthen, and Tho. Middleton, merchants of London, for selling the commodities taken in a Spanish ship by the Earl of Essex; also to authorize fit persons to survey and dispose of the said ship. (3 Jan. an. 40, 1597.) f. 25^{ab}.

A sheet of paper, directed and indorsed on f. 26^b.

15. Q. ELIZABETH'S warrant (as before) to Lord Burghley* "For the Erle of Essex to have 7000^l. owt of the 44170^l. arisinge of the cochinnello and indico prize" aforesaid. (Westm. 10 Feb. 1597.) f. 27^a.

* Countersigned and partly written (but not indorsed) by him: it is on vellum.

16. Two letters of MARY Queen of Scots, to Lady, and "A Monsieur de Manvisiere"* about her affairs; in French; both dated 'Winkfeild, xvij^{me}. Oct. 1584.' f. 28^a, 28^b—9.

* This direction is on f. 29^b. The sheet does not seem to be by Mary's own hand, though perhaps written for her use. The first leaf is torn at the bottom.

17. Letter of JAMES VI. of Scotland, requesting the Lord Chamberlain to obtain the Queen's passport for Capt. Andro Gray, then about to pass through England into France. (Lulihquo, 2 June 1595.) f. 30^a.

Directed, on f. 31^b, "To our trusty and weilbelovit cousing the Lord Hunsden chalmr, and to our dearest sister the Queene of England." The signet is impressed on the back, and the letter is subscribed "James R."

18. Letter of JAMES VI. of Scotland "To our trustie and weilbelovit counsellor Mr Archibald Douglas," requiring his advice on matters intrusted to the bearer, his nephew. (Falkland, 30 Sept. 1595.) f. 32^a.

In the same form as the foregoing article, but sealed as a common letter, with a very small seal; and directed on f. 33^b, as above.

19. "The copie of his Maties letters to all y^e Shireffes in Scotland," commanding them to make known, and put in execution, an act of Parliament for providing 'armour.' (Halyrudhows, 7 June 1598.) f. 34^a.

A narrow leaf, written at the time, and subscribed with the title given above.

20. R. JACOBI VI. ad Christianum IV. Daniæ Regem, literæ, quibus licentiam petit quod Thomas Wenmannus, Anglus, per regna ejus atque provincias transire possit, 'Constantinopolim per Daniam peregrinaturus.' (E regia Sancruciana, 6 Junij, 1599.) f. 35^a.

Fairly ingrossed in the Italic character, and subscribed thus by the King, "S. V. frater amantissimus Jacobus R." It bears a long direction on f. 36^b, but the signet is lost.

21. A humorous letter of K. JAMES I. of England, (in French) to M. de Vitry,* complaining that his son had not once accompanied him in the chase, and desiring an other visit to make up for his default. (Royston, 7 Oct. 1606.) f. 37^a.

* Directed "A Monsieur de Vitry, Capitaine des gardes du Roy treschrestien." (f. 38^b.) It is written in a French hand, subscribed thus—"Vostre bon amy Jaques R." and bears the signet on the back.

22—48 etc. Letters and Warrants of JAMES I. unto the Privy Council, about his accession to the English crown; signed with his own hand:—

22. "His M^{tie} I're to y^e Privy Counsaile," stating that, having heard of the Queen's death,* he, as her successor, sends a commission to keep them in their places. (Halyrudehous, 27 Mar. 1603.) f. 39^a.
- * 24 March. The signet, impressed in red wax, (f. 40^b) is broken away: the next does not seem to have been sealed.
23. A longer letter to the same and to "the Peeres and Nobilitie of our kingdomes of England and Irland," directing them to continue their consultations and endeavors to preserve public peace. (Ib. 28 Mar. 1603.) f. 41—2.
24. Answer to the letter of the Peers and Council dated 24 March, about the proclamation of the King: sending Sir David Foulis to confer with them, and promising not to change the laws and customs. (Ib. 31 Mar. 1603.) f. 43^a.
- The small signet is a thistle crowned; in red wax, f. 44^b.
25. Duplicate of the same letter, somewhat enlarged; addressed to the Council. (Same date.) f. 45^{ab}.
- Written by an other hand, and also signed by the King: the signet is broken away from f. 46^b.
26. Letter to the Peers and Council, sending and recommending the Abbat of Kinlose. (Same date.) f. 47^a.
- Sealed with the same signet, and directed, on f. 48^b.
27. Letter to the Council, desiring that they should stay together in London, and that not so many persons should resort to the royal presence. (Ib. 2 Apr. an. 1.) f. 49^a.
- With a short postscript about the bearer (not named) written by the King's hand. The signet is broken away.
28. To the Peers and Council, about continuing their offices and powers until the King's will be farther made known. (Ib. 4 Apr. 1603.) f. 51^a.
- Sealed (with the same signet,) and directed, on f. 52^b.
29. Duplicate of the same, addressed to the Lords assembled at Whitehall. (same date.) f. 53^a.
- The sign manual, which was written at the top of this letter (and not, as usually, subscribed), has been torn out.
30. Warrant unto Sir John Payton, Lieut. of the Tower of London, for the release of the Earl of Southampton and Sir H.* Nevell. (Same date.) f. 55^a.
- * From the indorsement on f. 55^b: there is a space for the name in the text. It is sealed with the 'signet' or privy seal of the arms of Scotland, and superscribed thus, "JAMES R." Compare No. 781, art. 21.
31. To the Council, with a commission for fixing the power of the Council, and terminating that of the assembled Peers. (Ib. 5 Apr. 1603.) f. 56^{ab}.
- The large round seal has been broken off, from ff. 57^b, 61^b, and 63^b.
32. To the Peers and Council, in favor of the Earl of Southampton, and informing them of his release. (Same date.) f. 58^a.
- With the signet of the thistle, on f. 59^b.
33. To 'the Earles Bishops and Barons assembled at — Whitchall,' stating that his coming might not perhaps be so soon as he wished, and that he had appointed a Privy Council to manage the government until then. (Same date.) f. 60^a.
34. To the Council, about the King's arrival at Berwick, and intended entry into York. (Berwick, 6 Apr. 1603.) f. 62—3.
- Printed in Ellis-es first series of Letters, num. 239, vol. iii. p. 64—7.
35. To the Council, appointing the Earls of Northumberland and Cumberland, the Lord Deputy Montjoy, and Lord Thomas Howard of Walden, to be added unto the number of those staying behind, when some of the Council should meet the King at Burghley. (Berwick, 7 Apr. 1603.) f. 64^a.
- Sealed with the privy seal of the arms of Scotland, on f. 65^b. See also f. 75^b.
36. Letter to Lord Thomas Howard, appointing him 'to exercise the place of our Chamberlain in the absence of the Lord Hunsdon,' by reason of 'the impotency of his bodie.' f. 66^a.
- Neither dated, sealed, nor directed; but signed by the King, and indorsed thus on f. 67^b—"1603. King's Maty to the Lord Thomas Howard."
37. To the Council, about complaints of grievances made by Catholics and others to the King on his progress; sending 'a blank signed with our hand' for issuing a fit proclamation to promise relief to his subjects; authorizing the Keeper of the great seal to issue writs for a Parliament to be holden soon after his Coronation; directing that the usual supplies of men be sent unto the United Provinces, and that the Queen's 'funeralles' should be performed before the King's coming. (Newcastle, 10 Apr. 1603.) f. 68—9.
- Doubly sealed, with a very small signet of the arms of Scotland, on f. 69^b.
38. To the Peers and Council, repeating the substance of artt. 35 and 36, and giving farther directions about the Privy Council and the Queen's funerals. (Same date.) f. 70—1.
- A fair contemporary transcript, indorsed with the proper direction on f. 71^b.
39. Letter to —, requiring him to come and confer with the King about some urgent affairs, and to inform the Privy Council of his absence. f. 72—3.
- A transcript, or draught, corrected by an other hand, and thus indorsed—"xj April. To our trusty and welbelovéd Counsaillor Ro. etc." Sir Robert Cecil?

40. To the Earl of Cumberland, giving permission for him to leave the Privy Council, and come to York 'to carry the sword' before the King, according to his hereditary right in that case. (Newcastle, 11 Apr. 1603.) f. 74^a.

Sealed with the same seal as art. 35, on f. 75^b.

41. To the Council, authorizing the issue of money out of the Exchequer unto Sir Tho. Knyvett, Warden of the Mint, for buying bullion until farther order be given for the coining of new money. (Same date.) f. 76^a.

This document is perhaps the first that was sealed (f. 77^b) with the new large signet of the arms of England, Scotland, France, and Ireland, quarterly.

42. To the Lords at Whitehall, giving directions about the making of new money. (Newcastle, 13 Apr. 1603.) f. 78^{ab}.

Sealed f. 79^b with the same seal as art. 41. This letter is printed in Ellis's first series, num. 240, vol. III. p. 67—9; but the direction on f. 79^b is there omitted.

43. To the Lord Keeper and four other Councilors, in answer to their letter of the 13th. (Topcliff, 15 Apr. 1603.) f. 80^a.

Not sealed, but directed on f. 81^b. Printed also by Ellis, num. 241, vol. III. p. 69—71.

44. To the Council,* acknowledging the jewels received from Tho. Somerset and Charles Howard, and requiring more jewels and finery for his wife; also forbidding the approach of ladies to meet and attend on the Queen. (Worsoppe, 21 Apr. 1603.) f. 82^{ab}.

* Directed "especially to such of or said Conncell as were at the openyng of the chestes and coffers of our Jewells and other furnytur." (f. 83^b.) Sealed with the same new seal as art. 41.

45. Warrant unto the Council, to re-admit Dr. Julius Caesar and Roger Willbraham, esq. into the Council as Masters of Requests, and Sir Anth. Ashley as Clerk of the Council; also to apprehend Barbara Ruthen, for 'malitious speeches against' the King, and to utter a proclamation for apprehending William and Patrick Ruthen, brothers of the late Earl Gowry. (Belvoir-castle, 23 Apr. 1603.) f. 84^{ab}.

This (on f. 85^b) and the next (on f. 87^b) are sealed with the same seal as art. 41.

46. To the Lord Treasurer, Lord Tho. Howard, (deputy Chamberlain,) and the Treasurer and Comptroller of the royal household, authorizing them to take new white staves, (though appointed but 'provisionally,') after breaking their staves at the Queen's burial. (Burghley, 21 Apr. 1603.) f. 86^a.

47. To the Council, for restraining the attendance of guards and others likely to resort unto the King in his progress, after the Queen's funeral; and promising to send for officers of the household, and others, after coming to Theobald's. (Stauden, 1 May 1603.) f. 88^a.

Sealed (on f. 89^b) with a smaller seal or 'signet' than the foregoing, but of the same description.

48. To the Council, notifying the King's pleasure that the Lord Henry Howard should have precedence as a Duke's younger son, which had been granted to him by Q. Mary and Elizabeth, notwithstanding his grandfather's attainder. (Greenwich, 16 May 1603.) f. 90^{ab}.

The paper having been lost, only part of the wax remains on f. 91^b, impressed with the same seal as art. 41 etc.

49. "Warrant to the Lady Gowry to keep her daughter forthcoming; wth the K^s. own hand," and the sign manual of "JAMES R." (Greenwich, 30 May 1603.) f. 92^a.

Thus it is indorsed, yet the document certainly was not written by the King's hand, (as the next is,) but by a Scottish Secretary. The person to be kept close is the Barbara Ruthen named in art. 45.

50. R. JACOBI I. epistola ad Regem quendam, quem 'fratrem amantissimum' appellat. f. 93^a.

A corrected draught, not signed nor directed; but thus indorsed—"1604. His Maty the K. owne hand."

51. JAMES I. to the Council, proudly commanding that the House of Commons should not enter on any other business, until the dispute about their privileges were settled. (Royston, 1 Apr. an. 2, 1604.) f. 95^a.

Signed by the King, but not sealed.

52. JAMES I. "His Mat^{es} warrant for appoynting a certayne number of Counsellors," with the names of the twenty-five members of the Privy Council thereby appointed. (Howard-house, 10 May 1603.) f. 97^a.

A folding sheet thus indorsed: it is signed by the King, and bears the smaller signet.

53. JAMES I. "His Mat^{es} l^{res} to my L." [Robert Earl of Salisbury,*] against the liberty of the press, and for appointing censors to examine pamphlets of news and politics. (Westm. 6 July, an. 6, 1608.) f. 98^a.

* Called 'our principall Secretary' in the document. It is superscribed with the King's sign manual, and sealed (with the same signet as the foregoing,) directed, and indorsed on f. 99^b.

54. JAMES I. "His Mat^{es} l^{res} to my Lo: [Salisbury] on the behalf of my Lo: Montegle, concerninge the drawing [of] a byll for his Mat^{es} signature, for discharginge the mannor of Mastoeke of a tenure in cheife, whereby it is now holden." (Greenwich, 5 June, an. 7, 1607.) f. 100^a.

Superscribed with the King's sign manual, and sealed (as before,) directed, and indorsed as above, on f. 100^b.

55. R. JACOBI I. epistola ad Imperatorem Rudolphum II., quod gratiose rem D. Henrico

Gunderodio latori impertam gratiose auscultaret. (Westm. 28 Maij 1609.) f. 102^a.

Subscribed by the King, and bearing an impression of the larger signet, and a long inscription, on f. 103^b.

56. Warrant from JAMES I. to the Earl of Salisbury, granting unto William Arsbell, and eleven other of the servants of his son the Prince, the goods and two parts of the lands of six 'Recusants'* whom they had discovered and purposed to persecute and convict. (24 Jan. an. 8, 1610.) f. 104^{ab}.

* Lawrence Penn of S. Katharine's, Tho. Briscitt of S. Bennet's, Geo. Romney of S. Clement Daues gent., John Chamberlaine of S. Andrewes in Holborn, Gilbert Bownd of S. Martin's in the fields, and John Cole of S. Dunstan's in the west. Signed by the King, and on f. 105^b sealed with the smaller signet, and directed and indorsed.

57. Warrant from JAMES I. to the Lord Chancellor Ellesmere, Lord Salisbury, and others of the Privy Council, commanding them to make lists of persons from whom money might be exacted by way of loan, throughout England, to be directed to the Earl of Northampton, Keeper of the Privy Seal. (Westm. 11 Apr. an. 8, 1610.) f. 106^a.

Signed, and sealed (as before) directed and indorsed on f. 107^b.

58. Renewed warrant from JAMES I. (after the Earl of Dorset's death) to Lord Treasurer Salisbury, to prepare patents granting to the Duke of Lenox the office of 'Alneadgeor' and collector of subsidies almost throughout England and Wales, bought for the term of 21 years. (Westm. 27 Apr. an. 8, 1610.) f. 108^a.

Signed, and sealed (as before) directed and indorsed on f. 107^b.

59. R. JACOBI I. epistola ad Sigismundum III. Poloniæ Regem, responsoria et apologetica, de Principis Moldaviensis rebus adversis. (Westm. 24 Junij 1610.) f. 110^{ab}.

Subscribed by the King, and sealed on f. 111^b with the larger signet, and there directed.

60. JAMES I. "His Ma^{ts} warrant to my Lord [Salisbury,] to give order to the K. Councell to draw a bill for a grant and lease of the goods and two parts of the landes of such Recusants as are herein specified,* unto the Earle of Montgomerie, upon certificate of their conviction by dne course of lawe." (Westm. 12 Feb. an. 9, 1611.) f. 112^{ab}.

* Sir Henry Jeames of the county of Kent; Sir John Shelley, Sir John Carill the elder and the younger, Sir John Morley, and Sir Tho. Carill of Sussex; Sir John Whitebroke of Shropshire, Richard Cotton of Hampshire, William Sodage of Kent, John Wright of Essex, Albane Butler of Northamptonshire, Barth. Fremondes of Surrey, and Edward Gage of Herefordshire, esquires, —were the intended victims of this treacherous and gold thirsty game of persecution, warranted by the King's signature. The document is indorsed as above, and directed, on f. 113^b; but the seal is lost.

61. Warrant from JAMES I. to the Earl of Salisbury, directing him to employ Humphrey May in attending to Irish affairs referred from the Privy Council unto Commissioners, and to report thereon through him to the King; also to grant unto him the reversion of a clerkship to the signet, and the yearly salary of 200 marks. (28 July, an. 9, 1611.) f. 114^{ab}.

Signed by the King, and countersigned by 'Levynus Munck.' Sealed with the smaller signet, and directed, on f. 115^b.

62. An elegant little letter, from the Princess ELIZABETH to her father James I., as a specimen of her writing* and French composition. f. 116^a.

* In the Italian hand. Two leaves in 8vo, folded up small, directed 'Au Roy' and sealed twice with a small signet of the royal arms of Scotland.

63. Letter from CHARLES I. to Richard [Montague] Bishop of Chichester, forbidding the letting of leases for lives by individual ecclesiastics, as well as by ecclesiastical corporations.* (Hampton-court, 6 Oct. an. 10, 1634.) f. 117^a.

* Which had been forbidden by former letters dated 22 June. This document is under the royal sign manual; and is directed on f. 64^b; from which page the signet is lost.

64. Letter of Henry IV. the "French King, to her Ma^y: [Q. Elizabeth,] concerning a ship of St Jean de Luz, coming from Newfoundland, staid by a ship of Plymouth." (S. Germain's, 29 Jan. 1602.) f. 119^a.

A folded sheet thus indorsed: it bears the signature of 'Henry,' and an impression of his large signet. In French.

65. Letter of the King of Portugal to Lord Treasurer Burghley, superscribed by him thus:—"A wrytyng of K. Antonio delyvered to me xv. Octob. 1588, by D. Lopez. to be kept closs until he shall arryve in Lysibon." f. 120^a.

Dated on the same day at London; all written by the King's own hand, in his own language, subscribed 'Rey,' and sealed both within and without with a small signet of the royal arms. The indorsement is on the wrapper, which is parted on f. 121^b.

66. Letter from ANTONIO King of Portugal, to Q. Elizabeth, in Portugueze. (Brussels, 27 Jan. 1589.) f. 122^a.

Written also by his own hand, and subscribed 'Yo el Rey:' directed, and sealed with a seal of arms, on f. 123^b.

67. Letter in Spanish, addressed* "Ala señora pr de Ingalaterra ma. ch." and subscribed "PAYNIA." (8 Nov. 1546.) f. 124^{ab}.

* On f. 125^b: but that part of the seal-paper, on which the ends of the lines were written, is lost. It is sealed with a signet of the arms of Spain or Portugal, and is indorsed thus—"1546. to the Queene."

*68. Comitibus FRIDERICI Electoris Palatini epistola ad R. Elizabetham, de Principum Germaniæ, qui Augustanæ confessioni addicti erant, conventu Erfordiæ celebrato 5 Sept.; deque Henrico Killgrio, Regiæ nuper legato. (Novi Castris, 28 Sept. 1569.) f. 126^{ab}.

A letter elegantly composed and written, with the Prince's signature, and an impression of his signet on f. 127^b.

*69. Ejusdem ad Henricum Killegri epistola, res in illo conventu gestas describens, (partim characteribus secretis,) quod eas Reginae notas faceret; eodem die. f. 128—130.

Written by the same hand as the foregoing letter, on two sheets of paper, and sealed with the same signet, on f. 131^b: the cyphers are decyphered above, by Killegrew's hand.

*70. JOHANNIS CASIMIRI Comitis Palatini Rheni, ad R. Elizabetham epistola, ad illius 13 Dec. Richmondiae scriptam respondens, de rebus 'Principum evangelicorum' arduis, et animo suo erga religionem et patriam. (Heidelbergae, 22 Jan. 1590.) f. 132—2.

Written in an elegant hand, signed 'Kasimirus,' and sealed with a small signet of arms on f. 133^b.

71. PHILIPPI LUDOVICI Comitis Palatini ad Rhenum, ad R. Elizabetham epistola, qua filium suum natu maximum Wolfgangum Wilhelmum, ad consanguineos et familiares excursum facientem, cum in Angliam venerit, amice rogat excipiendum. (Neoburgi ad Istrum, 31 Julij, 1600.) f. 134^a.

Well written in an Italian hand, (as are also the foregoing four letters,) and signed by the Count; sealed, with a signet of 3 shields of arms, and directed and indorsed (as usually) on f. 135^b.

72. JOHANNIS Cardinalis Andegavensis, ad Priorem Cantuariensem, epistula, quod de negotio monasterii Fiscanensis instructionem Archiepiscopo Cant. daret, super quo eum tractare apud Regem rogaverat. (Romae, 18 Jan. 1488.) f. 136^a.

A quarto leaf, written (downward) in an Italian hand, and signed by the Cardinal: this curious letter, which is the oldest in this volume, is directed on the back, where it bears a small seal of arms.

73. Letter of FRIDRICH* 'Duke of Wirtembergh' to Q. Elizabeth, expressing much friendship, and congratulating her on her success in Ireland; in French. (Stuttgart, $\frac{8}{18}$ Mar. 1602.) f. 137^b—8.

* So is his name subscribed to this letter, which is written in a French running hand, on a large leaf folded into two as it stands in the book: it bears a seal of arms and the direction, on f. 137^a; and is indorsed with his title on f. 138^b.

74. Letter of "The Archd: ALBERT, to her Maytie, by M^r Edmonds at his first returne;" stating that he had sent him to the French King to ask permission to hold the treaty at Boulogne, where the Spanish Ambassador and others would meet about the 16th or 17th of March: in French. (Lille, 7 Feb. 1600.) f. 109^a.

Sealed with arms, directed, and indorsed as above, on f. 140^b.

75. PHILIPPI Regis Hispaniae ad R. Jac. I. epistola, commendans D. Robertum Boton, quod salvus iret et rediret. (Matriti, 16 Dec. 1606.) f. 141^a.

Subscribed by the King and by 'Endreas aprada.' Sealed with a fair signet of arms, and directed, on f. 142^b. Much of this letter was eaten away by vermin, while it was folded.

76. Letter from AMBROSIUS Duke of Genoa, to Q. Mary, brought by 'two principal gentlemen of the republic, Simon di Negro and Lucas Grimaldi,' who were chosen Ambassadors to be present at her marriage with King Philip. (7 June 1554.) f. 142^a.

Seemingly all written by the Duke's own hand, in a fair Italic character; and sealed with a signet bearing this inscription around the arms, Dux et Gubernatores Reip. Genve. (f. 143^b.) Printed in the Gentleman's Magazine, for Dec. 1834, p. 607—8.

77. CAROLI Regis Succorum ad 'Angliae Senatores' epistola, super morte R. Elizabethae, et amicitia reciproca. (Oerebrogiae, 6 cal. Mai. 1603.) f. 144^a.

Subscribed Carolus; sealed with his seal of arms, and directed, on f. 145^b, where it is thus indorsed with the day when it was received,—“6 May 1603, Duke Charles of Sweden to the Lords.”

78. Letter from FRANCIS Duke of Florence, to Q. Elizabeth, in favour of Ferdinand and Sebastian Ximenes, about naval affairs; in Italian. (Florence, 7 July 1595.) f. 146^a.

Sealed with his arms, directed and indorsed, on f. 147^b.

*79. "A message unto the Quenes excellent Matie from th'Empero^r his highnes of Moscovia to be doone in secrett unto her highnes, by me her graces servant, A. JENKINSON." f. 148^{ab}.

The paper thus headed contains the Czar's request for a confederacy with England, especially against Poland, and for commercial and military advantages: it is thus indorsed in Lord Burlinghame's hand,—“Novemb. 1567. Antho. Jenkinsons message don to the Q. Maty. from theperor of Moscovia.” f. 149^b.

It appears from the scanty account of this volume in Lhuys's Catalogue (num. 8440—1) that in this place was formerly—but it is now lost. The old foliation is here referred unto, which is irregular, and in the latter part of the volume was marked on single documents or sheets, and not on single leaves: thus f. 148 was '100,' f. 150 was '102,' and f. 152 was '103.'

“A letter from the Lady ARABELLA STUART to Sir Henry Brouncher, p. 101;”

80, 81. Two letters of Lady 'ARBELLA STUART' unto 'the Lord Cecill,' requesting a sum of money for her 'present want' (2000*l.*), and about an increased pension promised by the King. (Sheene, 22 and 23 June 1603.) f. 150^a, 152^a.

Elegantly written in a large Italic hand: sealed with a small seal, and directed, on f. 151^b, 153^b.

82. Letter of Lady ARBELLA STUART unto Mr. Edward Talbott, stating that she had been 'unjustly accused of contriving a comedy' and he a tragedy; requesting him to come and confer with her, that he might lay her case before the Queen; and mentioning Lady Ogle and 'sweet Mrs. Talbott.' f. 154^a.

Less fairly written than the foregoing, and not sealed: it is not dated, except "16 Febr.:" in the indorsement on f. 155^b.

83, 84. Two letters of Cardinal WOLSEY to Secretary Gardiner, requesting his intercession with the King, in his troubles. (Asher, . . . 1529 or 1530.) f. 156—7, 158^{ab}.

Printed (with another to the same, from a Lansdowne MS.) in Ellis-es first series, num. cv. civ. vol. II. p. 7—13. They were wholly written by the Cardinal's hand, and are directed on f. 157^b and 159^b, 'To — Mastyr Secretary:' the seals are lost.

85. Letter to Lord Chancellor Ellesmere, from "y^e Duke of LENOX, for stay of y^e Controllor's patent for Lynn," in favor of Henry Buckstone, to whom the reversion of that place had been promised after the death of Robert Ashwell. (Whitehall, 12 Mar. 1613.) f. 160^a.

Indorsed also—"recd 14 March 1613." (f. 161^b.) It is sealed with a crest within a garter.

86. Letter of Abp. ABBOT unto the Lord [Treasurer?] concerning the case of Hiet, who was fined in the Star-chamber for adultery; and against the foul practice of begging and granting away such fines, as soon as they were adjudged. (Lambeth, 22 Apr. 1615.) f. 162^a.

Written by his own hand, and subscribed 'G. Cant.:' it is shortly indorsed on f. 162^b, but has neither seal nor direction.

87. Letter from ELISABETH GILGATE to her brother Philip Gilgate, about the good sermons that had been preached in lent, and how the Queen had openly rebuked the Dean of Paul's in his sermon; also about Scottish affairs, Lord Darnley and the Q. of Scots. ('From the courte, this ester monday' 156 . . .) f. 163^{ab}.

Distinctly written; directed on f. 164^a, and patched all over with sealing-wax.

88. Letter from the Duke of BUCKINGHAM to the Spanish Ambassador Gondamor, declaring that King James never advised or helped his son-in-law to take the kingdom of Bohemia; and about other political matters; in French, undated. f. 165—6.

Seemingly a contemporary transcript, by a French secretary; it is not signed, but indorsed as 'From Buckingham to Gondimore;' sealed with a small signet of a lion passant, and directed by an other hand thus—"To my worthy and much respected freind Mr Doctor Lister."

*89. Letter from Abp. HUTTON to Lord Burghley, President of the Council in the north, "Certifienge the receipt of the proclamacion of the Earle [of] Essex action of rebellion, and the order taken accordinge" thereto. (26 Feb. 1600.) f. 167^a.

Written by a secretary, subscribed 'Matth. Ebor.' and on f. 168^b sealed with arms, directed, and indorsed as above.

90. Letter from Sir THOMAS SHERLEY to the Earl of Salisbury, praying him to intercede with the King for release from his confinement. (Tower, 17 Sept. 1607.) f. 169^a.

Directed &c. on f. 170^b, but the seal of arms is broken.

91. Letter of Sir WILLIAM KNOLLYS to Sir Robert Cecil,* suing for some favorable regard, in a friendly manner. (7 July 1596.) f. 171^a.

* Much of this letter having been eaten away while it was folded, the surname is lost in the direction on f. 172^b, but 'Secretary to hir Matie' follows.

92. Letter from the Earl of PEMBROKE to Sir Rob. Cecil, "in the behalfe of Dr Montegue to be Deane of Westminster." (Baynard's castle, 19 June 1601.) f. 173^a.

He did not obtain that promotion, but after 25 years he was made Bp. of Chichester, and Norwich successively. This letter is sealed with a small signet, directed and indorsed as above, on f. 174^b.

93. Letter from Sir FRA. WALSYNGHAM to Archibald Douglas the Scottish Ambassador, relating a design of several Scottish Lords to seize the King's person, as reported by Lord Scroope; and complaining of sickness. (Court, 1 Feb. 1587.) f. 175^a.

The signature only appears to be by his hand: the letter is sealed with his arms, and directed, on f. 176^b.

94. Letter of ARTHUR GORGES to Sir Rob. Cecil, about the contention between Sir Walter Raleigh and Sir George Carew, who would not let his prisoner take boat to see the Queen. (26 July 1592.) f. 177^a, 177^c.

Directed and indorsed with the date given above, on f. 178^b. The paper fixed on f. 177^b contains a short postscript. This letter was printed by Dr. Birch, in the life of Raleigh prefixed to his smaller works, 1751. 8vo.

95. Letter to Sir Rob. Cecil, from BALDWIN COLLINS Vice-provost, and JOHN REVE, JOHN CHAMBER, ADAM ROBYNS, WILLIAM HARRISON and THOMAS LEY, Fellows of Eton College, submitting to the Queen's will that they should not choose a Provost until her pleasure be known, and requesting the appointment of a learned and fit person. (17 Jan. 1595.) f. 179^a.

Subscribed by each, and seemingly written by the last of them: the seal is lost from f. 180^b.

96. Letter to the Earl of Salisbury, Lord Treasurer, from THOMAS SINGLETON Principal, EDW. RILLSTON, RICHARD TAYLOR, JOHN PICKERINGE, THO. PEACOCKE, THO. CARWARDINE, and EDWARD VERNON, Fellows of Brazenose College, in favor of Samuel Radcliffe, M.A., certifying that he had been one of their fellows eleven years, and was religious, honest and learned. (Oxford, 10 Oct. 1608.) f. 181^a.

Seemingly written by the last of the subscribers. Radcliffe had "a cause to be heard before" his "Loip. concerning his title to the benefice of Whitchford in the dioc. of Worc." It is directed and indorsed on f. 182^b, but has only a very small seal on f. 181.

97. Letter from GILBERT Earl of SHREWSBURY to Lord Cecil, stating that he had arrived at Sir Cha. Cavendishes house yesternight, and what *gicsses Lord Cecil's brother and he had set down for the Queen's progress from York: with a postscript by MA: Countess of SURESBURY, commending her pleasant companion, Lord Cecil's little son. (Welbeck, 9 June 1603.) f. 183^a.

* Called 'Jestes for the Queen' in the indorsement, f. 184^b. This letter is not sealed.

98. Letter from Sir JOHN* HORNER and JOHN COURTE to the Privy Council, reporting how they had opened and searched Lady Mary Arrondell's chests and cabinets, for certain books and papers, some of which they found and returned herewith; also about their searching Sir Humf. Drewell's chests, and giving order for the apprehension of Mr. Tho. Arundell. (Bath, 26 Apr. 1597.) f. 185^a.

* Seemingly signed by him as 'Iwons:' see the indorsement on f. 186^b, where is a small seal of arms.

99. Letter from J. NORTH "To the ryght honorable my verye good Lord at Ratlige his house besid Newmarket," proving his own sincerity (in going abroad for religion's sake only) by informing of 'one Mr Arndell' who had been created a Count of the Empire, wrote scandalous letters to the Emperor about Queen Elizabeth, and projected an invasion of England, and other treasons. (1597.) f. 187^a.

Thus indorsed on f. 188^b—"A Pre written from John North who is wth thenemy and directed to [against?] Mr Tho. Arundell, but ye messing^r cold not be knowen. It was received the xxj of Apr: 97."

100. Letter from Sir THO. ARUNDELL to Sir Rob. Cecil, observing on the Earl of Southampton's treason and fall, and professing the strongest allegiance and affection for the Queen. (18 Feb. 1600.) f. 189^a.

A postscript, stating that 'one Cuff a certayne purytane skoller' had read and expounded Aristotle's politics to the Earls of Southampton and Rutland, in such a way as was likely to have caused mischief; also desiring a grant of the fee-farm of the Earl of S. in case that he should be put to death. f. 190^a.

This is on a leaf inserted within the letter which is sealed with arms, directed, and indorsed on f. 191^b. The writer was the first Baron Arundel of Wardour, and the same person to whom the two foregoing letters relate: see about him Sir R. C. Hoare's Modern Wiltshire, hundred of Dunworth, p. 178, 179.

101. Letter of Sir WILLIAM PETRE to Sir W. Cecil, one of the King's Secretaries, wishing for the restoration of his health; stating that 'the fest is differred,' and that the Earl 'of Northumberland is nott well at ease.' (Greenwich, 18 May 1553.) f. 192^a.

The seal is lost from f. 193^b, where the letter is directed and indorsed.

102. "The exam' of Sr JOHN HEYDON, knight, taken before NATHANAEL BACON, esq. the xth of Aprill 1602," declaring how he came out of the Low Countries to give himself up; signed by both. f. 194^a.

Thus headed: it is indorsed on f. 195^b. See art. 109.

103. Letter of WILLIAM OVERTON, Bp. of Lichfield, unto the Viscount Cranbourne, about a travelling haberdasher, whom he had imprisoned on suspicion of his being a Jesuit or seminary priest, and thought guilty of treason! (Ecclestone-castle, 29 Apr. 1605.) f. 196^a.

All in his own hand, and signed thus—W. Couen: et Lich. The seal is lost from f. 197^b, where it is indorsed etc.

*104—9. Six letters of Sir CHRISTOPHER HEYDON to Sir Rob. Cecil; the first, about the march of his company of soldiers toward Burntwood, (Newmarket, 12 Aug. 1599); the second, third, fourth and fifth, about his misfortunes and troubles, his family of 14 children, and estate, (Fleet-prison, 6 and 17 April, 10 and 14 June, 1601); and the sixth, about his brother Sir John Heydon, whom he sent 'to tender his apparance privatlye to y^e Lo: Chiefe Justice.' (Thinsford, 3 May 1602.) f. 198^a, 200^a, 202^a, 204^a, 206^a, 208^a.

Sealed with arms, directed, and indorsed, on ff. 199^b, 201^b—203^b—5^b—7^b—9^b.

110. Letter from FRANCIS HEYDON to the Viscount Cranbourne, certifying the inability of his neighbour William Wedon, aged 68, to bear the extortion of twenty pounds by privy seal. (Watford, 15 Oct. 1604.) f. 210^a.

Sealed with arms, directed etc. on f. 211^b.

*111, 112. Two letters of Sir CHR. HEYDON to the Earl of Salisbury, suing for favor and redress of his grievances. (13 July 1605, 5 July 1606.) f. 212^a, 214^a.

Sealed etc. on f. 213^b, 215^b.

113. Two notes of information (to the Lord Treasurer?) stating that Sir Chr. Heydon was reported as having a lease of 2000*l.* per annum, for two years' fine, and that when 'Typper' calls up any gentleman about the value of lands to that amount, he raises it to 14,000*l.* f. 216^a.

Indorsed thus by an other hand on f. 217^b—"1605 Sr Christopher Heydon."

*114. Letter from Sir HENRY WOTTON to the Earl of Pembroke, recommending to his favor the bearer his nephew; written "with a languishing looke homewards." (Turin, 28 May 1612. N. S.) f. 218^a.

Sealed with arms, directed and indorsed, on f. 219^b. This letter has been much damaged by the teeth of some vermin, and the two next in the same manner. Neither of these is printed among this elegant writer's letters, 1654, 12ⁿ. in the Reliquiæ Wottonianæ.

*115. Sir HENRY WOTTON's Letter, describing his journey from Boulogne to Lions, and thence to Chambery, containing many particulars about the Marquis de Lanz, governor of that place. f. 220—1^b.

A fair transcript, neither dated, signed, nor indorsed: see the next article.

*116. Letter from Sir HENRY WOTTON to the Earl of Pembroke, communicating the foregoing narrative, and expressing much respect. (Lunenburg, 9 May 1612, N. S.) f. 222^a.

Sealed etc. (as art. 114) on f. 223^b.

117. Letter 'from the Earle of SALISBURY, Lo: Treasurer,' to Lord, obscurely commenting on his letter about some political matters, and mentioning (in the postscript) the Earl of Norfolk and Sir R. Aston. ('Saturday the 23 of gbre' 16...) f. 224^{ab}.

Not sealed or directed, but indorsed as above: it is all by the Earl's hand.

118. Letter from*..... "To y^e Quenis grace" of Scotland, defending himself at great length against the accusations of 'y^e Capitane of Clannannald,' remitting the rest unto the Lord of Cassilles and his own son, the bearers. ('Off y^e Carrik,' 27 June 1554.) f. 226^{ab}.

*The signature is unintelligible: the letter is closely written in the Scottish hand and dialect, and directed on f. 227^b: the seal is lost.

119, 120. Two letters of JAMES STEWART* unto Lord Robert Dudley, discoursing in a familiar style of the peace and friendship existing between the Scottish and the English government; and, in the second, mentioning a reported 'suit of the youngest brother of Austriche to the Quene' of Scots, for marriage. (Linlithgow, 28 Jan. 1561; Edinburgh, 20 May 1563.) f. 228^a, 230^a.

*The latter is indorsed thus—"From the Lord James of Scotland." The two seals of the arms of Scotland, on f. 229^b and 231^b, are different.

121. Letter from E. W..... to Francis Earl Bothwell, at Paris, complaining of 'distrayes' and trouble, and mentioning some reported news. (London, 22 Sept. 1595.) f. 232^{ab}.

This hastily written letter is not signed, (purposely, as it seems) but the writer's initials are on his seal, thrice impressed on f. 233^b: he calls himself the Earl's 'broder.' It is in the Scottish dialect.

122. Letter of sub-pœna from JOHN Bishop of LONDON, OWEN HOPTON, and BAR. CLERK, requiring certain persons* to appear before them or their colleagues, at the consistory court of S. Paul's, to be examined on oath before the Commissioners for causes ecclesiastical, in a cause against George Ashbie esq., Bachiler and Eliz. Bachiler. (London, 7 Nov. 1580.) f. 234^a.

* Geo. Ireland, Chr. Hutchinson, Hugh Pope, gent., Edw. Freman, Math. Lome, Margt. Chaundeler, Ellen Panto, John Savege, John Wheler, And. Holborne, Tho. Dodd, Will. Conrad alias Conham, Morgan Forde, Rich. Ferrys, Margerie wife of Alex. Geaste, Margerie Byrch, Mrs Meredith alias Man, widow, Agnes Freman, Mrs. Worth, Mrs. Mondaie, Frances Butterfeld, Mondaie. On the back (f. 235^b) are noted the names of those who were sworn, and of those who appeared not. This document is sealed with a small seal of the Commissioners, (f. 234^a), and was almost rotten until it was mounted on a sheet of paper.

123. Letter from Lord 'ROTHES' to Lord defending his own conduct at the camp, against misrepresentations stated in his letter 'directed from Secretarie Windikbanks;' and defending the Covenanters. (Leslie, 2 Apr. 1640.) f. 236^a.

This very neatly written letter is neither sealed, directed, nor indorsed: the signature only is by his Lordship's hand.

No. 1730.

A folio volume, containing a book of paper, and a collection of original papers bound together: the former reaches to f. 95, and the rest of the volume to f. 252 had been irregularly foliated, by itself, to the number of '122' leaves.

I. 1. Collections and observations concerning Medicines composed of Metals and metallic substances, by RICHARD NAPIER, M. A. ff. 1^a, 5^a, 10^a, 11^b—17, 18^a, 19^b—22, 23^a, 24—5, 26—30, 31—35^b, 37^a, 38^a, 49—50, 51^a, 52^a, 83^b—4.

All the intervening pages are vacant, except those containing the few following articles:—

Notes of the case of "My Lady Twisden, May 14, 1626." f. 85^a.

2. A collection of Receipts for compounding various Medicines, and for remedying various Diseases; chiefly in Latin. f. 54—63^b.

Written by a different hand from Napier's.

II. A collection of complimentary Verses, chiefly in Latin; also of Letters in Latin and in English, addressed unto, or written by, RICHARD NAPIER, (alias Sandy,) M. A. Rector of Great Linford, and Practitioner in Medicine. (ff. 96—252^b.)

I. JOHANNIS ATHERTONI carmen elegiacum, 23 distichis, novo anno incipiente (1 Jan. 1602.) ad R. N. dicatum. f. 96^{ab}.

Well written, and directed on f. 97^b—"To my verie lovinge and approved good frend Mr Sandy" etc.: but the next is not indorsed. See the note on art. 3.

2. Ejusdem 'J. A.' "Carmen anniversarium" ult. Dec. 1609, ex Oxonio missum. (16 dist.) f. 98^a.

3. Ejusdem "Carmina in novum annum, Magistro Sandeio, rectori ecclesie Magnae Linfordiae, plurimum salutis ac felicitatis optantia." (27 dist.) f. 100^{ab}.

Simul "In obitum honoratissimi domini, Domini Ludovici Mordant, carmen funebre." (14 dist.) f. 101^a.

Lewis Lord Mordant died in 1601; the date of this new year's poem is therefore 1602, and art. 1 must be considered as dated 1602-3. On the back of this sheet are some notes of books, by Napier's hand.

4. In nomina D. Richardi Nappeir equitis, et uxoris ejus Mariæ Napeir, anagrammata cum carminibus, (6 et 2 dist.) auctore T. MARCHANTIO. f. 102^a.

On the back (103^b) directed to Sir Richard N. (nephew of the parson); by whose hand are pencilled some names of considerable persons.

5. Ad medicum præclarum R. N. seniore, cujusdam 'W. G.' carmen Sapphicum (tetrastichis 10) cum disticho præmisso. f. 104^a.

Directed on f. 105^b, and sealed there with the initials A. R. on a neat signet.

6. "Doctrinæ et virtutis splendore conspicuo plurimum viro, Mag. Sandy, verbi Dei ministro, musarumque Mæcenati amantissimo," carmen a GUIL. CHAMBERS diatum. (dist. 8.) f. 106^a.

7. THOMÆ FRAGOS* ad eundem carmina duo, (vv. 5 et dist. 5.) quorum alterum est anagrammatis 'Applicatio.' f. 108^a.

* Properly Tregoz? Well written, and directed in Latin on f. 109^b.

8. JOHANNIS CLARKEI epistola, gratias agens ob remedium acerborum morborum a Napero præstitum. f. 110^a.

9. RICHARDI LEATE ad eundem epistuncula, beneficiorum memoris. f. 111^a, 112^b.

Sealed with a goat, as a crest.

10. LODOVICI BARFELDI epistola familiaris, qua Martini Reade memoriam facit; Oxonii scripta, sonante 'Carfaxico campano:' cum carmine in 'amoris tesseram.' f. 114^a, 115^b.

In an English postscript he requests Napier (who was then, according to the direction on f. 115^b, at his brother Kempton's in Watling-street) to buy Dr. Bilson's 'Diamond of devotion,' and some other 'prety bookes not to be had in Oxon.' See art. 15.

11. GUILIELMI SHEPPARD ad eundem epistola familiaris et laudatoria. (13 Jan. 1...) f. 116^a, 117^b.

12. Ad avunculum suum ROBERTI LEACII epistola, equum rogans mittendum ut e Cantabrigia refugium a peste apud eum inveniret. f. 118^a, 119^b.

13. Letter from ROB. VILVAINE on his safe return to Oxford, stating that "yesterday died a childe of Buds the glover, and this day died the Bishopp of Sarum's sonne in Brasen-nose, being pupil to Mr Sheward;" that a physician of the French King, sent over with Lord Norres, was incorporated yesterday; about Garnett's trial; and naming Mr. Willoughby of Magdalen, Mr. Lea, Mr. Blundell, and Mrs. Warren. ('From Mr White's shopp, ocyssime.') f. 120^a, 121^b.

On the back (121^b) are a figure and several notes, written by Napier, about a case on which he was consulted.

14. Cujusdam 'R. G.' epistola Κρατιστη ανδρι Πιχαρδω Σανδαιω, exercendi styli ergo Græce scripta; cum carminibus Græcis, altero elegiaco, altero Sapphico. (dist. 7, tetrast. 2.) f. 122^a, 123^a.

15. MARTINI READ epistola de libris quibusdam Londini emendis, qui nominati sunt; et amicum latorem commendans, probum doctumque. (Oxon. 26 Nov. 1589.) f. 126^a.

Directed (126^b) as art. 13, and probably written at the same time as artt. 10, 13.

16. THOMÆ DENYS epistola, de libris missis ad Naperum, sc. Chemnicio et Campiano; etiam de Whiddono, Challisio et aliis e suo collegio, eorumque exercitiis publicis. ('E musæo meo,' 2 cal. Jan. 15...) f. 127^a.

The leaf, which bore the direction, is lost.

17. THOMÆ PRYCE epistola, in qua invaliditudinem suam diserte narrat, hydropem sese credens. ('Wollastoniae, in festo pentecostes.') f. 128^a, 129^b.

18, 19, 20. FRANCISCI BLUNDELLI tres epistolæ ad 'Mæcenatem' suum, exercitii causa plurimum scriptæ; quarum priores additamentum Anglice scriptum, tertia versiculos quosdam habet. f. 130^a, 132^a, 134^a.

21. EDUARDI VUIDALI epistola gratum animum testans. (Linfordij, 18 Sept. 1602.) f. 136^a.

22. ISAACI FARRINGTONI epistola familiaris, in qua se Naperi 'filium' designat. f. 137^a, 138^b.

23. VALENTINI LANI epistola, Naperum studiorum suorum patronum petens. f. 140^a.

24. Ejusdem alia, cum additamento Anglice de libris a M^{ro}. Storer acceptis, etc. (E Coll. Exon. in Oxon. 4 Junij 1596.) f. 141^a, 142^b.

25. THO: WILKENSONI paupertate depressi epistola, opem flagitans; cum noninis 'Sandie' acrosticho. f. 144^a.

26. "Infelix eques LUDOVICUS PETAVIUS," absente M^{ro} Teringem, septem solidos a Napero longa oratione petit. f. 145^a, 146^b.

*27. Epistola, qua "JO: PRIDEAUX Rector, NATHANAEL CARPENTER sub-[rector], JO: VIVIANUS, LAUR. BODLEY, JOHANNES PROCTER," Socii Collegii Exon., Napycro gratias agunt pro 20 libris per D. Rodolphum Rudle acceptas, 'ad novæ culinæ fabricam.' f. 148^a, 149^b.

This gift is recorded in the book of Benefactors of Exeter College, under the year 1624. In the archives of the same College are preserved some private papers of this Nath. Carpenter, chiefly relating to the printing of his geographical works. See artt. 47, 48.

28. VALENTYNE LAWRENCE, asking Napier's advice about 'Mistris Sarah yowr brothers daughter,' sorely troubled with fits; informing him of the death of 'yowr godsonne,' and hoping that he would come to keep Whitsuntide with 'old maister Stapers, M^r Leate' etc. (Luton, 23 Apr. 1605.) f. 150^a, 151^b.

29. W: PRYThERGHE (Protheroe) pia epistola Naperum petit opem medicam ipsi præstare pene moribundo. (23 Nov. 1608.) f. 152^a, 153^b.
30. Ro: LEACH ad avunculum suum epistola familiaris. ('Ex musæo,' 8 Nov. 1609.) f. 154^a, 155^b.
31. Letter addressed "To my very lovinge Br Mr John Payne, at Southo, these, in Huntington shire;" discoursing on the subject of usury, which had been referred to the writer's judgment. ("Ex ædibus nostris Cotonianis," 10 Nov. 1622.) f. 156^{ab}, 157^b.

The writer's name is blotted out with ink, so that few strokes are visible. See also artt. 39, 40.

32. RICHARDI NAPEIR ad patrum suum epistola familiaris. (Luton, 6 Apr. 1623.) f. 158^a, 159^b.
33. Letter from R. NEWLIN, stating that neither he, nor Mr. Twine nor Mr. James, could find aught about Pope Joan, in any MS. of Sigebert or Marianus, in Oxford; expecting the latter to be published by Bp. Ussher and Ger. Vossius; about Nilus Thessalonicensis; inquiring about chrism, and which of the fathers beside Austin allowed swearing. (15 July 1631.) f. 160^a, 161^b.
See art. 41.

34. Tho. MARSH, thanking his kinsman for medicine, and wishing him to come to a manor of his in Cambridgeshire, to try the truth of a child (a seventh son) reported able to cure sores by touch; also telling a story from Sir John Drake, about a man who had frogs bred in his belly. (Dateless.) f. 162^a, 163^a; 163^b.

35. Long letter from ANNA EDMONDS, desiring Napier's help in a case of witchcraft, under which she suffered and her child had died; mentioning Doctors Spicer and Lambe. (London, 16 Dec. 1628.) f. 38^{ab}, 39^b.

- *36. Sir KEN: DIGBY, communicating some receipts† to Napier, wishes some pills that had been ordered. (Gothurst, 19 Aug. 1624.) f. 166^a.

† Which, as he says, he had 'experimented:' they are written by a different hand on the other leaf of this quarto sheet, and thus headed—

Receipts "Of my Lord Duke of Northumberland:" viz.—

1. "The dosis of his graces powder to be taken by everie one." f. 167^a.
 2. "To prepare ladanum,—which—stoppeth—inward bleeding" etc. f. 167^{ab}.
 3. "To extract the tincture of corall, wch is admirable to restore all corrupted blood" etc. f. 167^b.
37. RICHARD NAPER to his uncle, (by a fellow-student Mr. Putnam,) sends a list of astrological and alchemical books, both printed and MS., that he found in the Bodleian Library; describes 'a book of Solomons called Cephar Raziel,' to transcribe which he purposes to work from 6 A.M. to 5 P.M.; having procured private access to the Library, through the second Keeper, a Frenchman: mentioning also the recovery of the Warden of his College, and Mr. Page. f. 168—169, 169^b.

38. Copy of ('R. N.') NAPIER's letter, stating the opinions of many theologians and astrologers as to the day of Christ's birth, in answer to the question of some 'worthy' person, who had written to him about 'Peter's universality.' f. 170^{ab}.
39. Copy of a letter recommending the lawfulness of usury, and controverting objections against it. (5 Dec. 1622.) f. 171—3.

From RICHARD NAPIER the elder, to his nephew Sir Richard, on occasion of his having sold his land, and having only a stock of money to support his lady and children. (See art. 31.)

40. Draught of the foregoing letter, in NAPIER's hand. f. 174—5^b.
41. NAPIER's draught of his answer to Newlin's letter and questions. (art. 33.) f. 176—7^b.
42. An other, on the subject of heresy, seemingly to the same person. f. 178—9.
43. Letter from RICH: NAPEIR (the elder) to Mr. Henry Jackson, B. D. fellow of C. C. C. Oxon.; on the position that "Controversies [are] to [be] determined by the unanimous consent of the most orthodox auntient fathers." (Linford, 4 June 1621.) f. 180—1, 182^b.

Original, folded and directed, but not sealed, and perhaps never sent. It is headed as above, by Napier's hand; and in like manner is the following. See also art. 62.

44. Draught of a letter on "The deciding of questions in controversie;" by RICH: NAPEIR. f. 182—3.
45. RICH: NAPEIR's letter to a 'right worll and reverend Doctor,' in answer to some 'idle' questions of scholastic theology. f. 184—5.

Fairly written, as if to be sent; but not directed.

46. NAPIER's draught of a letter, conveyed by his nephew Richard N., to obtain payment for the late Earl of Sunderland's physick and 'dyeing' at Linford; stating that his death was caused by the unskilfulness of a 'sot' called Doctor Atkins. f. 186^a.

47. NAPIER's draught of a letter to the 'mutel renowned Doctor and peerles Rector' of Exeter College, (as it seems, in answer to art. 27,) commending his kind letter. f. 188^a.

48. Ejusdem RICHARDI NAPEIR epistola ad Exoniensis Collegii Rectorem, qua Theodoricum Gravium, ipsum videndi, simul Oxoniam, collegia, et bibliothecam Bodleianam, cupidum commendat. f. 189^a.

49. Alia ejusdem de eadem re, aliis verbis concepta. f. 190^a.

A copy by his nephew's hand: the foregoing (art. 48.) is a fair copy by Napier himself.

50. Letter from RICH: NAPIER to the Lord Viscount Purbeck,* about his health, and thanking him for appointing his 'deare frind Mr John Myles' to be his chaplain. f. 194^a, 197^b.

* 1619—1657. This letter is folded and directed; but does not seem to have been sent. The draught is art. 66.

51. Draught of RICH: NAPIER's letter to his 'Thrice endeered Lord,' who had long been his patient, encouraging him to try a physician who had promised to cure him in three weeks. f. 195^a.

52. Two draughts of long letters on theological subjects, from NAPIER the elder, to his 'indeered sonne' (or nephew) R. N. the younger. f. 198^a, 199—200^b.

53. RICHARDE NAPIER's letter* to 'the noble good Lord of Bedford,' about medical advice. (Great Linford, 20 Oct. 1632.) f. 202^a, 205^b.

* Or draught: though it is folded and directed, but not sealed.

54, 55. Copies* of NAPIER's two letters to a learned friend, on theological and ecclesiastical subjects. f. 206^a, 207^{ab}.

* In the younger Napier's hand.

56. RICH: NAPER's letter to his brother Sir Robert Naper at Luton Hoo, affectionately congratulating him on the meeting of his children and their families to keep 'Christmas' with him; and commending the studiousness of his son Richard, (his own pupil,) to whom he intended to leave his books. f. 210^a.

Seemingly the original sent: yet not sealed.

57. RICHARD NAPIER's draught of an affectionate letter to his nephew Sir Richard N., in answer to two questions on free will and final perseverance. f. 212—3^b.

58. Ejusdem 'R. N.' ad doctum quendam epistola, Theodorici [Gravii] sui mentionem faciens. f. 214^a.

The draught.

59. A whimsical petition to James I.;* a note to go to Westbury with Mr. John Leegh, 27 June; and notes about Mr. Stafford's leases, about Totnall woods etc. then in dispute: written by NAPIER. f. 215^a.

* "The Lords craved all
The Queene graunted all
The Ladyes of honour ruled all
The Lord Keeper sealed all
The Intelligencer mar'd all
The Parliament past all
He yt is gone opposed him selfe to all
The Bishops soothed all
The Judges pardened all
The Lord Buy Rome spoyled all
Now good King mend all
Or els the Devill will have all."

60. NAPIER's draught of a very pious and affectionate letter to Lady, who had long been his patient without receiving benefit, exhorting her to examine whether her affliction were not caused by God for her spiritual welfare. f. 216^{ab}.

61. NAPIER's draught of his letter to his 'Lord diocesan,* about the visit of M^{res} Magdalene Williams and her attendants to his house, and his medical treatment of her. f. 217^a.

* John Williams, Bishop of Lincoln from 1621 to 1641.

62. A short theological piece by NAPIER, thus headed:—

"The exemplification of a cleere demonstrative and speedy way of deciding all Controversies of Religion, by examining all particular proofes by the rule of divine and infallible authority, being the true ground of divine and saving fayth." f. 218^{ab}.

63. NAPIER's letter to a friend, "touching the keeping of the Sunday." f. 219—20.

The draught or copy, thus headed by him.

64. RICHARDI NAPIER ad filium (seu potius nepotem) suum, epistola, contra hoc thema propositum ab ipso:—

"Ignem esse quendam purgatorium, quo examinantur omnes, tum anima, tum corpore, post carnis resurrectionem, probas pluribus testimoniis tam patrum, quam scripturarum." f. 222—3.

A copy by the younger Napier's hand; it is dated '1628.'

65. Letter from 'RICHARD NAPER senior' to Mr. William Page, B. D. fellow of All Souls' College, about purgatory. (Linford, 22 Oct. 1629.) f. 224^{ab}, 225^b.

Written by the younger Napier's hand; though folded and directed, it seems only a copy.

66. NAPIER's draught of his letter to Lord Purbeck. (art. 50.) f. 226^a.

67. Long letter by NAPIER, to a 'right reverend Doctor,' in answer to his question "Whether the saints departed doe promote our prayers?" f. 227—228.

The draught or copy, thus headed by him.

68. A public prayer, written by NAPIER. f. 230^a.

From the mention of the Universities, and an especial petition for Exeter College, it seems to have been composed for an university-sermon.

69. WILLIELMI [LAUD] Archiepiscopi Cantuariensis literæ, per quas potestas data est Custodibus eccl. paroch. de Linford Magna, redditus omnimodos colligendi, durante vacatione post mortem "Sandie alias Nappier clerici, ultimi incumben." (16 Apr. 1634, anno 1.) f. 232^a.

Written on a small sheet of paper, on the corner of which was the impression of the seal: it is subscribed by "Jos. Farnieur dōi Arch'pi Cant: Commissarius."

70. GEORGH [ABBOT] Cant. Archiepiscopi, indulgentia carnibus vescendi, Richardo Napier clerico et tribus commensalibus concessa; juxta statuta anno 5 Eliz. et 1 Jac. (1 Mar. 1619, anno 9.) 233^a.

On vellum: the seal is lost: it is subscribed by "Johannes Amye, Surrogatus" etc. and "Nicho: Kempe, Clericus facultatum."

71. Draught of an indenture between Richard Naper the elder, and his nephew of the same name, whereby the former settled all his estates on himself during life, and on his said nephew afterward. (— March 1631.) f. 235^a.

No. 1731.

A thin folio volume, consisting of 107 leaves of paper of different sizes, bound together within vellum covers: it was formerly marked '1729, A.'

*The Correspondence of ELIAS ASHMOLE, esq., relating to his proposed Election to represent the City of Lichfield in Parliament, in 1677—8; with some other personal papers.

All the letters are original, except those from Ashmole, which are his own copies, or fair draughts, uniformly written on folio paper. The affair to which they relate is noticed in Ashmole's Diary, (London, 1717, 8vo.) pp. 58, 59, in Nov. and Dec. 1677.

1—4. Four letters of Sir W. DUGDALE to his son-in-law Ashmole. (7, 12, and 17 Jan., and 2 Mar. 1677.) ff. 1^a, 2^a, 3^a, 4^a.

Not printed in the late Mr. Hamper's work, as his letters of the same year, in No. 836, artt. 21—24, have been.

5—16. Twelve letters from ASHMOLE to his brother-in-law John Dugdale. (29 Jan., 2, 5, 7, 9, 12, 14, 16, 26, 28 Feb., and 5, 16 Mar. 1677—8.) ff. 5—6, 6^b, 7—8, 9^{ab}, 11—12^b, 13^{ab}, 14^{ab}, 15^{ab}, 15^b—6, 16^b, 17^a, 17^b.

17—19. Three letters of WILLIAM WARDE to Ashmole. (Shenston-park, 9, 12, 27 Jan. 1677—8.) f. 19^a, 20^a, 21^a.

20. Letter from THO. WARD to his brother W. Ward at the Temple. (Shenston-park, 2 Feb. 1677—8.) f. 22^a.

21—22. Two letters from W. WARDE to Ashmole. (Temple, 14 Feb. 1678; Lichfield, 14 Feb. 1678.) f. 24^a, 25^a.

23. Letter from Jo. RAWLINS to Ashmole. (Lichf. 5 Oct. 1677.) f. 27^a.

24—26. ASHMOLE's answer to the same, and two other letters to Rawlins. (13, 22, 27 Dec. 1677.) f. 29^a, 29^b, 30^{ab}.

27. Letter from Jo. RAWLINS to Ashmole. (Lichf. 15 Dec. 1677.) f. 31^a.

A large folding sheet, as also are ff. 34 and 46. The handwriting of the next leaf is different.

28. Copy of two letters from EDW. WILSON and CHARLES HARRISON, bailiffs of Lichfield, and Jo. RAWLINS, to the Lord Ferrers and the Lord Treasurer; communicated with a letter from Jo. RAWLINS to Ashmole. (Lichf. 18 and 19 Dec. 1677.) f. 32^{ab}, 33^a.

29. An other letter from RAWLINS to Ashmole. (Lichf. 2 Jan. 1678.) f. 34^a.

30. ASHMOLE's answer to the same. (5 Jan. 1678.) f. 35—6.
31. An other letter from RAWLINS to Ashmole. (7 Jan.) f. 37^{ab}.
32. ASHMOLE's letter to Rawlins. (29 Jan.) f. 39^a.
A quarto sheet: superscribed thus—"This l're was not sent."
33. Letter from [Sir HENRY ARCHBOLD*] and an other from JOHN STUBBES, to Sir W. Dugdale. (Lichf. 9 Jan.) f. 41^a, 41^b.

All the names of his correspondents may be seen here, written at length among the secret characters.

No. 1732.

A thin folio volume, bound in parchment, consisting of 68 leaves of paper, beside a fly-leaf at each end, and a leaf inserted before the first page, bearing the second of the following titles by Huddesford's (?) hand; the former is an inscription largely written within the cover.

"Hunc librum Venetijs dono acceptum ab eximio philosopho PAULO BOCCONE, qui illum Plantis singulari necdum noto artificio insitis adornavit, illustrissimæ Academiæ Oxoniensi D. D. nobiliss. vir Carolus Comes Mancestria, legatus a Gulielmo III. nuper ad sereniss. Reip. Venetam, nunc ad Christianiss. Galliarum Regem, A. D. 1699." Scilicet—

"Phytographia, sive Stirpium illustriorum et minus cognitarum Icones, summa diligentia elaboratæ," et nominibus suis ascriptis insignitæ. ff. 1^a—67^a.

These plants are very neatly printed on the paper with black ink: they are on alternate pages, each containing one, two, or three subjects. Some of the leaves are folded in.

No. 1742—1744.

A book printed on large paper, and handsomely interleaved and bound in three large folio volumes, (containing respectively pp. 1—260, 261—612, 613—720 and 'Appendix,') intitled—

"The Institution, Laws, and Ceremonies of the most noble Order of the Garter, collected and digested into one body, by ELIAS ASHMOLE of the Middle Temple esq: Windsor Herald at arms." (London, 1672.) The Author's own copy, with his MS. Notes and Corrections, and the following Additions:—

(All written with his own hand, except art. 8, and all on separate leaves of smaller folio paper, except the second and the last.)

VOL. I.—1. Index of the names of "Authors mentioned in the first chapter of my worke of the Garter." ff. 4.

2. Excerptum e libro "J. Dan. Majoris, de nummis Retidegisanis; Killiæ Holsatorum, 1681. pag. 25:" ubi Ashmoli librum istum laudat.

On the interleaf between the dedication and the preface.

3. Note (to p. 16) on the antient use of the word Baronet for Banneret, in the Year-books etc.

4. How the Venetian Ambassador was made a Knight of S. Lazarus of Jerusalem, by the French King, 25 Apr. 1671; extracted from the London Gazette. (p. 56.)

5. Permission requested by the Order of S. Lazarus of Jerusalem, to search the English records, for notices of their property abroad that had been taken from them; in 1672. (p. 57.)

6. Titulus libri "Petri de Dusberg, Ordinis Teutonici Sacerdotis, [scil.] Chronicon Prusiæ." Jenæ, 1679. (p. 58.)

7. Excerpta e Joh. Schefferi libro de antiquis regni Sueciæ insignibus, p. 167, 168. (p. 107.)

8. "The manner howe the most excellent prince, Kinge Edward the Sixt, received the Order of St. Michall, sent from the French Kinge Henry the" Second. 16 July [1551.] (p. 120.)

A fair transcript on the first leaf of a sheet, by the same old hand as No. 840, art. 3.

VOL. III.—9. WILLIAM LILLY's judgement of the 'corporature,—condition or manners,—honor, fame, &c.' of "Edward the Black Prince;" prefixed to a familiar letter to Ashmole, relative to the present political circumstances of Europe; the whole drawn from astrological data, and very curious. Subscribed "W^m Wranglicus;" and dated Hershams, 16 Feb. 167^a. (p. 644.)

10. LILLY'S astrological judgement of King "Edward the 3^d," derived from a consideration of "the scheme of his nativity." (ibid.)

The one is a foolscap letter, of two pages; the fourth page bearing this direction, "For my venerable patron Elias Ashmole esq. thes, with a basket." The other paper was written in like manner, but the second leaf is torn off.

11. "The article of praier for soules departed, as it is set downe in a booke called The Necessary Doctrine and Erudition for any Christen man, set forth by Hen: 8. a^o. 1543." p. 93^b, 94^{ab}. (p. 626.)

There is also, on the interleaf, an account of an earlier edition, (printed by Berthelet, 1537,) with extracts about purgatory.

12. Epigram of felicitation to the Order of the Garter, (beg. Long may this Order flourish, and its fame: 8 lines.) subscribed "E. ASHMOLE 17 Feb. 166^a."

Written opposite to the last page of the third volume; at the end of which are inserted a corrected proof-sheet of that leaf, and of the Errata that follow, and a revised proof of the latter leaf.

* * * The Plates, which belong to these volumes, are placed at the end of No. 1763.

No. 1750.

Sundry genealogical papers, formerly lying loose in a portfolio covered with vellum, into which they are now carefully pasted, except the large roll, marked (B), which is kept in the closet.

- (A.) 1. Prosapia Nowellorum, a tempore R. Hen. I. ad annum 1658 diducta, cum documentis quibusdam probativis; per D. GUIL. DUGDALE; * cum ASHMOLII additamentis. f. 2^b.

* He has described himself thus (the third in descent from William Swinfen and Dorothy Noell of Hileote)—"Gulielmus Dugdale, Warwicensis comitatus antiquitatum illustrator. a^o 1650." This pedigree is folded up, being large and of very unequal shape: it consists of more than 3 sheets of paper. The two descents from Rob. Nowell of Hileote, which are written below the pedigree, are dated 8 Apr. 1663. Compare No. 833, art. 40.

2. Ejusdem familiae de Nowell prosapia, a Rob. Noell de Newbold (qui ob. 1471) descripta, per ASHMOLITUM, ad sua tempora. f. 3^b—4.

Serving as a supplement to part (B), which ends with the second descent of this pedigree.

3. Blazon of the supporters assigned to 'Edw. Noell, first Visc: Cambden.' f. 5^a.

A small paper, written by Ashmole, fixed on f. 5; which, with the first leaf, is a sheet that seems formerly to have contained a drawing or prints of Ashmole's portrait; this note being written by him on f. 1^a, "My Effigies."

4. Sundry descents of Noell, chiefly from Martyn Noell* and Dorothy Cradock, and from James Noell of Pelshall. f. 7^{ab}.

* In the second descent of art. 2, to which this draught gives some additions. On the back of the half leaf (7^b) are other notes connected with this genealogy.

5. Letter from WALTER NOELL to Ashmole, communicating what he had learned from a kinswoman about her ancestry; requesting his coat of arms; and mentioning his wife, Sir Martin Noel, and Dugdale. (Hilcott, 26 Sept. 1663.) f. 8^a, 11^b.

Original in quarto, with a small seal of arms. The writer was 39 years old, 8 Apr. 1663; see f. 3^b.

6. Letter from JOHN HUNTBACHE* to Sir W. Dugdale, stating the result of his inquiries of his cousin at Cosford, and of one Hollingworth, about the grandfather and grandmother of Edward Noell, who married Grace Noell of Pels-hall; also about a deed of intailment of the estate of Hillcott. (26 Oct. 1663.) f. 9^a, 10^b.

* "Johannes Huntbach, de Seawall in com. Suff. gen." (read Staff.) was father of Margery, wife of Sir W. Dugdale; see a note of this descent on f. 7^b, and the pedigree art. 1. This letter is also in quarto, and has a small seal of arms.

7. Notes and descents, collected from evidences, by ASHMOLE, relative to Chapman, Rost, Kelyng, Heyward, Harcourt, Badyle, Henschach, Davenport, Acton, and Bowyer. f. 12^a.

"Boothes* observacōns of Bowyer's matches," (ten in number,) with some of the arms tricked, and the dates and particulars of six marriages in that family. f. 12^b.

* See f. 19.

8. Sundry descents and notes relative to the families of Bowyer and Knipersley, collected by ASHMOLE from old evidences. f. 13^a.

Mostly crossed through, as if posted into a pedigree.

A shield* of eight quarterings, (Bowyer, Knipersley, etc.) tricked; with the blazon, and notes of the matches shown thereby. f. 13^b.

* 'Painted over the half dore at Knipersley,—1624.'

9. Sundry descents of Heywode and Morton, collected from old evidences, by ASHMOLE. f. 14^a. Pedigree of Bowyer; the fifth descent of which is the children of Sir John Bowyer, 1651—1662. f. 14^b—15^a.

Descents of Palmer, Harcourt, and Pochin, from John Davenport; * descents of Brodock, Holedich, and Bowyer; also a coat of arms "In Bidulph church window," and a seal of 'Will: Bowyer, 2 Eliz.' tricked. f. 15^b.

From a certificate dated 36 Hen. VIII. 'among Sr Jo. Bowyer's evidences.'

10. ASHMOLE'S draught of a pedigree of Bowyer, collected out of evidences, from 50 Edw. III. to 17 Hen. VII., and brought down to 1662. f. 16^{ab}.

With a note that "Sr Jo. Bowyer was Kted: 30 May 1660. and made Barr^t 11 Sept. 12 Car. 2."

11. Arms of Bowyer and five others, quartered; also two other coats tricked; with references to the Heralds' books. f. 17^c.

On a slip of paper fixed to f. 17^b.

12. Draught of a pedigree of Knipersley, in 7 descents to the match with Thomas Bower, 20 Ric. II., by ASHMOLE. f. 18^a.
A folded sheet written vertically.
13. Some of ASHMOLE's collections "Out of Sr Jo: Bowyer's autographes," or original evidences, relating to the history of his family. (pp. '5—8.'). ff. 19, 20.
Two small quarto leaves joined at the top: containing—
- P. 5.] Seal of arms of John son of Henry Allen, of Buckenhall, from a deed dated 1380.
Note of the marriage of W^m. Venables of Bradwell, with ... Daa; and of ... Machin of Penkhall, with Alice Heywood.
"Mr: Booth's noate of the matches wth Bowyer." (See also f. 12^b.)
- 6.] Monumental inscription of John Bowyer, 1541.
Haywood's crest blazoned.
Notes of a crest granted to Ralph Bowyer of Lincolnshire, by Sir G. Dethick, 9 Apr. 1570; and to W^m. Bowyer of Knipersley, by W. Flower, 12 June 1574.
"Sr W^m Bowyer Kted 1617."
Livery of lands sued by W. Bowyer, 26 Jan. 28 Eliz.
- 7.] About the divorce of Margery Eyeston from John son of W. Bowyer, 20 Feb. 1510, etc.
Release of the said John Bowyer, bearing 'the seale of the 3 spades.'
Particulars relating to a lawsuit, between W^m. and John Bowyer, about the estate of Knipersley, 20 Hen. VII.
- 8.] Six descents of Knipersley, temp. Joh. — Edw. III.
Arms of Sampson Walker, tricked as "In a booke of armes in Sr Jo: Bowyer's hand, of Staffordshire coates."

(B.) Ampla prosapia Noellorum, a 'Noelo domino de Ellenhall tempore R. Hen. I., ad filios Jacobi Noel de Hilcote et uxoris ejus Eliz. Poole, descripta; cum multis documentis antiquis,* ad genealogiam probandam et illustrandam, interpositis: auctore et scriptore E. ASHMOLIO.

It seems to have been the pattern-draught of an elaborate pedigree, designed to be more fairly written and painted: the names are in roundlets, and the escutcheons are blank. Though brought down only to the time of Henry VII., it was evidently designed to be completed with the descents that may be found in art. 2 of the MS. The documentary extracts may be compared with No. 833, art. 54. This roll is largely written on 7 sheets of paper: to which is now added, as a head-piece, a sheet of paper inscribed by Ashmole, "Prints of the King's gold Medalls Coynes and old Seales," found empty with these papers, and probably belonging to No. 1138. It was heretofore badly folded up in the portfolio now marked (A); but is now properly rolled up, and kept separate.

No. 1752.

A thin folio book, consisting of 51 leaves of paper, covered with one vellum leaf of a very large Antiphonarium of the XIVth century, with musical notes. It is described in an old Catalogue, as—

1. "A book of Knotts for Gardens:" or, colored plans for laying out parterres and walks. f. 1^b—14.
Drawn with a pen, and rudely colored.
2. The royal arms and supporters, a blank shield with two lions for supporters, and seven square patterns of flowered knots and devices. f. 16^a—24^a.

Done with pen and ink, in outline, and probably designed for embroidery.

3. Three plans for parterres and labyrinths. f. 49^b, 50^b, 51^b.

Two are done with red pencil, one with ink.

No. 1758.

A folio volume bound in old gilt calf, containing 102 leaves of paper gilt at the edges: the greater part was fairly written, within red-ruled margins, in the time of James I. The first title is written within the squares of a beautifully engraved frontispiece, pasted on f. 1.

- I. 1. "The First Booke of the First Decade, containyng the Historie of Travaile into Virginia-Britania, expressing, together with the conditions manners and qualities of the inhabitants, the cosmographie and commodities of the country: obtayned and gathered by WILLIAM STRACHEY gent. three yeares thether employed, Secretarie unto the state, and of counsell with the right honorable: the Lord Lawarre, his Maties: lord Governour and Captayne generall for the colonie. Alget qui non ardet. W. ST." f. 1—12,* 15—55^b.

* Between this title, and the ten chapters of this first book, are—a Dedication to Sir Allen Apsley (f. 2^b), an Epigram addressed "Ecclesie et Reipub." by the author 'W. ST.' (f. 3^a), and "A Præmonition to the reader, wherein (as the foundation to all the succeeding businesse) is derived downe to our times the ancient right and clayme which we made to this part of America, and therein both the objections answered and doubts clerly satisfied of such who through mallice or ignorance either have or may hereafter call the lawfulness of the proceeding hereof in question." (f. 5^b—12.) Ff. 12, 13, are noticed under part ii. of this volume.

2. "The Second Booke of the Firste Decade of the Historie of Travaile into Virginia-Britania, expressing the severall voyages and colonies addressed into these partes of America, now by us intituled Virginia, at whose chardges first undertaken, and what captaines therein employed, with what their success, casualties, and adventures; gathered by WILLIAM STRACHEY gent. &c. Alget" [etc.] f. 56^a, 57—72.

This interesting narrative contains much about Sir Walter Raleigh and his successors, and ends with the settlement of a colony in 1607.

3. "A short Dictionary, added unto the former discourses, of the Indian Language, used within the Chesioptock Bay; more peticularly about the tract, and amongst the inhabitants of the first river, called by them Powhaton, and by us the King's River, wherin as yet our townes and forces are seated. By which, such who shall be employed thether, may know the readyer how to confer, and how to truck and trade with the people." f. 94^b, 95—102.

Containing, under each letter of the alphabet, a list of Indian words explained in English, and an other of English words and phrases, with the Indian equivalents.

II. Twenty-three pictures representing the habits and manners of the Aborigines of Virginia, (the first of which is a map of the country,) with descriptive text in print; also five pictures of the antique Piets; being the greater part of RICHARD HACKLUYT'S Book of Virginia, published in 1588. ff. 13^b—14,* 74—94.

* The map is transposed to illustrate Strachey's first book: the xviiith picture also is at f. 3^b—4. A copy of the book, wanting some of the plates, is in No. 1756. A picture of the temptation of Adam and Eve, engraved also by Theodore de Bry, is pasted on f. 73^a. They are all fixed on the leaves of this book, and are badly colored.

No. 1763.

A very large folio volume, bound in vellum, with clasps, containing 109 leaves of thick paper, 19 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches high, and 14 $\frac{1}{4}$ wide, whereof ff. 3—25 have been ruled, cut and marked for an alphabetical index, and the others ruled as though for accounts; but the book was begun to be used by ASHMOLE for a BOOK OF PEDIGREES, and he has therefore tricked out these, vertically:—

1. GLOVER'S large pedigree of the family of Noel; continued to the third descent from Sir Andrew Noel, of Dalby in Leicestershire, in 1583; with arms tricked. f. 26^b, 27^a.

"MR. CAMDEN'S approbation—written at the foote of the said pedigree," (7 May 1600;) and notes concerning the original thereof, and the arms, written by "E: ASHMOLE Windsor." (24 June 1663.) f. 26^c.

Written on one side of a smaller sheet of paper, spread open and inserted between the 2 pages of the pedigree.

2. Pedigrees of James, showing eight descents from William James and Margaret da. of Rob. Angston, certified by Rob. Cook Clarencieux; with a supplement showing the marriage and 12 children of Walter James, (the last named heir.) certified by Sir John Borough and two other Kings of arms, 16 June 1637: with two quartered shields of arms. f. 27^b, 28^a.

3. "Chetwyndorum stemma;" ab Eudone de Mutton, ad Walt. Chetwynd de Ingestre in com. Staff. anno 1671, et Annam Bagot ux. ejus. f. 28^b—9.

4. Pedigree of the family of Napier; from an Earl of Lenox (temp. Alex. I., R. Scotiæ) to Thomas Naper of Brockhill esq. 1684. f. 30^b—1.

The rest of this large book having been left vacant, (except the plates at the end,) it has been found convenient to fix herein many papers that were found loose in and unconnected with sundry MSS. heretofore described, and many original documents that were hitherto kept loose in the closets: of all such an account here follows.

(A.) Papers found in No. 808:—

1. DUGDALE'S pedigree of the family of Mainwaring; from 'Ranulphus temp. W. Conq.' to Sir Tho. Mainwaring of Dodington in Cheshire. f. 32^b.

A draught, in Latin, written on an open sheet, partly on both sides: the three following papers belong to it.

2. ASHMOLE'S "Emendacōns in the copy of Mainwarings pedigree w^{ch} Sr W^m Dugdale hath." f. 33.

One quarto page, written in consequence of art. 3.

3. Letter from Sir THO. MAINWARING to Ashmole, desiring him to compare Dugdale's draught of his pedigree with one sent herewith, and about some genealogical points relating to his own family, and that of Lord Delaware. (Peover, 27 Nov. 1678.) f. 33.

Original, on one page of a folio sheet; with seal of arms.

4. The following note:—

"Sr These papers were found amon[g]st those of a person dead and were order'd to be returned to you: they belong to Ashmole numb. 7641* pag. 332 Catal."

* Probably a mistake for '7416' = No. 808: but it is most likely that these papers belonged to No. 1750.

5. Notæ duæ a PLOTTO scriptæ, quod Ashmolius Musco 'secunda vice' dederat numismata 556, et regum Caroli II. et Jacobi II. effigies pictas. f. 33^b.

Fairly written on a slip of paper.

6. Twenty Saxon and old English coins* tricked with a pen. f. 33^b.

* Brass and silver. Not by Ashmole's hand: on both sides of a leaf.

7. Fragment of a print from an engraved plate, with this subscription (f. 34^a)—

"A true portraiture of sundrie coynes found the 8 of Aprill and other. . . . same place within the Harkirke within the lordship of litle Crosbie". . . . (etc.) They are disposed in the form of a cross, and are of the Saxon age. It seems to be the 'B. 46' described in Lhuyd's Catalogue, num. 8463.

8. Four prints of Saxon coins, marked 'Tab. I.—IV.' ff. 34^b—5.

Well engraved: 2 are torn.

(B.) Papers found in No. 826:—

1. Colored drawings of the badges used by Henry IV. V. VI. Edward IV. Henry VII. VIII. Edward VI. and Charles I. f. 35^b.

On one side of an open sheet; as also the next article.

2. Warrant from William Earl of Newcastle, general of the King's forces in the north, unto the Sherrifs of Cumberland and Westmoreland, and to many gentlemen named therein, to seize the arms of such as attempted to oppose the King's government. (2 Mar. 1642.) f. 36.

A contemporary transcript, indorsed "The coppie of the commission."

3. Impression of a coin of Henry VI., with the date '1454' in figures. f. 36^b.

Done with black lead by Ashmole. This and artt. 4, 5, 7, 10, 11, are on small pieces of paper.

4. Two prescriptions "To kill mice and ratts," by ASHMOLE. f. 36^b.

5. Impressions of a gem* bearing a Mercury on one side, and ΦΑΩΧ on the other. f. 36^b.

* "Found by Mr Pownall in Old Windsor." On the back of the paper is a note about the breach of a K. G.'s oath.

6. Letter from H. STUBBE to 'Mr Scot bookseller in Little Britaine, London,' about books sent and yet to be sent by him, and requesting him to procure of Ashmole, the arms of Stubbes of Scottow, painted and certified on vellum, and to get them cut in steel for a seal. (Warwick, 12 Sept. 1675.) f. 36^b.

Original, on a folio sheet.

7. Note requesting Ashmole to attend the Royal Society, when the Duke of Norfolk was to be present. (22 Aug. 1678.) f. 36^b.

With Ashmole's remark that the Duke came on the next Thursday (29th), and gave the Arundelian Library to the Society.

8. A round-about story about everybody, and yet nothing at all, in a pretended memorial to 'your Lordship.' f. 37.

Beg.—After that old sen' Jo: had heard of the unkinde dealinge. It is a folio page written in the time of Charles I. and a little torn. An other copy, called a 'Medley,' is in No. 826, art. 50.

9. Inscriptiones duæ Græce, de porticu quadam anno 528 finita, et de monumento Æmilii Rhegini qui vixit ad 20 Julii anno 243: cum versione Latina. f. 37.

Beg.—Συμειων ηγαθεος and Αφιερωται Αιμιλλιω. This paper is fairly written by a learned hand of the time of James or Charles I.

10. Short inscription set up in the Exchange, under the statue of Charles I., after his death. f. 37.

Copied by the same hand as the next article, and noted by Ashmole.

11. Epigram on coffee, in Latin and English. f. 37.

The Latin is—

"*Ingenuæ mentis semper feliciter bibunt
Si modo post vinum nobile coffeæ bibunt.*"

12. Arms of "Fortescue of Salden in — Bucks wth his quartringes." f. 37^b.

Eighteen coats are tricked in this shield, some of which are named: it is by the same hand as the four descents in roundlets, on a folio leaf, which (also) is indorsed thus—

- (C.) "The pedegree of the Earle of Shrewsbury, Sr John Fortescue, and Henry Cromwell esq. drawn from Sr Adrian Fortescue." f. 37^b.

Found in No. 844.

- (D.) "Romischer Kayserlicher vnd Hispanischē Konr Mayestat &ca Dienner Laurens Staiber." f. 38^a.

A large colored print with this headpiece: the arms are—in chief, on a field azure with a bordure gobony argent and gules, a lion passant gardant or; beneath, partie per bend sinister, sable and or, a dog saliant counterchanged. Beside the crest and coronet, the shield is surrounded with a collar of SS. the badge whereof is torn off, with part of the motto. This was taken out of No. 845, f. '160,' where it was folded and torn.

- (E.) ASHMOLE's note of a remarkable marriage of an old couple named Mr. Viner and Mrs. Waters, told to him by his cousin Richards, who was going to the funeral of the former, 14 Jan. 1678. f. 39^a.

Found loose in No. 860.

- (F.) 1. No. 1164, viz.—"Inquisicio A^o v. E. iiii^o. post mortem Johannis [Terryngham] patris mei." f. 40^a.

Thus is this contemporary transcript, on vellum, indorsed. See the full notice of the document in its proper place.

2. Note of the descent of an estate in Lynforde, from one Osborne to "Thomas Tyryngham my father, as by thes dedes* more playnely apper-ythē." f. 40.

* No. 1164 and 1165? This paper, written about the time of Henry VIII., was found loose in one of Lhuyd's MSS.

- (G.) No. 1296.* Obit-tickets for services performed in Windsor Chapel, in 1477–8. ff. 41—2^b.

* Which see. The originals are pasted down on these four pages.

- (H.) No. 1298. } f. 43^a.
(I.) No. 1299. }
(K.) No. 1300. } f. 44^a.
(L.) No. 1301. }

- (M.) No. 1534. (Which see.) f. 45^a.

- (N.) "To the right hobble the House of Commons in the Parliament assembled. The humble Petitiōn of the Inhabitants of the severall townships of Wotton, Hordley, Oulde Woodstocke, Bladon, Stonefeild, Coombe, and Handborough, adjoyneing to his mates manor howse of Woodstocke in the county of Oxon." f. 45^b.

A sheet of paper, written on both sides as one leaf: it contains a fair transcript of the petition, and (on the back) 116 names of subscribers, with the marks used by many of them imitated. See the account of the next, in its proper place: it is an abstract by the same hand, on the first leaf of a sheet, without subscriptions.

- (O.) No. 1536. The second Petition against the new bailiwick of Wichwood Forest. f. 46.

- (P. Q.) No. 1538–9. Two Letters from the Emperor of Russia to Q. Elizabeth. ff. 47^a, 48^a.

- (R.) 1. No. 1540. Drawing of the great seal of the Russian Emperor. f. 49^a.

From which Hollar's engraving at f. 89^b was taken.

2. Copy of the inscriptions around the same seal. f. 48^b.

This paper has been removed from No. 1820; for it evidently belongs to the foregoing paper.

(S.) Papers found in No. 1531:—

1. Phrases wherein these “Northern words” occur:—kedg, gowpinges, tantrells. f. 49^b.

2, 3, 4. Other Scottish words and phrases, with explanations. f. 49^b.

5. “A ballad,” beg. There was a bonny young lad. (2 st. of 8.) f. 50^a.

6. “A Scotch Bagpiper”’s answer to a demand for payment: beg. When the Bus and the Ile of May. (8 couplets.) f. 50^a.

See No. 36, art. 319.

(T.) No. 1783. (Which see.) f. 51^a.

(V. W. X.) No. 1784–5–6. The third, fourth, and fifth Letters, from the Emperor of Russia, to Queen Elizabeth. ff. 51^b–2^a, 53^a, 54^a.

(Y.) JOHANNIS WILLIAMS, Lincolnensis Episcopi, licentia Richardo Naper* arm. A. M. et LL.B. concessa, “ad practicandum in arte phisicali, ac ad libere exequendam facultatem medicinæ, in et per totam diocesan” suam. (Bucklen, 1 Mar. 1633.) f. 55^a.

Subscribed thus, “Jo: Lincoln.” It is written along the first page of a sheet of paper, and had the episcopal seal impressed on the margin at the left hand; but the vestiges of it only remain. There is a short indorsement by the same hand.

* Nephew and heir of the elder Richard Naper.

(Z.) Four papers, all indorsed as brought “From Guinea;” written in Arabic, and having various figures rudely drawn. ff. 55^b, 56^a.

(AA.) A fragment of an antient Irish book, being two vellum leaves of a folio MS. of the Eleventh Century (?), in the Irish character, marked ‘177, 167.’ f. 57^a.

The first column (as the leaves are here placed) begins, with a large capital rudely flourished, thus—Ḥoçuta mēpmall toçī-apaiðe luāç aēinel. And over it are these words—çucaib inapbēa muçuta apaitin. Along the top of this page is a modern note scratched over with a pen; of which these words may be read, ptum commodatō mihī dedit dñs Edwardus Lhuydius. The fourth page is foul with folding and friction.

(BB. CC.) No. 1794–5. (Which see.) ff. 58^b, 59^a.

At the other end of this great volume, invertedly, are pasted the following curious articles:—

(1.) The whole set of HOLLAR’s beautiful Prints, illustrating ASHMOLE’s ‘Institution of the Order of the Garter,’ and representing the Castle and Chapel of Windsor, and the ceremonies, habits, and ensigns of the Order. ff. 107^b–85^b.

Fine impressions pasted here by the author: they properly belong to his interleaved copy of the book, in No. 1742–4, but some duplicates are there. With them is now fixed a small paper, containing on one side—

(2.) ASHMOLE’s notes of five drawings, or “Draughts to be mended at Windsor.” f. 85^a.

On the other, partly by an other hand—

Legends inscribed “About the late seal of the Deane of Windsor,” with notes thereof. ib.

(3.) Thirty-two prints of figures,* representing Q. Elizabeth, the Knights of the Garter, the Officers of the Order, the Heralds and Pursuivants, and the Dean and Chapter of Windsor. ff. 84^b–81^a.

* Evidently cut apart as if from a roll of a procession. Each figure is within an ornamented arch, of the octavo size; and they are pasted four on each page, in the order of the numbers marked by Ashmole on the back of each. They were found loose, in a paper marked ‘A. g. 14.’ and ‘F. 15.’ They were re-engraved, on a reduced scale, by Hollar, for Ashmole’s great work, and fill a large plate; which see at f. 92^b of this volume.

(4.) “A Book of Flowers and Fruits drawn after the life, by JOHN DUNSTALL of London; and etch’d & graven by the same authour. Composed for learners to draw by: and may serve also for other uses. 1663.” ff. 80^b–79^b.

Six rude prints, in oblong octavo: found loose in No. 1504.

(5.) A large print (partly colored) representing a Roman pavement; drawn by W. GEORGE, and engraved by J. VAN DER GUCHT: thus headed—

“This pavement, as here represented, was found by Mr. Willm: George, & by him laid open anno 1725 in a copice at Rudge, near Froxfield in the county of Wiltshire.” f. 76.

Found loose among some of Lhuyd’s papers.

No. 1771.

A large roll, consisting of 11 sheets of paper, of the XVth century. It contains a well sketched but imperfect set of—

Uncolored drawings of RIPLEY’s Alchemical Emblems, without the verses.

On two other sheets of the same size, which are rolled up loosely with it, is a part of these emblems evidently printed from a wooden block, with sketches around by the same hand as this roll.

No. 1772.

A paper roll, narrower and on a smaller scale than the foregoing, and about the same age, consisting of 10 sheets.

RIPLEY’s Alchemical Emblems, partly colored; with the Verses.

The head of this roll is somewhat damaged, and it seems to be unfinished. Compare this, and the foregoing, with No. 1530, and 1535.

No. 1773.

A very curious and (once) beautiful roll, consisting of three membranes of vellum, 19 inches in breadth, and 6 feet in length; delicately tricked and painted, in the time of Edward I.

Successio Regum et Principum totius Britanniae, a Bruto usque ad Edwardum I., pictis effigiebus ostensa, cum historiis, et genealogia.

Along the top were seven circular pictures, (each $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches in diameter,) representing the story of Brutus, with two lines of text above them, and an explanatory text below each picture: but the first is torn off, and the writing has become illegible with age and mildew, both here, and (more or less) throughout the roll; yet the colors are bright, and the figures very distinct. Seven rows of ribbands follow, each containing 14 small medallions, under each of which is written the history of the king therein painted: the last is Cadwalladrus. Then two lines of text introduce the series of Saxon kings in the Heptarchy, arranged in 7 parallel columns, each of the width of two small medallions. Two ribbands that come next, represent (in 14 medallions on each) the kings from 'Athelwulfus' to Edward I., who is described in these few words only—Edwardus rex Anglie filius regis Henrici. Lastly, there is a very distinct and beautiful Pedigree, showing how the Saxon Kings were represented in Edward I. (whose eight children are set down) by descent from King Athelred through the Norman family on one side, and the Scottish royal family on the other. Every person in this pedigree is pictured at full length (as before) in a medallion: the figures are all elegant, and scarcely two can be found in the same shape and posture.

No. 1774.

A paper roll of the XVIth or XVIIth century, 11 yards long and 7 inches wide; the first sheet is mutilated and half lost, and the end seems to be wanting.

A scroll of Articles in the Russian language and character.

The paragraphs consist of 6 or 7 lines each, and are far apart: a wide margin is preserved on each side. The 12th sheet ends with a large piece of flourishing, and the 13th begins with a very large flourished capital, the text being much ornamented there. Some few lines are written on the back in sundry places.

No. 1775.

A small original document (formerly marked 'A. 39'), neatly written on parchment, with long labels of parchment, from which the great seal is lost.

R. EDWARDI IV. Literæ Patentis de inspeximus, (datæ 20 Julii, anno 1, A. D. 1461); quibus est recitata, e rotulis cancellariæ, Charta R. EDWARDI I. concedens Nicholao Malemeyns et Alicie uxori ejus, hæredibusque ipsius Nicholai, maneria de Hockeley, Neweland, Daniesho, Warneburn, Aldewyk, Renham, et Shepeye, quæ ipsi Regi reddiderant; data 20 Jan. anno 24, A. D. 1296.

No. 1776.

A small original charter, (formerly marked 'A. 40'), well written on vellum: indorsed "Carta de Dunham," and "a. xiiij°."

R. HENRICI III. Charta, per quam manerium de Dunham,* quod fuit Reginaldi de Danmartin Comitis Boliariæ, concessit Radulpho filio Nicholai, donec hæredi Comitis reddiderit, cum promissione excambii si quando restitutum fuerit; data apud Westm. 4 Maii, anno 13, A. D. 1233.

* A modern hand hath falsely noted on the back—"Denham in Bucks: it relates to Dunham in Nottinghamshire. The great seal, impressed in green wax, (but mutilated), hangs by a lace of platted ribbon, composed of silk and linen. See farther notices of this charter in the Collectanea Topographica et Genealogica, art. xxii. vol. I. p. 173-4; wherein it was published by W. H. Black, in June 1833.

No. 1777.

An original document, (formerly marked 'A. 41'), written on parchment, in a common hand.

R. HENRICI VI. Literæ Patentis, de perdonatione omnium reatum et criminum, a Johanne Hywysse de Lodehywysse perpetratorum ante octavum diem Dec. ultimi; datæ 1 Maii, anno 3, A. D. 1425.

Indorsed in an old ingrossed hand, thus—"Hewish his pardon from Henrie the Sixt, with the great seale of England." The seal is almost perfect, though impressed in white wax on a label of parchment.

No. 1778.

A large original document, (formerly marked 'A. 42'), fairly written on vellum, having spaces left for the first capital, and some others on the first line, to be illuminated: it has wide margins, but that on the left is mutilated. The great seal is lost, which was formerly appendant on a blue and white platted lace.

R. EDWARDI IV. Literæ Patentis, de licentia data Johanni Cheyny de Pynne, arm., Ricardo Mawdeley, Walt. Mayhowe, Joh. Hille, et Tho. Crosse, quod "quandam Fraternitatem sive Gildam—ad laudem—Dei, beate Marie virginis, et sancte Anne, de duobus gardianis, ac fratribus et sororibus parochianorum ecclesie parochialis beate Marie de Corcombe* et aliis" fundare valeant; de ejusdem incorporatione, de licentia dotandi, et de aliis privilegiis eidem concessis; datæ apud Westm. 10 Febr. anno 21, A. D. 1482.

* In Dorsetshire, not 'Wilts.' as it is noted on the back by a modern hand.

Beside the King and Queen, and the brethren and sisters, their Chaplain was to pray for John Gunthorp, Dean of Wells, whose surname is subscribed as if he were the ingrosser of this patent. On the back, within the fold, is a memorandum, (by the same hand as No. 1780,) stating that the Guild bought, by virtue hereof, the manors of Durcote and Esthornyngtone in Somersetshire, of the yearly value of ten pounds, 3 Nov. 5 Henr. VII. See the two next documents, No. 1780, 1779.

No. 1779.

A original document on vellum, (formerly marked 'B. 30'), much larger than the foregoing, and written in the same manner.

R. HENRICI VIII. Literæ Patentés de inspeximus, (datæ apud Westm. 8 Nov. anno 2, 1510,) quibus recitatæ sunt et confirmatæ duæ Literæ Patentés patris ejus HENRICI VII., Fraternitati de Corscombe concessæ: scilicet—

- (1.) Licentia* ad perquirenda maneria de Durcote et Esthornyngtone; data 3 Nov. 1489.
- (2.) Perdonatio regia quoniam Johannes Cheyne, Ric. Chiehestre, Will. Stephyns, et Tho. Loveys, per cartam dimiserant manerium suum de Lake, Roberto Willughby Domino de Broke, Joh. Wadham, Joh. Biconelle, Rob. Stowelle, Edw. Stowelle, Will. Stroode jun., Edm. Cheyne, Rich. Maudeley ac aliis, qui licentia illud absque Gildæ de Corscombe tradiderunt: eum licentia de terris in Tholwestone et Noryge, a Willielmo Champyoun eidem Gildæ concedendis: data 3 Oct. anno 12, A. D. 1496.

On a blue and white lace is appendant a beautiful impression of the great seal, in green wax; part of which is broken off.

* The following document, No. 1780.

No. 1780.

An original document, (formerly marked 'B. 32'), written on vellum, in a small hand, with good margins, but much less than the two foregoing patents: two holes have been eaten in it, and the great seal is lost.

R. HENRICI VII. Literæ Patentés, per quas (post literas Edwardi IV.* summarie recitatas) licentia data fuit Ricardo Mawdeley, Joh. Hille, et Tho. Crosse, maneria de Durcote et Esthornyngtone perquirendi, et Fraternitati S. Annæ de Corscombe dimittendi; datæ 3 Nov. anno 5, A. D. 1489.

* No. 1778. This patent is recited at length in No. 1779.

No. 1781.

An original document, (formerly marked 'B. 41'), written on a large sheet of vellum, in an Italic hand, and adorned with a wide border of gold and colors, and with the name 'CHARLES' occupying the first line in very large flourished letters of gold.

Letters missive of CHARLES I. to Michael Phedorowich Emperor of Russia, recommending Richard Smith* as Agent for English affairs and commerce in his dominions; subscribed by "Charles R." 31 July 1634.

* Successor of Fabian Smith and Thomas Wiche.

The pompous style and form of this letter are imitated from
